Geo. Berry Is Guilty

Colored Hold-up Man Made no Defense in The Circuit Court

George Berry the Niles colored man who was arrested for attempting to knock Mrs. Albert Pears down a short distance from her home on Ferry street on a dark night in the early fall, with evident intention of robbing her, plead guilty at St. Joseph Monday and he is now in line for a prison sentence.

Mrs. Pears had been down to the market and had nearly reached home when she was struck on the head from behind. The blow nearly felled her, but she screamed and her husband, who was at home and the neighborhood were aroused and the assaulter fled.

Berry was on the scene so soon, afterward the suspicion was directed against him and the next day Chief Frances put him through the sweat mill with the result, that Berry was so badly tangled up that no doubt remained that he was the assaulter and had mingled with the crowd that responded to Mrs. Pears' outcry, either as a blind or because he had not time to get away.

A broken cane that Berry had with him the night of the hold-up, found in the vicinity told the story. Berry had used this to strike Mrs. Pears, and it had broken as he struck her.

It is not just the time for picking ripe blackberries, but the time is ripe at the county jail to receive black Berry. He was sentenced to serve thirty days with Sheriff Tenant Tuesday morning.

Make the Record Now.

Physicians are charged with a new duty under an act of the last legislature in regard to filing certificates of births with township, village and city clerks. The act takes effect on January 1, 1906. Under the old law births were enumerated by assessors and supervisors once a year, which proved to be a very imperfect and inaccurate way. When filed promptly within ten days after birth, the returns should be complete and reliable. Blanks and instructions have been mailed to all physicians in the state by the Secretary of State, Lansing, who has charge of this matter.

Graham & Morton Co. Sues Builders of Steamer For Big Damages

WAS NOT UP TO SPEED

Late Delivery, Excessive Fuel Consumption Enter Into Items of Claims for Damage

The Graham & Morton Transportation company has started a suit in the circuit court against the Craig Shipbuilding company of Toledo, asking damages in the sum of $80,000, based upon the fact that the steamer has been unable to make the speed specified in the contract, the contract providing:

"Steamer is to have a maximum speed of 18 miles per hour in fair weather and deep water, in other words, steamer is to make 54 miles in three hours by natural draft, between Chicago and St. Joseph, Michigan." The declaration contains a copy of the contract upon which the steamer was purchased. The price was $225,000, and of this amount $200,000 has been paid. The boat has been unable to make the 18 miles an hour provided for and the shipbuilding company has been making no effort to put the steamer in shape for the contract speed.

The contract called for the delivery of the boat by June 15, 1904, but the time of delivery was fifteen days later, which figured at $250 a day amounts to $3,750. In addition to this delay the G. & M. Co. were compelled to pay for chartered steamers while alterations were made on the Benton Harbor after she was delivered and began service. The company believes it will be necessary to spend $30,000 to put the steamer in condition to make 18 miles an hour.

The company alleges that when the Craig company, altered the steamer in the hope of producing more speed they injured the appearance and utility of the boat to the amount of $25,000.

The company alleges that more fuel is required than if the boat had been constructed to run her 18 miles an hour and a claim of $10,000 is made on this account. Other items of damage figure to the total amount of $80,000.

Secretary Morton announces that no more local freight will be received for Chicago after Saturday of this week. The Benton Harbor is on her last trip and all steamers of this line will be put into winter quarters at Benton Harbor after next week.

CABINET COMPANY

Will Rebuild the Plant on The Old Site in The Near Future

WILL HAVE A SIDETRACK

The Right of Way Cost the Sum of $1,800—Business Men Gathered it in.

The Buchanan Cabinet Company plant which was burned sometime ago have signified a willingness, that if the village would give them $3,800 in cash, and a sidetrack from the main line of the Michigan Central, they would rebuild a two story brick or stone building, 130 feet long by 60 feet wide.

Chas. Pears, president of the village, called a mass meeting, at which the proposition was submitted, and a unanimous vote was cast in favor of giving the company the required money.

Instead of running the sidetrack down the alley as at first proposed it was found impracticable, so it was a necessity to buy the right of way from the west switch of the main track diagonally to the factory at a maximum sum of $1,800.

Messrs. W. A. Palmer and Sig Desenberg, who were appointed as a committee to raise the sum, started out early Monday to perform their duty and met with the best of success.

Alfred Richards, the general manager of the company went to Madison, Wis., and secured an option from a Mr. Ogden, who owns most of the land through which the side track would pass.

The sum being raised, they at once purchased the right of way, and thus assuring the citizens that the plant will soon be built. Work has been going on for sometime carrying away the burnt debris, so the work on the new building, when once started will continue with a great rapidity. The cost of the erection is estimated at $10,000 or $12,000.

"Virginian"

The coming engagement of "The Virginian" at the Grand Opera House in Chicago, for two weeks beginning Sunday, Dec. 10th, is attracting unusual interest from the popularity achieved by this clever dramatization of Owen Wister's book during its last engagement here, as well as from the loyalty of the readers of the fascinating story. Owen Wister's famous American romance has been widely read and the rugged types which the author has portrayed have possessed great interest since their transfer to the stage. The dramatization, which was made by the author himself and Kirke La Shelle, is known to retain the fiery action and the strong situations which made the novel a distinct success.

