NATIONAL MCKINLEY MEMORIAL, CANTON.

THE traveler entering the Ohio city of Canton from whatsoever direction can see from afar the national McKinley memorial, a massive bulk of white, dominating the city much as a feudal baron's castle stood guard over a fortified town of old Europe in the days of chivalry. From the crest of Monument hill the mausoleum thrusts upward into the blue its hundred feet of white granite, shimmering and gleaming, rivaling in purity the stone of Carrara or the white clouds above it. It overlooks the city, and the city is very proud of the monument. Most Americans knew McKinley as a public man—a president. Canton knew McKinley also as a Cantonia. His old neighbors can tell of McKinley's first political victory, of his election as prosecuting attorney of Stark county. In congress, as governor, he had their well wishes, but not until the days of 1896, still memorable in the county seat of "old Molly Stark," did they give him up entirely to the nation. That summer the of vision he must perforce turn his attention to the marvelous beauty of the approaches and surrounding parks. The crest of Monument hill is seventy-five feet above the park land round about, and the slope is almost uniform in all directions, as though the hill had been cast in a mold for the purpose. From the plaza at the head of the Longwater, the lift of the sword, a terraced stairway almost sixty feet high and as wide as it is long, leads upward to a stone platform 175 feet in diameter, the base of the tomb. Another hundred feet the dome towers, and to the apex of the interior it is more than seventy-five feet. Even at a short distance the pink Milford granite of which it is built appears almost pure white, the more clear doubtless for the touch of tint. The stairways of the same stone have prepared the eye for the simple, domelike expanse of white, which belies with an appearance of greater size its actual diameter of seventy-eight feet on the exterior and fifty-eight within.

sarcophagi are most prominent. The place is a tomb severely classical in conception and execution. It does not, like the Garfield monument, more Romanesque in design, unfold itself to the passing glance. The first impression is not the most pleasurable. The McKinley memorial does not yield up all its grandeur without study and contemplation. Every piece of ornamentation is pregnant with significance. The columns are Doric. An American eagle is the most noticeable bas-relief. The dome bears a sentence from McKinley's Buffalo address:

Let us ever remember that our interest is in concord, not conflict; that our real eminence rests in the victories of peace, not those of war.

The tomb itself is the impressive centerpiece of a landscape plan of a magnificence and appropriateness of

BUSINESS MEN IN SESSION

St. Joseph's business men as well as the ladies are working up to what is best for themselves and the future of the city.

A short time ago a meeting of business men was called, an organization effected under the name of "Merchants' Association of St. Joseph" and committees named to look after certain matters.

Friday, Sept. 20, another meeting was held with N. C. Rice presiding and F. A. Potter in the secretary's chair. There was a fair representation of business men present.

J. F. Duncan, chairman of the finance committee, reported favorably for his part of the work; Chairman Frank M. Lopker, of the advertising, decorating and general committee, gave very nicely the details of plans for Sale Week, sometime this month, and they are similar to those successfully used in other cities. They are quite elaborate and interesting, and will undoubtedly help to attract thousands of people to our city; R. C. Crawford of the same committee, told of what he had seen at Pasadena, Cal., and how the business men had helped that city and themselves by proper EFFORT and ADVERTISING; remarks were also made by G. G. Groff, Robt. Rahn, G. H. Knaak, C. E. Dickinson and others.

Finally, as a practical starter for Sale Week, Mr. Duncan brought forth a paper for signatures to a fund and in less than ten minutes about $250 was subscribed for the object in view.

The meeting then adjourned to assemble again, at the call of the president, when every business man is asked to be present.

The business men have started a movement that is broad in conception and creditable in aim and, it is believed, will be of much benefit to St. Joseph as well as the people who come.

Anyway, let's all help by word and act, and if this proves a success there will be more efforts following for St. Joseph.

Fair Was Not a Money Maker

The fair last week was not a money maker. As a financial venture the exposition was what might be called an utter failure. With only one good day out of four it was impossible for the fair association to derive any pecuniary benefit.

Friday's rain shattered every hope of the fair turning out a money making success. The rain sent $3,500 glimmering, for Friday had been counted the banner day of the week. The $1,000 stake race, the reunion of home comers and the many other attractions were expected to draw a crowd that for numbers would have beat anything since the fair started two years ago.

Friday's gate receipts amounted to something like $300.

There is a possibility that the $1,000 stake race will be run this week. Great interest was centered in this event and the fair association put the proposition of staying and running the race off, up to the owners of the horses entered.

The track is in a soggy condition from the two days of steady rain and it would take a couple of days before the course would be in a fair condition.

Local horsemen are doing everything in their power to have the race run this week.

Cocktails Spoil Election Chances

Columbus, Ind., Sept. 28.—Chas. W. Fairbanks, vice president of the United States, was defeated yesterday for delegate to the quadrennial conference of the Methodist Episcopal church after one of the most bitter contests that was ever waged in a religious assembly. The temperance laymen, many of them long associated with Mr. Fairbanks in the church, refused to condone what they regard as an offense against temperance; and the distinguished candidate went down because of having served cocktails and three kinds of wine at the dinner given to President Roosevelt on Memorial day at the Fairbanks home.

