General Sorrow is Manifested at the Death of Irving R. Pearl

FUNERAL WAS VERY LARGE

Funeral Eulogy Given by Sir Knight Milton Hinkley, of Benton Harbor

Large numbers of business men of Berrien county, especially of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, paused in their work Tuesday to pay their last tribute to the memory of the late Under Sheriff Irving Pearl.

At 9 o'clock in the morning a large number of Knights Templar in uniform marched to the house of mourning and escorted the remains to the Masonic temple where they were placed amid one of the largest collections of flowers ever seen in this part of the state. Hundreds of people visited the temple and there viewed for the last time the face of one who was loved for his kindness, his sympathy, his honesty and his usefulness.

The burial was under the direction of Lake Shore lodge, while the services at the Masonic temple were in charge of Malta commandery Knights Templar.

From the time the Masonic temple was opened after the arrival of the remains and as many more took a last look this afternoon.

The floral tributes were beautiful and very many. Some of the more important pieces were sent by the Shrine and Consistory of Grand Rapids, Malta Commandery of Benton Harbor, Lake Shore lodge, Eastern Star, the Elks, the Woodmen, the Odd Fellows.

Sheriff Tennant and his force of deputies, and the police force of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph were at the head of the procession. Charles K. Farmer, lieutenant of the naval reserves was the marshal.

Sheriff Daugherty and his force of deputies from Crown Point, Ind., were among the officers in the line of mourning. It was in connection with his work in the Donahue case that Daugherty became acquainted with Mr. Pearl and a strong friendship was formed between the two men at that time.

The active pall bearers were relatives of the deceased and were as follows: Rodney Pearl, Arthur L. Pearl, James J. Jakway, Henry Wees, Will McKinley, James Grant and Ernest Vandever.

The honorary pall bearers were members of Malta commandery, as follows: John B. Morrison, W. L. Bruce, W. J. Banyon, Fred B. Collins, M. H. Morrow and E. C. Sisson.

The Bahn quartette sang one or two selections at the exercises at the Masonic temple.

Harry Stone, eminent commander made the introductory remarks at Masonic temple in which he said:

"An alarm has come to the outer door of our asylum and the messenger was death. None presumed to say to the awful presence, 'Who dares approach?' A burning taper of life in our commandery has been extinguished and only the High and Holy One can relight it."

Sir Knight Milton Hinkley, prelate of the commandery, then took the services and after offering the prayer of the ritual, quoted from the funeral service:

"Sir Knights, there is one sacred spot upon the earth where the footfalls of our march are unheeded; our trumpets quicken no pulse and incite no fear; the rustle of our banners and the gleam of our swords awaken no emotion. It is the silent city of the dead where we now stand. Awe rests upon every heart and the stern warrior's eyes are bedecked with feelings that never shame his manhood. It needs no siege, nor assault or beleaguered host to enter its walls; we fear no sortie and listen for no battle shout."

Following the exercises of the ritual, Sir Knight Hinkley gave the funeral eulogy for the dead. He said:

"We gather here today in sorrow to express the esteem in which we held our brother and companion and to offer to the family and friends of our departed brother our sympathy in this their bereavement. The goodly number here assembled the banks of floral tributes, the anxious, earnest inquiry that has been general in our city during his illness are tributes of the high esteem in which Irving Pearl was held.

"We pause in our daily pursuits for this occasion, and are reminded that he has reached an end toward which we are all hastening and we know that any services here performed or words here spoken are useful only as they may serve as lessons for the living.

"It is conforming with an expressed desire of our departed friend and of his family that these services be held in this audience chamber and under the auspices of those who have been his intimate associates.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION

Convened in Presbyterian Church Sunday Afternoon and Evening.

The Buchanan Bertrand township's Sunday schools held the autumn Convention at the Presbyterian church last Sunday afternoon and evening.

Rev. H. N. Wagner had charge of the devotionals. After words of welcome by the pastor, the President, Mr. L. B. Rough responded and called for reports of the Sunday schools by Superintendents. Mrs. Lucy Broceus reported for the Evangelical school, Mrs. Dana Phelps, the Methodist; Rev. Chas. Shook, the Advent; Joe Tichenor, the Presbyterian; Earl Pennell the United Brethren; Miss Miller, the Christian and Mr. Rough, the Evangelical in Bertrand township. These reports were very interesting.

