NO CHANGE IN OFFICE.

Sheriff-Elect Tennant is Likely to Retain All Leading Deputies

There is likely to be little change in the sheriff's office when Joseph Tennant takes the oath of office, says the Benton Harbor News-Palladium. Irving R. Pearl, it seems, will receive another appointment as under sheriff, and deputies Martin P. Dwan of St. Joseph, John DeTamble, of Benton Harbor, Chas. Zick, of Stevensville, Phil Hiler, of Bainbridge, Frank Breece, of Three Oaks, Herman Walters, of New Buffalo, John H. Fisher, of Berrien and William E. Wansborough, of Galien will be rewarded by an invitation to attach themselves to the staff of Sheriff Tennant. Martin Dwan a deputy sheriff will remain at the county jail as turnkey.

Some of the other deputies lie in uncertain berths and it is evident that some new faces will be seen on the lesser staff of assistants. Those most intimately connected with the affairs of the office will remain as now.

Mr. Tennant says that he has been so busy with his campaign that he has given the question of reappointment no consideration but he can see no reason why he should change the personnel of the staff in the inner circle of the office. His appointments will not be made public until January 1.

All of the men named above as certain of reappointment have made good officers for Sheriff Collins and the new sheriff can make no serious mistake in attaching them to his list of deputies.

Sheriff Fred B. Collins, in commenting on the election of Mr. Tennant as sheriff says that Berrien county will never regret that they have given him the executive office by such a handsome vote. "He will make a clean, conservative and painstaking official," says Mr. Collins, "and I also know something of his integrity."

Coonley's Tonic Ext. Sarsaparilla is the best Blood Purifier made and it costs only half the price of other medicines of this kind. Large bottles 50c with full directions for using, at Dr. E. S. Dodd & Son.

CANVAS THE VOTE

County Board Will Meet Today

The official canvas of the vote of Berrien county will commence today in the Board of Supervisors room in the court house. The board of canvassers is composed of the following members: H. D. Pool, Benton Harbor; Matthias H. Weber, St. Joseph; Edward Locke, Chikaming, Mr. Weber is the democratic member of the board.

The sessions of the board are not likely to last over two days. The majorities of all the officials-elect were large and there is no possibility of a recount.

The law provides that the election returns shall be in the hands of the county clerk twenty-four hours after election, but in many cases this has not been complied with this year. This is due to the immense amount of work involved in counting the ballots on account of the large number of names thereon, to say nothing of counting and recording the two constitutional amendments.

Little Cold this Winter

An exchange says the old inhabitant comes forward and says his opinion is that this winter will not amount to much as far as cold weather is concerned. He has watched the signs carefully for many years and hardly ever misses his guess. All indications point to a mild, mellow, spring-like winter, but of course, there will be a few snow storms thrown in just because it is the season of the year for snow. The snow will not remain on the ground long at a time and there will not be many hard freezes. Cold weather will not begin until after Christmas. January and February will be the real winter this year. Spring will start early in March, and after February there will be a few disagreeable days.

PERE MARQUETTE IS IN NEW HANDS

Big System Goes to the Erie Railway Company

The absorption, of the Pere Marquette and Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton railway system by the Erie was reported last week.

Dispatches from New York, state that the Erie has agreed to pay $75,000,000 for the properties and will operate them as part of its system.

The deal is said to have been negotiated and financed by the J. P. Morgan interests, which for sometime have been quietly buying Erie securities with the intention and expectation of making it one of the leading trunk lines between Chicago, New York and Cincinnati.

Less than nine months ago the railroad world was surprised by the announcement that the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton had purchased the control of the Pere Marquette railroad, and that the two roads would be merged into one. Previously neither system was considered of much importance.

The Pere Marquette covers considerable territory in Michigan and has outlets to Chicago and Buffalo. The lines of the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton are entirely in Ohio and Indiana, north of Cincinnati and Indianapolis. The latter's outlet to Chicago has been over the Monon from Indianapolis. Jointly they made a fair system, but without a trunk line connection east of Buffalo it was not believed that they would prove a profitable investment.

The three railways combined represents a trackage of 4,952 miles. The Erie has 2,500 miles, the Pere Marquette 1,800 and the C. H. & D. 652.

