Sheriff Tennant sees in the work GEO.H. BATCHELOR evidences of yeggman, but not of the strictly professional type. They seemed to operate in a manner similar to that adopted by the burglars, who recently blew a number of safes in a town in Branch county.

Mr. Tennant talked with Mr Smith of the Pinkerton Detective Agency a fortnight ago, and he expressed an opinion that a gang of yeggmen are working out of Toledo.

came to the home to share its happiness and comforts. Mrs. Batchelor had not been very strong for some time, and in giving life to her child laid her own life a sacrifice upon motherhoods altar. For the last four weeks she has been in a critical condition, gradually failing, until she peacefully fell asleep at noon of October 23, 1906, from heart failure, from which she has suffered for several years. She leaves behind her, a sorrowing husband and infant child, besides Mildred her six year old daughter by a previous marriage, her father and her mother, two brothers, Claude and Earl; two sisters, Mrs. Edward Riffer and Miss Bernice Haslett, and an aged grandmother, besides numerous relatives and friends.

Mrs. Batchelor was a patient sufferer. Her happy disposition showed that numerous miners will be called midly, and we are informed by one itself here as in her life. President Roosevelt's Annual Essay on Thanksgiving

Washington, Oct. 24.--The president yesterday issued a proclamation naming Thursday, Nov. 29, as a day of Thanksgiving. The text of the proclamation is as follows:

"The time of year has come when, in accordance with the wise custom of our forefathers, it becomes my duty to set aside a special day of thanksgiving and praise to the Almighty because of the blessings we have received, and of prayer that these blessings may be continued. "Yet another year of widespread well-being has passed. Never before in our history has a people enjoyed more abounding material prosperity than is ours; a prosperity so great that it should arouse in us no spirit of reckless pride, and least of all a spirit of heedless disregard of our responsibilities, but rather a sober sense of our many blessings and a resolute purpose, under Providence, not to forfeit them by any action of our own · "Material well-being, indispensable though it is, can never be anything but the foundation of true national greatness and happiness. If we build nothing upon this foundation, then our national life will be as meaningless and empty as a house where only the foundation has been laid Jpon our material well being must be laid a superstructure of individual and national life, lived in accordance with the laws of the highest morality, or else our prosperity it-