Mrs. D. Scott and Miss Miller had charge of the primary hour. Miss Miller had charge of the singing and Miss Hubbell presiding at the organ. The children did finely in both selections, which showed work on part of these leaders. Mrs. Scott taught the lesson, "Daniel in the Lion's Den," as she teaches, giving to the convention not theory but practical help to each primary teacher that was present.

The convention was then favored with a solo by Mrs. Mercer. Mrs. P. Friday gave an interesting talk on "Music in the Sunday school" which was very suggestive. She then sang a solo with Dr. Garland at the organ. The benediction was pronounced by Rev. Chas. Shook. The music was in charge of Mrs. E. S. Dodd.

"Growth in Grace" was the subject at the Young People's service led by Miss Theoda Treat. Mrs. H. O. Perrott sang a beautiful solo during the service.

At 7 o'clock Rev. W. J. Douglass had charge of the devotionals. The violin solo by Wm. F. Koeller was well received.

Mrs. Lucy Broceus gave a very interesting report of the County Convention held in Niles the past week. Mrs. Ellison Miller sang a solo. After the offering "The Daily Christian Life" was considered by Rev. J. A. Halmhuber. It was full of practical thought. By request Mrs. P. Friday repeated the solo that she sang in the afternoon. After singing "How Firm a Foundation," Rev. J. A. Halmhuber pronounced the benediction. The offering was $3.83.

The sessions were well attended and much interest prevailed. Much credit is due to the program committee not one failure, which made the program an exceptional one. We were glad to welcome so many from Bertrand township. Mr. L. B. Rough makes a fine president. We expect our schools to grow and improve in all departments of the work.

One of the most interesting plays of the season, "The Wining Hand" will be produced in Rough's Opera House, Saturday night, Nov. 4.

DECIDES PAVING TANGLE

The court decides that the contention, that under the statute no pavement can be commenced unless a tax or assessment shall have been made, leads to an absurdity, as on this theory, a surplus in the general paving fund must remain idle forever.

Judge O. W. Coolidge handed down his decision late Tuesday afternoon in the case wherein Elijah and Sarah Murray, of Niles sought to restrain that city and the Barber Asphalt company from paving Fourth street.

After reviewing the history of the proceedings of the council in the matter, Judge Coolidge finds that the objection of Attorney Lambert that the bonding power of the city has been exhausted is well taken, but he also finds that on October 1, 1905, there was in the city treasury $8,648.17 designated as general paving funds, and that no evidence was presented to show that the city did not actually have on hand the above named sum in the general paving fund and that, whereas the city has appropriated them to the payment of the city's liability on the Fourth street pavement, the court cannot interfere, as the plaintiffs' bill asks only for an injunction against the issuing of bonds.

The court decides that the contention, that under the statute no pavement can be commenced unless a tax or assessment shall have been made, leads to an absurdity, as on this theory, a surplus in the general paving fund must remain idle forever.

As to Mr. Lambert's contention that no resolutions should have been passed prior to October 1, the court holds that, inasmuch as no liability was incurred by the city as a result of the passage of the said resolutions (the paving contract was not let until after the beginning of the fiscal year) there was no jurisdictional error, and that in any event, the question as to whether these resolutions were premature or not, is immaterial.

For the reasons stated, the application for an injunction against issuing bonds (there is no need of issuing any bonds, as the city has the cash on hand to pay for its share of the paving) is granted but otherwise denied. Under this ruling the work of paving the street will go ahead.

The Record has the largest circulation and is the best advertising medium in the county.

Jack-o'-Lantern Parade.

The Jack-o'-lantern parade, or better known as the Happy-Go-Lucky, club with their gentlemen friends, consisting of twenty in all, drove to the rural home of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Boyle on Hallowe'en night, and passed a most enjoyable evening.

The home was decorated in a unique style with jack-o'-lanterns, and presented a weird appearance. The evening was spent in games, and jokes that are always in order on an occasion of this kind.

Elaborate refreshments were served and the guests departed wishing that Hallowe'en would come oftener, also praising their host and hostess for their ability at entertaining.

The Companion as a Christmas Gift

Can you think of a gift more certain to be acceptable than a year's subscription to The Youth's Companion? Is there any one, young or old, who, having once had the paper in his hands and looked through it, did not wish to possess it for his very own? It is a gift which, far from losing its freshness as Christmas recedes into the past grows more delightful, more necessary to one's enjoyment week by week.

