BOIL THE DRINKING WATER

This is to do Away With All the Germs which Cause Typhoid Fever

A special meeting of the Common Council was held last Friday evening to see what could be done in regard to the typhoid scare. Frank W.
Shumway, M. D., of Lansing and Secretary of the State Board Department, was present, and gave a very interesting and beneficial speech.

First he says, that all drinking water must be boiled to do away with the germs that collect and cause this dreaded malady. Next that all closets from over the creek and mill race must be removed at once. He also emphatically states that the cess pools are very dangerous as they have no drainage, and that the dry earth sanitary closets are the proper necessity where there is no sewerage. While Mr. Shumway states that he has found nothing to cause an epidemic, he also says that there are plenty of things that might cause such a thing.

A town the size of Buchanan should have sewers laid, and thus do away with all the contaminations that cause these diseases.

The most scrupulous care should be taken to keep the present source of drinking water pure, and to procure future supplies only from clean sources. The general water supply of cities and villages is a matter of the greatest concern; it should be procured from places where there can be no probability of immediate or remote contamination. The well known outbreak of typhoid fever at Plymouth, Pa., where over a thousand cases and 114 deaths occurred, is an illustration of how great a calamity may follow the fouling of a general water supply by the discharges of a person sick with typhoid fever. When there is no general water supply, nor good sewers, much may be done to protect the wells by the abolition of cess pits and privy vaults, by the use of dry earth in privies, and by the frequent removal therefrom of all their contents.

Sources of and the apparatus serving for the general supply of water for drinking or domestic purposes, and also those for the removal of refuse, should be frequently inspected by sanitary officials.

The rinsing of dirty vessels, washing, and every pollution, especially by domestic refuse, near a source or neighborhood of water for drinking or domestic purposes, should be prohibited and guarded against.

Whenever the conditions are such that typhoid is threatened, the persons or the public endangered should be promptly warned to "boil the drinking water."

It may be found necessary to prohibit the use of wells, ponds, lakes, brooks water works, as well as baths, swimming and washing establishments and public lavatories in localities threatened or attacked by typhoid. The renewed use of such wells can be made dependent on a previous disinfection or purification.

UNITED IN

WEDLOCK

Miss Florene Hall is Wed to Mr. Guy Ingleright

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall, Saturday night, occurred the marriage of their daughter, Miss Florene, who was united in marriage to Mr. Guy Ingleright.

Promptly at eight o'clock, as the wedding march was being softly rendered by Harry Case, of Three Oaks, a cousin of the bride, the wedding couple wended their way into the parlor, where under a canopy of lace curtains, berries and ferns the happy couple were wed by the Rev. Tench of Berrien Springs.

The bride made a beautiful appearance in a gown made of soft white material, while the groom wore the conventional black.

After the wedding ceremony the guests, numbering fifty in all, wended their way to the dining room, where an elaborate wedding supper was served.

The united couple were the recipient of many beautiful and costly gifts, besides two $5 gold pieces from the grand parents of the bride.

They will be at home to there many friends on the Harner farm about 6 miles north of town. The RECORD with friends extend hearty congratulations to the happy couple.

SURPRISED THEIR FRIENDS

Miss Georgia Beistle Became the Bride of Chas. Bachman Last Thursday

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Beistle announces the marriage of their eldest daughter, Miss Georgia to Chas.
Bachman, of Niles, the wedding having taken place last Thursday at Milwaukee.

This was certainly a great surprise to their many friends, for although they anticipated such a step, they did not look for it so soon.

Miss Georgia is one of Buchanan's most esteemed young ladies, and is well known for her sunny disposition.
Mr. Bachman has made many friends during his frequent visitations to this place, and the happy couple have the best wishes of all their friends.

They will reside in Milwaukee, where Mr. Bachman has accepted a promising position. The RECORD with a wide circle of friends of both the bride and groom, extend congratulations, and hope their life will be a pathway of roses.

When Women Love

"When Women Love" the big, new scenic melodrama, will be presented at Rough's Opera House, Monday, Nov. 12, by a large and competent company. The entire production is worthy of note, and is one of the best attractions playing in the popular priced houses.

