

Two Pretty June Weddings

CLEVENGER—TREAT

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Treat, on Oak street, Wednesday, June 19, occurred the wedding of their daughter, Miss Theoda, and Mr. Walter Cleverger. Both of the young people are well and favorably known having been brought up in this community. Elaborate preparations had been made and over one hundred and fifty guests were invited. At high noon the bridal couple, attended by Mrs. Nellie B. Hendra as maid of honor and Mr. Elmer J. Powers as best man, marched into the sitting room Mendelssohn's "Wedding March," beautifully rendered by Miss Cecil Raymond, and took their places in the bay window under an arch of bunting and myrtle where the ring ceremony was used and where Rev. Charles A. Shook, of the Advent Christian church, pronounced them husband and wife.

The bride was tastefully attired in a gown of white silk mull with elaborate trimmings and wore a cream rose in her hair. The maid of honor was also attired in white, while the groom and his attendant wore the conventional black.

Following the congratulations the guests were ushered into the dining tent, which had been pitched on the lawn, where a four course dinner was served.

The happy couple left at 2:38 p.m. for their future home in Appleton, Wis., where Mr. Cleverger has a lucrative position with the Pettibone & Peabody company. The bride is a charming young lady held in high esteem by all her friends. She graduated from our public schools in the class of 1903 and for the last three years has been a teacher in the 5th grade. She has also been active in church work and has filled the positions of organist, president and secretary of the Loyal Worker's society and teacher in the Sunday school of the Advent Christian church of which she has been a faithful member.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Cleverger and is a young man of excellent habits and with a bright and promising future. Many valuable presents were received. Those from out of town who attended the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Albert Stevens, Ironton, Ohio; Mr. Robert Patterson, N. Amherst, Ohio; Mr. E. J. Powers, Chicago, Ill.; and Miss Jessie Harper, Michigan City, Ind.

MARBLE—LINK

The wedding of Miss Nellie Maude Link and Charles Monroe Marble was solemnized at eight o'clock Tuesday evening at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Eli Link, 28 Glenwood avenue, Battle Creek. Rev. Marian Carpenter, of Detroit, performed the ceremony, which was witnessed by about eighty friends. The bride was gowned in white embroidered mull and carried sweet peas. The couple were unattended save for Miss Helen Percy, who carried the ring in a basket of flowers.

The home was attractively decorated in palms and flowering plants, the ceremony being performed beneath a floral wedding bell. The dining room was arranged in red, the bride's table being particularly artistic with a large cluster of American Beauties.

Congratulations and the serving of a collation followed the ceremony, the large veranda being used for the purpose, and during which Mr. and Mrs. Marble made their escape and were taken to Augusta in an automobile where they boarded a Michigan Central train for Chicago. From that city they will go on an extended trip West, which includes Denver and intervening points. The going away gown was of handsome brown cloth. Mr. Marble is an office attaché of the Quaker Oats company, where he has a responsible position. His popularity with associates was emphasized by the presentation of an elegant leather rocker. Mrs. Marble is a Battle Creek girl, and secured her education in the public schools, graduating in the 1904 class. She took a full business course in a special college and for the past two years has been employed by the Ellis Publishing Co., as shipping clerk. One room was set aside for the presents, which were rich and elegant. In addition to much solid silver, cut glass, hand-painted china and other articles, was a purse of $100 in gold from the bride's parents and from her brothers, Messrs. Eli Jr., and Henry Link, one of $50 in gold. A new residence on James street is in progress of construction and will be ready in a few weeks. Until that time they will be with Mr. and Mrs. Link at the conclusion of their honeymoon trip.

Guests from out of town were: Mr. and Mrs. Walter Crouch, Detroit; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Bennett, Richland; Eli Link, Jr., San Francisco; Elmer Carpenter, Detroit; Miss Laura Hunter, Chicago; Miss Amelia Gosline, South Bend; Mrs. M. Hunter and Miss Ruth Hunter, Buchanan; Mr. and Mrs. George Van Tuyle and son Lansing.

