DR. TREWIN
 Having maintained an unusual cheerfulness in spite of sorrows that would seem totally crushing; having mastered difficulties which few would have had the nerve to attempt, Mrs. Etta M. Trewin won the respect, admiration and love of this community to a larger extent, perhaps, than any other person here.
 Dr. Trewin was a most remarkable woman. Misfortune seemed to have special designs against her, and yet she did not complain, and when bitterness might have seemed justified, she remained cheerful. She took unusual responsibilities and met them heroically. In spirit and mind she remained youthful until the very last, and indeed her bodily vigor, too, was notable. It was characteristic of her life that she had planned to enter missionary work this year and had chosen South Africa as her field; at an advanced age she was ready to attempt what few young persons are willing to risk. When she spoke of the war, her regret was not that she sent a son, but that she could not have served also.
 The life of Dr. Trewin should serve as an inspiration to every person who knew her.

PEACE HELPS
 When the members of a base ball team get to scrapping among themselves, there will be fewer scores, and petty quarrels may deprive that team of the pennant.
 When the people of a community quarrel among themselves, they harm the community without helping themselves one particle. They are all in the same boat, and if the man in the prow hammers the back end of the boat, he does not improve the boat as a whole in any way, and if he hammers long enough he may start a leak which will compel all to spend their time dipping water, instead of navigating.
 In fact, Dempsey et al are about the only persons who can make fighting pay, and the only reason it is profitable to them is because they are experts.

THERE'S A REASON
 The state anti-saloon league head in Indiana has come out denouncing the Literary Digest poll of the country on the liquor question. The Digest is asking 10,000,000 persons to register their opinion as to whether the present prohibition laws should be continued, modified or repealed. The Indiana man states that the contest is entirely unfair in the way that the questions are asked; that the magazine has no business to ask such questions; that the answers received do not indicate public sentiment, anyhow.

 Those who have not followed this vote are allowed one guess as to how it is going.

HENRY AND BILL
 Those who have followed the careers of Henry and Bill even superficially should know that the recent incident which attracts country-wide attention was staged. These gentlemen have made each other, and they have not been so all-fired serious about it, either.
 We do not suggest that they are posing at this time, like acrobats who hold a difficult position for a moment awaiting applause; but they are posing as men in the public eye often do, to attract attention.
 They are also calling notice to an important issue. Kansas has taken the lead in attempting to force the elimination of strikes, much to the disgust of labor. White sympathizers with labor, and this incident is a splendid vehicle for drawing out public opinion on the matter of labor courts, and to the extent to which an individual is entitled to think and speak for himself, even if he happens to differ from the law of the day.
 Here's to Henry and Bill—long may they squabble.

DR. ETNA M. TREWIN
 Dr. Etta M. Trewin died about one o'clock this Friday, morning, after an illness of less than two days. The funeral services are to be held at one-thirty o'clock, Monday afternoon, at the Methodist Episcopal church, of which she had been a member for many years. The business places of Buchanan will be closed during the service. Members of the American Legion Auxiliary are asked to meet at the home of Mrs. William Burk at one fifteen.

DEATHS OF THE WEEK
 Mrs. Charlotte Chamberlain Treat, a sister of Misses Eva and Luella Chamberlain of this place, died at her home in Long Beach, California, Sunday, July 22, at the age of eighty-seven.
 Alfred Maxson, a former Buchanan resident, died last evening at Healthwin hospital, following an illness of one year. He had been living in South Bend the past three or four years. The deceased was born in Michigan Sept. 26, 1886.

VETERANS ATTEND ANOTHER REUNION
 EIGHTEENTH ANNUAL PICNIC, CARLISLE, YESTERDAY HEARS 91 YEAR OLD SOLDIER AS ONE SPEAKER

Veterans, their wives, widows and daughters, attended the 18th annual Carlisle picnic, at the home of Ashley Carlisle yesterday afternoon, about ninety being present.
 It was an ideal day for the picnic, and there was a good attendance from a distance. There were 31 veterans present, and 81 counted at the tables, a few arriving later. In years past the attendance has been as high as 250, a few dropping off each year and decreasing the attendance.

