THE VILLAGE QUARTET
By Haws

What e'er the occasion for which we are met,
We can bank on some songs by the village quartet.
It's summoned to bat
At church while the ushers are passing the hat,
And you always can bet you will hear them again
For a session or two betwixt that and "Amen."
At banquet, at concert, at sea or a-shore
You always can bank on the Harmony Four.

They will start with a tempo that's stately and slow
The Armonies Chorus from Sole Mio
Then it may be the tenor will rise to his toes
And sweep out the attic with notes through his nose
Then they'll throw out their waists and haul in their chins
And roll a few notes that are lower than sin,
Then they'll run up the scale like a squirrel on a tree
Till they hang by their toe nails on treble clef G.

They will falter clear down to a lullaby croon
That is tender and soft as a hushaby tune
And then throw out the cut-out and let out a roar
That shivers the windows and rattles the door.
All they need is a start and they'll warble away
Of someone that "made me what I am today."
Whatever the occasion, they all ways find place
For that barber shop tenor and rainbarrel bass.

And I trust when I come to that halcyon shore
Where troubles are past and where sin is no more
And all of my trials and cares are laid down
And the gate keeper checks me a harp and a crown
There will fall on my soul with will infinite calm
The Harmony Four on an angelic psalm
And we'll all stack our harps for a while and get set
To hear "Old Black Joe" by the Village Quartet!

STATE SURVEYS SHOW CHANGE OF M-60 IS LIKELY

NEW ROUTE CUTS OUT R. R. CROSSINGS AT GALIEN AND BUCHANAN

The activities of state civil engineering crews, coupled with a number of unofficial statements from state sources, render it a practical certainty that M-60 is to be re-routed over a course which will miss Buchanan by several miles to the south, such action to be taken on the ground that such re-location will be in the best interests of through traffic and will eliminate major crossings at Buchanan and Galien.

1. West out of Niles to what was formerly known as the Kate Miller farm. There one half mile right of way would be bought directly west to the intersection with the road running east and west by the Bertrand town hall known as the Buffalo road. The road would then continue west on that route.

2. Out of Niles west on the Chicago road, to where it intersects the Buchanan-South Bend road. Thence on it is uncertain whether the route would follow the Chicago highway or take the road west past the J. E. Vite farm.

The decision to change the route follows the transfer of M-60 from the control of the state to the status of a federal aid road. M-60 was originally built by a special act of the state legislature which provided that it should never be transferred away from Buchanan. However, since it has been changed from a state trunk line to a federal aid project, it no longer comes under that act.

When the new route is finally decided, it is expected that the old route will be made later.

PLANS ARE COMPLETED FOR EVENT

MRS. HUNT GAVE SAME PROGRAM TO 7,000 AT ROCKFORD, ILL.

Interest in the free cooking school which is to be conducted in the Buchanan high school auditorium March 13 and 14 by Mrs. Alma E. Hunt, America's premier home economist, under Berrien County Record auspices, is already attracting much interest, with indications that there will be a large class of Buchanan housewives present.

Mrs. Hunt has just completed a four day session at South Bend, Ind., coming to that city from Rockford, Ill., where as many as 7,000 attended one of her sessions in the Shrine Temple, where she presented the identical program that will be used here.

Advance agents of Mrs. Hunt will be in Buchanan this week to arrange the details of the school, and full information will be printed next week.

The sessions will be held in the high school auditorium during the afternoon, with Miss Tina Skeels, of the High school home economics department, collaborating. A model kitchen will be arranged on the stage of the auditorium, and everything in the model menus presented will be cooked in sight of the audience, iseps being fully explained as they are taken. A novel feature of the demonstration will be the costume worn by the demonstrator, who will wear colored Persian gingham dresses instead of the traditional white costume, in keeping with the modern colorful kitchen.

Mrs. Hunt will answer all questions put at the meetings, and will take up any individual problem that may be presented. She will also present a number of surprise menus, consisting of novel dishes which she has devised and is now presenting for the first time.

He is a graduate of the Baldwin-Wallace College of Music and has had 15 years experience as a band and orchestra leader and as a violinist in musical organizations. Gasoline Stove Explosion Takes Life of Walter Crull

An exploding gasoline stove cost the life of Walter S. Crull, Nottawa grocer, who died in the Three Rivers hospital at 5 o'clock Friday morning. Mr. Crull was terribly burned about the hands, face and upper part of the body by the blazing gasoline that enveloped his clothing and made him a human torch.

Mr. Crull went to the kitchen in the rear of the store he conducted in Nottawa about 4:30 Thursday afternoon to start the fire preparatory to getting supper. When he attempted to light the portable gasoline stove, there was a blinding flash and explosion that shook the room and covered Mr. Crull with blazing gasoline.

Came From Buchanan
A few weeks ago Mr. Crull purchased the J. M. Wall grocery store in Nottawa. He came from Buchanan where he had lived several years. Mr. and Mrs. Crull lived in the dwelling in the rear of the store which is a part of the store building. Little damage was done to the kitchen by the flames, which were extinguished with a few buckets of water.

Walter S. Crull was born in Dublin, Ind., October 1, 1873, the son of Sanford and Sarah Albright Crull.