The Christmas Delineator

The December Delineator, with its message of good cheer and helpfulness, will be welcomed in every home. The fashion pages are unusually attractive, illustrating and describing the very latest modes in a way to make their construction during the busy festive season a pleasure instead of a task, and the literary and pictorial features are of rare excellence. A selection of Love Songs from the Wagner Operas, rendered into English by Richard de Gallienne and beautifully illustrated in colors by J. C. Leyendecker, occupies a prominent place, and a chapter in the Composers' Series, relating the Romance of Wagner and Cosima, is an interesting supplement of the lyrics. A very clever paper entitled "The Court Circles of the Republic," describes some unique phases of Washington social life from an unnamed contributor, who is said to write from the inner circles of society. There are short stories from the pens of F. Hopkinson Smith, Robert Grant, Alice Brown, Mary Stewart Cutting and Elmore Elliott Peake, and such interesting writers as Julia Magruder,

L. Frank Baum and Grace MacGowan Cooke hold the attention of the children. Many Christmas suggestions are given in needlework and the Cookery pages are redolent of the Christmas feast. In addition, there are the regular department of the magazine, with many special articles on topics relating to woman's interests within and without the home.

WAS SENTENCED YESTERDAY

Aged Thomas Payne Shot His Wife, Who was 50 Years Younger Than Himself, in Quarrel Over Property

St. JOSEPH, Mich., Nov. 14—Thomas Payne, aged 86 years, the oldest murderer in Michigan, who was convicted of killing his child wife last April, in Weesaw township, was sentenced today by Judge Coolidge to serve from two to six years at hard labor in the state penitentiary.

Payne was the oldest man ever to appear before the bar to receive a sentence in the history of Berrien county. With the farewell remark by Judge Coolidge, in pronouncing sentence that this was the saddest mission during his career as a member of the bench to send the aged prisoner to the penitentiary, but declaring that the evidence and the verdict in the case must be observed. Payne was led from the courtroom by Sheriff-elect Tennant.

Payne is an Englishman and came to Berrien county 50 years ago. He was married four times, his first three wives having died or been divorced. Twenty years ago Payne, while visiting in England married Zimnah Turner, then in her teens, and 50 years his junior. They were never happy, it is said, and some years ago Mrs. Payne began suit for divorce, but a settlement was effected. Later she had Payne arrested for beating her. Payne charged that she had become too friendly with a young farmer, going to dances with him and coming home late. Over a year ago the couple again separated, and had frequent quarrels afterwards about the property.

In the final quarrel, Payne alleges, she drew a revolver on him and that he turned it on her and fired the fatal shot. His son, aged 18, tried to stop him as he ran from the house with the smoking revolver in his hand, but the old man escaped, being run down later by his wife's father.

INTERNATIONAL LIVE STOCK EXPOSITION

Union Stock Yards, Chicago, Ill., Nov. 26 to Dec. 3

"Things have changed greatly among feeders and breeders. Land is at high water mark. The markets grade stock more sharply than ever, and pay well for quality. The experimental stations, by repeated experiments, have demonstrated that it costs more to make a pound of gain with age, and that steers marketed at 18 months or two years yield a greater profit, other things being equal, than does the three or four-year-old. Further, the market demand has changed and the younger sort has come into what seems to be permanent favor. It is right that it should, for the reason already given, as well as for the reason buyers prefer the smaller, quicker maturing sort. Another feature of the change in condition, is the recent development of the great live stock show, of which the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago is the finest example, with our state fairs also engaged in similar work.

"Such a show as this brings an army of stockmen to the International, where breeders and feeders inspect, compare notes, study types and individuals among the animals shown, and search for facts that will assist them in prosecuting their work at home better and more economically. The great market at Chicago, the finest and largest in the world, also offers a most valuable opportunity to study the demands of trade."

SCHOOL NOTES

HIGH SCHOOL

Every one attending our school has been vaccinated as directed by our board of health

We are very sorry to know that ill health will prevent Edna Kean from attending school any more this year. Quarterly examinations were given last week.

EIGHT GRADE

Mildred Roe and Blanche Williams received a vote of thanks for the artistic way in which they decorated the new waste-paper basket with the class colors, purple and gold.

Descriptions of "Evangeline" were part of the composition work last week. Irene Troutfetter's was especially good. A drawing lesson the same day was to illustrate Evangeline's home at Grand Pre.

