Practically all of the details incident to the starting of city delivery of mail in Buchanan, Jan. 1st, are completed, and it is confidently expected that the new service will start off without a hitch.

If you delay putting up a mail box you may cause the order to be rescinded.

Regarding the new service, Assistant Postmaster Van Every suggests that you ask all your correspondents to use your street address and that you have your magazines and periodicals so addressed. This will expedite delivery and help your carrier to give you quick service.

ESCAPING GAS

NEARLY CAUSES DEATH

An experience that came near resulting seriously came to Mr. and Mrs. George Fritz, residing on Lake street, last Saturday, when they started their coal stove for the winter. In some way the flues had become clogged with rust and soot, and if Mrs. Fritz, who was suffering from a cold, had not been awakened by a coughing spell and endeavored to get up, the coal gas would soon have completely overcome them. After getting the doors open and the gas out of the house they soon recovered from what would have been a fatal dose of the gas.

H. A. Tauch, who has been doing evangelistic singing in various towns in Kansas, is expected home Tuesday.

METHODIST PREACHERS GET

40 PER CENT SALARY BOOST

An average increase of 40 per cent in the salaries of the Methodist ministers thruout the country to meet the mounting cost of living and establishment of "minimum salaries" were announced Friday by the centenary conservation committee of the Methodist Episcopal church in New York. The new scale of pay will be in effect generally by Jan. 1, it was stated.

The average salary for Methodist ministers was $1,111 in 1918. The new average will be approximately $1,500.

Ministers in Berrien county are naturally greatly pleased over the decision.

PILOT KNIGHT HAS BAD ACCIDENT

FORCED TO LAND IN DENSE FOG
PLANE WHEELS SINK IN MUD AND MACHINE TURNS OVER;
PILOT NOT HURT.

The Star of Reynoldsville, Pa., has the following story about an accident that befell Aviator Jack Knight, formerly of Buchanan.

Lieutenant Jack Knight, pilot of U. S. mail plane No. 88, narrowly escaped death near Reynoldsville, Pa., Friday last, when he was forced by a blinding rain to make a landing on the Lawrence Schuckers farm, about one and one half miles east of Fuller and south of Emericville.

While flying at the rate of 126 miles per hour earlier in the afternoon, Knight, in the fog and rain was unable to see ahead and narrowly escaped collision with a tree. His propeller is supposed to have been slightly injured then. When he reached Brookville he attempted to land, but seemed unable to find the right kind of place. Long before he had "spotted" the Schuckers field as a good place to land in case of emergency, and after leaving Brookville headed for it. Circling over the place two or three times, he finally selected what looked from above like a level and fairly firm stretch to land on. The first time he swooped down he was going at too great a speed and swerved up again. Circling again, he came down and touched ground. His judgment of the ground was bad. The field at that point was soft as the bed of a swamp and the plane wheels sank at once. Quick as a flash the big plane turned turtle and landed fairly with its wheels in the air. Knight was unhurt and dropped out of his seat to the ground. The plane was not badly injured. Some of the plane supports were cracked the propeller was slightly bent. Mechanics were sent for and were supposed to have arrived Tuesday to fix up the machine.

Knight was carrying five sacks of U. S. mail and Mr. Schuckers brought the aviator and his mail to Reynoldsville, the mail being sent on east by train.

Knight claims that he holds the record for time between Cleveland and Bellefonte, and that this is his first accident since commencing to fly four years ago.

Saturday and Sunday large crowds of people from Reynoldsville and the surrounding district went to the Schuckers farm to view the airplane.

Yesterday one of the mail planes, presumably piloted by Knight, circled over Reynoldsville several times at a comparatively low height. When Knight left he stated that on his next trip over the town he would fly low.

CONGREGATION REFUSES

TO OUST PASTOR FROM CHURCH IN MUSKEGON

MUSKEGON.—The publishing of a book, "Marantha," dealing with premillennialism by Rev. Henry Butema, pastor of the First Christian Reformed church, has brought a request for his resignation by the Muskegon classis of the Christian Reformed church. Rev. Butema refuses to resign.

The classis has ordered, if he does not resign, that his congregation shall oust him from his position as head of the church. However, the church, the congregation, are behind him. And it appears that 1,500 of his congregation will refuse to oust him from his place.

Unless the consistory ousts its own pastor, it will be forced to resign from the classis in three weeks. The congregation refuses to even take the matter of ousting Rev. Butema under consideration and appears to be awaiting the action of the consistory in the matter.

OPEN DIXIE HIGHWAY

WITH BIG CELEBRATION

The new piece of the Dixie highway on the Indiana side, between South Bend and Niles, was thrown open to traffic last Sunday for the day only, to permit the public to see just what work has been done. The road was again closed Monday and will be re-opened permanently Nov. 27. Indiana and Michigan men are co-operating to make of it a big event and will hold a public barbecue at the state line on that day.

MANISTEE.—A suit to determine whether or not Miss Sigfrid-Sorenson has $5,530 coming to her, as she claims, from Fred W. Sorenson, has begun in circuit court. She claims that an agreement was made that she was to work on the Sorenson farm for the rest of her life, and was to get a half deed to the place. She was later discharged, she says.