Book Styles of Forty Years ago Noted By Buchanan Man

Where! O where! are the big fat padded poets—the gold lettered, leather backed gift copies of Morris Lalla Rookh, of "Oven Meredith's "Lucille" and the sort, with covers as thick as horse collar pads, that we used to buy for holiday and birthday presents? Ask Mr. Binns, veteran book merchant, who has ministered to the book needs of Buchanan for over 40 years, and is still able to keep a length or two ahead of the current modes.

Gone the way of Mary J. Holmes and Augusta Evans, the Mary Rhineharts and Gene Stratton Porters of their day, who delighted the reading public of two generations ago.

"No more padded poets," said Mr. Binns, "and no more fine Baxters and Oxford Bibles, with seal backs, kid-lined and sewed with silk such as people used to buy. Bookstores do not sell many Bibles any more, and when they do they are cheap copies. Bibles are mostly purchased in large lots by churches and missionary societies."

Binns started as a boy with a newspaper in the old Buchanan post office, a wooden building which stood where the Telephone Exchange now stands. There he used to sell the magazines which were the popular sellers in their day—most of them sponsored by the York Ledger. There were little compartments under Binns' counter, each holding the copies of one of these magazines—Golden Days, Saturday Night, The Boys New York, and others of the kind, which then took the place of True Romance, True Stories, and the like of the present day.

"I recently sold a copy of one of Mrs. E. D. N. Southworth's books," said Binns, "but that is the only call I have had for one of those books for years."

The hardy perennial which delighted a generation before Binns started and which is still going strong is "Uncle Tom's Cabin." Of the later novelists, "Barriers Burned Away" by E. P. Roe, frequently sells, due mainly to the historical interest which attaches to it from the fact that it was based on the Chicago fire.

BUCHANAN H S. LOSES DEBATE WITH PAWPAW

ELIMINATED FROM FINALS IN CLOSE CONTEST LAST NIGHT

The perfect record of the Buchanan high school debating team was broken last night when the Paw Paw team was accorded a two to one decision over them, eliminating them from further participation in the state eliminations.

While the victory nominally went to the visiting team, the judges emphasized the fact that in securing a two to one decision, the locals came as near as it is possible in a debate to tying their opponents.

An unusual angle of the situation was the fact that the Buchanan team had beaten the Paw Paw team on their own floor three weeks before. Last night, however, the sides were reversed, due to the courtesy of Coach King, who agreed to switch after his team had been allotted the negative, which is conceded to be the easiest side. The change was allowed in order to permit the teams to reverse the sides they had taken in the previous debate.

The judges of the debate were Professors I. C. Lubers of Hope College, K. Robinson of Kalamazoo Central High and James Ray of Notre Dame.

After the conclusion of the contest the judges stated that two votes had gone to Paw Paw, by reason especially of the superior knowledge of the details of the question by the third speaker, Miss Margaret Clark, and by her superior accuracy and concentration of points on the rebuttal.

Stress was laid on the opinion of the judges that the Buchanan debaters had raised the point that the direct primary is responsible for the bloc system in congress and had not proven when challenged, that the convention would avoid the bloc. They also stated that the point regarding lack of information on the expense of the caucus and convention system had not been fully met by the Buchanan rebuttal. They regarded that point very damaging. They stated that the great weakness of the Paw Paw debaters had been that they had failed to meet two points of the Buchanan substitute plan—the caucus for the village and the proportional representation plan for cities. One judge voted for Buchanan on the ground of these oversights.

While the visiting team displayed wide knowledge of the subject and were pointed and accurate on rebuttal, they were outclassed by the locals in platform appearance, noise and general delivery. The Buchanan team presenting their material in a manner much more designed to gain the favor of any audience. The Buchanan debaters were Glenn Whitaker, Bertha Desenberg and Robert French. They presented a well balanced argument and made a fine stage appearance. Their record this year has been most creditable to the school.

M-60 WILL BE ROUTED SOUTH OF BUCHANAN

determined on, a 100 foot right of way will be acquired, which will pursue the most direct course in the interests of through traffic, without regard to private improvements in the way. If the route through the Kate Miller farm is selected, for instance, the 100 foot right of way will occupy the entire space between the house and the barn. The route will extend a full mile and one half miles through Bertrand township, with at least 20 feet of concrete paving.

When the new road is built, the present route of M-60 will be turned back to Berrien County as a county road. Several miles of M-2, formerly M-11, were turned to the county by the state Saturday on the same basis.

State highway men state that such re-routing will in fact not be detrimental to the best interests of Buchanan, as the construction of the Walton road will divert through this place a large number who wish to escape the heavy traffic on the main highway. Last summer as many as 3,700 cars were counted in one day on M-60 at Niles.

While it seems certain that the state department is at the present time definitely decided on the re-location, it is apparent that the actual route has not been determined, surveying operations pointing to the following alternative routes:

Church of Christ Bible school at 10 30 a. m. Sunday morning service at 11. "Authority of the Church." Endeavor at 6 p. m. Preaching services at 7 p. m. "What Must I do to be Saved?" The Church of Christ offers to the entire community a hand of welcome. The Psalmist said "I was glad when they said unto me, let us go into the house of the Lord." No creed but Christ. No name but the Divine. Where the Bible speaks we speak, where the Bible is silent we are silent. Everybody welcome. Rev. L. P. Nebelung, minister.

The case of the state of Michigan versus Deb Voonhees for illegal buying of furs was again postponed Tuesday, due to the fact that the defendant was not to be found at the time set for his trial. A hearing was set for 9 a. m. Tuesday, March 6.

