NEW BANK AT BENTON HARBOR

Prominent Benton Harbor Citizens to Found a Third Bank

BARNES TO BE PRESIDENT

Formerly Connected With Spencer-Barnes Furniture Co., and Well Known in Buchanan

Benton Harbor is to have another state bank. The new institution is now being organized and will be ready for business in the immediate future. The bank will start with a capitalization of $50,000.

During the past few days there have been persistent rumors in regard to another bank but nothing definite was gleaned until this morning when authoritative announcement was made.

The organization of the bank has not been entirely perfected but it is announced that John E. Barnes will be elected president of the new institution. Mr. Barnes will devote his entire time to the management of the bank's affairs.

A better known man could not be chosen than the local furniture manufacturer. Mr. Barnes has a large state acquaintance and as head of the Spencer-Barnes furniture factory for many years he built up a large prestige and gained a reputation for sterling honesty.

Mr. Barnes also has a host of friends in Buchanan who will be pleased to learn of his new venture.

The stockholders of the new bank are prominent business men of Benton Harbor—most of them have had a great deal to do with the upbuilding of the fast growing city.

Escaping Steam Causes a Panic

Leaking Radiator in Benton Harbor College Filled Room With Steam

Early occupants of the Benton Harbor college building Friday morning were thrown into a panic when a white steam like smoke commenced to float through the corridors and rooms, an alarm of fire was turned in, and attracted by the rumor that the college was on fire, a large crowd gathered. No flames were visible, but the smoke continued to curl out.

When the firemen arrived they plunged into the building, fully expecting to find a bad fire eating its way between the walls but what they did find was a leaky steam radiator, white clouds pouring from it and filling the entire floor with steam.

$100 REWARD $100

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Opposed to People's Wants

Band of Legislators with Selfish Motives Scheme to Defeat Will of People—Rule or Ruin Policy.

Lansing, Oct. 14—The Governor and his forces in their efforts to give the people what they seem to want and ask for in the way of legislation are putting the "Boxers," who are lined up against the people and for personal gain on record in a way that means no good for the "Boxer" side in the future when they come to face their constituents again.

Senator J. Edward Bland, of Detroit will introduce this week a bill providing for the direct nomination of all State officers, including members of the Legislature. The other extreme is represented in a bill presented Wednesday by Rep. Martin Hanlon of Ingham, calling for the repeal of the whole primary law and the restoration of the old convention system.

The primary workers seem to have far the best of the argument and position so far. Indeed Senator Elye, in prodding the opponents of such legislation, got an admission from Senator Cropsy, of Kalamazoo, that their side ("Boxers") intended to put in a bill soon. Maybe they'll be forced into giving the people what they want before adjournment day comes.

One of the most vigorous fights of the session is to come on the bill for ad valorem taxation of telephone, telegraph and express companies. Senator J. Edward Bland of Detroit has a bill in preparation covering the subject and other bills are forming in the committee rooms of various legislators. The first fight on this bill is quite likely to come in the Senate.

There are so many ways of killing a friendship: One is expecting some thing of your friend, and another is being "perfectly frank" with him.

Rich Men Will Be Perfect In Another World.

By Mrs. ANNIE BESANT, President of the Theosophical Society.

REINCARNATION makes us look at a man in two ways. Take one of your rich men; say, for instance, Mr. Rockefeller. In his NEXT INCARNATION he will return with all his good qualities, with everything that is good and true within him. He will be a PERFECT BEING, for he will be minus those qualities which have made him SO BRUTAL AND SO UNJUST.

There are two ways to look at him. First, the physical man. He has gone through life very UNSCRUPULOUSLY. He has wrecked fortunes to make his own greater. He has made widows and orphans, paupers, criminals. He is CURSED AND CRITICISED, and all of this because he has worked for self.

But there is ANOTHER WAY TO LOOK AT A MAN OF THAT CHARACTER. He has developed an enormous mind. He has a wonderful grip on circumstances, a power to see and to grasp situations, a wonderful power of mind and will and a great power over his own body. To accomplish the things he has done he must go through great labor and fatigue. If death was the end he would indeed be an UGLY PRODUCT.

BUT WHEN THE BODY DIES THE MIND LIVES ON. HIS MIND WILL KEEP ON REASONING, AND AFTER THE PHYSICAL MAN IS DEAD. HE WILL REALIZE WHAT HE REALLY HAS DONE. HE WILL FIND HE DID NOT USE THE METHODS WHICH WOULD MAKE MANKIND HAPPY. HE WILL REALIZE THAT WHERE HE BUILT A DESERT HE COULD HAVE PLANTED A BEAUTIFUL GARDEN. AND SO WHEN HIS MIND COMES BACK REINCARNATED IT WILL BE WITH ALL OF THE GOOD AND WITH NONE OF THE EVIL OF HIS PAST INCARNATION.

