VOLUME XLI.

BUCHANAN, MICHIGAN, FRIDAY, JUNE 7, 1907.

NUMBER 38.

KNOX IS WILLING TO BE CANDIDATE

SENATOR WILL ACCEPT NOMINATION IF OFFERED.

DOESN'T SEEK THE HONOR

Gratified by the Action of the Pennsylvania Republicans in Indorsing Him for the Presidency.

New York, June 7.—United States Senator Philander C. Knox, of Pennsylvania, Thursday night announced his willingness to become a candidate for the presidency in 1908 should the Republican party see fit to nominate him. Senator Knox's position was made known in expressing his appreciation of the action Thursday of the Republican state convention at Harrisburg, Pa., which indorsed him as a candidate for that office.

Senator Knox, who is staying at the Waldorf-Astoria, learned of his indorsement by the Harrisburg convention, through the press dispatches. Having read these, including an abstract of the platform adopted, he said:

"I am deeply sensible of the great honor done me by my fellow Republicans of Pennsylvania."

Gratified by the Action.

"In their convention, composed of delegates elected directly by the people, they have increased my many obligations to them by coupling with the indorsement of the administration of Theodore Roosevelt the suggestion of my name as his successor.

"I note the convention's reference to the fact that as attorney general and senator I was privileged to aid in the formulation of and in carrying into legislation and judicial decision those just policies for the protection of the people which have so greatly endeared President Roosevelt to the nation. I value the action of the convention approving such public service as I have been enabled to render in the past with a satisfaction not exceeded by my gratitude for the unsolicited pledge of support for higher honors and graver duties for the future."

Didn't Seek Indorsement.

"I have too profound a sense of the dignity of the chief magistracy and too intimate a knowledge of its labors and responsibilities to have sought this indorsement. If, however, the wishes of Pennsylvania Republicans and the reasons they assign for their action should commend themselves to the national Republican convention, I should accept its action with full appreciation of its import."

Senator Knox added that he would have nothing further to say at present concerning his candidacy. Accompanied by Mrs. Knox, he has been visiting friends here. They will return to their home at Valley Forge, Pa., Friday.

Wabash Railroad Convicted.

Springfield, Ill., June 7.—A jury in the United States district court Thursday returned a verdict finding the Wabash road guilty on 15 of the 17 counts alleging violation of the interstate commerce law by failing to have freight cars equipped with safety appliances.

Indiana Mine Strike Off.

Terre Haute, Ind., June 7.—After an all day session the joint board of mineworkers and operators of Indiana Thursday night agreed on all differences and the strike which threatened to involve between 4,000 and 5,000 miners of district No. 11 was averted. Both sides made concessions.

Respite for Wife Murderer.

Columbus, O., June 7.—Gov. Harris Thursday afternoon granted a respite until June 21 to James Cornelius, the Canton wife murderer, who was to have been electrocuted Thursday night.

Vessel Aground on Gulf Reef.

Sandusky, O., June 7.—A vessel, unidentified, is aground on Gulf Reef, midway between Middle Island and Kelley's Island, in grave danger of breaking up. Marblehead life savers left to take off the crew and passengers, if any are aboard.

Made Collector at Toledo.

Washington, June 7.—The president Thursday announced the appointment of Gen. William V. McMackin as collector of internal revenue at Toledo, Evils of Municipal Ownership.

Chicago, Ill., June 7.—Since the defeat of the Dunne municipal ownership party here the anti-municipal ownership party leaders have been swamped with reports and opinions upon the failure of city and borough water, electric and gas lighting plants from all over the country. So numerous are these instances, and so general in character the causes which produce the failures that there will be a mass of facts upon which to base practical argument against municipal ownership if the next big campaign here is waged upon that question.

As it is thoroughly believed it will be, all the instances received are being carefully preserved, so that the citizens may be informed fully of the many failures of municipal ownership under various conditions in all parts of the country.

The causes of the failures are briefly.—The incompetency of the politically appointed employee.

The lack of discipline in a politically controlled force of employees.

The opportunity for grafting owing to this political control.

The red tape prevailing in the conduct of all municipal business.

The constant waste, loss of power, purchase of inferior supplies and machinery due to lack of knowledge such as would not be tolerated in an employee of a private concern.

Municipal ownership candidates and prepositions have recently been defeated by Baltimore, Colorado City, Colo., Colorado Springs, Colo., Rutherford, N. J., and Winchester, Mass.

