RAILROADS TAXED LESS

Owing to Unusual Tax Conditions, Reduction Likely to be in Sum of $150,000

Lansing, Jan. 15.—The people of the state may prepare themselves for the announcement tomorrow of a reduction in taxes that the railroad will be required to pay this year.
This reduction is likely to be in the sum of $150,000 or thereabouts, and whether the people, with $8,000,000 of fresh railroad money in their school district treasuries, will still object and want more remains to be seen.

The reduction, forewarning which Gov. Warner gave figures in his message, though not for that purpose, comes about owing to the unusual tax conditions of the last year, and there is every reason to believe that after conditions again become normal there will be a gradual increase, keeping pace with the greater business and greater value of railroad and general property.

The large amount of taxes paid last year by the railroads operates to bring about this reduction to a great extent. For, with the great distribution of school money, a very small amount for school purposes had to be raised. The state tax was also less, and hence the tax rate on general property in the state, which, it is provided, must be applied to the railroad valuations to compute the railroad taxes, is greatly reduced, almost one dollar a thousand in fact.

In the previous year the tax rate was $17.40 per $1,000, while for the taxes soon to be spread, the rate will be only $16.40 or $16.50. In other words, the people have been taxed at an average rate of $10.40 50 on their houses and farms and personal property, and hence the railroads will be taxed on the same basis. The people were taxed only $26,881,000 this year, as against $27,402,198 the year before.

ST. JOSEPH GETS THE CONVENTION

Called to Meet in That City on Feb. 4, Chas. E. White Selected as Temporary Chairman

At the session of the Republican county committee held Tuesday afternoon at St. Joseph, it was decided to hold the county convention at which a candidate for county school commissioner will be elected at St. Joseph on Monday, Feb. 4, next beginning at 11 o'clock a. m.
Chas. E. White of Niles was selected by the committee as temporary chairman

This will likely be the last delegate convention held in Berrien county by the Republican party as the present legislature is expected to pass a general primary law which will apply to the whole state and will do away with the old time caucus and delegate. Aside from the nomination to be made at this convention it will possess historic interest as it may be the last time the party men can legally assemble for the nomination of county candidates.

The leading candidates for school commissioner are Prof. Otwell of Berrien Springs and Prof. Stearns of the Coloma public schools.

WAS BURIED

ALIVE

Strange Story of a Young Woman's Death at St. Joseph

St. Joseph, Jan. 16.—Miss Lizzie Nametz, who died Dec. 20 after only a week's illness with pneumonia which developed from a case of measles and who was buried the following Saturday in the city cemetery, is supposed to have been buried alive. As the story goes the young lady was interred in the wrong lot in the cemetery and Sunday the body was removed to another place. The casket was presumably opened and the girl was said to have been lying on her face with her hands clutching her hair.

The story was given general circulation by the girls employed at the Cooper Knitting mills but White the undertaker in the case, discredits it.
No investigation is reported to have been made.

STRONG FOR WHIPPING POST

Senator Ming Renews Attack on Cruel Husbands

Lansing, Jan. 15.—State Senator Ming, who was a member of the house two years ago and introduced a bill providing for the whipping post for wife beaters, will probably introduce a similar bill this year. The bill two years ago did not provide for the use of the lash on brutal husbands until the second conviction.

Senator Ming says that a former Cheboygan man who recently killed his wife in Detroit frequently beat her unmercifully. He believes that if he had been properly punished for the offense or if this law had been in effect it would have operated as a deterrent and the murder would not have resulted.

FARMERS' INSTITUTES

The county institute society are planning a series of institutes to be held next month. The dates are as follows: Riverside, Feb. 5; Bainbridge, Feb. 6; Naomi, Feb. 7; Buchanan, Feb. 8; Three Oaks, Feb. 9; uniting with the Berrien County Horticultural society in a three-day meeting at Niles, Feb. 11, 12 and 13.
Mr. Peter Voorhees, a successful farmer from Pontiac and a good speaker, will be the lecturer furnished by the state for all the meetings, while at the Niles meeting there will be several additional speakers from outside. Among these will be, Mrs. F.

D. Saunders, of Rockford; Mr. N.
P. Hull, of Diamondale; Prof. Ernest Burnham, of Western Normal School, Kalamazoo; and Prof. C. D. Smith, director of the experiment station, Lansing. The subject of soil fertility will occupy a prominent place in all the programs and will be supplmented by such topics as are of interest in that particular locality, such as dairying, corn, sheep, etc.

