DEATH UNDER STREET CAR

Hila B. Helmick and Bride of a Few Months Meet Horrible End

BOODIES TANGLE IN RODS

Necessary to Put Coach Upon Blocks
Before Corpses Could be Pulled Out

THE VICTIMS

Hila Helmick, Hinchman, aged 23.
Georgia Helmick, Hinchman, aged 18.

Hila B. Helmick, of Hinchman, and his bride of three months were ground to death beneath the wheels of a street car in front of the Nowlen Company lumber office, West Main street, Benton Harbor, just before 6 o'clock Tuesday evening.

The unexpected frightening of a horse is the cause of the accident. The couple were driving to Benton Harbor in a single top covered buggy. Car No. 28 was bound for St. Joseph. Helmick was driving in the roadway proper. Elroy McKinzie, motorman on the car, saw him some distance ahead. There was no indication of danger and the motorman did not check the speed of the car. The distance between the car and the rig was cut down to one and a half car lengths when the horse suddenly became frightened, gave a terrific lunge in front of the car, carrying the buggy squarely on the track and bringing instant death to the occupants.

The horse had crossed the track before the collision came and was uninjured. Torn loose from the breeching he continued in mad flight through the marsh until captured 15 minutes later.

The death of Mr. and Mrs. Helmick was most horrible. Just before the buggy was struck by the car the woman raised in her seat and threw her arms up before her face as in a vain endeavor to protect herself. Both bodies were carried under the wheels of the car and were entangled in the rods and trucks. The car had to be raised by jackscrews and blocks before the bodies could be extricated. The body of Mr. Helmick was lying against the trucks at the back end of the car, Mrs. Helmick's was stretched out just inside the forward trucks.

The sight was a horrible one. The head of the man victim had been crushed to jelly. In his forehead was a hole as large as a boy's fist and from this wound his brains oozed out. It would have been impossible for his best friend to have recognized him by gazing at his face. After he was pulled out from under the car wheels D. W. C. Bastar, one of the first physicians on the scene, says that he gave two short breaths.

The condition of the body of Mrs. Helmick was not so bad. The right side of her face was crushed in and a large portion of the ear torn away. In the top of her head was a hole about an inch deep.

Little warning was given the victims. Their horse was shambling along at an easy gait and evidently with no fear on the part of the driver that it would be frightened by the street car, and it is quite probable that when the horse took the fatal plunge from the roadway to the track the reins were held loosely in the hands of Helmick, for the motorman in his story declares that there was no resistance to the progress of the horse.

The motorman was running the car at seven points speed or about 20 miles an hour. He threw on the reverse lever and applied the brakes as soon as he saw the horse take the plunge, but practically the buggy was struck under full speed.

William C. Butler, the conductor on the car, did not realize the danger until just before the collision.

There were four passengers on the car when the accident occurred.

A few minutes after the accident several physicians were on the scene.

Dr. Bastar was among the first to arrive and assisted in getting the bodies out from beneath the car. Other physicians who came were Dr. G. M. Bell, Dr. F. R. Belknap, Dr. C. N. Sowers, Dr. W. Ryno, Dr. C. N. Ryno General Manager Henry C. Mason of the street railway company at once gave orders for the removal of the bodies to the car barns. Coroner Collier was given immediate notification.

At the scene of the accident no one knew the victims and not until the bodies were removed to the car barns was the identity disclosed. A note book taken from the inside coat pocket of Helmick contained his full name, "Hiram B. Helmick." Initials on a watch fob substantiated the identity. General Manager Mason at once communicated with Hinchman and learned that Helmick resided on a farm near there and that he had started to St. Joseph earlier in the day with his wife. The description of the victims made their identity certain.

The unfortunate man is a second cousin of Messrs. Allen and Eli Helmick of this village.

