TO FORM NEW STATE

Residents of Upper Peninsula
Have Revived the Idea

IS LARGE AND RICH

Enough Without Acquiring Any New Territory—What People There Claim.

Sault Ste. Marie, Oct. 31.—The old idea of making a new state of the upper peninsula has been revived by the citizens of this part of Michigan. But the plan of taking on a part of Wisconsin has been dropped, the general opinion being that the upper peninsula is large and rich enough to become a separate state without acquiring any new territory.

Advocates of the plan favor calling the state Superior, which would be the most representative name that could be chosen. The upper peninsula is growing rapidly, both in population and wealth. Its mining interests are assuming mammoth proportions while it will be but a short time before some of the cities will be large manufacturing centers. One of the chief reasons for wanting a change is that the peninsula really have very little in common. In politics, the northern part of the state has never been represented as it should be, leading politicians feeling that they have been given nothing but the crumbs. Their strongest men have been turned down in favor of less worthy aspirants for public favor, simply because, it is alleged, the upper peninsula has always been sure to give a big Republican majority.

A majority of the people of the upper peninsula know nothing of the southern part of the state. Many of them have come from the west; others from Canada and the south.

Marquette, the Soo and Menominee will probably enter the race for the state capital. Marquette has the best natural location, as it is nearest to the center of the peninsula, but the other towns have many advantages that would make them strong bidders for the prize.

Halloween Parties

The "spooks" were out last night in goodly numbers, and several parties were held in which they took a leading part.

Miss Maud Sweet and John Tarrant entertained about twenty-five friends at the home of the former last night. Games and refreshments were the order of the evening, and all enjoyed a good time.

Donald and Kenneth Hosford and their cousin, Gerald Lampkins, entertained 25 of their friends. Games and refreshments were the order of the evening. The house was decorated with pumpkins and corn fodder, and three "spooks" were stationed in different parts of the house, much to the annoyance of some of the little folks. Mrs. Chas. Bainton and Mrs. Frank English assisted in entertaining the guests.

Mrs. E. S. Roe entertained about a dozen little people. They were dressed as "spooks" and the house was lighted by candles and Jack-o'-lanterns. Games were played and apples, nuts and a candy pull passed the evening pleasantly away.

About fifty members of the Bethany class enjoyed a Halloween party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. P. B. Friday, on Monday evening.

Under the care of the witches and competent guides everyone was compelled to follow the string through the chamber of horrors. The program contained many new and original features, and was greatly enjoyed by all.

The old maids trio made a hit,

(hear them at the M. E. church Nov. 2.) The house was handsomely decorated, and after the program refreshments were served.

It was one of the greatest times the Bethany class ever had.

Many are making good records this month for attendance and punctuality.

We have studied the thistle and wrote the story of "Why the Scots love the thistle."

BIG RALLY AT NILES

Some Old Time Enthusiasm In our Neighbor Last night

The Niles Republicans for the past month have been making great plans for the rally they held last night, and judging by the success of the demonstration there can be no disappointment felt by them.

The night was perfect and the crowd is said to have been the largest that Niles ever had at a political rally.

Fully 125 Buchanan people visited our nearest neighbor on this occasion and were royally treated.

A monster torchlight parade with mounted Rough Riders as advance guard paraded the streets. Music was furnished by the Niles band and Dickinson's band of Buchanan.

Hundreds of Roman candles were exploded. These taken together with the glare of torchlight and red fire presented a spectacle long to be remembered.

After the parade Mr. F. F. Sargent commissioner of immigration spoke at the Opera house to a large audience, in a plain business like way. His talk was in no way a flowery exhibition of oratory, but a good sound, sensible appeal to the American citizen, to consider the true conditions of the country, its prosperity, its resources and the condition of the laboring man today as compared with the conditions under Democratic rule.

His talk was free from any mud

GIVES UP HOPE FOR TENNANT

Unnamed St. Joe Democrat Quoted as Saying its All Off With Joe.

"There is not the slightest hope left that Joe Tennant will be elected sheriff on Nov. 8. Sentiment for Clark is sweeping the county and is increasing every day."