PRESENTING MR. AUGUSTUS BILLINGS, NOW AT CLARK THEATER

Buchanan folks may get "Too Much Johnson" but judging from ticket sales they do not get too much Hanlin. He and his excellent supporting cast never fail to draw capacity houses. The photographer caught him in a few characteristic poses.

CLARK PLAYERS SCORE AGAIN IN "TOO MUCH JOHNSON"

With practically every seat sold for all three plays and the public still crying for more good places, the Clark Players last night began another short three-night season before an appreciative and highly expectant audience. The snort of a boat whistle, the clang of the bell and the noisy calls of deck hands brot the curtain up on one of the best plays the Clark Company has yet presented. "Too Much Johnson," while not containing the ridiculous passes which have marked some of the former productions, still was full of a riotous humor and permeated with fun which will leave a pleasant taste in the memory for a good many days. The play is a production of Wm. Gillette and was produced by him for several seasons. "The play opens upon a scene on "The Tropic Queen," a steamer bound for Cuba, with Augustus Billings trying to explain to the steward why he is making the trip, and involving all with whom he comes in contact in the same mess with him. It appears that Billings has become entangled with a French woman, friend husband has got next and to escape him, Billings decides upon a sudden trip to Cuba. His wife and mother-in-law decide to accompany him. As he has never been in Cuba before and owns no plantation there, he decides to appropriate one belonging to a friend. The same steamer that carries the Billings family, also carries Mr. Francis Faddish, his daughter Leonora and her lover, Henry McIntosh, who are making the trip for the purpose of uniting Leonora in a more or less holy wedlock with Johnson, a man they have never seen and know nothing whatever about, save that he owns a sugar plantation near Santiago. Developments show that Johnson has purchased the plantation which Billings believed belonged to his friend, and was the owner of the name Billings had used in his correspondence with Madame Dathis. Billings is a liar of the first-water type, and his attempts to extricate himself, aided and abetted by his Xantippe of a mother-in-law, embroil everyone in a hot-podge of trouble and produce situations from which there is no escape for the audience save by unbottling one's supply of hilarity and getting in tune with the play.

Mr. M. L. Hanlin played the part of Augustus Billings, and you know the result without being told. The part was entirely different from the ones played by Mr. Hanlin in former plays, save for the ever-present ingenious "whoppers," which he tells with the artlessness of a four-year-old repeating its kindergarten lesson. The part of Billings was a leading one, and besides the lighter side of extricating himself from difficulties, called at times for the portrayal of a really strong character when it becomes necessary to impress Johnson with the fact that he does not rule the universe. The part of a man so practiced in the law that open-hearted craft has become a second nature was so presented that the audience was kept on the tip-toe of expectancy and waited eagerly for the next move of Mr. Hanlin. Probe California Trip Considerable time was spent during the afternoon in discussing a trip the sheriff took to California to bring back one Homer E. Lash, held there for the local authorities for default of alimony. Renbarger corroborated the other witnesses on this subject by saying the committee was asked for advice by the sheriff on whether or not his bill for expenses was proper and that the bill was never presented.

Prosecuting Attorney Sterling, a witness whose testimony was confined largely to this phase of the situation, said Hogue left with a warrant and that shortly afterward the matter was settled and efforts to get into touch with the sheriff seemed unavailing. The prosecutor stated that in January Hogue asked him if he

SHERIFF SCORES IN EARLY TESTIMONY; COURT OFFICER ADMITS GIVING INFORMATION LEADING TO TRIAL

The sheriff quiz, which has been going on this week in St. Joseph, seemed to favor Hogue the first part of the hearing, but Thursday the table seemed to turn some and the prosecution is now scoring.

Wm. T. Howland, court officer and an appointee of the sheriff's, Thursday admitted on the stand that much of the information on which the prosecution is based came from him.

The investigation was adjourned yesterday until Tuesday morning, to await the return of Ex-sheriff Franz from deer hunting, who is expected to be a witness against the sheriff.

Attorney Gore, who cross-examined Howland energetically, sought to learn why Howland took it upon himself with the rumors and alleged facts regarding Hogue instead of informing the sheriff as his deputy, of what was being said. The question was: Was the Franz-Fisher-Howland trio working a political game to get Hogue in bad? All the witness would say was that the information was given Franz with the understanding that it was not to be used for political purposes, but for transmission to Supervisor John Winn of Niles township, who would be asked to investigate the charges as a member of the sheriff's and justice's claims committee.

Charles Matthews of Buchanan, a former member of the board of supervisors, democrat, and for years prominent as a county legislator, was on the stand early Wednesday afternoon. He was on the committee that investigated the sheriff's office last January. He is credited with saying that he thought more of the sheriff since the investigation than he ever did before.

FAVOR BUILDINGS AS WAR MEMORIALS

BUREAU OF MEMORIAL BUILDINGS GETS OUT BOOKLET ON SUBJECT. BARD HITS CEMETERY MONUMENTS.

Erection of community centers as memorials to the men who served in the war against Germany, as being of more civic value than old-fashioned monuments, is advocated in a booklet, "Community Buildings As War Memorials," just issued by the Bureau of Memorial Buildings of War Camp Community Service. The text of the booklet is from the pen of Albert S. Bard.

