Susie Armstrong's Mission

OR
One Night in the Enemy's Line
By J. I. YORK

The execution taking place just forty-eight hours after her arrest. They both died game, not a muscle quivered; and while they stood upon two barrels with ropes around their necks, they were asked if they had anything to say. They said, "We die for our country." These were their last words, then the barrels were pulled from under them, Miss Armstrong did not witness the execution, but in company with Old Mose, who now appeared in another role (that of an old planter) she was traveling to City Point and thence down the James river to Fortress Monroe by boat; as the prisoners of war who had been exchanged lay there on a transport just ready to leave for Annapolis, Maryland and as the man of war on which Miss Armstrong and her escort, the old planter, drew near the transport, the young lady was handed on board by her friend and bidding him good bye, turned her back on the scenes of war and sailed for Annapolis. She made inquires of the captain of the boat regarding the prisoners and told him she had a brother and other dear friends on board the steamer.

The captain went to the hospital steward, and introduced her to him; who kindly got his books having the list of all on board. He soon located James L. Armstrong and took her to him at once; when she saw him she knelt down beside his cot and was just in the act of caressing him, when she discovered that he had but one arm and the stump of the amputated arm was exposed to view. As he lay there a poor, emaciated form, nothing but a skeleton clothed in rags of filth that would turn the stomach of any one not used to Libby prison fare, Susa could not recognize one feature like that of her brother, but he knew her. She wept on his breast and kissed him again and again. The old boat swain and men of war as they gazed on the scene before them, could not keep back the tears that rolled down their sturdy faces. At last Susa was interrupted by her brother who said, "Sister your brother would not be here had it not been for William Townsend, who will as soon as we reach port be placed under arrest." He could not finish his sentence for tears of sorrow filled his eyes. Susa asks, rising to her feet, "Where is William?" At the same time looking around to see if she could detect him, but there was none that she recognized, all were like her brother, mere skeletons. At last a tall gaunt form partly raised upon one arm from off the straw pallet and says, "Miss Armstrong." She looked at him so searchingly, her brother says, "Sister that is Will."

THE TEST OF LOVE.

The Queen of Hearts she made some tarts,
She gave me one to eat,
But I was game—I took the same—
It was a lover's feat.
The fact did prove I was in love,
For none will surely question
No other man but lover can
Risk acute indigestion.

But, oh, ye gods! what are the odds
When heart-burn, anyway,
Would be my dues should I refuse
To be those tarts' first prey?
What matter pangs that fix their fangs
In one's digestive function,
If one so gains by martyr pains—
His loved one's dear compunction

This Queen of Hearts who made those tarts,
And who my heart doth rule,
Hath caught the fad—ah, it is sad—
And goes to cooking school.
But, oh, this maid in charms arrayed,
So lovable, so sweet is,
I'd eat her pie, though I should die.
Next moment of gastritis.
—Baltimore American.

GRATING CONCLUSIONS.

Gladys—I should love to be a great man's wife.
He (who fancied himself rather as a dramatic writer)—My darling, you've promised to be my wife, and I'm not a little man.
Gladys—I mean I should like to be a clever man's wife.

We Will Always Have Them.

When the war drums throb no longer
And the battle flags are furled
In the parliament of men,
The federation of the world,
There will probably be colonels
Still to make a gorgeous show,
For the governors will hardly
Cease to have their staffs, you know.
—Chicago Record-Herald.

Force of Habit.

"Dear me!" exclaimed Mrs. Stubb, as she dropped the paper. "An earthquake must be a terrible catastrophe. I wonder what would be my first exclamation if I should be walking along and the street began to sway and the buildings to topple?"
"I can tell," laughed Mr. Stubb, from behind his sporting paper.
"What, dear?"
"Is my hat on straight?" —Chicago Daily News.

Keeping Up the Navy.

"They ought to name the next battleship Rumor."
"Why such a name as that?"
"Because then it would be easy to keep her afloat." —Baltimore American.

