A FACTORY OF 54 MEN

Receiving a Weekly Pay of $700, Which we Lost and Dawner Grove Seized

Would fifty new families help Downers Grove? Would $700 a week distributed among fifty well paid men, help this town? If so, pick out the lot shown in the accompanying diagram which you are willing to buy and put your name down.

There are only thirty-three lots—not as many lots as there are new families coming to town with the Frank Holton & Co. band instrument factory.

To buy one of these lots and put a house on it would be about as good an investment as one could make.
Why? Because there is a strong demand for houses here. Last May 100 more houses could have been rented if they had been obtainable. What will it be next spring with this additional number of homeseekers

The following letter was received at this office, and we take pleasure in printing the same, thinking perhaps it will have some inducement to secure other factories for this village:

Chicago, Ill.,
Jan. 31, 1907

Mr. Mac C. Chamberlin,
Buchanan, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Talking with Mr. Frank Holton day before yesterday we learned that the Business Men of Buchanan want to secure the location of some factories there. You may not remember my visit but I was in Buchanan in May or June last and called at your newspaper office and talked with you and other men about town and received very little encouragement.

However, if your people are disposed to invest in responsible established factories we may be able to be of service to you.

Yours Very Truly,
L. D. Simpson.

Amid scenes of enthusiasm John E. Barnes was again chosen president of the Benton Harbor Development company at the annual meeting last evening. When the order of business came to the election of officers Judge Ellsworth was on his feet and proposed that John E. Barnes be continued in the office of president. Mr. Barnes began to talk. He managed to say that as he was out of business he did not know where fortune would take him the coming year, and that as he did not wish to retire from the business arena he would have many things to do. Somebody interrupted the speech of Mr. Barnes with a loud "second the motion," and before Mr. Barnes could get in another word the motion was carried by a rising vote. President Barnes then was given a chance.

"I came here fully resolved not to continue in this office," said he, "But your hearty enthusiasm has caused me to change my mind and I want to thank you for the honor. I want to say to you that I believe the Benton Harbor Development company has made an excellent showing with the funds placed in its hands and the question now is will the company stop or will there be more funds placed at its disposal. When people think that manufacturers are just waiting and anxious to come to Benton Harbor they are mistaken. While we have one of the best shipping points in the country, there are other towns with advantages and besides they have funds with which to encourage factories. We cannot keep in the race unless we have money to give." Loud applause followed the remarks of Mr. Barnes.

Next Hon. Rumpsey S. Gray was chosen secretary and Milton Hinkley spoke of the untiring work of Mr. Gray for the company and the city and that with no compensation compared with the service that had been rendered. With a rising vote of thanks the stockholders complimented the work of the secretary.

Then President Barnes, proposed that Mr. Morton, who had furnished a meeting place for the board for the past year, be remembered with thanks. And a rising vote followed. Mr. Morton replied, making a ringing speech and promising co operation in every movement for the enlargement of Benton Harbor and St. Joseph, which though two in name he believed were really one as a community

GROUND HOG SAW SHADOW

Cold Weather

For many years the ground hog has been considered the maker of the weather for the six weeks following the second day of February. Saturday he came forth from his hole and the sun was shining brightly, when of course he saw his shadow and returned to his den to remain six long weeks, which means that we are to have severe winter weather during that time.

This was the idea in a foreign country centuries ago and it has been handed down to the present generation and many now look upon it in good faith. In the woodlands of New England, however, when woodchucks were scarce and the black bears plentiful, the early settlers endowed the bear with this wisdom.

DEMOTT PROPOSES GENERAL DELIVERY

Already Several Niles Merchants Have Expressed a Desire for New Service

Harry A. DeMott, who conducts a boarding and feed stable on north Second street, has started a movement with a view to establishing general delivery of meats and groceries here, such as is successfully operated in Dowagiac and other nearby towns.

Mr. DeMott will put forth an effort to interest the leading grocers and market proprietors, and, if successful, will put on four outfits for delivery purposes. According to the contract which the proprietor of the general delivery service at Dowagiac enters into with the merchants there and which Mr. DeMott proposes to use here, four deliveries are made daily, and, aside from the trouble of maintaining their own delivery outfits, the merchants are freed from the annoyance of having people call up and ask to have goods delivered at unseemly hours, as the public soon becomes educated to the fact that, under the general delivery service, but four deliveries are made daily, which should satisfy anyone.—Niles Star.

FOUR INSANE CASES WITHIN ONE WEEK

Buchanan Lady Once Before an Inmate

Within the week Probate Judge Ellsworth has committed two persons to the Kalamazoo asylum, viz, Chas. A. Rowe, of Benton Harbor, and Wm. Hone, of St. Joseph and already two more cases are awaiting the court's disposition.