The play is a new one, and deals comparatively with the rich and poor, the scenes being laid in New York City, prominent among them being the woman's ward at Blackwell's

Island; the interior of a large factory, with the machinery in operation; the great mob scene, and the garden fete with its marvelous electrical effects.

The novel features, elaborate scenery, and thrilling climaxes make it an attraction above the ordinary.
It is a play that will delight and please all classes. The action of the piece is interspersed with musical specialties, rendered by well known vaudeville artists.

PASSES FOR ADVERTISING

Doubtful if Exchange Can be Prohibited by Statute

One of the points in the interstate commerce law on which railway attorneys differ is that relating to the exchange of transportation for advertising. This is not in any sense free transportation and does not come under the prohibition of passes. It is also quite generally agreed that a law prohibiting exchange of a commodity or service for anything except money would not stand the test of the courts.
Most of the railway companies, however, are not now concerning themselves with questions of constitution-ality. They are only endeavoring to find out what the law means, with the intention of observing it in letter and spirit.

The clause in question reads as follows:

"Nor shall any carrier charge or demand or collect or receive a greater or less or different compensation for any such transportation of passengers or property or for any service in connection therewith between the points named in such tariffs than the rates, fares and charges which are specified in the tariff filed and in effect as the time."

It is held by some attorneys that the word "different" as used in this clause relates to the kind of compensation rather than the amount, inasmuch as the amount is covered by the words "greater or less." They therefore hold that all transportation must be paid for in money only and not in any other value. Others hold that this interpretation is preposterous. The object of the law is to prevent unjust discrimination, and the word "different" refers to amount of compensation rather than kind. It is interesting to note that the strict constructionists of this clause have at the same time advised their clients that, while they may not contract in advance for such exchange of commodities, they may pay an existing or established claim with transportation.
For instance, a claim for damages to person or property may be satisfied by transportation instead of money.
We believe that a candid interpretation of this provision of the law is that the published tariffs are to be impartially adhered to and that the lawmakers have not intended to prohibit legitimate exchange. It is hardly probable that they would have imperiled the law when it comes under judicial interpretation by putting in a word which in no wise added to its strength or assisted in accomplishing the real end of law.

Some of the large railway companies and systems have instructed their officials to discontinue all issue of advertising transportation, except that existing legal contracts may be carried out to the end of the year.
Hereafter they will pay for advertising only in cash, and in case they desire special services, such as correspondents and others have heretofore rendered, they will pay for the same in cash. Others have decided that they will continue to pay for advertising either in cash or transportation, as they may deem best, but when it is paid in transportation it will be under definite contract and just such accounting as it required on cash business. It is difficult to see who would have any reason for attacking this method of business or what hope he could have of success before the

IN MEMORIAM

LUCY FRANCIS HOWARD

Lucy Francis Howard was born in Thompsonville, Connecticut, September 15, 1829, and died at Buchanan, Michigan, November 1, 1906, aged 77 years, 1 month and 16 days. She was united in marriage to Jacob Spaulding in New Marlborough, Mass., when eighteen years of age, to which union was born one son, who died in infancy. Mr. Spaulding dying of consumption three months after their marriage, she was married the second time to Joseph Lyman Shepard, of the same place, June 11, 1854. To this union were born eight children, six sons and two daughters, all of whom are dead but one, Edwin Wallace Shepard of this place. Since the death of her daughter, Mrs. Cora E. Dupont, of Torrington, Connecticut, in 1899, Mrs. Shepard has made her home with her son.

She was converted and united with the Baptist church at an early age.
In 1855 she heard the Advent Message proclaimed by Elders Darius Mat-thewson and George L. Teeple and accepted the same and in that faith she died. Sister Shepard was a patient sufferer, beloved by all who knew her. Her trust was in God and she lived hoping that she might see the Lord before death came. But this was not God's plan and she died but with a strong hope. Funeral services were conducted from the Advent Christian church, Saturday, November 3, 1906, at 2:30 p. m., Elder Chas. A. Shook officiating, assisted by Elders J. C. Royer and T. C. Grundy.

"How far to the city of gold?
Each sorrowing heart would know, While mourning o'er the friend they love
In death's embrace laid low.
How long ere the saints awake And enter its portals fair?
Hope whispers in affliction's hour Weep not we'er almost there."