Give the "Hobo" a Square Deal.

By JAMES EADS HOW, the "Millionaire Hobo."

EVER since I reached the age of twenty I have realized that the tramps of this country are one of the BIGGEST PROBLEMS in our social life. They cannot be done away with until there is a change in the existing order of things, and their numbers are INCREASING every year. I am not a Socialist or an Anarchist, but I do believe that the "hobo" of this country is not getting A SQUARE DEAL.

THE MAJORITY OF THE MEN "ON THE ROAD" ARE NOT PROFESSIONAL "BEATS" WHO WOULD NOT WORK IF THEY HAD A JOB OFFERED TO THEM, BUT ARE MEN WHO ARE TEMPORARILY OUT OF WORK AND WHO ARE ANXIOUS TO GET BACK INTO THE HARNESS. I HAVE BEEN ON THE ROAD FOR FIVE YEARS AND MIXED AND MINGLED WITH TRAMPS IN EVERY STATE IN THIS COUNTRY, AND I KNOW THAT WHAT I SAY IS TRUE.

Of course the majority of the men who stay on the road for any length of time get what is called the "WANDERLUST" in their blood, and after once getting into the easy life of the road it is hard for them to break away and settle down.

Less Beer, More Foam

Price of Booze Goes up and Less Goes Down

St. Louis, Oct. 14—Up goes hops and barley! They usually go down in the form of beer into the human stomach, but the price being higher there will be more foam and less beer consumed in the future. The St. Louis Brewers' association intends to raise the price of beer on account of the alleged increase in the price of hops and barley, in other words they intend to treat the public "whiter" than ever.

Unless matters change a barrel of beer that costs $6 now in a few days will cost $7. The retailer must make up the loss and the thirsty public will have to suffer, no matter which way you look at it. He'll suffer for want of a drink if he hasn't the price, and he'll suffer a depletion of cash on hand if he has the price and buys a drink.

Hard Times in Kansas

The old days of grasshoppers and drouth are almost forgotten in the prosperous Kansas of today; although a citizen of Codell, Earl Shamburg, has not yet forgotten a hard time he encountered. He says: "I was worn out and discouraged by coughing night and day, and could find no relief till I tried Dr. King's New Discovery. It took less than one bottle to completely cure me." The safest and most reliable cough and cold remedy and lung and throat healer ever discovered. Guaranteed by W.N. Brodrick's drug store 50c and $1.00. Trial bottle free.

2500 Boosters Had Banquet

Chicago Has Enthusiastic Boosters Working Together Like Brothers

A "Business Men's Union" with 2,500 members, whose object is to "boost" each other and Chicago, was launched at a recent banquet of the Chicago Association of Commerce at the Auditorium.

A roll of honor, the Business Men's Blue Book, handsomely got up and containing the names, addresses and business occupations of the 2,500 members of the association was distributed.

Speakers explained to the members just what the "boosting" means and urged every member to co-operate in the move.

Visiting business men from other cities, the guests of other members of the association, delivered addresses.

The purpose of this organization is three-fold.

It is to commemorate the Chicago fire.

It is to celebrate the achievement of the goal set by the association some months ago—a membership roll of 2,500 Chicago business men.

It is to make known a new plan—that the members of the association determine to patronize fellow members and recommend fellow members of the association.

In other words to work and pull together like brothers—not butchers and to strive in every manner possible to bring new industries to Chicago—an example already being followed in St. Joseph and other hustling Michigan towns.

Richmond Is Good City

Boasts of Having Some Real Large Industries.

If other cities have such capable and brainy men to tell the whole world what they are doing, we wonder why Buchanan can't do likewise. As a rule, the commercial clubs of other cities are composed of business men who believe in advertising and who are not afraid to exert their steam of enthusiasm and valuable time towards building up their town. Jealousy of each other never helped a town grow.

Let's read what they are doing in Richmond, Indiana.

In a city "prospectus" issued by the Richmond Commercial club, for distribution through the country, some interesting information concerning the city as a manufacturing point is given.

There are 100 factories; with an aggregate capital of $7,000,000, producing products worth $27,000,000 annually. With the exception of Indianapolis and South Bend, it is intended, Richmond has more of the "world's largest" industries than any other Hoosier city. They are as follows: A piano factory, whose average output a year is a piano every 15 minutes; a plant that manufactures more threshing machines than any other single plant in the world; plants that have the greatest output of lawn mowers in the world; greatest output of burial cases in the world; greatest output of roller skates in the world; greatest output of grain drills in the world; and the greatest output of traction engines in the world.

