LABOR DAY PLANS GOT ANY "THINKS?"

One Patriotic Merchant Suggests Good Idea

Plans for Labor Day continue to swell up. A prominent merchant of this city said: "If other merchants, their employees, and their friends chip in a large U. S. dollar toward the Labor Day fund, the whole thing would pull out admirably and satisfactorily."

That merchant, who wishes his name withheld for the present, had the right sort of spirit. He knows what Buchanan needs and is willing to help in anyway that will advance the interests of this community.

The Elks have decided their position on this Labor Day agitation. There will be other things coming to make the plans complete.

We overheard somebody remark, "Why in blazes, didn't Buchanan celebrate the Fourth like other enterprising and wide-awake towns? Do you suppose I will stand for this solemn, grave-yard quietness another time?"

This fellow wants to know why Buchanan didn't celebrate in a more lively fashion on the Fourth. Whose fault was it?

We certainly don't want to be accused of belonging to deadwood. We have the enthusiasm—the money and other qualities that go toward boosting the town.

Merchants know what it means to have a crowd on the streets. They know that those crowds always have money bulging in their pockets. They are generally a good natured, liberal spending crowd who come to town to get their money's worth when it comes to enjoying whatever the entertaining committee can offer.

The investment of a paltry dollar—or a few more—in a good thing always nets big results.

If any other citizen has some good suggestion to offer for a Labor Day celebration, let him come forward. The RECORD welcomes all good suggestions. These columns will always be open to any good ideas that will help push this coming event to completion.

Let's all gather all the enthusiasm, loyalty and money towards making a go a Labor Day for Buchanan.

Who will come forward next?

WANTED—Teams, carpenters and laborers at Berrien Springs. Apply to Berrien Springs Power & Electric Co.

Are you operating the tread mill to pour the wealth of your community into the bottomless hoppers of the mail-order house? Are you driving your local merchants out of business? If you are you are killing your town and your own interests.

St. Joe Priest Is Unduly Alarmed on Teddy Bears

The St. Joseph pastor who warned the mothers of his congregation against the Teddy bear as the destroyer of the maternal instinct in little girls clearly belongs to that class which delights in finding things to worry about. The care of a doll, he declared, is the little girl's first manifestation of the feelings of motherhood, which may be true. The Teddy bear, he held, is driving this feeling away. Instead of loving her children, the mother of the future will love her poodle dog.

No doubt the good pastor was in earnest, but really the situation does not seem so serious as he imagines. The Teddy bear is merely a fad. It has had a great vogue and perhaps has lived longer than fads usually do, but in time it will pass away and be forgotten. In the meantime the little girl who loves her bear is all right. She dresses it, washes it, combs its hair, talks to it, kisses and spansks it just as she did her dolly and as she will her doll again when dolls return to favor. Her maternal instincts are being developed as truly as though a bunch of rags or a china-faced dummy were the object of her affections when she grows old she will differentiate, but in the innocence of childhood, in the make-believe world of the little girl, bear or doll or woolly dog, it is all the same with her, something to love, care for and have for her own.

Hottest Contest of the Season Due Tomorrow

BUCHANAN INDEPENDENTS VS. FAMOUS BUCHANAN BLUES

The Buchanan Independents this morning issued a challenge to the famous Buchanan Blues which was promptly accepted and the game is to be played tomorrow, (Wednesday) at 4 p. m., sharp, at the Buchanan ball park.

Herbert Roe is the captain of the Independents. The batteries will be Ritcherson, pitcher, (better known as "Rit" of the Jackson State league and the only Buchanan South paw who ever beat "Do-wah-jack") and McCann, catcher (of the New Carlisle Indians.)

This promises to be the hottest contest of the season as we all know the participants to be real ball players "Rit" is in fine form.

Each player will be there with the "goods." It will cost you only fifteen cents to see the game.

Here's the line-up:
Ritcherson ("Rit") pitcher;
McCann, catcher.
Merson, first base.
Cooper, 2nd base.
Brant, 3rd base.
Roe, (Capt.) short stop.
Weldon, centre field.
Ray, right field.
Fuller, Koons and Kasnick, utilities.

PRESIDENT CAMPS OUT

He, His Son and Some of His Nephews Spend a Night in the Open on the Shore.

Oyster Bay, N. Y., July 16.—President Roosevelt spent the night in the open on the south shore at Lloyd's Neck. With him were his sons and three of his nephews. For years the president has made it a practice to spend a night either in the woods or on the shore with his boys, and the night picnic, as it is called, has grown to be for them a real climax of delight in the summer vacation.

The night was an ideal one, the new moon hanging in the west until the camp fire burned low, and the air being stirred just enough to be delightful, the evening meal was cooked over the camp fire, and breakfast the same way.

LONG RACE AT SEA

Course Is from New York to Australia and the Racers Are Steam Freight Ships.

New York, July 16.—A race to Australia, as in the old days—but by steam, not by sail—has been begun from this port. Two heavily-laden freight steamers, one a German and the other British, are the racers. The former is the Elbringer, of the Tyser line, and her rival is the Bolivian, of the United States and Australian line. There is keen rivalry between these two companies in sending freight to the Antipodes.