"Why do you have everything in your wife's name?"
"I don't. We have our children in my name." —Chicago Record-Herald.

Just a Way She Has.

"Ever notice it?" queried the man who asks questions on the installment plan.
"Did I ever notice what?" queried the wife of his bosom.
"That a woman never considers an article of dress stylish unless she feels uncomfortable in it?" continued the mere man. —Chicago Daily News.

A Gentle Hint.

"Yes," smiled the sweet young thing, "when I marry I will lead my husband a dog's life."
"Whereupon she took her poodle in her arms and squeezed him almost to death.
How could the young man help taking the hint and proposing right on the spot?—Judge.

Comfortable.

"What is your idea of a comfortable fortune?" asked the ambitious youth.
"One," answered the man of experience, "that is big enough to buy you everything you want and not big enough to attract the attention of the grand jury." —Washington Star.

Reflection.

Leading Lady—Did you notice the Johnny in the third-box? For one solid hour he gazed intently at my diamonds.
Comedian—Yes, I heard several people commenting on his glassy stare. —Chicago News.

LEGISLATIVE SIDELIGHTS

Brief Paragraphs of Legislative Work at Lansing

TOLD BY CORRESPONDENT

Convict Labor Agitation Continues to Bother Statesmen

Lansing, Mich., March 18.—Petitions are now coming into the legislature with this heading:

"We, the undersigned, oppose the installation of a binder-twine plant in the state prison, and favor the utilizing of our convict labor at crushing stone for roads, the stone to be sold to counties and townships in the state of Michigan at a uniform price of 50 cents per ton, freight to be paid by the state."

All of the petitions have the same heading, but the interest or individual who sent out the blanks is not yet revealed. Horatio Earle, however, is suspected.

Moneybags

The chairman of the moneybags committee of the house, the Hon. Charley Ward, has found it necessary to remind the chairman of all committees on state prisons, asylums and other state institutions that they are behind in getting in shape the appropriation bills for the support of the various institutions for the ensuing two years. All such bills have to go to the moneybags committee before becoming a law.

Cost of Franks

The actual value of the book of franks that the Michigan Telephone Co., the Bell, has been distributing to legislators is $1200. This means that it costs the company $1,250 to frank up the 100 members of the house and $390 to frank up the 32 senators. Heretofore a member's face went for a frank where he was known. Now the company will know at the end of the session how many dollars and cents of time the legislators consumed for "personal and social messages only," as is printed on the cover during the session.

Governor Signs Bills

Governor Warner has signed the following bills: To increase the salary of the engineer of the Detroit public works department to $4,000; to amend the charter of the village of Beaverton; to allow St. Clair county to bond to erect school house; to allow Bay City to bond to purchase a public park; to allow Grand Rapids to bond for $1,000,000 to provide protection against floods to provide two additional aldermen for Wyandotte; to allow Springwells, Wayne county, to bond to pave Michigan avenue; to appropriate $60,000 for a new shop at the Jackson prison; to grant police authority to the Mackinac Island park commission; to grant a new charter to the city of Holland.

Ferrets Barred

Rabbit hunting with ferrets in Sanilac, Ionia, Eaton, Lenawee, Manistee, Bay and Newaygo counties is prohibited in a bill which the house agreed Thursday afternoon.

WORKED LIKE A CHARM

Mr. D. N. Walker, editor of that spicy journal, the Enterprise, Louisiana, Va., says: "I ran a nail in my foot last week and at once applied Bucklen's Arnica Salve. Constitutional Amendments

To be Submitted to the Electors, Monday April 1, 1907

ARTICLE XVIII, SECTION 3

The proposed amendment to Article XVIII, Section 3, of the Constitution, provides that Section 3 of Article XVIII, which reads, "No mechanical trade shall hereafter be taught to convicts in the State prison of this state, except the manufacture of those articles of which the chief supply for home consumption is imported from other states or countries," be stricken out.

