

CHICAGO-BUCHANAN REUNION JUNE 23

HEARD ABOUT TOWN The Way I Look at 'Em

Now, a stocking Isn't shocking And a leg Is just a Leg And not a thing to Throw a Fit about. Not a thing to Cause a spasm. Nearly every-Body has'm As the latest Styles remove all Cause of Doubt. And I argue if You please That even knees Are not disease, And I scarcely would Object to Them As such. But I Hold with Firm Insistence. When you speak of Proper distance, Over too feet Is two MUCH!!!!!!

Office Improvement Note

The girls in our office are insisting that the management install an 18 inch mirror instead of the 6 inch one we have, so that they can see how their skirts hang while they powder their noses.

JUNE NOTE

It was June, the month of lovers. And the merry month of roses. When a mad enchantment hovers O'er each day that time discloses.

Theirs was such a tenuous duo, As they faded together gaily, For he blew a wicked trombone, And she plunked the ukelele.

Till they tired of separate sledding And of ways that always parted So they had a quiet wedding. Then was when the racket started!

One of the girls in our office is so dumb she thinks the Buchanan Blues are what you have when you live here and want to go home to Ohio.

All through life we'll ramble gayly Laughing off each care and fret While I play my ukelele, And you play your clarinet.

WE GET A BOUQUET

The record office is indebted to W. D. Fitcher for a beautiful bouquet of peonies and irises. Thanks, brother, they did us good. A welcome change, as it were.

VILLAGE COUNCIL MAKES 1928 LEVY SEVENTEEN MILLS LAST THURSDAY

It's Pay That Water Tax Or Bathe in Creek

Buchanan residents who occasionally use water for bathing purposes at least will be taking their Saturday night regular in McCoy Creek or St. Joe River after July 1st unless their water tax is paid in full, according to a fiat issued by the village council at the Thursday night meeting, when the village clerk, Harry Post, was instructed to see that the ordinance on water payments be strictly enforced after July 1. This ordinance provides that if water payments are not made on the first of May and first of October, when they fall due, the water shall be shut off 15 days afterward. This ordinance has never been strictly enforced previously, but will be after July 1, that grace having been allowed in order to permit the users to adjust themselves to the new system.

Additional Pavement and Sewer Charges Cause Raise in Levy

$45,912.24 TO BE RAISED

Property Assessment Shows Increase Of $90,000

A total of $45,912.24 is to be raised for village purposes for the coming year, by means of a 17 mill tax on the $2,700,720 of village property, according to the action of the council at their meeting held Thursday of last week.

This raise above the 16 mill levy of last year was made necessary by the unavoidable outlays for sewers and paving which the developments of the present year have forced upon the council. The several items of the levy and sum raised by each is as follows:

Table with 3 columns: Fund, Levy, Sum. Includes General Fund, Highway and Street, Sinking Fund for refund, Water bonds, Sewage disposal, Sinking fund for payment, water bonds, Village share of storm water drains.

This levy will make possible the elimination of the 1923 poll tax, which action was authorized by the council.

The property assessment of $2,700,720, which represents the final figures after the board of review had passed on the work of assessors Henry Elsie with only minor changes, exceeds that of last year by $90,000, representing the normal property growth of the village.

Tulip Trees In Bloom at George Exner Residence

Among the many attractive decorative trees of Buchanan which are now attracting attention to be the two tulip trees, believed to be the only ones in the city, which are in bloom on the lawn at the George Exner home at 206 W. Third Street. The two trees stand on either side of the entrance. They were secured by Mr. Exner 15 years ago this fall in what is known as the "Miller swamp" immediately east of the Miller school house on the Berrien Springs road. They are now about six inches in diameter at the base, and stand 30 feet high. Their large showy leaves form an attractive decorative effect after the yellow blooms have faded.

The tulip tree is a native of this section, and many are found along the river north of Buchanan.

Plans are now under way under the direction of Harry Brown for the program for the Chicago-Buchanan Society picnic, which is scheduled to be held at the high school grounds Saturday, June 23, instead of June 16 as had been previously stated.

This picnic originated at the society dinner held in Chicago in February, at which time a number of Buchanan people went to Chicago as the guests of the organization. It is hoped that the picnic will become an annual affair and that its scope will be enlarged in succeeding years. The full program will be printed next week.

METHODISTS HOLD TOWN-GOWN NIGHT

College Students to Take Part in Program on Sunday Night

NEW FEATURE HERE. Conrad Cox, Famed Tenor Soloist of Niles To Feature

The young collegiates of Buchanan are to be in the foreground in a very interesting session which is scheduled to be held at the Methodist Church Sunday evening under the title of "Town and Gown Night."

Several of the young people here who are attending or who have just graduated from college will take part in the program. A feature of special interest is to be two tenor solos by Conrad Cox, well known lyric tenor who sings regularly in several of the Niles churches. Mr. Cox was for several years a member of a light opera company, and also tenor soloist for one of the leading churches of Detroit. The two numbers by Mr. Cox alone will make the meeting well worth while.

HEAVY JUNE FALL OF YOUNG APPLES CUTS DOWN CROP

REPORT PERFECT STAND OF IOWA CORN SENDS PRICE DOWN

The apple crop of this vicinity which was decimated by adverse weather conditions during the winter is being further diminished by an unusually large "June fall", according to local fruit men, who have just completed the fourth spraying.

A fall of part of the young fruit is expected at this time of year, but the proportion that has gone to the ground in the past week is said to be unusually large.

High prices on hay here are being offset by lower prices on corn and small grain feeds, which have been tumbling on the markets, due to reports that unusually good prospects for both corn and oats prevail in the entire corn belt. Reports from Iowa indicate that the corn stand there is a full hundred per cent and that the crop is flourishing. Corn belt farmers are reported to be dumping their holdings of old corn and oats on the market as fast as possible in anticipation of low prices, thereby contributing to the rapid decline.