Municipal Electric lighting plants recently transformed to private concerns because the cost of operation was excessive and the service poor, are those at Casselton, N. D., La Grange, Ill., Alexandria, Va., Jonesboro, Md., Fredonia, N. Y., Souderston, Pa., Beverly, Ohio, Middleton, Pa., Lakewood, Ohio, while failures of similar plants are on record at Alexandria, Va., Bay City, Mich., Blanchester, O., Elkhornington, Ill., Blue Island, Ill., Carthage, Mo., Charlotte, Mich., Columbus, O., Easton, Pa., Escanaba, Mich., Fairfield, Ia., Galena, Ill., Harvard, Ill., Herrington, Kas., Kirkwood, Mo., Lansing, Mich., Lincoln, Neb., Logansport, Ind., Madison, N. J., Mason, Mich., Medford, Mass., Mohawk, N. Y., Munro, Ind., Nashville, Ark., Norwich, Conn., Peabody, Mass., Prairie City, Ill., Richmond, Ind., S. Charles, Mo., Springfield, Ill., Sleepy Eye, Minn., Tecumseh, Neb., Topeka, Kas.

Municipal gas failures include Bellefontaine, Ohio, Madison, N. J., Middleboro, Mass., Norwich, Conn., Richmond, Va., Santa Clara, Cal., Wheeling, West Va.

West Seattle, Wash. has sold its municipal street railway system which was found to be running at a financial loss.

Indianapolis has a municipal street cleaning department which has hired from April to November twenty-eight miles for $4,325 while they could have been bought outright for $1,500 more.

The Ashtabula, O. electric light plant which has depreciated in value $50,000 in fourteen years is advertised for sale. A private company has offered to light Grand Rapids, Mich. for $6,162 a year less than it is now costing the city to run its own plant. Citizens of East Grand Forks, Minn. refused to rebuild their street lighting plant as it has proved a costly experiment.

These are comparatively few of the facts received and are of most recent date while there are many others which are also valuable in showing the futility of municipal ownership in the United States under present conditions of not so recent occurrence.

SAW NEGROES SHOOTING

BROWNSVILLE WOMAN THINKS SHE CAN IDENTIFY ONE.

Her Description Tallies with That of a Soldier of Company C Who Cannot Be Found.

Washington, June 7.—Mrs. Emma Leahy, proprietor of the Leahy hotel in Brownsville, Tex., told the senate committee on military affairs Thursday that she believed she could identify one of the former negro soldiers as a member of the group that shot up the town. After hearing firing at the garrison and seeing the flashes of guns she said that she saw 16 men in khaki uniforms in the Cowan alley shooting into the Cowan house.

She was in a window of her hotel, about 40 feet away, and two of the men looked up while she was watching them. Just at that moment several shots were fired by members of the group and she said she saw the two men distinctly. One was very black and the other a mulatto. The latter had large spots on his face and she is sure she could recognize him if she should see him again. The description of this man tallies with the appearance of a soldier of Company C, who was one of the men involved in the trouble with Mr. Tait, a customs inspector. A subpoena was issued for him at the beginning of the senate investigation, but he has not been found.

CASTRO PRAISES MR. RUSSELL.

Venezuelan President Pays a Tribute to the American Minister.

Caracas, Venezuela, June 1 (via Curacao, June 7).—President Castro, whose strength is returning gradually, attended congress Saturday and read his message to that body. Referring to the foreign relations of the republic of Venezuela, the president said:

"I am pleased to inform you that our political relations with friendly countries are increasingly cordial. Within a short period the claims of Great Britain, Germany and Italy, which were given preference at The Hague, will be fully paid. As soon as these are settled the appropriation to meet them will be employed to pay the remainder of the claims against Venezuela.

"Our intercourse with the United States is entirely cordial, since we had the pleasure of receiving in this capitol W. W. Russell, the American envoy extraordinary and minister plenipotentiary. This distinguished diplomat has conducted the affairs of his government with us in an affable and conciliatory manner, thus contributing to remove the unpleasantness with that government occasioned by the discussion of certain matters with American citizens."

Food Costs More in France.

Paris, June 7.—The increase in the price of bread from four to five cents per pound, due to the rise in the price of wheat, is already general in Paris and extending to the interior cities. The newspapers complain that the increase in the cost of living is not confined to bread, but affects all commodities and they publish figures showing that there has been an average increase of 20 per cent since 1900.

GERMANY IS READY FOR CONFERENCE

WILL DECLINE TO DISCUSS QUESTION OF ARMAMENTS.

ENGLAND MAY DROP IT

Position of Kaiser's Delegates on Rights of Private Property at Sea and on Contraband of War.