This amendment, if adopted, removes the Constitutional prohibition, relative to the teaching of mechanical trades in the State prison.

ARTICLE VI, SECTION 6

The proposed amendment to Article VI, Section 6, of the Constitution, if adopted, empowers the boards of supervisors in the counties of Ingham and Jackson and the counties in the judicial circuit in which the county of Isabella is or may be situated to give and pay the circuit judge to which such county is attached such additional salary or compensation as may be fixed and determined from time to time by such board of supervisors.

ARTICLE X, SECTION 10

The proposed amendment to Article X, Section 10, of the Constitution, if adopted, provides for a Board of County Auditors for the counties of Bay, Cheboygan and St. Clair.

SETTLED BY THE WAITER.

All Doubt About the Pineapple Forever Set at Rest.

William C. Whitney, Jr., who has spent a year in Indian Territory learning practical mining at Quappaw, described at a dinner party in New York a Quappaw restaurant.

"At this restaurant one evening," he said at his description's end, "two miners near me got into a botanical argument about the pineapple, one claiming that it was a fruit and the other that it was a vegetable."

"In the midst of their argument the waiter entered in his shirtsleeves and looked about to see what was the cause of the loud talking."

"The miners decided to let the waiter settle their argument, and accordingly one of them said:

"Pete, what is a pineapple? Is it a fruit or a vegetable?"

"The waiter, flicking the ashes from his cigar, smiled at the two men with pity."

"It's neither, gents," he said. "It's an extra."

Eat Crickets If Too Fat.

We poke fun at the Chinese ideals of medicine, but events in Sacramento prove that the Mongolians know more than we give them credit for, says the San Francisco News Letter. For centuries the Chinese have used cricket stew, powdered crickets, essence of cricket and plain raw crickets for the reduction of obesity, as they use frog soup for stomach troubles.

Well, in Sacramento it has been noticed that the cats have grown wonderfully thin and had no appetites, refusing to be tempted by cream and other dainties. It has been discovered that they have been feasting on crickets. The insects have satisfied their appetites, but have reduced them to skeletons. The next thing to be put on the market will be a new patent medicine under the name of "Crickets."

DEMANDS AN ACCOUNTING

Administrator of Estate of Elizabeth Bissel Starts Suit

SAYS FUNDS WERE JUGGLED

From the Estate of the Late David H. Toll—A. C. Roe Institutes Suit

A. C. Roe of Buchanan, administrator of the estate of the late Elizabeth Bissel, who has filed a bill of complaint in the circuit court seeking to recover certain property now held by Martha L. Toll, widow of the late David Toll, asks that an administrator of the estate of David Toll be appointed and that an accounting of the latter's guardianship over the late Elizabeth Bissel be rendered.

Mr. Roe claims that the property of the late Mrs. Bissel, which passed into the hands of the guardian, David H. Toll, amounted to about $6,000, and that, with accrued interest it should now amount to about $15,000.

Mr. Toll's bondsmen were E. B. Storms and the late John Hilderbrand. No particular sum was specified in the bond.

Mrs. Toll has retained her son-in-law, Attorney Chas. E. Sweet, of Dowagiac, and he yesterday filed an appearance on her behalf. When interviewed by the writer this afternoon, Mr. Sweet stated that when the foster son of the late Elizabeth Bissel made application several years ago to have the late Mr. Toll appointed as her guardian, he swore that her personal property amounted to about $1,500. And Mr. Sweet says that she owned a piece of real estate in Pennsylvania, which sold for $500, and that she owned property in Toledo, variously estimated to be worth from $800 to $1,000, which latter has not been sold.

The foster son above mentioned, is a Presbyterian minister, who lives in the northern part of this state, but he is not an heir of the late Elizabeth Bissel, he not having been regularly adopted. Mr. Sweet says that the heirs-at-law are Mrs. William East of Buchanan, and three brothers of the deceased.

