HIS FAME IS SECURE

Congressman Hamilton Will Be Known By His Statehood Bill.

AS PRESIDENT MCKINLEY

His Reputation Was Made by Having His Name Connected With a Bill of Important Legislation.

The Hamilton bill, which passed the house, admitting Indian and Oklahoma territories as one state and New Mexico and Arizona as another, promises to give Congressman Hamilton of this district a lasting fame throughout the country.

Several days ago, before Congressman Hamilton had routed the insurgents before his committee and later on the floor of the house, the Boston Herald, the newspaper oracle of the east said editorially in its issue of January 24:

CONGRESSMAN E. L. HAMILTON.

"It will not be surprising if Congressman Hamilton's name becomes one of the best known in congress, entirely owing to the fight over the statehood measure. It was in this way that the names of Congressman Dingley and McKinley were brought into prominence owing to their connection with tariff bills. Many will remember John Sherman only as the father of the silver purchase law of 1890, forgetting the great record which the statesman made in currency matters and only crediting him with this compromise proposal which was enacted by the republicans as a sop to the silver element and to prevent the adoption of a free coinage silver bill, which they feared was a serious menace, although the president was of their political faith. Representative Hamilton comes from the 4th Michigan district and has served continuously in congress since the fifty-fifth session. From his position on the house committee on territories, where he is chairman—Senator Beveridge is chairman of the senate committee—he has been named as the 'father' of the bill which has also been known as the 'administration measure' and the 'double barrel bill' The 'Hamilton bill' is the name by which the Washington correspondents mention it most frequently, so it may be expected that with the general public the proposal to admit two new states, each made of two territories, will be familiarly known as the 'Hamilton bill.' In that way the name of a congressman who prior to this has not been connected in the public mind with important legislation will be on every tongue, particularly if any such stubborn fight takes place in the house as has been predicted by Congressman Babcock, who is leading the insurgent movement on this proposal."

FRANCHISE IS GRANTED

To Build an Interurban Line From Niles to Buchanan

COUNCIL HELD MEETING

Last Monday Night, and There Decision Meets the Approval of the Citizens

At the council meeting last Monday night at Niles, the franchise was granted to build an interurban line from Niles to Buchanan.

An ordinance, granting to the Niles and Buchanan Railway company, its successors and assigns, the right to construct, maintain and operate a street railway on certain streets, avenue, bridges and public places in the city of Niles.

The city of Niles ordains:

Sec 1. Consent, permission and authority are hereby granted to the Niles and Buchanan Railway company, its successors and assigns, to construct, maintain and operate a street railway with a single track of standard gauge, with all necessary turnouts, sidetracks, crossovers, switches, and connections, and to operate cars thereon for the transportation of passengers, and in the construction, maintenance, operation and repair of the road, through and upon the following streets, to wit:

Beginning at the intersection of Main and Second streets; thence west on Main street to the St. Joseph river; thence across the St. Joseph river an independent steel and concrete bridge, to be constructed by the Niles and Buchanan Railway company, at its own expense; said bridge to be of sufficient capacity and for the sole use of said railway company, and to be located immediately adjoining and upon whichever side of the present Main street bridge may be designated by the common council of the city of Niles. Provided that the construction of said bridge shall be deferred for one year from the passage of this ordinance, within which time the city of Niles may elect to rebuild the present Main street bridge; and in case of such election, the city of Niles shall notify the said railway company in writing of such election, and shall at once proceed with the construction of, and shall complete the said bridge without unreasonable delay. And in case the city of Niles shall rebuild said Main street bridge, the same shall be so constructed in strength, width and height, as to accommodate the cars of said railway company, the total load of which, including the weight of the car and its full load, shall not exceed fifty tons per car; and if and when the said city shall so construct said bridge, the said railway company shall have the right to lay a single track across the same, as near the side thereof as may be practicable, and may operate its cars thereon during the term of this franchise or any continuation thereof; and if said bridge shall be rebuilt by the city and occupied by the Railway company for its purposes, then, and in that event all rights herein given to the said Railway company to construct an independent bridge alongside of the present Main street bridge shall cease and become null and void; thence west on West Main street to Lincoln avenue; thence south on Lincoln avenue to the Chicago road at Brookfield street; thence southwesterly along the Chicago road to the city limits. Provided, that said company shall lay its tracks on Main street between First street and the river on a grade with the tracks of the so called Big Four railway on Main street.

