Paul Reimberger of Benton Harbor, Into Matrimonial Troubles

Eis Wife's Attorneys Declare That Amounts Stipulated by the Court Have Not Been Paid and that they Want Body Execution

Paul Heimberger, Benton Harbor's well known musician and orchestra leader, has not escaped from the matrimonial troubles which surrounded him a few months ago when his wife applied for a separation and alimony

At that time the court granted the separation and declared that the musician must support his wife and children as well as pay her solicitor's Heimberger, it appears, has not been able to carry out this contract, and was brought into court by H. S. Whitney, one of Mrs. Heimberger's attorneys, who asked a body execution against the musician for debt.

attorney, argured against the motion. He presented a bill showing the earnings of the orchestra leader and the amount which he has paid each week to his wife. According to his statements Heimberger has been living on a mere pittance since the ruling of the court and has failed to pay the olicitor's fees simply because he did not have the money.

The court, however, granted the request of the complaining attorney The affair has caused considerable comment in Benton Harbor, where Heimberger is well known and well liked. It is hardly thought, however, that he will be compelled to see the inside of a cell, for there are doubtless friends who will come to his aid.

WHAT THE KIDNEYS

THEIR UNCEASING WORK KEEPS WELL AND HEALTHY

All the blood in the body passes through the kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys filter the blood. They work night and day. When healthy they remove about 500 grains of impure matter daily, when unhealthy some part of this impure matter is left in the blood. This brings many diseases and symptoms—pain in the back, headache, nervousness, hot, dry skin, rheumatism, gout, gravel, disorders of the eyesight and hearing, dizziness, irregular heart, debility, drowsiness, edropsy, deposit in the urine, etc. But if you keep the filters right you will have no trouble with your kidneys

B. S. Crawford, nurse, living on Clark street, Buchanan, Mich., says: "Sometime ago, I strained my back lifting while waiting on a patient, and as a result of the injury, I suffered from a miserable pain in my back. Seeing Doan's Kidney Pills advertised and recommended so highly, I thought I would test their merits, and accordingly procured a box at W. N. Brodrick's Drug Store, and I am more than pleased with the results. They acted very quickly, promptly relieving the pain that had annoxed me so long, and I have no heait ition in recommending this valuable medicine to any who may be suffering from kidney trouble in any its forms."

CHICAGO THEATRES

GRAND OPERA HOUSE

The admiration with which Bertha Kalich is held in Chicago was never more positively demonstrated than on her appearance last Monday evening at the Grand Opera House as Marta in "Marta in the Lowlands" The crowded house was enthusiastically pleased and satisfied that it had witnessed an exceptional play interpreted by a great artist and a most capable supporting company. Nothing more artistic has been seen on a Chicago stage this season than what Harrison Grey Fiske has for this unusually absorbing drama.

Particularly commented upon was the sunrise effect in the first act.

The dancing of the Jota at the wedding fete of Marta was one of the touches that added flavor to a fascinating scene. The jota is a dance unknown in America.

It is a play of unique simplicity, human interest, beauty and power, the story of how a strong man might love a woman. Its plot is one of rare surprises that finally ends happily for Marta and her sheperd-husband, Manolich. This attraction, which promises to be the most successful of the season, judging from the advance demand for seats, will continue through the week of Dec. 2nd. Matinees Wednesday and Saturday.

Thanskgiving Dinner

Twenty-one members of the Monday Frank L. Hammond, Heimberger's Literary club met at the home of the home of the president, Miss Samson on Tuesday.

> The occasion was the annual Thanksgiving dinner. The house was very attractive with a setting of vines, plants, berries and the club flower, yellow chrysanthemums, every where. The noon dinner was the feature of the day, proving that the ladies not only excell in literary works, but also in domestic science. The tables were handsomely decorated with the club flowers The unique place cards giving each member a new old fashioned name, with yellow chrysanthemums were at each plate A five-course dinner was served, each member donating her share of the good things. After dinner the ladies repaired to the parlors where a bright p-ogram was given, consisting of music, poery, readings and stories A guesing contest in books was given by Mrs. Kent. The prize was won by Mrs. Dodd. The meeting was a very social one and all joined in thanking the committee because of the gracious manner in which they were entertained. The committee for the day was Miss Samson, Mesdames Knight, Dodd and Worthington.

Currency System Blame Not to For Trouble.

By Senator SHELBY M. CULLOM of Illinois.

IS NONSENSE TO SAY THAT OUR PRESENT CUR-RENCY SYSTEM IS RESPONSIBLE IN ANY SENSE OF THE WORD FOR THE RECENT FINANCIAL FLURRY WHICH WAS MOSTLY CENTERED IN NEW YORK CITY. THAT PANIC WAS DUE LARGELY TO THE MANEUVERS OF MEN WHO DISREGARD THE LAW AND WHO DISREGARD THEIR OBLIGATIONS.

