TICKET ALL REPUBLICAN

Election Passed Very Quietly
With Small Vote

LITTLE INTEREST TAKEN

Prohibition Ticket Made Good Showing

The village election passed off very quietly yesterday, in fact so quiet that a great many of the voters forgot that it was election day.

As stated before in the RECORD the Democrats failed to call their caucus in time to nominate a ticket so there was only the Republican and Prohibition on the ballot. There were only 251 ballots cast as against 430 last year.

The result of the election is as follows:

Base Ball

Local fans are most enthusiastic over the prospects for a city base ball team this coming season. In fact the prospects have not been brighter since the days of the old Blues. There are some good members of the old team in town as well as other good material that can be developed, and some outside players will be brought in and given positions in some of our local shops.

Business men feel that it will be a paying investment to start the ball rolling. Other towns not as large as Buchanan are organizing good teams that attract crowds of people once or twice a week. We all know that this is a base ball town.

Monday Club

The Monday club met with Mrs. M. Johnson. It being a special day in charge of Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Worthington, Ireland and St. Patrick was the subject chosen.

The parlor was decorated with green and each lady was presented with a spray of smilax.

The following program was given all numbers being exceptionally good: Reading, "An Irish Village" Mrs. Howard; a poem, "The Erin First Rose," Mrs. C. East; instrumental solo, Mrs. Graham; Sir Thomas Moore, Mrs. Whitman; Blarney Castle, Miss Samson; Irish music, followed by a song, Mrs. E. S. Dodd; "The Cry of the Dreamer," Mrs. Phelps; Daniel O'Connell, Mrs. Sarah Smith; "Origin of the Harp," Mrs. Redden; recitation, "Mrs. Flannigan at the Euchre Party," Mrs. Stryker; trombone solo, Louis Renner, Mrs. Graham accompanist.

Roll call Irish wit.
The hostess surprised the ladies by serving a dainty Irish menu.

PARR SENT TO PRISON

Former South Bend Resident Guilty of Passing Counterfeit Money

Detroit, Mar. 11.—Morton A. Parr, alias John Parr, formerly of South Bend, has been sentenced to five years at hard labor in the Detroit house of correction. The sentence followed a plea of guilty of having possession of counterfeit money. The greatest penalty for the offense is 15 years and a fine of $5,000 or both. Mrs. Parr, mother of the defendant, and a sister of Parr, were in the court room when Judge Swan pronounced sentence and both sobbed incessantly when the prisoner received his sentence.

