HE REPENTS AT LEISURE

Robert Mount Married and Didn't Know It

END OF A BIG CAROUSAL

Now He Seeks Divorce from Lockport New York Woman

When Robert Mount of Niles sobered up from the effects of a farewell dinner party, he found that he had a wife. He mustered but a faint recollection of the performance of the ceremony but friends of the bride stamped it indelibly on his memory. This all happened at Lockport, N. Y., declares Mr. Mount in his bill of complaint filed on the divorce side of the chancery court. He asks that his marriage with Hattie Rouch of that city be annulled.

Mount blames it all to the red wine. In December he went to Lockport, his old home, to renew old acquaintance. Just before Mount's departure for Michigan, he gave a farewell dinner party to a few old friends and, quite proper of course on the dear old soil of Amsterdam, there was Rhemish wine of red, and massive tankards filled with amber fluid of old Dutch brew.

According to Mount's own story, just a trifle too much did he drink and he became "insensible and with clouded mind." Then it must have been that the host was married to Hattie Rouch, according to the story told in the bill of complaint. The dissipation ended after the second day, and then Mount's friends told him of the wife "whom he was to cherish in life."

It was all a surprise to Mount and indignant he at once left for home but without his spouse.

He alleges that he has never lived with the woman and under the circumstance of the marriage asks that he be released from the pact.

Mount's first wife died in 1902 and he has two children.

Mount is 59 and the designing Mrs. Rouch, is, or was, before Mount married her, a widow over whose head the snow of 47 winters had passed.

The grand carousal from which Mount woke up to find himself married, lasted for several days. Mount came to on Jan. 5, only to be informed that he had promised to protect and defend the widow Rouch for better or for worse until death did them part, two days before.

When he recovered from the shock Mount went to his wife and asked her if it was really true that they were married, and he asserts that she denied the marriage story. He left for Michigan the next day and has never seen the widow since, but the marriage story proved to be true and he wants now to break the tie that binds them.

Burns and Sweet of Niles are attorneys for Mount.

Saved by Dynamite

Sometimes, a flaming city is saved by dynamiting, a space that the fire can't cross. Sometimes, a cough hangs on so long, you feel as if nothing but dynamite would cure it. Z. T. Gray, of Calhoun, Ga., writes: "My wife had a very aggravated cough, which kept her awake nights. Two physicians could not help her, so she took Dr. King's New Discovery for consumption, coughs and colds, which eased her cough, gave her sleep and finally cured her." Strictly scientific cure for bronchitis and La Grippe. At all drug stores, price 50c and $1.00; guaranteed, Trial bottle free.

Painter in Great Luck
Louis Thomas, a poor painter in Benton Harbor, received a letter informing him that $75,000 was in the vaults of a New York bank at his disposal. It was a legacy to him from his grandfather, and for 12 years it has been adding interest and a sister has been spending a portion of her wealth in an effort to locate her long lost brother.

Nearly 30 years ago, imbued with a spirit of adventure, Thomas ran away from his home in New York with a party of other boys. The Black Hills in South Dakota, was their goal, and gold was hope. Failure resulted in their mining operations. Discouraged at his prospects, young Thomas determined to keep his relatives in the dark as to his whereabouts. Word came to his parents from a former companion that he had been killed by Indians during a raid. They died in that belief. The sister never gave up hope that her brother would some time turn up alive. She continued to search with the aid of friends, and when their grandfather died leaving an estate of $10,000 to be divided between the children, a portion of her wealth went to double the effort to locate Thomas. By chance through a friend in Chicago the sister learned of Thomas' residence and a letter established his identity.

Next week the two will be reunited in Chicago when the sister comes west with $75,000. Thomas with a wife and 10 children has for years struggled hard to keep the wolf from the door.

Chicago Market Letter

Weekly review of grain trade and exceptional market conditions furnished exclusively to the Record by the house of Fyee, Manson & Co., Board of Trade, Chicago.

