NEW TELEPHONE FRANCHISE?

South Bend Independent Telephone Co. Asks for Franchise

MEANS IMPROVED SERVICE

Council Ready to Serve People But Want Quick Action—Write to Record

At a special meeting of the council held last Friday evening, Mr. Theodore Tharwood, president of the Home Telephone Co., of South Bend, asked for the following franchise, which was referred to a committee, of the whole to see if the telephone users want the new improved service.

Read the following very closely: An Ordinance Granting to the South Bend Home Telephone Company, of South Bend, Indiana, Its Successors and Assigns, the Right to Construct, Maintain and Operate Within the Village of Buchanan, County of Berrien State of Michigan, an Independent Telephone Exchange.

THE VILLAGE OF BUCHANAN, COUNTY OF BERRIEN, MICHIGAN, ORDAINS:

SEC. 1. Be It Ordained by the Common Council of the Village of Buchanan, Berrien County, State of Michigan, that there be, and is hereby, granted to The South Bend Home Telephone Company, of Indiana, its successors and assigns, the right, permission and authority to build, construct, maintain, own and operate, on, along, upon, over and across the streets, highways and alleys, as hereinafter provided, in the Village of Buchanan, Berrien County, Michigan, for the purpose of maintaining an independent telephone exchange, together with the permission and authority to locate, construct, maintain, use and own, all poles, wires and other fixtures, in, upon, along, on, over, under and across said streets, highways, alleys and avenues necessary to the proper equipment in the construction, completion, maintenance and operation of an independent telephone exchange.

SEC. 2. Occupancy of Streets. The occupancy of all streets, alleys or avenues by said The South Bend Home Telephone Company, its successors and assigns, under this grant shall be, and is hereby, under the supervision and direction of the Common Council of the Village of Buchanan; and shall at all times be subject to such changes, conditions and requirements as the said Village shall at any time demand or require under the exercise of its police power.

SEC. 3. Character of Work and Material. All work upon such telephone exchange and its appurtenances and every part thereof, shall be done in a good, workmanlike manner, and all material used in its construction and all appliances used in the operation of said exchange and every part thereof, shall be first-classed in every particular.

SEC. 4. Character and Setting of Poles. All poles erected shall be of cedar, straight and of a uniform size. The poles shall be shaved smooth and shall be set under the direction of the Common Council, and shall be maintained in a manner that will not interfere with or inconvenience the public in the free use of such streets, alleys and avenues, nor interfere with the ingress and egress of property holders to and from their properties; such poles shall be firmly set and all wires attached thereto shall be so placed as not to interfere with nor impair the use of any other wires now erected in said Village.

SEC. 5. To Keep Village Harmless.

The grantee is hereby required, and by the acceptance of this franchise binds itself, its successors and assigns, to hold the Village of Buchanan, Michigan, harmless from all damages, less or injuries occasioned by, or during the construction, operation and maintenance of said telephone exchange in said village by reason of the granting to it of this franchise and during the progress of constructing said exchange.

SEC. 6. Life of Grant. The time of this grant shall exist and continue for and during the period of thirty (30) years from the date of the passage of this ordinance. But any persistent neglect to observe and keep the provisions hereof, or any refusal or neglect to obey the requirements of any ordinance passed heretofore or hereafter under or in exercise of the police power of said Village, shall entitle said Village to oust said grantee herein or its assigns from all or any of said streets and alleys.

The council prefers to let the people say what they want or don't want. That's a very fair proposition.

It's up to the people to express their sentiment towards the franchise. If there is any necessary revision in the proposed franchise in order to make it more favorable to Buchanan and Berrien county it remains for the people to make whatever suggestions they believe right to the councilmen.

The benefits to be derived from the granting of this franchise are many, but there may be disadvantages in having two companies. You will notice that all corporation men in the country declare that two exchanges are a "nuisance"—do they use the proper word? Should they not say additional expense and additional advantages? These questions, however, are left to the intelligent people to answer—they know best how to express their wants.

Other cities where the independent telephone companies are allowed to compete with the Bell Telephone Co., are rendering satisfactory service. If they are doing well elsewhere it is quite natural for our citizens to expect similar improved conditions.

Now, this is a very important question which every telephone user must think over seriously.