A petition has been filed by the husband of Mrs. Alma Ingleright of Buchanan, to have her adjudged insane and sent to Kalamazoo. The woman is about 80 years of age and has two children. About 13 years ago Mrs. Ingleright was an inmate of the asylum but improved and she was restored to her family. Drs. Curtis and Emmons, of Buchanan, will make the examination and hearing was to have been held, yesterday, but Mrs. Ingleright has come up missing, and with all the diligent search of the officials they have been unable to locate her.

INTERESTING LETTER

Edmond, Kansas,
Jan. 29, 1907.

Editor Record,
Buchanan, Mich.

Dear Sir:—

Enclosed please find money order for $1 00 as pay for the Record and Inter Ocean. This will pay for the Record to October-19 08 and my subscription expires today for the Inter Ocean. You see I have taken advantage of your very liberal offer of sending both one year for $1 00. This is indeed very cheap. The old Record has come to us regularly for over 21 years and is like a letter from my old Buchanan home.

I was interested in your last issue. I knew Mr. and Mrs. Godfrey in Buchanan, although not very much acquainted with them. I was glad to hear from them in their California home, and as Mrs. Godfrey wrote about the scarcity of snow there, I can say for north-west Kansas, that it is almost as much of a rarity here. The thermometer has not registered any zero weather here yet. I believe the coldest that I noticed was four degrees above zero and while we have had very little snow, the people are putting up nice ice 8 and 10 inches thick. I never saw as much fine skating in this country as there is this winter.

They had a fine wolf hunt a few miles south-east of us last week. There was 1000 men and boys that surrounded almost an entire township and in the evening as they came together they found that there were 13 wolves in the enclosure and they began to shoot and turned the dogs loose and only six of the 13 got away. Well, that was not much wolf to the man, but it was about as many as is generally killed where there is so many hunters. Wolves are quite plentiful in this country and besides the prairie wolf or coyote. There is getting to be quite a number of large gray wolves. They will carry off pigs, kill calves and sometimes will kill young colts.

Jack Rabbits are plentiful here. I shot one yesterday that looked almost as large as an ordinary sheep when it was running.

I was sorry to learn through the Record, of the demise of Ben Desenberg whose acquaintance I made while visiting at Buchanan. Certainly the town has lost a good and useful citizen.

I noticed some week ago a list of names of the oldest men in Buchanan furnished you by Mr. N. Hamilton. I knew almost all of them, and since that was published, Sanford Smith has passed away, and indeed many, yes very many in and around Buchanan have passed away since I left 21 years ago last August, and I miss them when I visit my old home.

Well I must close or you will knock the bottom out of the waste basket with this and never print it. My

Susa Armstrong's Mission OR One Night in the Enemy's Lines

By J. L. York

CHAPTER VII

On the day after this conversation with her parents, she went to Washington and presented herself at the White House and was rewarded for her efforts on the day of her arrival, for while she was waiting outside, the President came along. She not knowing him, asked him if he knew President Lincoln. He laughingly replied "he did not, but was probably as well acquainted with him as anyone." "Are you, says Susa, then please tell me how I may gain an interview with him. It is on important business and he is the only man on earth that can assist me." "Are you not a little partial to Uncle Abe," he said. "There are plenty of smart men here in Washington." "No, father says there is no one that can help us, but the President." "Who is your father, young lady?" "Judge Armstrong, of Whiteplains, N. Y.," answered Susa. "Indeed I have met your father, my dear young lady, but come along with me and I will show you the President." "Oh, will you? How good you are; I shall ever be grateful to you for this kindness." "Oh, never mind such a small favor!"

Miss Armstrong followed the tall raw boned man through a large hall into the President's private room. He seated her then sat down on a seat opposite and with a twinkle in his eyes says, "Now look at the President for I am Mr. Lincoln, my child, and tell me as hurriedly as you can what I can do for you." She drew from her portemanteau the papers her father had received from headquarters; the President glanced them over and said, "my child there is no help for your friend, for he is already executed." "Oh, no dear President, he was taken prisoner and also my brother." She explained to him all the particulars, which have hitherto been related and as the tears ran down her pale cheeks, the President took her hand and said, with his eyes full of tears. "My child, these are terrible some times and many sorrows fill our hearts, but cheer up; I will pardon William Townsend." "God be praised," exclaimed Susa. The President took the papers she had handed him, and shortly handed her William's pardon. "I will notify General Mead now," says the President. "But how is your friend going to become acquainted with this fact, that his pardon is granted." "Would it be asking too much of you" to give me a pass through the lines. I could then get to Richmond and by some means get word to William and James."