"Consider," says the writer, "the crop of war memorials that sprang up all over the country after the Civil War. This country was then singularly unprepared for an eruption of 'artistic' impulses. The result was a tidal wave of cemetery monuments, somewhat enlarged and furnished with artillery and ammunition. Granite soldiers at 'parade rest' sprang to pedestals all over the country, usually with careless forearms across the muzzles of their rifles."

The community memorial civic center idea comes in answer to the urgent demands of the times. It is recognized as a necessity.

Governors of states and mayors who recently attended a conference at the White House in Washington went on record in favor of the movement. In a resolution, they declared:

"We regard with special favor the practice which has been adopted in many parts of the country in establishing living memorials to the heroic deeds of war. The modern conception of working out the composite result of perpetuity of sentiment and improved community utilities, educational and otherwise, has made so strong an appeal to the conference, that we recommend it as a helpful public policy."

Buchanan stands on the eve of an election which will call upon the taxpayers to appropriate a sum sufficient to erect not only a school house, but an auditorium to be used as a civic center and a memorial to the service men; a building to be used by them and other organizations as a meeting place.

The need in Buchanan of such a center is great at this time, and the need is steadily growing. Members of Ralph Rumbaugh Post, American Legion, will give it active support, and they urge that all others do likewise. A vote against the plan is a vote against the American Legion.

BUILDING OF NEW HOME FOR NURSES AT CLARK HOSPITAL UNDER WAY

Because of the constantly crowded condition of the Clark hospital, it has been found necessary to erect a cottage for housing the staff of nurses, thus making more rooms available for the sick.

Contractor Leiter has been given the job of converting the old barn on the property into a nurses' home, and this work is now going on. The structure will be made thoroughly modern and convenient in all ways.

THE MIAMIS IN ST. JOSEPH VALLEY

A PAPER PREPARED BY MRS. SARAH BLACK SMITH AND READ AT THE MONDAY CLUB, MONDAY.

The history of the Indians before the 18th century, who inhabited the region which now includes the county of Berrien, is veiled in almost complete obscurity, also for the succeeding period of sixty years.

The earliest events which throw any light on the subject was the discovery by La Salle, 1665, of the St. Joseph river, called by the French the Miami on account of its course being thru the country then peopled by that tribe. The old narrators do not show that there were great numbers in the valley at that time. Their principal village was at the head of the Kankakee river. Although this was outside of the St. Joe valley, it is evident they regarded that valley and the adjoining country as a part of their domains, and held it as such, though not to the exclusion of other tribes.

The Iroquois, or Five Nations, although living in the present state of New York, had always been the terror and scourge of the Western Indians by reason of their destructive and bloody incursions. The territory of the Miami had for a time been an exception because that tribe had been allied with the eastern enemy in their warfare against the Illinois. After the Iroquois with the help of the Miamis had conquered the Illinois, it was their intention to turn upon the Miamis and exterminate them, as later became known. The Miamis were, of course, terrified by the threatenings of the fierce Iroquois, for they believed them invincible.

It was at this time that LaSalle took the opportunity to meet the Miamis in council at their village. The object was to induce them to become friendly with the Illinois nation and place themselves under the protection of the French, when he proposed to establish a strong central post and gather around it a large number of tribes friendly to the French, and so protect themselves from the Iroquois. The Miamis readily yielded to the proposal of the French leader, whom they regarded as a superior being.

The number of the Miamis in the new home is mentioned as being 1300 warriors. While they remained in Illinois they became considerably weakened and demoralized, and upon the failure of La Salle's project of colonization (near present Peoria) they, with other tribes, left the place. The Miamis, as a part of them, returned to the St. Joseph valley, and a mission was established among them a few years later.

After their return they were assailed by the Sioux and slaughtered in large numbers; it is certain a part of the tribe returned to St. Joseph and here the Detroit missionaries established a mission for the purpose of converting them. There is much doubt which father was the founder. LaSalle led his following to the banks of the river St. Joe, and here he built a fort which is supposed to have stood near the bluff where now stands the St. Charles hotel. In recent years, when in prosecution of village improvements "a number of human skeletons were found, and on some of them the hair was in a good state of preservation; remnants of silken robes and silver ornaments were also found.

There was also on Docans Island another post called Vivkalamonon, which is one of the oldest out-posts in civilization.

The successors of the Miamis were the numerous and war-like Pottawatomies. They spread themselves over a vast area of country and held firm possession of a broad domain for nearly a century and a quarter. They were the dominant power of Southern Michigan, a remnant of them lingering here within the memory of persons now living.

It was not long after the Miamis left the St. Joe valley that the Pottawatomies had full possession of the Jesuit mission established for the Miamis. This mission was in a flourishing condition for a long time, the Pottawatomies were inclined toward religious instruction, and the priests found them more easily managed than most of the tribes of the North-west, and even after the Jesuit fathers left them there was a considerable number, including some of the chiefs who held fast to the religion that the Roman priests had taught their ancestors.

In 1822 the Protestant missionaries came among the St. Joseph Indians; there had been for many years two trading posts, one where the city of St. Joseph now stands, and Bertrand in the present township of Niles. The access they thus obtained to the white man's whiskey sent them far on the road to demoralization and wretchedness.

