LAST POUND OF FLESH

Man Who Lost $36,000 in First National Wreck is Still Pursued

HE IS BEING SUED FOR $800

Peter Womer Signed Accommodation Notes to Help the Defunct Bank Out

One of the most conspicuous cases of personal loss arising from the wreck of the First National Bank is, to be found in the case of Peter Womer, the sturdy farmer citizen of Portage Prairie, who not only lost $18,000 invested in stock in the ruined bank, but when the crash came and the inevitable assessment of 100 percent was made on the stockholders by direction of the receiver, Mr. Womer was subjected to an additional loss of $18,000.

Mr. Womer met this terrible blow like the sturdy citizen he is to do this he was compelled to execute a blanket mortgage for $18,000 covering his splendid farm properties southwest of Niles.

Such a disaster would have crushed the spirit of many men, but Mr. Womer faced the crisis while other men were evading the responsibility of their positions.

As if the loss of $36,000 was not enough for one man to suffer through the mismanagement of an institution in which he happened to be an investor, Mr. Womer is still pursued by the receiver on a minor obligation.

It seems that the First National bank held as collateral something like $25,000 worth of stock in the Arkansas City bank, a western institution. This consisted of 220 shares of stock represented to be worth about $115 a share.

Objection has been made to these securities by the bank examiners and at Cashier Johnson's request Mr. Womer and three other directors were prevailed upon to give their notes for $5,000 each, with the understanding that 55 shares of the stock were to be transferred to each of them as security.

When the crash came it was found that the Arkansas City bank shares were still held by the Niles bank, and as a part of the assets they were sold at $105 the share, but from the proceeds was deducted a claim held by the Arkansas bank against Cashier Johnson, amounting to something over $3,000.

For this shortage the receiver has brought suit against the makers of the $5,000 notes and Mr. Womer being the only one of the directors against whom a judgment in this court can be collected is made defendant in a $800 suit which will be tried at the coming term.

This looks much like "rubbing it in," but Mr. Womer has retained counsel and will fight the suit on the ground presumably that the stock for which his accommodation note was given was never transferred to him.

THEY GOT THE BOUNTY

Bowker Bros. Bring Wolf Scalps to County Clerk to Collect Money

ANIMALS KILLED SHEEP

Herd of About Twenty Beasts Still at Large in Southern Part of the County.

The first claim for bounty from Berrien county for the killing of wolves was made Saturday at County Clerk Miners office, St. Joseph, by Charles Bowker, of New Carlisle, and Michael Bowker, of Galien, who brought in two fine specimens of gray timber wolves which they had killed. The largest of the animals was a male about five years old and weighed about forty pounds. The smaller was a female about eighteen months old. The larger one was shot on the Gray farm in Bertrand township by Michael Bowker, on February 1. The animal was shot at long range, the charge from the gun breaking the wolf's foreleg. After it was down the animal showed a desperate fight, and whipped the hunter's dogs as fast as they reached the cripple. Four dogs were put out in short order. The other was shot by Charles Bowker, on the old Ingles place in Galien township, last Tuesday.

The Bowkers are farmers in the vicinity of Galien and for months they have known that there were strange animals in the vicinity which had been devouring sheep by the wholesale. It was at first supposed that the depredations were committed by dogs, until the snow fell. Then it was discovered that the tracks were of some other animal and search was instituted. Hunting parties were organized and the men started out with their dogs. For days they never caught sight of the beasts and when they did observe them it was by mere chance and a long chase resulted in the wolves escaping. The next day the hunt was resumed but without any result. Whenever the snow has been deep enough to follow the trail the hunt has been kept up. South Bend hunters have joined in the chase but up to the present time these two are the only wolves that have been killed. At different times several packs of six or seven animals have been seen, but at so great a distance that a shot at them would have been a waste of ammunition. Charles Bowker stated to a News-Palladium reporter Saturday morning that he believed there were at least eighteen or twenty more of the animals running through the timber and swamps in that vicinity. He will keep up the hunt so long as they can be tracked through the snow and believes he can bring in some more to collect the bounty.