Sec 12. In the event the City of Niles shall build a bridge across the St. Joseph river, replacing the present structure, as provided in section one (1) of this ordinance; and whenever said bridges shall be so constructed, and before the Railway company shall occupy the same with its track, the said railway company shall at once, pay into the treasury of the City of Niles the sum of ten thousand ($10,000) dollars, to apply on the cost of constructing said bridge, which bridge shall thereafter be maintained by the City of Niles, except that portion of the planking between the tracks of said road, which after said bridge is built, shall be maintained by said company at its own expense. In case said bridge shall be injured by flood or otherwise, it shall be repaired at the joint expense of the city and grantee.

Sec 13. The said company agrees to begin construction of its tracks upon said streets before the first day of Aug. 1906; and if it does not complete the construction of said track before the 31st of December, 1907, then this ordinance shall cease and be null and void, so far as any unconstructed portion of said track is concerned.

Sec 14. The said company shall enter into a bond in favor of the city in the sum of five thousand dollars, with sureties satisfactory to the city council, that it will complete and have the said road in running order from Niles to Buchanan, Mich. on or before the 31st day of December, 1907; provided, however, that conditions over which said company has no control, such as legal restraint, financial depression, strikes or inability to obtain material, shall not work a forfeiture of said bond or the rights granted hereby. Said bond shall be delivered and approved before this charter shall take effect.

Sec 17. Said company shall, within thirty days after the passage of this ordinance, signify in writing its acceptance of the conditions herein contained, which written acceptance, filed with the clerk of the city of Niles, shall render this ordinance valid and in full force and effect.

BETTER NO SALES THAN A DISAPPOINTED CUSTOMER.

It is a satisfaction to know that we have won the leadership in the clothing business in South Bend, but we realize the large responsibility that is put upon us.

At no other clothing store in this vicinity are you so sure of correct styles and right prices in wearing apparel. Take New York, Chicago or Indianapolis. There is always one store that leads in its line. Look about South Bend. Just this one big store is absolute authority on Men's and Boy's clothing.

We never sell a garment that is not up to the Spiro standard. That will not add to the good name of this store. We'd better throw out the back door, a hundred suits, if they were of a bad style or unreliable materials, than to sell them even at a profit.

People don't forget. Neither do they fail to appreciate right treatment and an honest endeavor to give satisfaction. You can always depend upon what you buy here. Our word is back of it.

Remember, please that we always reduce stock at this time of year. It is good business to do it—and get ready for the next season. Clearances big reductions—ends of good lines, are now to be found all through the store. The loss is ours—the saving yours—and they are well worth looking into.

The Farmer's Institute

That Convened at Rough's Opera House, Yesterday Was Well Attended

The Farmers' Institute that convened at Rough's Opera House, yesterday, was the best one that has ever been held in Berrien County. The three sessions were all well attended, and all who went were more than pleased with the day's program. The best speakers of the day were Mrs. Richard Montross, of Gallien and Franklane Sewell of this place, who both spoke on the subject, "Poultry."

Mr. Ravin and Mr. M. L. Dean, both State oracles were present, and their addresses were eloquent, and won great applause. The other speakers of the day also deserve great praise for their excellent speeches. The citizens of Buchanan are more than pleased to know the members of this Institute enjoyed their day in our village, and we extend them a cordial invitation to come again.

It Was A Narrow Escape

Mr. John Hattenback, who is employed as watchman at the Michigan Central depot, met with a painful accident last Tuesday morning, while attending his usual duties.

While standing near the gate, one of the pulley's broke, striking the unfortunate man, on the head, and cutting a deep gash, which necessitated the taking of several stitches.

The accident might have proved fatal, if Mr. Hattenback hadn't had a cap on with a leather top. We are pleased to learn the accident was not any worse, and trust in a short time he will again be able to resume his duties. Dr. J. A. Garland was the attending physician.

FEEDING MILCH COWS.

Attention to This Matter Will Influence the Milk Flow During the Winter.

Dairymen have a common trouble in maintaining the quantity of milk during the late winter months. This is due to two general causes—lack of fresh, palatable feed and cold weather. The feed lacks succulence, which is very important in keeping the animals upon a full diet. Unless one has a supply of roots or silage, all of the feeds are dry.