If Checking Accounts Were Eliminated

Have you ever thought of what might happen if all banks suddenly decided to discontinue Checking Accounts? Think of the inconvenience if everyone were forced to pay all bills in cash.

Here at the First National we believe everyone who earns money and pays bills should have a Checking Account. It is the one and only safe, efficient and business-like way of handling money. And for that reason we are always glad to welcome the small personal Checking Accounts. We are pleased to handle them and we find that most people are willing to carry a sufficiently large balance to cover the actual cost of rendering the service.

If you do not have a Checking Account we will be glad to have you come in and let us explain.

BUCHANAN RESPONSE IS MAGNIFICENT

Manager Porrett C. Templin says he is delighted with the response Buchanan has given his beautiful play house and splendid Butterfield entertainment as was noted last week at the Ready theatre, Niles.

To turn to the pages on which appears the display advertising of the Ready this week, is to see a wonderful promise of screen entertainment for the remainder of this week and the week ahead. Will Rogers will be present on the screen tonight (Thursday) which by the way is "Pal" night when two are admitted on one ticket. Last week's "Pal" night was such a huge success that the line of people in front of the ticket window extended over a block down the street.

Sunday Norma Shearer at her sweetest and best in "The Latest From Paris" is the attraction for one day with a big Keith stage show for good measure.

Monday and Tuesday Greta Garbo—she with the vampish wiles who toys with men will be on the screen together with a fine supplementary program of short subjects.

Richard Cover, the premier organizer at the Ready has prepared a splendid musical program on each of the above attractions and all visitors to the New Butterfield Ready Theater are going to be well entertained.

COHENS AND KELLEYS AT THE
PRINCESS THEATRE

The screaming "Cohens and Kelleys" are coming back in all their glory in the new, bigger and better, louder and funnier Universal production, "The Cohens and Kelleys in Paris."

Tighten up all your loose ribs and learn to control yourself between now and March 8 and 9, for on that date this theater will not be responsible for sudden death due to hysterical laughter. As you have no doubt suspected, that is the opening date of the aforesaid "Cohens and Kelleys in Paris," in which George Sidney, the same old Collier, appears again in the role that made him famous in every part of the world where laughing is indulged in. Co-featured with Sidney is J. Farrell MacDonald, imitatable in the role of Kelley. Vera Gordon, who made a laughing hit in the first "Cohens and Kelleys," will be seen in her old role as Mrs. Cohen. Kate Price, the peer of her type, is featured as Mrs. Kelley.

The entire cast is of stellar quality. Gertrude Astor, Sue Carol and Charles Delaney being among the other principals. The Cohens and Kelleys, grown rich in business partnership, love each other, but they love to battle each other, too. When pretty Sayde Cohen announces her engagement to young Pat Kelley in Paris, their fathers are right in the middle of one of their feuds, and both are determined to stop the marriage of their only child to the offspring of a dirty leaver, so they take the same boat to Paris to stop the wedding.

RED PRINCESS SAYS
IND. PROGRESS DUE TO WOMEN'S CLUBS

Indians of the United States owe their Americanization to the General Federation of Women's clubs, according to Princess Wat. avasco, a member of the Penobscot tribe of Maine, who, while a visitor at the headquarters of the Woman's club of Des Moines, Ia., recently recalled the convention of the General Federation held in that city, and said:

"I shall never forget that meeting. A man had been sent out from New York to address the Federation on Americanization and I had been sent out to sing. But when that man had finished I was so angry I could not sing, so I excoriated a woman's privilege. I talked. And I pointed my finger in that man's face and told him what I thought about Americanization. It was a little different from what he thought."

"But the women seemed to agree with me, for the General Federation at once took up our cause, and eighteen months after that we, the first American citizens, were Americanized—thanks to American women."

"Now it is my hope that education and citizenship will hasten the day when reservations and guardianship will no longer be necessary for the welfare of the American Indian."

GALLEN H. S. JUNIORS PLAY "EARLY BIRD"

BUCHANAN H. S. ORCHESTRA FURNISHES MUSIC FOR THE EVENING

The Junior class of Galien high school presented for the approval of the public in general the play, "The Early Bird" in the town hall Feb. 22 and 23. The play was presented in fine style. The only drawback that kept the production from being practically the best staged of any class that has graduated from that school was the obstinacy of the curtain to follow the course which it should have taken to obtain the best results. The curtain was a beautiful affair but the mechanical apparatus had an off night. When the main thing to do was to reveal the stage the curtain refused to open and when the time came to change scenery during the course of events it fell down on the job. However, the crowd realized the handicap the players were under and responded with a hearty applause. Although the writer failed to see the "Early Bird" get the worm, he feels that the Junior class of Galien high school is deserving of much credit for the manner in which the play was given.

The Buchanan High School orchestra furnished the music under the direction of Miss Lauretta Rogers. The orchestra wishes to thank Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Weldon, Mr. Gambosi and Mrs. Gross for the use of their cars.

SOPHOMORES LEAD IN INTRA-MURAL GAMES

Two sessions of Intra-Mural basketball have been played since the "Microphone" last went to press. Games were played on Friday and Monday afternoons.

On Friday the Sophomores won a hard fought game from the Junior high quintet by a score of 13 to 12. This put the Sophomores in first place quite securely where they threaten to stay.