The boy likes it, for it reflects in its pages every boyish taste and every fine boyish aspiration. The father likes it, not only for its fiction but for its fund of information of the practical sort. The girl likes it for the stories, anecdotes, sketches and editorial articles printed in each number especially for her. The mother likes it for its stories of domestic life and family affection, for its children's page and for its medical article.

On receipt of $1.75, the yearly subscription price, the publishers send to the new subscriber all the remaining issues of The Companion for 1905 and the "Minutemen" Calendar for 1906, lithographed in twelve colors and gold.

Full illustrated Announcement of the new volume for 1906 will be sent with sample copies of the paper to any address free.

Old People's Day

Old People's Day was observed at the Evangelical church last Sunday.
A special effort was made to have many aged ones present. The church was beautifully decorated by the young people of the church, with autumn foliage, the pulpit alcove being a veritable bower of leaves.

The sermon to the aged was delivered at 10:30 a. m., by the pastor
Rev. J. A. Halmhuber from the text, "Thine age shall be clearer to the noonday; thou shalt shine forth; thou shalt be as the morning, and then shalt be secure, because there is hope; Yea, Thou shalt dig about Thee and Thou shalt take Thy rest in safety.

Job, 11, 17 and 18. Many aged as well as middle aged and young people listened attentively to the sermon which brought words of memory,
hope and cheer.

The Y. P. A. handed out souvenir cards to all the old people present and sent them to those unable to come on account of sickness. The souvenir consisted of a very neat card containing the announcement of the service, the text a cut of the pastor, and a cut of the church.

Bethany Class Entertain.

The Bethany class of the Methodist church were most pleasantly entertained at a Halloween party Tuesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs.
L. D. Jones on corner of Chicago and Clark streets, which was most appropriately decorate for the occasion.

On the arrival of each individual guest, they were escorted to a room where they were attended by a lady, who transformed them into ghostly forms. After being in these uniform for about a hour they assumed their originality and passed the remainder of the evening in games and a general good time. Dainty refreshments were served, and at a late hour all dispersed, voting Mr. and Mrs.
Jones and daughter able entertainers.

WEDDING BELLS RING OUT

For Miss Flossie Bunker, of Buchanan and Mr. Elton Myers, of Bridgeman, Mich.

Two very popular young people stood at love's altar Wednesday evening and spoke the solemn vows which made them husband and wife, when Miss Flossie Clare Bunker, of this place daughter of Police Patrolman and Mrs. Guy L. Bunker, of South Bend, was united in marriage to Elton Lorn Myers, son of Mrs. N.
M. Myers, of Bridgeman, Mich. The impressive ceremony was solemnized at the home of the bride's father, 508 West Lindsey street, in the presence of about 70 guests, by Rev. P. J.
Rice, pastor of the First Christian church, the full ring service being used.

The bridal party entered the parlor
to the strains of the Mendelssohn wedding march played by Miss Carolyn Walbridge. Prior to the ceremony Mrs. U. G. Manning rendered very effectively, "A Whispered Vow."
The bride was given away by her father. Miss Rose Bennett, of South Bend, was maid of honor and Omar Baldwin, of Bridgeman, was best man. The bride was attired in an exquisite creation of white silk Henrietta with spangled and chiffon trimmings. She carried a shower bouquet of white chrysanthemums Miss Bennett wore a beautiful garment of light blue crepe de chene with spangled and pink chiffon trimmings. She carried a shower bou-quet of pink chrysanthemums.

Among the guests at the wedding were Misses Gertrude, Anna, Frances and Bertha Simmons, Mr. and Mrs.
J. J. Miller, Miss Blanche Spaulding,
Miss Inez Redding and O. L. Bunker, grandfather of the bride, of Buchanan, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Myers have the best wishes of all there Buchanan friends, who join in with the Record and extends hearty congratulations.

ADDITIONAL LOCALS.

The funeral of John Sheldon will sion at once. Mr. Conrad is an expert hotel man and hopes to receive the large patronage which has been accorded Mr. Barron. The hostelry will be run in the most up-to-date manner. Mr. Barron retires on account of ill health. The deal was made through the Corell real estate agency.—Niles Star.

