HELD UNDER $5,000 BONDS

Tidey and Griffin Held Over to Circuit Court

EVIDENCE IS STARTLING

Nodhdruft Last Seen on Car Over River at Elkhart

There is no need to exaggerate to impress the facts; truth is startling and sensational enough to make the citizens of Indiana and Michigan realize the importance of the case of the People vs. Bert Tidey and Wm. Griffin when they hear the evidence. The testimony of but a few witnesses was necessary at the hearing of the two boys at Elkhart Tuesday afternoon to bind them over to the circuit court in bonds of $5,000 each. In default of bail they were lodged in jail to await trial.

So strong a chain of circumstantial evidence was disclosed that the prosecutor was surprised, and the defense was given such a blow that they brought but two witnesses to testify. These two were greatly embarrassed and so rattled in their testimony that they forgot themselves and told contradictory stories.

The attorneys for the boys asked but few questions. The prosecution placed eight witnesses on the stand and their evidence was strong enough to hold the boys. Many witnesses will be sworn at the trial who did not attend the hearing Tuesday and their evidence will be as detrimental to Tidey and Griffin as that already introduced.

Frank Sommers, the young man who accompanied Nodhdruft on the fatal trip to Marion on August 24th was the chief witness examined in behalf of the people and he told a straightforward story of the facts and circumstances leading up to the quarrel on the train. He began his story with an account of the start from home, told the incidents of the trip to Marion, what he and Robert did while in Marion and how they conducted themselves throughout the day. He recited the circumstances that led up to the fight after the train left Marion on the return trip, of the courteous treatment that both the boys extended the aggressors by giving them all the room they wanted on the car, how Nodhdruft had been insulted by Griffin. He told the conversation that passed between the boys and throughout his testimony it was clearly shown that Griffin was the man who started the trouble. From his story Tidey had passed on down the aisle and after Griffin had made trouble he (Tidey) returned and offered an apology for Griffin, apparently trying to smooth matters over. He said that they were all out for a good time and they did not want to have any trouble. When all was quiet and the trouble was thought to be over. Tidey returned and attacked Robert in his seat. The boys were separated by friends and advised to be quiet, but Tidey made threats of vengeance and left the car.

Sommers also testified as to the character of the murdered boy which he said was beyond reproach. The last he saw of his companion was on the train when the car stood over the river at Elkhart and they had given up their seats to some ladies who entered from the car taken out on account of the hot box.

Witnesses have positively identified the body found in the river as that of Robert Nodhdruft and have as fully identified Bert Tidey as the man who had threatened to “fix that fellow before he left the train.” After Tidey left the car in which the quarrel occurred and before the train left Elkhart he was heard to make many remarks which will be hard for him to disprove when the case comes to trial. While the train stood over the river at Elkhart, three boys were observed racing through the train in the car directly over the river. Nodhdruft was identified by several witnesses by his hat which was badly riddled in the first fight and the attention of the passengers in the coach was called to the boys by the remark of a young lady who said, “See that fellow with the string hanging to his hat like a cow's tail.” The boys rushed out of the car on the platform and nobody saw Nodhdruft alive again. Later Tidey was seen walking through the train toward the rear coach where he sat down and told a young lady that he had had a scrap.

The young woman asked him what he was scrapping over, but he evaded her question by replying that he had “Fixed one fellow so that he would not scrap any more.” After his return home he told about his quarrel on the train and talked of it freely until the body of Nodhdruft was recovered from the river, and he learned the officers were on his trail. He then changed his story and said that his fight did not amount to anything and undertook to cover up his crime. He insisted that the body found was not that of the fellow with whom he had quarreled.

Officers of northern Indiana and southern Michigan are both working on the case which now gives promise of being one of the most sensational cases ever heard in Elkhart. Indiana papers are giving Deputy Sheriff Dwan the credit for gathering the evidence in the case and Mr. Dwan is determined that so far as he is concerned he will see to it that justice will be meted out to the guilty parties in this case.—News Palladium

Sheriff To Face Suit

Officer Detemple Detained the Girl in Niles—Case Promises to be Most Interesting Throughout.

Mayor Gillette, says the Benton Harbor News has started a damage suit against Sheriff Joseph Tennant and his bondsmen Fred B. Collins, Thos. A. Walker, Ira R. Stemm, Wm. Freitag and John F. Duncan.

Mayor Gillette and his divorced wife, Mrs. H. P. Boehm of this city, have been in dispute over the guardianship of their daughter and several weeks ago when Miss Gillette started for Rochester with her father, Deputy Detemple detained the young lady at Niles an hour or two and was going to bring her back to Benton Harbor to her mother.