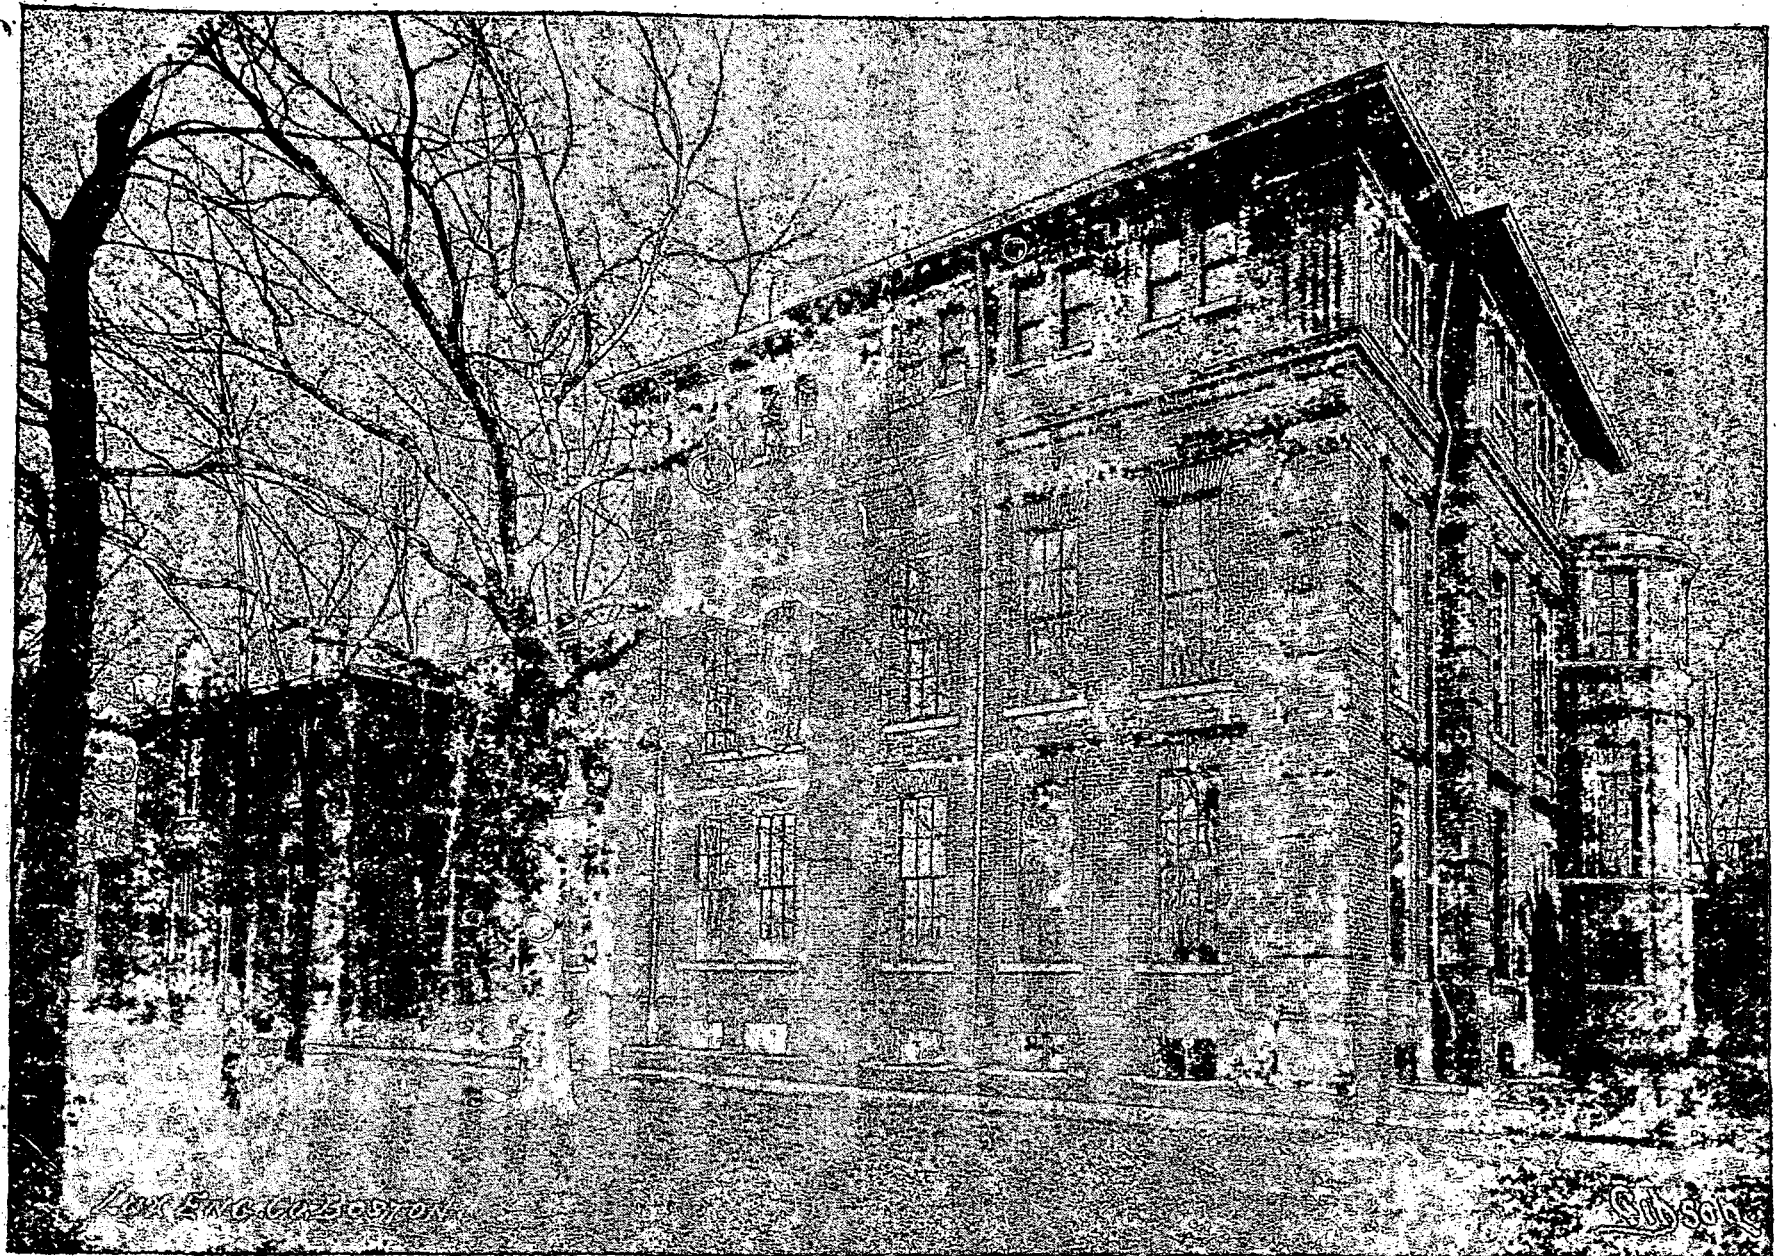

Parr's wife is now under indictment at Cleveland, O., for passing the bogus money.

Parr is a cripple, both of his legs having been cut off while working as a barkman for the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern railroad. For several years he has been a photographer and while experimenting with powerful lenses he discovered a process whereby he could turn out $5 bills which were so nearly perfect as to deceive all but experts.

Notice

Any one knowing of a cane with a walnut knob, with a hole just below knob, with brass points representing in Chinese pounds, ounces, etc. It fell off the milk wagon and was picked up by some woman. It has been advertised in our village papers. It was a present from a Chinaman fifty years ago. Any one seeing or knowing of such a cane will kindly make it known and receive the thanks of, O. S. BLACK.

Chemical Laboratories, at the U. of M., Ann Arbor.

AT THE UNIVERSITY

Scenes at The Popular Michigan College

THE MANY DEPARTMENTS

Will be Mentioned in a Series of Articles in The Record

Instruction in chemistry for students in all departments at the university of Michigan is given in the chemical laboratories, a group of connected buildings constructed of brick and situated near the center of the campus. The original structure was one of the oldest buildings of the university. Increasing needs have led to the addition of several large wings, and now the building has over forty thousand square feet of floor space devoted to laboratory work and its immediate requirements.

The building is ventilated by fresh air from driving fans and by foul air flues. Electricity for power, electrolytic work, or other purposes is obtained either from storage batteries or from the two hundred and twenty volt circuit of the university power house.

Provision is made for work in inorganic analysis, organic chemistry, general and physical chemistry, pharmacy and chemical technology. For advanced students there are courses in various methods of chemical inquiry in use by specialists. During the year classes are formed in over fifty distinct courses of work. In the principal subjects original research is also undertaken by competent students working with members of the teaching force. In the greater number of the courses the method of work combines training in laboratory operations with instruction by lectures and recitations.