The Freshmen now hold third place with the Juniors since the third year men won from them in a game which took three overtime periods to end.

On Monday evening the Junior High threatened to repeat the victory which they won over the Seniors a while back when they led 9 to 2 at the end of the half Monday. The Seniors were able this time to stage a comeback which completely threw the 8th graders off balance. Weaver scored six points for the Seniors.

Score by quarters:
Seniors.....1 8 4-14
Junior High.....5 1 0 1-10
The Sophomores had a harder time winning from the Juniors in another overtime game.

Cooper took honors in this game, though they generally go to Bunker. Cooper scored two baskets and two free throws.

Wilcox again is high point man for the Juniors with five tallies though Pearson seemed to carry the game more consistently into enemy territory.

Score by quarters:
Sophomores.....0 1 2 7 8-13
Juniors.....0 3 2 5 1-11

ORMISTON IS HOST TO ANNUAL STAFF

The annual staff of the High school was entertained at a 6:30 dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ormiston on Monday evening.

The dinner was excellent and the manner in which it disappeared showed that the members of the party possessed immense appetites. The menu consisted of everything from "soup to nuts." When everything in sight had been eaten the guests assembled for a discussion of the 1928 edition of "The Pines."

There followed a lengthy discussion of the details concerning the contents of the book. Complete arrangements were made for the progress of the work of the staff. Reports as to the financial angle were received and discussed. Finally, with everyone happy and immensely thankful to the fate that gave them their principal, the guests departed.

GALLEN HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

Galien high school basketball team is looking forward to its first tournament. They will meet the winner of the Eau Claire-New Troy game on Friday night. A painting contest was held between Donald Olmstead and Carl Roundy, when they painted the north stairs recently.

Galien appreciates the co-operation shown by the Buchanan school orchestra.

To the 5th grade goes the honor of having the smallest percentage of tardiness for the year to date. Only nine tardy marks have been recorded for the year.

Derbies are all the go in the high school now. Soon we expect them to come dressed in evening clothes.

French Club Discusses GALIC GIRLS VERSUS FLAPPERS OF THE U. S.
The French club held their monthly meeting last Friday. The chairman was Victoria Zachman who deserves a great deal of credit for the most interesting program of the year.

Victoria was assisted by Mary Louise Drew, who gave the life of William of Orange. Dorothy Charles compared the young girl of France to the "Flapper" of the United States. Before Dorothy had finished we had just reason to be proud we were living in the flapper age.

Don Ferguson read several French jokes in French. After reading the first one Don looked up, expecting everyone to laugh and just imagine how he felt. But being a foot-ball player, he handled the situation with ease by reading the French and for the benefit of the "Englishmen" of the club repeated them in English.

Strenuous labor has started on the three plays to be given by the Junior class, March 16. The plays are under the able direction of Mr. Ormiston, Miss Moffett and Mr. King.

"The Wonder Hat" is a very clever one act comedy portrayed by Donald Fette, Fred Smith, Robert Roe, Mercedes Capen and Thelma Whitaker under the direction of Mr. King.

"Suppressed Desires," also a one act comedy, is, without doubt, going to be outstanding because it contains only three characters under the supervision of Mr. Ormiston. The characters are Ruby Boltz, Phay Wilcox and Hazel Johnson.

Last but not least we have "Two Crooks and a Lady," a very clever one-act play sponsored by Miss Avis Moffett. This cast is composed of Clem Savoldi, Zella Shumaker, Virginia Snowden, Marjorie Hickey, Kenneth Dunbar and Fred Maus.

With all this talent and with Mr. Ormiston, Mr. King and Miss Moffett as directors we are sure of being presented with three plays well worth while. The actors and actresses are working hard so they deserve your whole-hearted co-operation.

On Friday afternoon representatives from all Class C and D schools in the county met at Buchanan high school. The schools represented were: Watervliet, Bridgman, Stevensville, Three Oaks, New Buffalo, Cassopolis, Galien and New Troy. They discussed the possibility of forming a Class C organization which would consist of Buchanan, Berrien Springs, Watervliet, Three Oaks and Cassopolis. However, after deliberating upon the subject they concluded that this would not be advisable. In place of this plan they determined to meet once each year and at this conference the games would be scheduled.

The conference went on record as favoring a track meet this spring. But they wanted class A and B schools: Niles, St. Joseph and Benton Harbor to hold their own meet, because they were not in favor of scheduling competition with the A and B schools.

In addition to the scheduling for the basketball season they agreed that they would like to have a county meet of all Class C and D schools on the first Friday in February of 1929. They desired to meet in Buchanan because it is centrally located and also the largest Class C school in the county.

Then, after a general discussion on topics pertaining to the interests of the various schools, the conference was adjourned.

CAUSE OF LIMESTONE ARCH
The limestone arch of Natural Bridge, in Virginia, is the result of peculiar erosion of the soil by water during millions of years.

Second, the game. It was probably the fastest, hardest played, but the cleanest game Buchanan has participated in for many, many moons. Bridgman has a splendid team, one that should go far in the coming tournaments and her team plays just as cleanly as it plays well. If when the battle became rather warm and in the melee any players were knocked to the floor there was always a Bridgman or Buchanan player right there with a helping hand. This procedure offered such a strong contrast to the last few games that it has impressed itself more deeply than ever upon our minds. The day will come, we hope, when all our opponents will be as gracious and square as our Bridgman friends.