The young lady was of age and when the fact was discovered she was given her freedom, but not until the train she wished to take had passed through Niles.

Gray & Seitz and Cady & Andrews represent the mayor and Gore & Harvey the sheriff. The case promises to be a very interesting one.

Better Care of Cemeteries

Adopted by the State Association of the Farmer's Club

Whereas; there exists, throughout the state, a lamentable neglect of proper care for our rural cemeteries, and of the graves of our dead therein, and,

Whereas; as a Christian people, we ought to exemplify our boasted civilization by the manner in which we care for the last resting place of our loved ones, therefore be it

Resolved; that we do hereby recommend the setting apart of September 30th, of each year, said day to be known as “Memory Day,” on which day we earnestly ask, that all interested, intimately or remotely, in the better care and condition, of our rural cemeteries, to come to these cemeteries, on that day, and do whatever is needed, to place these hallowed portions of earth in proper and becoming condition.

Wedding Bells Ring Out

For Miss Cloe Faucher, of Davis, Ind., and Dr. James L. Denaut, of Hamlet, Ind.

There was a pretty wedding at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Faucher of Davis, Ind., whose former residence was Buchanan, September 20, when the younger daughter, Cloe Vida, was united in marriage to Dr. James L. Denaut, of Hamlet, Ind. The bride was beautifully gowned in cream silk voile and carried a shower bouquet of bridal roses. The groom wore the conventional black. The bride was given away by her brother, Melvin H. Faucher and was attended by her elder sister, who acted as bridesmaid and whose gown was of pink silk mull and carried pink roses. The groom was attended by Dr. E. C. Winans, of Chicago, who acted as best man. Four little nieces of the bride and groom, acted as flower girls. The rooms were profusely decorated in golden rod and ivy, pink and white being the colors used in the table decorations. At high-noon, the bride leaning on the arm of her brother, marched into the room to the strains of the Mendelssohn Wedding March, played by Mr. Chas. LaBerge, of LaGrange, Ill., and Miss Susie Ford, of Chicago. An uncle of the bride, the Rev. Wm. M. Roe, of Buchanan, Mich. officiated performing the ring ceremony in the presence of numerous friends of the bride and groom. Congratulations being over the assembled guests were treated to a sumptuous repast, after which the happy couple left for an indefinite visit in Chicago and on their return will be at home to their friends in Hamlet, Ind., where the Doctor has a large and lucrative practice. The bride was the recipient of many beautiful and costly presents.

Andrew Huss is very much put out at the action of some unknown parties who went into his peach orchard last night and broke down some of his trees. He says he does not care so much for the peaches they stole, but he does object to having his trees destroyed.

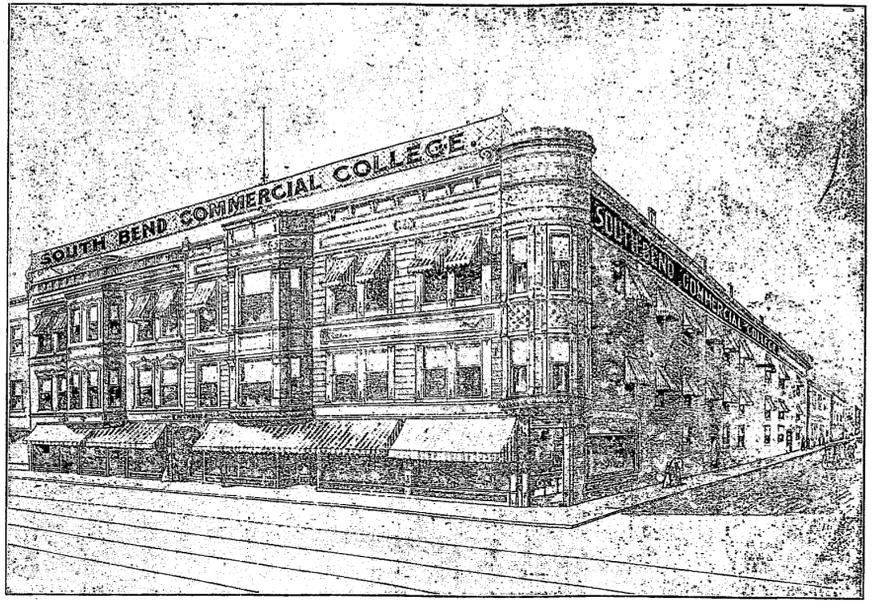

Eugene Crawford opened his dancing school last night for the season. Lessons from 7 to 9, after which the assembly opened and dancing was indulged in until a late hour. Mr. Crawford had excellent success last year and we trust he may meet with even better success this season.