The News Palladium says a Democrat prominent in the affairs of the party made this frank admission to a Republican attorney in St. Joseph last week. He declared that it was not a matter of sentiment with him. He intends to support Tennant, but the fact remains that in his judgment, and he says it is the honest conviction of all connected with Tennant's campaign, that their candidate is a badly beaten man. "I have never in my political experience seen such a remarkable change in public sentiment," declared this Democrat. "When Tennant was nominated I thought that nothing could defeat him. Less than a month ago the reaction set in and it has been growing in volume until it is a mighty wave for the Republican candidate. "I hate to admit this, but it is a fact."

A FINE ADDRESS

Given Last Friday Night by Edward F. Burns

Edward F. Burns gave an eloquent address to a large audience at Rough's opera house Friday night, and presented the issues of the present campaign in a clear and forcible manner. He paid a glowing tribute to Congressman E. L. Hamilton, styling him the ablest of the Michigan delegation in Washington.

The union soldiers were also highly praised by the speaker, in words both forcible and eloquent.

National and state issues were both handled in such a way as to bring forth much applause from the audience.

Mr. Burns has been a Buchanan visitor upon several occasions and his speech was greatly appreciated.

How We Know Who is Elected

The following, from a very interesting article by Hartley Davis on 'Election-Night in a Great Newspaper Office,' in the November Woman's Home Companion, lets us into the secret of how we know who is elected:

The newspapers begin the actual work for the handling of returns some two months before election; in a sense the whole campaign is a preparation for them. The advance-man must possess executive ability, a comprehensive knowledge of politics, sure judgment and an infinite capacity for taking pains. He must plan the work so that at any given moment those in charge may know the actual results. Also, he must perfect a system by which several men handle overlapping figures without confusion. He prepares the advance tables, with an alternate, so that if his estimate is wrong the names of the successful candidates can be shifted from one to the other, and that in itself is a task. The fewer mistakes, the quicker the work will be expedited on election night. It means that the advance man must be in touch with every part of the country.

The whole newsstaff of the journal with drafts upon the business office as well, are in the office by six o'clock. Each man knows what his work is to be and what the others are to do, for he has studied the pamphlet of instructions. He has before him the tables he is to handle, as well as a big sheet form for his entries, much white paper that will be used, and many spindles upon which to 'spike' the sheets he wishes to preserve. Expert accountants, with their elaborate counting machines hired for the occasion, show wonder and importance if the experience is new to them, or humility and impassivity if familiar with a newspaper office on election night. They watch the reporters writing the routine news of the day, how the candidates and the great men voted, the usual run of accidents and things of that nature, concomitants of every important election. Crowds gather early in front of the office, knowing they will be entertained with cartoons and moving pictures while waiting for the returns.

Plunk! A leather cartridge shoots through one of the pneumatic tubes that connect big newspaper offices with the main office of the telegraph companies. The boy on duty opens it, and the envelope shows that it contains election returns. He hands it to the man who acts as a clearing house for all election news, a man who sits behind a great semicircle of spikes. He announces that the first returns are in from New York City. "It nearly always falls to the managing editor to determine the successful national ticket, and if he is unable to do so long before the returns are complete he lacks the judgement and far-sightedness which make him a very wonderful man.

"Percentage tables fill the mind of the managing editor on election night along with about two hundred other things. They are substitutes for exact figures. When returns for half a county or a whole county are missing, the managing editor takes the figures of the preceding elections, state and national, as a guide and allows for the falling off in the vote as compared with registration, usually from six to ten per cent, so he knows what the total should be. If the returns from a whole county are missing, he takes the figures of the surrounding counties in so far as they are complete. Calculation shows that the Republican or the Democratic gain is one and five eights vote for each polling place. The number of polling places is known, as well as the probable total vote and also the local conditions that may influence the result, and when the managing editor is finished he will have come very close indeed to the exact figures. All manner of percentages are figured out and this is one of the places where the expert accountant comes in for hard work. The percentage of increase or decrease is applied to county and to state, and probably the managing editor will have it calculated a hundred times in a night. Also, he will send telegrams to his friends who know; but more likely they will send him for information.