Berlin, June 7.—The preliminaries to The Hague conference have been settled to the satisfaction of the emperor and the foreign office, and the meeting is awaited with a tranquillity that did not prevail during March, when some of the powers were endeavoring to win a diplomatic success over Germany by seeking to make it appear that Germany alone was an enemy of peace in wishing to omit the question of armaments from the program.

The Austro-Hungarian and the Russian governments particularly have associated themselves with the German view that the conference may go farther toward eliminating war by agreements to extend the peaceful adjustments of disputes than by debates upon the extinction or curtailment of armaments. The British government, which was so active in pressing for a discussion of armaments, is disposed now, according to information received in the German foreign office, to drop the subject unless the American or some other government can be persuaded to introduce it.

Policy Generally Approved.

The emperor's instructions to the German delegates, should disarmament come to a discussion, are not to take part in the discussion, but to note the development of the question and report thereon. Prince von Bülow, speaking in the reichstag April 30, said that the government would take into earnest consideration any agreements of the other powers concerning contraband, a position regarded by most powers as untenable. Germany had occasion also to protest during the Boer war against the seizure by British ships of the German merchantmen Herzog, General and Bundesrat, on the supposition that they carried contraband. The effort of the German delegates will be to obtain a definition of contraband so clear that the subject may be considered as beyond the possibility of dispute in the future.

It makes a lot of difference who a man is even after he has gone crazy.

When Jocelyn looked up, dry lipped, breathless, Nala was standing before her, beaming with self importance.

"Who gave you this?"

"Marie, at Msala."

"Who is she?"

"Oh, Mr. Durnovo's woman at Msala. She keeps his house."

"But this letter is for Mr. Durnovo!" cried Jocelyn, whose fear made her unreasonably angry. "Why has he not had it?"

Nala came nearer, with upraised forefinger and explanatory palm.

"Marie tell me," he said, "that Mr. Meredith sent two letters. Marie give Mr. Durnovo one. This—other letter."

Jocelyn Gordon rose to the occasion.

"Can you go," she said after a moment's thought, "to St. Paul de Loanda for me, at once—now?"

"Oh, yes," with a sigh.

Already Jocelyn was writing something on a sheet of paper.

"Take this," she said, "to the telegraph office at St. Paul de Loanda and send it off at once. Here is money. You understand? I will pay you when you bring back the receipt. If you have been very quick I will pay you well."

That same evening a second messenger started northward after Maurice Gordon with a letter telling him to come back at once to Loango.

Guy Oscar was dining alone in Russell square when a telegram was handed to him. He opened it and read:

Meredith surrounded and in danger. Durono false. Come at once. JOCELYN GORDON.

In due time Guy Oscar landed on the beach at Loanda. He had the telegram still in his pocket, and he went not to Maurice Gordon's office, but to the bungalow.

Jocelyn greeted him with a little inarticulate cry of joy.

"I did not think that you could possibly be here so soon," she said.

"What news have you?" he asked, without pausing to explain. He was one of those men who are silenced by an unlimited capacity for prompt action.

"That," she replied, handing him the note written by Jack Meredith to Marie at Msala.

Guy Oscar read it carefully.

"Dated seven weeks last Monday; nearly two months ago," he muttered half to himself.

"But you will go?" she said, and something in her voice startled him.

"Of course I will go," he replied. He looked down into her face with a vague question in his quiet eyes, and who knows what he saw there? Perhaps she was off her guard. Perhaps she read this man aright and did not care.

With a certain slow hesitation he laid his hand on her arm. There was something almost paternal in his manner which was in keeping with his stature.

"Moreover," he went on, "I will get there in time. I have an immense respect for Meredith. If he said that he could hold out for four months I should

Mail Order Buying vs. Merchants

Noting the growing business the mail order houses seem to be doing in this section and in the entire country in general, a few remarks on the subject would be timely and we will present some facts for you to ponder over and ask yourself as to whether you are really being benefited by making your purchases from these houses whom you do not know and may never see and who have no personal interest in your affairs in any way.

In their lavishly illustrated catalogues you see only a picture or cut of the article—you can not see its size, shape, quality, weight or material by which you would judge as to its worth. They make elaborate promises as to what they will do, but did you ever see any one who received a new pair of shoes, a buggy or any other article without charge, replacing one which proved defective and which was purchased from a mail order house? No, you never did, because they are so far away that you keep quiet and don't like to acknowledge that you have been duped; and the return charges would cost more, usually, than the article is really worth.