The Rev. Mr. McCoy, who spent much time among them, says when he first went there on a matter of business he found many of their chiefs had gone to Lake Michigan on a drunken frolic, and where they had been for 28 days in a state of continued drunkenness, the liquor having been obtained from the traders. In their village he found extreme poverty and destitution; they had not a particle of bread or meat excepting roots and weeds. Their only food was corn and dried beans. The dreariness of their bark huts cannot be described, nor the wretched condition of their inmates. The Pottawatomies of that late day were held in firmly in the bonds of superstition as were their ancestors in the time of La Salle and Marquette. To-pen-bee was their acknowledged leader. He is spoken of as being a man of ability and a brave and cunning warrior, but later in life he became a slave to the use of whiskey, and under its influence fell from his horse and of injuries received died two days afterward, 1840.

The chief Pokagon, whose rank in the tribe was only second to To-pen-bee, was wholly different from his superior in the matter of whiskey drinking and many of the Indians manifested a dislike to the traffic that was bringing utter ruin to them, but they seldom had fortitude to resist the temptation to drink. A missionary says in many business transactions with Pokagon he was never known to break his word with him, and was a chief of talent and ability. This story is told:

Each chief of note had his separate village, that of Pokagon being located in the southern part of Bertrand, about one mile from the St. Joe river. Pokagon was a convert to the Catholic religion and continued in that faith during his life. He used all his power to prevent the final emigration of his tribe and was one of the few who did not go west with them, and he refused to sign or consent to the treaty by which the reservation was given up until he and his fellow Catholics had been guaranteed that they should be allowed to remain in Michigan.

After the departure of the tribe Pokagon removed from his old home to Silver Creek, in Cass Co., where he died in 1841.

Weesaw was the war chief of the Indians of the St. Joe. He was a great lover of gorgeous dress and all forms of Indian pomp and show; he was also a lover of strong drink, and was killed by his own son in a drunken brawl.

Moccasin was a Pottawatomie, whose village was situated on the west bank of the St. Joe, at a place which is still known as Moccasin Bluff. He was addicted to the vices of drinking and gambling, for this last vice had taken deep root among them.

Another village was located within the present limits of the city of Niles on the west side of the river. Somewhat later there were two villages situated on what is known as the Dr. Wells farm on the west side of the river below Niles.

In 1821 the chiefs of the tribe by the Chicago treaty had ceded a vast area of country to the United States, including all of their ancient domains lying east of the St. Joseph river. In 1828 they ceded to the government all of their possessions between the St. Joe river and Lake Michigan except a tribal reservation of nearly 50 square miles, which embraced the south-eastern part of the present township of Buchanan, including the village of Bertrand except its northwest corner, and all that part of Niles township which lies west of St. Joe river.

Finally, in 1833, their last foothold was ceded to the government and they had agreed to remove from their lands within 3 years, but long before that time had expired they had bitterly repented their promise and prayed the Great Father that they might be permitted to remain on their ancient hunting grounds and be buried near the graves of their fathers. Their request was not granted, but was delayed until the fall of 1838, when the remnant of the once powerful tribe, now reduced to 150 in number, took their final departure.

The country around old Fort Vivkalamonon abounds with Indian traditions, the Lone Leap Rock one of them.

BENTON HARBOR CHURCH CONTRACTS FOR SET CHIMES

At a meeting of the trustees of the First Congregational church, held in Benton Harbor last Saturday evening, a contract was entered into with the Menely Bell Company, of Troy, N. Y., for the placing of ten chime bells in the tower of the church.

The bell company has agreed to erect the chimes some time in January or February. The largest of the ten bells will weigh 2,000 pounds, the second largest will weigh 1,500 pounds, and the third bell 1,000 pounds, and the tenth or smallest bell will be graduated down to 225 pounds. On a clear day these chimes can be heard for many miles.

These bells will be capable of playing 90 per cent of the tunes in the ordinary hymnal and can play all patriotic airs with the exception of the Star Spangled Banner, which has such a wide range of tones. The chimes will be played from a special key board furnished by the company and in order to operate the chimes a musical education is not necessary. The makers of these bells declare that these chimes will be far superior to the set which hangs in Old Trinity church in New York. The reason for this is that the art of bell making has advanced since Trinity chimes were built.

SHIPPING ASSOCIATION BUSY HELPING FARMERS

The St. Joseph Valley Co-operative association shipped five cars of live stock last week and five cars this week for Buchanan, Niles and Berrien Springs. Next week they will ship stock from Galien and Three Oaks. The association seems to be filling a long-felt want and members are much pleased over results obtained.

CHURCH ADVERTISING
That churches have neglected to keep pace with modern methods by failure to use newspaper space, was the message taken to the congregation of the First Christian church, Little Rock, by Hugh D. Hart, president of the Little Rock Rotary club. Many churches have taken advantage of advertising with excellent results, said he. He further continued:

"I think I can hear some of the staid exponents of the old order objecting that advertising would be commercializing the church. When you advertise anything for sale. You advertise only that which you wish to give away—salvation! The only commercial part of the transaction is the payment for the advertisement. In paying the preacher his salary, that is just as much a commercial transaction as in paying the newspaper for advertising. I suppose the reason that the churches are so stingy in the payment of preachers' salaries is because the pious congregations are afraid they will commercialize the church by paying a living wage to their ministers."