Remarkable Rescue

That truth is stranger than fiction, has once more been demonstrated in the little town of Fedora, Tenn., the residence of C. V. Pepper. He writes: "I was in bed, entirely disabled with hemorrhages of the lungs and throat. Doctors failed to help me, and all hope had fled when I began taking Dr. King's New Discovery. Then instant relief came. The coughing soon ceased; the bleeding diminished rapidly, and in three weeks I was able to go to work."

JEALOUS WOMAN MAKES MISTAKE

A woman at Buchanan was jealous of her husband and the hired girl. She resolved to make a test and accordingly one evening put a shawl over her head and sat in the kitchen. Her husband, as she supposed, came in and immediately she was folded in a fond embrace and kissed. The wife was very angry and struck a match to let her husband see who it was he had been kissing. It wasn't her husband but the hired man.

FRENCH PREMIER IS PUT ON HIS DEFENSE

ASKED TO JUSTIFY MEASURES AGAINST WINE-GROWERS.

INSULTED BY DEPUTIES

Declares He Will Continue to Uphold
Law by Force—Bloody Conflicts with Troops.

Paris, June 21.—The government was put on its defense in the chamber of deputies Thursday afternoon when it was asked to justify the repressive measures adopted against the rebellious wine-growers of the south, but after subjecting Premier Clemenceau to a hot fire the deputies decided to postpone until Friday a formal interpellation on the subject, on which the fate of the ministry hangs.

Seldom has the chamber been so full of excited deputies. The absence of reliable news made them nervous, and immediately after the session was opened there were noisy demands for full information. Clemenceau was willing to answer questions, but he had little to impart beyond what was already known.

Bound to Uphold the Law.
After confirming the reports of the sanguinary fighting at Narbonne and Montpellier, for which he blamed the local roughs, the premier declared his intention to repel attacks on public buildings until driven from his post by the chamber. He added that his orders to the troops were not to fire except as a last resort, but he declared that the use of rifles was necessary to uphold the law and the united republic.

M. Clemenceau, who spoke to a tumultuous house, was frequently interrupted by the din and was addressed in insulting terms. He closed his remarks with intimating that he had no particular desire to remain in power.

Wild Excesses in Narbonne.
Narbonne, June 21.—The riotous element of the populace of this place cast off all restraint Thursday afternoon and the city became the scene of many wild excesses. A secret police agent was lynched and other persons were treated with the most extraordinary brutality. For a gendarme or policeman to appear on the streets alone was to court the risk of being clubbed to death. The troops ultimately were obliged to intervene for the protection of the officers of the law, which resulted in further bloodshed.

The mob attempted to rush the soldiery, but the latter fixed bayonets and repelled the assaults. Revolvers were drawn by the rioters and the troops were fired upon until they were forced in self defense to shoot. Numbers of the mob fell, four persons being killed, among whom was a girl 20 years of age. Eleven others are known to have been wounded.

Peripatetic, France, June 21.—A desperate attempt was made Thursday night by a huge crowd of rioters to burn down the prefecture. A fire was started simultaneously in four quarters of the building. The crowd fought off the fire brigade for a time, but assisted by the troops, the firemen finally succeeded in extinguishing the flames. The building was badly damaged.

Man and Wife Killed by Train.
Colorado Springs, Col., June 21.—D. W. Cell, of Fountain, Col., one of the earliest settlers of this region, and his wife were killed by a Colorado & Southern train near Crews, eight miles south of this city, Thursday. Their year-old baby was drawn out from beneath the wheels of the engine unhurt.

A HARD LID TO HOLD.

STATE NEARLY DONE IN HAYWOOD TRIAL

DEFENSE WILL MOVE AT ONCE FOR ACQUITTAL VERDICT.

DATE OF DRAFT FIXED

Direct Connection Shown Between Pettibone's Store and Orchard at Work on the Bradley Crime.

Boise, Idaho, June 21.—Unless there should be unforeseen delay in securing two final pieces of evidence, the state will close its case Friday against William D. Haywood, whom it charges with the murder of Frank Steunenberg. This announcement was made Thursday afternoon by Senator Borah, of the prosecution, and when Clarence Darrow of the defense took up the discussion of the arrangement of time he made it very clear that directly the state closed he and his associates would move the court for an instruction directing a verdict of acquittal.