The country in the southern part of this county and in northern Indiana affords good hiding places for the wolves. The Runnels timber tract of 500 or 600 acres and the 1,000 acre swamp give them good hiding places where it is a hard job for the hunters to follow them. Many efforts have been made to trap them, but without success. Whenever the dogs follow the trail it is found to lead into the swamps where it is lost in the water and high weeds.

The depredations of the wolves have been carried on for many months. Charles Bowker had eleven fine sheep killed in one night by the beasts and his neighbor lost twenty more another night. It became so bad that the farmers were compelled to lock up their flocks at night to protect them, and then the wolves could be heard howling about the barnyards. Besides the sheep a large number of turkeys and chickens have been killed.

The bounty in this county for wolves over three months old is $25 and of those under three months $15 per head. The old law allowed but

WORTH OF COMPETITION

The following is a letter to the RECORD from one of the subscribers, who has the welfare of Buchanan at hand.

Buchanan, Mich.,
Feb. 8, 1906.

Editor RECORD:—Some time ago when the Pere Marquette Co. arranged to get the freight from Chicago to this place at an earlier hour than it had ever been received heretofore the Michigan Central did likewise. Although the Pere Marquette Co. was responsible for this great improvement in freight service at Buchanan the business men of this place apparent indifference to this improvement, gave little encouragement to Mr. Evey for his efforts in securing better service. The business that was given to the P. M. upon this new schedule was so small that the company did not feel justified in securing the additional cost, so abandoned it. Again the Michigan Central did likewise, the final outcome being that we now get freight from Chicago at noon instead of seven o'clock in the morning.

I would like to ask (just for information) if the M. C. could not get the freight here just as well at 7 o'clock as at noon? They did it for a short time.

Would it not be to their advantage to continue to do so?

It seems to me that competition is a good thing for the town. Why not encourage it?

Lamp Explosion

Mrs. Albert Klett, of Dowagiac was fatally burned by the explosion of a kerosene lamp, which she held in her hand while ascending the stairs last Saturday night.

Her husband, who was sick in bed, made an attempt to stop her on her way to the outside of the house, but failed. When in the open air the flames rapidly enveloped her whole body. She died this morning at 6 o'clock. Besides her husband, she leaves two small children.

BETTER NO SALES THAN A DISAPPOINTED CUSTOMER.

It is a satisfaction to know that we have won the leadership in the clothing business in South Bend, but we realize the large responsibility that is put upon us.

At no other clothing store in this vicinity are you so sure of correct styles and right prices in wearing apparel. Take New York, Chicago or Indianapolis. There is always one store that leads in its line. Look about South Bend. Just this one big store is absolute authority on Men's and Boy's clothing.

We never sell a garment that is not up to the Spiro standard. That will not add to the good name of this store. We'd better throw out the back door, a hundred suits, if they were of a bad style or unreliable materials, than to sell them even at a profit.

People don't forget. Neither do they fail to appreciate right treatment and an honest endeavor to give satisfaction. You can always depend upon what you buy here. Our word is back of it.

Remember, please that we always reduce stock at this time of year. It is good business to do it—and get ready for the next season. Clearances big reductions—ends of good lines, are now to be found all through the store. The loss is ours—the saving yours—and they are well worth looking into.

FEBRUARY 13, 1905.

American weather, on the average, is the greatest lightning change artist, and therefore a subject of inexhaustible interest.

New York is pestering the insurance trust, Chicago is pestering the beef trusts, and everybody is pestering the oil trusts.

Berlin's street railway monopoly is capitalized at only $25,000,000. The Spree must be a smaller stream than has been supposed.

Mr. Longworth is so well pleased with the alliance that he is indifferent whether the engagement ring shall be four carats or four quart.