The two vessels will make one of the longest ocean runs in the world, from here to St. Vincent, Cape Verde islands, where they will coal, and thence around the Cape of Good Hope to Freemantle, West Australia. It will probably be fifty-five days before they will reach Freemantle.

INTERURBAN WRECKS WAGON: SEVERAL HURT

Southern Michigan Car Runs Into Wagon at Crossing in Niles

MORTORMAN BREAKS LEG

George Huss Pinned Between Controller Box and Bags of Wheat, Suffering Serious Injuries—Boy is also Victim

Niles, July 13.—A car of the Southern Michigan Railway Co., crashed into a wagon loaded with wheat at the Pokagon street crossing in this city early last evening and three were seriously injured. The victims are:

George Huss, motorman, leg broken and bruised about the body.

Matthew Egan, son of driver, badly crushed; may be hurt internally.

Peter Egan, driver, badly bruised; injuries not serious.

The car, Egan claims, was running at a high rate of speed. He was driving slowly over the track with his load and did not realize the danger until the car was almost upon him. The crash was terrific. The wagon was broken into kindling, the elder Egan was shot into a ditch, and his son Matthew, hurled high in the air, dropping on the front platform of the car amid an avalanche of wheat. The compact of the collision stove in the front end of the car, breaking off the controller. In this wreck and the pile of wheat Mortormann Huss was buried. His leg was badly crushed and his body covered with bruises. Young Egan would undoubtedly have been killed had it not been for the heroism of Huss, when the lad struck the platform he was knocked half unconscious. The car was still moving rapidly and he was about to roll off in front of the trucks when the motorman, bleeding from several wounds and almost helpless himself with a broken leg, grasped the youthful victim and held him fast until the car was stopped.

There were about 50 passengers on the car and the collision threw many from their seats. Many women, horrified at the sight, began to scream at the top of their voices.

ERROR MAY CLOSE SCHOOL

Michigan Normal Loses Big sum of Money

Lansing, Mich., July 13.—Botch work by the legislature is likely to result in the closing of the Central Normal school at Mount Pleasant, according to a discovery by the attorney general.

The house appropriated $145,000 for the normal, and the senate amended by increasing it to $154,000. The house refused to concur, and a conference committee recommended that the senate recede from its position. The senate receded, but sent back the bill to the house without changing the body of the bill, and the house did not pass it. The enrolled bill went to the governor calling for $154,000 without either house having passed it.

Auditor General Bradley has been advised that the Central Normal school cannot draw money, and it will necessitate the closing of the school unless the error can be corrected.

BLUES LOST GAME

It was a hard fought game which was played on the baseball park last Friday between the All-Chicagos and the Buchanan Blues. The local team had the best of the Chicago men, both in batting and fielding.

For eight long innings the All-Chicagos were prevented from scoring a run. By some blunder on the part of the umpire and a few costly errors on the part of the Blues, their opponents were allowed to score four runs in the ninth inning.

It was in the fourth inning that the Blues gained those three runs. "Happy" Crouch was in his usual good form and did such fine work that the pitchers on the All-Chicagos, with national reputations for twirling, were put in the shade. "Happy" struck out nine; Leve, two.

Young People's Picnic Will Be Big Occasion

Young People's Picnic This Year Will be Held Wednesday, August 7.

DIFFERENT THAN OTHERS

Committees Already at Work Planning for Greatest Event in History of Berrien Springs—Many New Features

Berrien Springs, July 15—Wednesday, August 7, is the day that has been set apart for the reunion of Berrien county's young people. On that date Berrien Springs will witness the greatest gathering of young folks that ever occurred there.

Not in many years have the plans and preparations for a picnic been as elaborate as they are this year. For several weeks the numerous committees in charge of the picnic have been at work. The results of their labors are just beginning to be visible.

The Young People's picnic this year will have features which no other picnic has ever had. Not only will the speakers be of local and state renown but the street attractions will be of a higher grade than is usually seen at a one-day celebration.

The following committees will have charge of the Young People's Picnic at Berrien Springs, Wednesday, Aug. 7, 1907.

Marshal of the Day—J. I. Gorham.
Transportation—Earl Smith, R. R. Ray and J. D. Boone.

Finance—H. S. White, Aaron Hendleman.

Sports—Aaron Hendleman, Walter Prendy, G. S. Greene, H. S. White.

Music and Attractions—C. A. Wilkinson.

Privileges—Jake Dilley.

Fireworks—John Aldrich, Aaron Hendleman.

Decorations—Jessie Wollam, G. G. Gaugler.

Speakers—Lee J. Hovey.

Advertising—C. A. Wilkinson, L. J. Hovey, W. J. Banyon, Geo. R. Benson, Willard Brewer, W. A. VanDor and all the vice presidents.

Entertainment—Every citizen in Berrien Springs.