Mr. Clyde Sterns, entertained about twenty-five of his friends at a "husking bee" at the home of George Weaver, last Saturday night. The evening was passed most pleasantly in games and music. An elaborate luncheon was served. The guests departed in the wee hours of the morning, but not before the host had extended an invitation for them all to call again and husk the remainder of the corn, as they only husked two bushels during the whole evening.
Whether there were any red ears in this lot we are unable to state, but we have some very faint suspicions.

Leading Up To It

"I wish you would look at this watch and see what's the matter with it," said the man, handing it over.
The jeweler examined it.
"I can't see anything wrong," he said. "What seems to be the trouble?"
"It has lost nearly a minute in the last three months."
"That isn't worth making a fuss over."
"I don't know but one of the jewels might have broken, or something."
"None of 'em dropped out?"
"No, they're all right."
"It isn't full jeweled anyhow, is it?"
"Yes, it's full jeweled."
"I've been suspecting lately, that the case is only washed."
"You're wrong. It's solid gold."
"But it isn't a first-class make, is it?"
"Yes, there's nothing better in the market."
"I'm glad to hear you say so. Perhaps you wouldn't mind letting me have a fifty on it?"

WHY IT SUCCEEDS

Because It's For One Thing Only and Buchanan is Learning This

Nothing can be good for everything. Doing one thing well brings success. Doan's kidney pills do one thing only. They are for sick kidney.
They cure backache—every kidney ill.
Here is evidence to prove it:

Calvin Wilson, barber, Main street,
Niles, Mich., says: "Too close application to my work or too much standing very likely brought on my kidney trouble. Be that as it may, despite the use of various remedies I was unable to procure anything to give me permanent relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills. My back has ached so much that I often felt as if I would give up my business. Other symptoms of acute kidney trouble existed, particularly weakness which annoyed me at night. I obtained three boxes of Doan's kidney pills and they cured me. I thoroughly believe they will do as much for anyone else who tried them."

Plenty more proof like this from Buchanan people. Call at W. N.
Brodrick's drug store and ask what his customers report.

Otis Bigelow's First Annual Sale of "Summer Resort" Pianos.

A "ten days" unprecedented opportunity to furnish your home with a guaranteed piano or organ. For the first time in the history of my business, I shall inaugurate a BARGAIN SALE OF PIANOS AND ORGANS. We have had dozens of pianos and organs rented at various summer resorts and many of these are now being returned. Our warehouses are now already overcrowded with new fall stock, and we are compelled to inaugurate methods and prices which will unload as much of this stock as possible. MONDAY, NOV. 6, (lasting ten days) we will inaugurate a clearing sale of these slightly used instruments that will afford an opportunity to furnish your home with a high quality piano or organ at a truly great saving. These instruments have been rented only to the best of the resorting class, where they have had good care, and are therefore not to be classed as second hand. This is the first time in the history of piano selling Other bargains are in keeping with this price. People acquainted with the character of this house will know that we are not offering cheap pianos at a cheap price, but that every instrument is exactly as represented and that every purchaser will be satisfied with his purchase in after years.

A prisoner escaped from the Charlotte jail by soaping his body and crawling through a small hole. As the sheriff has recently been criticised for not providing bath facilities the terrible effect of compelling an official to do things against his will is now apparent.

Convict William Hennessey, an ugly prisoner sentenced to Jackson for six and a half years for assault with intent to kill, stabbed Convict John Kreidig, while the men were marching to their cells Monday night. The wound is in the right breast, but it is not expected to result fatally. The assault was entirely unprovoked.

The Misses Beatrice and Gladys Gage royally entertained ten of their little friends last Tuesday night at a Halloween party. The evening was spent in games and music, after which refreshments, consisting of fruit, candy and popcorn, was served. A jolly time is reported by the little guests.

Miss Mary Miller gave a Halloween party last Thursday evening for the Berean class of the Christian church, and a few of their friends. Ghosts and ghost stories, followed by a marsh-mellow roast were the principle features of the evening. A two course supper was served after which songs were sung, and the guests departed at a late hour reporting a lovely time, and voting Miss Mary a royal entertainer.