The stand of corn in the Buchanan district is now reported to be excellent. A few late fields are being planted this week. Late potato planting is also being completed this week. The early potatoes are showing a good stand of healthy plants.

THE HOME PAPER

Men everywhere are coming more and more to understand and appreciate the influence of the rural press in the affairs of this country.

Only a few years ago we were told that the local newspaper was passing—that it could not compete with the dailies and weeklies of the big cities—and that it must yield to the inevitable.

But the prophets were wrong. It is true that the local daily or weekly cannot supply in detail all of the news of the world. It cannot compete with its city contemporary in illustrations and features.

And yet the local paper is still with us, and it is growing in strength and usefulness as the years go by. Some of the reasons for its existence are summed up in this paragraph from an exchange:

The local paper should be found in every home. No children should grow up ignorant who can be taught to appreciate the home paper. It is said to be the stepping stone of intelligence in all those matters not to be found in books. Give your children a foreign paper which contains not a word about any person, place or thing, which they saw or perhaps ever heard of, and how could you expect them to be interested.

But let them have the home paper and read of people whom they meet and of places of which they are familiar and soon an interest is awakened which increases with very arrival of the local paper. Thus a habit of reading is formed and those children will read the papers all their lives and become intelligent men and women. A debt to their ancestors, strong in the knowledge of the world as is today.

HESITANT DRIVER A MENACE

"Well, make up your mind," yelled one driver at the driver ahead, who had signalled that he was going to turn to the left, had litated, and then had gone right on.

"I see that sort of thing every day," said the driver who had held up momentarily, to his friend to whom he had given a "thumbs up" that morning. "The hesitant driver is as great a menace to safety as the reckless driver."

HOME TOWN OPPORTUNITIES

Many a young man sniffs contemptuously at the opportunities offered by his own local environment. "Why stay in that slow old burg?" he asks. "Go for the big city." And so he plunges into some metropolitan whirlpool, where he feels his genius will find adequate scope.

He discovers in due time that the old home burg is not the only place where things move slowly. In fact, they usually move much more slowly for him in the location where he is merely an outsider trying to "horn in" among a group of strangers.

It takes him time to get acquainted and make a little corner for himself. Usually that corner is way out on the outside fringe of things.

Special circumstances sometimes justify people in going away from home to find work. Our best wishes go with such ones. But many who thus leave us will return after a time, concluding that the home neighborhood is the best place for them.

The average person should reflect that if he has done well as a student or worker in his home town he has a little reputation at his own. The influence and standing of one's family and friends, the knowledge of local people and their ways, all help one in the home location. When one goes away to work, all these advantages, which are a kind of business capital, are thrown away.

SCATTERING THE SHOT

Many a chamber of commerce has met disaster in trying to carry on a multitude of undigestible activities to which it had been improperly committed and which it was not equipped to handle. The fault has been due to the method of determining what the program shall be, desire to please as many members as possible and failure to give due consideration to the factors of time and cost involved in carrying out the program.

A program of activities is not a list of passing fancies and impractical suggestions, but is the result of careful deliberation and of decision based upon information concerning all angles of a question, such as relative importance, need, time, labor, cost, and possibility of accomplishment.

It is not something that can be arranged by questionnaire nor initiated and adopted at a board or membership meeting, but is a thing of deliberate action. Only projects carefully determined should form the major program of the chamber, and determination should be preceded by research, discussion, committee report and approval by the directors.

Most by-laws state in one way or another that the chamber of commerce is organized to advance the industrial, commercial and civic interests of the community. It should be a question of careful determination as to whether a proposal would, if carried out, advance any such interests.

Many proposals do not have in mind the interests of the whole community, but all too frequently reflect the desires of but a small group without regard to the interests of other groups and of the community at large.

The field of activity of the chamber is the whole community, all sections and all interests, and each community is a distinct entity, differing in some respects from all other communities. Some towns are essentially industrial, others commercial, others residential; most combine all of these factors to some extent. It is important that the chamber of commerce program should be formulated along the lines of the town's potentialities and best interests; otherwise we may destroy more values than we create.

Some fifty years ago business men began moving out of the larger cities and building homes in distant suburbs. Communities of delightful homes, set in spacious parks and wooded grounds sprang up. Property became increasingly valuable for residential purposes. Then came the encroachment of business. Stores were erected to serve the community.

With this came the demand for industrial pay rolls. Old residents moved away. No new ones came to take their places. Property values dropped. Cheap stores and houses, and a few smoke-stacks took the place of what was there before. The change was not in the interest of the community, but was brought about to serve the interests of a group who wanted pay rolls at any cost. It was not as though there were nowhere else for factories to go. There are plenty of places. It is better for the town to have one successful industry than two failures. The chamber owes a loyalty to industries already established, and the interests of such industries should be considered in relation to community interests.

THREE GRAHAM BROTHERS MARK FIRST ANNIVERSARY IN PASSENGER CAR FIELD

Graham-Paige dealers everywhere are celebrating the first anniversary of the three Graham brothers' entry into the passenger car field. The Grahams acquired ownership control of the Paige-Detroit Motor Car Company on June 10, 1927; on January 7, this year, they presented the first passenger car to bear their name, and the company became the Graham-Paige Motors Corporation.

Since January 7, the Grahams have written another chapter in motor car history, for under their guidance car sales have already become virtually three times as great as in 1927, and every record for production and shipping in the 18 years' history of the factory has been shattered by the new line. In the first five months of last year, production was 10,665 cars; this year, under the Graham management, the production passed the 30,000 mark on June 1, less than five months after the introduction of the new cars.