At Niles the afternoon of the 12th will be devoted to horticulture and will be in charge of the Horticultural society. In addition to the speakers mentioned and the best the county affords, it is expected that president Hale of the State Horticultural society, and Pres. Swain, of the Indiana Horticultural society, will be present. PAUL THAYER, Secy.

BOTH EXPECT TO RECOVER

Two Bullets Taken From Moore's Head

St. Joseph Press.—L. T. Moore, the would-be murderer and suicide is surprising the medical fraternity of the twin cities. With three bullets in his head, his throat and wrists slashed horribly and with terrible burns on his face and hands, he is clinging to life and gives every evidence of being on the road which will ultimately lead to recovery.

Last night Dr. Martin of this city, and Dr. Chapin, of Benton Harbor, operated upon the patient and they removed from his head, the two bullets which they had located. Both of them were flat as pennies and were taken out with much difficulty, but to their surprise the physicians found that Moore was carrying still another bullet in his head. After the physicians discovered this fact, they prepared to extract it the same as they had the other two, but found that the bullet had gone so deep that probing was dangerous and so were unable to take it out.

This last bullet, undoubtedly made the most serious wound of the three and it seems strange to the physicians that it did not cause his death.

Under all these adverse conditions Moore is as well and better than would be expected. He suffers some from the burns and the knife cuts, but beyond that his condition is almost normal.

Deputy Rodney Pearl, the first victim of Moore's gun is doing remarkably well and is in much better shape than the man who attempted to kill him. The bullet wounds are giving Mr. Pearl very little pain, his breathing, while not natural, causes him no pain and he is resting easily. No attempt has been made to locate the bullet in the breast, but the physicians believe that they know almost

"Labor has fared well during the past year, remarkably well," said Vice President Wilson of the International Association of Mechanics, at a recent state conference of the officers and leaders of that organization. "There has been more advances in wages and fewer strikes than in any year the laboring men of this country have ever known," further declared the labor organization official. It will probably not be with the consent of the laboring men of the country that any change will soon be made affecting the conditions which they insist, are the best they have ever known.

At a meeting of the republican state central committee held at Lansing last week it was decided to hold the spring state convention at Grand Rapids, Thursday, February 14. This convention will nominate candidates for two justices of the supreme court, two regents of the University and a member of the state board of education; the latter to fill the vacancy caused by the election of L. L. Wright as superintendent of public instruction. It has been officially determined that the new primary election will not apply to the selection of delegates for the February state convention, and all counties not governed by special primary legislation will be required to select their delegates in the old way.

PENSION FOR WOMAN SOLDIER.

Mrs. Finnan of Indiana Served in War in Male Attire.

La Porte, Ind., Jan. 15.—The entire Indiana delegation in congress will unite this week to secure the passage of a bill giving Mrs. Elizabeth Finnan of Greensburg, Ind., a pension of $30 a month.

Mrs. Finnan enjoys the unusual distinction of having served through the war as a soldier. She donned male attire and performed a number of deeds of heroism. She is now confronted by the direst poverty. Her case will be the first of its kind ever presented to congress.

NILES TO STEER BALLOON

Buchanan Ball Player Will Guide Hedges' Air Ship at St. Louis.

"Hub" Niles, the Buchanan, Mich., man who plays in the outfield for the St. Louis Americans, is an aeronaut besides being a ball player, and according to a dispatch from St. Louis he will be given a chance to do some flying in the big balloon races in St. Louis next fall. Niles gained fame some years ago as a soarer, and for a while hit only the high spots, but afterward he passed up that profession to play ball, and it is said, he has never gone up in the air while at work on the diamond.

President Hedges is going to put a balloon in the races at St. Louis and according to report Niles will have the honor of steering it and keeping it out of the Mississippi river. It is proposed to wait until a favorable wind in the direction of Chicago is blowing and then to start the air bags off that way, so that the contestants will have a chance to watch the Chicago Cubs and the Browns fight it out for the world's championship. Niles expects to get to the windy city in time to take part in the series.—S. B. Tribune.

When Love Is Young.

They had reached that stage of the engagement when there is usually more or less speculation as to the future on the part of the bride-to-be.

"It doesn't seem, Tom, dear, that we could ever speak a cross word to each other, does it, dearest?" she murmured from his coat lapel.

"Never, sweetheart!" declared Tom stoutly.

"But, dear," she persisted, "if I mind I say if—if some morning the steak should be burned and the coffee cold, and you were tempted to be just a bit—just a teeny wee bit cross, what would you do?"

She looked up into his face anxiously, and he felt that his reply must be one that would fully reassure her. After a moment's thought he exclaimed, triumphantly: "I'd go down town and get my breakfast." —Puck.