The booklets, begun by the pupils will contain these and others, including a biography of Longfellow, favorite quotations from the poem, etc.

SEVENTH GRADE

Seventh grade had a history contest Friday afternoon, the North side against the South side. The North side was victorious, the score being 23 to 21.

We are all glad to have Oleon Hathaway with us again. He has not been able to come to school since he had the measles last year.

SIXTH GRADE

Most of the grade have completed the first work in composition. We are now working on "The Clocks of Rondaine."

In voting on the best letter written on "Apples," Glen Moyer and Rubie Strawser received the same number of votes.

Last Friday the B class drew and painted the geranium for language

WARD SCHOOL

Ralph Breen and Ona Sunday entered first grade last week making an enrollment of 61.

Mrs. W. Koons, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. H. Rough and Miss Kean were our callers last week.

Owing to small pox fright attendance in first and second grades has been greatly reduced.

Additional Locals

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Simpson are rejoicing over the arrival of a 7 pound baby boy, that came to town Sunday morning.

The Hill Recitals will be the next number on the lecture course entertainment, at the Evangelical church Wednesday Nov. 23.

The old cheese factory building has been purchased by the B. Duster Company and work of fitting it up for their occupancy began yesterday. As soon as the building can be put in shape they will move the factory from the present location.

Lotus Blossom is the great remedy for ladies. Every lady, young or old who is nervous or weak, should use it. Sold by Dr. E. S. Dodd & Son. A free sample and pamphlet mailed to any lady by The Coonley Drug Co. South Bend, Ind.

Morgan O'Connor, a hobo, stole a pair of rubber boots at Noble's store Friday afternoon and was promptly arrested. However, he was not prosecuted, as the authorities and Mr. Noble were of opinion that the fellow was anxious to break into the county jail for a month or two, hence he was ordered out of town.

A fellow in North Liberty saw in a paper where a certain firm offered 11 cents for 1902 pennies. He sent them fifty of the coppers of the 1902 vintage. He received an immediate reply, saying that just as soon as he sent 1852 more pennies—sufficient to make up the full number of 1902—he would receive the 11 cents. Then he went out behind the barn and kicked himself.

Mr. H. C. Wright was severely kicked by a horse Saturday afternoon, breaking one of his ribs, over the heart. Mr. Wright went to go past the horse in the barn when it kicked him, knocking him down. The horse kept on kicking, but fortunately for Mr. Wright it kicked over him. At this writing he is getting along as well as could be expected.

J. S. Tuttle reports that muskrat and mink are plentiful this season, which opened Nov. 1, and that the price is much higher than at the opening of last season. However, the fur doesn't get prime for lack of cold weather. The average mink brings $2.50, but there are not many people trapping as yet. The most money is being made on skunk, the average skunk bringing one dollar and skunk are very plentiful.—Niles Star.

Chas. Doan, who is employed at the Irving Jaquay's nursery, had the misfortune to swallow a tack, Saturday. He was tacking the tags on some boxes and had his mouth full of tacks, when one of them started down his throat and caused much pain. Mr. Doan came to town and went to Dr. Curtis to remove the tack but when it became dislodged it went on down his throat.

Mills E. Case, a well known South Bend expert accountant, who recently took an examination at Buffalo N. Y. for the position of assistant sociology librarian of the state of New York, has been successful in securing the appointment. It was given out that applicants from the state of New York would be given the preference but the nine residents of that state who tried the examination failed ignominiously, and Mr. Case stood at the head of the list. He received his appointment; and is now working at the state capitol in Alban N. Y.—South Bend Tribune.

Killing a King Cobra.

Tales of tiger shooting in India are common enough, but one does not hear much about king cobra hunting. A Mervyn Smith tells how, accompanied by two natives, he went to a spot where a pair of king cobras were known to be. On arrival at the place he was made to get under a basket the meshes of which were too small for a king cobra to put his head through. While he was beneath the basket one of the snakes came out and was shot with arrows by natives. The other cobra then appeared and endeavored to overturn the coop. Describing the incident the writer says: "The terror of that moment I cannot express. What if it should overturn the basket! The strength of thirteen feet of muscle must be enormous, and if used in the right direction would soon overcome my pull at the cord. What would the happen? Certain death for me. I felt sure. Again the whiz of an arrow and I saw a gaping wound along the neck of the fierce brute as it quitted its hold to look for this new foe. Fixing my knee on the cord, I now placed the muzzle of my gun just through one of the square openings in the basket and aiming at the hood, fired both barrels in rapid succession, and had the satisfaction of seeing the horrid brute fling up the leaves and dust in its death throes."