He said he would give her a pass and soon had one ready for her, but that it would have to have General Mead's signature and if she would give him her address he would send her the pass in due time. "But, Miss Armstrong do you know what dangers and hardships you are about to encounter?" "No, replied Susa, I do not, but provide me with the proper means and God will open the way." So when Lincoln sent the pass to her he also sent her a rough sketch of the country through which she would have to pass and added on the pass, "Trust in God in every time of need."

The pass read as follows: "Please pass the bearer through the Union lines. She is the bearer of a pardon for one William Townsend; Co. H, 14th, N. Y. Zouaves Volunteers, who was condemned to die for sleeping at his post, Dec 22, 1863, but on the morning of Dec 23, 1863, was taken prisoner with his company, in command of Capt. Armstrong."

By order of Major General Mead, commanding the army of the Potomac head-quarters, Warrenton Junction (Abraham Lincoln, Pres of the U. S. Washington D. C.
Signed on January 15, 1864

We will now leave our heroine and return to Whiteplains, N. Y. in the year of 1865, where there was a grand masquerade ball given in honor of the returned soldiers. Merry Christmas! Merry Christmas! rang out on every side as friends met and interchanged greetings. The ball room was decorated with worn and torn battle-flags and relics of the war and was brilliantly lighted with chandeliers and side-lamps, decorated with red, white and blue bunting. It did indeed present a picture of grandeur.

As the young men and maidens waltzed up and down the long hall, keeping time with the music, life seemed composed of perfect happiness and bliss. Following the first dance was the masquerade and the figures as they passed by were nearly all unrecognizable. A fine looking couple stood at the end of the hall, not taking part with the dancers, but chatting with a young looking man that had but one arm; his right arm being off close at the shoulder. A stranger a man of lofty bearing stepped up to Judge Armstrong and asked, "Is this Judge Armstrong?" "It is, replied the Judge and whom have I the pleasure of meeting? I see you are a stranger among us." The gentleman says, "My name is John J. Barrett, Atty. at law of Richmond, Va.," handing the Judge his card.

The Judge shook hands with Mr. Barrett and introduced him to Mrs. Armstrong. She introduced him to Mrs. Townsend, and while they were chatting together the old Squire joined them and their conversation took the most natural channel. The Squire asked, "How long have you been a resident of Richmond?" "Only for the past two weeks. I was there on business and as the Union army closed in nearer and nearer to the capitol of the Confederacy, it kept me there longer than I had intended to stay. My former home was at Syracuse, N. Y., that was my birth place." Just as he had finished this sentence, he asked, "Who is that fine looking couple standing at the opposite end of the hall talking with that one armed man?" "That tall gentleman with the lady is Squire Townsend's son, William, and the lady is, ahem, ahem, my daughter Susan. The man with one arm is my son, Captain Armstrong." "Indeed," remarked Mr. Barrett. "Come along, says the Judge, and I will introduce you to our young folks." So saying they moved to the other end of the hall where the subjects of their conversation were standing. The Judge presented daughter, also to William Townsend. The young folks cordially acknowledged the introduction, but Susa blushed crimson as she held out her hand. The lawyer took her hand and bowing very low says, to Captain Armstrong, "This young lady is an old acquaintance of mine. I first met her under an assumed name and in disguise." Oh, said Miss Armstrong, "Don't mention it, Mr. Barrett or I shall faint." But it was to late the secret was already disclosed. Later on in our narrative we will introduce to our readers our hero and heroine, as they appeared when they first met in Dixie in 1864.

OFFICE FEES NET LARGE SUM

County Clerk Miners Turns Over Extraordinary Sum to Treasurer

Thursday County Clerk Miners turned over to County Treasurer Schultz $3,391, the amount representing the total sum of fees, fines and costs, jury fees and entry fees collected by the county clerk and his deputies for the month which ended Wednesday. The amount is extraordinary inasmuch as it is the largest sum of money ever collected at the clerk's office for one month. The county clerk is clerk of the circuit court and the fines and costs of all criminal cases, together with the jury and entry fees in the various civil cases are always paid at the clerk's office. Besides the many civil suits which have been disposed of during the month and which helped swell the above amount the fines imposed upon the violators indicted by the grand jury amounted to a large sum. With but few exceptions these fines were promptly paid by the saloonists and gamblers, making the clerk's collections better than they have ever been.

A NEW BOOK

ENTITLED
A JOURNEY TO THE HOLY LAND

AND
Countries and of the Mediterranean

Has just been published by the son of the late
REV. JOSEPH F. BARTMESS
Who visited the Orient on the steamship New England which sailed from Boston, February 1, 1900.

