PATRONIZE HOME TRADE

The Great Danger to Local Interests
That Are Found in the Mail-Order
Systems—Educate the Public.

(Copyrighted, 1906, by Alfred C. Clark)

Why should we trade at home? Why should we consider home in any way more than any other place unless it pays us financially? First, because it is our home. The pride we should take in the prosperity of our home town and our neighbors should be sufficient inducement to give them the preference. Second, because beyond all doubt or question, it pays from a money point.

The greatest menace to the country merchant to-day is the mail order business, and with the decline of the country merchant comes inevitable loss to the citizens of both town and country. What at first was considered a great convenience and an exhibition of commendable enterprise has grown to be one of the crying commercial evils. The success of the mail order house is the result of constant, extensive and intelligent advertising. It is not by persistent swindling as some tell us, for no business was ever built up in that way. The home merchant can do no better than to adopt the same method, the judicious use of printer's ink.

While the merchants are the heaviest immediate losers, and could do much toward checking and correcting this growing evil, by liberal advertising and publishing prices, they should not be expected to do it all. Every newspaper should preach home trade, every teacher should instill it into his pupils in the school room, every minister should preach it from the pulpit. The debating societies and political conventions should discuss it. The interests of town and country and newspaper and church, and society generally, are so interwoven and so identical that whatever injures one will eventually injure all. When the merchants are compelled to bring on smaller stocks, and employ less help, and pay cheaper rent, they are not alone the sufferers; the whole community feels the loss. The price of real estate is largely dependent on its proximity to a good town. Rents are dependent on the amount of business. The merchant can move to some other town and establish himself again more readily than can the professional man and many others who have built up business through years of acquaintanceship and establishment of character. If the farmer, or property owner in town, want to sell out they are the greatest sufferers—they can't move their property to some place where people are booming their town and country by patronizing home.

The remedy lies in education and publicity. In many places that education will come through bitter experience, but, in other communities, where they are quicker to detect the approaching evil, and heed more readily the warnings of the press and friends of home, they may correct the evil more readily.

Wealth and power are corrupting influences and the mail order houses are probably not sending out as honest goods as they once did. They have learned the tricks of imitation and substitution and how easy it is to deceive the public. But, if the mail order man is honest, and his methods of advertising legitimate in every way, his success is of no interest to us and will never benefit our community in the slightest degree. If crops should fail or sickness render us short of money we could not expect him to trust us for a dollar—we must always look to the home merchant for credit in times of adversity.

Who is to blame? The mail order house? Not in the least. We alone are to blame. The near-sighted merchant who has lost trade by not acquainting the community with what he has to sell and with the fact that people could obtain at home, where they could personally examine them and return them if defective in any way, goods at as low a price as any catalogue house can sell them, every man and woman is to blame who sends away for goods; and everyone who fails to raise his voice in favor of home trade. The editor holds the most responsible position and should be the leader in this movement.

The remedy has been outlined in a general way. We will suggest the first steps. Let merchants buy at home—they cannot consistently ask others to trade with them when they do not patronize their brothers in trade. The editors should patronize home, and refuse foreign advertising for lines of goods in competition with the home merchant. The editor deserves more credit than he receives. Many a well-to-do farmer or city man would think himself perfectly justified in sending away for all his groceries and clothing if he thought he could save ten dollars thereby on a year's purchases, but most editors forfeit many times that much every year by refusing advertising from distant firms in the same lines of business as his home merchants; and sometimes the home merchant even then declines to advertise.

Trade-at-home clubs might be organized, with mottos something like "Club," or "I Patronize the Home Merchants," or "I Buy Nothing from Mail Order Houses," for members to display. The acceptance and displaying of such a card might constitute a person a member.

Much of the trading away from home is due to thoughtlessness and ignorance of business principles. Many persons consider only the first cost; if they save 25 cents on a ten-dollar order by buying from a mail order house they consider that clear gain. They should be shown that a merchant and his family living in their midst, keeps up a house, pays taxes, adds to the social features, contributes generously towards public enterprises, etc. If by buying at home their town gives support to several more local merchants, creating a better home market, they get back a liberal percentage. Every man and woman takes more or less pride in local affairs and is willing to contribute something toward home improvements, if the matter is fairly presented. That is why I say the remedy lies in education.