The laboratory class, as well as the lecture courses in chemistry, are made up of students registered in the several departments of the university, each student being responsible to the faculty of his department.

The organic laboratory is especially fitted for synthetic work and research. The laboratory of gas engineering has a photometer room and employs a calorimeter for gaseous and liquid fuel, with another for solid fuel. The laboratory of industrial chemistry employs the Le Chatelier pyrometer, a rotary cement kiln of original design and other similar apparatus. In the rooms used for chemistry, apparatus of special construction for vacuum extraction is used with volatile solvents on a large scale. In the room for sugar chemistry, beet-pulping machines and filter-press are in use.

The laboratories of general chemistry are organized together. Courses in elementary inorganic chemistry, as well as in the advanced branches of science are offered; research work, both in inorganic and in organic general chemistry, is also arranged for a limited number of students. Modern apparatus is at hand for all the varieties of work undertaken, and a well equipped balance room is provided. These laboratories include four rooms newly equipped for physical chemistry and electrochemistry. They have over two thousand square feet of floor space, and are provided with electrical connections between the storage battery and the desks, with a number of large thermostats, and with an excellent equipment of all necessary instruments. It is intended to furnish the best of facilities for study and for research.

In the building 2,500 square feet of floor space is given up to the museums of pharmacognosy and industrial chemistry. The former collection comprises several thousand mounted and labeled specimens of products from all parts of the world, such as are used for medicinal, alimentary and industrial purposes. The articles are of vegetable and of animal origin. Watercolor plates and photographs, showing the form and habit of the plant, accompany the crude drugs and their products. There is a set of drawings and wall-charts of the histological structure of drugs, foods and condiments for aid in the study of adulterations, together with photomicrographs of longitudinal and transverse sections.

The cultivation and preparation of these articles for the market and for commerce are illustrated by collections of authentic photographs, many of which have been expressly procured for the study of commerce with distant parts of the world.