The council does not want to force anything upon the people that is hostile to their wishes. The council stands ready to serve the PEOPLE and not the companies nor themselves, but must know their wishes in case the franchise is not granted in the face of the strenuous opposition that is being arrayed to keep the Independent telephone company out. Do not censure the council if you don't send in your opinion, favorable or otherwise.

The Bell Telephone Co. were represented at Friday's meeting by Mr. Thompson, attorney, of Detroit; Mr. Kalchthales, division manager, of Kalamazoo and John Morris, Buchanan local manager.

In order to give every telephone user an opportunity to assist the council in determining how far they shall proceed in this matter send in your opinion through the columns of the Record under the "Voice of the People."

Make your wants known right now. Buchanan needs better service somewhere and it's up to the people to say where and how to get it.

Write your opinion. Send or bring it at your earliest convenience—the sooner the better.

A SIGNIFICANT PRAYER

Now that the campaigns are over, let's get together and carry Santa Claus to victory.

National Control Of Railroads Surely Coming.

By Senator FRANCIS G. NEULANDS of Nevada.

THE people of the United States are awakening to the necessity of utilizing the NATIONAL POWER FOR THE PROMOTION OF THE GENERAL WELFARE. We nationalized banking and currency because we realized the folly of having as many different financial systems as there were states, the danger of inflation and panic arising from CARELESS AND INCONSIDERATE STATE ACTION. We nationalized irrigation because we saw the futility of subjecting the treatment of the sources, the watersheds and valleys of streams flowing through several states, to the localized action of the individual states.

THE DEMAND FOR NATIONAL ACTION AS TO WATER TRANSPORTATION WILL INCLUDE NATIONAL ACTION REGARDING RAILWAY TRANSPORTATION AND WILL NECESSITATE THE CREATION BY THE NATION OF GREAT CORPORATIONS WHICH ARE TO HANDLE THIS COMMERCE.

Under NATIONAL INCORPORATION the questions relating to inland waterways and railway and ocean transportation will be solved. There will be great corporations whose lines will extend from the Atlantic to the Pacific and others whose lines will extend from the lakes to the gulf. Such corporations will in transporting bulky products utilize the INLAND WATERWAYS through steamboats and barges constructed for that purpose. They will own great steamship lines which will carry our products to all the markets of the world. They will, subject to the approval of the interstate commerce commission, be enabled to effect such JOINT RATES BY LAND AND SEA as will make their ships profitable, notwithstanding the increased cost of American construction and administration. There will be no need of a ship subsidy to advance our merchant marine.

THESE CORPORATIONS WILL BE UNDER FULL GOVERNMENT CONTROL. THEIR ISSUE OF STOCK AND BONDS WILL BE SUBJECT TO THE APPROVAL OF NATIONAL OFFICIALS. THE NATIONAL LEGISLATION COVERING THEM WILL GUARD NOT ONLY THE INTERESTS OF THE SHIPPERS AND PRODUCERS, BUT ALSO THE INTERESTS OF THE RAILWAY INVESTOR WHOSE INVESTMENTS SHOULD BE STABLE AND SHOULD BE FREE FROM THE CAPRICE OF THE STOCK MARKET.

Native Negroes Better Than Immigrants.

By Justice DAVID J. BREWER of the United States Supreme Court.

MANY of the vast multitudes pouring into this republic are racially cold blooded and selfish. Not a few come TAINTED WITH THE SPIRIT OF ANARCHY and are willing to destroy all social order in the hope of PERSONAL GAIN out of the wreck. These immigrants become citizens as we are citizens.

While the colored brothers may be too fond of the chicken coop and the watermelon patch, THEY ARE FIRM BELIEVERS IN SOCIAL ORDER. You will find no Johann Most, Emma Goldman, Czolgosz or Guiteau among them.

IN THE STRUGGLE WHICH MAY BE EXPECTED TO COME BETWEEN ORDER AND ANARCHY MAY IT NOT BE THAT THESE PEOPLE, GRATEFUL TO THE NATION FOR THEIR LIBERTY AND TO THE GOOD PEOPLE OF THE LAND FOR THEIR UPLIFT IN KNOWLEDGE, PURITY AND SOCIAL STANDING, WILL PROVE THEMSELVES A MIGHTY FORCE UPHOLDING LAW, ORDER AND THE SUPREMACY OF THE NATION?