Third, the reception. We genuinely attempted to make the Bridgman folks "feel" at home. By "welcome" signs and sandwiches and coffee after the game we hope that we conveyed the idea to them that the Buchananites like to compete with them in various fields of our high school endeavor and that Buchanan is "right there" with as much sportsmanship as Bridgman. How far we succeeded in doing this remains a question but often times we are amazed at the results of little courtesies and good turns.

The Bridgman-Buchanan game, in our estimation, marks the dawn of a new day in Michigan high school athletics—a day when we in Buchanan can appreciate other schools. After all we are in the same boat. The students in Niles are faced with many of the same problems that we are. The Dowagiac students take English, History and Mathematics and have to study and hate studying just as much as we do. The path of the pioneer is no easy one but the rewards are great. Here's to a better and more sportsmanlike student body.

BUCHANAN RESERVES TRIM BRIDGMAN 2NDS IN CURTAIN RAISER

The Buchanan Reserves trounced the Bridgman seconds even worse than the 16 to 8 score indicated in the preliminary game Friday night.

Playing the best basketball of the season the Maroon seconds took entire possession of the encounter and kept a very heavy lead over their opponents except for a few minutes at the last when Bridgman scored six points in quick order.

Now that the Reserves feel they have hit their stride they realize that there are no more games which they can play, for the Bridgman game closed the lid on their schedule.

STUDENT EDITORIALS

Basketball and Bridgman

Friday night the high school basketball quintet wound up their schedule season with a game with Bridgman. In addition to the fact that a large crowd witnessed the game and that it was the last appearance on the home floor of Wynn and Letcher, the struggle was unusual in several other respects.

First the Bridgman rooters! Did you who came up Friday night notice the northwest corner of the gym? The Bridgman fans packed, yes, packed, half of the north bleachers. At seven o'clock it seemed as though the game was at Bridgman. Instead of Buchanan and Bridgman is only a Class D school. The Bridgman fans were townspeople, not high school students but townspeople. Could not Buchanan learn a royal lesson from this fact alone? It has been computed that the Bridgman citizens are almost 100 per cent in attendance at their school functions; can we boast of half, yes a fifth or even a tenth of this support from our townspeople? We sheepishly admit we cannot. Why is Bridgman the liveliest small town in this county?

Second, the game. It was probably the fastest, hardest played, but the cleanest game Buchanan has participated in for many, many moons. GEORGE WYNN IS WINNER LINCOLN ESSAY CONTEST

Each year a medal is awarded by the Illinois Watch company to the individual from each school who writes the prize-winning essay on the subject "Abraham Lincoln." For four years Buchanan has entered this contest. In 1925 the medal was awarded to Lorraine Marsteiner, in 1926 to Lyle Riley, in 1927 to Lyle Chubb. This year the contest was limited to the Senior class. Many outstanding essays were turned in and the committee appointed for the judging of the prize essay found it difficult to determine which was the prize winner. However, it was decided that Lincoln's life, his character and his great work were depicted so vividly and cleverly in an essay written by George Wynn that the prize went to him without further argument. And, after hearing it read in General Assembly, the student body heartily agreed that the judges had decided correctly.

The entire essay is printed here that everyone may see for himself that the winner truly deserved the medal:

THE MAN, LINCOLN

In 1860 this country was in a turmoil, such that we of the present generation can scarcely realize. The people were on the verge of a Civil War; the presidential election was at hand, the Democratic party was fighting within its ranks on account of slavery, the Republicans disagreed on tariff but agreed on non-extension of slavery. The leaders of the Republican party realized that a man close to the soil was better suited to the requirements than an Easterner backed by fat purses.

The available candidate was a son of poor, frontier parents, self-educated, a hard worker who by his genius for practical affairs had made his way to the first ranks of the profession of law and had shown himself capable of coping with Democratic leaders by his debates with Douglas. His name was Abraham Lincoln.

We all know about the trials and difficulties of Lincoln's two terms of office and how through his supreme efforts the slaves were freed. We also have a mental picture of him. When anybody mentions the name "Abraham Lincoln" we immediately see before our eyes the picture of a great, tall figure, shabbily dressed, with a bearded face and dark, deeply sunken, sympathetic eyes. We also recall to mind the so-called facts that he was a great rail-splitter, that he knew but one poem, and that he had no religion. But if we were to make a careful study of the life of Lincoln we could readily see the fallacy of not only these but also many other common beliefs about "The Great Emancipator."

The following conversation took place between a noted woman and her father who had seen Lincoln at Washington early in January 1865. She had just told her father the mental picture she had of Lincoln to which he replied: "But I remember that great President. In 1865 I was at Washington. I saw the President for the first time standing on the corner of Fourteenth street and Pennsylvania avenue. He was a magnificent looking emperor of the common people. He had a big gray cape wrapped around him and a dark felt hat

BASKET SCHEDULE

Buchanan high now presents its 1928 schedules for the approval of football and basketball fans.

Buchanan will play a good stiff list of schools on the gridiron and practically as hard a schedule on the court. THE FARMER'S FUTURE

To the "dirt farmer" there is always something a little superior in the official forecasts of the department of agriculture. Usually optimistic, their generalizations seem hardly reliable to the man whose affairs are not prospering. Hence the apparent discrepancy between the reports from Washington and from the farm districts. The former indicate that all is well. The latter keep harping on unfavorable conditions.