In the chemical industry collection the natural resources and chief manufactures of Michigan, and of various parts of the world, are illustrated. Crude materials, raw and unfinished products, as well as completed articles of commerce in their several grades are displayed, together with models and plans of production by modern methods. Among the branches of industry and articles of manufacture represented are petroleum products; Portland cement; clay wares; the beet sugar manufacture; the great alkali works; starches, oils and other maize products; wood distillation; and coal-tar dyes.

IN MEMORIAM

MISS LILLIAN CURRAN

Miss Lillian Curran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Curran, who resides about five miles southwest of Buchanan, died Saturday afternoon from typhoid malaria, aged 33 years. Deceased is survived by her parents and three brothers and three sisters. The funeral was held Monday forenoon from St. Mary's church Niles, and burial made in Calvary cemetery in that city.

Mrs. FANNIE CARLISLE DILLENBECK
Mrs. Fannie Carlisle Dillenbeck, died at her residence, Dallas, Texas, March 1, 1905.

She was formerly a resident of this place, and will be remembered by many in Buchanan and vicinity, as she spent her youthful days in her father's family here.

She was a kind christian woman, was highly esteemed and made many friends wherever she lived.

The deceased leaves a son, Frank C. Taylor in Dallas, Texas, a mother Mrs. H. L. Carlisle and a brother, Astley Carlisle in Buchanan, a sister Mrs. Mary Ryneerson, in Norcatur, Kans. and a sister Mrs. Walter W. Osborn, in Council Bluffs, Iowa, to mourn their loss of a dear friend.

LOUIS LANO

Another of Buchanan's old residents, Louis Lano, passed away very quickly Saturday morning. Mr. Lano has been in bad health for some time and the cause of death was heart trouble and dropsy. He was 88 years of age.

Mr. Lano came to this country from Germany and after living in Chicago a few years came to Buchanan in 1857 and has since resided here. For 26 years he worked in the Zinc Collar Pad factory, and was compelled to give up the work only on account of ill health.

He is survived by two sons and three daughters, his wife and several children having passed to the great beyond before him. The funeral was held this morning from St. Mary's church in Niles and the burial made in that place.

MRS. A. R. CHENOWETH

Fern, daughter of Robert and Alma Coveney was born February 15, 1885, and died March 10, 1905, her age being 20 years and 16 days. She was married September 3, 1904 to A. R. Chenoweth of South Bend, Ind., and where they resided at the time of her death.

The first seventeen years of her life was spent in the home of her parents in Buchanan township, where she was known and beloved by many as a child, and as she grew older was a comfort and solace to her parents in that home where the hand of death has fallen heavily many times.

In 1894 Grace, the eldest of the children was taken from that home.

On March 7, 1901 the father passed away, the loss being almost more than the mother could bear, yet with the aid, hope and courage of Fern. She battled bravely with the duties to her children and home for one short year, then she too, lay down the burdens of life.

With the father and mother gone the home was broken up. Fern with her youngest brother went to the home of her uncle Joseph E. Coveney where she remained for a time, then went to South Bend where she finished the course of shorthand and typewriting at the Commercial College and held a position with the Fullerton Powell Co. until the time of her marriage which occurred only six short months ago, since which time she has been very happy.

But disease defied love and skill, and another flower in our garden of friends lies faded and withered in the casket today. Everything that love and science could do was done for her but all to no avail. We can only bow our heads to the inevitable. She leaves besides the grief-stricken husband, two brothers, Clara and Lisle, also hosts of warm friends who have known her during her entire life, and many with whom she had become associated since living in South Bend, she endeavored herself to all who knew her and each and every one deeply mourn her loss.

INCREDIBLE BRUTALITY

It would have been incredible brutality if Chas. F. Lemberger, of Syracuse, N. Y., had not done the best he could for his suffering son. "My boy" he writes, "cut a fearful gash over his eye, so I applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve, which quickly healed it and saved his eye." Good for burns and ulcers too. Only 25c at all drug stores.

BETEL NUT'S USE IN SIAM.

Chewing of the Red Fruit Siam's National Habit and Diversion, Says Writer.