A basket dinner was served, those present testifying that the high standard set on these occasions was fully maintained. There were remarks by Elder E. A. Bloom and Rev. J. J. Terry, and Mr. and Mrs. Bloom led those present in singing war songs. Miss Frieda Lane gave a recitation. J. Q. Swanger, of Mishawaka, made a short talk, reminiscent of Buchanan a half century ago and of the war. Mr. Swanger is 91 years old, but quite vigorous, mentally and physically. He lived in Buchanan about 53 years ago.

How The Master Driver Became Master Tire Builder

IN 1903, driving the "999" racing car, Barney Oldfield started his career of victories that later earned him the title of "Master Driver of the World." To overcome the tire weaknesses that made racing difficult and dangerous, he studied tires—specified materials—supervised construction.

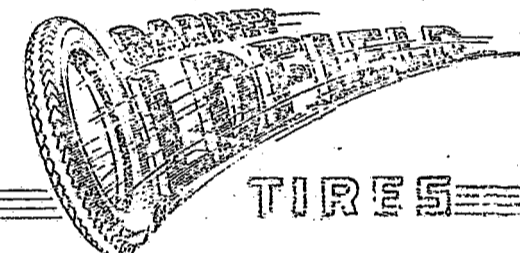

American tires that have ever taken first place in the French Grand Prix. They have won for three consecutive years in the 500-mile Indianapolis Sweepstakes. So far in 1922, Oldfields have lowered four World's Records and seven track records.

Today, Barney Oldfield is known as the "Master Tire Builder." Starting with the crude tires which carried the "999" one mile in sixty seconds, Oldfield gradually developed his famous Cords—a set of which covered 500 miles at eighty-eight miles an hour without a change.