In the main, however, there is little to contradict the prediction of the bureau of agricultural economics that the outlook for 1928 is encouraging. It warns against expansion and preaches diversification. It prophesies a large wheat crop throughout the world. Each principal staple is discussed and the expected markets are forecast. While not unduly rosy, it is a picture which ought to cheer up the unhappy farmer.

One of the encouraging things about this sort of survey is the extent to which it is studied by farmers themselves. Thanks to the work of the agricultural colleges and to the various farm bureaus and experimental stations, there is a growing tendency on the part of the farmer to consider himself as something more than a mere producer. Until comparatively recently he had little interest in his crops after he had sold them; he studied production but not marketing. The co-operatives have done much to change his point of view. In time we shall see greater skill in using information from all parts of the country—and from the world's market forecasts—which should do much to stabilize production.

In this presidential year there will, of course, be new platitudes in behalf of the farmers and new efforts will be made to use them for partisan purposes. There may be serious weather difficulties not foreseen by the Washington forecasts. But if conditions are normal, the year should, on the whole, be satisfactory for agriculture.

THE "REGULATION" MANIA

The mania for regulating people by legislation continues.

Michigan has a new firearms act under which the sheriffs in the different counties and city police departments register weapons in the possession of state residents. Failure to register makes one liable to a fine of $100 or imprisonment for 30 days.

The law makes it a rather complicated matter by buy guns and get them properly registered. The avowed object of this elaborate statute is to prevent criminals from getting dangerous weapons. Commenting on the measure, a South Carolina paper says:

"If Michigan succeeds in persuading all landlords and gunmen to comply with the law faithfully and to promise not to bring dangerous weapons from some other state without permission, doubtless the measure will prove a success."

The law will probably be enforced for a while. Arkansas had a similar statute, but due to lack of attention paid to it by citizens, despite attempts to enforce it, was repealed after three years.

Up to the middle of December, Michigan had registered some 85,000 pistols, which undoubtedly only a small percentage of the number in the state. The new law will make "more lawbreakers," because all people will never register. It is the old story of trying to make something useful by law, which in itself (the ownership of a gun), is not unlawful.

The United States Constitution provides that citizens may own firearms. The people will not give up this right. Legislation which puts the honest gun owner in the class of crooks and criminals is putting a cart before the horse. It virtually puts a police record of the honest man when everybody knows that the lawbreaker will not register. It will be interesting to watch the trend of crime in Michigan.

GOOD OLD DAYS

We can remember—when hens were twenty-five cents apiece; eggs, three dozen a twenty-five cents; butter, ten cents a pound; milk was five cents a quart; the butcher gave away liver and trotters; the kids with bologna; the hired girl received no dollars a week and did the washing. Women did not powder and paint in public, smoke, vote or play bridge. Men wore whiskers and boots, chewed tobacco, spit on the sidewalk and cussed. Good beer was five cents and the lunch was free. A kerosene hanging lamp and a stereoscope in the parlor were luxuries.

No one was ever operated on for appendicitis or tonight glands. Microbes were unheard of; folks lived to a good old age and every year walked miles to visit their friends. "A Merry Christmas."

The risen generation's position seems to be that it will do everything within its power to reform the rising one except of course to set it a good example.

ARE YOUR OPINIONS YOURS?

Are your opinions inherited along with the family plate? That is the question hurled at us, by David Saville Muzzey, the truth-seeking historian, who is one of the historians assailed by Mayor Thompson of Chicago, writing in the Forum magazine.

"The vast majority of people," writes Professor Muzzey, "operate with a mental equipment of religious, political and social opinions that are the hand-me-downs of their parents and grandparents. They are confirmed in these opinions by association only with people who agree with them. Their minds automatically reject all facts and arguments that oppose their beliefs."

"The historian," says Muzzey, "who realizes that history has been colored by the feelings of patriots is baffled by this attitude. He seeks to alter the text-books to include the facts that a sufficient perspective has proven true, and immediately rises the hue and cry of propaganda. Any intelligent person will acknowledge that the Fathers of our Republic could not have been the god-like men history makes them, yet when the historian armed with facts attempts to draw them true to life, opposition is strong; tradition founded on patriotic fervor must remain the foundation of our history. Would not the Fathers of our Country, equipped with the failings of men, gain greater glory, by finally winning through to their virtues?"

ARTERIES OF THE NATION

One hundred years ago the first American railroad system, the Baltimore and Ohio was inaugurated. Staid citizens of the time used to gasp at the "comic-strip" engine followed by a few cars traveling slowly over its brief length of track. Today, monster locomotives handling many heavy, comfortable cars, equal to the finest palace in their conveniences and sleeping accommodations, speed over 420,000 miles of track, in every section of the United States.

In this 100-year period practically all American progress has been made. There could have been no satisfactory settling of our great stretches of isolated country without a means of communication better than the ox-cart, or ships that came around the Horn. The railroad provided the necessity and brought the supplies for the extension of civilization on a large scale. In short, they brought development and prosperity.

America as we know it could no more grow and prosper without healthy railroad arteries of transportation to carry our products to the remotest districts, than could the human body thrive without a perfect arterial system to carry the life-giving blood from the heart to the farthest finger tip.