On the accepted theory that the general public is always interested in success, every Graham-Paige dealer in the United States and Canada is inviting motorists to visit his salesroom; and to make clear the reasons for the quick rise of the Graham-Paige in popular favor, the dealers are making anniversary demonstrations this week.

L. C. Carr, who represents the Graham-Paige here, is enthusiastic over the success of the new line of cars, and wants to show everybody the advantages of the four-speed transmission.

"Undoubtedly, all those who have actually experienced the difference in motoring that results from the internal-gear four-speed transmission, have readily accepted it as a great advance in automotive construction," said Mr. Carr. "On the other hand, those who have not had this experience cannot appreciate the value of the new-type transmission, because nothing else has ever given the advantage of having two high-gear drives.

"It is not generally realized that the gear shift of this new kind of transmission is exactly the same as the standard shift. Anyone who has driven a gear shift car will drive the Graham-Paige correctly from the beginning, even if he is not informed that it has four speeds. The first speed is ignored by the driver, and second, third and high are in the same positions as first, second and high of the ordinary car. Reverse also is in the regular position. The only difference in the operation is when one desires to use the very low geared first speed for starting out of deep sand or on really steep hills—and the occasions for its use are thus less frequent than those requiring the use of the reverse gear."

Australia's Area

The United States is larger than Australia, but if only land area is considered, Australia is slightly the larger. Australia's area is 2,974,581 square miles; the gross area of the United States is 3,026,879 square miles, but the land area is only 2,973,776 square miles.

SUGAR BEETS LEAD IN NET EARNINGS ON MICH. FARMS

CONTINUANCE OF VALUABLE INDUSTRY DEPENDS ON TARIFF

The Michigan beet sugar industry today is represented by 15 large factories, an investment of upwards of $21,000,000, and an annual factory payroll ranging from $8,000,000 to $4,000,000 in addition to the millions of dollars paid annually to Michigan farmers for the beets that they produce.

It offers employment, during the slicing season, to approximately 3,500 men on the plants themselves, and during the growing season, to approximately 20,000 field workers.

Its annual payments to Michigan railroads for transporting beets and sugar total $2,000,000. It offers a market for 2,500 cars of Michigan limestone, and for 6,000 carloads of coal, a good deal of which is the product of the Michigan coal fields. It is a large consumer of bags and scales, its annual requirements running around two and one-half million packages per annum. Other millions of dollars are annually expended by the industry for the supplies required in its operation.

Records for the last fiscal year give the output of the 25 Michigan plants as approximately 2,250,000 sacks of 100 pounds each. At the "going" rate, as of Feb. 22, that output would have represented gross income to the Michigan farmer of approximately $13,117,500.

These figures give a rather definite conception of the size of the industry as it exists in Michigan today.

When one considers that this agricultural industry has developed to this point in the short space of 30 years it is interesting to delve into the history of the institution.

About 1890 Michigan was entering upon a critical period of her industrial development. The lumbering industries which had brought her international fame in the '70's and '80's were about on their last legs. Most of the white pine, upon which the production of the beet sugar industry depended, was being cut off by the lumbering industry.

erty of the state had been based in large measure, had been logged off and the best of the hardwood was following in its wake. The cut-over lands, particularly those of the district north of the Bay City-Muskegon line, offered little as assets from the standpoint of agriculture. In fact, use of these lands still constituted a grave problem. The southeastern and southwestern parts of the state, particularly the former, were famed for the fertility of their lands. The central section of the state, lying between Flint and Grand Ledge, was getting into the vehicle industry on a rather large scale. The western part of the state saw promise of prosperity in the mining industry. The industry and the west coast of the state had early turned its attention to the cultivation of fruit.

Trying Out the New Crop
The lowlands of the Saginaw valley and of the Thumb upland were potentially useful in the growing of general crops, but they did not recommend themselves highly as the producing area for any one special crop, having a favorable aspect of marketability.

In 1891 the experimental station of the Department of Agriculture began to consider the crops of foreign countries having approximately the same climatic conditions as these fallow lands. Attention was first given to France, Germany and the countries of Central Europe, and learned that these had built up a flourishing domestic and export trade in beet sugar.

The findings of the experimental station were broadcasted to Michigan farmers and led to considerable discussion of the feasibility of producing beets and sugar on a wholesale basis in this state.

By 1907 sentiment so favored the establishment of this type of agricultural industry that the legislature was impelled to enact a law providing a bonus of one cent per pound on all sugar produced in the state.

As evidence of their good faith in the matter, leading proponents of the founding of the industry organized companies and established sugar factories during that year and the one that followed. The first sugar factory erected was one at Bay City, which became the nucleus for a string of factories now operated by the Michigan Sugar Company. Other factories were established at Kalamazoo, Benton Harbor, Rochester, East Tawas, Charlevoix and Saginaw.

In 1898 the state supreme court held the bonus act unconstitutional and these plants failed or were moved out of the state.

The organization of the industry had been well begun, however, and the following year factories were built at Bay City, Alma, Caro, and Holland, and began the operations that have kept their wheels whirling to the present day. Today there are seven companies operating in the state.

The largest single company is the Michigan Sugar Company, which operates at Bay City, Alma, Caro, Sebewaing, Crossville, Owosso, Lansing and Saginaw.

The Columbia Sugar Company operates plants at Bay City and Mt. Pleasant.

The Continental Sugar Company operates one plant at Blissfield.

The West Bay City Sugar Company has its single plant located in Bay City.

The Mt. Clemens Sugar Company operates a plant in its home city and the Menominee River Sugar Company operates one plant in Menominee.

The seventh company is the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company, with plants at Holland and St. Louis.