Most mail order houses claim they are enabled to sell cheaper than country dealers because they buy in larger quantities and get especially low prices. This is often a base misstatement of facts; let me cite an instance: A stock man from eastern Washington was visiting in Kansas City. One morning, walking with his nephew, who was a clerk in a leading wholesale hardware house, he asked where Bland & Co.'s store was located. "Don't think I ever heard of them," replied the young man. "O, yes, I do remember the firm; they have no store, they have an office in (giving the name of the building), but I don't see how they can sell hardware as low as your home merchants, for while we sell them goods at less than retail price, we don't give them as low prices as regular dealers, because they buy in such small quantities, just as they get orders." The stockman was greatly surprised, he supposed he had been dealing with one of the largest firms in the city.

The mail order business has developed so slowly, and works so quietly that few persons realize the magnitude it has assumed nor to what extent it is now sapping the life-blood of many small cities and towns. Even now we hear the excuse given for sending away for goods, that the merchants carry such poor stocks. The wonder is that they carry any.

MASS. MEETING

Tax Payers and Citizens

All Citizens and Tax Payers of the Village of Buchanan are respectfully urged to attend a Mass Meeting at Rough's Opera House, Monday evening, February 25, at 7:30 o'clock.

Called by C. F. PEARS,

PRESIDENT OF VILLAGE

Are you operating the tread mill to pour the wealth of your community into the bottomless hoppers of the mail-order house? Are you driving your local merchants out of business? If you are you are killing your town and your own interests.

PREPARE NEW STATE COMMISSION

Bill Formed to Conform With Certain Features of Interstate Act

A bill for the creation of a state railroad commission will be introduced and passed in the present legislature. There is no authority vested in the interstate commerce commission to regulate over railroad traffic rates and conditions entirely within one state. The bill is drawn on the recent interstate act of congress, but is somewhat broader. Its salient features are:

The abolition of the railroad commissioner.

The appointment of a non-partisan commission of three men, each acquainted with some phase of the railroad problem.

The prohibition of rebates and discriminations.

The giving to this commission power to fix rates, hear complaints and make investigations.

The vesting in this commission all powers formerly belonging to the railroad commissioner, and other various so-called railroad boards.

The giving to the commission of power to make demurrage rules, and investigate accidents.

The right of appeal to the courts from the orders of the commission.

FULLER PROPERTY IN DISPUTE

Children of Joseph Fuller
Fight to Have Will Set Aside

The will of the late Joseph Fuller, formerly a resident of this city, has been entered in the probate court of Berrien county for probate, the hearing being set for Monday, Feb. 25.

Mr. Fuller owned 200 acres of land in Buchanan, estimated to be worth from $15,000 to $18,000. He also was the owner of personal property valued at $5,000. The will provides 80 acres to his daughter, Mrs. Mary Burgoyne of Chicago, and before his death he deeded her 40 acres of the 200, leaving the balance, 80 acres, to be divided among the nine surviving children.

Joseph W. Fuller, George E. Fuller, Annie Boyle, Chas. Fuller, Hamlin Fuller, Ida Churchill and Adelaide King, have entered a bill of complaint, alleging that undue influence was brought to bear on their father by Mrs. Burgoyne, their sister, and have prayed for an injunction to prevent the execution of the will. A temporary injunction has been granted by Judge Coolidge, pending the hearing of the case.

They claim the father lived with their sister and was unduly influenced to acknowledge himself incompetent for years.

The children want the property divided evenly.

Bryan in Benton Harbor

William Jennings Bryan arrived in Benton Harbor over the Pere Marquette yesterday morning, where he is booked to lecture at the opera house. The distinguished orator was met at the station by a delegation of the city's prominent citizens and escorted to Hotel Benton. An informal non-partisan reception was tendered him in the afternoon.

Niles Federal Building

The proposed new federal building at Niles may not be realized this year. Owing to numerous buildings under way and trouble over sites Niles cannot hope to have the building erected early. Inspector Low of Washington, has defined the law on appropriations, which says: "No money can be expended by the treasury department till after the site is selected and the title approved." The secretary of the treasury makes the selection of a site, whereupon he notifies the department of justice, and the district attorney examines the title; which must be approved by the attorney general before the land can be paid for. After the site is purchased, the department begins to pay for drawings on the buildings. The next step is to advertise for bids and advertisements are inserted in the local papers and in trade journals. After the contract is let and the work commenced, a superintendent is sent by the department to see that the work conforms with specifications and about once a month an inspector comes around to see that he is doing his duty.

BOUNDARY LINE CAUSES HOWL

Citizens of Benton Harbor Displeased with Hasty Action of Council

Mayor Morrow of Benton Harbor is in a quandary over the new act passed a la express-speed by the council of that city, calling for a change in the boundary lines of the first and second wards.