There were eighteen candidates for the seven places and it was given out that the vice president would head the delegation by being selected by acclamation.

Considerable feeling was manifested over two incidents. One was the serving of intoxicants at the Fairbanks dinner and the other was the effort of some of the vice president's friends to put the responsibility upon President Roosevelt. When the laymen assembled the apparent certainty of Mr. Fairbanks' election had changed to a question of his getting through even by a slim margin.

The first fight came when the delegates refused by a decided vote to permit the selection of Fairbanks by acclamation. All the candidates were then put in nomination.

It required ninety-seven votes to elect and on the first ballot two candidates were chosen. Mr. Fairbanks received but seventy-nine votes. On the second ballot two other candidates were chosen and the Fairbanks' vote fell to sixty-five. On the third ballot he received but forty-five votes, on the fourth, forty-seven and on the fifth thirty-five votes.

The constant falling off in the vice president's vote discouraged his friends and when the result of the fifth ballot was announced his name was redrawn, a friend making the statement that the vice president had not been a candidate in any sense of the word, but his friends thought it would be an honor to him and the church to send him as a delegate to the quadrennial conference.

St. Joseph, Mich., Sept. 28.—Max Minney, of Eau Claire, who was recently arrested on charge of cutting tongues out of horses owned by Dennis Murphy, and who later was released on $1,000 bonds, was again arrested yesterday afternoon on complaint of Sheriff Tennant, charged with committing the same crime July 4 on a valuable team of horses owned by Upham Kirk, a farmer living in Pipestone township.

Minney's bond was placed by Judge Evans at $1,500, but having failed to furnish the required bondsmen was lodged in the county jail in this city to wait a hearing Oct. 18.

The Standard Oil Company of Indiana seems to be losing some of its cunning and discretion. For once it has overstepped the dividing line. It is more than evident that President Moffett's angry passions held sway while he was dictating that pamphlet (a copy of which is in possession of the RECORD) in which he states that if the Standard was guilty, then practically every shipper in a great manufacturing territory was equally guilty, and follows this statement by the question, "Is there a purpose in selecting the Standard as a victim?" Now Judge Landis is going to give the irascible Mr. Moffett an opportunity to tell just what he knows about his rebating neighbors. If he can't prove his insinuations, the prospects are that he will get a rebuke for gossiping that will discourage the issuing of any more pamphlets by Standard representatives unless they have been duly censured by a cabinet meeting of the trust's able legal advisors.

The notion that the courts extend special privileges to wealthy criminals and that even if the man of means fails to escape conviction he can evade the rigors of prison life by appealing to the authorities, is not a mere figment of the imagination. But vigorous steps should be taken to prevent any such discrimination, for nothing is more demoralizing to society.

There is Gaynor, convicted of stealing hundreds of thousands from the government. It cost Uncle Sam a pretty penny to get him out of Canada and commit him to prison. It is the general opinion that he has cashed his swag and will come into the full enjoyment of it as soon as he secures his freedom. Prison life doesn't agree with him, so he got into the hospital, which is regarded as a step toward liberty. Now his physician has prescribed a sea voyage as the only means of prolonging his life.

Paul Stensland, the Chicago banker who robbed the widows and orphans, has already applied for a pardon from Joleit. His health, too won't stand for prison confinement, and he and his friends look upon this as sufficient reason why he should be released.

In neither case is there any thought of the victims. Gaynor looks upon his conviction as full reparation, and if he could get out, by bribery or otherwise, he might even consider that the government owed him something. And Stensland has probably wiped out all moral recollection of his wrongdoing. It is liberty he wants, and, we presume, he is willing to forgive the state as the price of liberty.

It will be a good thing to make an example of these men. Both had wealth and position, and both exerted a wide influence. Had they realized before they entered on careers of crime that they would be compelled to pay the debt in full, they might have hesitated. Then was the time for them to look out themselves. But they jeopardized health, even life itself for the dishonest dollar, and are now relying on the sympathy of the courts to give them back that which they threw away. And there should be meted out to them the same consideration they showed their dupes, no more.

The J. M. Thompson & Sons Hardware Company, of Owatonna, Minn., certainly believe in coming out from under cover and fighting the devil with his own shootin' irons. They are sending out a letter worded as follows, to the people of their community:

W. J. Pilkington, Des Moines, Iowa.

Dear Sir:—I believe you have one or two Chicago catalogues in which the claim is made that local dealers cannot sell hardware as cheap as they do. This claim is not true, and I can prove it. Our prices are as low, and in some cases lower, the quantity of the goods and price considered. Our expenses are less, our advertising costs less, we don't spend thousands of dollars printing catalogs, but we do pay taxes in our country. They don't.