It is now anticipated that the state will close by noon; that the afternoon session will be devoted to argument of the expected motion of the defense, and if the court rules adversely on the motion the opening statement in behalf of Haywood will be made by Mr. Darrow on Saturday.

The prosecution succeeded Thursday in again showing a direct connection with the store of George Pettibone in Denver and Harry Orchard at work on the Bradley crime in San Francisco, and promised to make the connection with Pettibone personally by handwriting experts who will be called Friday. Original records of the Pacific Postal Telegraph company were produced showing that in September and October, 1904, remittances of $97.50 and $48 respectively were made, the first by "J. Wolf," and the second by "P. Bone," from 1725 Stout street, in Denver—the address of Pettibone's store—to "H. Green," in care of Peter L. Huff, at 211 Taylor street, San Francisco.

Haywood Denounced Steunenberg.
The state also showed that while at Silver City, Idaho, in 1899, Haywood declared that "Steunenberg was a tyrant and a monster who should be exterminated, and by James Kirwan, acting secretary-treasurer of the Western Federation of Miners, that Jack Simpkins and Marion Moore were made members of the executive board of the federation in 1905, and that control of all expenditures made by the organization was vested in the president and secretary-treasurer.

For the rest it was a day of reading, with Senator Borah as first reader. Judge Wood admitted many of the strongly worded articles of the Miners' Magazine in which Frank Steunenberg was bitterly denounced. These were admitted as showing the animus of the federation officials against Steunenberg, and showing animus against Justices Goddard and Gabbert of the supreme court of Colorado, whom Harry Orchard swore he tried many times to kill. The state introduced in evidence the decisions of those judges on the Colorado eight-hour law and the habeas corpus applications of Charles H. Moyer.

Date of $100 Draft Fixed.

It was stated Thursday night that the prosecution had received a telegram from Denver showing that the date on the draft for $100 sent by William D. Haywood to Jack Simpkins was December 21, 1905. Orchard testified that when Simpkins left Caldwell after the first attempt on the life of Frank Steunenberg he asked him to get $100 for him. The unsigned letter which Orchard got at Caldwell after his arrest, and which he said was written by George Pettibone, one of the codefendants, informed him that "that" had been sent to "Jack" on December 21, 1905, and that he should have received it. The state produced the drafts sent by Haywood to Simpkins and among them was one for $100 sent on some date in the 20's of December, 1905, but the particular day could not be made out because the second figure had been cut out by the perforator used on the draft.

Detectives were detailed to further trace the $100 draft and the telegram from Denver states that the bank records show that December 21 was the date of issue. The testimony involved is of such importance that the state may delay closing its case until it can produce it, or it may close with the reservation that it be permitted to make later proof of the matter.

Nealon Wins the Suburban.

New York, June 21.—Nealon, a western horse, owned by C. E. Durnell, ridden by Jockey W. Dugan and quoted at 20 to 1, won the great suburban handicap at Sheepshead Bay Thursday. Montgomery was second, two lengths behind the winner, with Beacon Light third. The time was 2:06 2-5. Electioneer, the favorite, and the heavily played Keene entry, Superman and Veil, were badly beaten.

Cleveland Has Indigestion.

Princeton, N. J., June 21.—According to a statement issued from the home of former President Cleveland Thursday night, the alarming reports sent broadcast concerning the condition of Mr. Cleveland are practically groundless. He is suffering from an attack of acute indigestion, but no operation has been performed and none was contemplated, the statement says.

New York, June 21.—John D. Rockefeller's automobile, in which Mr. Rockefeller was being rather hurriedly driven to his country home Thursday, was stopped by a constable at Elmsford and the chauffeur was subsequently fined $25 for exceeding the speed limit. Mr. Rockefeller paid the fine.

Hospital Employees Poisoned.

Norristown, Pa., June 21.—Over 300 employees of the state hospital for the insane here were taken suddenly ill Thursday night and are apparently suffering from ptomaine poisoning. It is thought that the illness was caused by eating stewed chicken which was served for dinner.