In addition to their Michigan holdings several companies have factories in other states. The Michigan Sugar Company and the Columbia Sugar Company each have a plant in Ohio, and the Continental Sugar Company has two plants in the Buckeye state. The Holland-St. Louis Company has one plant in Indiana, and the Menominee concern has two plants in Wisconsin.

In addition to these there is a plant at Marine City, owned largely by the Gilchrist interests of Cleveland, which sought to get part of its sugar beet supply from Canada, but which has been idle for two or three years.

Each year these companies send out agents among the farmers to secure acreage upon which the beet growers will raise sugar beets to meet factory requirements. Annually this acreage ranges in amount from 125,000 to 140,000, with the average around 134,000. Ordinarily some 5,000 farms help to produce Michigan's beet sugar crop.

This acreage requirement gives the farmer who cares to take advantage of the opportunity the chance to stabilize his business to some extent. It puts him in a position to know, quite definitely, the return he can expect to receive from the cultivation of a definite number of acres of his property. This is true because the agents of the sugar companies quote them a guaranteed price, as of the slicing season in the fall, of not less than $7 per ton, f. o. b. station, or of not less than $8 per ton, plant delivery.

In addition to this the companies pay a bonus of premium depending upon the going price of the sugar produced and the amount of sugar per ton that is contained in the beets. In a good year this basis of payment represents approximately $9,000,000 in gross earnings to the farmers of Michigan.

In addition to what he earns from the actual sale of his beets to the factories, the farmer is provided with an annual forage crop for cattle feeding that represents assets totaling approximately $10 per acre of fields planted to beets, this crop being represented in the tops of the beets which are not taken by the sugar companies, the latter using the roots only.

Still further invisible assets are provided the farmer in the increased yield returned from crops that have been planted on land fertilized previously by the growing of sugar beets. This revenue, it is said, amounts to approximately $2,000,000 to the Michigan agriculturalists.

The Farmer's Earnings
To return for the moment to the matter of the farmer's earnings from the actual sale of beets, records kept for a period of years show that the average per acre return realized from beet production amounted to $68; from potatoes, $43; from beans, $36; and from wheat, $21.

It is rather significant that the farmer who turns to sugar beet cultivation are generally profited from the most canny of agricultural operators, the dairymen. Due to developments of the last few years these operators have stabilized their home industry more than almost any other type of agriculturists, except the fruit grower farmer who contributes his quota to Michigan's canning industries.

BUCHANAN G. A. R. POST BIBLE HAS UNIQUE STORY

OLD VOLUME STOLEN ON SUNDAY ON SOUTHERN BATTLEFIELD

Reposing in undisturbed peace on a table in the office of John C. Dick, commander of the Buchanan G. A. R. post, is a book with a story. It is the official Bible of the post. And it was stolen from a southern home during a battle of the Civil War. And as an added touch of its claim on distinction, it was stolen on Sunday.

The tale which the book might tell if it could speak is implied in the entry in faded ink on a fly leaf, "Stolen at Clarendon, on the 26th of June, 1864, on Sunday."

Which may be better understood by a quotation from a book lying on the same desk, "Michigan in the War," by Adjutant General John Robertson:

"Returning to Little Rock on the 31st, it camped there until the 22d, of June, 1864, when the regiment removed its camp to the north side of the Arkansas River. On the 25th it proceeded by rail to Duvall's Bluff, and thence by steamer to Clarendon on the White River. It engaged the enemy under the rebel General Shelby on the 26th, pursuing him on this and the following days as far as the Cotton Plant Pike, from whence it returned to Duvall's Bluff on the 29th."

According to the tradition which has been handed down with the old book, it was brought back by one of the Buchanan members of Co. 6, 12th Michigan, which was recruited here. The identity of the soldier who brought back the book and eventually turned it over to the G. A. R. post here has been forgotten, other than that he said that he stole it from a Confederate home during battle.

But in the middle of the old volume there is a clue to another still more interesting story. At a page in the middle of the book, there are two pages stained brown than any of the others, as though the book might have lain open there for some time. And on one of the pages the following verses from Psalm 44 are marked by pencil:

"Thou hast cast us off and put us to shame and goest not forth with our armies."

Thou makest us to turn back from our enemies, and those which hate us spoil us for themselves. Thou hast given us like sheep appointed for meat and hast scattered us among the heathens. Yea, for thy sake we are killed all day long; we are counted as sheep for the slaughter."

Awake, why sleepest thou, Oh Lord? Arise, cast us not off forever."

That the age of the book is very likely in the neighborhood of 100 years may be indicated by entries in the blanks left for family records in the volume, which contain the following entries, in a sprawling hand:

James A. Turrentine was borned June the 19, 1827. Elizabeth Turrentine was borned February the 27 1838. Mary Estella Turrentine Turrentine was borned September the 12. Infant not named was borned January the 25, 1860. Sarah Luler Turrentine was borned February the 20, 1863. The 12th Michigan regiment, a member of whom stole the bible, was mustered into service at Niles on September 1864, with the following companies: A, Cassopolis; B, Benton Harbor; C, Buchanan; D, Albion; E, Niles; F, Niles; G, Lansing; H, Lawton; I, Berrien; K, Niles.

The officers of Company C of Buchanan were: Captain, John M. Albert; first lieutenant, William F. Molsberry; second lieutenant, Benjamin E. Binns.

The regiment left Niles, March 18, and was hurried to the Tennessee River, arriving in time to take part in the battles of Pittsburgh and Shiloh. It took part in the siege of Vicksburg in the summer of 1863, after which it was transferred to Arkansas, and served in the Department of the West during the remainder of the war.

LOUISE BLACK MARRIED YESTERDAY TO JAMES N. POE

The following item was taken from The Chattanooga Sunday Times, Chattanooga, Tenn., Sunday, May 27.