Betel nut chewing is the national diversion of the Siamese. Every one, high and low, writes Casper Whitney, in Outing, is addicted to the habit, and preparation of the quid for those too poor to own ingredients and boxes is, in every town, quite a business of itself; in the smallest settlements, one sees peddlers squatting before their trays of little boxes holding lime and seeds and tobacco, and packages of syrah, or green betel leaves. The betel tree is among the most common in Siam, sending up a trunk sometimes fully 60 feet, always, like the cocoanut, limbless except for its bush of a top where, again like the cocoa, the nuts grow in closely attached bunches, to harden and reddened before gathered. The cardamon seed, or clove, is an extra of the well-to-do, and especially of the women; the common habit among men of the country is to add a pinch of tobacco after first rubbing it over their gums. The bright red saliva from chewing is, in the town house, carefully deposited in a handsome silver receptacle; in the up-country house slits between the open bamboo flooring obviate the necessity for such niceties. But always on formal occasions, even in the jungle edge, the betel nut chewer carries his box for the freely flowing juice that stains the teeth a deep red, which, among the better class, with care and attention, becomes a highly polished black. And this is true even of Siam's most enlightened classes, whom contact with the outside world appears not to win from the betel nut and discolored teeth. In Bangkok I talked with one of royal blood and his wife, both of whom had lived several years in England, yet the teeth of each were as black as ebony, and the woman frankly expressed her disgust at the white teeth of foreigners. Dogs, and other four-footed animals, she declared, have white teeth. Blessed is contentment!

SHOPKEEPERS WEAR MASKS

Nearly Every Salesman in the Land Has Great Diplomacy in Selling Goods.

Nearly every shopkeeper in the land is forced, in the conduct of his business, to wear the mask of diplomacy, declares the Chicago Inter Ocean. This was illustrated the other day in a downtown art store.

An elderly lady, connected with some of the best families, made her purchases and paid a small sum on account of a former bill and the goods just bought. As she placed the new bill in her reticule she said to the attentive shopkeeper:

"Now—er—no bothering me about this, you know; no sending around to my place. If you send a man I'll set the dog on him."

"You'll not be troubled about it, madam," was the suave answer. "Take your time about it; all the time you want," and he smiled like a seraph until the old dowager's coach rolled up the street. Then he turned to a friend who was taking it all in and muttered:

"Durn her old picture, I won't see a red cent of that money in nine months. But what can you do? You've got to be polite."

DINNERS WITHOUT WEIGHT.

It has been seriously asserted by many people that we are naturally lighter after a meal, and they have even gone the length of explaining this by the amount of gas that is developed from the food. Average observations, however, show that we lose three pounds six ounces between night and morning; that we gain one pound twelve ounces by breakfast; that we again lose about fourteen ounces before lunch; that lunch puts on an average of one pound; that we again lose during the afternoon an average of ten ounces, but that an ordinary dinner to healthy persons adds two pounds two ounces to their weight.—N. Y. Herald.

RECONCILED TO IT.

The car was crowded to its full capacity and the two who had just entered were compelled to hold to the same strap.

"We seem to be sentenced to hang," observed the maid.

"Yes," whispered the young man, as his fingers closed over hers. "Capital punishment!"

ANXIOUS TO ILLUSTRATE.

"Judicial Ignorance" Seeks Explanation of a "Mill," But Declines Practical Exhibition.

The quality known as "judicial ignorance" is as often amusing as it is assumed. The most "ignorant" of magistrates may, however, carry the thing a little too far. Not long ago a young hooligan was charged with grievously assaulting another of the same class, says London Tit-Bits.

"What have you to say for yourself?" demanded the magistrate.

"It was a fair fight, your worship," was the reply. "I didn't begin it. 'E' (complainant) 'walks up to me an' offers to put me through it—"

"Through what?" asked the magistrate.

"Through the mill!"

"What mill?"

The prisoner simply gasped, and it was only after a very thoughtful pause that he replied: "Well, guv'nor, I can't explain no plainer, but"—with an air of one anxious to oblige—"I could show you hexactly 'ow it's done!"

"No, thanks! No, thanks!" remarked the magistrate, somewhat hurriedly. "Twenty shillings and costs!"

ITS GROWTH TO BIG SYSTEM

Formal Lease of P. M. to C. H. & D.
Made

Detroit, March 13.—Formal ratification of the lease of the Pere Marquette system to the Cincinnati, Hamilton & Dayton system was made recently. The Pere Marquette will retain its name and identity under the lease, according to the positive statement of President Russell Harding.

Although the system thus leased for so long a period to the C. H. & D. embraces more than 2,250 miles, there was a time when it was a very modest affair. The old Flint & Pere Marquette had its beginning back in the '60s, the first line being constructed from Flint to Saginaw in 1862.

Later the road was continued on to Ludington and later to Manistee, at one time going into the hands of a receiver when the rails were as far west as Reed City. Later the Flint & Holly, Wayne & Monroe road, which became a part of the F & P. M. system.

Soon the Flint & Pere Marquette line came into Detroit by way of Holly. Later this was changed, and cars came into Detroit by way of Wayne and the Michigan Central tracks.