BERRIEN SPRINGS WANTS LIGHTS

The matter of lighting our streets with electric arc lights has not yet been definitely settled, but we are assured by Councilman G. R. Sparks, that the matter has been taken up by the village board, and the power secured from the dam people. With out doubt, within a few weeks the old gasoline lamps, which have been a sort of "sore eye" will be replaced by new up to-date arc lights. This is one more step to the front. Our town is looking up and picking up and every move of this kind bounts big.—Berrien Springs Era.

EXPERIMENT FAILS IN FRANCE

Reduction of Letter Postage Makes Less Revenue and Heavier Expenses.

Paris, July 16.—The reduction of letter postage in France last year from 3 to 2 cents has not resulted in the augmentation of mailed letters expected, but has created a large deficit which has seriously raised the question as to the advisability of continuing the reform.

The diminution in postal receipts from first-class mail matter for the first nine months under the new law is $4,457,230, to which must be added the increased cost of service, amounting to $571,720. The increase in the percentage of letters mailed under the reduced rate of postage was less than 10 per cent.

Elks Are in Council

Philadelphia, July 16.—The forty-third grand lodge session of the Benevolent Protective Order of Elks was formally opened here at the Grand Opera house when the visiting delegates and members of the organization were welcomed to the city in behalf of the Elks reunion committee.

Is This Restraint of Trade?

Atlantic Beach, Fla., July 16.—The Georgia-Florida Saw Mill association has decided to shut down all saw mills owned or operated by members of the association for one month, beginning Aug. 1. This action was taken on account of the low prices of lumber.

Strike of Ore Trimmers

Duluth, Minn., July 15.—Seven hundred and fifty ore trimmers on the Duluth, Missabe and Northern dock struck for increase in pay. The day men want $2.50 in place of $2.25, and night men want $2.75 in place of $2.50.

"Run Them In" and Let the Law Take Its Course

Our night watch should give the merchants and village better protection while on duty at nights. He should rid the village of bums and drunks—"run them in"—and prosecute them the same as the marshal does in the day time. It is known that bums were responsible for the fires which damaged Skeet's ice house and Binns' barn.

Now, when citizens see this bunch of hoboes carousing around and disturbing the public peace and quiet, why is the officer on duty not only deaf and blind, but negligent of his duty intrusted to him.

We have judges and justices of the peace amply equipped with law and reference books to determine the guilt of men brought before them and to decide whether they should stand trial or be let off with light or heavy fines.

It is not the prescribed duty of a police officer to be the judge and jury, but to serve the public as a protector and guardian, in other words, to see that the laws are enforced, regardless of how high or how low a man's station in life may be. The moment he detects persons breaking the law or disturbing the peace he should "run them in" and give the judges a chance to assist in preserving the public peace.

The recent fires would not have occurred had the night officer, at the beginning, assumed responsibility in ridding the town of those regular night carousals. They should not, because some disaster befalls the city, come out with excuses for not properly executing the duties assigned to him as an officer.

To show how an officer can be negligent we cite one instance. On July 4th, when our town marshal's attention was called to the way children under thirteen years of age were carrying and using toy pistols his excuse was that there were no village ordinances to cover the case, and it would be necessary to go through a whole lot of foolish red tape in order to keep down the dreaded results of lockjaw. To say that there is no law to protect children against such dangerous carelessness is equal to neglecting one's duty in not keeping posted on the laws. Read what our state provides regarding toy pistols:

AN ACT TO PREVENT THE SALE AND USE OF TOY PISTOLS
(11530) Sec. 1. The People of the State of Michigan enact, That no person shall sell, give, or furnish to any child under the age of thirteen years, any cartridge of any form or material, or any pistol, gun, or other mechanical contrivance, specially arranged or designated for the explosion of the same.

(11531) Sec. 2. Any person, violating any of the provisions of the foregoing section, shall be deemed guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction thereof, shall be punished by a fine of not less than ten dollars, nor more than fifty dollars, and costs of prosecution, or imprisonment in the county jail not less than ten days nor more than ninety days, or both such fine and imprisonment, in the discretion of the court.

(11532) Sec. 3. It shall be unlawful for any person under the age of thirteen years, to have in possession, or use any of the articles named in section one of this act.

when pointed out to him probably there would not have been a funeral yesterday of an eight-year-old boy—the victim of lockjaw.

Trading at Home

If figures could be obtained showing the amount of money that every year goes out of Buchanan in trade with mail order houses and retail stores of larger cities, they would be astonishing. It is a big factor with every business man and must be constantly reckoned with in the development and expansion of his interests.

Individuals take the position, sometimes, that the small amount they may spend in the purchase of household goods outside of the city is but a drop in the bucket of the yearly proceeds of trade.

In taking this view they overlook the fact that there are, perhaps, scores of people taking the same view, and that what in the individual case amounts to but a trifle forms in the aggregate a total which materially lessens the prosperity of home interests.