The wedding of Miss Louise Black and James N. Poe was solemnized yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the apartment of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roland S. Black, in the Robinson. Dr. Thomas S. McCallie, pastor of the Central Presbyterian church, officiated.

Owing to the serious illness of the bride's mother, no formal announcement of the engagement of the couple had been made and all details of the wedding were extremely simple. Only a few close friends of the couple were present.

Pink roses were used exclusively in decorating the living rooms. The bride wore a becoming corsage of flowered chiffon, designed with long waistline and circular skirt. She wore a shoulder corsage of pink roses, showered with lilies of the valley.

Following the ceremony the couple left for a short motor trip, and upon return to Chattanooga will occupy a house in Sylvan Hills, on the Gillespie road.

For traveling the bride wore a costume of two-toned rose beige georgette with accessories of beige. Her wrap was of chiffon cloth.

Mrs. Allie F. White, of Downers Grove, Ill., was among the guests attending the wedding.

Mrs. Poe came from Chicago to Chattanooga to reside eight years ago and since then has won many friends. Mrs. Poe is a popular and active member of the Chattanooga Business and Professional Women's Club and served as president of the club the past two years. She is also director of Chattanooga district of the Tennessee State Federation of Business Women's Clubs.

Mr. Poe is an antique dealer.

Indust. Magazine Gives Statistics State Payrolls

The total daily industrial payrolls of the state amount to a very considerable sum. The largest daily payroll for 1927 was that of the city of Detroit, amounting to $1,935,993.

To this payroll should be added that of the city of Highland Park, amounting to $168,279, and the city of Hamtramck, amounting to $176,237, or $2,280,499, as the average daily payroll for the district included within the external corporate limits of Detroit.

The second greatest payroll was that of Flint, which amounted to $267,972. Following that comes the payroll of Grand Rapids, the average of which last year was $211,829.

The average daily payrolls for the remainder of the leading cities are as follows:

- Holland, $177,769; Lansing, $132,024; Pontiac, $88,088; Saginaw, $74,108; Kalamazoo, $73,694; Muskegon, $73,167; Battle Creek, $67,608; Bay City, $61,093; Jackson, $60,625; Iron Mountain, $32,005; Wyandotte, $27,416; Port Huron, $22,607; Ann Arbor, $20,213; Owosso, $14,545; Benton Harbor, $14,189; St. Joseph, $10,931; Menominee, $10,776; Grand Haven, $10,545; Ionia, $9,772; Marquette, $9,622; Cadillac, $8,687; Traverse City, $7,958; Calumet, $7,656; Ironwood, $7,130; Niles, $6,652; Muskegon Heights, $6,490; Ludington, $6,288; Escanaba, $5,949; Mt. Clemens, $5,401; Manistee, $4,592; Ishpeming, $4,003; Hancock, $1,576.

In the State, outside of the leading 43 cities, the total payroll for 1927 was $1,400,009.

Strangely, Bay City, while not the largest manufacturing center in the state, produced the highest average wage, $6.39 per day, in 1927. Iron Mountain was second highest, the average daily wage being $6.09, which was also tied by Flint. Both of these cities claimed second honors for high

The Buchanan hatchery is trying an experiment this year in hatching a setting of 30 ring-necked pheasant eggs for E. E. Clark. The eggs are of the laying of a flock of pheasants which are kept in confinement at the Clark home east of Buchanan. The original birds were secured last year from Illinois. The eggs have a thirty-day incubation period and are due to hatch on July 2. In case the incubation should prove successful, the growing of the pheasants will be attempted on a large scale next year.

PUPILS OF MRS.
RICE PRESENT
MUSIC PROGRAM

RECITAL OF PIANO AND VIOLIN NUMBERS IS APPRECIATED

The annual two-piano recital by fifty of Mrs. Ida M. Rice's students last Friday evening at the high school auditorium proved to be a most delightful two hours of full, round and sonorous chords and rich harmonies such as many hands can make. Violin pupils of Harry Frew presented four of the twenty-eight numbers that were listed on the program.

Four girls, Marie Hess, Norma Shoop, Dorothy Holmes and Mabel Meyers, opened the evening with the Military March by Schubert, played completely in the mood and consistent beat of the authentic military rhythm. It was splendidly interpreted. This was followed nicely by Ruth Strunk, Cherryblossom Heim, Marie Reese and Frances De Giacomo, with "The Awakening of the Birds," by Lang. Clarence Bradley presented "Dream Waltz," by Vogt, on the violin, done with smoothness and intelligence, and only lacking the power of feeling and expression that comes with maturity. All of Mr. Frew's pupils even the youngest, handled their bows with splendid grace and flowing movement of wrist, arm and shoulders. Two very small boys, Leslie Brewster and Herschel Gross, played, "The Little Indian Chief" by Struckland, and proved that they had not lost their boy's love of adventure while acquiring musical culture. Their performance was very indiansque. A little girl, still smaller, Mary Rudoni, played "The Violet," by Smith, Mrs. Rice at the other piano, in a manner that made the fathers and mothers sit up in wonder to see so small a pink doll doing so perfectly. She was followed by two almost as small, Carolyn Webb and Minn Eva Stern, who presented "Maytime" by Browne.

Other violin numbers were by Ralph Kool, Philip Wisner and Freda Neff. The closing number of the program was to have been by Harry Cooper and Mr. Frew, but Harry Cooper thought it was to be Monday and was not there, so the audience was disappointed. Mrs. Rice helped several of her smaller pupils by taking the grand piano while they were at the piano. These were Georgia Upson with Wallace's "Lullaby"; Vivian Sanford in "Don Juan Minuet," by Mozart; Ruth Mead, "Minuet" from the Symphony in E, by Mozart; Marjorie Stearns, "Hallowe'en Party," by Anthony; Blanche Depyl, "Air Louis," by Rhyss; Ruth Renbarger, "Evening" by Low; Donald Roti Roti, "Early Spring Waltz," by Crowne; Ted Lyons, "Dancing Polka," by Vincent DeNardo; "The Lion," by Enzelman.