The process of absorption steadily continued, and in 1888-89 the Port Huron & Northwestern, then a narrow gauge road of 218 miles, was taken over. It ran from Saginaw to Port Huron and into the Thumb section. Purchase of this stretch made a "system" of 630 miles.

In 1899 the Pere Marquette came into existence with the consolidation of the Flint & Pere Marquette, the Chicago & West Michigan, the Detroit, Grand Rapids & Western and the Lowell and Hastings lines.

This was effective January 1, 1900. Since that time other lines have been acquired, including the Saginaw, Tuscola & Huron, the South Haven & Eastern, the Milwaukee, Benton Harbor & Columbus and the Lake Erie & Detroit River roads. The lease to the C. H. & D. was arranged for last year.

The Pere Marquette system has been extended into Chicago, where it located in December 1903. It has formed a trackage agreement with the Canada Southern, under which it has practically completed a line to the Niagara frontier, reaching suspension bridge and Buffalo. Direct lines are in operation to Chicago, Milwaukee, Manitowoc and Kewau-naw, at which points direct connections are made with all the great western systems.

SEARCH FOR GIRLS BODY

Officers Resume Work on Templeton Case

Grasping the first opportunity with the melting of the snow and the breaking up of ice in the river, Deputy Sheriff J. S. Allen, under instructions from Sheriff Tennant, and aided by scores of college students, are preparing to resume the search for the body of Olive Templeton, the pretty co-ed who disappeared from the Emanuel Adventist college at Berrien Springs over a month ago.

Although students have daily extended their search for their lost schoolmate, no systematic operations have been attempted since the last great blizzard drove the searchers to shelter. Friday afternoon, headed by Deputy Allen, nearly 75 students and villagers, divided into parties of three and four, commenced the search in an effort to penetrate every nook and crevice on the hills and in the ravines surrounding the institution.

Imperiling their lives by the crashing and grinding of the ice in the river, a score of sturdy men undertook to reach and cover the small islands in the river below the village in the hope that the body had been washed upon their shores.

The voyage was extremely hazardous, and nightfall put an end to the attempt.

The river in the vicinity of the college is filled with snags and there are several long, shallow sand bars at the head of the islands.

It is thought that the body will be found in the vicinity of these islands.

The search will continue until every foot of ground for miles around Berrien Springs and on river below the village will be covered.—News Palladium.

Mr. Irving Jaquay returned Sunday from an extended stay in Troy, Alabama, where he has just completed the setting of a five thousand tree Alberta peach orchard. While there he also trimmed up a two year old orchard consisting of 25 thousand trees. Mr. Jaquay says that young peach trees are in full bloom there and that there is more climate than society in the south.

Mrs. Wm. Proud's Sunday school class met at the home of Mrs. Chas. Voorhees, Friday March 10, it being her birthday. After partaking of a bountiful dinner prepared by the hostess, which was much enjoyed by all, the afternoon was devoted to a carefully prepared program, consisting of prayer, scripture readings, singing, review of Sunday school lesson and a general discussion on Sunday school work.

The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pangborn was the scene of a joyous social gathering last Friday the occasion being a surprise on Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn arranged by their children, the day being their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary. About thirty of their old friends and neighbors gathered with them and passed the day. Music was furnished by Miss Deering and an elaborate three course dinner was served. Many handsome silver presents were received by the worthy couple.

At about 8:45 Saturday morning a fire alarm was sounded, and the hook and ladder truck was soon on its way to the residence of Frank Rowley, corner of Fourth and Hoffman streets. It seems that Mrs. Rowley had placed some corn cobs in the oven to dry, to be used in kindling a fire morning. Mr. and Mrs. Rowley and little son, Wayne, went for a ride on the west side of the river, and when they returned the kitchen was filled with smoke. Master Wayne ran into the street and yelled fire, when a neighbor sent in an alarm by telephone. The cobs had taken fire and burned. The only damage was a smoked up house.—Niles Star.

MODERN RITES BEAT OLD.

Beatification of Cure of Ars Pronounced More Attractive Than Ancient Ceremony.

The solemn beatification of Jean Baptiste Vianney, cure of Ars, a little village near Lyons, surpassed in attractiveness similar festivals celebrated under the pontificate of the present pope. Vianney, born in 1787 of shepherd parents, died in 1859 after 30 years of parochial administration in Ars, his sacerdotal life being a singularly beautiful and evangelical one. In the space of one year the spiritual winsomeness of this simple unlettered curate caused over 80,000 people of all sorts and conditions to flock to Ars from every country of Europe. Illustrious prelates like Dupanloup and preachers like Lacordaire undertook special journeys to divine the secret of Vianney's apostolic oratory.