The population of the city's four wards, according to the federal census of 1900 was: First, 1,017; second, 2,206; third, 1,700; fourth, 1,639. The strip of territory which the council's measure provides is to take from the second and attach to the first ward 180 voters, which with the 255 voters already in the first ward would give the new first ward 435 voters; the new second ward would have 420 voters, about the same number as the third ward, and the fourth ward would be the largest one in the city with 455 voters, and the first ward the second largest.

Mayor Morrow has expressed himself in favor of the new measure, but fears he may have to veto it in order to allow the voters to show their sentiment. Many have denounced the council's action as unfair and hasty. On the other hand there are some who think the new change a good one and are, accordingly, working to get the mayor to allow it to stand.

Wanted—A Business Men's Council

In a few days, candidates for village president and council will be nominated.

And then Buchanan's future will depend upon the quality of the men elected.

It's not a question of whether they are Republicans or Democrats. The issues at stake are of more concern to the village's future than matters outside of our municipal boundary lines.

Now, what kind of MEN do you want elected to the council? Do you want men who will deliberately halt Buchanan's future growth, commercially and industrially.

Or, do you want a council of business men, regardless of political affiliations, who will unhesitatingly run the village's affairs upon sound and modern business principles?

IT'S UP TO YOU.

Your vote will answer these questions.

There are some men afflicted with "fossilism"—men who can't stand for Buchanan getting what it OUGHT to have. These men are in the minority, however. But even they must learn to set aside selfishness, and work heart and soul for "better Buchanan"—better from the standpoint of more factories and increased population.

You will have ample time between now and election day to study seriously the candidates with whom you can safely intrust Buchanan's future.

BUT don't overlook this important point, for if you vote for the wrong men, Buchanan will drag along turtle-fashion for some years to come.

Sober and thoughtful thinking now will eliminate grumblings in the future.

The most IMPORTANT question that has affected our village's commercial health for years past is, "Shall we have more factories, and how best to secure them?"

Look back and sum up the net results of the council's work during those past years. Ask yourself "What has it done for Buchanan?"

You must answer that with your VOTE.

Get the candidates to pledge themselves to carry out the will of the voters. Then if they are caught napping the RECORD will help send them to the political junk.

Now, all together—MORE FACTORIES!

Village Canvass

The Republican Village Canvass will be held in Rough's Opera House on Tuesday evening, March 4th at 7:30 o'clock for the purpose of placing in nomination candidates for the village officers to be elected March 11th and for such other business as may come before it.

Elks Banqueted at Niles

A delegation of eight prominent Buchanan citizens, Messrs. H. O. Weaver, Dr. L. E. Peck, Dr. Garland, W. J. Miller, Harry Howe, M. L. Hanlin, Geo. B. Richards and Wm. Engles went to Niles and were feted and lionized by the Dowagiac Lodge of Elks. Twenty candidates were taken in of which four took the work. Other Elks from Cassopolis, Galien and Three Oaks were represented. A fine program was arranged, after which the fawns partook of an elaborate banquet. All were enthusiastic over the grand time had.

Good Roads Suggestion

At a meeting of the highway commissioners held in the board of supervisors' room at the court house Wednesday afternoon, State Deputy Frank F. Rogers, of Lansing, made some valuable good roads plans. He suggested the adoption of the county road system by Berrien county as it would further the cause of good roads in every township.

The plan proposed by the state deputy is one that has been adopted by many counties of the state. By the county road system a commission of from three to five men is created and the exclusive business of this commission is to work for the interest of good roads in every section of the county. The commission has the right to build and improve roads whenever most needed. The commission is free from petty influences and works for the betterment of good roads. There were a number of farmers at the meeting and at the conclusion of State Deputy Rogers' remarks, they gave him their stamp of hearty approval. It is quite certain that a movement will be started to submit the county road system to the voters for adoption.

Court to Resume Monday

The circuit court will resume its sessions Monday for the trying of criminal cases, and the deferred work of the jury will be taken up at that time. County Prosecutor White's prolonged illness is responsible for the delayed cases. He is now recovering and it is expected to find him ready with his regular duties next week.

Will Not Rebuild Mill

Later reports from Niles say that the big flour mill which was destroyed by fire Tuesday morning, may not be rebuilt. The loss was correctly estimated at $80,000 and was insured for only $25,000. Niles broods heavily over this big loss as the mill was one of its best manufacturing enterprises.