THE ELIOT DROWNING

Chicago Papers Think He Might Have Been Saved

The relatives and friends of Herbert Eliot, who was drowned Sunday, at the Graham dock, threaten to bring suit against the G. & M. Co., holding them responsible for his death. We are informed by Secretary Morton that if any suit was started that it would be against the insurance companies, as they are protected by them. The boat was stopped as soon as the captain was notified of the accident and remained so until it was necessary to proceed for the protection of the boat load of passengers. The testimony which was brought out at the inquest showed fully how the accident occurred and although it was a very unfortunate affair and would seem as though something could have been done to save his life, it is hard to attach the blame to any one in particular.

IN MEMORIAM

THOMAS MILES

Mr. Thomas Miles died at his home in Buchanan, on Tuesday, July 31, after a lingering illness of months duration. He was born in Cambridgeshire, England, Aug. 13, 1835, having attained almost seventy one years at the time of his decease.

He came to this country in 1854, and in 1858 he married in Rochester, New York, on the 8th of March, Miss Susan Rollins, who survives him together with four sons, one of whom lives in Ohio, another in one of the Dakotas, another in Oklahoma and the youngest one, Samuel with his mother in Buchanan.

Mr. Miles lived in Berrien county thirty-nine years, twenty seven of which he lived about two miles south of Niles on the R. I. Griffin road on a farm which he sold about a year and a half ago and moved to Buchanan. His funeral on Friday last was largely attended, many of his old neighbors being present. The services were conducted by Rev. Charles Ager, of Niles, an old friend of his and whom he requested so to do before he died and his body was laid to rest in Buchanan cemetery. Mr. Miles was quite a familiar figure on our streets and was generally respected and very highly esteemed by all his old neighbors and friends. Five brothers and five sisters survive him only one, a brother, Burgess Miles, of this place, was present at the last service.

An only daughter died about four years ago, Mrs. Alliger, of Dowagiac. So the old pioneers of Berrien county are passing one by one away.

PEACHES ARE SCARCE

Peach Disease Spreading, Although "Yellows" Is Less Common

Conflicting reports, with a probability of light crops of peaches, is the substance of the August report of the Michigan State Horticultural society.

There are some peaches all over the state, the report says, but at no point is there a full crop or anything like one. Points that harvested a full crop last year are generally light.

The rapid progress of the "little peach" disease is the most discouraging feature of the outlook. The cases of "yellows" are now less common, but the "little peach" is prominent in orchards all over the state, and the only salvation of healthy trees, according to the report, will be the prompt extermination of all attacked.

Elbertas are found to be light everywhere, and the hardy varieties are looked to, to furnish the markets this season. The new settings of trees fall short of making up the loss of acreage due to disease, winter injury etc. Kent county is found to be badly discouraged by the loss of several crops, although a few faithful workers are trying to get back to the old place. Northern counties are forging to the front with new orchards and are expected to make quite a reputation for production.

Offers for the crop are not being made very fast. A few sales are reported for good varieties on the trees at 65 cents per bushel, or 75 cents per bushel packed. The general conclusion is that the grower who averages at his shipping point $1 per bushel for his peaches, packed in bushel baskets, will do well, owing to the heavy crops elsewhere. The eastern buyers are not as anxious this year as usual about the Michigan crop, as northwest will be the best markets here.

APPLES WILL BE BIG CROP

The apple crop promises to be a good one with favorable conditions from now on. Buyers are confident of a large crop and prices will rule low. National organizations of buyers have agreed not to pay more than $1 per barrel for the picked fruit in the orchard, and prospective buyers now in the state are trying to contract for good varieties on the trees at from 75 to 90 cents per barrel on the trees. Early varieties seem especially promising and are now being marketed, several sales being reported at the point of shipment at $2 per barrel. Late stock does not look quite as well.

Grape prospects are especially favorable and a large crop is now expected. Some grape rot is being reported. Plums were considerably injured at blossoming time, many growers reporting all the way from a failure to a light crop, while the average is 35 to 45 per cent of an average. Peas blossomed very full and Kieffers generally hang loaded, but not a trifle over a half crop is now reported. Much blight is found in some sections.