Friendly Gray Wolves.

I have never had any difficulty in making friends with the gray wolf. I happened to be sketching, says J. M. Gleason in St. Nicholas. Immediately on my appearance, no matter what they were doing, they came at once to the bars to be scratched and talked to, and when their coats were changing and their skins sensitive they would stand there any length of time while I pulled away the loose tufts of hair, their every action expressing a somewhat sullen friendliness. But with the coyotes it was different. They never make friends with or lose their fear of man. Generally speaking, they resemble the prairie wolf, but are much smaller and of a browner color. Their fur is also longer and the tail more bushy. They vary considerably in color, changing with the seasons. In winter their coat is lighter, in summer darker and with more brown. Black coyotes, while not common, are sometimes seen, but these are only freaks of nature.

In Spain.

"One meets with queer opposites in Spain," said a man who has traveled in that country. "In the Basque provinces the people are alert, up to date, thrifty and industrious. In Barcelona I was agreeably surprised at the evidences of modern progress, and its principal street, the Rambla, is undeniably finer than any boulevard in Paris. In some other sections the natives are about the limit of sloth and evince a don't care spirit in everything that concerns their temporal welfare. They tell a story of a Spanish shoemaker who was approached by a customer with worn-out shoes with a request that they be repaired immediately. The cobbler called to his wife to know how much money there was in the house. She answered enough to supply the family wants for another day, whereupon the customer was told that if he was in such a great hurry he had better try some other shop. This is the spirit that prevails in some parts of the kingdom, but must not be taken as a national characteristic."—Washington Post.

Michigan Crop Report

Lansing, November 10, 1904
The weather during October was pleasant and very favorable for all kinds of farm work. The temperature, according to the Michigan weather Bureau, was a little more than one degree below normal throughout the state. The precipitation was slightly below the normal but no crops suffered unless it was wheat and rye on light land. The weather was favorable for ripening corn and sugar beets and these crops are being secured in good condition.

The condition of wheat compared with an average is 100 in the southern counties, 97 in the central counties, 95 in the northern counties and 99 in the state. Wheat was sown in good season this year and has made an excellent growth. In some cases the fields have been pastured. There is now and then some complaint about the fly, but so far no noticeable damage has been done.

The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in October at the flouring mills is 83,906, and at the elevators 32,576, or a total of 116,482 bushels. Of this whole amount 72,378 bushels were marketed in the southern four tiers of counties, 34,616 bushels in the central counties and 9,493 bushels in the northern counties. The total number of bushels of wheat reported marketed in the three months, August-October, is 438,061, which is 1,815,960 bushels less than reported marketed in the same months last year. At 46 mills and elevators from which reports have been received there was no wheat marketed in October.

The estimated average yield of corn in bushels is 29 in the southern counties, 26 in the central counties, 23 in the northern counties and 29 in the state. Conditions have been unfavorable for corn this year. Not only was the weather bad last spring but many farmers planted poor seed the result of which will materially effect the yield. There is considerable corn of good quality throughout the state, but on the other hand there is much that is soft. More silos are being built each year thus making it possible to care for more of the crop in the most economical manner. Corn fodder is in good condition not having been damaged by rains as is common some years. The per cent cut up for fodder is, in the southern counties 52, in the central counties 40, in the northern counties 43 and in the state 49.

The acreage of clover seed harvested as compared with average years is, in per cent, in the southern counties 40, in the central and northern counties 64 and in the state 46. The average yield per acre in bushels is, in the southern counties 1.32, in the central counties 1.89, in the northern counties 1.58 and in the state 1.43. The clover crop is short this year and is due to the fact that the clover on many fields was killed by the severe weather last winter.

The potato crop this year will be a large one. The season has been favorable and no damage done by blight. The quality is good and while prices are somewhat lower than in recent years, yet the crop will be a very profitable one. The estimated average yield per acre, in bushels is, in the southern counties 122, in the central counties 120, in the northern counties 111 and in the state 121.

