GRANDMA CAMFIELD LOOKS OVER LONG REACH OF YEARS

Oldest Buchanan Lady Has Seen History of Nation Made and Marred.

October 9, 1817, a girl was born near Rochester, N. Y., which at that time boasted of only two houses. They called her Safah Ann. Ninety-one years after that eventful day that babe answers to the title, grandma.

It is a long reach of years over which Grandma Camfield looks. In the more than four score years she has seen many changes. She has seen history of a nation made and marred. But after all these dead years, Grandma Camfield still takes an interest in life.

She is enjoying good health and at times her eyes light up with a fire the years have not been able to entirely extinguish. She resides with her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. A. Carlisle, of north Main street, and in the presence of a Record man the old lady recalled incidents of the days when she was young.

In 1846 Mrs. Camfield, whose maiden name was Wizer, was married to M. Camfield. Two years later they came west and settled on what later became known as the Jacob Miller farm. Mrs. Camfield said Buchanan was a mere hamlet, with a few hundred population, surrounded by an almost unbroken wilderness in those days, and that her father cleared the 40-acre farm on which they settled. She said the St. Joseph river teemed with fish; that it was one of the clearest streams in the country, and that the fish could be seen swimming about in its waters. Deer were plentiful hereabouts, as was nearly all kinds of game, said Mrs. Camfield.

To Mr. and Mrs. Camfield two children were born. They are Mrs. Carlisle, of this place, and Joseph M. Camfield, of South Bend. The latter is 62 years old. Mrs. Camfield also has eight grandchildren and five great-grandchildren. Her husband died 11 years ago, two years after they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary.

Mrs. Camfield was two years old when Florida was bought from Spain and added to the Union. She was three years old when Maine (which up to that time had been part of Massachusetts, though not contiguous thereto) became a state.

She was 23 years of age when Iowa and Florida were admitted to the Union as States.

But anybody who saw Mrs. Camfield today would never imagine that these things could be true. She is quite as youthful in ways as many a woman of 65.

In the year Mrs. Camfield was born the United States as a whole presented an aspect very different from that of today. Florida was still the property of Spain. Maine was a part of Massachusetts. Wisconsin was a part of the Territory of Illinois. The so-called Territory of Missouri covered nearly one-half of the entire area west of the Mississippi River that is now comprised within the limits of the Union extending northward of the line of the British possessions. Texas, New Mexico, Arizona, California, Utah, Nevada, Idaho, Oregon, Washington—all the area now covered by these States, that is to say—did not yet belong to us. We had no Pacific coast.

The population of the United States at that date (1817) was 7,400,000—about one-twelfth of what it is today. The total area of the country was less than two thirds of what it is now—1,999,775 square miles, as compared with 3,026,787 square miles. Our people had less than $1,000,000 in savings-banks. We have now $3,500,000,000 in such banks. Our expenditure for war was then about $2,300,000 per annum. It is now $111,000,000 annually. Such figures as these give a rather striking idea of the growth of the Union during the lifetime of Mrs. Camfield.

Nearly all of the material things which are regarded as making up what we call modern civilization have come into existence since Mrs. Camfield was grown to womanhood. Railroads, steam boats, the electric telegraph, and the sewing-machine were as yet undreamed of when she was a girl.

Holiday Business Bigger Than Ever

Merchants Predict High Tide in Next Few Days.

Holiday trade will be bigger and more exclusive than last year in the opinion of Buchanan merchants. The increase has been anticipated by buyers for each of the stores and much heavier stocks are carried. The sales have been much brisker than at this time last year and every indication points to the high tide in next few days.

All merchants, whether engaged in business in a large or a small way, have made extra preparations for taking care of the holiday trade. Beautiful decorations, attractive window displays and special arrangements of wares have made the stores inviting.

If It Is Sent

Already the mails are heavy—the express companies are putting on extra wagons and cars—in a few days they'll be buried 'neath the crush of Christmas packages.

If you would be certain that your gifts arrive at their several destinations on time and in good condition—you'll shop, and ship this week.

And your friends will call you blessed—if you shop in Buchanan.

Card of Thanks.

We wish to extend sincere thanks to our friends and neighbors for the many thoughtful kindnesses extended us during our late bereavement. Theo. Wooden and Family

WILL MOVE TO THREE OAKS

H. O. Lammond of Decatur has accepted the management of a large department store in Three Oaks which the Warren Featherbone Company is building and will take charge of the business the first of January.