APPEAL NEWS—PAPER CASE

Kalamazoo Paper Fights to Keep Public Records Open

Kalamazoo, Jan. 15.—An appeal has been ordered by the board of supervisors in the case brought by a Kalamazoo paper against County Clerk E. N. Vosburg to present the suppressing of public records on file in his office. Judge North of Calhoun county rendered a decision a few weeks ago ordering that the cases be suppressed save those in which service is sought on the defendant. Marriage licenses he held, could not be legally suppressed. The case involves precedents which affect all county clerks and newspapers in the state.

Her "Kismet"

A fashionable woman had a bit of statuary bearing the inscription "Kismet." A housemaid dusting the room asked her mistress: "Shure, ma'am, what's the m'anin' of the 'ritin' on the bottom of this?"

"Oh, you mean 'Kismet.' It means 'fate,'" replied the mistress.

Bridget was limping painfully when out with her sweetheart not long afterward, and he asked:

"What's the matter, Bridget?"

"Faith," was the answer, "I have the most terrible corns on me kismet."

Susa Armstrong's Mission or One Night in the Enemy's Lines

By J. I. York

CHAPTER I

It was near Christmas in the year of 1863 when the army of the Potomac went into winter quarters in and around Brandy Station, Va.

They had just returned from the Mine Run exploit and had marched many miles. The day of the month I do not recall, but the day of the week was Friday. It had been raining for three days and nights steady, but now had turned colder and was snowing very fast. The camp soon became a sight to behold, as the red clay mud and snow were worked together forming a mixture likened to paint. The soldiers had pitched their tents in a pine forest and soon the sound of axes were heard and great camp fires-blazed up in their company street. Meanwhile the company cooks busied themselves cooking the evening meal, while others were chopping in the woods, and a detail of men were carrying logs to build the officer's quarters. Another squad was carrying logs for the company to build their own huts. By the time the cooks of the companies had supper ready there had been a large amount of wood and building material delivered on the ground, and as soon as supper was over many little log huts made their appearance along the company street, which was some fifty feet wide. The huts being in line and roofed with their tents, with a big log fire at each end of their company street and the fire throwing its light back on the green pine forest, leave to the beholder rather a pleasing aspect and presented a picture both fascinating and unique.

The laborers toiled on until nine o'clock when the bugle at headquarters called a halt and soon after taps were sounded and this great busy throng wrapped their blankets around them and throwing themselves on a bed of pine boughs soon forgot the hardships of a soldier's life and dreamed of home sweet home, of wife and children, and boy soldiers dreamed of father and mother and the dear old home so far away, with all its comforts and soft feather beds.

Down came the snow just as fast as ever and the wind howled and some of the tents that had not been fastened down tight soon turned wrong side out or blew away entirely, leaving the sleepers without cover, except the blankets which they had pulled tightly over their heads. But it takes more than that to awaken a tired soldier that has marched thirty miles, starting at midnight the night before, with the rain coming down in torrents, until his clothing is wet through and through and the cold water running down his back, while the roads were knee deep with mud consisting of red clay and water mixed together by the tramp of over sixty thousand soldiers, with artillery and cavalry.

The guard tramped up, and down his beat, so tired and sleepy that only the consciousness of duty made it possible for him to endure the physical strain, while far out from camp was a detail of pickets, that had been taken from each company as they halted, just before going into camp. Wet, tired, hungry and cold, and while their comrades were enjoying a supper and a few hours rest, they were marched over a mile to the front and placed on guard, or picket some six rods apart, with three men on a post to relieve each other every three hours. They were not allowed to build a fire, so they had to eat their hardtack and sow-belly uncooked. The hardtack was soaked by the continuous rain until it lay in their haver-sacks in flakes, and the soldier clawed it out with his cold wet hands and sliced off the raw pork to satisfy the cravings of his stomach; this being all he had to cheer his lonely watch through the long dreary night. Then there was still another post some forty rods in advance of the picket, called the vidette post, or out post and about the same distance from each other, made it the most dangerous and lonely post that ever fell to the lot of a soldier.

CHAPTER II

Now with this picture before us I would like to introduce to the reader one that occupies one of the vidette outposts, but will go back two years when our beloved country from city to remotest hamlet, was alive to the danger with which it was threatened and called to face one of the desperate struggles that ever fell to the lot of man.

In the town of Whiteplain, New York, thirty miles from the City of New York a young man only twenty years of age, who had just returned home on a vacation from college, caught the enthusiasm that seemed to penetrate every hamlet and nook of our once peaceable country.