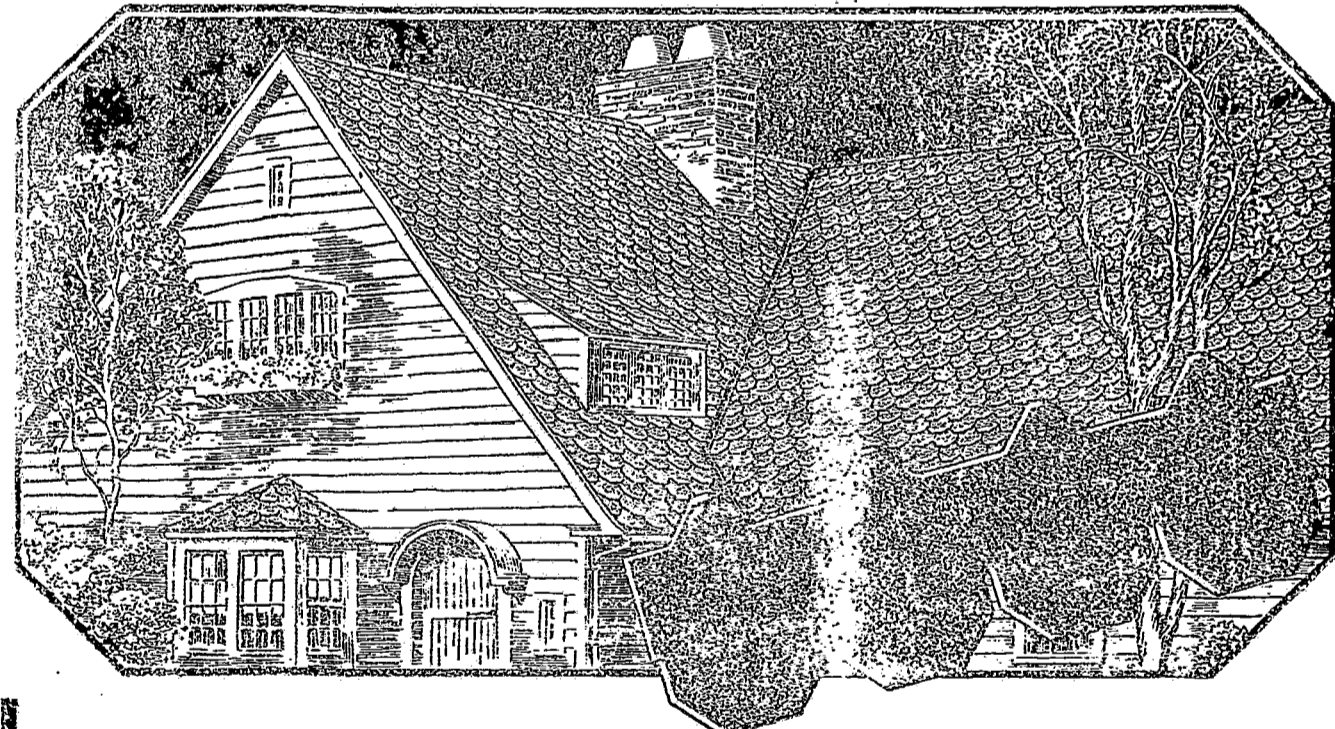

The Wichita Test Run gave evidence of Oldfield's superiority in touring—when a set of four Cords covered 34,525 miles over rutted, frozen, winter roads—a performance attested by the Mayor of Wichita.

In three years Oldfield tires have won every important race on American speedways. They are the only

"Quality and Service"

A Universal Appeal

Ruberoid Strip-shingles cover homes of all kinds. They are used on $2500 cottages and on more pretentious residences costing five and ten times that amount.

The universal approval which home owners have accorded these shingles is by no means accidental. It is based on decidedly unusual characteristics.

Ruberoid Strip-shingles owe their enviable reputation primarily to their exceptional wearing quality and their distinctive decorative value. They are unusually thick and massive. The felt, saturant, and coating used in their making are the best attainable. They are surfaced with crushed slate in Venetian red or sage green. In addition, you have a choice of nine attractive designs, each of which may be laid in solid colors or in artistic blends of green, red, and steel-blue.

Come in or phone us today for a folder illustrating these designs in color, and samples of Ruberoid Strip-shingles.

After spending two years in acquiring funds for a clubhouse, the American Legion post in Mangum, Okla., decided the children of the town needed a playground worse than the former service men did a clubhouse. Accordingly, the Legionnaires obtained an eight year lease on a plot of ground and used the fund they had been so long in collecting to purchase playground equipment.

In order that all the cemeteries in the state may always have the proper care, the Arkansas American Legion has started a move for the formation of a cemetery association which will supervise the laying out of new plots and the upkeep of all burying grounds.

In his series of articles "The Truth About Bergdoll," Charles R. Fehrln of Philadelphia, describes the present appearance of America's arch slacker as that of a "fat middle-class German with a hatred of everything American." Fehrln was one of the party of army intelligence operatives who recently tried to kidnap Bergdoll in Germany. It was the purpose of the United States Government to return Bergdoll to this country to serve the sentence imposed for the violation of the selective draft act.

A Pacific Arlington is planned by the American Legion posts in Los Angeles county, California. A large plot, with space for 11,000 graves has been acquired in Glendale cemetery. Ninety-nine members of the American Legion scaled Mount Hood at the Legion's second annual climb held July 16. A party of 249 participated in the base camp activities which began the afternoon before the climb. A pack mule, which succumbed to heart disease at an altitude of 9,000 feet and plunged down the mountain into a deep crevasse, was the only casualty.

Because the mayor of Summer, Washington, could give no legitimate reason why the Summer American Legion should not give a dance on the Main street of the city, after he had strictly forbidden such frivolity, Legionnaires obtained a court writ restraining the mayor from interfering with the celebration. Citizens of the community and visitors from many nearby towns danced up and down Main street in response to the Legion's invitation which read: "Dance with the Lewis-Gull post No. 53 of the American Legion by order of the court."

The men who fought with the 78th Division of the American Expeditionary Forces will hold their annual reunion this year at Atlantic City, Sept. 30 and Oct. 1. Although distinctly separate from the American Legion, the veterans of the 78th worked with the organizers of the Legion in Paris 1919. It is estimated that more than seventy per cent of the division personnel is now enrolled in the ranks of the Legion.

While assisting his American Legion comrades in decorating the graves of Dorchester, Mass., ex-service men last Memorial day, Jen Frederick Lang, Jr., of that city placed a flag on an untenanted grave and asked that it be reserved for him. STATE GROWN ALFALFA SEED SHOWS INCREASE

East Lansing—That extensive production of alfalfa seed in Michigan followed favorable conditions of last year, and that this seed proved to be a considerable factor in the planting of an increased acreage this spring, is the statement of Prof. J. F. Cox, head of the farm crops department at the Michigan Agricultural college. Estimates place the home grown alfalfa seed used in Michigan at least 175,000 pounds.