A foreign nobleman who marries an American girl for money, and an American heiress who marries a foreign title, are not understood to be electioneering for happiness anyway.

A lock canal has been decided upon by the Isthmian commission. But this decision is not final, as the recommendation has to go to Secretary Taft, the President and Congress besides passing the scrutiny of Poultney Bigelow.

Mr. J. L. Richards, Sr. who is traveling in the south, writes the following postal card to Mr. O. P. Woodworth:

Friend Pearl:—

I have just had a very pressing invitation to attend a neck tie party about noon today. But being of a bashful modest disposition as you know, I have declined. There is a public execution of a colored man, here at that hour.

It is only fairly comfortable here today without an overcoat. It is very far from being hot Florida weather. After reaching Tampa, I will decide whether or not I go to Havana. If any of my friends or creditors enquire after me, give them my kind regards.

Mr. Chas. Treat, secretary of the nominating committee reported the following officers which were elected for the ensuing year: L. B. Rough, president; A. A. Worthington, vice-president; Joe Tichenor, 2nd vice-president; Edith Beardsley, secretary; Ed. W. Ashbrook, treasurer; Mrs. Delia Scott, president of the Primary Union. The executive shall consist of these officers and the pastors and Supt. of each Sunday school in these two townships.

The chairman of the committee on resolution, Rev. Chas. Shook, reported and the following resolutions were adopted.

Whereas:—

In the death of Rev. J. F. Bartmess who closed his labors in N. Y. hospital, Nov. 5, 1905, the Sunday school work of these two townships has lost a staunch friend and supporter.

Therefore be it resolved:—

That we extend to the bereaved sons our sincere sympathy.

And Whereas:—

At our annual meeting one year ago it was recommended that the Bible be brought into greater prominence in our different Sunday Schools.

Therefore be it Resolved, that as an association we urge again upon our schools the importance of direct Bible study and recommend that steps be taken by the individual schools separately or by the executive board to organize Bible classes or a Bible class for the systematic study of God's word, and,

Therefore be it resolved, that we tender to our out going officers our thanks for the manner in which they have performed their duties during the past year and further

Be it Resolved, that we express our appreciation of the presence of our County Secretary, Mr. Washburn at this Convention and that we assure him and through him the other officers of our County Association of our continued sympathy and co-operation.

Wm. Owen's Othello, Friday night.

The Bishop Creamery Co. has purchased another creamery at Morrice, Mich. which will be open for operation on April 1st. This makes three creameries now owned by this company, and they are known throughout the country as the Bishop chain of Creameries. They have their headquarters in Buchanan.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael Zerle residing across the river, were completely surprised last Friday night, when about 100 of their friends and neighbors called on them at an early hour in the evening and took possession of their house. The couple although were equal to the occasion and gave them a cordial welcome. The time was most pleasantly passed in games and social intercourse, after which refreshments were served. The guests departed at a late hour, all reporting a very pleasant evening.

GETTING EGGS IN WINTER.

Age of Hens, the Food and Shelter Determine the Results Which Are Obtained.

It does not require any argument to prove that the flock of hens that can be induced to lay in winter, when prices are always high, is more profitable than one that lays only from March to October, the period of low prices. It is always best to so plan to supply a depleted market, when it is possible to do so, and the poultry breeder who succeeds in securing eggs from his hens during the winter months is assured of high prices.

Only a few years ago hardly anyone expected to have eggs to sell during the winter and even now most flocks do not lay at that time in the year, yet it is comparatively easy to induce egg-production during cold weather.

To begin with one must have young hens. Pullets are the best winter layers and hens in the second winter almost invariably refuse to lay during the colder months.