Clear Lake Farm

The beneficent rains which have visited this section lately have been a great boon to fruit and crops, and everything looks as fresh as when the leaves unfold in spring. Guests continue to come in at the Farm. Two informal programs have been rendered and a marshmallow roast enjoyed. Madame Lora Holton, assisted by Mrs. S. H. Hellyer, Misses Catherine Pottinger, Hattie Engelhardt, Percis Cook and Messrs. Albert and Clarence Johnson and James W. Keith have given musical numbers and recitations that have been greatly enjoyed by the guests. Those who have registered this week are Misses Catherine Pottinger, Harriet J. Gilmore, Mary Foley, Matilda A. Penner, Mr. and Mrs. John Pouzar, Harry, Lillie

TO THE PUBLIC An Announcement

Relative to our new knifeless, painless and positive cure for the various forms of rupture, commonly known as "breach", no cutting, no pain, no detention from work.

I am in your city to demonstrate the great and intrinsic merits of our new cure for rupture. By this method I can cure, if not all, at least eighty per cent of all cases of rupture, and I will cause you no pain, nor keep you one day from your work. I am here to do good. I do not interfere with your local physicians in any way as I desire their good will and aid as much as you do. I am anxious to see the worst cases and if you are yourself ruptured come and see me, or if you know of someone who is ruptured send him or her to me. I make an examination free of charge.

South Bend's Progressive Clothing Store.

We'd like to say a word about the progress this store has made within the past year.

We have gone right ahead and have sold more clothing than in any previous year.

But we don't count that as anything wonderful. It will always be so, because we do not sell anything that is not calculated to bring the customer back.

The right kind of clothing and the justness of the price, are two of the best things about this store.

An enthusiastic salesman's guarantee may or may not stand for quality. If the value is not in the stuff itself, the guarantee doesn't put it there.

Sharp eyes and good business judgement in selecting the stock, is what puts the right kind of clothing on our customers, we see that the value is there before we ask you to put good money into it.

To be sure, even experts are sometimes deceived. In all such cases, however, this store would rather pay a premium to have the goods returned, than have the customer keep them.

Let the quality of the goods we sell and the good service we are able to give you, be the reason for your trading here.

Tax or License

Some tax payers do not exactly understand the correct definition of the two words Tax or License which are as follows:

Tax—A charge imposed for the support of government.

License—Exorbitant freedom, to permit by grant of authority.

An Analogy.

By simply paying your assessed TAXES, you are not LICENSED to VIOLATE the LAW by dumping your garbage or refuse in the street.

Ups and Downs.

"I am late to dinner this evening," explained the shoe clerk boarder. "We have been busy all day marking our stock of ladies' shoes up and down."
"Marking them up and down!" echoed the landlady.
"Yes, ma'am," replied the s. c. b. "Marking the prices up and the sizes down."—Chicago Daily News.

P. W. (with a sigh of relief)—Oh, I'm so glad. Of course, your father wasn't there when it happened?
P. B.—No, mother.—Tit-Bits.

JOSEPH L. RICHARDS

Dies Suddenly of Heart Disease at Buchanan

WAS A PROMINENT MAN

Had Been President of the Village and Was at Head of Manufactory

Like a thunderbolt from a clear sky came tidings Monday evening which greatly shocked and grieved the many friends of Joseph L. Richards of Buchanan, who succumbed to heart failure at 5:30 o'clock.

Mr. Richards went out to the cemetery in the afternoon in his automobile, and a tire went flat with the result that he greatly exerted himself in pumping it.

Upon his arrival at home, he complained of feeling sick, whereupon his housekeeper suggested that a doctor be called, but Mr. Richards protested saying he would soon feel better. But his condition grew worse and he asked that a physician be called. Fifteen minutes later he was dead.

Joseph L. Richards superintendent of the Zinc Collar Pad Manufacturing company, at Buchanan, and ex-president of the city board, was born in Marietta, Washington, county, Ohio, March 2, 1848.