In the retail line the city boasts of the largest exclusively retail hardware store in the United States, the establishment occupying two buildings and seven floors.

Pitcher Admitted to Bar

Lansing, Mich., Oct. 12—Frank E. Sanger, the University of Michigan baseball pitcher, who was too busy last June to come to Lansing for admission to the bar with the other law graduates, was admitted in the supreme court this morning on motion. He will practice in Paw Paw.

WANTED—Teams, carpenters and laborers at Berrien Springs. Apply to Berrien Springs Power & Electric Co.

Wanted—Wife and Farm

Girls, Widows or Spinners Have Chance If They Don't Weigh Over 152 lbs.

Merwin & Farmer, Benton Harbor real estate agents, have received a letter from a client who is looking for a farm, and apparently for a wife also. Marriageable girls who measure up to the standard should send in their photos before the place is filled. The letter is as follows.

Merwin & Farmer, Benton Harbor, Mich.,

Dear Sirs: There is one more thing I want to say and that is at any time you should find in your travels a place for sale that belongs to a widow or an old maid not over 40 nor less than 25 and not care to tell if she could find some good man; you might slip a little concerning me. I desire a good, respectable woman, but no Catholic or those that cannot talk English, nor do I want one that a man cannot live with in peace and contentment, and I desire good land, if there is no fruit and not over forty acres.

I desire the lady not to weigh over 152 pounds and under 5 feet 8 inches. I belong to no church, do not use liquor, tobacco, nor gamble, and my religion is the golden rule.

Now if the lucky one comes through you that I am satisfied with and she with me, twenty-five dollars is your reward, and if not satisfied will be much less. See!

Yours truly,

Well Known Woman Dead

Mrs. John T. Flaherty Dies of Heart Disease at St. Joseph

Niles, Mich., Oct. 14—Mrs. John T. Flaherty died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. James McEntee, of St. Joseph, Mich., at 1 o'clock Thursday morning of heart disease. The remains were brought to the home of her daughter, Mrs. Fred W. Cook, of this city, Friday.

Mrs. Flaherty was 75 years old, she came to this country from Ireland in 1850. She was the mother of six children, four of whom are living. They are Mrs. J. A. Worthington, of Denis, Cal.; John Flaherty, of Michigan City, Ind.; Mrs. James McEntee, of St. Joseph, Mich.; and Mrs. Fred W. Cook, of this city.

The funeral was held yesterday (Monday) morning at 9 o'clock from St. Mary's church.

Michigan Banks Fail

Kalamazoo and Richland Institutions Close Doors

Kalamazoo, Mich., Oct. 12—The Union bank, of Richland, and the Bowman bank, of this city, both private institutions, have closed their doors, with liabilities which are stated to total $195,000, of which those of the Union bank amount to $120,000. E. A. Bowman, proprietor of the Bowman's bank here, and who was heavily interested in the Richland institution, stated that the directors of the Union bank are all rich farmers who will be willing to pay all its indebtedness.

LAST GAME OF SEASON.

The arrival in town of the famous pitcher of by gone days for Buchanan Blues, Billy Silvers, has aroused the baseball itching in the breasts of the town's present day players and a game has been arranged for Thursday afternoon of this week, weather permitting, so that the many admirers of Silvers will have an opportunity of seeing their former idol in the box again. Two teams have been organized from the ranks of the town's best players and a number of favorites who once represented Buchanan on the diamond will appear. Brodriek will catch Silvers and Johnny Bulter and Herb Roe will cavort the in-field. An admission of 15 cents will be charged and the proceeds will go to the Blues, who finished an unsatisfactory season financially. Everybody turn out and see a good game and help the cause. Should rain prevent the game Thursday a postponement will be made to Friday. Game called at 2:30 p. m.

Questioning Is Not Conversation.

The man who imagines that the art of conversation consists in asking questions spoils conversation as much as the man who never asks any. People of this description will interrupt a speaker as frequently as they do in the French chamber and run anxiously from subject to subject with their interrogatories, like a cackling hen that is going to lay an egg. Horace Walpole, when exiled at Houghton, bemoans the existence of such a pest in the person of an aunt. Writing to his friend Sir Horace Mann, he says: "I have an aunt here, a family piece of goods, an old remnant of inquisitive hospitality and economy. She wore me so down by day and night with interrogations that I dreamed all night she was at my ear with a who's, why's, when's and what's till at last in my very sleep I cried out, 'For heaven's sake, madam, ask me no more questions.'"