OLD FAMILY HAS REUNION

Sparks Family, Which Came to Berrien in 1828 Held Tuesday

TWENTY-EIGHT PRESENT

Cornelius and Susan Sparks, the Founders of the Sparks Family Settled Near Niles and the Family Tree Has Never Stopped Branching

Twenty-eight direct descendants of Cornelius and Susanna Sparks, ancestors of the Sparks family in Berrien county, gathered in St. Joseph last Tuesday for a family reunion. Three generations, embracing in all twenty-eight persons completed the gathering and there were residents of almost every portion of Berrien county present.

Only two of the children of the ancestors of the Sparks family remain today. One of these is Wilson Sparks of Benton Harbor, and the other is his sister, Mrs. John Erwin of Manistee. The remainder are the descendants of these two and of their brothers and sisters who have now passed away.

A family picnic was enjoyed at the noon hour and the remainder of the day was spent in reviewing the well remembered experiences of days long gone by. The gathering was one of the happiest that it is possible to imagine and it is needless to say that it was enjoyed to the limit by every member of the big family.

It was truly a representative gathering, coming from many parts of Berrien county and was composed of the following: W. D. Sparks, Niles Tp.; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sparks, Berrien Springs; Mrs. Fannie Miller, Niles; Mr. and Mrs. Wilson Sparks, Benton Harbor; Mrs. E. M. Sparks, Buchanan; Rene Sparks, Buchanan; Lillias Sparks, Niles; Nina Sparks, Berrien Springs; S. F. Sparks, Niles; R. A. Walton, Niles; Edith Vanderbeck, Benton Harbor; Mr. and Mrs. B. J. Sparks, Berrien Centre; Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Sparks, Buchanan; Mrs. Minnie Smith, Buchanan; Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Sparks, Fairland; Mrs. Clarence Vinton, Coloma; Misses Jennie and Lou Alexander, Buchanan; Mrs. Jane Vanderbeck, Benton Harbor; Mrs. R. A. Walton.

The ancestors of this remarkable family came to Berrien county in 1828 and settled near Niles and although Cornelius, the father, and Susanna, the mother, have long since passed away the Sparks family is branching out steadily and were they alive the ancestors would have reason to be proud of the gathering which met in St. Joseph.

The Sparks family had one sad thought to mar their day. Just before the family assembled in the morning one of the attendants from Buchanan received word that Allen Sparks had committed suicide by hanging himself at his home in Valentine, Nebraska. The only motive for the hanging was that the heat had unbalanced his mind. The deceased was a very rich man, being in the banking and mercantile business at Valentine.

COURT CLERK EMBEZZLER

FRANK WOLLER OF MILWAUKEE TAKEN INTO CUSTODY.

Admits Shortage of About $30,000—Caught in Wheat Slump Six Years Ago.

Milwaukee, June 21.—Frank E. Woller, clerk of the municipal and district courts, was arrested Thursday afternoon on a warrant signed by Judge Neelen, charging him with embezzlement on January 2, 1907, of $30,000. The warrant was served by District Attorney McGovern personally. Woller will be taken to court Friday and will plead guilty and receive his sentence.

When seen after his arrest Woller said: "This is of old standing. It extends back six years or more, when I was in the commission business with a Chicago man, and I have been trying to cover my shortage ever since. I don't know how much it is. The comptroller knows that." "At the time that wheat took an awful tumble I lost money as well as the rest. I had this big bank account, and I borrowed from Peter to pay Paul, expecting to be able to cover the shortage in time to prevent a discovery."

"I have always kept my books straight. The only discrepancy is that the balance on the books is in excess of the real balance. In the bank."

BLUES WON A VICTORY

Yesterday Over the New Carlisle Team by 8 to 3.

GAME WAS HARD FOUGHT

Johnnie Butler, Jr., Weighing 8 Pounds, Was Hero of the Day—Probably Responsible for Victory

The Buchanan Blues and the New Carlisle team fought hard in a game of baseball yesterday afternoon resulting in a victory for the Blues.

Johnnie Butler, Jr., a little fellow weighing eight pounds and possessing the same baseball talents as his daddy, was scheduled to play second base, but it was discovered that owing to his small size and light weight he will not be able to be in trim until about fifteen years hence. A big strong man, named Krafts played in his place, but it is said the little fellow's arrival spurred the Blues on to victory by 8 to 3, or one run to the sound.