A depressing moment for the woman who has been boasting that they used coke at their home last winter, despite the difference in price, finding it so much cleaner and everything than coal, comes when some other woman remarks that they put in an oil furnace a couple of years ago themselves and find it well worth anybody's money, if one can afford it.

Now that the season is approaching it may be well to remind our readers that another thing a candidate with a good voice can do is to straddle an issue in a manner that leaves the impression of fearlessness.

The prohibition question has become so acute that we noticed a marked disposition among our prominent public servants who have got to run again this year to regard the World Court as the paramount issue.

Another interesting person who always lives in the next county, if not farther, is the man who cleaned up a nice little fortune out of the stock market on an original investment of $20.

The reaction always comes and probably the persons who really profit most in the long run from the moral slump following a war are the lawyers for the defense.

The most depressing thing about middle age is that when you do the same things you used to do 20 years ago they're not nearly so much fun.

Another pathetic little feature of everyday life is an interurban railway company hopefully waiting for the reaction against automobiles to set in.

We know a girl who seems to be afraid the war in Nicaragua will be over before she gets a chance to kiss a Marine goodby.

Pep crushed to earth will rise again and there seems to be no prospect of permanent relief from our live wires.

This is the season of the year when the coal pile which was going to last through, isn't.

Nothing is pleasanter, as long as you don't suspect anything, than being kidded along.

An editor may be his own worst enemy, and probably is, but he has to go some.

If you have any sense at all they say you lack imagination.

Another word which has just about dropped out of the language is pain.

CANADA OUR FRIEND ULTRA, SIMPLE DIVORCE. ANTI-THIRD TERM. MUSSOLINI'S "I WILL"

Secretary of State Kellogg has been in Canada, well received, and heard Canadian statesmen say there is no danger of our country trying to annex Canada. That annexation idea is old and foolish. The United States is glad to have a good peacemaker and finds it in the people of Canada.

Also, Canada is our best customer, buying here more than the British mother country buys. For several months in 1927 Canada was the best customer we had in the world.

We helped the Canadian Northwest, as we did all countries, by supplying a short cut through the Panama Canal. Canada reciprocates by buying of us.

When the St. Lawrence Canal goes through, both nations will be better off. Friendship, co-operation, constructive competition should be the programme.

The Senate will pass some kind of anti-third-term bill, making two terms the law, instead of a tradition. It should be two Elected terms. A man elected once should have a second term in mind. No matter how good he is, that makes him a better President.

Gratitude is a sense of favors to come.

Senator Borah advocates only one term, a mistake. It takes a President one term to get over the excitement of being President and get down to real work.

Two terms by election of the people would be a good rule.

Germany proposes a law to make "a simple wish" sufficient ground for divorce.

It would not be necessary to prove guilt. Wife or husband can say, "A continuation of my married life has become impossible." That will end it.

The couple must live apart one year before getting the divorce. When no guilt is proved, there will be no alimony. The richer of the two will be expected to help the poorer.

That makes our "companionate" marriage quite conservative.

Mussolini continues simplifying Italy's government which in substance is the expression of Mussolini's "I will." Only one political party is to exist. Only those will vote "who contribute to the progress of the nation."

The number of deputies will be reduced from 560 to 400. It would be simpler to let Mussolini cast one vote for the whole nation. That is what happens in reality.

If a dog bites a man we ignore it. If a man bites a dog that's news. Amos Cummings said it long ago and Dr. Wood said it before Cummings did.

Often you read of a dog killed, defending his master, shot by a burglar, etc. That is hardly news. Now you read that Vincent J. McCarthy was killed by stab wounds while defending his dog. That is news.

At Rockville, Conn., a white girl, nineteen year old, descendant of a general on the Southern side in the Civil War, also claiming ancestors on the Mayflower, secures a license to marry a mulatto. The girl's mother consents because she thinks it is "for the best interest of the couple."

Intelligent men, white and black, will agree that that is decided against the interest of both the man and the woman, and all of both races.

The poor Heine felt differently about it long ago. Shocked to hear that a white clergyman was to be thrashed and feathered because he allowed his daughter to marry a negro, Heine exclaimed: "O! Freiheit, due boeser Traum!" "O, Freedom, thou wicked dream."

A young woman, well educated, married to a scoundrel, followed him and his fortunes, and will soon be hanged with him in Canada. She was with him when he murdered a taxicab driver.

An effort is made to save her from the gallows and the girl amazes her friends, saying she does not want to be saved. "If he hangs, I want to hang with him." That should amaze nobody. It might be amazing if a man said it.

A woman is willing to be burned with her children, or hanged with her husband, when she likes him. It is part of the female disposition.

ELKS TO BUILD TEMPLE AT NILES

B. P. O. E. PLAN $1,000,000
TEMPLES 30,000 FOR FURNISHINGS

Contracts were awarded last week for the erection of a new temple for Niles lodge No. 1322, Benevolent Protective Order of Elks, on its property on Third street adjacent to the present home of the lodge. The contracts were awarded by the officers and board of trustees of the lodge, but are subject to confirmation by the grand lodge. No difficulty is anticipated regarding the confirmation, however, as the local committee has complied with the rules of the grand lodge as regards the contracts and methods of financing. The new temple will cost approximately $100,000 and another $30,000 will be spent for furnishings.