It is hardly necessary to say that in order to induce hens to lay at any time in the year we must supply them with the materials which go to make eggs, says the Prairie Farmer. Analyze an egg and you will find that it is composed of water, albumen (white), fat and several mineral salts, with a little sulphur. The white of the egg is almost pure albumen and water. The yolk is made up of fat and mineral salts of various kinds and the shell in one form of lime. We need not worry about the sulphur and mineral elements found in eggs, as almost any feed contains enough of these. The things we must furnish are fat and albumen. Of these two albumen is the thing we must seek for, because ordinary grain contains enough fat for our purpose. The albumen comes from the proteids (protein), of the feed supplied, and a hen that is laying well requires a comparatively large quantity of this, more than she can secure from ordinary grain. During the summer season she can secure a plentiful supply of this element from the bugs and worms she finds while roaming about the farm and from the green vegetation, of which she eats a large quantity.

The hen that is fed on grain alone during the winter may get very fat, but she will not lay well because corn, oats, wheat, barley and other similar feeds, contain only enough protein to supply her bodily needs, leaving no surplus from which to manufacture eggs.

It has been found that in order to induce large egg-production we must feed a narrow ration. That is we must feed a rich ration rich in protein in order to have a supply above the bodily needs of the hen from which she can supply the albumen in the white of the eggs she produces.

In order to supply this protein we feed meat in some form, milk, wheat bran and middlings, gluten feed, oil meal and other similar feeds. In addition to this we feed clover or alfalfa hay, cut in short lengths or ground into meal.

To secure winter eggs one must have a comfortable house for the hens. This should be wind tight, dry and well lighted. A poultry house does not need to be warm enough for a human being. If it is thoroughly wind proof, so as to prevent draughts of air from finding entrance, the hens will do very well even if the water in the water vessel freezes solid every night. My plan is to go to the poultry house before going to bed and stand inside for a few minutes. If I do not find it too cold for comfort I know the hens are all right.

Give the flock plenty of fresh water every day and an occasional feed of charred corn. Keep them busy scratching for grain in some kind of litter, keep them shut in the house in very severe weather and they will lay all through the cold weather.

If there is any doubt about the poultry house being warm enough hang a curtain made of common burlap from the roof extending it around the perches so as to curtain off a room within which the hens can sleep. It should be long enough to touch the floor all around. Such a curtain allows perfect ventilation and yet confines the animal heat so as to keep the portion curtained off warm and comfortable during very cold weather.

Life of a Dairy Cow.

A dairy cow should not show any marked falling off until after ten years of age; many excellent records have been made by cows older than this. The quality of milk produced by heifers is somewhat better than that of older cows, for we find a decrease of one to two-tenths of one per cent. in the average fat contents for each year till the cows have reached full age. It is caused by the increase in the weight of the cows with advancing age; at any rate there appears to be a parallelism between the two sets of figures for the same cows.—Midland Farmer.

During Winter.

During winter the bees cluster below quite a portion of the stores, thereby keeping the honey warm, and of easy access; in fact, the most compact form and normal cluster is maintained.

No names used without Written Consent. Cures Guaranteed.

Thousands of young and middle-aged men are annually swept to a premature grave through excesses. Chas. Anderson was one of the victims, but was rescued in time. He says: "I sowed my wild oats" when young. A change came over me. I could feel it; my friends noticed it. I became nervous, despondent, gloomy, had no ambition, easily tired, evil forebodings, poor circulation, pimples on face, back weak, restless at night, tired and weak mornings, burning sensation. To make matters worse I became reckless and contracted other diseases. I tried many doctors and medical firms—all failed till Drs. Kennedy & Kergan took my case. In one week I felt better, and in a few weeks was entirely cured. They are the only reliable and honest Specialists in the country."

Wm. Owen With J. W. McConnell as
"Othello."

Mr. McConnell, who plays the part of Othello in William Owen's production of that name, has appeared with every great actor on the American stage. While still a boy he was a member of the great California Stock Co., when that organization numbered among its members, Lawrence Barrett, John McCullough, Tom Keene, Bella Patenian and Mrs. Judah.

He has played with Edwin Booth, Barry Sullivan, E. L. Davenport, Madame Jansauschek, Adelaide Nelson and Mary Anderson.