Aside from the argument that every dollar spent at home is a dollar spent for the advancement of the interests of the whole community, it is a fact, sometimes not recognized, that there is seldom, if ever, any saving to the purchaser in buying goods of mail order houses or firms of larger cities. Attractive inducements may be offered and on the surface there may seem to be a saving, but in the end it will be found that the home merchant gives the best deal and is the real patron of household economy.

The Old Grist Mill Is Still in Danger

The merchants and the citizens contributed $200.00 and gave it to the owner of the big, old grist mill to cut off the third story and reduce it to a two-story building in order to render it less liable as a fire-trap.

When Harry Binns' barn burned Sunday morning, the old mill, a short distance from the burning barn, caught on fire due to the fact that the windows and some of the siding was not properly replaced.

It is now up to the council committee, or the citizens' committee, which had the remodeling in charge, to see that the job is more properly executed. The money was subscribed for a specified purpose. Let us hope that this purpose is lived up to and insure us the fire protection our people paid for.

NATIONS GROWING PERFECT

No Need for The Hague Peace Conference if Speaker Cannon Has It Right.

Milwaukee, July 16.—Speaker Cannon, of the house of representatives, and a party of Chicago business men passed through here en route to Oconomowoc on a pleasure trip. In regard to the Japanese situation Cannon said: "The United States will never, in my judgment, give Japan or any other nation on earth just cause for war; and I have no fear that Japan, or any other nation in sight, will give us any just cause for war with it." Referring to the presidential question he said he had nothing to communicate, but remarked that Taft was a "big" man.

"As to your question with reference to government ownership of railroads," said the speaker, "the best possible answer I can give to that question is to say that if the people of the district which I represent in congress want government ownership of railroads, they will have to send some one else to Washington to vote their preference in that direction."

Fairbanks Having a Good Time.
Tacoma, Wash., July 16.—Vice President Fairbanks spent a quiet but enjoyable Sunday in Tacoma. He was brought to the city by Chester Thorne in his private yacht El Primero, a party of Tacomans including members of the chamber of commerce having welcomed Fairbanks aboard the yacht.

Nunnery for Negroes.
Rome, July 16.—The form of organization and statutes for the Sisterhood for Negroes and Indians, organized by Miss Catherine Drexel, of Philadelphia, have been approved and authorized by the pope. Miss Drexel has been in Rome for some time, working on this project.

Twenty-three tickets were sold to Chicago-Sunday and 14 to Michigan City.

PERJURY ONCE MORE

Another Witness for the Haywood Defense Has Been Put Under Arrest.

HIS CASE SEEMS A BAD ONE

Contradiction of What He Said by Oral and Written Testimony.

One of Orchard's Uncles Acknowledged to Have Died Insane—State's Rebuttal Is Pretty Lively Right Along.

Boise, Ida., July 15.—Another warrant charging perjury against a witness who has testified for the defense in the case of the state of Idaho against William D. Haywood has been issued. C. W. Aller, formerly a telegraph operator and ticket agent of the Florence and Cripple Creek railroad at Cripple Creek, Col., is charged with the offense by the prosecuting attorney of Ada county. He will be arrested. Both Aller and McGee, who was arrested on the same charge, will be given an opportunity to give bonds and the preliminary hearing will be set to take place within the next few days.

Orchard's Uncle Was Insane.

Eleven witnesses in rebuttal were examined in the Haywood trial. Harry Orchard reappeared on the stand and was asked a few questions as to his acquaintance with some of the witnesses for the defense who have testified as to his movements. On being turned over for cross-examination he admitted that his uncle, Peter McKinley, committed suicide by hanging thirteen or fourteen years ago. Counsel for the defense asked if this uncle was not insane before he killed himself and also tried to show by the witness that his maternal grandfather was insane, his monomania being imaginary crimes committed a long time ago in Ireland. Orchard denied all knowledge of the grandfather, but admitted that his uncle was demented.

Aller's Testimony Is Smashed.

The entire afternoon session was taken up with the examination of witnesses who contradicted the evidence given by C. W. Aller, who testified for the defense in support of the charge of a conspiracy against the Western Federation of Miners in which it is alleged the Mine Owners' association, the Citizens' Alliance and the Pinkerton detective agency were concerned. Aller swore that he saw Orchard and D. C. Scott together at the station of the Florence and Cripple Creek railway on a Sunday about three weeks prior to the explosion at the Independence station, June 6, 1904. Scott swore that he was not in Cripple Creek at the time, and a number of witnesses and a written record corroborated this. As a result of this rebuttal testimony information was sworn out after court adjourned charging Aller with perjury.

AS TO GAS EXPLOSIONS

Expert Says They Cannot Be Caused by a Lighted Cigar.

The explosion at the residence of Fred Bradley in San Francisco was again under consideration, the state undertaking to show that the effect of an explosion of illuminating gas could not have been that described in the depositions taken for the defense in San Francisco. The manager of the Boise Gas company, C. D. Lampson, who was at one time a resident of New York, qualified as an expert. He insisted that gas could not be ignited by a lighted cigar, and that there must be flame before gas can be ignited. He also said that if there had been gas enough in Bradley's vestibule to have exploded it would have been impossible not to smell it. He was cross-examined at considerable length by Richardson and showed a close technical knowledge of gas and its possibilities as an explosive. The general effect of his evidence was that the explosion at the Bradley home could not have been caused by gas.