It is not impossible to keep up the floor of milk on dry feed, but it will cost more when a certain amount of the ration is silage. It is usually best to figure on feeding a variety of feeds for two reasons. One is that if the variety is properly selected the cow's diet can be increased and she can be induced to eat more. When we take into consideration that we should get a profit on all a cow eats above what is necessary to maintain her, we should see that liberal feeding will repay. Another reason for a variety of feeds is that by the combination we secure more easily digestible rations than when only one is fed.

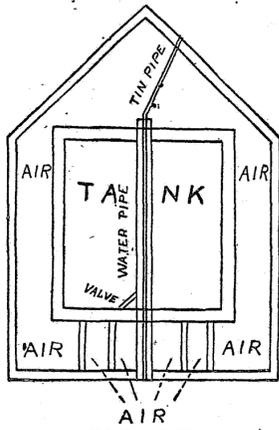

When a change of feed is made it should be gradual and not made abruptly. A dairy cow can, perhaps more than any other animal, get into the habit of having her feed given regularly, making this an important point to observe. This is as true regarding milking as feeding. As winter comes on, the amount of protein in the ration should be gradually increased. This can be done by feeding more clover or alfalfa hay, or by adding some oil meal or a good quantity of bran to the ration. When we can get good old-process oil meal, that is not adulterated with weed seeds, it is usually best at this time to give the cow a pound or a pound and a half daily. As a rule it is not best to give above two pounds per day. At the present price of oil meal, this precaution is hardly necessary.

By adding a little protein to the ration the skin of the cow is kept in much better condition and she is in every way more healthy. The cow that is fed on a well balanced ration, says a correspondent of the Orange Judd Farmer, should always have a smooth, slick coat, which is a good indication of health and vigor. Next to a good ration is protection from severe cold, keeping the cows in a well ventilated stable. The blood is the life of the dairy cow and it is of particular importance that she should have plenty of air. It may well be remembered that pure air is not necessarily cold air.

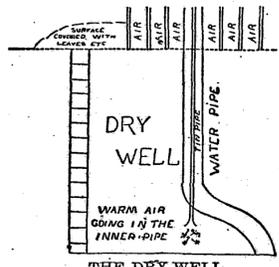

SELF-WARMING WATER TANK

System Which Has Been Proved Practical by a Number of New England Farmers.

The device pictured in diagrams is thus described in a letter from one of our New England readers, says the Rural New Yorker: There is a half inch block tin pipe running up through the main pipe (or supply pipe), and at the bottom of boxings there is a "dry well," which is always warm. Enough of this warm air percolates up through the half inch block tin pipe to keep the water from freezing. In extremely cold weather we pump tank full about twice or three times a week. This in itself is a protection, as it keeps the large bulk of water above freezing except at surface. The tank is jacketed, making air spaces all around. The supply pipe continues up through the water tank in and out of the top of the supply pipe sticks the block tin pipe, and lets the warm air out. There is an air space all round the tank. Thus far we have had not the least trouble.

RECEPTIONS AT THE GORE HOME

Two Delightful Social Functions Tuesday Afternoon and Evening.

Two delightful receptions were given at the Gore home on Morton Hill Tuesday, Mrs. V. M. Gore being hostess in the afternoon and Attorney and Mrs. Gore entertaining in the evening. The hours in the afternoon were from 1:30 to 3, and from 3 to 5 o'clock. In the evening the guests came and went between the hours of 8 and 10 o'clock. Over 300 members of society of the twin cities received the hospitality of Attorney and Mrs. Gore. In the afternoon the hostess was assisted in receiving by Mesdames Broderick and Smith, of Buchanan, and Mesdames Bailey, J. S. Morton, J. E. Stevens, Jr. C. N. Sowers and E. A. Hoffman of this city. In the evening the receiving party was composed of the host and hostess, Attorney and Mrs. W. P. Harvey and Supt. and Mrs. Wright, and Mrs. S. A. Bailey. The house was decorated entirely in red, being a charming arrangement of red roses and candles. The young ladies of the cooking club served a two-course luncheon in the afternoon and in the evening. Master Hardrin Sheldrick opened the door for the guests. Mrs. Fanny Devin of Buchanan did the catering.—News Palladium.