Stranger things have happened than that these people, crushed and wronged for generations, should become at last STRONG DEFENDERS OF THE NATION and the community at whose hands they have hitherto received mainly INJUSTICE.

Advice From Professor W. A. Henry

"The International is a clean show. It has but one purpose—the betterment of the live stock of the West. One can attend the International in full assurance that this grand purpose rules supreme.

"To the farmer whose son has been faithful this season, let me urge take him to the international.

If your boy shows indifference to farming, and you long to keep him on the old home place, take him to the International and arouse his ambition.

"If your farm is operated by a tenant or renter, and you would like to arouse in him a keener interest for better stock, take him to the International.

"The more good live stock there is in any neighborhood, the more valuable becomes the property there. Urge your neighbors to go with you to the International."

INVESTIGATE MILK TRUST

Kalamazoo and Battle Creek Both Take Action, Feel That Seven-Cents is too Much.

Battle Creek, Mich., Nov. 16.—Active work was begun Wednesday in the direction of investigating the milk situation in Battle Creek by the prosecuting attorney and further developments will take place within the next few days. Convinced as the prosecutor has been that the public is entitled to the fullest of protection he has gathered sufficient information on the subject to warrant further investigation and very probably several of the milk dealers of the city will be seen by the prosecutor and asked to answer certain questions.

There are several phases of the situation which are of a kind and character which have not as yet been made public, and for obvious reasons silence on these matters must continue for a few days, but it can be truthfully said that the fight against the raise in the price of milk is by no means dying out and in fact the occurrences of the last few days are of such a nature that the public can take assurance that the affair is to be thoroughly probed.

At a recent council meeting in Kalamazoo there was an evidence of awakening on the part of the people of that city. A resolution was passed to investigate the raise to seven cents per quart.

Other cities are awakening to the cunning tactics of milk dealers and before long will be confronted with no end of prosecutions by the legal departments of their respective districts.

TEDDY IS MICH'S CHOICE

Senator Burrows Tells Washington That We Want Him Badly

Washington, Nov. 16.—"Michigan will, in my opinion, send delegates to the next republican national convention who will be pledged to work for the renomination of President Roosevelt," said Senator Julius C. Burrows.

"This will be due," continued the senator, "to the high regard in which the president is held throughout Michigan. The people there believe in him and his policies. They would like to see him serve again. I think this action will also be due to the fact that, eliminating the president from the equation the state could not agree on any other candidate. It would be unwise to send a delegation to the convention instructed for a certain man, because if that man should be found unavailable the delegation would be compelled to continue to vote for him just the same. So I believe the people of the state will be inclined to think it best to send a delegation which would be favorably disposed towards Mr. Roosevelt, and should he refuse absolutely to run, could then go to any candidate it might deem best to support. Who the second choice would be it is difficult to tell. At the state convention I think an endorsement of the president for another term will be made, and it will be expressed as the wish of the convention that the delegation should support him for that honor."

Mother Finds Child Burned to Crisp

Cassopolis, Mich., Nov. 16.—Mrs. Henry Curtis returned from a visit to a neighbor's house last evening to find her four-year-old daughter burned a crisp on the floor of their home. Mrs. Curtis had locked the child with her two-year-old sister in the house, expecting to be gone but a few minutes, and the older girl played with matches and ignited her clothes.

ATTORNEY GORE HAS PROPOSAL

Benton Harbor Lawyer Declares for Local Option High License Bill

IT IS LIKELY TO PASS

The Measure has Nothing to do with Any Anti-Saloon League and Had Its Inception in Mr. Gore's Brain

Lansing, Nov. 16.—Probably the most important subject that will be discussed by the constitutional convention will be the proposal submitted by Delegate Gore which embodies the features of local option and high license.

The measure provides that the next legislature shall submit the proposition of local option to every county, city, village and ward in the state.

Would Limit Saloons

The number of saloons is to be based on one to each 1,000 population, the license is fixed at $1,000 and the office of state liquor commissioner is created whose duty it will be to see that the laws are enforced. Any person convicted twice of violating the law to be barred from engaging in the business.

Mr. Gore's Plan

Here are its salient points: Counties, villages, cities or wards may submit prohibition or petition of 20 per cent of electors.

Sale of liquor prohibited in townships and in villages of less than 500 people.

Prohibited at Ann Arbor. License set at $1,000 instead of $500.

One saloon to 1,000 people. Idiots, minors, persons under guardianship or drunkards may not buy liquor.