Even the tiniest of the tots had lovely, but straight forearms with properly arched fingers, with strength and intelligence; and they all got full singing tones. Buchanan has a very promising generation of musicians coming on. Beethoven's "Minuet in G" was played in a most stately manner and a nicety of touch and technique in the intricate parts intended for the ancient clavichord; the theme was well marked and kept against a colorfully varied background by the quartet. Catherine Roti Roti, Phyllis DeNardo, Virginia Blake, and Dorothy Brown. The first section was closed by another quartet, Elsie Graham, Minnebell Reese, Zeldia Frank and Gwendolyn Lyons, who played "Marche Militaire," by Koelling. The bass obligato was finely done and the theme was woven in carefully, while maintaining the spirit and mood.

What most people call indigestion is usually excess acid in the stomach. The food has soured. The instant remedy is an alkali which neutralizes acids. But don't use crude helps. Use what your doctor would advise.

The best help is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. For the 50 years since its invention it has remained standard with physicians. You will find nothing else so quick in its effect, so harmless, so efficient. One tasteless spoonful in water neutralizes many times its volume in acid. The results are immediate.

4TH PROGRAM

FINEST FIREWORKS EVER SEEN HERE PLANNED BY NEIGHBORHOOD CITY

Of chief interest among the July 4th celebrations which are being planned among neighboring cities is that which is now in the course of development by the American Legion at the neighboring city of Niles.

This is the first celebration of magnitude that has been planned at Niles for several years, and according to plans as at present outlined, will be the most considerable held in this section. The Legion management is specializing on fireworks, having arranged for both daylight and evening displays of the most recent and improved types of pyrotechnics.

The Kysor brothers, fliers at the Niles airways, will co-operate giving the use of their planes for discharging the fireworks. A balloon ascension has also been planned and a number of aerial acrobatic acts by a woman performer are reported to furnish some thrills of the first order.

B. F. EGGERT GIVES TALK BEFORE EIGHTH GRADE GRADUATES

Philip Hanlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Hanlin, was awarded the American Legion medal this year as the boy in the eighth grade class of the local schools who had been outstanding in point of honor, service, scholarship, courage, and leadership.

The selection of the recipient of the honor was made by a committee of the faculty, which included two former service men, and was presented by Ray Miller, instructor of manual training at the high school, at the eighth grade exercises which were held Thursday afternoon.

A second award was that of the silver loving cup purchased by the civics class, to be awarded by a vote of that class to the member who should rank highest in the qualities of good citizenship, including honesty, personality, good sportsmanship, scholarship, and practical ability. The class voted the cup to John Strayer, Jr., son of Dr. and Mrs. John C. Strayer. This cup is to be awarded each year to the boy or girl of the class who appears outstanding in these qualities.

It was presented this year by Mrs. Leah Weaver, the instructor of the class. The eighth grade exercises were held in the junior high assembly, with Mrs. Pennell, principal, as chairman. B. F. Eggert, county school commissioner, gave the address. Chas. King of the high school faculty sang Ramona, accompanied by Miss Ruth Riley.

PRINCESS THEATRE

Never has a Gloria Swanson picture aroused such tremendous advance interest as her latest production, "Sadie Thompson," which has its showing tonight and Friday. It is reported that the picture derives its title from Miss Swanson's impersonation of "Sadie Thompson," the leading character in W. Somerset Maugham's sensational novel, "Rain," which by the way is one of the most widely discussed stories of recent years.

Raoul Walsh, who directed Douglas Fairbank's "Chief of Bards" and "What Price Glory," directed "Sadie Thompson" which is assurance of better than ordinary quality. "In Old Kentucky," a thrilling and romantic story of love and race horses, has its showing Saturday afternoon and night. Much of the picture was filmed at the great race tracks, Latonia and Churchill Downs, while other scenes were made at the famous Blue Farms near Lexington, Ky. Many of the most famous race horses of the present day, with their owners, trainers and jockeys including "Whiskery," winner of the Kentucky Derby are pictured.

Next week promises to be a full week of exceptional pictures, starting Sunday with "Florence" and "Clive Brook" in "You Never Know Women." This production contains unusually excellent acting and direction and compares very favorably with "Variety," the imported production that proved such a sensation about a year ago.

Monday's attraction is "The Campus Flirt," the picture that started Bebe Daniels on her sensational rise to fame. Supporting Miss Daniels are such stars as James Hall and Charlie Paddock. Paddock's name is synonymous with "The World's Fastest Human," being a holder of 37 world records and a member of two American Olympic teams. He plays a very prominent role as the star's gymnasium instructor.

The film that started Clara Bow to stardom has its showing Tuesday and Wednesday in "It." "It" was written by Elinor Glyn expressly for Clara Bow whom she considers has more "It" than any other star in the world. After learning the true definition of her theory as explained by Elinor Glyn almost any audience will agree that Clara has "It" to the Nth degree.

In addition to Miss Bow's presentation of the strange power of "It" there will be installment two in the second series of "The Collegians." It is entitled "The Winning Five" and is a thrilling and exciting tale of college life with a basketball game as the highlight.

BLUES TAKE 4TH STRAIGHT HERE SUNDAY

Locals Score All Runs In Procession in Third Inning

FEW ERRORS ARE MADE.

Mishawaka To Furnish Opposition Here Next Sunday.