The book is edited from Rev. Bartmess' diary notes which were written by him while visiting the various points of note on this interesting trip. The book treats of the ocean voyage, incidents of travel, and places visited, among which are the following: Isle of Madeira, Gibraltar, Algiers, Isle of Malta, Valetta, Citta Vecchia, Alexandria, Cairo, The Pyramids, Jaffa, Jerusalem, Jericho, Jordan, Dead Sea, Bethlehem, Bethany, Caifa, Mt. Carmel, Nazareth, Galilee, Beyrout, Smyrna, Cypress, Rhodes, Constantinople, Piraeus, Athens, Naples, Pompeii, Rome, Transcontinental trip via Florence, Paris, London, to Liverpool, and homeward voyage via Halifax, Portland, Boston and New York.

The book is duodecimo in size, printed in small picas on best quality paper, bound in English cloth, with gilt top, and title displayed in gilt on back and side. The subject matter comprises 133 pages, including the preface, biographical sketch, and an excellent half-tone portrait of Rev. Bartmess.

There are only a limited number of copies published. Price of single copies $1.50. Anyone sending $18, the price of one dozen copies, will receive an extra copy gratis. Remittances may be made by Post Office Money Order, Express Money Order, or draft on New York. Books will be promptly forwarded by mail or express. Remittances should accompany all orders and should be sent direct to Edward A. Bartmess, 44 Pine St., Yonkers, New York.

The publishing of this book is not a business enterprise. The editor, son of Rev. Bartmess, is selling the book at less than cost. In his preface he says, "One day while reading from two small memoranda books which my father used on his trip to the Holy Land, it occurred to me to publish his notes in book form, believing that his relatives, many old friends, and others interested in foreign travel, would find pleasure in possessing his own daily record of the trip." In the closing paragraph he further states, "If the reader of this volume, besides gaining a little knowledge derives only a small portion of the pleasure in its perusal that has come to me in the preparation of its pages, I shall be sincerely grateful. If, in the homes of my father's friends and others, this book becomes the unweaving of a tablet to his memory, it shall accomplish that where unto it is sent."

short "Beer" as the case might have been. It is to be presumed that he took his Beers straight. Had it been in Berrien County he might have had to sneak up to the back door, rap three short distinct raps then wait a minute and rap twice more, when the beer would be handed out to him. However he might have gone into a drug store and had his Beer handed out to him as medicine, for an illness—Lovesickness.

 Friday night the McCabe class accepted the invitation of Aloza Richards, a former member of the class and enjoyed a jolly sleighride to her home in Berrien Springs. After purchasing Perrien's entire stock of horns, they returned to the house to lay siege to the oyster supper awaiting them. The evening passed quickly in a social way, and the load left for home, thanking their hostess for the pleasant evening, and truly wishing that all the members could have enjoyed the good time with them.

 Dr. E. S. Dodd, while walking home from his drug store last Friday night had the misfortune to slip in the snow, and fell striking on his face, rendering him unconscious. He was picked up by some one passing by, and taken to his home on Day's Avenue. He is still confined to his home and it will perhaps be some time before he will be able to be out again.
 The Ladies of the West Front street neighborhood gathered at the home of Mrs. Lucy Beardley last Friday to perpetrate a surprise upon her, the occasion being her birthday. The crowd gathered early in the morning, and passed a most delightful day. A bounteous dinner was served. Late in the afternoon the guests departed, wishing Mrs. Beardley many more happy birthday festivities.
 Mr. N. J. Slater, one of Buchanan's highest esteemed men, died Monday afternoon at 4 o'clock after only a few days' illness with pneumonia. He was taken seriously ill on Saturday, and kept constantly getting worse. Mr. Slater was 79 years of age, and leaves to mourn his demise his wife, two daughters and one son. The funeral services will be held from the late home Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. Chas. Shook will officiate. Interment in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Mr. Barnhart desires to refute the statement which appeared last week in the News-Palladium of Benton Harbor, and in the Niles Daily Sun to the effect that 18 Battle Creek girls would displace the Buchanan girls, who are working for the Three "B" Duster Co., because the latter would not observe the Sabbath nor work on Sunday. He holds that this is a free country and that each of us has a right to our own religion so long as it does not interfere with our neighbor, and further, that to discharge an employe because she refuses to work on Sunday, would be a gross violation of the principals of religious liberty. The reason for "importing" help is that it is utterly impossible to secure enough girls in Buchanan as the feather duster business has increased about 50 per cent in the last eighteen months.

 When a man is dead and buried, the general public soon forgets that he ever lived.
 A twentieth century merchant might just as well try to create business by hiring a sandwich-man to parade the silent aisles of a cemetery at midnight as by trusting to a dust-en crusted show window, littered with badly painted and wonderously spelled signs, to attract customers.