"Again, I anticipate some will say that Christ didn't advertise, therefore, we have no right to advertise Christianity. By employing the same reasoning I could deprive you of your pipe organ, for we have no record that Christ used the pipe organ. What right have we to use a pipe organ if Christ did not? Of course, we all know that there were no newspapers at the time of Christ. Advertising the gospel had to be done in other ways, and I take most emphatic issue with anyone who says that Christ did not advertise. He carried on the greatest advertising campaign the world has ever known. His advertising left so great a mark upon his contemporaries that the world has been talking about advertising for nearly two thousand years. Read again about the feeding of the five thousand—five loaves and two small fish were transformed by the Master into an abundance of food for the multitude and twelve baskets full were left over."

"Five thousand men, as well as the hordes of women and children, who beheld this miracle, went scampering away from that wonderful feast with open eyes and enthusiastic hearts, advertising the divine power of Jesus Christ. I ask you to consider this episode in the life of Christ from the standpoint of an advertising venture. What man among the 5,000, who beheld the miracle, who ate the food that was multiplied by Jesus, could thereafter doubt his divinity, or would thereafter refuse to testify concerning the genuineness of Christ? Then there is the raising of Lazarus from the dead. The news of it doubtless spread like wildfire all over the land. Suppose today some physician would raise a man from the dead. What would its value in advertising be to that physician? Christ walked upon the water. For 2,000 years people have been talking about that marvelous miracle. At the wedding feast, Christ made wine out of water."

"Suppose that one of our stores would advertise that at a certain hour of the day a man would make wine out of water. "Does anyone doubt that the store would have a rather large crowd at that particular hour? Yes, Christ advertised. He advertised with dignity and wholesomeness his divine power. He used the methods that were at his command to propagate the Gospel. Can we refuse to use the methods that are at our command to carry the Gospel to every creature? Again, there are those who will object that it is beneath the dignity of the church to advertise. If advertising the Gospel will save immortal souls and bring comfort to the hearts of the comfortless, then I would be in favor of advertising, even though it resulted in the loss of dignity. But I submit that the most dignified act that can be performed by man is to obey the Master, and the Master said, "Go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature."

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

It requires a good many people to make up a community, and in that community are many shades of religious and material beliefs. It stands to reason that there is and will always be much variance of opinion. Never are two people found whose views are identical on every subject, nor even on any subject. Somewhere the dividing line is found and there the community trouble begins. Each of us is prone to think himself right and all others wrong. It is human nature and will always be so.

But there is a common ground upon which all may meet, a forum from which the community spirit may be developed to the highest degree. That is the arena of free speech and public discussion of affairs. Where many are gathered together and each gives his views as he sees them, the majority is reasonably sure to arrive at a proper conclusion on any subject concerning our local welfare.

Such a course might be employed to good advantage in this community. The craniums of our local people are filled with excellent ideas for our collective advancement. All that is required is an opportunity for them to be heard.

PRESIDENT BY ONE VOTE

The cynic who maintains that election returns are a foregone conclusion will do well to recall some of the close decisions that have taken place in this country. Three men—Aaron Burr, Tilden and Wade—have missed the presidency of the United States by a single vote. In the tie vote between Tilden and Hayes, Congress had to appoint a special commission of fifteen men—five from the Supreme Court, five from the Senate, and five from the House of Representatives—to decide the matter.

Hayes won by a vote of eight to seven.

The case of Aaron Burr and Jefferson is better known. Each had seventy-three electoral votes, although both were from the same party. Jefferson won the tie and became President of the United States, while Burr became Vice-President, as the rule then was. Because of the active opposition of Alexander Hamilton to Burr in this and other political contests, the tragic duel at Weehawken took place. Burr's later attempts to found an independent government in Mexico read like a wild romance.

ECLIPSE OF SUN TO BE VISIBLE TOMORROW

The astronomers are preparing to rise early Saturday morning and get front seats for the partial eclipse of the sun by the moon. You don't need a telescope. Prepare the smoked glass, and greet the sunrise through the glass.

The moon will begin to slip over the face of the sun at sunrise and continue slipping until 9:06 a. m. The greatest obscuration will occur at 7:44 a. m., at which time the sun will be a bit more than half covered by the moon.

Texas will have the most interesting view of the phenomenon, for there the moon, in passing centrally across the sun, makes the sun appear as a vivid ring of light surrounding the dark body of the moon—an angular eclipse, as the professors say. This will last seven minutes in Austin, Texas.

SKINNER RESTAURANT TO QUIT BUSINESS

The restaurant conducted by Max Skinner for the past six months in the room next to the post office, will quit business on Saturday of this week, or not later than Monday of next. Advancing prices and the inability to serve a satisfactory meal at what they believe to be a price in keeping with the laboring man's pocket book, is given as the reason for discontinuing. Mr. Skinner has taken employment with the Beulah Bros. meat market in Niles, and Mrs. Skinner has accepted a position as stenographer in the same city. "This said that a party from Benton Harbor is negotiating for the restaurant business here, but as yet the matter is unsettled. The restaurant has catered largely to the working people, and will be greatly missed by that class."

RED CROSS REPORT

The annual meeting of the Red Cross was held in the rooms Oct. 15, 1919, Rev. Braby presiding. Reports from various committees were given and accepted. The following officers were then elected: Chairman, Rev. N. D. Braby; Vice Chairman, Mrs. C. O. Montague; Treas., Mrs. Blanch McIntosh.