Much interest was caused by a wordy engagement between E. F. Richardson and E. M. Sabine, an attorney of Idaho Springs, Col. Sabine was engaged in the prosecution of a number of cases charging fourteen members of the Western Federation of Miners with crime and conspiracy during the labor troubles of 1903. Richardson was the defending counsel in these cases. There was a sharp exchange between the two, but enough good-natured badinage to keep the court room in a ripple of laughter for half an hour.

Sabine intimated his willingness to tell many things that Richardson appeared anxious to keep out of the records, and it kept Haywood's counsel busy heading the witness away from dangerous ground. Sabine admitted that Richardson had beaten him, and had cleared his clients, but he managed to get before the jury his opinion that the defendants were guilty notwithstanding a verdict of the jury to the contrary.

Beveridge to Marry Miss Eddy.

Chicago, July 16.—Miss Katherine Eddy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Eddy and niece of Mrs. Marshall Field, will be married to Senator Albert J. ### A Real Good Thing

Buchanan is to be thankful! The Ladies Aid of the Methodist church need more money. This money has to be raised. How it was to be done was a question they have now solved.

They have completed an arrangement with Messrs Richards, Newland, Abbey & Company for Mme. Rose Ivy to give her famous entertainment in their behalf at the Evangelical church Thursday July 18, at 8:15 P. M. The ladies will make a thorough canvas for the sale of tickets and with this a most meritorious attraction. They expect to have a full house, they need it and they ask you to lend your patronage.

Mme. Ivy is a woman of international reputation of exceeding merit, a really great metropolitan attraction and the Ladies Aid is to be congratulated in having her. Mme. Ivy has toured the world, appeared in all the great cities, before most of the "crowned heads" but she prefers to go where she pleases and away from the contamination of city theatres. Mme. Ivy not only stands up among the greatest singers of the world but she is perhaps the most wonderful in the world in that she has such control of her "Will" that she can perform the most astounding feats.

It is said that she can take a chair and hold it in her open hand and have one to half dozen men set on it and hold it with ease. She will stand on the floor and defy ten or fifteen men to move her, dozens of astounding feats are done with the assistance of 20 or 30 local gentlemen who will be selected to occupy seats on the stage.

You have the "necessity", you have the best entertainment ever here and it's up to you to show your help and your patronage.

Tickets can be had of the ladies and at the stores of Messrs. Harry Binns and Dodd's. Prices, (Special) Adults 25c, children 15c.

Meyer Rossen, a Chicago attorney, is spending the day in St. Joseph and was a caller at the county jail. Mr. Rossen was once county attorney for Marion county, Indiana, where the State capital is located. The nature of Mr. Rossen's business has taken him into many prisons and jails, and after looking over the Berrien county jail he pronounces it the most sanitary and well ventilated institution of its kind he has ever visited, and says this jail is far above the average of such institutions. Some of the places Mr. Rossen has visited he pronounces unfit for human beings to live in.

ECKIE SAVES HIS FRIEND

Coloma, Mich., July 13.—Walter Eckersall, former University of Chicago football star and now semi-professional baseball player, played the part of a life saver in a heroic way at Paw Paw lake last evening. Eckie rescued George Hastings, a Chicago resorter, from drowning. Hastings, in company with a young lady, was rowing on the lake when he was attacked with heart failure. He fell into a swoon, and overbalancing body rolled into twenty feet of water. Eckersall was seated on the porch of his cottage at the time. He heard the lady's cries for help and without waiting to secure a boat swam to the rescue.

It was with difficulty that the great athlete located the body of Hastings. After diving several times he succeeded in reaching the prostrate form and grasping it in his arm made for the shore.

Physicians worked over Hastings for half an hour before he was resuscitated. Today the young man is in a precarious condition.

Early Sunday morning at about 3 o'clock, the citizens were awakened by the sound of the Cabinet shop whistle. The barn belonging to Harry Binns was the scene of the fire. The barn is a total wreck and great damage might have occurred to the surrounding buildings had there been a strong wind. The fire department had some difficulty in extinguishing the flames. It is said the fire was caused by some drunken men who were loitering around the barn. As there was no insurance on the barn or contents it is a total loss. Blake's barn which is next to Binns was damaged to some extent but the loss is covered by insurance.

Obituary

CLARENCE DEHAVEN BECK

Clarence DeHaven Beck, son of Harry H. and Rosa M. Beck, was born in Oronoco township September 22, 1899, and died at his home in Buchanan Saturday, July 13, 1907.

"There is a Reaper whose name is Death,

And, with his sickle keen
He reaps the bearded grain at a breath

And the flowers that grow between.

"Shall I have naught that is fair?"

"Have naught but the bearded grain? Though the breath of these flowers is sweet to me,

I will give them all back again."