His father, Henry, was born in Bristol, England, and when quite small emigrated thence to America in company with his father, H. Richards, Sr., and the family located at New York state, where a permanent home was established. The father of the deceased learned the trade of a blacksmith, and after locating in Ohio, followed that occupation in Marietta. In 1855 he came to Berrien county, and settled in Buchanan township, where he operated a farm. Later he sold the place and moved into the village, retiring from active business cares. His death occurred in 1888, when he was about 70 years old. He was a democrat politically.

The mother of the deceased, Lucy W. Richards, was born and reared in Marietta, Ohio. Of the union eight children were born, all of whom lived to mature years. Those living are, Mrs. Sadie Morris, of South Bend; Martha E. who married S. Barmore, of Niles; Hattie, wife of W. S. Wells of Buchanan; Mary, Mrs. George Rogers, and George H., a resident of Minneapolis; Joseph L. was about seven years old when he accompanied his parents to Michigan, and his boyhood was principally passed on his father's farm in Buchanan township. After completing the studies usually taught in the district schools, he entered his father's store as clerk, but his tastes not being in that direction, he soon sought more congenial employment. For a time he worked in a factory and afterward spent one year in Charlotte, Mich., and another twelve months in southern Ohio, in the oil regions.

In 1871 Mr. Richards went to Chicago, intending to carry on his studies at a commercial college, but his ambitions in that line were temporarily suspended by the great fire. Later he finished his course in Detroit. Upon the organization of the Buchanan Wagon factory he was elected secretary, and afterward was chosen general superintendent of the enterprise, holding the position about four years. During the administration of President Cleveland, he was appointed postmaster at Buchanan, and discharged the duties connected with that position for two years, when the demands of his business, as well as a dislike for the place itself, induced him to tender his resignation. Upon the death of his father, in 1888, the deceased assumed the management of the present enterprise, which he had since conducted.

Politically he was a democrat. He served as township supervisor, village clerk, and as member of the village council. In 1898 he was elected president of the village board. He was a Mason and belonged to Buchanan Lodge No. 68, and Niles Commandery No. 12 and the K. O. T. M., of Buchanan.

He was married in Buchanan to Miss Mina C., daughter of George and Mina C. Smith. Three children blessed this union, their names being Daisy, George H. and Joseph L.

Daisy is now Mrs. Benedict, of Milwaukee, while George H. and Joseph L. are residents of Buchanan.

The funeral services were held at the late residence, Thursday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock conducted by Rev. C. E. Marvin of Niles, who delivered a short but appropriate sermon, speaking highly of the character of Mr. Richards, of his kindness to those in need and his loving kindness to his children. Music was furnished by the male quartette, consisting of Messrs. Herbert Roe, D. L. Boardman, W. W. East and Dr. J. A. Garland.

The services at the grave were under the direction of the F. & A. M. lodge of Buchanan, and conducted by the Worshipful Master James Babcock of Niles, and were most appropriate and impressive. The floral pieces were numerous and beautiful, showing the respect in which Mr. Richards was held in our community.

State Items

Another drowning occurred at Saginaw, Tuesday afternoon, when Joseph Fluett, 17-year-old boy, was suddenly taken with cramps at the Sixth street bridge in the Saginaw river. Fluett was said to be a good swimmer, and was in company with a number of friends.

William E. Robinson, of Lansing, and Mrs. B. M. Miller, of Meridian, were taken to the city hospital suffering from injuries sustained in a runaway accident at the Pere Marquette station Tuesday morning during the unloading of a circus. Robinson is badly injured, and may have suffered internally. Mrs. Miller was found to have been only bruised.

Tommy Boven, the 15-year-old son of Henry Boven living near Holland was instantly killed Tuesday by falling under the feet of two unmanageable horses he was driving. The lad had accidentally dropped one of the reins and the horses began to run. Tommy climbed out on the wagon pole to recover the rein and was DOING THEIR DUTY.

Scores of Buchanan Readers Are Learning the Duty of the Kidneys

To filter the blood is the kidneys' duty. When they fail to do this the kidneys are sick. Backache and many kidney ills follow; Urinary trouble, diabetes. Doan's Kidney Pills cure them all.