Mrs. C. O. Montague was appointed chairman of the garment department; Mrs. Adams, knitting dept; Mrs. Curtis, surgical dressing; Miss Wilcox, purchasing agent.

During the flu epidemic, the organization did good work for the emergency hospital in the making of sheets, masks and night shirts. Work came to a close for the surgical department in Oct. The branch then had on hand 250 splint straps, which together with all surgical dressing materials, were given to the hospital.

Our membership totals 1,014, of which 729 are war chest subscribers, and 275 annual members. All expire Jan. 1, 1920.

The amount of work since Oct. 15, 1918, is as follows: boys' undershirts, 30; children's stockings, 43; Boys' Blouses, 71; comfort kits, 20; mufflers, 1; wristlets, 5; army pajamas, 30; sweaters, men and boys', 250; webbing splint straps, 250; nurses' sweaters, 15; convalescent robes, 30; paper-lined vests, 50; baby layettes, 20; layette, boys' 15; socks, 537, including 19 prs. donated by the Buchanan Knitting club; total number of articles, 1,193.

In April, 590 pieces of refugee clothing were shipped, and the Branch was asked for 1,000. This is the only quota the Branch failed to reach during the entire time. In the first old clothing drive we went way ahead, so things are evened up. Respectfully submitted—Georgia Wilcox, Sec'y.

Elizabeth Graham Patterson
Elizabeth Ellen Graham was born in South Bend, Ind., April 24, 1864. On Feb. 14, 1883, she was united in marriage to Lewis L. Patterson at Coloma, Mich. To this union were born four children, three of whom have preceded her to the better land.

She was an earnest Christian worker in the Lord's vineyard for about twenty-five years, having united with the North Coloma Christian church. She leaves to mourn her loss, a husband, one daughter, Miss Lillian, three sisters, Mrs. Jacob Schrader, of Peru, Ind., and Mrs. Verne Smith, and a mother, of Edwardsburg, Mich. Funeral services were held in the Evangelistic church Wednesday morning, and the remains were taken to Coloma for burial.

His Favorite.

Brother was attending a party at which the refreshments served were ice cream and cake. The hostess saw that brother wasn't making much headway with the ice cream, so asked him if he didn't care for it. "Oh, yes," he answered. "Ice cream is all right; but turkey is my favorite."

Vox Populi, Vox Dei.

This is a very ancient saying and means "The voice of the people is the voice of God." It can be traced back through Latin to Greek. It is found first in a work on morals, by the Greek poet, Hesiod, who lived about the eighth century before Christ.

Care of Umbrellas.

Carelessness in the treatment of umbrellas is a great factor in their rapid deterioration. An umbrella merely damp should be opened and left until dry, while a very wet one should be put to drain first, handle downward, and opened for the final drying.

would O. K. the bill and he declined because it was not the custom.

Former Turnkey a Witness
Grant Burnett, until August 31 of the present year a turnkey at the county jail, was questioned extensively on the witness stand. Burnett said the supervisors' investigating committee which visited the jail last December asked him about bills, and declared Supervisor Baker of Coloma, chairman of the committee, told him he need not answer to questions put to him unless he wanted to. The witness also testified that at no time was any attempt made to influence him either by Sheriff Hogue or Under-sheriff Fisher.

When asked why he seemed so reluctant to testify before the investigating committee, Burnett asserted that he "didn't want to see anybody get into trouble." Questioned as to his knowledge of the rumors regarding Sheriff Hogue's official conduct, the ex-turnkey said he didn't remember where he heard them, but that he "knew about as well as anybody not himself."

"TOO MUCH JOHNSON"

ticularly appreciable were the scenes between Billings and his mother-in-law, when it becomes necessary for mother-wit to surmount the mother-in-law temper.

The part of Francis Faddish was taken by A. S. Webb. The part of a poor but aspiring Canadian was so portrayed by Mr. Webb that the audience was made to FEEL the little meannesses of a man who is willing to sell his daughter. His frantic endeavors to keep young McIntosh from following along to Cuba were well simulated. The eagerness with which he seizes upon any semblance of good favor from Johnson was so presented that one well understood the tottering weakness of an old man whose only hope was for a maintenance from Johnson, and his wavering inability to help himself in time of trouble. The parts of Faddish and Billings were good foils to one another, and as presented by Messrs. Hanlin and Webb served to draw out the delicate tintings of each other's cast.

Mr. Frank Habicht presented Joseph Johnson, Esq. Foregoing his own character, Mr. Habicht simulated that of an uncouth Cuban plantation owner to a perfection. His adventurous attempt at matrimony and his open-faced resolve not to harbor a mother-in-law were rivalled in humor only by his plan of setting his prospective relatives-in-law to work and his ability to keep them "walking."

Miss Louise Black enacted the part of Mrs. Upton Batterson. Despite the youthful face beneath the grey hair, Miss Black made a mother-in-law to fill the hearts of prospective grooms with awe and dread. The part called for much pep and spirit and Miss Black was right there with the goods. Her quickness in joining the situations added much to the play. Her ability along this line was charmingly off-set by Miss Iva McGowan, as Mrs. Augustus Billings, a wife of the clinging-vine type.