The plans for the building were drawn by Leroy & Newlander, Kalamazoo architects and provide for a frontage of 72 feet on Third street and a depth of 100 feet. The construction will be of brick in the colonial style and with a 12 foot porch on the east or Third street end of the temple.

The main floor will contain a lobby, a large dining room, kitchen and an office for the secretary of the lodge. The second floor will be arranged for a lodge room and a gymnasium, so constructed that the two may be thrown together and form one large auditorium when needed.

The basement will be utilized for recreation rooms with pool and billiard tables and bowling alleys.

GEORGE WYNN IS WINNER LINCOLN ESSAY CONTEST

pulled low over his eyes. You and your Lincoln, a scarecrow of a hoe handle and a frock coat. That's the best your generation can do." The astonished woman said, "How can you say such a thing?" Her father replied that Lincoln's name has been obscured and blighted by the rag-tags and bob-tails of silly stories and that although we had made him a cross between a clown and a God, he was neither.

It does seem that too much credit has been given to Lincoln in regard to his prowess as a rail-splitter. Many historians would have us believe that if it had not been for his ability to bisect logs he would have been scantily dressed, indeed. He once said to a man by the name of Brooks, who was the Washington correspondent for the Sacramento "Union," that although he had undue credit for rail-splitting, he did not know how to fell a tree.

It is through this same man that another of our greatly-loved fallacies of Lincoln are crumbled. The words that nature and natural beauty never affected his emotions. One day the two men were riding through the woods and were observing a vine that had wrapped itself around a tree in a curious manner. Lincoln said, "Yes, it is very beautiful, but that vine is like some habits which men have; it decorates the ruin which it made." A few days after some one was talking with Lincoln about the difference between character and reputation. He replied that perhaps a man's character could be likened to a tree and his reputation to its shadow; the shadow is what we think about, the tree is the real thing.

If we but stop and think we can easily see the fallacy in the statement that Lincoln knew but one poem. Poetry was very important in those days, it was news. The educated man or woman of that period had to be able to quote not only classic verse but also the latest works of such men as Longfellow, Whittier and Holmes. Lincoln would have had to be deaf not to hear and appreciate the current poetry of that time. One night while taking a boat to Fortress Monroe he recited poetry for hours to General Vilele and General Stanton, who were accompanying him. Lincoln studied Shakespeare rather critically. He had his own way for reading the works of that writer. In Hamlet there was a passage which he thought was apt to be slurred by whoever read it and one day he threw himself into the spirit of the scene and recited to a companion word for word thirty-six lines of that play including the passage with the questionable accent.

One frequently hears the supposition that Lincoln had no religion. Are we to say that a man with principles and ideals as Lincoln lacked religion? I think not. It is true he had no particular creed but he attended church, and, from his statement in his great Gettysburg speech which says, "and that this Nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom," we know he believed there was a supreme being. He also read the Bible.

Lincoln was only human and like the rest of us when it came to losing his temper. If we could only realize the strain he was under for months we wouldn't consider this fact a serious flaw in the man. Everyday for weeks and even months his anteroom was packed full with anxious people; mothers, fathers, wounded soldiers, office-seekers, and officers.

and a number of politicians, all of whom insisted on seeing Lincoln. And the President saw every one of them. He thought his time belonged to the people who had succeeded in getting him into office. One army officer carried a grievance to him one day and was told by the executive that nothing could be done for him. The officer came a week later only to receive the same answer when he had told his story again. However, he was determined to win his case and returned the third time but after the interview the President escorted him to the door and rather emphatically invited him not to come again.

About the only common belief that would, if true, stain the character of Lincoln is that he told obscene stories. But this, in the common sense of the word, is not so. The following example is the type of which he was occasionally guilty. One day he went to the office of a friend and left his tall stove-pipe hat in the anteroom on a chair. During his stay in the office a rather portly woman entered the anteroom and innocently sat down on the hat. When Lincoln was ushered from the office the woman rose to bow to him. He returned behind her, picked up the ruined article and said, sadly shaking his head, "Madam, I could have told you that my hat wouldn't fit you before you tried it on." The so-called sex stories attributed to him would scarcely offend the present-day minister. Lincoln also had some very practical humor about him. One day a man returned from New York to Washington with some very depressing news as to the chances of the reelection of the President. Lincoln listened to the report, walked the floor for a moment with bowed head, as if in deep thought, and then said, "Well, I can't run the political machine, I have enough on my hands besides that. The election rests in the hands of the people; it is their business. If they turn their backs to the fire and scorch their rear they will find that they have got to sit on the blisters. Lincoln even was the cause for a certain man leaving the White House with unusual haste when he learned that that man had fastened his name to an obscene story.

Now as to Lincoln's dress, many people have the idea that he had one suit, a shabby broadcloth and one old tattered stove-pipe hat. As a matter of fact Lincoln's wife loved good clothes and said to him that he was never so severely when the head of the house came into the room. He took the children's part. Then one debate with Douglas, white linen in another, and once a white linen duster over a blue suit with brass buttons.

Many people still believe that Lincoln was unhappily married. The following incident gives us a brief glimpse into the private life of the Lincoln family. One afternoon Mrs. Lincoln went calling and left the children home with her husband. The children got into the parlor and upset things in a wonderful fashion. When Mrs. Lincoln returned, she, very high-strung, flew into a rage and was scolding the children.