HAVE LARGE BUSINESS BUILT ON WORTH

Babcock Bros.' Retail Business at Galien Draws Customers from Several Townships Around

Babcock Bros' great retail business in Galien, had its beginning, like most other enterprises of substantial growth and real present worth, in a small establishment. In 1890, their father, the late John A. Babcock, opened a store for the sale of hardware and implements. The development of the country and his own business qualities soon built up a good trade.

The senior Mr. Babcock was born in Oakland county, this state, and settled on a farm in the vicinity of Galien in the 50's. At the opening of the civil war, he enlisted and served his country with loyalty and bravery. At the close of the war, Mr. Babcock returned to his home, which was of the log house variety, and which was situated on what is now known as the Weatherwax place, four miles south and half a mile east of Galien.

Mr. Babcock was succeeded in the year 1898 by his son, E. S. Babcock, who conducted the business until 1908 when he formed a partnership with his brother, B. J. Babcock, the firm being changed to Babcock Bros.

The firm broadened the scope of the business by taking on a fine of lumber. In addition to their store the firm has large storage buildings, one being 25x30 and another 24x55. They have a large stock in every line. They handle the international Harvester company's Osborne line of goods. The firm have been developing a great trade in Oliver plows, and the names of those to whom they sold these plows during the year, will be found in the firm's advertisement, elsewhere in this issue. And, by the way, a part of the success of the house may be said to be due to their having seized the advertising idea early and clung to it tenaciously.

Walking through the Babcock salesroom and storage sheds one is surprised at the variety of goods, all suited to needs of the farmer, and at the large stock of each kind. There are wagons, buggies, farm implements gasoline engines, machinery, saddlery, fur coats, blankets, robes, etc.

Babcock Bros. enjoy an enviable reputation for square dealing, and their store is the Mecca for buyers from miles around, the firm drawing their customers from several townships

RICHES AWAIT YOUNG MAN WHO INVESTS IN B AND L STOCK

Light Thrown Upon Important Subject by Man Who has Made a Study of it—Is Far Better Than Life Insurance

PRACTICAL ILLUSTRATION.

A. borrows $1,000 for 10 years at 6 per cent. At end of ten years has paid $600 interest and still owes principal of $1,000. Principal and interest amount to $1,600.

B. borrows $1,000 from Building and Loan Association. Pays $10 per month, or $120 per year for ten years; also pays $2 per year in dues. Pays in all to settle indebtedness $1,220 as against $1,600 on straight loan.

B. could pay association high as 30 per cent for loan, which premium would amount to $300, and that added to $1220 would make but $1520, as against $1600 on the straight loan.

Concerning the building and loan system, which the Record has undertaken to fully explain in a series of articles, Mayor B. F. Earl, of Niles, who has carried stock in all of the building and loan associations that have existed in his town to date, said as follows in an interview with this paper:

"I believe that any young man who will invest his money in building and loan stock will be wealthy by the time he is 45 years old. And the way to make money through a building and loan association is to borrow and use it. Building and loan stock is better than life insurance for young men. A young man is far more likely to live than to die and he is throwing his money away when he is paying for life insurance. In the state of Michigan last year the people paid $10,443,155 for life insurance, whereas the life insurance companies paid out only $3,000,728 in death claims.

"As an illustration of how the building and loan system works, we will say a man borrows $1,000 for 10 years on a straight loan. On this amount he pays six per cent interest, which amounts to $60 per year. In 10 years he pays $600 interest, which added to the principal makes $1,600. On the other hand, if a man borrows $1,000 from a building and loan association, he pays $10 per month or $120 per year, and at the end of 10 years, which is about the average life of building and loan associations, he pays in $1200, plus dues of $2 per year, or a total of $1220, as against $1,600 he would pay to settle a straight loan of $1000 for 10 years.

"Thus it will be seen that a man could afford to pay a building and loan association the unheard of premium of 30 per cent for the loan and still save money, as the 30 per cent premium, which would amount to $300, added to the $1220, would make but $1560 as against $1,600 the straight loan of $1,000 would grow into in 10 years.

"On a straight investment in building and loan stock, by which I mean buying stock on which you do not intend to borrow, you pay in about $660 and draw out $1,000 when the association matures.

"Business men deal largely in building and loan stock, which is a good indication that it is a desirable investment. Several years ago I bought some mercantile property in Niles for $1,600. I borrowed the money from a building and loan association and have since paid the association $16 per month, whereas the property has brought me a rental of $30 per month, which is paying for itself and leaving me $14 per month to pocket.

"The working man who invests in building and loan stock has collateral on which he can borrow money at any time he needs it. It is the safest kind of an investment, as the money is lent on real estate first mortgage security as fast as it is paid in, and every officer is bonded for twice the amount he handles."