Dr. Johnson's dislike of being questioned is well known, and he gives the classic refutation of the habit in his own inimitable style: "Sir, questioning is not the mode of conversation among gentlemen. It is assuming a superiority, and it is particularly wrong to question a man concerning himself."—Chambers' Journal.

A Trip Through Russia and Siberia

Friday evening, Oct. 18 at the M. E. church you will have an opportunity to hear Capt. S. Alberti, ex-officer, ex-engineer and ex-convict of Siberia, Russia, picture to you Siberia with all its horrors, prisons and prison life; the way the convicts work in the mines, and the way they are punished. Capt. Alberti will not only enable you to actually feel the thrilling experiences by words but you will be in a position to see Moscow and other great Russian cities with the assistance of scientific stereopticon views and moving pictures. You will learn a great deal of wonderful things if you hear Capt. S. Alberti.

KORN—CAUFFMAN

A pretty home wedding took place Oct. 19, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Cauffman of Portage Prairie, the contracting parties being Miss AuVern Cauffman and Mr. Greely Korn, both of Portage Prairie.

The bride was attired in cream crepe de chine over white taffeta silk and carried a beautiful bouquet of carnations. The groom wore the conventional black.

The couple were attended by Miss Iva Cauffman, a sister of the bride and Mr. Emery Korn, a brother of the groom. The wedding march was rendered by Miss Laura Cauffman, of New Carlisle, Ind. The Evangelical ceremony was read by Rev. W. H. Kring in a very impressive manner. After greetings and congratulation, by the relatives and friends of about 100, dainty refreshments were served. The many wedding gifts testified to the high esteem in which the young people are held. Mr. and Mrs. Korn will be at home to their many friends after Oct. 20, at Portage Prairie.

Those from a distance were: Mrs. W. H. English, Plymouth, Ind.; Mrs. O. C. Howe, Lansing; Mr. Robert Cauffman, Centerville, Mich.; Mrs. Frank Korn, South Bend.

The Skilled Workman

By PROF. I. M. MOORE, Supt. Buchanan High School

In no country in the world is a higher degree of skill demanded than in America. In the building of her complicated machinery and in the planning of her great engineering feats nothing but the closest calculation and the most accurate workmanship would suffice.

The age in which we live demands skill, the future will demand still greater.

We are all workmen with greater or less degrees of skill and the structure upon which we are working is an immortal soul. Day by day we add a portion here or polish a rough spot there or renew a broken column or rebuild a portion destroyed in a fit of anger or loss of self-control, hoping in the end we may receive the Master's approval, or maybe we are disfiguring the building with careless hammer marks, by reckless indulgence or by selfish desire. Be that as it may we are each building for eternity.

It is always well I think to state as nearly as possible the meaning we are going to attach to a subject in order that there may be no misunderstanding.

I do not know what the committee had in mind when they assigned me this subject but to me a skilled workman means one having a mind trained by use to think quickly and accurately along some particular line, and a physical organism trained by use to work out ideas evolved by that mind.

True skill does not come from mere physical practice but from practice under the guidance of high ideals, and if there is to be a constant increase in skill, there must be an ideal ever going toward perfection. It is not the automatic movement of the musician's fingers passing rapidly over the keys that constitutes skill but it is that movement coupled with a thinking brain which gives the soulful expression to the player's effort.

True skill then should bring out the best there is in man and should leave no room for the contemplation of the baser and coarser things of life.

We cannot conceive of such minds as that of Washington, of Gladstone, or of Lincoln as being filled with any but lofty and noble thoughts. Not for ourselves but for others may well have been the motto of these men.

If we look about us we see a busy world peopled with toiling millions. They have come to their present condition through thousands of years of history, through centuries of development and progress. Who have made that progress possible? Who have been the leaders in that development which has brought us from the uncultivated stage of the ancient to the modern stage of civilization? Not the masses who spend their days in ceaseless toil, though they have contributed their share. They have profited by the changes but they have not led in them. Here and there we see great minds standing above the masses of their day and age and beckoning the people onward to higher levels. Such was Moses, the lawgiver and leader of his people. Such was Paul, the workman who "needeth not to be ashamed." A sailmaker by trade but with a mind trained to think out the mighty problems of Christian living. Think you he could make a better sail than his fellows because of that mind filled with high and noble ideals?

Such was Gutenberg who saw in his invention of printing not merely an opportunity to enrich himself but also a great and lasting blessing to his fellowmen.