Miss Hallie Boone and Mr. Enos Schram, as Leonora Faddish and Henry McIntosh, presented some love scenes which made one's heart fairly swim with envy. The acting of the two would do credit to one of professional experience. They made one feel the realism of their work.

Master Harold Hanlin successfully made his debut into stardom as the steward's boy. The irate French husband who was ever willing for a duel, was presented by Gress Weldon, who added a different kind of comedy to the whole production.

E. A. Irwin, as the plantation overseer, ably presented the trembling timidity of a man-afraid-of-his-job. Purser, te ship steward, was well represented by L. J. Bowen. Geo. Murphy took the part of messenger and the Cuban notary. His make-up in the latter cast was incomparable.

Not the least enjoyable part of the play was the songs of the plantation negroes, who were represented by H. Berry, R. Warren, M. Dalrymple and K. Murphy.

The play as a whole was carried out in fine harmony. Folks in the house who had witnessed the play as presented by professionals, say the production last night compared very favorably with ones put on in larger places.

The play has already been asked for at other places and will be presented at Three Oaks on Tuesday night and at Mishawaka on Friday night of next week.

The scenery of the stage had been re-decorated for the occasion, and this added materially to the setting of the piece.

The orchestra had been increased for the occasion and rendered some new selections, most enjoyable of which was a one-step.

The Clark plays are fast becoming THE events of the season and are filling a badly-felt gap in Buchanan's amusements. Aside from the training afforded the members of the younger fry of the community, they furnish something to which the entire town looks forward to with expectancy.

AN ELECTRIC WASHING MACHINE IS JUST WHAT YOU NEED

IT will wash in less than half the time required by the old scrub board way, because it cleans many pieces at the same time.

It will do away with hard labor; electricity does the washing and wringing.

It will wash the clothes cheaper than a wash woman; the electricity costs less than 2c an hour.

It will wash cleaner without wearing out the clothes, without broken buttons; because warm, soapy water is gently forced thru all fabrics, cleaning heavy and fine alike, and the wear and tear of wash-board rubbing is eliminated.

Which, under the watchful eyes of Buick engineers, for nearly twenty years has been developed to a high standard of perfection and efficiency.

A reputation gained by years of constant daily usage, under extreme stress and strains is proven evidence of endurance and workmanship.

THE MOST DANGEROUS DISEASE

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pain in the back—wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. These are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons, which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

Considerable of a curiosity is being developed in the acoustic telephone in this place. The one connecting the residence of John Hamilton and Noah Michael crosses that between this office and ye editor's residence, and by the breaking of another wire the two were brought together so the two wires barely touched, and conversation could be readily conducted between any two of the four points. A line connects the Pad factory and Captain Richards' residence on Front street, and another with J. L. Richards' residence, in the northwest part of town, nearly a mile distant, the two sounders at the factory being near together. By connecting the two wires near the sounders the conversation may be conducted between the two houses, or between either and the factory. A rather round-about trip and a good long distance on that kind of work.

The Democrats had their jubilee over the election Tuesday evening. They celebrated by making two bonfires, blowing tin horns, and making all the hideous noise possible on the street, perhaps more hideous because it was at our supposed funeral.

When the Bridegroom is Not a Cipher. There is an exception to the rule that the bridegroom is a cipher in the society announcement. That is when the youth's mother turns in the item.

The feminine fraternity will get quite a jolt next spring when it goes to buy cotton goods. Long staple cotton was sold at Jackson, Miss., Tuesday at $1 per pound by the bale. When this cotton eventually finds its way into cloth with the accompanying expense incident thereto, the price will be staggering. Big buyers of women's goods say that prices next spring will be approximately double the price being charged today.

When Frank Plimpton was a mere lad, living in Buchanan, he was appointed a page and served in the U. S. Senate during one session as the personal aide of Senator Chas. Sumner, of Massachusetts, who was nationally prominent through the reconstruction period following the Civil war. The fact was called to the attention of the Record by Judge Ham, who remembered the appointment and circumstances leading thereto.

The I. O. O. F. lodge have received word of the death of Chester O. Smith, who lived in Philadelphia, and who with five others was killed Tuesday morning. As nearly as can be learned, it appears that Mr. Smith and a number of other men were riding in a motor bus on their way to work, and that the machine was struck by a train, killing six and injuring the others. Mr. Smith was an expert machinist and was an employee of the Clark Co. for some time, leaving here about two years ago to take a position in a munition plant in Philadelphia. The family formerly lived in the Metz home on Fourth st. He was a brother-in-law of Jud Markham of this place. The body was taken to Fairmont, Ind., for burial, and the funeral was held there today.

FARM BUREAUS WOULD JOIN ARMISTICE DAY AND THANKSGIVING

CHICAGO.—A combined celebration of Thanksgiving day and Armistice day, both nationally and internationally, was suggested Saturday in resolutions adopted by the American Farm Bureau federation, which adjourned to March 3, 1920, when a permanent organization will be perfected. Between now and the next meeting the state organizations are expected either to accept or reject the formation of the federation, which will be composed of state associations, which in turn will be made up of county farm bureaus.

According to preliminary plans, direction of the federation would be placed in the hands of the board of directors, who will choose one from each state and the executive committee. The latter includes:

J. R. Howard, Clemons, Ia., and Silas L. Strivings, Castile, N. Y., who were elected president and vice president, respectively.