When the train reached the station the first sound that caught his ear was the martial music that filled the air, as the fife and drum were heard and his fellow townsmen filed past the depot to take the departing train that would carry them to Washington, there to defend our capitol, against an enemy that had dared to haul down our flag at Fort Sumpter. The scene now presented was only one of the many thousands that were taking place all over the north, for north and south had divided and the great panorama spread out from east to west from north to south with one tumultuous throbbing that made the earth tremble and strong men weep, when wives, fathers, and mothers, brothers, sisters and sweethearts gathered around to bid good-bye to those that were dear to them.

The young man hitherto mentioned was tall and slender, with well chiseled face, large brown eyes, dark hair, a large mocking mouth and his complexion, owing to close confinement to study in the schoolroom for the past year, had become a shade or so lighter than was natural; his step was quick and firm. He was the only son of Judge Armstrong and had been reared in great luxury, having every wish gratified. His father, mother and sister of eighteen summers were at the depot awaiting his arrival, and to see the soldiers off. As he stepped from the train to the platform, he found a pair of arms around his neck and the kiss of a fond mother was imprinted on his lips, while the father grasped the son's hand with the utmost fervor, and the sister stood impatiently waiting to extend her greetings. It surely was a happy home-coming; a picture that the writer has not forgotten, although forty years have passed, it is as yesterday.

Judge Armstrong had a nephew that was a lieutenant in the infantry, a company that was stationed at Fort Hamilton on Long Island. He had come to the town of White Plain and recruited this company that had just gone to the front; one of the first volunteer regiments that left New York, and had remained behind to recruit another company.

Young Armstrong had witnessed the scenes before him, had caught the enthusiasm prevalent and was seeking his father's consent to enlist. "No, no, my son I cannot give my consent for this is only a riot. I know that you love your country, but I apprehend ah, more am satis-

HUMPING HEADACHES

Many Buchanan Women Have Them, But Few Know the Real Cause

Dull, thumping headaches, sick, prostrating headaches, dizzy, whirling, blind headaches. Point to disorders of the kidneys, tell of uric poisons in the blood. Nervegics may ease the pain but won't cure the cause. Doan's Kidney Pills cure the kidneys, remove uric poisons, purify the blood, banish headache, backache, urinary ills. Here's Buchanan testimony to prove it.

Mrs. Rachel Phillips, living on 2nd street near Atlas Belting Works, Buchanan, Mich., says: "I have been a great sufferer from backache and headache, dull miserable pains across the small of my back extending up into the back of the neck, accompanied by severe attacks of sick headache causing me days and nights of suffering. I suffered from these attacks for 25 years at least, and tried many remedies during that time, but none of them gave anything but temporary relief. A friend recommended Doan's Kidney Pills to me saying that he had been cured of a similar trouble, and advised me to give them a trial. I procured a box at W. N. Brodrick's drug store who also recommended them very highly, and began their use. Two boxes were sufficient to effect a cure, and I have got been troubled with the complaint since, and it gives me great pleasure to publicly endorse Doan's Kidney Pills as I know they will do all that is claimed for them."

The reports of the Boards of Control of the several hospitals and asylums for the Insane and Feeble minded show that there is an increased and increasing population at each of these institutions. This increase is not due to any marked increase in insanity among our people but to the growing population of the state and a growing tendency to send to asylums the unfortunates who have heretofore been cared for in the homes. It simply demonstrates that, as the state increases in population, provision must necessarily be made for caring for a greater number of unfortunates of all classes. It is a satisfactory and commendable fact that during each of the past two years a decrease has been made in the per capita cost of maintaining the inmates of each of the asylums of the state without in any way detracting from the care and comfort given those unfortunates.

L. O. O. F. HELD INITIATION

In Their Hall Thursday Evening, Taking 9 New Members into the Order

The Odd Fellows initiated nine new members into their organization Thursday night. The team from Glendora exemplified the initiatory work, which was done to much credit to themselves and their home order. There were about 153 present including the 40 visitors from Glendora, and the meeting was one long to be remembered.

After the initiatory work the gentlemen were joined by their wives and sweethearts, who enjoyed the banquet that followed. The tables were laid in the large and spacious room across from their hall, and they presented a more than pleasing appearance, being laden with all the good things imaginable to eat, which they all did ample justice to.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Steele furnished music on the phonograph during the banquet, which was also enjoyed by all.

Much credit is due to Messrs. Allen Helmick, James Conrad and Dr. L. P. Conkey, for the pleasant evening as they were the committee upon arrangements.

The happy crowd broke up in the wee hours of the morning, and a general good time is reported by all.

The second quarterly conference of the M. E. Church will be held at the home of Mrs. J. DeViney, Friday afternoon at 3:30.