He gazed at the flowers with tearful eyes.

He kissed their drooping leaves; It was for the Lord of Paradise He bound them in his sheaves

"My Lord has need of these flowerets gay,"

The Reaper said, and smiled, "Dear tokens of the earth are they, Where he was once a child.

"They shall all bloom in fields of light,

Transplanted by my care, And saints, upon their garments white These sacred blossoms wear."

And the mother gave, in tears and pain,

The flowers she most did love; She knew she should find them all again

In the fields of light above.

O not cruelty, not in wrath, The Reaper came that day;

'Twas an angel visited the green earth And took the flowers away.

Clarence was an affectionate child, loving and loved by all who knew him.

Like a tendril feeling and climbing the trunk of a tree, so he would feel and find his way into the hearts of all. Tho' we see him no more, yet his influence, his cheerful bright disposition, his kindly way, is not dead and cannot die.

He was a member of the Evangelical Sunday school. His class will miss him but their loss is his gain.

His mother preceded him by three years to the invisible realm.

He leaves behind a father, step-mother, a brother, Herbert, and sister, Bernice, two grandmothers and numerous relatives.

Funeral services were held at his home yesterday p. m. at 3 o'clock, Rev. H. I. Voelker officiating.

MURDERESS SET FREE

Case in Which the "Unwritten Law" Was Effective, It Seems, in Michigan.

SELF-DEFENSE WAS HER PLEA

Engineer Ground to Pieces Because He Made a Mistake—Rain on the Forest Fires.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 16.—After being out since 4 o'clock Friday afternoon the jury came in and declared that Nellie Lewis was not guilty of the murder of Martin Post. On May 4 of this year Martin Post was stabbed with a knife by Nellie Lewis, a woman with whom he had lived some years ago and who says she left him when she found he would not marry her. When the knife wounds were inflicted another woman, Mrs. Anna Parmalee, was in the room with Post. Self-defense was the plea relied upon, the woman swearing that Post had struck her first.

The Other Woman in the Case.

Apparently proud of the attention she was attracting by her good looks and the bravado manner in which she told of her life, Mrs. Anna Parmalee who was in the room of Martin Post when Nellie Lewis climbed the fire escaped and stabbed and carved Post to death in a jealous rage. Depicted the scene when Post, clad only in his night clothes, grappled with the blindly infuriated, jilted woman and how he received the fatal wounds. Mrs. Parmalee is 23 years of age, a blond, and prepossessing in appearance. She returned from New Mexico voluntarily to testify in the trial of Nellie Lewis. She said she had fled to avoid being looked up as a witness, but she had never intended to stay away.

Was a Flippant Witness.

Mrs. Parmalee said that she had taught a Sunday school class while in the southwest, but at the same time she was writing to a married man in this city for money, saying that she was in the hospital. When the attorney for the defense asked her if she wasn't about "the biggest liar" of her acquaintance she replied that she guessed she was. She made no attempt to conceal the fact that her husband committed suicide with carbolic acid, but said that it was not on account of her relations with Martin Post.

ENGINEER'S FATAL MISTAKE

It Cost Him His Life and His Body Was Literally Ground to Pieces.

Kalamazoo, Mich., July 16.—In a head-on collision with a passenger train Engineer Thomas Hogan, of the G. R. and I. work train, was literally ground to pieces, the largest portion of his body found being his right foot. Hogan should have taken a siding near the station, but he thought he could make the Globe Casket company switch beyond, before the passenger train, going thirty miles an hour, came around a sharp curve. Hogan threw open the throttle of his engine and stepped back to the tender as if to leap, when the passenger train struck the tender squarely.

The passengers were thrown over their seats and several were badly cut by glass and otherwise injured, but none seriously. The work train engine broke from the tender and was stopped by Fireman C. E. Smith, after it had plowed through three cars on the siding. Hogan was about 40 years of age and had been on the G. R. and I. for many years. He formerly resided in Allegan and was deputy county clerk at one time.

Stranger Needed Suspecting.

Pontiac, Mich., July 16.—While Wm. Mingst, agent at the Air Line station at Orchard Lake, was attending to the unloading of a car the till in the office was broken into and $50 taken. Mingst had noticed a stranger loitering about the place, but did not suspect him. A description of the man was given the police.

Summer Home in Ashes.

Mackinac Island, Mich., July 16.—The handsome summer home of E. B. Hart was destroyed by fire while the family was attending church. The house was built by the late E. F. Hansen and contained many bedrooms, all of which were destroyed. The loss is estimated at $15,000.

Saves the Huckleberry Crop.

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., July 16.—A steady rain has drenched the forest fires in the upper peninsula, and they will be extinguished soon if the rain continues. The huckleberry crop of northern Michigan is saved by this rain, and it will be of great benefit to farmers.

Elk Rapids, Mich., July 16.—George Taylor, of Ellsworth, an employe at the cement mill, had a leg broken when a workman pulled him from a flight of stairs. From the fact that the leg has been broken three times in the same place the injury is serious.