Other resolutions adopted declared for suppression of radicalism, expressed gratification over the repeal of farm loan banks and the American Legion, and declared against public ownership.

"30 Club Meeting"

The "30" club met at the home of the president, Mrs. Chamberlain. The lesson for the day, "The Last Offensive and Michigan's Part In It," was in the hands of Mrs. Childs and Mrs. Strayer. Mrs. Childs read an instructive paper on the "After Effects of the War and Our Duty to the World." An interesting talk was given by Mr. Lester Weid, one of our boys who took part in the last offensive. He answered many questions and explained many things. His wife, a French girl sang "The Marseillais," in French.

Miss O'Hara furnished music for the afternoon, three delightful numbers were given by the pupils of the 1st grade, and three by the High School glee club. As a fitting close, Miss O'Hara sang "The Rose of No Man's Land," in honor and memory of Miss Gladys Lyons. The club adjourned to meet with Mrs. Sig Desenberg for a 10 o'clock dinner, Monday, Nov. 23. All bring dishes and thimbles and gifts for charity.

LUNDGREN & ALLEN

and Mrs. Fred Moyer, Mr. and Mrs. John Scott, and Nurse Vanheiser at six o'clock dinner, last Tuesday.

A delightful stag was held at the country home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Charles, Wednesday night at which Mr. Charles, Jesse Viele and E. C. Mogford were hosts. A spread, which the word "banquet" adequately describes, was served at seven o'clock, roast venison being the hub around which an abundance of other eats revolved. Following the spread, the men enjoyed a smoker and whist until the new day made its bow.

Mrs. Joanna Allen entertained the Colonial Dames, Thursday evening, in honor of Mrs. Porter of Chicago, who is the house guest of Mrs. Hattie Egbert. Cards furnished the amusement of the evening. Mrs. Porter was formerly a member of the club, when she was a resident of Buchanan.

A group of about twenty favored men were guests at A. W. Charles' home Wednesday, where they killed time playing dominoes while waiting for the hosts, Messrs. Charles and Viele, to serve a venison banquet. The feast was elaborate and abundant, and it is superfluous to say was thoroughly enjoyed.

Members of the Epworth League of the M. E. church enjoyed a party in the parlors of the church, Tuesday night. In the neighborhood of 30 were present. Charades, games and mind-reading stunts were enjoyed throughout the evening, and delicious refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

The Monday Club had a "special day" last Monday, devoted to "Indians," which was very good. The committee in charge, Mrs. Redden, Mrs. Currier and Mrs. Johnson, made it one of our best days. Several members helped to make it a success by reading original papers, fine selections and vocal and instrumental music, all Indian. The meeting adjourned to meet with Mrs. Ruth Roe on Monday, Nov. 24, for the Thanksgiving dinner.

THE WEEK'S DEATH TOLL

Mrs. Clarence Jackson
Buchanan was startled at the terrible accident that occurred Nov. 4 when Mrs. Clarence Jackson was fatally burned by the explosion of a kerosene can. She was taken to the Clark hospital, where all efforts were made to save the precious life, but the best of care and medical aid proved in vain. After six days of terrible suffering, she bade farewell to her beloved ones and peacefully passed out of this life into the Great Beyond.

The funeral services were held Nov. 13. After a short service at her home, the remains were taken to St. John's Evangelical church at Three Oaks, Mich., of which church the deceased had been a faithful member.

The many friends who came to bid a last farewell to the departed, and the beautiful floral offerings, which covered the casket, gave evidence of the great esteem in which she had been held in the community where she spent the first 22 years of her life.

Rev. L. Kling of St. John's church officiated and Mrs. Rue of Buchanan sang the favorite songs of the departed: "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere," and "Sometime We'll Understand."

Emilie Lange was born Jan. 5, 1894, at Three Oaks, Mich. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lange. The happy childhood days she spent on her father's farm west of Three Oaks. Her education she received in the public schools of that village.

After graduating from school she became an employe of the Warren Featherbone Co.

On March 2, 1916, Miss Lange entered into holy wedlock with Mr. Clarence Jackson. They made their home in Buchanan, where Mr. Jackson was employed in the Clark Equipment Co. A few years later Mr. Jackson purchased the Buchanan milk route and moved onto a farm one mile west of the village.

The deceased leaves to mourn her loss, a husband, two children, Claudine and Harold, her parents, three brothers, William, John and Walter Lange of Three Oaks, Mich., four sisters, Mrs. H. Lehind, Mrs. John Long, Miss Anna Lange of Three Oaks, and Mrs. John Troutfetter of Buchanan.

William F. Hurlbutt

William F. Hurlbutt was born Sept. 22, 1843, at Akron, Ohio, and came to Buchanan when 7 years old. He departed this life Nov. 16, 1919, aged 76 years, 1 month, 24 days.

June 21, 1901, he was united in marriage to Mrs. Nellie Vincent, who survives him. He also leaves two sons, Albert and Ray of Buchanan, and one daughter, Mrs. Bertha Woodward of Colfax, Illinois.

Mr. Hurlbutt was a veteran of the Civil war, and a member of the G. A. R. He was also an Odd Fellow and a Rebekah.

Funeral services were held at the residence on River street, Nov. 19, at 2 p. m. Burial in Oak Ridge.