I enclose two gummed labels; will you place these on the front of your catalogues as a reminder and when needing anything in hardware, come to our store and compare prices before you buy? Several people have been fooled lately by the purposely misleading descriptions and small pictures in these catalogs. I won't ask you to buy from pictures, but will show you the goods before you pay the money. Yours respectfully,
J. M. Thompson, Pres.

The following is the wording of the gum slip they send for pasting on catalogs:

"Any article of hardware in this catalogue same price at our store. You see the goods before you buy—and you don't have to send your money away and wait. J. M. Thompson & Sons Hardware Co., Owatonna Minn."

The original gum slip is 2 1/2 x 6 1/2 in.

Common Council

A special meeting of the village council was held at Dr. Peck's office, Saturday, July 28, 1907, for the purpose of acting upon a proposed ordinance relating to the village water works system.

Members present were as follows: President Peck, Trustees Chamberlin, Hanlin, Miles, East.

The following resolution was offered by Trustee Chamberlin, seconded by Trustee Hanlin:

"Resolved, that the superintendent of water works be instructed to deliver personally, or by mail, to each user of village water printed notices to read as follows, to wit:

"To the patrons of the water works: The ordinance relating to the regulation of the village water works system was passed with a view to rendering efficient and economical service. It is assumed that in rendering this service the village should be no respecter of persons; that all water users of the same class should receive like treatment. The financial welfare of the village demands that this ordinance be enforced. The ordinance provides that persons wishing village water must get a special permit from the superintendent of the water works for each building, residence, business, etc., and that each application for said permit shall be made in writing by the owner or authorized agent."

The village council and the superintendent of the water works, in order to place the system on a better financial basis, will undertake to enforce the water ordinance, and in carrying out this purpose they ask the co-operation of all citizens in the welfare of the village.

As a step in this direction special attention is called to the following:

NOTICE

To all persons desiring village water after the first day of November 1907, are requested to file with the superintendent of water works application for a permit to use such water, which application shall state fully and truly all purposes for which the water is to be used, and must be signed by the owner of the premises or his authorized agent.

Water supplied to premises where owner does not make the application required by the ordinance, on or before the first day of November, 1907, will thereafter be shut off, and will not be turned on until compliance be made with said ordinance.

Nays none. Motion carried.

Moved by Trustee Hanlin, seconded by Trustee East, that the council adjourn. Motion carried.

The high wages paid make it a mighty temptation to our young artisans to join the force of skilled workmen needed to construct the Panama Canal. Famous Niagara Mills Now Running

After being in the hands of workmen nearly all summer undergoing extensive repairs and improvements and installing new and modern machinery costing thousands of dollars, the Niagara Mills, owned by Bainton Bros., is again the scene of a rushing business. Their famous flours such as Best Patent, Golden Wedding, Lucky Hit and Daisy are in great demand but the manager, Chas. Bainton, says that with modern machinery they are prepared to supply the demand.

A representative of the RECORD visited the mills and was accorded a courteous treatment by the manager, who readily showed the RECORD man throughout the newly improved establishment. What struck the writer as particularly interesting was the great Samson horizontal turbine mounted on a solid foundation and banked against a stone wall 39 feet high and 6 feet thick. This turbine has a capacity of 78 horse power—the mill being run by water power. Economy in operating expenses means better flour—hence every housekeeper who buys flour made by the Niagara Mills knows what it means to have absolutely the best—and that is why the RECORD representative has been favorably impressed with the way they make flour at the mills—counting quality, cleanliness and purity. Bainton Bros. say they pay highest prices for all kinds of grain. This means a boon to hustling farmers.

A Madman's Wit
 A Washington educator told a good story about a young medical friend of his who is interested in insanity symptoms and is a sort of amateur alienist.
 The other day the student got a chance to visit one of the wards in the Asylum For the Insane, and, having heard that there was a man confined there who labored under the hallucination
 that he was God, the student asked that he be allowed to see this patient first, as he appeared the most promising for investigation. He was taken to the ward where the lunatic was confined, and the following conversation ensued:
 Student—Are you the Deity?
 Lunatic—From everlasting unto everlasting I am he.
 Student—Well, I've been looking for you for a long time. I have a question to ask you. How do you reconcile the doctrines of predestination and free will?
 The lunatic drew himself up to his full height and, giving the medico a scornful glance, replied, "My dear sir,
 I never talk shop."—Washington Star.

What "Constable" Has Meant.
 "Constabulary" and "constable" are curious instances of verbal ups and downs in dignity. Literally "constable" ("comes stabili") means only
 "stable attendant" but, with "chamberlain," "steward" and many other names of servants, it became exceedingly dignified when the service was loyal. The constable of France and the lord high constable of England were very great men, and Scotland has still her hereditary lord high constable in the Earl of Erroll. Now-a-days, in ordinary speech "constable" has dropped again to mean only a policeman, "this lower constableness," as Blackstone quotes from Lombard, having been a derivative of the lord high constable's office "and, as it were, a very finger of that hand." One can never tell where a word will finally arrive "Police-man" and "politician" by origin both mean a man who looks after the affairs of the community.—