Association with these great artists has of course had its effect upon his acting. The distinguishing trait in all great actors is authority. They know. Whereas the raw and the crude show their lack of knowledge in their uncertainty of movement and crudeness of delineation, the actor tried and seasoned in the great school gives color and severity to everything he does. This is the effect in Mr. McConnell's Othello at Rough's Opera House on Friday, Feb. 16, prices 25, 35, 50, 75c.

The best wheat, the best machinery and the most approved methods of milling are used in the manufacture of the "GERBELLE." No wonder that it is today the best flour on the market. For sale at Keller's.

All Run Down

THIS is a common expression we hear on every side. Unless there is some organic trouble, the condition can doubtless be remedied. Your doctor is the best adviser. Do not dose yourself with all kinds of advertised remedies—get his opinion. More than likely you need a concentrated fat food to enrich your blood and tone up the system.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil is just such a food in its best form. It will build up the weakened and wasted body when all other foods fail to nourish. If you are run down or emaciated, give it a trial: it cannot hurt you. It is essentially the best possible nourishment for delicate children and pale, anaemic girls. We will send you a sample free.

Be sure that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

HEART TO HEART TALK

By Elbert Hubbard, Head of the Roycrofters of East Aurora, New York

The law positively forbids any carrier delivering a package that weighs over four pounds, unless this package has come from across the sea, in which case some foreign government has received the whole pay for carrying and delivering the parcel.

The reason there is a post office deficiency is, because we have a Captian Kidd law to the effect that no package weighing over four pounds shall go thru the mails.

There is a pleasant to the effect that laws exist only thru the consent of the governed. This refusal on the part of the post office to carry packages weighing over four pounds is against the positive desire of most of the people. It is solely for the benefit and in the interests of the express companies.

Suppose the Government should issue an order that no man should ride in his own wagon on penalty, nor should he carry packages excepting of a certain size and weight! Well, that is exactly what is happening now; the carriers, paid by the people, daily cover the routes by wagons and on foot, and the express companies dictate what they shall carry, forbidding them to serve the people who employ them as the people desire.

Who has the fifteen million dollars deficit?

I will just say here that if you search Tom Platt, Sam Spencer and Col. Harriman you will find some goodly rolls of it.

The post office department exists for the people, we are told. The real fact is that to a great degree it exists for the railroads who handle the mail cars, and great care is also shown not to interfere with the express companies, which are owned by the railroads.

Give us the parcel post and there will be no post office department deficit.

And the way to get the parcel post is to vote only for congressman who are pledged in favor of it, and who remember that pledge in Washington and use their influence to bring it about. The men who own the express companies are not bad men—they are very much like ourselves. If we had our tentacles upon the juicy graft we would not let go until we had to. Man justifies himself in everything he does, and so Brother Platt probably think that the express companies are celestial arrangements sent by Providence to serve the people. To help keep us quiet Tom sends us garden seeds by mail (not express) every spring. We sell our birthright for a mess of parsnips.

Write your congressman today and tell him that there would be no post office deficit if we had a parcel similar to that now in use in Switzerland, England, Germany and France. Education means evolution and development—growth, Herbert Spencer says that education is the creation of cells—the physical enregistration in the brain of experience. We grow thru expression, that is thru exercise and according to Herbert Spencer, thought is a physical process, just as in walking, only that the physical changes are so minute that we do not easily detect them. But it is an axiom of science that nothing is less perfect for being small.

However, we all realize that intense thinking produce bodily exhaustion just as truly as does intense physical effort. So let the supposition stand: Thought is a physical process. Whether Prentice Mulford was right and a thought is a thing, is still debatable, but you can only think by using a thing, and that thing is the brain. And the record and result of thought is enregistered in your brain, in cells created for the thought.