Two convictions disqualifies a man from holding liquor license.

State liquor commissioner created to enforce liquor laws.

"The proposal had its inception entirely in my own mind," said Mr. Gore. "It is not endorsed by the Anti-Saloon League or any other body."

The liquor and anti-liquor interests would not be so very far apart in the proposition. The liquor men would probably fight the high license clause and would want the ratio of saloons to population reduced, say 1 to 750. They would object to the local option idea somewhat, especially to carrying it as far as wards.

Is Not One Telephone Service Better Than Two?

Why does the South Bend Home Telephone Co. want a franchise when they can come into the city under the State Law without a franchise?

The state law gives telephone companies, organized under the laws of state, the right to use the highways and streets under the police supervision of your city.

Do corporations ordinarily restrict themselves with franchises where they do not need them unless they have some other use for the franchise other than the rights which they already possess?

Did not the competition you had in your city several years ago demonstrate that the only advantage of two systems to the subscriber was the privilege to pay for two services when one would have given better satisfaction and a more complete service?

Since the rate asked for by the South Bend Co. is lower than that of the Mich. State Co., the Mich. State Company's rate must be just.

Two systems mean a divided service. Ask your neighbors in Benton Harbor which they like best.

Postmaster General Meyer's plan to establish postal savings banks in the United States will be presented to congress at its coming session. The plan contemplates that the postoffices at all the principal centers shall be authorized to receive savings deposits and pay two per cent interest. The money will be redeposited by the postmasters in local banks, they to pay three per cent for the same, so that the currency will not be withdrawn from circulation. In Great Britain there is a government savings bank system that seems to work in a satisfactory way and may be quite possible that the plan proposed by Postmaster-General Meyer may work out in a way that will be satisfactory both to the banks and the community generally.

John Wanamaker was asked one time what was the reason that the U. S. should lag behind other nations about establishing a parcels post, and that great statesman promptly replied: "There are three reasons, the American Express Co, the Adams Express Co., and the U. S. Express Co."

It has been said with truth that many of the people who are strenuous in their faultfinding about the newspapers frequently owe their standing in society to the newspapers' forbearance.

American Names.
If we have some growing sense of a desire to touch with poetry the terminology of our American towns, we have succeeded so far only in securing a slightly picnic grove atmosphere such as is given off by Lakewood or Riverside. The rich sentimentalism of the real estate dealer has done what it could, considering the hurry he is in. If we have a new manufacturing suburb, the chances are we shall be too lazily and flatly patriotic, call it Lincoln and be done with it, or too crudely romantic, in which case the secretary of the company will report to the directors that he has had the place incorporated as Ivanhoe. With the slightest dash of poetry in his soul he might keep true to the strenuous character of the place, with all its prospective labor agitations, and at the same time give a tinge of beauty to the situation forever by calling it Fretley, or if it is a place where hammers are to ring from morning to night why not call it Stroke instead of naming it Smithville after the present chief stockholder in the concern?—Atlantic.

The Outlook Is Dark.
The junior partner in a certain law firm passed into his office a day or two ago with a dark cloud shadowing his usually sunny front. An underclerk drew the attention of the managing clerk to the fact, expressing uneasiness. "I guess you'd be upset, too, if you were in his position," the superior explained. "You know he's been married less than a year and he and his wife never had a dispute. Well, sir, last night she dreamed he had abused her, and she was so mad about it that she wouldn't say goodbye to him this morning."

"Pretty tough, ain't it?"
"You bet it is. And the worst of it is he's afraid now she'll dream he knocked her down and have him up in a police court for felonious assault."—New York Globe.

Tired Eyes.
People speak about their eyes being tired, meaning that the retina or seeing portion of the eye is fatigued, but such is not the case, as the retina hardly ever gets tired. The fatigue is in the inner and outer muscles attached to the eyeball and the muscle of accommodation which surrounds the lens of the eye. When a near object is to be looked at this muscle relaxes and allows the lens to thicken, increasing its refractive power. The inner and outer muscles are used in covering the eye on the object to be looked at, the inner one being especially used when a near object is looked at. It is in the three muscles mentioned that the fatigue is felt, and relief is secured temporarily by closing the eyes or gazing at far distant objects. The usual indication of strain is a redness of the rim of the eyelid, betokening a congested state of the inner surface, accompanied by some pain. Sometimes this weariness indicates the need of glasses rightly adapted to the person, and in other cases the true remedy is to massage the eye and its surroundings as far as may be with the hand wet in cold water.