The Buchanan Blues beat the Nappanee Delts Sunday afternoon with a smashing attack in the third inning, when they scored six times on five hits, a walk to first and a batter hit by pitched ball. That was Hepler's only bad inning, but it was enough for the Buccaneers to win, 6 to 2. He held the Blues helpless the rest of the afternoon, and struck out eight of them. Simpson doing equally as well against the Delts.

The Buchanan battery's canny showing accounted for the holding of the Nappanee aggregation in potent. The tightest pinch into which they worked themselves came in the first half of the eighth stanza when the first man up, Rosbrough, got a stinging single, Mysong struck out, then Harry t down and walked both Richmond and Tobias, filling the bases. The corner, Simpson worked only and carefully, putting them exactly where they ought to be, struck out Mellinger, and Hepler bounce one down to smilton to Nash for the final out of the inning, leaving the runners on bases. Whether the Naps left nine on, while the Blues had seven timely deaths.

Brown, the old Blues left-fielder, earned to the fold for the first this year, taking Johnny Gahler's place, and getting a file, reaching first on an error Richmond, knocking a hot one Hepler who juggled it but got Mellinger for the put-out, and sing out once. His long run catch of Rosbrough's fly in first inning put him in rapport with the veteran fans. Hepler was hit for only 9 ties, while Simpson was touched for 13. He allowed but one walk to first, but had the misfortune to hit Hamilton in the third. He had a world of speed and most of the time was imper- turbably accurate.

The day was notable for few assists, Buchanan players making 11 put-outs without help, and the Delts making 10, mostly by the fly route. Buchanan had only 9 assists, and Nappanee 6.

One of the prettiest assists came when Kronk, having made the only double of the day in the fourth paragraph, attempted to come home on Chapman's single, a hot one to center field. King relayed it to Bailey who pegged perfectly to Ziegler, who held the ball on the ground for Kronk to slide into first for a sure killing. Ziegler's work behind the rubber was as good as Simpson's on the mound. Kronk made a sensational catch of Zigg's long fly in the second that brought the crowd to its feet with generous applause.

Weather and field, perfect condition. Next Sunday the Blues will meet the much touted Pop Frank's Indestructos from Mishawaka at Athletic Park diamond. These cocky boys come from two victories over the famous Argus Colored Giants, and expect to mop up on the Buccaneers. However the Blues have now won four in a row. Simpson is getting better with every game, having lost only his second start, and the wrecking crew of six left-handers is working like a paid fire department. Manager Fred Mend promises to be present to see the battle.

BUCHANAN NINE TRIMS HINCHMAN METHODIST TEAM

HIGH SCHOOL STARS ADD STRENGTH TO EVAN. AGGREGATION

Buchanan's Sunday school league baseball team opened here last Saturday with an unexpected, but earned, victory over the strongest team in the circuit, the Hinchman Methodists, winning 7 to 6 in nine full innings of hotly contested and at times scintillating play.

Hinchman boasts two former Blues stars, Merle Stemm, the first sacker for three years, and Harold Stemm, now appearing occasionally at third base. Another Stemm brother, "Deacon," and C. Stover, and the two Housworth boys give added flavor of strength to this church aggregation.

The home team, fostered by the Evangelical church, but including players from other Sunday schools, is captained by George Wynn, and includes Pierce, Boyce, R. Morse, and Knight of the high school nine that made a commanding record this spring. Merle Stemm pronounced it the best coached boys team he had ever seen.

Buchanan started right off to win the game in the first, being assisted by errors by M. Stemm and Marion Housworth, and Pierce's double. Wynn was caught at the plate, as was Pierce also, trying to steal home.

They clinched the game in the third, when Stover hit Wynn, Imhoff singled and Pierce tripled, bringing the first two home, and coming in when Knight singled. But they had to win it again after allowing Stemm and Neidlinger to score in the eighth and Stover and Feather to come home in the ninth.

With the score tied in the last half of the ninth, Stemm walked Imhoff after L. Morse had gone out, D. Stemm to Stover, and Wynn had struck out, bringing Pierce to bat. He lammed out a triple and brought Imhoff in for the winning score.

The Hinchman men were accompanied by the Rev. Richard D. Weare, pastor of their church and of the Berrien Springs Methodist church, and the Rev. W. H. Camfield was rooting for the Buchananites.

Unusual battery efficiency and all-round team play won for the youngsters. Morse and Knight work together perfectly, and when the going became rough, they methodically worked the batters. Morse's control never failing against the more experienced opposition.

Pierce was the hero of the day getting two doubles, two triples and a base on balls in five times to bat. The only error made by the team was Pinky's muffing of one that came too hard to be handled. Their weakest spot was in taking chances on the paths when there was no need for it. Seven men were caught trying to steal.

Next Saturday Buchanan plays the Church of the Brethren team at Berrien Springs, and they will play the full summer schedule of twelve games altogether. Teams in the League at present are: Berrien Springs, Hinchman, Three Oaks, Royalton, Eau Claire and Buchanan. N. Neidlinger is the manager of the league.

The Sunday school league is composed of simon pure Sunday school members. Teams are invited to join the group at once. Games omitted thus far by late-comers may be played on holidays or with double-headers. Buchanan will have one game to play off in order to finish with the others. The champions of the league will be recognized at the end of the season.

WOMEN HOLD ACHIEVEMENT DAY TUESDAY

TWO HUNDRED FARM WOMEN GATHER AT NILES FOR DAY

NILES, Mich., June 13.—Mrs. J. A. Richards, of East Claire, was selected president of the Association of Home Economics Clubs of Berrien county at the annual achievement day program which was held in Fellowship hall of the Presbyterian church at Niles, on Tuesday.

It was further voted that clothing should be continued for the third and last year as a county project for the 1928.

Two women were selected to represent each epoch, including the revolutionary, civil war, the nineties, 15 years ago, and the modern flapper.