Elizabeth Bissel, whose death occurred last fall at the Michigan asylum for the insane at Kalamazoo, was known in Niles, she having resided at the home of her nephew, the late David Toll, for about a year.

Mr. Toll died about a year ago, and no administrator of his estate was appointed, for the reason it is claimed, that he deeded away his property before he died.

There is a story, a float to the effect that the late Elizabeth Bissel gave her property to the late D. H. Toll for taking care of her, but inasmuch as she was insane, she could not have made a valid transfer of her property to anyone.

Canals in Ancient Times.

The idea of canal building came from Asia in ancient times. Although it occurred several thousands of years ago, it will be news to most persons that old Nebuchadnezzar built a canal tributary to Babylon as long as the Erie canal.

Defined Law's Status.

A lawyer once, rather clumsily responding to the toast of the law at a dinner of an art society, said that he did not see how the law could be considered one of the arts, at which point Jerrold interjected the word "Black!" which came out like a shot from a gun.

FOUND AT LAST

INCREASING BUSINESS

Large Number of Families From New Buffalo to Live in Benton Harbor

Benton Harbor, March 18.—The removal of the freight division of the Pere Marquette railway, from New Buffalo to this city, means the removal of a large number of families to this city, and the benefits of this move have already been felt here.

The number of men employed in the Pere Marquette yards here before the change was made was 22; while now there are 46 employed, and the railway officials say that the number will shortly be increased. The business done by this railway company here during the month of February amounted to 5,000,000 pounds of freight. This is the greatest amount of business ever done by any railway in Benton Harbor. A new warehouse with a capacity of 52 carloads of miscellaneous freight will soon be erected and the business will be far more easily handled. The starting of the Covell manufacturing plant will greatly increase the amount of freight.

In a few days work will be started on the construction of the new plant of the Benton Harbor Malleable Foundry, which was secured by the Benton Harbor Development Co. last fall.

Boost, Don't Knock

Boost Buchanan. Don't knock. When you hammer a nail into a board, it goes down never to come up by itself unless you pull it out. Every time you knock against the good work of the boosters, you drive Buchanan deeper into a rotten mire.

The men who are endeavoring to build up the town by bringing more factories and public improvements should have your unselfish assistance and confidence. Lack of confidence is a bad and disastrous stumbling block. Those men who have failed to secure offices at the recent election should not put themselves in a bad light by knocking. Every knock they utter only tend to hurt themselves. The Board of Trade have worthy plans under way—they cannot reveal them just now. But whatever they have in store for the best interests of the city, will be announced through the columns of the RECORD. If you have any difference of opinion, don't discuss it in some dark out-of-the way corner with a few town knockers, but come out like a MAN and express your views openly and honestly. You will gain more respect that way. Knock and you knock your political future into the gutter. Boost the boosters! And keep boosting all the time.

Short Talks On Advertising

Written by the RECORD'S ADVERTISING MANAGER

Put Prices in Your Ads

A friend of mine asked me why a certain merchant don't put the prices on the goods displayed in his windows. This furnished me food for writing this subject.

That merchant who failed to put the price on a particular article which my friend wanted, lost a customer. Last week he got the article he wanted but not in Buchanan. Why? He saw a mail order competitor's advertisement which described the article in question together with the PRICE. What merchant can deny the drawing power of prices along with properly described articles? No wonder the mail order grabbers know this and are luring some of our trade away.

A popcorn stand easily makes money. Everybody knows it costs five cents a sack. Even a fakir makes money with the power of plain figures—prices. And yet when one passes along the main streets of our town, hardly a store cares or dares to put prices in his window.

It's no longer a paying investment to put in the time-worn announcement that So & So have a full line of this and that unless the ad is written in a business like fashion, backed up with prices.

A business man told me last night that he owes his success to RECORD advertising—because his customers come in his store and call for the articles as advertised in this paper.