"It has not yet been proven that alfalfa seed production is commercially profitable in Michigan on a large scale," says Professor Cox, "but many farmers have found it advantageous to set aside several acres for seed production for their own use and for sale in the neighborhood.

"Home grown seed from well established fields of proved hardiness is, if properly matured, excellent for planting in Michigan. Should the mid-summer and late summer season prove to be warm, with average or less than average rainfall, the second crop of alfalfa can be expected to stand for seed production.

"The heaviest yields of alfalfa seed are secured from fields on light loams. Old fields which are becoming thin usually set seed better than new seedings. The yields reported to the farm crops department at M. A. C. during the past season by farmers who produced seed range from one to three and one-half bushels per acre.

"An extensive increase is being made by members of the Michigan

Crop Improvement association of the new Hardigan alfalfa, recently released from the breeding plots of Prof. F. A. Spragg, of the college station. A considerable supply of this high seed yielding strain should be available for next year's planting. "Where possible Grimm, Cossack, or other alfalfa varieties of known dependability should be saved for seed."

ELDER BLOOM RAMBLED OUT TO BRADLEY FARM

Last Tuesday the pastor of the Advent Christian church hiked out down the River road, to call on his church elder, Henry Bradley, well known to Record readers. He lives just about half way between Buchanan and Berrien Springs and his home and farm is so nicely situated at the fork of the roads on his corner, that he has a very beautiful view of the "famous old St. Joe" river, which runs placidly by, in plain sight.

Mr. Bradley is one of the old settlers, and his experiences date back to the days of old, before the dams were placed in the river, when rafts of native lumber were steered down the river to the place near the Lake, where shipment was continued by way of boat.

For a time he lived in Buchanan on the corner of Clark and Chicago streets, but, after the death of his wife, he moved back to the farm, where he enjoys the comforts of life and is carefully cared for by his daughter, Mrs. Haas.

He is still active for a man of his age, being in his 87th year, so after his pastor had enjoyed a nice dinner, prepared by the lady of the house, in their company, a visit to Bear Cave, one of the sights of Berrien county, not far from the river bank, was proposed and the host and his guest started out, the host with his old trusty cane as an aid to locomotion. They took "a tie pass" on the old "Pumpkin-Vine" right of way and in due time stood looking up at the beautiful water fall and the Bear Cave underneath. Mr. Bradley not having been there for a number of years, it did not seem very familiar at first, but the sight revived many happy recollections. A beautiful spring brook runs close by and a lovely spring gives forth its waters freely to thirsty callers.

After resting up a bit and "taking in" the natural wonders of the location, still unknown to many who pass close by, the travelers started on the return trip, via the same "train" that brought them and in due time found themselves back in the old home again. Having enjoyed the day, the Elder took another "Pullman" of the first-tried variety back to Buchanan, where he took supper at the parsonage, after the ten mile, or more, "hike," which was partly relieved, on the way out, by a ride in the truck of one of Mr. Bradley's neighbors.

FOUGHT IN SEVEN WARS

Robert Bruce MacGregor of Seattle, Wash., soldier of fortune who has spent the greater part of his 48 years drifting around the world looking for chances to fight, recently obtained jobs for 236 former soldiers. In MacGregor's career he found wars seven different times and jumped into them all. His last war was the one where the Allies won from the Germans.

He served with the original Princess Pat regiment which numbered 1,093 men in 1914. Eleven of those 1,093 are now alive. Two of the eleven are now alive. One of them is MacGregor. Before the World War MacGregor fought in the Philippines as his bit in the Spanish-American war. The boxers started mixing it up in China and he was off to that fracas. The Natal Rebellion cropped up in South Africa. MacGregor made the jump from China and landed in the middle of that war. The Matabele Uprising and the Jamieson Raid followed.

Twelve medals, four decorations and wounds which keep him constantly under the doctor's care are his spoils.

Despite his disabilities he still fights. Just now he is giving the unemployment problem a battle in his home city, Seattle. Besides that he has adopted and is educating a fifteen year old boy.

The queen of the Belgians has just accepted the gift of an English aeroplane for her own use, and intends to pilot it herself.