"Sometimes there are not sufficient figures at hand to give a result calculated by percentage of any value. Then local correspondents are asked to send the best estimates obtainable,

Time is getting on and minutes are precious. The newspaper has exhausted every possible means of getting exact figures, for the question of expense isn't considered. When there is big news, the cost to secure it is never too extravagant. In effect the newspaper says to its correspondent: If you cannot get figures, guess, and heaven have mercy on your soul if you don't guess right!"

IN MEMORIAM

AARON MILLER

Aaron Miller, a much respected citizen of Buchanan, died on Wednesday, Oct. 26, 1904, after an illness of thirteen months. He was born in Northampton county, Pa., on Nov. 17, 1830, and was therefore almost 74 years. He was of German descent, the son of David and Mary (Bauer) Miller. His parents both died when he was quite young, and he lived with a cousin and worked on a farm till he was eighteen years of age. After this he learned the mason trade, at which he worked most of the time until his last sickness. Excepting about eighteen months time spent in the grocery business.

In 1850, at Loyal Oak, O, he married Saloma Calbetzor, a native of Ohio. They had six children: Mrs. Mary E. Lehmer, of Chicago, Ill., Benjamin F., of Akron, O., Mrs. Charlotte R. Yoder, Milton S., Augustus S., deceased, and Mrs. Hattie S. Kojlin, of Wadsworth, O. His wife died on June 4, 1862, at Buchanan.

Early in 1854 he moved to Elkhart, Ind., and in September the same year he came to Buchanan, where his home has been till the last. In 1855 he united with the Masonic fraternity, and was treasurer in his lodge for 18 years. He was also a charter member of the O. E. S. On Oct. 4, 1862, he married Mary E. Weaver, of Buchanan. They had five children: John, Mrs. Anna L. Kelley, Mrs. Susie M. Rouse, William J., and Mrs. Katie L. Huff. These all live at Buchanan except Mrs. Kelley, whose home is at South Bend, Ind. Two brothers and one sister also survive him: Joseph, of Loyal Oak, O., Steven, of Chapman's Quarry, Pa.; and Mrs. Mary Houser, of Akron, O.

Mr. Miller was a union soldier from Aug. 30, 1864 till Sept. 12, 1865. He served in Co. C, 12th Mich. Vol. Inf., and was honorably discharged at Little Rock, Ark. He was a member of Perrott Post No. 22, G. A. R. He was a member of the village council for two terms.

For many years he has been a faithful attendant of the Larger Hope church of Buchanan, and has often confessed his faith in Christ as his saviour.

His funeral services were held in the Evangelical church on Sunday, Oct. 30, at 10:30 a. m., Rev. John H. Paton, pastor of the Larger Hope church preached a short sermon. His text was Psalm 119: 105. Rev. Halmhuber, pastor of the Evangelical church, assisted in the services. The attendance of brothers, comrades and friends was large. All of his ten living children, except Benjamin, were present. The floral offerings were many and beautiful. Several appropriate hymns were sung by the Roe family quartet. After the services in the church the body was laid away in Oak Ridge cemetery with the impressive ceremony of the Masonic order.

A Vigorous Preacher.

Beginning his sermon one Sunday a muscular Scotch minister said that in every congregation there were generally three kinds of people. Some were very worthy men and women. Others were just middlings and might be better than they were, but others were actual devils. He did not intend in this discourse to speak to the first kind, who were already good Christians and not greatly requiring either advice or censure. The second class would be all the better for some plain speaking, but their case was not so urgent as that of the third class, whom he had spoken of as positive devils. "To them," he said, "I mean to speak." Then, rolling up the right sleeve of his coat and stretching out his clenched fist in front of him, he said, "Now, ye devils."

British Baronetries.

The first baronets were created by James I., and any one might obtain the hereditary title by the payment of £500. Since then I have rarely heard of any baronet being created for his personal merit. Baronetries are mainly conferred for party services. Any one in the house of commons who is prepared to vote invariably as his party whips tell him can receive a baronetcy if he is sufficiently persistent in pushing his "claim" and does not allow himself to be put off with a knight-hood. In some cases he has to contribute to the party funds, but if he bustles about and shows his teeth occasionally this is not always necessary.