EXTRAORDINARY ATTRACTION

Clarence L. Burgderfer, the Impersonator, Humorist, Dramatic Reader and Mimic.

Through the efforts of Prof. Mercer and the Seniors of the High School, this noted Cheer-up-idist, as he is often styled has been secured on an open letter between Niles and Three Oaks, Tuesday evening, Feb. 13th 06 for one of his delightful entertainments.

This promises to be a big treat for Buchanan people, as Burgderfer comes endorsed by the leading press and clergy all over the country as an entertainer of exceptional merit. With an entertainment emphatically out of the ordinary. In fact he agrees to "make good" or walk to his next date. So we bespeak for him a packed house. Go and you'll die laughing. Stay home and you'll die of regret. Get your seats reserved early. Admission 15 and 20 cents. An easy price so all can go.

MORMON TEACHINGS.

The RECORD is indebted to Mr. F. A. Hathaway for the Salt Lake Tribune, Salt Lake City, Utah, which gives a number of sermons for Brigham Young from the date of 1867 to 1879. The following is a paragraph of one of his sermons delivered on June 16, 1867 as found in the 12th volume of Journals of Discourses, in which it gives his instructions on how to treat apostates especially in the matter of trading with them.

"How many of the Latter-day Saints would say, 'I would as soon trade with this man as with that man or spend my money in this store as in that store, even though they pay tithing and do good with their means?' Those men and women in whom this feeling exists must get rid of it, or they will not be numbered with those who are of one heart and one mind. Now, remember that! I will promise those who feel in their hearts that they would sooner trade with an apostate or with a corrupt outsider than with a brother, if the former would sell them a shawl a dollar cheaper, and persist in such a course of things, that they will never enter into the strait gate, nor be numbered with those who are sanctified and prepared to enjoy the celestial presence of God our Father and of Jesus the Redeemer. I promise you this in the name of the Lord God of Israel.

You may say it is hard that I should dictate you in your temporal affairs. Is it not my privilege to dictate you? Is it not my privilege to give this people counsel to direct them so that their labors will build up the kingdom of God, instead of the kingdom of the devil?

The language in the hearts of some would be, "It is none of your business where I trade." I will promise those who feel thus that they will never enter the celestial kingdom of our Father and God. That is my business. It is my business to preach the truth to the people, and it will be my business by and by to testify for the just and to bear witness against the ungodly."

Rev. Manuel M. Barnes, a retired Baptist minister was killed last Friday by the 2 p. m. train on the Big 4 tracks, which run just back of his home on Ross street. He was gathering old railroad ties along the track and when the train whistled, stepped safely across with his sled, but turned back to remove a tie that lay close to the track. He probably miscalculated the distance, as he leaned forward only a few inches too far and was struck in the temple by the pilot beam of the engine. He leaves an aged wife, who is quite feeble and one son who is a Baptist minister in Worcester, Mass. Mr. Barnes was at one time the pastor of the First Baptist church of this city and was a preacher of considerable power. He was a man of strong convictions and an ardent advocate of the temperance cause.

The Gingerbread Man.

Although the management of "The Gingerbread Man," which opens a fortnight's engagement at the Grand Opera House, Chicago, on Sunday night, Feb. 11th, do not advertise an "all star" cast, they might really do so with far more reason than some of the attractions which use this method of engaging the attention of the theatre going public. Among the players who will be seen in the cast of "The Gingerbread Man" are Helen Bertram formerly prima donna of "The Bostonians" when the splendid singing organization was in its prime; Homer Lind, who was last season leading baritone with "Parsifal," Nellie Lynch, who was featured in "The Tenderfoot;" Elnyra Forrest, who was the prima donna of the original New York production of the "Prince of Pilsen;" Ross Snow, who played the leading comedy role with the noted production of "Jack and the Beanstalk;" Gus Wineberg, who starred in "The Storks" and "The Forbidden Land;" Annie Redway, the star of "Smiling Island," W. H. Mack, who starred in the east in "The Isle of Beauty;" Lillian Leon, who was a former New York Vaudeville star, and Joseph, who was leading man with Anna Held. With this splendid cast of artists "The Gingerbread Man" company left New York recently after its metropolitan run without any attempt to reduce the salary list before going out, a practice which is becoming rather common among present day managers.