Attention is called to the offer made in this issue, whereby the Record and The Weekly Inter Ocean can be secured for the small sum of $1.05. This offer is good only until Nov. 1st and should be taken advantage of before that time. See the advertisement in this issue.

Owing to the gradual sinking of the road bed between Buchanan and Dayton, the trains on the Michigan Central from the west have been late. When this road was built, about 3 1/2 miles west of here there was a sink hole and it was found necessary to fill in this place with carloads of timber and gravel, and since that time at different intervals it has been necessary to fill this up.

The Royal Neighbors of this place will have initiation this evening. They will also entertain members from Do wagiac, Edwardsburg, Dayton, Galien and Niles. About 40 visitors are expected to attend. After the initiation a program will be carried out, after which refreshments of ice cream and cake will be served. A royal good time is anticipated, so all members of the local lodge are requested to attend.

The managers of the Southern Michigan State fair association have decided to make Wednesday, Oct. 4 children's day at the Benton Harbor fair. Every school scholar in the southern part of the state will be admitted free. This applies to the eighth grade and under, but not to high school pupils. Teachers in Benton Harbor, St. Joseph, Niles, Buchanan and in the surrounding districts are invited to make a requisition upon President O. B. Hipp for the tickets they need for the use of their scholars.

Sherwood May Die

St. Joseph, Sept. 21—Reports today from Grand Rapids indicate that County Treasurer Alvah Sherwood is seriously injured and may not live.

Yesterday while at the West Michigan State fair at Grand Rapids, Sherwood, who was acting as superintendent of the horse department, lost control of the horse he was riding, and the animal reared up and fell backwards on Sherwood.

The rule to bar girls from murder trials in New York city, growing out of the large attendance of morbid young females at such events, may be wise as a necessity forced by the yellow journalism which New York has so greatly encouraged.

Advices from the county seat are to the effect that W. S. Wells, the promoter, whose headquarters are in Cleveland, although his family resides in this place, who is defendant in a $10,000 suit brought by W. H. Littell of Detroit, has filed a plea setting forth that the notes on which he is sued were without consideration and were obtained by George Littell, son of the complainant, by fraud and misrepresentation. The defendant also claims that the transfer of the notes from son to father was without consideration and that the son is indebted to him—Wells—for a judgment obtained in the circuit court of Wayne county as a result of fraudulent dealings in regard to the said notes; also that the son is a fugitive from justice, a warrant having been issued for his arrest for fraudulent dealings in regard to the notes, in question. The complainant has retained Attorney T. G. Beaver, of Niles, while the defendant will be represented by a Detroit lawyer, it is said.

The game that came off last Sunday between Berrien Springs and Buchanan was advertised in the Berrien Springs Era as follows: "The long-wished-for match has been made at last. Those self-styled champions, and, withal, really good players, the Buchanans, will cross bats with our ball team Sunday, Sept. 17. Look out for a lively game. The boys are pretty evenly matched although the Buchanans have as yet a little the best of it. But what a difference there will be after this game! Every body come and see a really good game." Yes, Brother Benson, what a difference there "was" after the game—4 to 1 in favor of the Blues.

Mrs. George Brody, residing west of Buchanan, was shopping at Fox's dry goods store yesterday afternoon, and leaving her purse on the counter in the north end of the store, returned to the front, whereupon a tramp who had just bought a shirt, slipped the purse into his pocket and the theft was not discovered for about five minutes. The police were notified and a diligent search was made, but while a hobo is arrested on suspicion it is thought the real man is still at large. The purse contained about seven dollars. Mrs. Brody had another purse containing about $40, but this she did not let go. The thief is a short man with a florid complexion and stubby mustache.—Niles Star.

Inspectors Find Everything in Good Condition

A total of 287 prisoners have been confined within the Berrien county jail within the past six months, according to the report of the jail inspectors, who made the semi-annual visitation Monday. Of this number but seven were females. There are at the present time thirty-six inmates confined within its walls; twenty-four of these are serving sentences, eleven are detained awaiting trial and one awaiting sentence. There is one female among the number now incarcerated.

The report made public this Tuesday tells an interesting story of the crimes that have been committed during the half year. Drunkenness and vagrancy heads the list with 100 to come under the head of drunks and disorderly conduct. Vagrancy is next with eighty-one on the list. There were but two to answer to the charge of assault with intent to do great bodily harm less than the crime of murder; twelve for assault and battery; eight insane charges, four for non support, four held on suspicion, four for false pretenses, two robbery cases, three each for truancy and gambling, eleven for grand larceny, nineteen for simply larceny, three for rape, two for assault with intent to kill, two for malicious destruction of property, two for using obscene language, and one each for aiding state ward to escape, adultery, arson, witness, embezzlement, and cruelty to animals.