Obituary

JENNIE M. VITE

Jennie M. Vite, nee Tremmel, was born in Cass County, Mich., August 22, 1864 and died at her home in Warren Township, Ind., after a lingering illness with diabetes, Feb. 16, 1907, aged 42 years, 5 months and 25 days.

She was the youngest daughter of Jacob and Martha Tremmel. She is survived by her husband, John C. Vite, one son and one daughter, three sisters and one brother.

Mrs. Vite was extensively and favorably known in Buchanan and vicinity and her departure has caused widespread sorrow. As a friend and neighbor she was everywhere cherished and loved. She was to the end of her earthly life as true to the friends of her girlhood days as to the friends of recent acquaintance. Her greatest interest centered, however, in her home which she sought by love and pleasant surroundings, to make the best place on earth for her husband and children. They above all others will miss her.

The funeral services were held from the Evangelical church at Portage Prairie on Monday forenoon, Feb. 18, 1907 and were very largely attended. Rev. J. A. Halmhuber of Buchanan officiated, assisted by Rev. D. O. Ruth of Portage Prairie. Interment was made in the Evangelical cemetery at Portage Prairie.

BENTON HARBOR

Joseph Omweg brought in the first maple sugar yesterday.

One of our doctors says there is more sickness now than at any previous time for 15 years.

Rev. M. A. Hoffman has returned from Chicago.

Tuesday morning the Big 4 train that leaves here at 7:30, jumped the track near Fairland, but no damage resulted.

Miss Edith Storm gave a Valentine party to the Phi Delta Sigma club last week.

Deputy Sheriff Rodney Pearl is improving rapidly and will soon come home from Chicago.

Our postmaster's wife, Mrs. John T. Owen has been seriously ill with pneumonia.

Another Benton Harborite has invented something. Walter Gilson has applied for a patent on a device for making trunk trays.

Last Saturday's issue of the News Palladium consisted of fourteen pages, six of which were devoted to an exhaustive write-up of Berrien Springs.

Last Friday afternoon the college students were treated to a view through the big telescope of the sun spots which at present are unusually large and active.

Ernest C. Wills, formerly a teacher in our schools, has been appointed chief deputy to the new railroad commissioner at a salary of $1000 per year.

The mayor and council are considering the advisability of changing the lines between the first and second wards so as to equalize the voting population, the former now having 255 voters and the latter about 600.

Our doctors are divided on the proposed whiskers bill. Six think that physicians should be compelled to keep smooth shaven, while eighteen maintain that personal liberty should not be interfered with.

Higher salaries elsewhere frequently draw our teachers away. The latest is Miss Christine Pinney who will soon leave for St. Paul, Minn. Her place here will be filled by Miss Nina Waters who has been the cashier at Miles' shoe store.

Two lively games of basket ball were played at the Armory last Friday night. The Naval Reserves and High School boys tied 14 to 14. The game between the Berrien Springs girls and our Independents, was hotly contested and closed in favor of the former, 22 to 19.

The first casting at the new Covell foundry was done last Monday; about four tons being the result. They are beginning in a small way, but will increase rapidly as more men and machines arrive. Five carloads of pig iron are here and another consignment is enroute. This is but a hint of what it will be in the near future.

Weaver served a four-course luncheon after which all departed for their different homes, wishing her many more pleasant visits.

Ross Bronley and wife of New Carlisle, visited the former's parents over Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sarver entertained, at dinner last Sunday, Mr. Edward Seabast and family of the Prairie, Mr. Will Fette and wife, Mr. Lou Mathews and Miss Emma Richter of this place.

POSITIVE PROOF

Should Convince the Greatest Skeptic in Buchanan

Because it's the evidence of a Buchanan citizen. Testimony easily investigated. The strongest endorsement of merit. The best proof. Read it:

Wilbur J. Killner, carpenter, living at south end of Detroit street, Durand, Mich., says: "For many years I suffered from kidney troubles, backache and headache. The headaches were more severe than my backache and would prevent me from doing my work. Backache, however, at times was very severe, and the sharp shooting pains that would strike me when I bent over or moved suddenly made me sick, and a dull aching pain would keep me awake at nights, and it soon began to tell seriously on my general health. I suffered from sick headache, and the pains in my head would be most excruciating, and I would be several days recovering from one of these attacks. I tried all kinds of remedies, also consulted doctors, but I never received any relief, until I tried Doan's Kidney Pills which were recommended to me by a friend who had used them for the same complaint with the most beneficial results. I procured a box at W. N. Broderick's Drug Store and began taking them, and I noticed immediate improvement, and which continued until I was completely cured, and I have not had one of my old attacks since. I do not hesitate to say that I believe Doan's Kidney Pills are exactly as represented, and would advise anyone who is suffering from kidney trouble in any of its forms to give them a trial."