It was that rather than any deficiency or inadequacy of statutory currency conditions. In other words, if certain financiers in New York would keep closer to shore or maintain their operations WITH-IN THE BOUNDS OF REASON the country would be better off.

In my judgment the disposition on the part of certain financiers to reach out for that which they cannot reasonably control is GROW-ING, and the instant they get into trouble they run to the government. It is a great misfortune that conditions should allow such access to federal assistance to remedy mistakes which are palpably of a nature reprehensible upon their begettors, WHO ARE ALONE TO BLAME. These men in Wall street ought to understand that they shall and must do business ON THEIR OWN CAPITAL.

It is all right that the government should afford PROPER CUR RENCY AND BANKING FACILITIES for people who are in trouble, and we have at present an ADEQUATE currency system which is capable of maintaining an equilibrium quite to the satisfaction of SANE MINDED people financially.

I do not believe there is any occasion for general reform at this time.

Is Child Training Woman's Only Normal Sphere?

By President ELIOT of Harvard University.

IGHER education in the future should recognize the fact that the MAJORITY OF WOMEN TAKE UP THE OC-CUPATION OF TRAINING CHILDREN, the married ones as mothers and many of the unmarried ones in the interest of the mothers.

TRAINING OF CHILDREN IS THE NORMAL OCCUPATION OF WOMAN, AND ITS IMPORTANCE IN EDUCATION HAS PROBABLY NOT BEEN RECOGNIZED BECAUSE IT HAS HITHERTO BEEN RE-GARDED AS AN UNINTELLECTUAL PURSUIT. YET IT IS THE MOST INTELLECTUAL OCCUPATION IN THE WORLD, IN NO MAT-TER WHAT WALK OF LIFE. IT CALLS ALWAYS FOR GREAT

What a great power a reading mother has to train the minds of her children! This NORMAL OCCUPATION of woman should be the main object henceforth in the education of woman.

MORAL AND CAREFULLY TRAINED MENTAL POWERS.

By Mrs. JOHN SHERWIN CROSBY, President of the Women's Democratic

I question whether the education of man is yet sufficiently far advanced to qualify him to decide upon the education that woman SHOULD have. There is of course a broad fundamental education that is just as necessary to develop the powers of a woman as of a man, There is also little in regard to the training of children that THE MAN AS WELL AS THE WOMAN ought not to learn.

IF WOMAN WERE RESTRICTED TO REARING AND TEACH ING CHILDREN SHE WOULD BE DEPRIVED OF MANY OF THE BEST OPPORTUNITIES FOR LEARNING HOW TO DO THAT VERY WORK.

The greatest idea in education, as in other things, is FREEDOM and any restriction placed upon the education of woman would tend to render her less efficient in any special service to which she may -- -- -- -- --nature adapted BETTER than man.

More Poverty In England Than Here.

By JOHN HODGE, Member of Parliament.

HEN we ask for concessions in the old country we are up against the claim of the manufacturers that they have AMERICAN COMPETITION to contend with. After I came to this country I found that the manufacturers made the SAME CLAIM about British manufacturers and that the labor men were up against the plea of British competition.

THE PROBLEM OF DESTITUTION AND LACK OF WORK IN THE OLD COUNTRY IS A MUCH BIGGER ONE THAN IT IS HERE. THERE IS NO SUCH DESTITUTION IN THIS COUNTRY AS IN ENGLAND AND NO SUCH ARMY OF UNEMPLOYED.

In this country you do not know the EXTREME POVERTY that exists in England. In London alone statistics showed that 200,000 children WENT BREAKFASTLESS TO SCHOOL EVERY DAY. Labor saving machinery is driving thousands of people out of work.

NEW CHEMICAL BUILDING

Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 28-In order to meet the ever increasing demand for more room, which is becoming more and more a habit in the various departments of the U. of M., work will be begun on a new chemical building in a few weeks.

When the building is completed, an addition to the regular chemistry classes, laboratory workers in physiology, electrotherapeutics and materia medica will be assigned space there. The building probably will be located near the psychological laboratories.

BROTHERS DESERT WIVES

Charlotte, Mich., Nov: 28-Sam and George Miller, brothers, of Eaton Rapids have been arrested for desertion on complaint of their respective wives. The men were working on a farm in Mecosta county when taken into custody by Sheriff Sloan and Under Sheriff Spears. The pair were arraigned before Justice Weatherwax of Eaton Rapids, and demanded an examination, which was set for December 2. They furnished bail.