Toward the close of his fruitful career as revivalist the good cure, as a result of excessive fasting and vigils, became the subject of painful hallucinations. The devils and hobgoblins were so numerous that Vianney says they obscured all the four walls of his dwelling. Satan appeared in person almost daily, and smeared over all Vianney's pictures and furniture with dirt, so as to make it necessary to have them scrubbed continually. His Satanic majesty further engaged the puny parson in physical wrestling matches, smashed his holy water stoup to atoms, set fire to the cure's bedstead and mattress, and as a finale flung Vianney himself down the staircase into the courtyard. Vianney escaped without a scratch, but the terrible row kept up by the demons in the chamber night after night reduced him to a pitiable state of nervousness and insomnia.

These and other phenomena have been welcomed by the Roman Congregation of Rites, which has made a hard and fast rule not to believe in the heroic sanctity of any Catholic candidate for beatification or canonization unless physical signs and wonders can be adduced. Four French cardinals, six bishops and a thousand French pilgrims assisted at the recent function. The bishop of Belley, in whose diocese Ars is situated, sang high mass, surrounded by a group of priests and peasants belonging to Vianney's village.

A noteworthy detail at the afternoon ceremony, when Pius X. made a state entry into St. Peter's, was the presence of the duke and duchess of Genoa in the royal tribune. Their royal highnesses drove directly from the Royal Margherita palace, and were officially received at the entrance to the Vatican basilica.

"Do fishes grow, fast, Jimmie?" "Some of them do. My father caught one last year that grows an inch every time he talks about it."—Cassell's.

Man and Shoes

How much a man is like old shoes. For instance, both a soul may lose; Both have been tanned; both are made tight. By cobblers; both get left and right. Both need a mate to be complete. And both are made to go on feet. They both need being both are soled. And both, in time, all turn to mold. With shoes the last is first; and when The shoes wear out, they're mended new. When men wear out they're men—leaving too.

They both are tread upon, and both Will tread on others, nothing lo-h. Both have their ties and both incline. When polished, in the world to shine; And both the peg out—how would you choose.

To be a man or be his shoes?

SCHOOL NOTES

Five members of our high school took the county teacher's examination at Benton Harbor last Thursday and Friday. They were Riley Zerby, Jay Conrad, Verna Brewer, Mary Keller and Hazel Bradley.

Sixteen pupils were absent last Friday, the most of them on account of sickness.

EIGHT GRADE

Mabel Montgomery was the first to give us a complete list of the new cabinet officers.

Miss Kittie Knight, of Niles and the Misses Gertie Jones and Pearl Olmer of South Bend visited the grade last week.

We debate again Friday 3:00 p. m. This time on the subject: Resolved: that higher education is beneficial to the masses.

Affirmatives, Mildred Roe, Cyrus Jenks, Ralph Hamilton, Fay Douglass, Agnes McFallen and Irene Fuller. Negatives, Max Foster, Blanche Williams, Rose Hershenow, Minnie Blodgett, Irene Troutfetter and Ruby Eldredge.

SEVENTH GRADE

In the history test last week, Freda Hershenow and Myrtle Lentz handed in the best papers. Freda also received the highest mark in Arith., her standing being 98.

The subject for "Current Events" Monday morning was the Russian and Japan War. Some very interesting material was furnished by the pupils, especially the boys.

Henrietta Arnold has returned to her work after spending two weeks with the measles.

Glen Salisbury is organist this week. We are glad to find one boy out of the dozen who is able to play for marching.

The pupils are learning a new song entitled, "The Army of the Birds."

SIXTH GRADE

In our reading contest, Rubie Strawser in the B class and Lena Emmons in the A class received the highest number of votes for the weeks work.

We wrote essays on Mendelssohn during the music period last week. Some good ones were produced.

Stained glass windows furnished us a very interesting painting lesson last Thursday.

FIFTH GRADE

The attendance for the past few weeks has been small due to so much sickness.

A reading class are studying "The Marvellous Pitcher" a selection from Hawthorne's Wonder Book.

Some experiments were performed Thursday p. m. to show that air is a material thing and occupies space.

FOURTH GRADE

Many who have been absent because of sickness have returned to school. Among them are, Henry Eisenhart, Charley Evans, Inez Burks Elmer Conrad, Lena Richardson, Ralph Sewall and Walter Sanford.