Washington Letter

The determination of Russia and Great Britain to invoke the methods devised by the Hague Tribunal, for the settlement of the acute situation resulting from the recent firing on British fishermen by the Russian fleet is regarded in Washington as a distinct triumph for the cause of international peace, and is the occasion of great satisfaction to President Roosevelt, whose reference of the Pins Fund case to the Hague, followed by his persuading the European creditors of Venezuela to submit to the arbitration of the same tribunal, restored that court from the disrepute into which it had sunk to one of the foremost factors in the promotion of universal peace.

It must not be supposed that Russia and Great Britain have, as yet, submitted their differences to arbitration, however, although that may be the ultimate outcome of the present move. The international commission of inquiry to which the difference between Russia and Great Britain will now be submitted will merely make an impartial investigation of the facts and a comprehensive statement of its findings, a statement which, in words of the convention, "has in no way the character of an arbitral award." "It leaves the conflicting powers entire freedom as to the effect to be given to this statement." It was believed by the devisors of this method of examination into intentional disputes, that such a statement would either make manifest to the conflicting powers a just method of settlement or, in the event of failure to do so, would pave the way for international arbitration, while, in any event, the proceedings of the commission of inquiry would necessarily tide over that crucial period which inevitable follows the occasion of an international rupture.

The hope is strongly expressed by certain diplomats in Washington that Russia's resort to the Hague in this instance, followed at no distant date, as is probable, by the reassembling of representatives of the powers signatory to the Hague convention in response to the invitation just issued by President Roosevelt, for the purpose of promoting universal peace and mitigating, perhaps minimizing, the horrors of war, and actually lessening the frequency of war, must tend to create a moral force which, in turn, will effect a cessation of existing hostilities between Russia and Japan.

BONE FOOD

Soft and crooked bones mean bad feeding. Call the disease rickets if you want to. The growing child must eat the right food for growth. Bones must have bone food, blood must have blood food and so on through the list.

Scott's Emulsion is the right treatment for soft bones in children. Little doses every day give the stiffness and shape that healthy bones should have.

Bow legs become straighter, loose joints grow stronger and firmness comes to the soft heads.

Wrong food caused the trouble. Right food will cure it. In thousands of cases Scott's Emulsion has proven to be the right food for soft bones in childhood.

Better than ever are the Spiro Fall Clothes for Men and Boys

It is a fact that "nothing succeeds like success"—and it is the success we have had in selling better made, better fitting and better wearing garments for less money than any one else that has made the standard of merit in South Bend, and brought us the greatest clothing business in the city. Of course, we have a decided advantage over other stores when it comes to prices, inasmuch as we buy for four stores: at South Bend, Ind.; Springfield, Jacksonville and Quincy, Ill., enabling us to buy in very large quantities and at quite a saving in prices over others saving which we gladly share with our patrons it's the combination of low prices with the highest possible quality that has proved the irresistible inducement.

Progress is our Motto

We give you this fall better cloth, better tailoring, better lining, better trimmings, etc.—lowering prices where prices can be lowered—in short always striving to give you a little more than you expect. This is why we keep 'old friends, make new ones and satisfy ev'ryone who wears SPIRO CLOTHES. And this is why our clothes are better this fall than ever before.

Come in and see our new Fall Styles

We show an immense line of new fall suits and overcoats for men and boys.

An entirely new stock of fall hats, caps and gloves.

The largest stock in the city of fall furnishings, neckwear and underwear.

Treasurer—Miss Ella Smith, Niles. Junior Supt.—Mrs. Thresher, Benton Harbor.

Missionary Supt.—Miss Simmons, Buchanan.

Visiting Committee—Miss Anna McBride, Niles; Miss Pearl Stark, Benton Harbor; Miss Trueman, Three Oaks; Mr. Des Jardines, New Buffalo.

The foregoing officers of the Berrien County Christian Endeavor Union were elected at the Saturday morning's session of the two day convention.

The convention throughout was a most enjoyable and successful affair, the attendance being considered first rate and the subjects on hand being presented with a spirit and earnestness that commanded the attention of all.