The cannon like shots by Cannon had their effects on the New Carlisle players, keeping them down to a small handful of hits.

Hanover and Bruce both handed the opponents a lemon with three hits to their credit. The following is the score:

Publicity as a Weapon

Publicity is a powerful weapon. Until the government began to use it few realized its actual power. Some do not as yet.

This publicity weapon, however, is one which all can understand. It is as if an officer should stand over one with a megaphone, and say: "I am watching everything you do. I am going to tell everybody everything I see, no matter how bad or discreditable it is, and I shall tell it through this megaphone." The trusts are the offender. The department of commerce and labor, represented by Secretary Oscar Strauss, is the officer. The press is the same as a megaphone. Some may not understand precisely what authority the department possesses, but Secretary Strauss explains that it has direct supervision over great enterprises, that it can inquire into their secrets, examine their books and expose their evils.

The trusts squirmed at first, but the department kept right on. First it went after the beef trust, and then after Standard Oil. Right now there are indictments galore against Standard Oil, almost as many as there have been small competitors crushed. More exposures are certain and although the exact effect in all of its widespread details has not been determined, enough has been accomplished to give some idea of the great power of the weapon.

It is but natural there should be much talk that publicity is unfair. It is the best evidence of effectiveness. Also, it is worthy of note that the department goes on with the work just the same. Mr. Strauss says that the bureau is not designed for destructive purposes and that it does not seek to overthrow or tear down. Mr. Strauss is right, all that is desired or hoped for is a square deal for all, for the public as well as for powerful corporations.

WIRE STRIKE IN FRISCO

OPERATORS TO QUIT DESPITE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE:

President Small of Commercial Telegraphers' Union Refuses to Abide by New York Decision.

Chicago, June 21.—The strike of the telegraph operators, it was announced at one o'clock Friday morning, would begin at one o'clock Friday afternoon at San Francisco and Oakland, on a demand for a 25 per cent. increase in wages.

President S. J. Small of the Commercial Telegraphers' Union of America refuses to abide by the decision of the executive committee in New York Thursday afternoon to call off the strike.

Recognition of the Telegraphers' union by the Western Union Telegraph company is the demand of President Small—a demand which the executive committee in New York Thursday decided not to insist upon.

President Small made the following statement in San Francisco at midnight:

"It makes no difference what the east may do. The union must be recognized. We shall declare strikes in various cities and carry on a guerilla warfare until the Western Union is forced to accede to our demands or until we can bring the matter to the attention of the next congress."

CHAPTER XVII.

THREE days after the arrival of the rescuing force at the plateau Guy Osgard had organized a retreating party, commanded by Joseph, to convey Jack Meredith down to the coast. He knew enough of medicine to recognize the fact that this was no passing indisposition, but a thorough breakdown in health. The work and anxiety of the last year, added to the strange disquieting breath of the simlacine grove, had brought about a serious collapse in the system which only months of rest and freedom from care could repair.

Before the retreating column was ready to march it was discovered that the hostile tribes had finally evacuated the country, which deliverance was brought about not by Osgard's blood stained track through the forest, not by the desperate defense of the plateau, but by the whisper that Victor Durnovo was with them. Truly a man's reputation is a strange thing!

And this man, the mighty warrior whose name was as good as an army in central Africa, went down on his knees one night to Guy Osgard, imploring him to abandon the simlacine plateau, or at all events to allow him to go down to Loango with Meredith and Joseph.

"No," said Osgard; "Meredith held this place for us when he could have left it safely. He has held it for a year. It is our turn now. We will hold it for him. I am going to stay, and you have to stay with me."

For Jack Meredith life was at this time nothing but a constant, never ceasing fatigue. When Osgard helped him into the rough litter they had constructed for his comfort, he laid his head on the pillow, overcome with a dead sleep.

"Goodby, old chg," said Osgard, patting him on the shoulder.