Reuben F. Ritter, aged 29, one of the Australian band of Israelites who came to Benton Harbor last March to gain everlasting life under Benjamin and Mary, died Sunday and as is usual with these people they refused to touch the body. It was taken in charge by an undertaker and prepared for burial. One feature about the Israelites in case of death is that they never use any black. Men, women and children are buried in white caskets and the burial robes are of light material.

At a late hour in the afternoon they departed for their homes, all reporting an enjoyable day.

Ezra Kendall has returned to the Grand Opera House, Chicago, where he is playing with great success his entertaining rural play, "The Vinegar Buyer," written for him by Herbert Hall Winslow. "The Vinegar Buyer" is one of the best comedies of its school, and in it Mr. Kendall is seen at his best. He is a kindly chap, full of humor—a typical character. The plot is a consistent one and the company which is in the star's support, is said to be the most competent that has ever surrounded him. The engagement at the Grand is a limited one.

BY A WOMAN'S WIT

By... CHARLES C. WADDLE

Copyright, 1905, by the S. S. McClure Company

IN the farther ring a troupe of agile Japanese disported themselves on flimsy ladders or balanced in incredible attitudes at the top of long bamboo poles. Nearer at hand Coralie posed and pirouetted upon her broad backed palfrey and floated high as a bespangled thisledown through paper hoops.

The ringmaster was making an announcement from his rostrum beside the center pole, "Maddox, the fearless, the premier wild beast trainer of the world"

Coralie rested from her exertions. A white and scarlet clown strolled at the side of her horse as it ambled slowly around the ring.

"See that man in the derby hat standing over by the main entrance?" he asked in an undertone, an ugly sneer visible on his lips beneath the grease paint.

She glanced carelessly in the direction indicated. "What of him?" she said uninterestedly.

"He's the sheriff of Sangamon county, Ill.; that's all!"

The woman gave a sudden, uncontrollable start, and her face underneath the rouge grew white as a sheet of paper. Had the careful planning and subterfuge of all these months gone for naught?

He's looking for a man named Clark Sawyer, wanted out there for murder," went the clown in a malicious whisper.

Coralie's gray eyes blazed into a sudden fury. "You hound! You are responsible for this!" she cried, and in her passion she raised her whip and slashed him squarely across his painted face.

"I'm glad of it, then," he snarled viciously at her as he sprang out of reach. The crowd was laughing uproariously, thinking the action of the pretty rider merely a humorous interlude.

"I told you I'd get even with you both," went on the clown. "You won't hold your head so high when they take that convict husband of yours back where he belongs."

The woman made a sudden movement as if to slip from her horse. "Ah, you'd warn him, would you?" broke in the clown. "I'm afraid it's just a little bit too late. Here he comes."

As he spoke the band blared forth, the curtains parted and a cage of tigers was wheeled into the central ring. A shudder and a murmur ran through the audience. In the wake of the cage walked Maddox, the trainer. In his purple tights, with a suggestion of gold here and there, he was as splendid as a knight in a ballad of chivalry.

He gave a glance and a smile across the arena to where Coralie stood erect upon her horse's back. Then, pushing aside the barred door, he sprang into the cage, lightly striking the two tigers nearest him with the whip he carried.

The trainer handled them as a snake charmer might his pythons, pulling open their huge jaws, lifting their heavy paws upon his shoulders, posing graceful as themselves, yet never for a moment relaxing his watchful gaze, never failing to bring down the whip at the least show of insubordination.

Meanwhile Coralie was once more pirouetting upon her horse, but while she airily leaped upon banners her mind was busy with far different questions.

Her husband was innocent of the crime charged against him; that she knew, for he had told her so himself. Nevertheless, circumstantial evidence had convicted him. Now, if apprehended, nothing could save him from that dread prison, there to spend in confinement all the years of his strong, young life.

She could see the sheriff edging around toward the entrance to the dressing tent. Oh, if there was only some way to outwit him!

Like an inspiration came the thought to her that the town where they were showing was on the bank of the Ohio river. Across that placid stream lay West Virginia and a chance for liberty. Once on the other side, no officer dare

"You hound! You are responsible for this!"

lay hands upon her husband until a fresh requisition could be secured.

A bell tapped, and the act was over. Six horses were led in and attached to the cage, in which the trainer remained. The team, well broken to its task, wheeled with military precision and started at a slow trot out of the ring. Just by the curtains which screened the entrance to the dressing tent stood the sheriff of Sangamon county.