Mrs. Geo. Gardheffner, 424 E. Railroad street, Dowagiac, Mich., says: "I have no hesitation to tell about the benefit I received from the use of Doan's Kidney Pills. I suffered for several months from weakened kidneys. There was a dull pain in the small of my back a great part of the time, and in damp weather it always gave me increased annoyance. I saw Doan's Kidney Pills advertised in the papers and so well recommended that I made up my mind to test their virtue. They helped me right off. I was surprised to see how quickly the pains and aches became a thing of the past."

Mrs. Almira Post died last night a little before six, after a short illness. She suffered a stroke of paralysis, Wednesday morning, which she never survived. In her death we lose a good citizen, who has won a host of friends during the many years she has resided here, and who is deeply grieved over her death. She leaves to mourn her departure a large number of relatives and a host of friends.

At the annual school meeting held in July, Messrs. Chas. Bainton, F. A. Stryker and F. L. Raymond were chosen for the new school trustees. Mr. Raymond, having failed to qualify inside of ten days from his election as required by law, at a meeting of the school board held Tuesday, Dr. L. E. Peck was chosen to fill the vacancy. The resignation of Miss Pearson was accepted, and Miss Grace Mutchler was selected to fill the vacancy.

"Why am I like a pin." asked a certain Buchanan man, triumphantly, of his wife. He expected she was going to say, "Because you are sharp," but was paralyzed when she replied, "Because you are so cheap, are always around, frequently crooked and if you were to get lost it would not be worth my time to look for you." Then the other half of the hymenial bliss went into the hind yard and fanned himself with a cement barrel.

The case of the People vs B. T. Morley has been dismissed, having been proven that Mr. Morley instead of being cruel to his horse as was stated, he did a kindly act instead. He was unjustly arrested under the charge of cruelty to animals. Mr. Morley had a horse he had had for thirty years, and he gave him to Maj. Merridith to shoot, but instead of his shooting him, he sold the animal. About two weeks after the selling of the horse, the animal walked into the yard of Mr. Morley completely exhausted. Through an act of humanity Mr. Morley chloroformed the beast to put it out of its misery, and seemingly was arrested for doing so. We are more than glad Mr. Morley has been cleared of this charge, and honor him for his kindness to the poor animal.

THE HARDWARE MAN

NERVOUS DEBILITY CURED

Excesses and indiscretions are the cause of more sorrow and suffering than all other diseases combined. We see the victims of vicious habits on every hand; the pale, pinched face, dark circles under the eyes, stooping form, stunted development, bashful, melancholic countenance and timid bearing proclaim to all the world his folly and tend to blight his existence. Our treatment positively cures all weak men by overcoming and removing the effects of former indiscretions and excesses. It stops all losses and drains and quickly restores the patient to what nature intended—a healthy and happy man with physical, mental and nerve powers complete.

For over 25 years Drs. K. & K. have treated with the greatest success all diseases of men and women. If you have any secret disease that is a worry and a menace to your health consult old established physicians who do not have to experiment on you.

We guarantee to cure Nervous Debility, Blood Diseases, Stricture, Varicocele, Kidney and Bladder Diseases. Consultation Free. If unable to call, write for a Question Blank for Home Treatment.

HAND-PRESSED LEMON OIL.

Only Way of Extracting the Flavoring Matter from the Rind of the Fruit.

"This oil of lemon," said the spice merchant, "is an exquisite thing. It is hand-pressed—pressed by hand out of lemon rind. Smell it."

The odor of the clear oil, says our informant, suggested sunlit lemon groves miles in extent on a mountain side overlooking the blue sea.

"I'll tell you how the oil of lemon is extracted," he said. "A man sits with a sponge in one hand and a piece of fresh lemon peel in the other. He presses the peel against the sponge, giving it finally a certain difficult and dextrous twist, and this breaks the cells in the rind, and the oil—there's only a half drop of it—comes reluctantly out upon the sponge.

"When the sponge has taken up the dribblings of about a hundred rinds, it is wet enough to be squeezed out. An ounce or so of clear and fragrant oil then flows from it.