Rewarded for a Good Action.

Jackson, Mich., July 16.—Patrolman Larkey went to the rear of a saloon to warn them it was after closing hours, and stepped into an elevator shaft, fracturing his skull.

With Edged Tools

By HENRY SETON MERRIMAN
Author of "The Sowers," "Roden's Corner," "From One Generation to Another," Etc.

Copyright, 1894, by HARPER & BROTHERS

He added the last two words by way of apology for having banged a very solid fist on the table.

Joseph rubbed his hands slowly together and departed, leaving his master to begin a long letter to Guy Oscar.

And at the other end of the passage, in her room with the door locked, Jocelyn Gordon was sobbing in a wild burst of grief because she had probably saved the life of Jack Meredith, and in doing so had only succeeded in sending him away from her.

When Jack Meredith said that there was not another man in Africa who could make his way from Loango to the simiacine plateau he spoke no more than the truth. There were only four men in all the world who knew the way, and two of them were isolated on the summit of a lost mountain in the interior. Meredith himself was unfit for the journey. There remained Joseph.

In coming down to Loango Joseph had had the recently made track of Oscar's rescuing party to guide him day by day. He knew that this was now completely overgrown. The simiacine plateau was once more lost to all human knowledge.

And up there, alone amid the clouds, Guy Oscar was, as he himself tersely put it, "sticking to it." He had stuck to it to such good effect that the supply of fresh young simiacine was daily increasing in bulk. Again Victor Durnovo seemed to have regained his better self. He was like a full blooded horse—tractable enough if kept hard at work. He was a different man up on the plateau from what he was down at Loango. There are some men who deteriorate in the wilds, while others are better, stronger, finer creatures away from the luxury of civilization and the softening influence of female society. Of these latter was Victor Durnovo.

Of one thing Guy Oscar soon became aware—namely, that no one could make the men work as could Durnovo. He had merely to walk to the door of his tent to make every picker on the little plateau bend over his tree with renewed attention. And while above all was eagerness and hurry, below, in the valley, this man's name insured peace.

The trees were now beginning to show the good result of pruning and a regular irrigation. Never had the leaves been so vigorous, never had the simiacine trees borne such a bushy, luxuriant growth since the dim, dark days of the flood.

Oscar relapsed into his old hunting ways. Day after day he tranquilly shouldered his rifle, and, alone or followed by one attendant only, he disappeared into the forest only to emerge therefrom at sunset. What he saw there he never spoke of. Sure it was that he must have seen strange things, for no prying white man had set foot in these wilds before him; no book has ever been written of that country that lies around the simiacine plateau.

Oscar was thinking of Millicent walked slowly backward and forward before his tent. His knowledge of the country told him that the mist was nothing but the night's accumulation of moisture round the summit of the mountain, that down in the valleys it was clear and that half an hour's sunshine would disperse all. He was waiting for this result when he heard a rifle shot far away in the haze beneath him and he knew that it was Joseph, probably making one of those marvelous long shots of his which roused a sudden sigh of envy in the heart of this mighty hunter whenever he witnessed them.

Oscar immediately went to his tent and came out with his short barreled, evil looking rifle on his arm. He fired both barrels in quick succession and waited, standing gravely on the edge of the plateau. After a short silence two answering reports rose through the mist to his straining ears.

"It isn't good enough. That's what I say, sir, with respects."

He turned and found Victor Durnovo standing at his side.

"What is that?" asked the half breed. "It must be Joseph," answered Guy, "or Meredith. It can be nobody else."

"Let us hope that it is Meredith," said Durnovo, with a forced laugh, "but I doubt it."

Oscar looked down in his sallow, powerful face. He was not quick at such things, but at that moment he felt strangely certain that Victor Durnovo was hoping that Meredith was dead.

"I hope it isn't," he answered, and without another word he strode away down the little pathway from the summit into the clouds, loading his rifle as he went.

Durnovo and his men, working among the simiacine bushes, heard from time to time a signal shot as the two Englishmen groped their way toward each other through the everlasting night of the African forest.

It was midday before the newcomers were espied making their way painfully up the slope, and Joseph's welcome was not so much in Durnovo's handshake, in Guy Oscar's silent approval, as in the row of grinning, good natured black faces behind Durnovo's back.

Joseph's arrival with ten new men seemed to give a fresh zest to the work, and the carefully packed cases of simiacine began to fill Oscar's tent to some inconvenience. Thus things went on for two tranquil weeks.

"First," Oscar had said, "let us get the crop in, and then we can arrange what is to be done about the future."

So the crop received due attention, but the two leaders of the men—who led by fear and he who commanded by love—were watching each other.

One evening when the work was done Oscar's meditations were disturbed by the sound of angry voices behind the native camp. He turned naturally toward Durnovo's tent, and saw that he was absent. The voices rose and fell; there was a singular accompanying roar of sound which Oscar never remembered having heard before. It was the protesting voice of a mass of men—and there is no sound like it—none so disquieting. Oscar listened attentively and suddenly he was thrown upon his feet by a pistol shot.