Sunday Theaters To Run in South Bend without Molestation

Mayor E. J. Fogarty South Bend, has issued orders to Chief of Police James McWeeny that he allow South Bend theaters to remain open on Sundays without molestation. This action follows the presentation to the mayor of a petition signed by several. thousand persons praying that the play house of the city be permitted to open their doors to the puble on the Sabbath.

In the petition asking this favor it is agreed that the theaters should present only high class, moral shows in as quiet a manner as possible, and that no noisy demonstrations should be used to attract crowds.

This act constitutes the first tilting of the lid so tightly clamped down a few weeks ago, and people in general are awaiting the outcome somewhat anxiously.

WOMAN ADMITS BLACKMAIL

Greenville, Mich., Nov. 28-"I sent the note to Miller. I was the one who set fire to the barn. I am along to blame. My husband knew nothing about it."

This was the substance of a brief confession made yesterday by Mrs. Wm. Emmons, charged with having burned the barn owned by Melvin E. Miller in Fairplain township near here after demanding money from him.

Mr. and Mrs. Emmons were arrainged charged with arson.

We wish to correct a report which went the rounds of the county papers last week doing your former townsman, Frank H. Goodenough, great injustice. Statements were made to the effect that Mr. Goodenough, who since the death of his wife a year or two ago, has made his home with his daughter, Katie McCleary in Niles, became suddenly insane ten days ago and tried to kill the members of the family and that it required the help of several men to place him in jail. The following are the facts as we get them direct from the family of his older daughter, Mrs Nellie Goss, this city, with whom he is now staying. On the evening in question he was trying to read and was unable to do so on account of the noise and boisterousness and sauciness of the grandchildren. Finally his patience, temper and nerves gave way completely and he went and got a metal tub and beat upon it with sticks, saying, he would add to the general din, but he did not offer to molest anyone, nor was he crazy then nor since. His daughter. who has a quick temper, had him placed in jail, where he was competled to lie on the cold, stone floor all night as his crutch and cane were taken from him and on account of his lameness he could not rise without them. The fire went out about 9 p. m. and he took a severe cold which settled on his lungs and in his hip. His friends in Buchanan, at least the old soldiers, know that his hip was shattered by a gunshot wound in the civil war, which very nearly proved fatal. As it is he still suffers many hours of pain because of it. After the night in the

Niles jail, the sheriff brought him down to St. Joseph where he was to the hundreds who have been invited be placed in jail, pending a transfer when he met his daughter, Mrs. Goss, and her husband who were on their way to Niles to look into the trouble. "You are incorrigible, Stella," with contracted eyebrows said Osbert Lor-

"Do you think so?" naively returned Miss Walbridge, lifting her soft blue eyes innocently to her companion.

"Most decidedly I do." energetically responded the young man, driving a pebble viciously out of his way.

"Why am I incorrigible?" pretended to inquire the other, with an adorable shake of her fine head. "As if you didn't know!" cried Osbert indignantly. He stared at the long stretch of country road without seeing anything. "Here have I proposed to you," he went on mournfully, let me see, six times"— "Only six, Osbert?" interrupted the other, with a sweet ripple.

"There you go again!" ruefully laughed Loring. Turning his hazel brown eyes toward the lady at his side, he continued imploringly, "Can't I make you look at the matter serious-

The girl laughed deliciously. Presently, "What is the use, Osbert, in taking things seriously?" appealed she to him, her small, straight nose wrinkling comically. "Life is so short, you know."

"Exactly," agreed the other, with enthusiasm. "Let us get married and enjoy it."

"That makes it seven times!" triumphantly cried Stella and clapped her hands for very joy.

Osbert's firm, shaven chin was up in the air. "If you will marry me," said he,

with a sigh, "I'll propose to you a hun-"Eight times," from Miss Walbridge.

They both laughed. A touring car was tearing down the road. They made way for the monster.

"Well, Stella," resumed the young man, "won't you? There is a minister living half a mile back. He can tie

THE BULL WENT STRAIGHT FOR LORING. the knot for us in no time. Shall we turn back?" He swung his broad shoulders around toward the village whence they had walked.

"No!" vehemently protested the lady, with an impatient stamp of her aristocratic foot. "Of course not!"

"Very well, then," resignedly sighed the other. "Well," continued he lightly as the two walked briskly on, "if you don't wish to marry me you needn't. There are plenty others."

"Yes," agreed Miss Walbridge. "There is Helen Swanson, for instance." An amused smile played around her small mouth.

"A bean pole," disdainfully came from the other.

"Lottie Johnson, then," suggested Stella, her eyes merry.