The address of Rev. Carl Sumner Jones, State Junior Superintendent, of Chelsea, Mich., last evening is reported as an especially fine feature. This was followed by a reception to the delegates by the Young People's Society of the Niles church, concluding with refreshments.

About 45 delegates have been enrolled from various points in the county.—Niles Sun.

Monday Club

The Monday club met with Mrs. Dana Phelps Oct. 31. The meeting was called to order by the president, "No Not One" was sung by the Club, Mrs. E. S. Dodd leading, with Mrs. Graham at the piano. The president read the 42 Psalm. Mrs. Worthington read the secretary's report. The critic's report was very good.

The lesson was in charge of Mrs. Wm. East and was conducted by questions in a very beneficial manner. Mrs. Howard read a very interesting paper on "The Ainu," telling of their origin, occupations and modes of life. Mrs. Mercer and Miss Stella Phelps favored the ladies with a duette, "Over the Fields of Clover," Mrs. Knight accompanying them on the piano. The music was very enthusiastically received. Mrs. Whitman gave an excellent talk on "The Old Globe Theater." Act III, scenes 3 and 4 were read by the club and followed by a discussion on the "Madness of Hamlet."

The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Wm. East, Nov. 7.

A Startling Test

To save a life, Dr. T. G. Merritt, of No. Mehoopany, Pa., made a startling test resulting in a wonderful cure. He writes, "a patient was attacked with violent hemorrhages, caused by ulceration of the stomach, I had often found Electric Bitters excellent for acute stomach and liver troubles. I prescribed them. The patient gained from the first, and has not had an attack in 14 months." Electric Bitters are positively guaranteed for Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Constipation and Kidney troubles. Try them. HOW THEY SIZE UP

Republicans Distributed Their Favors Over the County Evenly

THE DEMOCRATS BUNCHED

Their Nominees About St. Joseph and Benton Harbor

In the matter of distribution of nominations, the republicans of Berrien county were much more successful than were the democrats.

The map of the county below in this column shows the republican distribution. It shows that no two nominations for any important office one in Bainbridge. They all live within a distance of twelve miles.

The map is made out of proportion and shows that St. Joseph, if her population and area were in proportion to her county nominees, would be larger than all the rest of the county combined.

The democrats did not name a candidate south of St. Joseph, not counting the judge of probate nomination.

The county ticket has come in for much censure from the southern part of the county and it is overloaded with north end candidates as was the case with the republican ticket two years ago. The voters of the south end believe that they are entitled to a just proportion of the offices and from that view-point the republican ticket appeals more strongly to them than the democratic county ticket.

It is being circulated as campaign came from the same city or township.

Benton Harbor has the candidate for probate judge, St. Joseph republicans asked for no place on the ticket Niles has the candidate for prosecuting attorney, Buchanan is the home of the candidate for register of deeds, Royalton furnished the candidate for clerk and Pipestone the sheriff, and in the southern part of the county in Three Oaks township is the home of the candidate for treasurer. Had effort been made to nominate in regard to location, no better distribution could have been made.