He shook him as a terrier shakes a rat.

At the same moment Joseph emerged from behind the tents, dragging some one by the collar. The victim of Joseph's violence was off his feet, but still struggling and kicking.

Guy Oscar saw the flash of a second shot, apparently within a few inches of Joseph's face, but he came on, dragging the man with him, whom from his clothing Oscar saw to be Durnovo.

Joseph was spitting out wadding and burned powder.

"Shoot me, would you, yer skulking chocolate bird? I'll teach you! I'll twist that brown neck of yours."

He shook him as a terrier shakes a rat, and seemed to shake things off him—among others a revolver, which described a circle in the air and fell heavily on the ground, where the concussion discharged a cartridge.

"Ere, sir," cried Joseph, literally throwing Durnovo down on the ground at Oscar's feet, "that man has just shot one o' them poor niggers, so 'elp me, God!"

Durnovo rose slowly to his feet, as if the shaking had disturbed his faculties.

"Oh, don't make a fool of yourself," he said in a hissing voice; "you don't understand these natives at all. The man raised his hand to me. He would have killed me if he had had the chance. Shooting was the only thing left to do. You can only hold these men by fear. They expect it."

"Of course they expect it," shouted Joseph in his face; "of course they expect it, Mr. Durnovo."

"Why?"

"Because they're slaves. Think I don't know that?"

He turned to Oscar. "This man, Mr. Oscar," he said, "is a slave owner. Them forty that joined at Msala was slaves. He's shot two of 'em now; this is his second. And what does he care? They're his slaves. Oh, shame on yer!" turning again to Durnovo. I wonder God lets yer stand there. I can only think that he doesn't want to dirty his hand by strikin' yer down."

Oscar had taken his pipe from his lips. He looked bigger, somehow, than ever. His brown face was turning to an ashen color and there was a dull, steel-like gleam in his blue eyes. The terrible, slow kindling anger of this northerner made Durnovo catch his breath. It was so different from the sudden passion of his own countrymen. "Is this true?" he asked.

"It's a lie, of course," answered Durnovo, with a shrug of the shoulders. He moved away as if he were going to his tent, but Oscar's arm reached out. His large brown hand fell heavily on the half breed's shoulder.

"Stay," he said; "we are going to get to the bottom of this."

"Good," muttered Joseph, rubbing his hands slowly together; "this is prime."

PROSECUTION BALKED

Witness at San Francisco Refuses to Testify, and He Is a Vital One.

JUDGE SENDS HIM OFF TO JAIL

There He Will Stay Until the Trial Is Ended, Perhaps.

Refusal to Answer May Make It Impossible to Convict Glass in the City Graft Cases.

San Francisco, July 16.—The first serious blow to the bribery-graft prosecution was struck by the Louis Glass defense in open court, through Emil J. Zimmer, second vice president and director of the Pacific States Telephone company, who first refused to be sworn; afterward accepted the oath and took the stand, answered two or three unimportant questions put by Assistant District Attorney Heney, then refused to testify further. He was by Judge Lawlor committed for contempt to the county jail for a "term of five days, and until the question is answered." Under the law as interpreted by the court this means that Zimmer must stay in jail throughout the progress of the Glass trial, or until he signifies his willingness to testify.

State Banked on Zimmer.

On Zimmer the prosecution relied as its most important witness against Vice President Glass, accused of bribery. At the time this crime is alleged to have been committed, March of 1906, Louis Glass was acting president and general manager of the Pacific States company, owing to the death of President John I. Sabin. Before the grand jury Zimmer testified that Glass drew checks for the bribery money alleged to have been paid to the supervisors, caused Zimmer to cash them, and then instructed him to give the money to Agent Halsey and require from Halsey no voucher, merely carrying these thousands of dollars on the current expense account.

Meant No Disrespect to the Court.

The proceedings in court were as follows: "The witness will be sworn. Then we will determine his attitude," ruled Judge Lawlor. Clerk Welch administered the oath to Zimmer and he took the stand. Zimmer refused, however, to testify, though he declared that in so doing he meant no disrespect to the court. Judge Lawlor said: "You are guilty of contempt in the presence of the court and are subject to summary punishment. Read the question before the court, Mr. Reporter."

He Pleaded Self-Protection.

"How long have you been so employed by the corporation?" the stenographer read. "I still refuse to answer," said Zimmer.

Judge Lawlor requested the reporter to read the preceding question and when Zimmer had replied: "Meaning no disrespect to the court, I still refuse to testify," Zimmer said he took this position to protect himself.

Not Incriminating Questions.

"Do you claim that your answer to the question now asked you would subject you to prosecution on a felony charge?" asked the court. "No, sir, I do not."

"Do you claim that you would degrade your character?" "No, sir, I do not."

"The court instructs you," said Judge Lawlor, "that the question now before the court is a legal and pertinent one, and one which you are required to answer, and your refusal to answer will constitute contempt of court. Meaning no disrespect to your honor, I still refuse to answer," said Zimmer.