But he gave prices and he knows what he was talking about. This same gentleman is still a liberal advertiser in the RECORD. His ad is changed often. From his own words I quote: "You understand I don't want my advertisement to stand with the same thread-bare statement from week to week. I have a lot of new things which I want the people to know, but I will have to tell them in weekly installments."

Have you ever grown weary of getting a letter that runs something like this:

"Dear Bill—Having nothing to do I shall drop you a letter and having nothing to say I shall close, etc."

Yet the above is precisely the way some merchants want their ads run. I have the time to write your ads and it will cost you nothing further than the space you buy.

Personally, I will give any reader or advertiser $5.00 if it can be proved that these articles were not germinated from the brains of the RECORD's advertiser but are copied to fit this town. These articles are POSITIVELY ORIGINAL.

You must be very careful of yourself during the early part of your twenty-eighth year. Your lucky day is Wednesday.

Local Happenings

Mrs Lee Bunker is quite ill at her home on Portage Street.

Sometimes we don't know exactly what kind of weather we are having and at other times we think we know too much to suit Buchanan.

The Ladies Aid society, of the Evangelical church, will meet for an all day work with Mrs Joseph Swartz. All members will kindly be present.

Mrs. John Huss, who is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Newton Barnhart, is reported to be slowly recovering from a long siege of illness.

The Evangelical Y. P. A. will meet Friday evening, March 22, at the home of Mrs. Charles Fiddell on Day's avenue.

An "Animal Tea" will be given by the Ladies Bible class of the M. E. church at Mrs. J. G. Devineys next Friday afternoon. This is the second of a series of ten-cent teas to be given by the class. Ladies come and bring your fancy work and enjoy a social hour.

Mrs. H. Salisbury entertained the members of Miss Alice Denno's Sunday School class at her home Saturday afternoon. The time was spent in playing games. Light refreshments were served by the hostess.

On Sunday evening, March 24 at the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. H. Williams will give his third talk in the series of Bible stories.

The concert rendered by the Troubadour's Concert Co., in Rough's Opera House last Saturday was a pronounced success. The affair was conducted under the auspices of the Buchanan High school.

Three men were dumped in the village "coop" yesterday by Constable Eldridge for imbibing too much of the sparkling intoxicants.

Two gypsies were discovered about town yesterday annoying our people with their begging for money. They were not molested for their nuisance.

Mr. E. S. Roe has leased ground near the M C freight depot and is installing large scales for the convenience of his constantly increasing trade.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hanley pleasantly entertained twenty-four of their friends at their rural home, west of town last Friday evening. Games and music helped to pass the time pleasantly. The whistling solo by Miss Vera Fritz, of South Bend, was a decided novelty. A fine two-course luncheon was served and an exceptionally delightful evening passed by all.

Witnesses for the Chapin-Grey case left last Sunday for Grand Rapids, where they are to be in readiness at call. The court opened yesterday. Those from Buchanan appearing as witnesses are Lon Howe and H. H. Porter. Those from Portage Prairie are Steven Scott, Mr. Kohl, Merritt Vite and Chas. Mathews.

The Yellowstone Monitor, of Glendive, Montana, in a recent issue of its paper complimented the owners of a new city bakery, Messrs. Harry Stevens and F. E. Batchelor, former residents of this city. They are highly praised for having the courage of their convictions in establishing their bakery on a large scale, and the natives of Glendive are beginning to sit up and take notice of the new things. Their Buchanan friends will be glad to hear of their success and wish them unbound prosperity.

The National Protective Legion will meet in Maccabee hall March 20th for business and the election of officers. This is a meeting of great importance as the Legion is largely dependent on its management or what its officers make of it. Each member is requested to make a special effort to be present. Loyalty is an essential feature of success.—Sec'y.

Miss Gertrude I. Smith, of the Western Normal Conservatory of Music, Kalamazoo, will be in Buchanan each Monday to receive vocal pupils. Any one interested in the work can get particulars by applying to Mrs. Sig. Desenberg.

stronger than—the others. I should say it was an advantage and something to be proud of."