So a man is what he is on account of what he has thought and experienced. And it is experience that makes him think. People who have had certain experiences have certain thoughts, and people who have been shielded or deprived of these experiences are absolutely incapable of entering into the thoughts and feelings of one who has experienced. They have a different brain enregistration.

We grow thru experience, for experience is exercise. These ideas are simple, plain and now disputed by the best minds, And yet to a great degree, the ideal of education in most colleges is that of getting the growth and yet avoiding the experience.

Growth, the collegians seem to think, is an acquisition. Doing by proxy, vicarious salvation, massage in place of the saw-buck, and brain-cell enregistration by listening to another man express another man's thoughts!

And that is the reason college does not necessarily educate, but actual life does. Just in proportion as college compels the pupil to contrive, to devise, to think, to create, does it succeed. The idea of education by suppression; submission, the repeating of things by rote and the placing a penalty on originally, all this was nothing but the inter-marriage of ideas that were cousins, and the result was a race of ecclesiastic scrubs.

After a somewhat lurid experience in freedom Claude Gregory, the convict painter who escaped from the prison guard room Dec. 31 at Jackson was captured Friday at Dayton, O. Some weeks ago Gregory was heard from at Toledo. A friend there had furnished a place of refuge and laid himself liable to punishment for harboring an escaped convict. Gregory requited him by running away with his wife about the same time the officer got on the trail. Last evening the prison officials were notified that he was in jail at Dayton O. Gregory was sent to prison from Monroe county for larceny.

Three-year-old Myrtle Cunningham was burned to death, and her 4 year-old sister, Stella, perhaps fatally burned at Holton north of Muskegon Friday. The mother of the children went into the yard to pick up chips to start the sitting room fire, and while out of the house the children jumped from their beds, still with nightdresses on, and pouring oil as they had often seen their mother do, with heads together, they dropped a match on the oil. In an instant Myrtle was enveloped in a cloud of flames. Her clothes had become saturated with oil and she died a few minutes later. Both children screamed and the mother rolled them in a blanket. Stella may live. Only a short time ago the children's brother, Clifford, aged six, was drowned.

Dogs have been used to test lower workings of the Tamarack mine, at Calumet for the presence of foul gases, following the big fire which raged there two weeks ago. The canines are lowered in cages. On several occasions it was found the animals were dead when the cages were hoisted, showing the shaft to be unsafe for miners.

WRECK OF THE ARGO

Wisconsin Wrecking Company Complains That Foreign Firm
Did the Work

Milwaukee, Feb 9.—Complaint has been formally made to Customs Collector Devos of Milwaukee, by members of the firm of the Gillen Wrecking company of Racine, against the Reid Wrecking company of Sarnia, Ont., in connection with the work of that firm on raising the stranded steamers Argo and Whitney in American waters.

Collector Devos has presented the matter to the office of the United States district attorney for this district and prompt action is promised by that official.

This step, it is said, may raise international complications with Canada, as the action of the Racine firm is the out growth of business rivalry between the Canadian firm and various American firms in the same line of business.

Board of Review Sustains His Assessment in the Pardee,
McDonald & Clark
Drain Matter.

The board of review consisting of John W. Broccus; Buchanan; Wm H. Valentine, Three Oaks; and W. A. Keath, Sawyer, met at the residence of Mrs Sarah Clark in Weesaw township Friday and sustained the assessment made by Drain Commissioner Burbank in the Pardee, McDonald & Clark drain assessment. Mr McDonald, not being satisfied with the assessment, appealed to the probate court sometime ago asking for a board of review. After viewing the premises the board decided that the Drain Commissioner was perfectly right in the assessment as it was made. This is the third term that Mr Burbank has held as Co. Drain Commissioner and the first time that an appeal has been made from his appointment. A person with Mr Burbank's experience is in a better position to judge a matter of this kind than any one else and it is shown by this investigation that he was right.

An assessment should be made according to the benefit one derives. When an appeal of this kind is made the expense falls upon the applicant if the assessment is found correct.