Do these houses offer to pay cash or exchange goods for your wheat, corn, oats, eggs, butter, etc.? How much will they pay for your hogs or sheep at your depot?

How much tax do they pay to support your schools and educate your children? Or for building bridges and roads, also for the support of the county's poor, and for the expenses of running the business of the county?

On what page in their catalogue do they offer to contribute money to your church? How much goods will they sell you on credit when your wife and children have not food and clothes?

If you are ill your home merchants sells you farm tools, groceries, clothing, etc., and you can pay for them when you are able, but the catalogue house says, "Send cash with order." Do they provide a market for what you have to sell and thereby keep up the value of your farm?

When a poor farmer loses his only horse or cow, or loses his house or barn by fire, who is appealed to? Why, the local merchant, of course; the mail order houses have nothing for you.

Would you go to your local vehicle dealer and give him $50 and say "send me a buggy?" No, you would not; you will look at it a good long time before you buy it; but how do you do with the mail order? You just send them your money and never know what you will get until the article arrives at the station.

You would not go to a local shoe dealer, hand him $3 for a pair of shoes and tell him to wrap them up, without looking at what you are getting; but such is the mail order way of doing business.

Now, if you buy goods from mail order houses think deeply over these remarks, as they are of vital interest to the customer as well as the merchant.

GOOD POINT FOR SCHMITZ

WITNESS ADMITS NO THREAT AS TO LICENSES WAS MADE.

Says Restaurant Proprietors Raised $10,000 to Be Paid Abe Ruef "as a Lawyer."

San Francisco, June 7.—A few minutes before adjournment of court Thursday afternoon, the defense in the trial of Mayor Schmitz for extortion scored what they consider a signal point, during the cross-examination of one of the prosecution's chief witnesses, Antonio B. Blanco. Until the great fire Blanco was proprietor of Delmonico's, one of the five French restaurants from whose owners the mayor and Abraham Ruef are accused of having extorted thousands of dollars under threats, implied if not expressed, to prevent the reissuance of their liquor licenses.

"Did Ruef ever tell you that if you did not pay this money you would not get your licenses renewed?" asked Attorney Campbell, the mayor's senior counsel.

"No," replied Blanco promptly, "he did not."

"Did the mayor ever tell you that?"

"No."

"Did anybody ever tell you so?"

"No, nobody ever made that threat to me," said Blanco.

Four witnesses were on the stand Thursday: Officer Charles F. Skelley, secretary of the board of police commissioners; former Police Commissioners Thomas Reagan and Dr. Joseph Poheim, and Antonio Blanco.

Former Commissioner Reagan testified minutely to the sudden change of the mayor's attitude toward proprietors of French restaurants—from advising the refusal of licenses to demanding that they be granted—simultaneously with the appearance of Abe Ruef as attorney for the restaurant keepers.

Former Commissioner Poheim told of the compiling by Ruef of a set of regulations for the government of the restaurants, how he heard the "boss" had laughed over these, and how, after they had been submitted by Ruef to the police board, the held-up licenses were renewed.

Blanco testified that he and the proprietors of the Pup, Delmonico's, Marchand's and Tortoni's had raised a fund of $10,000 to be paid to Ruef, "as a lawyer" and "for taking care" of their licenses for them.

Minnesota After the Oil Trust.

St. Paul, Minn., June 7.—The state of Minnesota, through Attorney General E. T. Young, is about to begin suit to oust the Standard Oil company from the state. The suit will be based upon an alleged violation of the so-called Hinton law, which provides that the price of oil must be uniform throughout the state, allowance being made for shipping charges.

Among the Magazines

One cannot truthfully say that patriotism is dying out when the magazines, which are merely reflectors, show the national holidays as faithfully as they do. The Designer is up-to-date in this as in other respects, in its July number. The sketch "How the Flag Came by the Name of Old Glory," is of considerable historical interest. And a very graceful and well written story. "The Colonel's Coming" also is appropriate for the war-holiday. To the wood-architect, or any man found of making his house or any part of his house of rough-hewn trees, the article entitled "Building with Trees" will appeal strongly.

* * *

The June issue of The Ladies' World, which has just been received, is so far the handsomest number of the year, and its literary, fashion and household departments are full of attractive material. Hugh Pendexter's serial story, short stories and articles are all excellent. The various departments are full of matter that will attract the ladies; the fashions show wedding and other garments, and the lesson in dressmaking describes how to make them. There is a special article on wedding observances, the Care of the Hair is practically treated, and sound advice is given about children in summer.