The wheels of trade have been reversed in the leading cereal wheat. Three weeks ago wheat was headed for Chicago from all points of the compass. Everybody was running from it. Prices were depressed. It was the overdoing of the selling and running following the collapse of the May deal. Last days of April saw May wheat at 86c, July at 84c. The trade went to the bottom of the Gates hill. Now, it is climbing another hill, Bread Hill. Cash wheat is in greater demand than at any time since 1904 harvests. The millers see it getting scarce and they are after it. Prices of cash wheat lead the advance in futures. The bears are now taking their medicine. Bulls in July wheat are getting the benefits which would have made the Gates deal a great success had it been held back sixty days. The shortage from the 1904 crop, on which the great May line was bought, is now being felt and prices are mounting quickly. Wheat stocks are disappearing quickly. The country has dried up on supplies. Reserves southwest are so low that country mills have closed down. Gigantic milling interests northwest saw the shortage coming and gathered in all the high grade wheat at Minneapolis. For the past week Chicago has been making sales to Kansas City and northwest cash people. Last week of April Chicago received 1,095,000 bus. wheat. Last week receipts were 52,000 bus. Prices here are up 9c to 19c; at Kansas City they are 15c to 20c higher than the low point on the break; in Minneapolis 16c and Duluth 12c in two weeks. St. Louis prices are up 15c. Saturday saw an advance of 40c a barrel in flour by the Minneapolis millers in sympathy with wheat. The trading in May and July wheat is based on supply and demand. Supplies are decreasing. Demands are increasing. The September contracts are based on new crop promise. Numerous complaints have come since May 1st of rust and fly and less thrifty looking winter wheat fields. The winter crop has a critical period ahead. The spring crop has all its risks to run. The Washington crop report raised condition of winter wheat (report made up Apr. 25) but reached total area 1,432,000 acres. This cut the promise 18 millions. A conservative authority makes this comment today. "There is likely to be a reduction in condition this month and from present indications the winter wheat yield at harvest will be nearer 400,000,000 bus. than 475,000,000." As we said at the start, the wheels are reversed. May wheat is over 95c again, July price headed for 90c and cash wheat for these contracts bringing 95c to $1.10 in all the big milling centers.

Corn traders are expecting activity if not speculative excitement for the remaining days of May. Big bull interests have lines of possibly six or eight millions bought for May. Probably the short sales now open for this month are 10,000,000 bus. Shorts are chiefly elevator people who may be able to supply a part of the corn. There is a big following on the bear side of which there is little hope but to cover and be punished. Contract corn here is now below 2,000,000 bus. total stocks below 4,000,000 bus. The country will not come to the relief of the people who have sold what they cannot deliver. It is a keen speculative fight. Shorts in later months are nervous. Wet weather and a later planting season may aid in driving prices higher, temporarily at least.

To-day would be a good time to buy one of those $15.00 Grey Worsted Suits at Spiro's.

They have caught the fancy of the best dressed men in town.

We have sold these suits to men, this season, who had never before attempted to get suited in ready-to-wear clothes. But there is a reason, of course. Our hand tailored suits are so different from others. They own every kind of good tailoring that is also good style--they retain their shape, and are very much superior to some of "the cheap tailor" products turned out around town.

The indicator on the big steamer of Benton Harbor reads just the reverse of those on the other boats of the line, so when the new captain, in turning the boat around in the canal, gave the signal to back, the engineer went ahead and sent the big boat crashing through the heavy dock timbers and into the corner of Morrow & Stone's bakery. The occupants of the building were badly scared, but the damages will not exceed $200.

Two Things That Should Not and Need Not Be

A child without a home and a home without a child. It is possible for every worthy family in the state to obtain a desirable child that will be a comfort and blessing to the home. The benefit is mutual. The child needs what the home can give and the home needs the child. There is no greater service to God or fellow man than to receive an orphan or friendless child and to tenderly and wisely rear him to a useful manhood.

There are hundreds of bright little ones who need just what you can do for them. Write today, and we will place them in year homes on trail for 90 days, and take them back if not satisfactory. Address—The Michigan Children's Home Society, 512 Hammond Bldg., Detroit, or St. Joseph, Mich.

Mr. Annis is popular with a large list of customers—News-Palladium.