"An eel!" contemptuously objected

"You are hard to please," protested the lady, with mock seriousness. "How will Mamie Gridley do?" The lower part of her face was hidden behind a lace handkerchief, while her laughing eyes watched the contortions on the young man's frank, handsome face. "Do you think I want to marry a mountain?" cried Osbert. Then, with a laugh, "I am going to marry a finer girl than you think."

"Who?" with assumed indifference queried Miss Walbridge, though a jealous pain was nibbling at her heart.

"Never mind," easily responded the young man. "Wait until you get our "Then your proposal to me was merely a bluff?" angrily flashed the maid. Realizing, however, how much her outburst committed her, she relapsed into Indifference. "Oh, I don't care!" laughed she. "Marry whom you please and when you please. You can have my blessing." Loring whistled for reply. They walked on in silence, separated from fields of gold and of emerald by barbed wire fences. A little ahead of them the hard road turned abruptly; a clump of trees filled the angle and shut out the highway beyond. A sharp troiting was suddenly heard. Supposing this to be a buggy, the young couple swerved out of the road to one ⁶A bull!" cried the girl. "Farmer Tucker's bull!" supplemented the young man.

The two stopped and stared at one another. The situation was serious. They were too far away from house or barn to be able to run back for shelter before the bull would overtake them. And five ropes of barbed wire barred their way to the fields.

"The bull will gore us," declared Stella.

"I don't care what happens to me." returned the young man, with a shrug of the shoulders. "You run back to the village. I shall keep him busy for awhile at any rate."

"I won't!" announced Miss Walbridge. "Why don't you care what will happen to you?"

"You know very well why," gloomily answered Osbert. "Now, hurry up and run. Do!"

"I stay!" cried the girl. "There is the other girl, you know," she reminded him lightly. "Why don't you care what will happen to you?"

"There is no other girl," quietly said Loring. "Now hurry along with you to the village," he added, with much con-

"I won't!" again cried Stella. "If you wish my life to be saved, save your

"Then marry me!" from Osbert.

"Nine times!" triumphantly from the girl. Eying admiringly her companion's six feet two, she added, "On that condition I will."

"Honor bright?" "As I live."

"Cross your heart."

The girl obeyed.

They were near the clump of trees. Loring's coat was off in a minute. As the animal came up he received this coat over his head. Tightening the garment deftly over the beast's head, Osbert with herculean effort turned the bull in the opposite direction. Now he lifted the girl up lightly and swung her gently over the fence. Stella from her safe vantage watched with beating heart the struggle of the giants.

The brute had made short work of Osbert's coat. Enraged more than ever, he returned to the charge. With his head close to the ground the bull went straight for Loring. But that young man had been an all around Yale athlete. He sprang deftly aside, and the beast's horns struck the air. With bloodshot eyes, steaming nostrils and with a loud bellow he went once more for his victim. Osbert had noticed a huge stone and had bent down to pick it up, intending to smash with it the animal's head. He was not quick enough, however. The bull's horns were at him before he could get the stone.

Miss Walbridge held her breath in terror. The next moment she beheld the bull raise his enormous head high in the air, and with it the body of her lover. A mist swam before her eyes. But she called upon all her energy to fight her fainting spell and see the struggle out.

Loring had grasped the brute's horns and swung himself upon them as if on a trapeze. When the bull reared his head at its highest the young man flung himself over the fence. Stella closed her eyes and sank down upon the emerald carpet. Presently she felt some one rubbing her wrists and forehead. She looked up to meet her lover's gaze.

In the evening Stella related to her aunt and hostess how Loring had saved her life.

"He is a splendid hero!" cried she, with her usual enthusiasm." "Am I going to marry him? Well, I guess!" On the following day she repeated the story to the girls. "Bull?" laughed they. "Farmer Tucker's bull? Nonsense! Farmer Tucker's bull was tied up in the barn. It was a cow. You city girls don't know a cow when you see one!"

But Stella would not be cheated or teased out of her cause for rejoicing. 'I know one thing," said she.

"What is that?" "Osbert is a hero!"

SEE THIS AD?

Think how many would read yours if this were your ad. If you are doing a fair business without advertising, you should advertise for more business. If you are doing but little business, you should advertise to create more business.

How to Get Business

You simply HAVE to advertise these days—if you wish to join the procession. In ancient times business could get along at a slow pace. But in these days of keen competition, merchants who advertise are those who get the business. Get a share of that business!

Fight the M. O. Houses

If your business is too poor to advertise, advertise it for sale. That's the only thing to do when in a rut.

Don't let the mail order houses get the business that should be yours. Put your ad in the Buchanan Record, and it will be just like a personal talk to practically the whole community.

We Help You with Ideas

If you no not know how to write your copy, we can help you with business bringing ideas—catchy—snappy phases—written especially for your particular line of business—and this extra service costs nothing.