The fundamental principle is this: It is easier to save one dollar per week for 52 weeks than it is to save $52 once a year.

The building association stands closer to the common people than any other form of financial corporation. It does not centralize wealth nor furnish cash for the exploitation of unsafe or speculative schemes. It does not develop trusts nor create combinations in restraint of trade. Its field is local; its results beneficial; its mission is to the plain people. With frugal and economic hands it gathers the savings of the thrifty, and having done so enriches the community in which it exists by assisting in the creation of the most valuable asset of this republic—American homes.

BENJ. F. EARL

The regular meeting of the village council of the village of Buchanan was held in the council chamber Dec. 7, 1909, President Porter presiding. Members present, Adams, Beck, Richards, Leiter, Burbank and Roe. The meeting was called to order at 8:30 p. m. The minutes of the meeting of Nov. 2 were read and approved. Village Treasurer East read his monthly report, which was approved and ordered placed on file.
A motion was then made by Trustee Adams, seconded by Trustee Beck, that the special paving tax of $72.54, made on the property of E. W. Sanders and paid by him, be refunded, and that the special tax balance now standing against the property of John B. Alexander be declared null and void. As to E. W. Sanders the original estimate and assessment called for payment in front of his property, which plan was changed and the pavement only roughed to his east line. As to John B. Alexander, the actual pavement in front of his property was less than was called for in the original estimate and assessment. The motion was carried.
The monthly report of the finance committee was then read by Trustee Richards. A motion was made by Trustee Leiter, seconded by Trustee Adams, that the report be accepted and orders drawn for the several amounts. Roll call. All members answered aye. The motion carried.

Hog Market is Still Soaring Skyward.
Price Reaches Highest Point Since Year 1882.
H. H. Beck, of Buchanan, who shipped a carload of hogs from Galien this week, paid $8.85 per hundred pounds live weight, which is the highest price local shippers have paid in years. The price in December, 1907, was $4.46 and last December $3.60.
A shortage in the hog market is responsible for the prevailing extremely high price. So far this year there have been marketed in Chicago 21,422,000 hogs. For 1908 up to December 10, 26,379,000 had been marketed. This is a decrease of 4,957,000 from last year.

The market this week was not only the highest since 1882 but it reached the second highest point since war times. In 1882 the price at one time reached $9.35 per hundred.

AN ALARMING SITUATION

Shipping interests of the country are living in dread of threatened trouble between the railroads and their employes. The situation is such that apprehension of the kind referred to is justified. The employes are making demands and the employers are refusing to accede to them. More than that the railroads appear to be courting war. Just why they should be inexplicable unless they have come to the conclusion that war is inevitable some time and that nothing is to be gained by delay. Otherwise the time would seem to be most unpropitious. The railroads are taxed to capacity with the great volume of business that has followed the revival of commerce and industry, the country is on the eve of what promises to be the most prosperous period in its history.

The employes have seized the opportunity to force the employers to satisfy their demands in the belief that the latter will not sacrifice their own and commercial interests generally making a fight. The contrary appears to be the case and it is possible that more than 150,000 miles of railroad track may be tied up pending the result of the titanic struggle. There will be over a million men engaged in the fight if it is precipitated; that is, more than a million unproductive men who must feed off of accumulated resources while the fight is in progress and the loss in wages can never be made up whether the employes are successful in obtaining what they ask for or not.

In a recent issue of the Chicago Daily Journal appeared a fine four and one-half inch cut of John H. Sullivan, who was born and grew to manhood in Avery, the station two miles west of Three Oaks. Passengers traveling often between Chicago and Grand Rapids, on the Pere Marquette railroad, are familiar with John H. Sullivan, who has been an employe of that road since 1877. He began his career as a brakeman, at the age of 18 years, and has never been in a wreck or suffered injury while on the road. He was steadily advanced to freight conductor, then to a passenger run, and has traveled 2,165,760 miles.

CHAPIN CO. WINS CASE

Was Sued for Loss of Husband by Widow.

The jury in the case of Lila J. Sheetz vs. the Michigan & Indiana Electrical company, tried in circuit court at Cassopolis last week resulted as a verdict of no cause of action. Under a law recently passed the factory inspector is required to see that dangerous machinery is protected, and this leaves the owners out. In this case Mr. Sheetz fell into the hole made for the generator while on a ladder oiling some machinery. There was no railing around the place; but the factory inspector had it fixed soon after the accident. Late supreme court decisions have cut out much that has heretofore been admissible in such trials, and Judge DesVoignes had no alternative but to instruct the jury that only the fact that the place was dangerous, and Sheetz knew it could be considered.