It would pay American heiresses who marry foreign noblemen if they could simply buy the title and omit the personal incumbrance.

October this year has suggested that there will be no shortage in the natural ice supply this winter. Fill up the ice houses and treat the trust to a cold wave.

Japan sells the United States more than it buys in this country. There will be no Japanese boycott of American goods without a sober second thought.

Japan should be given fair treatment at San Francisco and elsewhere. At the same time there must be no invasion of American rights and no yielding to unreasonable demands.

An American girl who marries a duke can get rid of him by paying $100,000 a year. The value of this investment depends on the individual view of what an alleged luxury is worth, but there are plenty of American girls who are too smart to throw their money at birds of that sort.

SCHOOL MONEY WILL BE HELD UP

195 Districts Have Failed to Comply With the Bonding Requirement

Lansing, Mich., Nov. 2.—One hundred and ninety-five school districts will not share Nov. 12 in the distribution of the primary school money received from accumulated railroad taxes.

This is the announcement today of W. H. French, deputy superintendent of public instruction. Twenty of these districts are in Oakland county. The apportionment is made on the basis of $11 per pupil, and the failure of school directors to comply with the instructions, of the department means that many thousands of dollars will be held up.

French says that many treasurers neglected in the face of ample warning to file bonds. Some districts have misappropriated funds, and others did not answer the department's letters asking for information about their schools.

Mr. French estimates that between 3,900 and 5,000 pupils are affected in the 195 school districts. The money will be held by the state treasurer until the next apportionment in May, and then be placed in the fund for apportionment.

PROHIBIT USE OF PRESERVATIVES

Pure Food Department Will Ask Legislature to Amend Present Law

Lansing, Mich., November 2.—State Dairy and Food Commissioner Bird has discovered that under a new law passed at the legislative session in 1905 preservatives dangerous to the public health may be used in foods sold in Michigan, and he will ask that the law be amended at the next session of the legislature to prohibit the use of such preservatives.

The objectionable preservatives are saccharin, formaldehyde, benzoate of sodium, boric acid and salicylic acid. Experiments conducted at Washington by what has been known as the "poison squad," consisting of a number of young men who ate preserved foods, have demonstrated that these preservatives are deleterious, and an effort will be made to prevent the use of all preservatives except the natural ones, such as vinegar, sugar salt, etc.

The state pure food department has been conducting experiments on guinea pigs with the objectionable preservatives and the results have been disastrous to the pigs.

The very latest things in glove boxes is cut glass. Much as it may resemble a cut glass dish with a top, it is nevertheless a novelty that will appeal to the women who are continually on the hunt for such things. The top is not attached in any way, but lifts off entirely. The box may either be used without any further adornment or it may be lined with silk or satin to match the accessories of the boudoir or dressing table, in which case the delicate colors show through the glass most charmingly.

One day last week a Buchanan woman went into Forler's meat market in Niles, and purchased a roast worth 80 cents. When the meat was wrapped up, she told the merchant to charge it to a certain doctor in that city. After she had left and gone over to the M. C. depot, the proprietor telephoned this doctor to see if it was alright, and the answer came back, "I guess you are stuck," whereupon the butcher hastened to the depot, where the woman sat with the meat in her lap. He walked up to the woman and took the meat away from her, although she tried to put up another story to keep her plunder. An officer was going to be summoned but they let her go, and she came on to Buchanan. She was not quite smooth enough, although she put up a good story.

WORK WEAKENS THE KIDNEYS

Doan's Kidney Pills Have Done Great Service for People Who Work in Buchanan

Most Buchanan people work every day in some strained, unnatural position, bending constantly over a desk, riding on jolting wagons or cars, doing laborious housework; lifting, reaching, pulling or tying the back in a hundred and one other ways. All these strains tend to wear weaken and injure the kidneys until they fall behind in their work of filtering the poisons from the blood. Doan's Kidney Pills cure sick kidneys, put new strength in bad backs. Buchanan cures prove it.