Changed Faces.
The nose lasts longest unchanged of all the features. The brow becomes wrinkled, and crow's feet gather round the eyes, which themselves gradually grow dim as time rolls on. Cheeks lose the bloom which cosmetics cannot replace and lips their fullness and color. The chin, dimpled in youth, develops angularities or globularities, as the case may be, and the eyebrows become heavy with the crop of many years' growth. The nose shows no mark comparable to these familiar facial indications of the approach of old age and practically enjoys immunity from the ravages which time makes on the other features of the face. Next to the nose, probably the ears, as a rule, show the fewest and least obvious signs of old age.

Miss Pauline Alfonte, who, with Miss Dora Hershenow, is to give a fine musical program at the Presbyterian church on Wednesday evening, Nov. 27, has won honors for herself in her chosen profession. For several seasons she studied with Mr. Fred Ingersoll of South Bend, a violinist of European training. Later, she went to Chicago to study with the noted French violinist, Emile Sauret, who gave her great encouragement. Upon his return to Europe, she began her musical studies with his very able successor at the Chicago Musical College, Mr. Hugo Heermann, the world renowned German violinist and teacher, and leader of the famous Heermann String Quartette of Germany. Under his able instruction she won the diamond medal for best general scholarship and a gold medal for excellence in violin work. At the beginning of the present school year she also won a free scholarship, which speaks much for her talent. As a further acknowledgment of her unusual ability, she has been appointed to play, entire, the great Bruch Concerto, at the coming advanced pupils recital. While Miss Alfonte holds to the highest standard of violin compositions, she has formed her part of the program from more popular compositions. Her playing is marked by a solid intelligent style and large, sympathetic tone that always commands attention and interest.

Reports have been flying thick and fast concerning certain factories being closed down when the real situation has not been pictured. Most of the factories have only laid off a few men and reduced the number of hours, but with the country so highly prosperous affairs are expected to soon shape themselves as soon as the present stringency is relieved and people begin to bring their cash out of its hidden place.

It is not unsafe to predict that the farmer who holds his corn, potatoes, oats, etc., to be sold at a higher price next spring than he can get now is going to be disappointed. There is every prospect that all such commodities will be cheaper six months from now than they are at present. The wise man will sell at the high current prices.

While in some cities there are a lot of badly scared people over the money stringency, confidence continues in Buchanan. Now and then some foolish individual appears and does a lot of talking, but he fails to disturb people's confidence and only hurts himself. Buchanan banks continue to be the best medium of safety, the safest places for keeping one's money.

Howard Mead accidentally shot him self in the hand early yesterday morning. The young man was expecting to go to South Bend on the 5:11 train and about a quarter of 5 while changing a revolver from one pocket to another it was discharged. The ball entered the fleshy part of the left hand and came out near the wrist causing a very painful wound. While he is suffering greatly, Dr. Peck, who dressed the wound, hopes for no serious results.

The little people of the second grade gave their teacher, Miss Carrie Williams, a genuine surprise Saturday afternoon from 2 to 4, at her home on Main street. They met at the home of Lillian Merrill and took refreshments with them. A silver spoon bearing the inscription "Second grade 1907" was left as a reminder of their visit. The afternoon will long be remembered by both teacher and pupils.

The South Bend Clearing House association has decided to follow the course pursued by the Chicago banks and will issue certificates, or checks, through the banking institutions of that city. This matter was decided on after a meeting held by the South Bnd Business Men's association. The purpose of issuing these certificates is to relieve the currency stringency now prevailing in all large towns.

HE FOUGHT AT GETTYSBURG. David Parker, of Fayette, N. Y., who lost a foot at Gettysburg, writes: "Electric Bitters have done me more good than any medicine I ever took. for several years I had stomach trouble, and paid out much money for medicine to little purpose, until I began taking Electric Bitters. I would not take $500. for what they have done for me." Grand tonic for the aged and for female weaknesses. Great alternative and body builder; best of all for lame back and weak kidneys. Guaranteed by W. N. Brod-rick, druggist. 50c.