For sale by all dealers, price 50c. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y. Sole Agents for the United States. Remember the name Doan's and take no other.

PREPARE THIS YOURSELF

For those who have and form of blood disorders; who want new, rich blood and plenty of it, try this:

Fluid Extract Dandelion, one half ounce; Compound Kargon, one ounce; Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla, three ounces.

Shake well in a bottle and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and at bedtime. Any good pharmacy can supply the ingredients at small cost.

This is the prescription which, when made up, is called "The Vegetable Treatment;" by others, the "Cyclone Blood Purifier." It acts gently and certainly does wonders for some people who are sickly, weak and out of sorts, and is known to relieve serious, long-standing cases of rheumatism and chronic backache quickly. Make some up and try it.

Susie Armstrong's Mission

OR

One Night in the Enemy's Lines

By J. I. YORK

CHAPTER XII

On the morning following the night that Miss Armstrong went through the enemy's lines, an elderly lady had appeared at U. S. Grant's headquarters. She was old and seemed quite feeble, though stout built, and requested U. S. Grant to put a safe guard at her house, that stood north of Petersburg, Va., just between the two armies. She told the General how the Union men were stealing all her chickens, milking her cows, and committing many more depredations. As Old Mose happened to be at Headquarters Grant called him and said, "See here Cuffy fix up something for this old lady to eat; give her a good breakfast." "All right Massa Grant. Cong 'long wid me dear old aunty and Cuffy will gibe you the bestest breakfast you eber had sence these here Yankees hab been making ob themselves so fresh," pointing toward U. S. Grant's department. The old lady suddenly dropped her voice and said, "Don't bother about getting anything for me to eat, but let us set down here and chat a little. Now Cuffy where did you come from?" "Ise bawn in Fredricksburg; Ise old Jone's nigger and when the Yanks took Fredricksburg they just confiscated Old Cuffy and burned Massa Jone's house and made him jine the Union forces, and if eber you see a woman cry as did Missy Jone, for she was sent north to be a slabe for the Yankees." "You don't say so," says the old lady, taking from her pocket a clay pipe, filling and lighting the same. "I do wonder how many troops these here Yankees have in front of Petersburg." "Dan know, but one thing I does know and dat am dis; General Grant am 'bout ter stir up Massa Lee and make a move (letting his voice fall to a whisper) crost de James river, case last night he had heaps ob officers come to the tent and I heard ebbery word and knows fer suh that tomorrow night he am going to leave Petersburg and put his army acrost the James river, fer just look down dar and see dem government wagons. Dem am the commissary dat carries grub fer de army. Dey am on the move now." The old lady became quite interested and eagerly questioned, "Cannot you get me a skeleton form of your General's plans?" "Don't call him my Ginerel, Ginerel Lee am my Ginerel. But I dun can't get ober dar whar he am, fer dey jist watch dis darky's ebbery move." "Would you like to go over to Lee's army?" "Now Aunty you am talking sense." "Well, then you shall; here is a pass from General Lee; all you have to do is to get permission to accompany me back to my home," at the same time handing him the pass and some Confederate script. "Old Cuffy rolled up his eyes and says, "Am your dun suh dat I kin git through the enemy's lines, by dis here pass," eyeing it closely as if he could read, and counting the Confederate bills she had given him. "Now says the old lady come to think the matter over, you had not better go home with me, but come along sometime tomorrow; then if you want to go to Lee, I will take you to him." "Do you know Massa Lee?" "Oh, yes and Hill and all the southern officers in this part of Virginia." "Spose Massa Lee would gib Old Cuffy a chance to cook at headquarters?" "Oh, I don't know that, but he would give you something of that sort, but I must be going; that General did not say whether he would give me a safeguard or not." "No, says Cuffy, but Ise deen sartin dat he don't, 'case I tol youns he is goin to dun quit dis here place an move on to Richmond. You might ax im once more, but don't tol im I sez nuffin." The old lady went back to the General's department, but he was not in and one of the orderlys seated her. While she was waiting for the General, the orderly stepped outside of the tent and she arose quite hurriedly and went to the camp-table where lay some of U. S. Grant's private papers; glancing over them in great haste she at last selected one and put it in her bosom. But, alas, she did not know that a trap had been laid for her, nor that the General and Cuffy were in league against her. Neither did she know that the General had heard all the conversation she had had with Cuffy. In about a half hour the General returned to his apartments and there sat the old lady fast asleep. The General awoke her very gently and says, "My dear Madam you had better go home. I will think the matter over and let you know in a day or two." She thanked him and he bowed her out and closed the tent. Grant went at once to the table where lay his papers; and saw that she had indeed taken the very one he had prepared for her.