William Sanders of 907 Court street, St. Joseph, Mich., employed at Truscott's Boat Mfg. Co., says: "My back bothered me for the last four years constantly. There was a dull aching pain in the small of my back, at times so severe I could hardly attend to my work. I have no doubt it was caused by standing so much at my bench, I used every remedy that came to my notice and also took medicine for my kidneys when home on a visit to England, but none of them did me any good. At last my attention was called to Doan's Kidney Pills and I commenced using them. They helped after a few doses and before I had finished the box the dull pain in my back that had annoyed me so long ceased."

Plenty more proofs like this from Buchanan people. Call at W. N. Brodick's drug store and ask what his customers report. For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

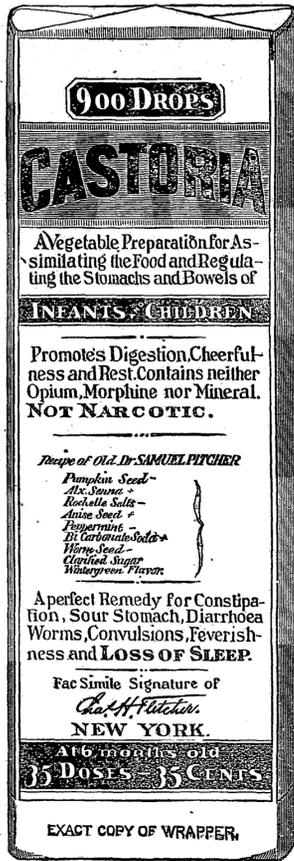

"Peer Gynt"

The Triumph of years and the sensation of the hour is Richard Mansfield's production of "Peer Gynt" on the stage of the Grand Opera House, Chicago. The event is one of international importance for the spectacular comedy has on its dramatic and poetic side been the delight, and on its scenic and mechanical side the despair, of the European theatre. This is the first time Ibsen's comedy has ever been given in English and it was accomplished in a triumphant manner by Mr. Mansfield, who has in his notable and ambitious career given the stage nothing more splendid to the eye or diverting to the imagination, though the panoramic beauties of "Cyrano de Bergerac" and "King Henry V" prepared the way.

There are fourteen massive sets of scenery and the sunrise and sunset and moonlight effects on the Norwegian mountains, the warmth of palm groves on the Mediterranean, an oasis in the desert, a Norwegian wedding festival, fairyland scenes of fantastic charm, and the submerging in a storm at sea of a wrecked vessel occupying the entire stage, are the notable pictorial triumphs of the production.

The human note is continually conspicuous in "Peer Gynt." There is a ring of good cheer almost from end to end, interludes of fantastic, sentimental, grotesque and supernatural touches which justify the definition of "Peer Gynt" as "the comedy of human life."

Mansfield has never before had a role of such comprehensive variety. Peer Gynt is a most lovable and amusing sinner, a cousin in kind to our friend Rip Van Winkle, whose bibulous failings he shared. For three acts Mansfield is the idle, dreaming, boasting, drinking, delightful ne'er-do-well peasant youth. In the fourth act he becomes the matured man of the world, cosmopolitan, cynical and witty. In the last act he is the aged home wanderer, who has heard the call of the love of his youth and returns to her arms to realize the first permanent joy of his life. "Peer Gynt" is a diversion, a poetical and at times fairy story, but there is a philosophical background and the writing on the wall reads the resurrection of the human soul in pure love.

Mansfield will not soon find a successor to his delightful Peer. It is several years since he has been seen in comedy. Especially impressive were his "drive with his mother to the gates of Heaven" and his encounters with the dread messenger. In the latter scene the tragic denotements of terror are superb. His powers as a comedian sparkle especially in his joy in his lying tales to his mother in act one in his denotement of the drunken dreamer and the adventure in the Hall of the Mountain King among the goblins in act two, and every moment of the delicious fun of all of act four.

There are nearly 200 people on the stage and notably delightful performances are given by a dozen of Mr.

Mansfield's leading artists. The wedding dance, the Troll-imp dance, and Antra's dance with her attendants, and three songs, are all beautifully given. A concert orchestra plays the celebrated Greig music.

The Chicago critics are unanimous in saying this Mansfield's "Peer Gynt" is the most splendid and delightful production of a generation.