The per cent of farmers who have used commercial fertilizer on their wheat this fall is, in the southern counties 12, in the central counties 7, in the northern counties 1 and in the state 10.

The average condition of horses, sheep and swine in the state is 96 and cattle 94. Hog cholera is still prevalent in some localities but the loss has not been as great as in some other years. Pastures are fairly good at the present time and all stock is in a thriving condition.

FRED M. WARNER,
Secretary of State.

The Mauser's Breath.

The old fable of the siren has its duplicate in one of the most deadly of modern weapons. The whistle of a bullet ought to be a deadly sound; it is surprising to be told that it is a beautiful one. Mr. H. F. Prevost Battersby says in his South African notes called "In the Web of a War:"

The Mauser's most melodious period is from 800 to 15,000 yards. Over that distance its note is the most exquisitely lovely of single sounds. "The silky breath of the Mauser" is a phrase that adequately describes it.

But there is something more about it than its beauty, something strange and baleful. It goes by like the singing of a wondering soul that can find rest only by bringing death to another. It is a sighing so indescribably tender and sad and sweet that every sound of human lips seems without charm beside it.

After lying for a time under that silky breath, one has even to resist a desire to lift his head and take the next puff of it in his face.

Jokai's Joke.

At a banquet held in his honor in the town of Torda, Maurus Jokai, the Hungarian writer, was called upon to propose the toast of "The Ladies." He made an excellent speech, during which he continually toyed with the brown curls upon his forehead. Finally he said: "I raise my glass in honor of the gracious ladies of Torda. May they all live until my hair grows gray." His audience drank to the toast, but it was easy to see by the faces of the ladies present that they did not think much of the compliment. Jokai rose again from his seat and took from his head a magnificent brown wig, showing an entirely bald head beneath it. "My hair," he added, "will never grow gray." And the ladies, who had not known of his baldness, were more than pacified.

Two Headed Symbols.

Both Russia and Germany display two headed eagles on their standards. Yet this symbol is considered by some heralds to be merely the result of the heraldic practice of "dimidiation." This was simply a child's way of impaling two coats of arms on the same shield by the primitive method of cutting each in half and taking the dexter half of one and the sinister half of the other and placing them back to back, as it were. Strange two headed beasts naturally resulted, as, for instance, when a lion and an eagle were halved and joined together. The griffin is supposed to have been evolved from two lions rampant by dimidiation. It robs the two headed eagle of half its terrors to know that it owes its origin to this sort of child's play.

Childish Curiosity.

Little Florence, aged six, had been spending the afternoon with a neighbor who had just lost a near relative, and who was working very hard to get some mourning gowns made. Florence had been very good and asked no questions, but when she returned home her inquisitiveness asserted itself. Her mother explained as clearly as she could, and for a few moments Florence sat in deep silence. Then: "Are all her gowns going to be black, mother?" "Yes, dear." "And is she going to wear black nightgowns?" "No, dear." "Well, doesn't she feel just as bad in the night as she does in the day?"

"Sacred Ladybirds."

Among the insects that can be claimed as friends of the market grower probably none are more useful than the ladybirds. It is said that in mediaeval times this insect was sacred to the virgin, hence its popular name. "Although in these prosaic times we may," says the Fruitgrower, "have got over the superstition regarding the insect's sacredness so far as the virgin is concerned, for the good they do they should be sacred to every market grower. Perhaps the most beautiful of all the family is the eighteen spotted ladybird that Linnaeus named Coccinella octodecimpunctata.

Ivy Poisoning.

Country Life says that all the drugs in the world will not prevent a bad case of poisoning from poison ivy or sumac unless one does something as soon as the telltale itching begins. When the pustules break open, there is nothing to do but "grin and bear it." The remedy advised is extract of grindelia, which should be always kept in the house. Rub on the affected parts every five minutes till the trouble is averted.

Her Girlhood Ways.

"You must not expect me to give up my girlhood's ways all at once," said the happy bride. "Oh, I won't," he replied. "I hope you'll keep right on taking an allowance from your father just as if nothing had happened."—Superior (Wis.) Telegram.

Her Revenge.

"Mebbe she's right, ma. Only yesterday she told me I took after you."