The old lady had not gone over a mile from headquarters when two cavalry men stopped her and demanded a pass. She said she had none; had just come from Grant's headquarters and the General was going to send her a safeguard to protect her home just outside the Union lines, for she was a Unionist and was entitled to protection. "But says the Cavalry Sergeant you must have a pass signed by Grant or Mead, as you are outside the Union lines. If you have none we must take you back to General Grant's headquarters; and if what you say be true, no doubt the General will give you a pass." "But protested the old lady, I am too tired and feeble to walk that distance over again. If I had needed a pass your General would have insisted on seeing it when I was there, but U. S. Grant is a gentleman and has respect for old age; he gave me my breakfast and showed me the greatest respect." "Well, well," replies the cavalry officer getting off from his horse, "We will have to obey orders and you must return to headquarters. I will help you on my horse and you can ride back with us." "But," she says, (bursting into tears) "I am so afraid of horses. The officer stooped to help her on the horse, but in an instant she had knocked him flat to the ground and had drawn a revolver on the other man on the horse. At this instant she was grabbed from behind, bound, disarmed, placed on one of the horses and soon safely deposited in the General's headquarters. She was ordered to be searched and on looking around saw Cuffy and motioned for him to come to her.

While the officers were not looking she handed him a package of papers and says, "Take them to General Hill's headquarters and tell him what you see them do to me." Cuffy took them and went out as if nothing had happened and gave them to General Grant. The old lady was thoroughly searched; they found on her person all manner of information regarding the movements of the army and under her outer garments was a Rebel uniform; the old lady proved to be a man in disguise and Old Mose was the first to detect it and had by Grant's consent and co-operation "landed their 'fish.'" (The reader understands that Old Mose and Cuffy are one and the same.) He had now a pass to go through the enemy's lines and carry a message to the Confederate General Hill and did not neglect to use it. The old darky had just arrived there as Miss Armstrong was called to appear before General Hill.

TEACHERS TO MEET

The Teachers' Institute and Berrien County Teachers' Association

An excellent program has been arranged for a teachers meeting to be held in the Methodist church at St. Joseph. Talent of a high class character has been secured by the association, which promises to make the meeting worth attending.

Some of the important subjects included on the program are "The Influence of Geography on American History," "The Use of Maps," and "An Unknown Patriot."

Hon. H. R. Pattengill and other prominent officials of the state and county educational departments will attend. Good music and other entertaining features will be interspersed.

"Mr. Hopkinson"

R. C. Carton's farce, "Mr. Hopkinson," now playing to packed audiences at the Grand Opera House, Chicago, has proved to be one of the most delightful dramatic treats of the season. Dallas Welford is by far the best actor that has ever come to this country from England and the company on the whole has been received by the critics of Chicago as being without doubt the best one ever assembled for not only a play of this kind but for any kind of a production.

Read what some of Chicago's best known critics say of "Mr. Hopkinson." W. L. Hubbard of the Tribune says: "If you wish to enjoy a good, hearty laugh, see 'Mr. Hopkinson' at the Grand Opera House. It is the farce by R. C. Carton which has kept London amused for two years and which last season performed the same kind office for New York. The audience sat keenly alert for fully three hours and received the performance with the chuckles, the broad grins, the roars of laughter which mean success for any farce."

Joseph McArdle in the Chronicle writes: "Mr. Hopkinson," as presented at the Grand Opera House last evening, is one of the agreeable comedy surprises of the present season. It is the work of R. C. Carton, who is responsible for 'Lord and Lady Algy,' 'Liberty Hall' and many other successes, but in many respects this latest farce to reach us is even more enjoyable than others that have preceded it from British sources.

Burns Mantle in the Inter-Ocean says: "That the joy 'Mr. Hopkinson' and Dallas Welford, its leading actor created, was unusual to contemplation; and further adds that 'Hoppy' should be happy over his success both for what it was and for what it promises."

An Encouragement

In sending her subscription to the Record, Mrs. Adah Weaver of Do- wagiac, wrote the following compliment- mentary remark, "I can't keep house without the Record."