As the leaders of the team came abreast Coralie she sprang forward, vaulted postilion wise to the saddle of the wheel horse, gathered up the reins, and before any one could intercept her she had turned their heads out toward the track.

At the same moment her keen whip slashed across the leaders' flanks. Startled, they leaped forward with a bound, and the others followed.

The man in the cage gave one swift, alarmed glance forward when the vehicle made the turn, but, catching sight of the driver, betrayed no more perturbation and turned his attention to his charges. The people rose up in their seats, gaping wonderingly. The circus men were literally paralyzed by astonishment. Of all the assemblage only two seemed to realize the meaning of the occurrence—the clown and the sheriff—and they immediately started in pursuit, shouting lustily for some one to stop the runaways.

Coralie never looked back, but, bending low in her seat, with whip and voice madly urged on the flying leaders. She gave a sudden gasp! The main entrance loomed up before her, and she had forgotten. It was barred with stakes and ropes to keep the crowds moving through it in single file. But she had dared too much to falter now. Hi! At it they went in a thunder of galloping hoofs, a whirlwind of choking dust. The near horse attempted to swerve, but she held his head with a wrist like steel and lashed him again and again.

Crash! The barrier went down before the force of their whirling onset. Ropes parted; stakes were hurled aside. They were in the open field now, and, with a clear road before them to the gate, she sent them thundering still faster. The heavy van behind them rocked and lurched like a ship in a storm. Maddox had all he could do to stand upright, and the tigers were tossed from one side of the cage to the other. The man clung to the bars with one hand, while with the other he beat the snarling brutes.

It was a picture for a painter, that—the man all tinsel and glitter in the den of raging tigers, the plunging horses and astride the leader the lithe, slender figure of a girl in rose pink tights, riding like one possessed, her hair loosened and floating behind her in the breeze, her cheeks flushed, her eyes alight with excitement of the wild venture.

Onward they tore, over a narrow plank bridge crossing a ditch, the hind wheels just grazing the edge; up a little incline, and then a perilous rush around a turn almost at right angles to their course. At last they were squarely on the level turnpike, with a straightaway before them to the river.

Coralie glanced back. The people were streaming out of the tent, and men were just commencing to mount horses to pursue them. And again she called upon her team for greater speed and vigorously plied the whip.

Just a minute more! Already Coralie had thrown herself back in her seat and was tugging at the reins to ease the furious rush, when—crash, crash—a wheel spun off its axle, and the heavy cage toppled down at one corner. She out forth all the strength of her arms and in half a dozen lengths had pulled her horses to a halt. Then, leaping down almost before they stopped, she ran back to the sagging cage. The force of the jolt had thrown the tigers directly in front of its narrow door.

"Clark," cried Coralie breathlessly, "the sheriff is after you! We must hurry to a boat and get over in West Virginia!"

Maddox started for the door, but at his approach the tigers set up so menacing a growl that involuntarily he halted. The terror engendered in them by their wild ride had made them unmanageable. Standing off, he beat them cruelly, brutally, but they seemed as impervious to his heavy blows as to the taps of a mullein stalk.

The man and the woman could now hear plainly the sounds of pursuit. More and more slender each moment became their chance of escape. A countryman upon a load of hay drove up and stopped, surveying the thrilling incident in startled amazement.

The sheriff and party of circus men were plainly in view, urging their horses to the uttermost.

"Give me a match!" shrieked Coralie to the rustic upon the hay ladder. He stared at her a moment, then with maddening slowness fingered in his vest pocket, abstracting the desired article from a mass of string and trifling trinkets. Before he fairly had it out she had sprung up on the wheel of his wagon and snatched it out of his hand. As she leaped down she dragged a bundle of hay from the load, quick as a wink had it ablaze, then thrust the flaming brand squarely into the face of the nearest tiger.

Daunted by this new and unexpected attack, the terror stricken beasts sprang backward, snarling and scratching, rolling over one another in their haste to get away. Maddox lost no time. The door snapped with a click, and he was safe beside the woman in the road.

She seized his hand to fly toward the boat. Too late! With a rush and whirl of flying hoofs the sheriff was upon them.

"What are you running away for, Sawyer?" he shouted as he sprang from his foaming horse. "I have a pardon for you in my pocket. The guilty man has confessed."