"There is no way to extract this oil within a lemon rind except by squeezing and twisting the rind by hand. It takes the rinds of about 1,200 lemons to make one pound of oil.

"Did you, by the way, ever watch a bartender hold a piece of lemon peel over a cocktail, and give the peel a sudden, quick twist? Well, he was then flavoring the cocktail with oil of lemon, though the quantity he extracted was so small as to be quite invisible.

"Imagine doing that bartender twist until you had collected a quart or so of this rare oil."

SCENTED LUBRICATING OIL.

Used for the Bearings of the Delicate Drills Employed by Dentists.

"No, we don't perfume axle grease, nor do we scent the oil used on the journals of freight cars" said the dealer, "but there is one lubricating oil that we do scent, and that is the fine oil used on dentists' drills.

"Such drills, tiny little drills of beautiful workmanship, are made nowadays for use in every possible position. There are drills that project from the shaft at a right angle, this being made possible by the daintiest little bevel gearing you ever saw, within the drill head. Others are set at an obtuse angle, and others, again, are set at an acute angle.

"With one or another of these various drills you can drill out a hole in any tooth in any direction, up or down or from the front or the back or the side, but of course the little drills wouldn't run smoothly or nicely without lubrication, and you wouldn't want to put fish oil in a patient's mouth, already suffering enough, probably.

"So here is where scented lubricating oil is used, on dentists' drills—on the solid part, within the casing that constitutes the handle, attached to the end of the flexible shaft and on the dainty gearing at the head of the drill itself—fine oil that is scented with just a touch of attar of roses.

WORLD'S WETTEST PLACE.

Where the Average Annual Rainfall Is Nearly Thirty-Seven Feet.

The wettest place in the world, according to the Russian Meteorological Journal, as abstracted in the Revue Scientifique, is Cherrapunji, in the Indian province of Assam. From 1895 to 1908 the average annual rainfall was 11,223 meters (nearly 37 feet).

Next came the environs of Bombay, with 6.83 meters annually. But it should be noted that at the station of Debundscha, in Kamerun, 10,454 meters (34 feet) of rain fell annually, chiefly in summer. The wettest year in Cherrapunji was 14,759 meters (48 feet) in 1851, and in Debundscha 14,133 meters (46 feet) in 1902. In the latter place there fell in the one day of June 16, 1902, 456 millimeters (over one and a half feet) of water—more than the whole annual average in the Parisian basin.

The neighborhood of warm seas and high mountains is the principal cause of these extraordinary precipitations. It may be expected that the extension of meteorological observation will show other zones of rainfall more intense than has been hitherto believed, as in Java and Sumatra.

Might Come Handy.
"I love thee!" vowed the sentimentalist. "I swear it by you blue sky—by the purple seas—by the green forest—by the yellow moon—by—"
"Say," interrupted the Practical Girl, "it would suit me a heap better if you'd put all that in black and white."
—Cleveland Leader.

BENTON HARBOR
The common council will probably soon pass a curfew ordinance.

Our naval reserves are away enjoying their annual cruise and practice.

The old grist mill across the canal built 20 years ago has been sold to Geo. Mills and son, who will tear it down.

Harold Crandall and Helen Enders of St. Joseph were married this morning at St. Joseph's Catholic church.

The Twin Cities are full of lodges, but John Cullen of South Bend thinks there should be one more. A new order called Owls, whose aim is evidently fun and pleasure, was started in the Bend 18 months ago, and a branch order is to be organized here.

The predictions of that astrologer, who prophesied unusual disasters and calamities for this season, are certainly being fulfilled in the Twin cities. Never have there been so many fatalities and accidents in so short a time. Especially since July 4th when Aubrey Sutherland met his death in the lake, and a little Jewish girl was drowned in a cistern has the chapter been unusually full. There have been several drownings in the Paw Paw and St. Joseph rivers. Ray Moats was electrocuted a week ago. Glen Versaw, recently married was run down by two wheelmen and badly injured day before yesterday, and between 4:30 p. m. yesterday and 11 a. m. today, three persons have died, and the fourth narrowly escaped death. One was Robert Worden, who had lived here for 48 years and was the oldest butcher in the city. He died of heart disease, with which he had suffered for a year.