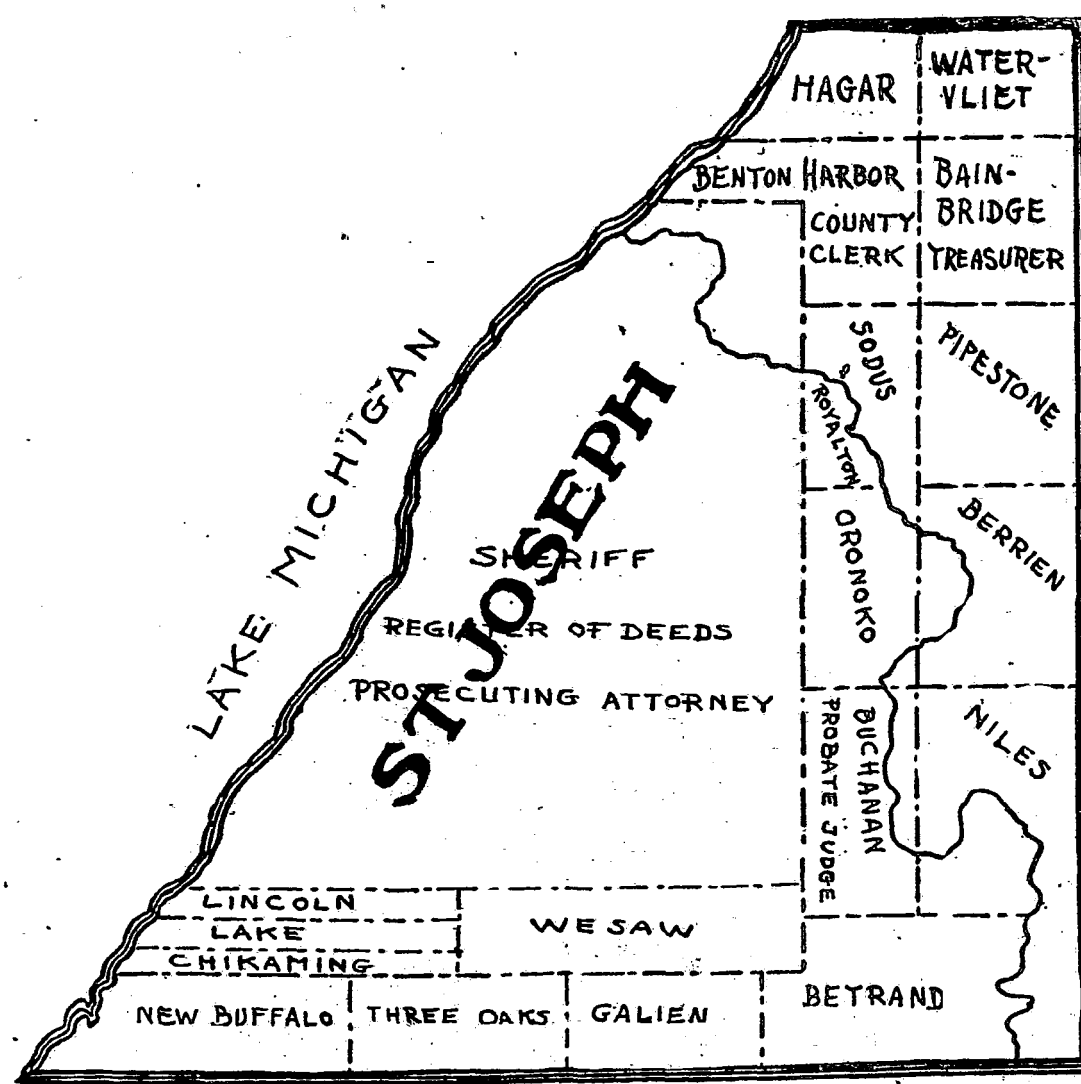

A ticket, to be successful, should be spread from one end of the county to the other. Every man on the republican ticket is an excellent citizen and the location of the different offices should make this year one of great victory for that ticket.

Herewith is also given a map showing the location of the democratic argument in the southern part of the county that when the county seat was moved to St. Joseph that the leaders in the move promised that if St. Joseph could only have the court house that the remainder of the county could have the offices for years to come. Whether any such statement was made or not, it is being used against the ticket that is top-heavy with north end candidates.—News Palladium.

candidates. There are six county offices that are plums. At the democratic county convention no nomination was made for the office of probate judge. Later, Justice John C. Dick, of Buchanan, an old soldier and a good citizen, allowed his name to go on the ticket.

An Unexpected Retort

A county newspaper man who is very fond of honey, visited a neighboring city recently, and at one of the hotels he was served with some delicious honey. He enjoyed it so much that he told his wife all about it when he returned home. On his next trip to the city she accompanied him. They visited the same hotel, and when the noon meal was being served he said to his wife that he hoped they had some more of that honey. It did not appear, however, and the newspaper man therefore beckoned to a waiter and said, "say, Sambo, where is my honey?" He was almost paralyzed when that worthy grinned and replied: "She doan work here no more, boss. She done got a job at the silk mill." The wife received a handsome new dress before they returned home, after making a solemn promise not to tell the story.—Lippincott's.