During the past week each pupil has written a letter to pupils in a school in Mississippi, telling of our home town, its size, factories and other interests. In return we expect letters from the pupils in the South. By this we hope to profit and become good letter writers.

THIRD GRADE

The pupils enjoyed an imaginary trip to Holland Monday.

The story of Robert Fulton and the first steam boat will be read this week.

Heaton Moore is in school again, after an absence on account of illness.

WARD SCHOOL

Pupils of second grade are learning a new motion song.

Our work is much interrupted by children being at home on account of illness.

We are very much interested in our drawing lessons; and many specimens, faulty but blameless, are on exhibition in the rooms.

A pretty hyacinth graces the desk in the 1st grade, the gift of Stanley Paul.

BEAUTY BUT SKIN DEEP.

In the Windy Days of Early Spring Particular Attention Should be to Keep Skin Presentable.

If there is any truth in the adage "Beauty is but skin deep," we may feel rather alarmed just now, in time of biting winds. Red noses, dried up and smarting skins, tiny fissures and cracks, all help to banish good humor. Yet the very contrast of misery without and comfort within may bring its own consolation. Think of arriving home, tired and half frozen, with skin chapped by cold and blackened by smoke, while one short hour afterwards one may appear rested, refreshed, and in a presentable state after a delightful massage with one's pet lotions and creams.

Face massage at home presents to most people many difficulties, yet a little practice, with attention to certain rules, should soon overcome them. Washing the face simply with water does not suffice to remove dirt and grease, so the pores of the skin must be thoroughly cleansed by the application of a pure cream, which may then be bathed with a lotion suitable for the purpose, thus preparing the way for the nourishing skin food which is to follow. Never rub the face, but remember that all movements on the skin should be very gentle, but firm withal. After the lotion has been used and gently dried with a soft piece of butter muslin, take plenty of the skin food and spread it everywhere on the face and neck where it is required, before attempting to commence massage. For massage movements, the balls of the fingers must be used, the under skin manipulated without the top skin being stretched, for this would produce more wrinkles. All movements must be outward and upward. Work from the center of the forehead and bridge of the nose towards the temples; from the nose, under the eyes, towards their corners, from the nostrils to the tips of the ears, and from the chin to the lobes of the ears. A gentle circular movement, always upwards, on the hollows of the temples and cheeks may complete the massage. The skin is particularly elastic under the eyes, which accounts for the prevalence of "crows'-feet," so extra care must be taken here. Almost all novices err on the side of roughness, thinking that strength in the movement will remove wrinkles, whilst it is far more likely to produce them.

After the massage has been completed, wipe off all grease with a soft muslin (the best kind even must never be allowed to remain on), after which a tonic should be sprayed on the face and dried off. Either a pure liquid powder or a dry one may be used, and then the face should be gently massaged for a few minutes with a prepared chamomile leather in either hand, with the same upward and outward movements as before. No general rules can be given as to foods and lotions, as different skins require different remedies, and all the best specialists I know make a point of prescribing for each individual case. Therefore, in obtaining written advice from a specialist, minute details as to the condition and appearance of the skin, diet, exercise, etc., should be given, if good results are to be obtained. And, one parting word of advice: Be as careful in consulting your specialist as you are in consulting your doctor, and this will not only entail sound counsel, but also good preparations.

PRETTY THEATER WAIST.

One of the Newest Designs and Best Liked Is the Tight Bodice with Puffed Sleeves.

Fashion has established that we are to have the close-fitting waist, draped more or less, and that much fullness shall dominate the upper part of the sleeves. The design here shown is suitable either for a costume bodice or for a separate blouse. Notice the yoke short on the shoulder, the soft draping for the upper part of the waist, the snug fit about the waist. The sleeves are particularly pretty, we think; the soft puffs, little frill of material, and deep frill of lace. The collar should match the yoke, the best effect being obtained by carrying on the collar as an integral part of the yoke. A good feature of this waist is the drawing of the fullness into rows of shirring at the shoulders.

Convenience in Kitchen. Conveniently near the range in the kitchen should be placed the sink and the dresser, not too far from the table and range. You have then the principal articles so placed that the labor will be much lightened.

Lace Cuffs. Tiny ruffles of valenciennes lace make up a whole deep cuff that is charmingly delicate against the background of soft, deep velvet, of which the gown was made.

The Cough Habit

is more dangerous to your life than the drink, cocaine or morphine habits, for it soon ends in Consumption, Pneumonia and Death. Save yourself from these awful results of Coughs and Colds, by taking