The story of "The Gingerbread Man" which was written by the late Frederick Ranken and A. Baldwin Sloan deals with the adventures of a number of characters from Fairyland and the Mother Goose tales. The music which was written by A. Baldwin Sloan, is both classical and popular, two elements for which latter day composers continually strive. The love affair between little Jack Horner, played by Helen Bertram, and Princess Sugar Plum, played by Alynra Forrest, furnishes the chief element in the plot of the libretto. The scenes occur in Candyland and Santa Claus land, two imaginary localities which offer splendid opportunity for lavish effects. The villainous Machivalean Fudge, played by Homer Lind, by the exercise of his black art, succeeds in kidnapping the Princess Sugar Plum and carrying her away in an airship, an effective scene which is shown in the play. With the assistance of Mrs. Santa Claus, who by the way is a character in story land, is played by Ross Snow. Little Jack Horner succeeds in recapturing the Princess Sugar Plum. Meanwhile, through the wicked magic of Fudge, the father of Princess Sugar Plum has been metamorphosed into a gingerbread man, the latter part being played by Eddie Redway, who it is said has succeeded in creating the most unique stage character since the famous scarecrow impersonation of Fred Stone in "The Wizard of Oz."

Again, however, the services of the good Mrs. Santa Claus are enlisted and she revivifies the gingerbread man, who discloses his identity as the father of the Princess Sugar Plum. In addition to the strong cast, "The Gingerbread Man" is made interesting by the presence of eighty pretty girls, who are christened by a New York dramatic writer "The American Beauty Chorus."

WHAT THE KIDNEYS DO

Their Unceasing Work Keeps Us Strong and Healthy.

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings on many diseases and symptoms, pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, debility, drowsiness, dropsy, deposits in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys.

Mrs. Robert Dine, of 414 Front St. Dowagiac, Mich., says: "For some months I felt pain in my back and I was so lame across my kidneys that I could hardly stoop. If I over exerted myself or took a slight cold I was always worse. I read the testimonials of people who had been cured by using Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a box. They helped me right off. I was surprised to see how quickly they stopped the pains through my back and kidneys and banished the lameness. After what Doan's Kidney Pills did for me I recommend them emphatically." Plenty more proof like this from Buchanan people. Call at W. N. Brodrick's drug store and ask what his customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co. Remember the name, Doan's and take no other.

As Others See Us

A man was complaining of his neighbors. "I never saw such a wretched set of people," he said, "as are in this village. They are mean, selfish, greedy of gain, and careless of the needs of others. Worst of all, they are forever speaking evil of one another."

"Is it really so?" asked an angel who happened to be walking with him.

"It is indeed!" said the man. "Why only look at this fellow coming toward us! I know his face, though I cannot tell you his name. See his little sharp, cruel eyes, darting here and there like a ferret's and the lines of covetousness about his mouth! The very droop of his shoulders is mean and cringing, and he slinks along instead of walking." "It is very clever of you to see all this," said the angel, "but there is one thing which you do not perceive." "What is that?" asked the man. "Why, that it is a looking-glass we are approaching," said the angel. —Laura E. Richard.

YOUNG MAN FROM JAPAN.

Knew But Few Words of English, Yet Knew How to Be Polite.

The other day, at a railroad station, a Japanese young man was noticed among several Americans, who were eating, that is, bolting, their food by jerks. He knew but few words of English, but managed to call for some oysters and coffee. He ate and drank with most exquisite manners, and attracted much attention by his frequent use of "I beg your pardon." When he wanted the pepper, upon reaching for it, he said in a sweet voice to the man before whom he had to pass his arm: "I beg your pardon." One coarse fellow, who sat with his hat tilted over one eye, surprised even himself by pushing the plate of crackers toward the polite little Japanese without even being asked. He did not look up, as if ashamed of being caught in the act.

Conversing afterward with the young man from Japan he admitted that he knew less than 100 words of our language. I beg your pardon, thank you, if you please and you are very kind were phrases he could speak, very distinctly, and by means of them made his way wherever he went.

Politeness costs nothing and is the passport to every good in life. It never fails to bring returns. This 'Jap was unlike a little American girl I know, aged five.