The skill of Paul consisted in the ability to work and plan in spiritual things, that of Gutenberg in the ability to execute along mechanical lines

Michael Angelo, the sculptor-painter, than whom there has lived none greater in his lines, by his great conception of the beautiful and artistic and his ability to execute what his mind conceived set an example the influence of which upon the development of succeeding generations is immeasurable.

James Watt, the improver if not the inventor of the steam engine, because of a mind trained to think clearly and a hand skilled to execute accurately gave to the world an instrument which has done more to advance civilization, to make home life enjoyable, to give the leisure necessary for a higher culture and a keener intelligence than perhaps any other factor in modern times.

We might name many others as Bacon, Newton, Fulton, Morse and Edison who by their skill in argument, in calculation, or in mechanical execution have led the way in human progress toward higher living.

No one will deny that these men were benefactors to their race and if skill enabled them to accomplish the work they did, surely it is worthy of attainment.

We are at the dawn of the twentieth century. We look back over a century filled with greater achievement than any previous period of the world's history five, yes ten times, its length. What mighty changes took place during that brief one hundred years? It began with life in a simple stage, with industries in the hands of individuals, with social questions concerned only with small communities, with everything slow, stately, dignified. Man's needs were few, his life narrow;—it closed with life complex, strained, feverish, with industries controlled by great combinations, with social questions as broad as the continents themselves, with the needs of the individual increased an hundred fold.

If all this is the work of the past century what may we expect of the present? I believe the achievements of the twentieth century will eclipse those of the nineteenth as does the light of the sun eclipse that of a distant star

But in keeping up this wonderful pace of progress upon which we have already entered, the twentieth century will demand more of her men and women than has ever been demanded before.

This century will demand the prepared man, no other need apply. Greatness does not come to the unprepared or if it does it does not long remain.

The men and women who are to carry the responsibilities of the twentieth century must have learned by experience the value of work and more than that they must have learned to work rapidly and accurately and to think as they work, in short they must be skilled

If the great demand of the present age is skill, and I believe the unskilled workman of the future will find practically all avenues closed to him, how may this skill be obtained?

Must we attend the college or the university? Not necessarily, may it be obtained by serving an apprenticeship? Possibly but not necessarily. It all depends upon the attitude of the seeker. The lives of some of the great men already mentioned will suggest a way.

St Paul was a student and a thinker from his early youth up to manhood, but besides studying he meditated, and the method in education at that time gave him opportunity for practice in argument thus laying the foundation for that facility of speech which made him famous in after years.

Michael Angelo began his studies early and soon began to put into practice the thoughts thus generated in his brain. He put to the test the theories of those who had gone before and thus made their experiences his own.

James Watt was a student also from his early youth, but he put his knowledge into practice in learning a mechanical trade, and so with the others. In every case, if you will study their lives, you will find they became skilled workmen in their lines only by first building up in their minds, and building so thoroughly that it became a part of their very selves, an ideal toward which they could look for inspiration and encouragement.

This then is the method,—begin early to train the intellect, see that none but the highest and noblest ideals are nurtured, and finally furnish a means whereby those ideals may be worked out in expression.

This has been the method in the past, it will be the method to the end of time.

All lines are calling for the skilled laborer today. No young man or young woman who is prepared to do one thing and do it well, and who has a Christian character to back up that ability, need be idle or in want.

They are wanted in the factory, They are wanted in the home, The merchant calls to them, The office bids them come.

Places of responsibility are waiting for those who show themselves competent to fill them. There is a shortage everywhere. More scientists, more engineers, more tradesmen, more farmers, more teachers skilled in their respective callings are needed, and probably in no line is the skilled workers needed more than in the Sunday school work.

For many years we have been accustomed to the idea that the Sunday school workers need only be present every Sunday and entertain a class for perhaps half an hour in order to fulfil the necessary requirements for Sunday school work. But we are coming to realize that something more than this is needed, that the church through the Sunday school has a great work to do in so shaping the thoughts and feelings of our boys and girls that they shall grow up into men and women with Christian ideals.

It is true that this work has been sorely neglected in the past, but that forms no excuse for us in the present. The problem is here and we must bring to its solution all the experience and all the skill which we are able to command.

A young lady, a member of the Catholic church, said to me not long ago; It seems so strange that you of the Protestant churches permit anybody and everybody to teach the young the ways of righteousness, in our church no one but the priest does that.

I do not mean by this anecdote to condemn the Sunday school teacher of the past who has given her best, but I do mean to plead for a better prepared teacher, a more skilled workman.

Then we hope to make some headway against the vice and sin which fills our land, then we hope to see our boys and girls filled with proper reverence for things that are of God, then and only then may we hope to see the spiritual side of our people keep pace in its development, progress now being made on other lines.