MICHIGAN STATE FAIR

Will Be Held in Detroit Aug. 29 to Sept. 6

$10,000 ADDED TO PREMIUMS

Determined Effort to Make It the Best Ever Held in Michigan and in Many Respects Superior to the Great Toronto Exposition.

Visitors to the State Fair, held under the auspices of the Michigan State Agricultural society at Detroit, August 29 to September 6, will witness an industrial exhibition that will surpass in many respects the famous Toronto exposition. As a matter of fact both in attendance, the value of the exhibits, and the premiums offered, the State Fair has grown into an annual exposition that has attained no little fame far beyond the boundaries of the state.

One of the most important factors that has entered into the upbuilding of the fair is the perfect harmony existing between the officers of the Agricultural society. President Fred Postal, former senator, A. J. Doherty, Secretary I. H. Butterfield, Treasurer John McKay, and Business Manager Chas. A. Floyd, have worked early and late for the success of the 1907 exhibition, and the wonderful improvements made in the buildings, grounds, transportation facilities, premium lists, and extra attractions are mute testimonials to their efforts. The experience Mr. Doherty gained as chairman of the finance committee last year has proved invaluable to him as general superintendent. He knows the fair's shortcomings and has evolved plans that will overcome them as rapidly as possible.

It has been determined to add $10,000 of the appropriation made by the state legislature to aid the fair to the premium lists. This will make the awards given exhibitors by far the most liberal in the history of the state. In addition new classes have been added in the cattle, horse, sheep, and swine departments. Secretary Butterfield will begin the work of mailing the premium lists to farmers, stock growers, and former exhibitors about June 1.

An improvement this year that will appeal to every exhibitor is the adding of three sidetracks to the railroad facilities within the grounds. Negotiations are now on with the Grand Trunk railroad for the installation of the new sidings, and the improvement will almost triple the capacity of the fair yards.

The fair of 1906 was handicapped to a great extent through several buildings being completed only a day or two before the gates were opened. In many instances unfinished sidewalks, and rough interiors greeted the visitor, but this has all been changed and the grounds undergone a complete transformation. Under the direction of L. R. Taft, of the Michigan Agricultural college, a landscape gardener has laid out new walks, and arranged to turn the north end of the grounds into a rest spot. Heretofore it has been used by the horsemen and contained tumble down shacks. The beautifying of this spot will remove the only unsightly feature on the many acres devoted to State Fair purposes. By mid-summer a superb collection of shrubs will be at their best while lawns that were seeded a year ago will be covered with a carpet of heavy grass.

"Something doing every minute," has been the motto of Business Manager Floyd, in arranging the attractions to be seen from the grand stand at night and between races during the afternoon program. Mr. Floyd has contracted for almost every form of entertainment known to the amusement world, and also for several special features that have never been seen outside of New York and Chicago. His program as arranged includes: High diving, deep sea diving, gymnastic work on apparatus, wild west scenes. He is at present endeavoring to arrange for a genuine western village to be shown on the grounds. If he is successful in completing arrangements tiny Indian papooses can be seen as they stare unblinkingly from the narrow framework strapped to their mother's back. War dances will be given in full Indian regalia every afternoon and evening, and among the relics of the old western days shown will be a stage coach that has been riddled with bullets time and again while crossing the plains. A special feature will be made of the Indian museum, lecturers being present to explain the history and significance of every article shown.

Every visitor will be interested in the ostrich farm. Between 50 and 60 birds will be shown, in addition to over a score of "chicks" that are far larger than a good-sized hen. The details of ostrich farming will be gone into thoroughly while a collection of magnificent feathers will be on exhibition. Several of the mammoth birds have been trained to draw sulky and will be seen upon the race track.

The fair management has determined that no criticism can be made this year of the various entertainments granted the privileges of the fair grounds. Every show must be absolutely moral in tone, and fulfill every representation of what is to be seen inside the tents.

Dairymen who visit the state fair will have an opportunity of seeing a milking machine in actual operation. Gov. Warner is the owner of the only milking machine in the state in addition to the one that will be shown at the fair. They are mechanical contrivances that show the constant effort inventors are making to reduce the cost of production in the dairy and butter business.

The educational department of the fair is under the personal supervision of George B. Horton, of Fruit Ridge, president of the Michigan State Grange. Mr. Horton has placed a large share of the detail work in the hands of Thomas M. Sattler, superintendent of the Jackson county schools. The work has become one of Mr. Sattler's hobbies, and in a letter to President Postal he recently declared, "