Recently her father brought home a humorous book, teaching politeness by showing the shockingly bad manners of a family of children.

"Edna," he said, "I hope these funny pictures and stories will help you to be more polite."

"It's of no use, papa. It will take more than a book to teach me manners. You can't teach an old dog new tricks."

MORAL VIEW OF "TIPS."

Philosophical Essay Distributed to the Guests of a Summer Hotel.

At one of the summer resorts where hotel life comes very near being robbed of all its terrors, the following circular is given to the guests:

Tips and fees: The evils and annoyances of this custom are generally conceded. Tips are given for one or more of the following reasons:

Custom, which is mere imitation. Fear of being thought mean, which is cowardice.

Desire to be thought generous, which is vanity.

Desire to help the poor, which is charity.

Desire for some favor inconsistent with full justice to others, which is bribery.

Because, in some places no reasonable service can be had without tipping, which is a "hold-up" by servants. Because some extra service is wished, not covered by the price paid, which is commendable desire to pay for all received.

Appreciation of satisfactory service already rendered, or of personal liking, which is generosity and good will.

Our employees have been selected as self-respecting and unwilling to put themselves in the place of ordinary hotel servants. They are neither objects of charity nor social brigands.

From the first five motives our guests should be free, and from the sixth motive our employees are free. If prompted by the last two, all should be willing to accept the plan, carefully matured after ten years' experience, to pay for extras in the regular bills and to reward for specially meritorious service only at the end of visits.

MAGNIFICENT AND COSTLY.

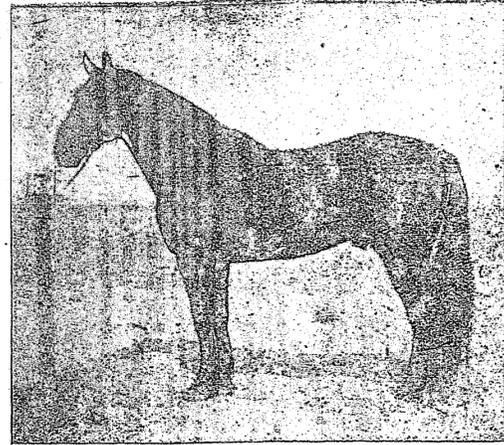

Beds of Monarchs that Were Worth Enough to Enrich Ordinary Mortals.

While a certain New York hotel boasts a bed costing $10,000, this is by no means the record holder, for there are instances of beds far more costly, states the Herald, of that city.

The most magnificent of all was that presented the then czar of Russia by the shah of Persia some 70 years ago. Possibly appreciating the application to the Russian ruler of the quotation that "Uneasy lies the head that wears a crown," the shah presented a bed made of crystal, ornamented with silver. It was cut from a solid block, and in addition to being provided with steps of blue glass, was furnished with a fountain that through the night threw streams of scented water into the air.

Not so costly was one built in Bombay for a native ruler some years ago, and which is still in use. At the four corners were full-size figures of Grecian maidens, the ones at the top holding stringed instruments, while those at the foot bore in their hands huge fans. Extending the full length of the bed was a music box capable of playing for half an hour before the repertoire of tune was exhausted.

The weight of the body set this music box in motion, while at the same time the figures at the head of the bed fingered the strings of their instruments, while those at the foot waved their fans, a concealed motor furnishing the power that kept the fans going all night long.

BROAD GUAGE TO THE BREEDER

You will observe by the picture that BROAD GUAGE is a large boned and well formed horse of good size, solid bay in color, weighs 1,250 pounds. He is strongly bred to Hambletonian 10, which will insure his colts to look like him to a marked degree, both in size, bone and color. A horse like this will always sell well, and will fill any place. It is a profitable kind of a horse to raise. BROAD GUAGE is a full brother to Eunice, one of the fastest and gamiest of race mares. She probably has won more hard fought races in Indiana and Ohio than any mare you could mention, in fast time. It will pay you to look at this horse before you breed.

BROAD GUAGE'S Pedigree—He was Sired by Broadcast, and he by Lucas Broadhead. He by Harold the Sire of Maud S. Harold was Sired by Hambletonian 10.

Terms—$10.00 to be paid when mare is known to be with foal. BROAD GUAGE will be found at my farm 1 mile East of Buchanan. For full particulars call or address