"G'by," and Jack Meredith turned over on his side as if he were in bed, drew up the blanket and closed his eyes. He did not seem to know where he was, and, what was worse, he did not seem to care. Osgard gave the signal to the bearers, and the march began. There is something in the spring of human muscles unlike any other motive power; the power of thought may be felt even on the pole of a litter, and one thing that modern invention can never equal is the comfort of being carried on the human shoulder. The slow, swinging movement came to be part of Jack Meredith's life—indeed, life itself seemed to be nothing but a huge journey thus peacefully accomplished. Through the flapping curtains an endless procession of trees passed before his half closed eyes. The unintelligible gabble of the light hearted bearers of his litter was all that reached his ears. And ever at his side was Joseph, cheerful, indefatigable, resourceful. There was in his mind one of the greatest happinesses of life—the sense of something satisfactorily accomplished—the peacefulness that comes when the necessity for effort is past and left behind—that lying down to rest which must surely be something like death in its kindest form.

The awe inspired by Victor Durnovo's name went before the little caravan like a moral convoy and cleared their path. Thus, guarded by the name of a man whom he hated, Jack Meredith was enabled to pass through a savage country literally cast upon a bed of sickness.

In due course the river was reached and the gentle swing of the litter was changed for the smoother motion of the canoe. And it was at this period of the journey, in the forced restfulness of body entailed, that Joseph's mind soared to higher things and he determined to write a letter to Sir John.

He was, he admitted to himself, no great penman, and his epistolary style tended, perhaps, more to the forcible than to the finished. "Something," he reflected, "that'll just curl his back hair for 'im; that's what I'll write 'im."

Msala had been devastated, and it was within the roofless walls of Durnovo's house that Joseph finally wrote out laboriously the projected capillary invigorator.

"Honored Sir [he wrote]—Trusting you will excuse the liberty, I take up my pen to advise you respectfully—while writing this word Joseph closed his left eye—that my master is taken seriously worse. Having been on the sick list now for a matter of five weeks, he just lies on his bed as weak as a newborn babe, as the saying is, and doesn't take no notice of nothing. I have succeeded in bringing him down to the coast, which we hope to reach tomorrow, and when we get to Loango—a poor sort of place—I shall at once obtain the best advice obtainable—that is to be had. However, I may have to send for it, but, money being no object to either master or me, respectfully I beg to say that every care will be taken. Master having kind friends at Loango, I have no anxiety as to the future, but, honored sir, it has been a near touch in the past—just touch and go, so to speak. Not being in a position to form an estimate of what is the matter with master, I can only respectfully mention that I take it to be a general collapse of the system, brought on, no doubt, by too long a living in the unhealthy platters of central Africa. When I gets him to Loango I shall go straight to the house of Mr. and Miss Gordon, where we stayed before, and with no fear but what we will be received with every kindness and the greatest hospitality. Thank God, honored sir, I've kept my health and strength wonderful and am therefore more able to look after master. When we reach Loango I shall ask Miss Gordon kindly to write to you, sir, seeing as I have no great facility with my pen. I am, honored sir, your respectful servant to command,

JOSEPH ATKINSON,
Late Corporal Two Hundred and Seventeenth Regiment.

With a feeling of considerable satisfaction Joseph approached the bungalow at Loango three days later. The short sea voyage had somewhat revived Meredith, who had been desirous of walking up from the beach, but after a short attempt had been compelled to enter the spring cart which Joseph had secured.

Joseph walked by the side of this cart with an erect carriage and a suppressed importance suggestive of ambulance duty in the old days.

As the somewhat melancholy cortege approached the house, Meredith drew back the dusky brown holland curtain and looked anxiously out. Nor were Joseph's eyes devoid of expectation. He thought that Jocelyn would presently emerge from the flower hung trellis of the veranda, and he had rehearsed over and over again a neat, respectful speech, explanatory of his action in bringing a sick man to the house.

But the hanging fronds of flower and leaf remained motionless, and the cart drove unchallenged round to the principal door.

A black servant—a stranger—held the handle and stood back invitingly. Supported by Joseph's arm, Jack Meredith entered. The servant threw open the drawing room door; they passed in. The room was empty. On the table lay two letters, one addressed to Guy Osgard, the other to Jack Meredith.

Jack Meredith fumbled rather feebly at his letter. It was distinctly an effort to him to tear the paper.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury.

as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury, and is taken internally acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally and made in Toledo Ohio, by F. J. Cheney & Co. Testimonials free. Sold by Druggists. Price 75c per bottle.