The inspectors found the jail in first-class condition and congratulated Sheriff Tennant on the good appearance of everything in general. The buildings are all in good repair. No employment is found for the inmates, but the board did not make any recommendations of any nature. —News Palladium.

"Alice and the Eight Princesses"

The Grand Opera House opened on Sunday last with the new Julian Mitchell extravaganza "Alice and the Eight Princesses," the book of which is by Glen MacDonough and the music by Victor Herbert, and the new musical play or extravaganza, as the programme calls it, made a positive hit. The music and book both called for unqualified praise and the production, which was heralded in advance as one of Julian Mitchell's greatest efforts, easily lived up to that reputation, for the press without a single exception pronounced it the greatest masterpiece of color effect, gorgeous costuming, magnificent scenery and delightful stage effects that ever was seen on any Chicago stage. In fact, it was a production of such wonderful splendor that many are of the opinion that a new standard in the dressing of the musical play has been established, and that even Julian Mitchell will find it hard to outvie in any subsequent production.

A new comedian in Sam Chip as the Mad Hatter, heretofore a stranger with Chicago audiences, made an instant hit and was easily accorded first honors, his singing and dancing being inimitable. Eva Davenport in the role of Phyllis, a Dresden Shepherdess, was also another great hit. Personal successes were made by Bessie Wynn, Lotta Faust, Bessie Clayton, D. L. Don and Smith and Cook. The chorus is described as one of exceptional beauty of form and feature, dazzlingly resplendent in magnificent costumes.

Miraculously Escapes

Civil Engineer Harris Jumps From Machine in Time to Save His Life

Civil Engineer Harris of the M. C., whose headquarters are in Niles, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury Wednesday about a quarter of a mile west of this place.

He was riding in his "automobile" or gasoline railway velocipede, and was traveling along toward the west on the north track. Hearing the sound of an approaching train behind him, he turned and saw the fast Grand Rapids Chicago flyer, known as No 48, bearing swiftly down upon him.

He hastily jumped off his machine and succeeded in clearing from the track just as the train wheezed by.

Mr. Harris then transferred the velocipede to the south, or eastbound track, but no sooner had he seated himself on it and prepared to start again than immediately ahead of him he saw train No. 8, the "Wolverine," coming along at 60 miles an hour and looking as though it would be upon him before he could get off the machine.

Mr. Harris with presence of mind made a quick jump and landed in the ditch, too late however to save the auto, which the flyer struck and sent 70 feet, smashing the machine to pieces. Mr. Harris was more than fortunate to escape without even a scratch, although the engine is said to be ruined beyond repairs.

30 Club

The 30 Club held its opening meeting on Wednesday last, September 20th, at the home of Mrs. John Bishop. The Club opened with a short address by the president, Mrs. Daisy Rough.

A brief business session followed, after which the ladies responded to the roll call by telling the manner in which they had spent the summer. The afternoon was then given up to a social time.

A Shakespearian Contest was engaged in, Mrs. Lura Pears winning the prize, a handsome book of Shakespeare's, "Much ado about Nothing"

Light refreshments consisting of peaches and cream, cake and macaroons were then served. The program committee had the afternoon in charge and received the thanks of each member of the club for the pleasant program they arranged.

On Wednesday next, the work of the club will begin. It is hoped to make this one of the most instructing as well as interesting years of the club.

GHOULS AT THE TOMB

Supposed Plot to Steal Body of Clem Studebaker Foiled.

South Bend, Ind., Sept. 19—What is believed to have been an attempt to loot the tomb of Clem Studebaker by two men was frustrated Sunday night by Thomas Hackney, the watchman employed to guard the Clem Studebaker mausoleum.

About midnight he observed the men prowling about the tomb, and when he called to them they started to run. He pursued and they turned and fired at him.

Half a dozen shots were exchanged and Hackney is sure he wounded one of the would-be ghouls. It is supposed the men intended to steal the body and hold it for a heavy ransom

Mustard Dressing for Pickles.

An excellent mustard dressing to be used on mixed pickles, green tomato pickles or cut cucumbers is made as follows: To three pints of vinegar allow one cup of sugar, three-quarters cup of flour and a scant half pound of mustard. Mix these together and wet to a paste with a little of the vinegar, stirring together until perfectly free from lumps. Heat the remainder of the vinegar and when it boils stir in the paste. Cook five minutes, stirring constantly. At the last add a rounding teaspoon of salt. When cooked this dressing should be like a thick cream.