Roy Fairchild, an experienced electrician received a shock, while working on a pole near the car barns today, and fell to the ground, across a pile of car rails. He was picked up unconscious and with very severe internal injuries. He may recover.

ICE CREAM INJURIOUS

With the advent of summer comes the increased consumption of ice cream. And as a consequence, numerous cases of sickness and even deaths from this supposed harmless delicacy. Not a season passes without a number of incidents occurring of sickness and epidemics, the cause of which is directly traced to eating ice cream.

The principal ways by which ice cream is liable to cause sickness are: metallic poisoning, impure flavoring compounds, impure milk or cream, carelessness in allowing any of the ice, salt or water in the bucket to mix with cream.

Metallurgical poisoning is caused by the use of two different metals in the structure of the freezer. Therefore, an ice cream freezer should be made of but one metal, glass or platinum would be ideal. At least, but one metal should be allowed to come in contact with the cream mixture. This objection, we believe, has been largely eliminated in the modern freezer. We have examined a number of different kinds of freezers now on the market, and find them all composed of one metallic compound, heavily tinned iron. These metallic parts to the freezer should be examined often; and when the enameled tin surface is worn off so as to expose the iron, the freezer should be discarded. The danger of metallic poisoning is also increased by allowing the paddle to remain in the cream. It should be removed immediately when the freezing is completed.

It is a criminal to put into ice cream impure or poisonous flavoring extracts, yet this very thing is sometimes done. To preserve the fruit flavors in the form of jelly or crushed fruit, both formaldehyde and arsenic have been known to be used. Further, vanillin and coumarin, crystalline compounds, are frequently colored with caramel and used as substitutes for the pure vanilla flavor. And it is not uncommon to find the fruit flavors, (pineapple, strawberry, raspberry, cherry, etc.) to be an artificial product. And to give the cream firmness and reduce its cost, gelatin and starch are not infrequently used. The safest mixture is pure cream and sugar.

In the making of ice cream, too much caution cannot be exercised in the selection of the cream and milk. These products to be pure and wholesome, must be secured from sources where the following conditions exist: The cows must be healthy, well fed and kept clean; the milk must be handled in a clean and careful manner; the milk should be immediately cooled as soon as drawn from the cows, and kept cool until used. Tyrotoxicin and other forms of ptomaine poisoning, are the direct results of fermentation of unclean milk. Consumers should know that the cows from which their milk is supplied are kept clean. Further, that the milk is handled in a scrupulously clean manner; and that the milk is carried in sterilized cans, (thoroughly washed and rinsed with boiling water.) Bacteria, and all other forms of germ life, propagate much more rapidly in milk kept at a high temperature. Therefore, the cooling of milk as soon as drawn from the cows is a very important consideration. It should be reduced to a temperature of at least 50 degrees Fahrenheit and not allowed to rise above that until used.

In the process of freezing, great care should be exercised to prevent any of the freezing mixture, (ice, salt and water) in the tub from getting into the cream in the can. Ice as it is commonly taken from rivers and lakes, is unfit to be used in food or drink. It not infrequently contains disease germs; and is usually laden with animal and vegetable matter. Salt cannot with safety be put into cream. The active sodium chloride dissolves the metals with which it comes in contact, and results in metallic poisoning. For this reason one should be careful not to allow any of the salt water from the tub to get into the can containing the cream. Cream is an excellent food, when taken in limited quantities with other articles of diet. Ice is good in refrigerators to maintain low temperatures, in preserving perishable foods. The stomach is no refrigerator, its contents are not to be preserved. Therefore, under normal conditions, ice and iced foods should not be eaten. However, if some people are still "living to eat" and will persist in using this luxury, to such ones we would give the following suggestion: Ice cream mixtures (ice, cream and flavors) should be boiled before being frozen. The boiling sterilizes the mixture, and thus reduces the chances from fermentation, and consequent poisoning, to a minimum.