"Oh, it is not that," replied Oscar; "it is a feeling of unemptiness and want of smartness among these men who look so clean and correct. Shall we dance?"

"Yes," she said, "let us dance by all means."

Here she knew her own proficiency, and in a few seconds she found that her partner was worthy of her skill. "Where have you been?" she asked presently. "I am sure you have been away somewhere, exploring or something."

"I have only been in Africa shooting."

"Oh, how interesting! You must tell me about it."

She was watching the door all the while.

Presently the music ceased, and they made their way back to the spot whence he had taken her. She led the way thither by an almost imperceptible pressure of her fingers on his arm. There were several men waiting there, and one or two more entering the room and looked languidly round.

"There comes the favored one," Lady Cantourne muttered, with a veiled glance toward her companion. Sir John's gray eyes followed the direction of her glance.

"My bright boy?" he inquired, with a wealth of sarcasm on the adjective.

"Your bright boy?" she replied. "I hope not," he said curtly.

They were watching a tall fair man in the doorway who seemed to know everybody, so slow was his progress into the room. The most remarkable thing about this man was a certain grace of movement. He seemed to be specially constructed to live in narrow hampered places. He was above six feet, but being of slight build he moved with a certain languidness which saved him from that unwieldiness usually associated with large men in a drawing room.

Such was Jack Meredith, one of the best known figures in London society. He had hitherto succeeded in moving through the mazes of that coterie, as he now moved through this room, without jarring any one.

CHAPTER II.

Miss Millicent Chyne was vaguely conscious of success—and such a consciousness is apt to make the best of us a trifle elated. It was certainly one of the best balls of the season, and Miss Chyne's dress was without doubt one of the most successful articles of its sort there.

Jack Meredith saw that fact and noted it as soon as he came into the room. Moreover, it pleased him, and he was pleased to reflect that he was no mean critic in such matters. There could be no doubt about it, because he knew as well as any woman there. He knew that Millicent Chyne was dressed in the latest fashion; no fur-bushed up gown from the hands of her maid, but a unique creation from Bond street.

"Well," she asked in a low voice as she handed him her programme, "are you pleased with it?"

"Eminently so."

She glanced down at her own dress. It was not the nervous glance of the debutante, but the practiced flash of experienced eyes which see without appearing to look.

HAS A BIG FUTURE
For the Michigan Mutual Fire Insurance Company
PORTER INTERESTED IN IT

New Firm Increasing at Rapid Pace—Large Buchanan Firm Has Policy in It.

The new fire insurance company doing nearly $100,000 worth of business in local cities is making its reputation for square deals felt in this country. Henry H. Porter and son, of this city, have already shown the merits of the company are shown. The printing firm of Mac O'Connell, Chamberlin Co. has a policy in this company. Note below what the local press say about the new company:

There are not many people in the counties of Berrien, Cass and Van Buren who have not heard of the Mutual City & Village Fire Co. of Dowagiac. Much of the prosperity of the company is due to the work of Henry H. Porter, who was for years the secretary. Recently Mr. Porter associated with himself leading men of this part of the state and organized a company of the same plan as the Dowagiac mutual, the principal difference being that it will write business in any part of the state. The success of the new company is assured.—Gallen Advocate.

Henry H. Porter and son, Will C. Porter, of Buchanan, were in the city today on business connected with the Michigan Mutual Fire Insurance company. The company which has just been organized has $75,000 written up in policies and expects to increase the business to $100,000 in a few days. The company does business all over the state and has most excellent promise of a big future. Many prominent citizens of Kalamazoo, Dowagiac and other places in this vicinity hold offices in the new company, among them being Hon. L. E. Wood, of this city, who is one of the directors and Judge Alfred J. Mills, of Kalamazoo, also a director. Henry Porter is perhaps one of the best known insurance men in the state of Michigan, having had over 20 years' experience, while Will C. Porter has been connected with the insurance business over seven years.—Niles Star.