F. H. Goodenough, a former Buchanan resident and a veteran of the Civil war, became mentally deranged last Sunday at Niles where he has resided a year. He imagined there was going to be a—1. In his fury the crazy man attempted to do his daughter, Mrs. Frank McCrery, bodily harm. The police were summoned and it required the combined efforts of several strong men to subdue him. He was taken to the county jail at St. Joseph and will soon be taken to the asylum at Kalamazoo.

The recent financial stringency which threatened to shut down many manufacturing concerns did not affect Buchanan to any extent, although the workingmen were generally quite alarmed over the financial depression as it meant a temporary close down of their factories. However, it is gratifying to report that the Axle Works and Celfor Tool Co. are working their regular capacity with no signs of being bothered by the recent disturbances. The Cabinet Works which was supposed to shut down last week is also running its full force. Buchanan people can now feel assured whatever fears they have entertained, because of the panic-stricken Wall street speculators, were not warranted and that the storm of troubles in the East cannot touch Western shores of finance with any great degree of danger. Confidence has been restored, let us rejoice for Thanksgiving is coming!

Cut Off With a Shilling.

"Here," said a lawyer, taking down a calf bound book, "is the will from which originated the famous phrase, 'Cut off with a shilling.'"

"It is the will of Stephen Godfrey. He died in Lambeth in 1796. Now, I'll read you the paragraph in Godfrey's will that gave the world the phrase. A nasty paragraph it is too:

"Whereas, It was my misfortune to be made very uneasy by Elizabeth Godfrey, my wife, for many years, from our marriage, by her turbulent behavior, for she was not content with despising my admonitions, but she contrived every method to make me unhappy; she was so perverse in her nature that she would not be reclaimed, but seemed only to be born to be a plague to me. The strength of Samson, the knowledge of Homer, the prudence of Augustus, the cunning of Pyrrhus, the patience of Job, the subtlety of Hannibal and the watchfulness of Homogenes could not have been sufficient to subdue her, for no skill or force in the world could make her good, and as we have lived separate and apart from each other eight years, and she having perverted her son to leave and totally abandon me—therefore I give her one shilling only."

Backed Both Ways.

The race was over, the flag hoisted and the crowd of fortunates who had backed the winner had gathered around the bookmakers to receive their winnings.

One vacant looking individual, who was evidently "seeing life" for the first time, claimed £1.

"What did you back?" asked the fat faced man with the big waist, who was standing on a stool.

"Silver Cloud," replied the vacant one.

"Why, man alive," yelled the man with the satchel, "that horse turned back and finished at the starting post!" "I know that," said the other, "but didn't I back the horse both ways?" There was a dull thud on the green-sward, and an anxious crowd gathered. The man with the big waist had fainted.—London Mail.

Dan's Silver Lining

By W. F. BRYAN.

Copyrighted, 1907, by Homer Sprague.

"I think I can make it," said Sheldon confidently. "My car is not as fast as your father's, but we ought to be able to get a fair start, and with half an hour's handicap we'll be in town and married before he can catch up with us."

"I hope so," said Patrice. "I should hate to be caught and carried back in disgrace, Dan."

"You won't be," he promised confidently. "You be on the edge of the grounds tomorrow at 3. By the time they find out that you are gone it will be impossible to catch us."

"I don't see why father cannot be nice and let us be married at home," pouted Patrice. "Just because there has been bad blood in the two families since your grandfather and mine fought a duel is no reason why we should not marry."

"Your father thinks otherwise," laughed Dan. "An elopement is the only thing left, since he watches you so closely, and there is no hope of ever obtaining his consent."

"I'll be there just at 3," she replied quietly. "Be sure to be on time."

"Don't worry," he returned as he bent to kiss her. "Everything will come out all right."

Patrice looked after him wistfully as he slipped through the trees. She disliked the idea of deception, but it was apparent that her father would never consent to her marriage to Dan Sheldon, and an elopement was inevitable. She could not give up Dan.

The main road ran past the Carney estate straight to the town, twenty-five miles away. With a clear track and no accidents they could get to town and become lost in the streets long before her father's powerful car could catch up with them.

It was difficult to slip away as 3 o'clock approached, but Patrice managed to find an excuse, and as Sheldon in his dark green car came up the road she stepped through the trees beside the road.