Dustin Farnum created and still portrays the title role. As the Virginian he has captured the admiration of the public and has compelled the commendation of all who have seen him. The novel and play are both now familiar to the majority of theatre patrons and have achieved a widespread popularity with all. The central character is a young Virginian who for a number of years has been a cow-puncher in Wyoming, and the attempt of both novelist and dramatist has been to place before the public a true picture of life in the West during that rough but picturesque period. The original production of "The Virginian" will be brought here and almost all of the acting company that added to its success. The cast supporting Mr. Farnum includes Frank Campau, Bennet Musson, Frank Nelson, Harry Holliday, Charles Stanley, J. R. Furlong, Frank Vail, Eleanor Wilton, Virginia Reeves, Ethel Powers, Amanda Wellington and Mary B. Conwell.

Hinckley Is Bound Over

Man Charged With Murder of Wm. Tuttle Back to Jail

Albert Hinckley, charged with the crime of murdering his step-son, William Tuttle, on the morning of Nov. 27, at his home northwest of the city, was brought to Niles Wednesday morning from the county jail at St. Joseph in charge of a Deputy sheriff for his examination before Justice Beaver.

Before going up to the court room Hinckley was permitted to have a lengthy conversation with his attorney, Judge VanRiper, and he was closeted for an hour or more with his legal adviser at the latter's office.

Hinckley looks a little better than he did the day he was brought here by Chief Francis just after the crime was committed. He has been cleaned up, has had a hair trim and a clean shave, but his faded and frayed garments still cling to him.

The examination was not of long duration and the only witnesses sworn were Chief Francis, who made the arrest, Undertaker Skalla, who prepared the body of the murdered man for burial and Charles Fox, son of Mrs. Albert Hinckley. Fox is the man who accompanied Tuttle to Hinckley's home on that early morning walk across the country which ended in Tuttle's death on the threshold of Hinckley's house, by a gun shot wound fired from a gun in the hands of Hinckley.

Fox was the principal witness. He related the incidents of the shooting and the events previous to it, in about the same words that he used when a witness at the inquest, and told a graphic story of the killing.

Judge VanRiper gave a rather severe cross-examination. Fox was a little forgetful and on the direct did not tell of Tuttle's statement that he would go into Hinckley's house if he had to wade in blood up to his neck.

On the cross examination he admitted that such a statement had been made. He said when Tuttle was shot that he had spoken to him, but that Tuttle was unable to answer. The dying man however, smiled, and attempted to speak, said Fox, but only smoke rolled from his mouth.

He then fell to the floor, and blood flowed from the wound in his left breast, saturating the floor.

After the testimony of these witnesses, VanRiper announced that he would waive further examination on behalf of his prisoner, and Justice Beaver thereupon remanded Hinckley to the circuit court for trial without bail. The trial will probably be during the February term. Meanwhile he will remain in jail at St. Joseph.

Hinckley still maintains silence, and throughout the proceeding Wednesday evinced no great interest in what was going on.

The court room Wednesday morning was crowded, many relatives of Tuttle and friends of his widow being present.

How The International Helped a Farmer.

The writer was a passenger Pennsylvania railroad, where it crosses one of the most fertile sections of Ohio. At one of the small stations, a gentleman came in and sat down beside me. He was evidently a farmer. His bronzed complexion and rugged appearance indicated that. He appeared a self respecting, sturdy type of man.

We gradually fell into conversation, first the weather, then the crops. We were in the section of the state that produced much superior beef, and a bunch of attractive steers brought up the subject of cattle. It all came about very naturally, when we drifted into conversation about the International Live Stock Exposition. As I recall it he suggested it. I commented on its remarkable character and great educational value. He was at once enthusiastic. His ideas were so good, and his impressions so excellent, that I am going to try and tell you something of what he told me. This is gleaned from what he said:

"I live in Ross county. The same turnpike passes by my farm and Dan Black's, our great feeder. You know him? A wonderful feeder, isn't he? Not a bad animal on his farm. Well, I had never seen a big stock show. People used to drive by our place, said they were going to Dan's to see his cattle. So one day in November I drove over myself some six miles, and found a crowd of men looking at his steers. They beat anything I ever saw. They said they were to be shown at what they called the International. Everybody seemed to think that it was a wonderful show. I was told that a party was going up to the exposition from our county, so I investigated and joined. We went to Chicago on a Monday morning, about thirty of us, and stayed three days. We got comfortable rooms out by the Union Stock Yards, and ate our meals at restaurants. It wasn't very expensive either.

"That show and the Stock Yards were a revelation to me. I had been feeding for years a mixed lot of steers which I picked up around home. They were hard to make money with. As a feeder, my real education began at Chicago. At the International I saw hundreds of fat cattle. Until I saw Mr. Black's, I had never seen anything like them. In the Yards I found that cattle like mine at home brought a dollar and a half a hundred less than did others that were more uniform, blockier, shorter legged and younger. Just that one thing was worth big money to me.

"The bigness of that show was a wonder to me. It was a great chance to see the breeding cattle and steers lined up and watch the judges cull them over. I got some ideas right there. The horse show was great, and I saw hundreds of fine sheep and hogs. At night the parade of live stock in the big pavillion, with thousands of people to look on, made a fellow think that a man who was not a farmer was not in it.

"That was a great day for me. I picked up a heap of ideas about feeding and buying feeding cattle, from men I met at the show. I never saw a better natured or more sociable crowd, and everyone seemed willing to help a chap.

"That was two years ago. After I got home I changed some of my plans, I began to be a little particular about the kind of stock I kept. Mr. Black helped me to get started right, and now I am feeding prime steers the sort that the market always pays the best price for, and they make me the most money. And when I was in Chicago, I found how to sell them. So the International did me a good turn and started me right. I think every farmer and stockman in Ohio ought to see that show, for it is a great educator."