Earlier in the morning she had hidden a satchel with some necessities in the little clump of elms, and now she tossed this into the car and climbed to the seat beside Dan. The tonneau had

"CAN'T WE GIVE YOU A LIFT BACK HOME?" been removed and the car stripped to lighten the weight and increase the speed. Almost before she had settled herself the car shot forward again.

She turned to look back and gave a little cry. Just as they passed an open space her father had come out on the piazza and had seen them. She could now discern his figure running toward the garage as a clump of trees intervened.

"Can't we turn up some side road?" she suggested after she had told Dan of her discovery.

He shook his head. "I think we had better make straight for town," he said. "We shall have at least ten minutes start, and we may be able to do it."

"Let's hope so," she cried. "Don't let us be caught."

"Don't worry," he cried as he threw the lever to the highest speed. "If we are caught we will at least know that there has been a race."

The car shot forward, and while the girl looked back to discover the approach of the pursuers Dan kept his glance fastened upon the road ahead and gripped the steering wheel with a firmer clutch. They were going at a speed that required the utmost care in steering, and he could not turn to look back.

For ten minutes they sped along, and still no pursuit was reported. Dan began to hope that all would go well. Two miles beyond the road made a sharp turn through a thickly wooded tract, and Dan slowed up slightly for the curve. As they came round the bend he uttered an exclamation and shut off the speed. Just ahead a wagon had been drawn across the road, and he was compelled to come to a halt.

"Get that wagon out of the way!"

he shouted. Instead the man slowly climbed down from the seat of the ramshackle vehicle.

"I guess I wouldn't be in such a hurry to give orders if I was you," he said as he came lumbering toward them. "I'm the constable here, and there ain't no fresh city chaps as kin give orders when they are under arrest in Woodey township. I guess you'll have to see the squire about violating them speed regulations."

"Can't I pay you the fine?" pleaded Dan. "I'm in a great hurry to get to town. The penalty is $20, isn't it?"

"That's what it is," was the reply. "But if you think you're going to give me the money and then say I took a bribe you're mistaken. We do things regular and in order in this township."

"But we are eloping," pleaded Patrice. "My father is right behind. Won't you let us go, please?"

"If you're in a hurry," said the constable dryly, "you'd better stop talking and drive me over to the court."

"Jump in," invited Dan. "I guess the three of us can manage."

The constable sat on the bottom of the car and indicated the road.

"Drive right up there," he commanded. "The justice is sitting, and he'll try your case at once."

They turned up the middle path that wound through the woods, and presently they were in the tiny courtroom that formed a part of the wood shed of the farmhouse.

The trial was conducted with the expedition of long practice. Dan pleaded guilty, paid his fine and turned away.

"I guess we'll run into your father," he said dolefully. "No chance of a wedding now."

"Goin' to get married?" inquired the justice. "What you want to go to town for? I guess I can hitch you up about as tight as any city parson. It's only $5."

"There's a silver lining to every cloud," laughed Dan. "Come, Pat, let's get married right here."

Hand in hand they stood before the table that represented the bar of justice and made the responses required by the brief formula. Then the justice laboriously filled out a highly illuminated certificate with his spluttering pen and handed it to them.

"I guess that ties you up as good and strong as you'll want," he said. "Five dollars, and I allow kiss the bride."

"Make it $10 and no kiss," suggested Dan as Patrice shrank from the sight of the magisterial beard.

"Never saw a kiss that was worth $5, so pass over the $10," said the justice comfortably. "Now you can get along to town or back to papa."

He went back to his potato patch, and the automobile resumed its way down the road. As they came to the highway Patrice gave a cry. Her father's car had run into the wagon that the constable had forgotten to remove. The mechanic had brought the car to a stop just as the front wheels had wrecked the wagon. No one was hurt, but the wagon was fit for kindling wood, and both front tires of the auto were punctured.

"Can't we give you a lift back home?" suggested Dan as they came to the road. "Mrs. Sheldon and myself are going right past your place."

"Mrs. Sheldon?" echoed Mr. Carney. "Married already?"

"Justice of peace," explained Dan. "Marriages performed—automobilists fined while you wait. It's a thriving industry."

The old man climbed aboard the car. "I guess there's no use in trying to keep up a feud when you young people are so determined," he said. "Let's go back to the house. I'm glad I didn't have to make that trip to town for nothing."

"Every cloud has a silver lining," laughed Dan as he started the car. "My silver lining is the best of all." And he kissed the new Mrs. Sheldon.