More than 300 women from all parts of the county were seated at the noon banquet which was served by the women of the Presbyterian church.

The program was in charge of the following committee of arrangements: County Agent, E. J. Lurkins; Mrs. J. A. Richards, Mrs. Miles Murphy, Mrs. Marie Rickart, Mrs. Nettie Williams, Mrs. Sylvia Blanchard.

Mrs. J. A. Richards, the county president, acted as chairman of the meeting. Miss Louise Campbell of the state extension department of Lansing made two talks. Community singing was led by Mrs. Beulah Shafer.

Among the local women who attended were the following: Portage Prairie—Mesdames W. B. Haslett, Clarence Miller, Fred Ream, Oliver York, Louis Rough, Fred Hall, Paul Dewitt, J. C. Long, Ed Griffith, Walker, Smith and Franklin; Wagner Grange—Mesdames Dean Clark and J. G. Boyle.

PROF. COX ADVISES TO MAKE CERTAIN OF SEED ORIGIN

EXPECTS HEAVY ALFALFA YIELD; REPAIR WINTER DAMAGE HARDY TYPE

In spite of severe winter conditions for alfalfa fields, particularly in the southern third of the lower peninsula, Michigan should cut more alfalfa hay in 1928 than ever before Prof. J. F. Cox told the alfalfa seed visitors at the college in opening the program.

Mr. Cox said that winter damage to alfalfa was worst where the less hardy varieties had been planted.

"The remedy," said Prof. Cox, in the words of 'Alfalfa Bill' Nelson of Paw Paw, with 23 years' experience, is to get back to our normal good acreage with summer seedling of hardy varieties. Within the last few years our increasing knowledge of how to grow alfalfa and the sources of hardy, dependable seed has made alfalfa a dependable crop."

Prof. Cox also took occasion to compliment the foresight of the Michigan State Farm Bureau, which in the past year depression period of 1920 and 1921 caught the College's vision of alfalfa as a dependable source of low priced protein for feeders and dedicated itself as a source of northern grown, Michigan adapted seeds of the varieties proved by the College test plots to be best for Michigan, which have turned out to be Michigan and northwestern grown Hardigan and Grimm, also Michigan and Utah and northwestern grown common alfalfas.

Prof. Cox warned his audience that a dependable source of alfalfa seed is still all important to the Michigan grower. The Michigan seed origin law, enacted with the aid of the Farm Bureau, assures the grower that seeds handled by dealers operating under the Michigan law will have its origin correctly stated.

The national seed staining law provides that 10 per cent of all foreign alfalfa and clover seeds not adapted to the northern United States shall be stained red; that one per cent of all other foreign alfalfa and clover (which is of doubtful value) is stained green, except seed grown in Canada, which is thoroughly adapted and one per cent of that is stained violet.

There is no law on domestic seed origin that applies to seeds in interstate commerce so seeds bought outside the state may or may not be northern origin. Buy seed you know is safe and from a reliable dealer, no matter what it costs, Mr. Cox advised.

Portage Grange to Picnic June 23 At Barron Lake

Arrangements for the picnic to be held at Barron Lake, June 23 were completed at the meeting of the Portage Prairie Grange held Wednesday night. All the grange members and their families and guests will spend the day at the lake on that occasion, taking their dinners for a picnic outing.

Best Berry Crop Of Years Slated Growers Report

Prospects for the best berry crop in years here for a bright spot in an otherwise rather gloomy fruit outlook, according to local growers. The settings on raspberries, blackberries, gooseberries, currants, dewberries are heavier than in many seasons.

Strawberry picking started in full swing, with prospects that the rains of last week had increased the crop from 50 per cent to 75 per cent of normal yield.

Sugar Beets Grown On 57 Berrien Co. Farms During 1924

- In Cheboygan county, 1; Charlevoix, 55; Antrim, 38; Manistee, 12; Missaukee, 113; Isosco, 18; Osceola, 67; Clare, 46; Gladwin, 142; Arenac, 330; Mecosta, 27; Isabella, 1081; Midland, 332; Bay, 1576; Huron, 974; Montcalm, 62; Gratiot, 1241; Saginaw, 1888; Tuscola, 1222; Sanilac, 666; Otsewa, 84; Kent, 64; Ionia, 46; Clinton, 272; Shiawassee, 652; Genesee, 290; Lapeer, 138; St. Clair, 265; Allegan, 8; Barry, 20; Eaton, 204; Ingham, 140; Livingston, 21; Montcalm, 118; Washtenaw, 16; Wayne, 3; Berrien, 57; Hillsdale, 3; Lenawee, 838; Monroe, 231.

In the upper peninsula sugar was grown on 168 farms in Menominee and 60 in Delta.

Hay Shortage to Continue Here, Farmers Report

A hay shortage which has been inconveniencing many local farmers is being relieved by the commencement of the harvest, which started the first of the week in this district with prospects of less than average crop.

While there was reported to be an abundance of hay here last fall, the price has mounted since that time from $7 per ton to as much as $25 to $30 per ton, and little to buy here even at those figures.

Hay will continue to bring a good figure here for the remainder of the present year at least, according to those in touch with the situation, as the crop is generally short over the middle west.

Much of the alfalfa acreage in this locality was killed by ground heaving during the past winter, and the crop in sight will scarcely suffice local needs.

Stolen Property Is Recovered by Farm Bureau

Berrien County Farm Bureau paid reward of $25.00 for the information which led to the arrest and conviction of the thief who stole farm tools from A. H. Collins, Pipestone Township farmer.

Mr. Collins missed some of his farming implements and called a nearby deputy sheriff, Alfred Schillings, and together they located some of the tools on a neighboring farm. Securing a search warrant, they found the tools and arrested the thief who was later convicted and served time for the offense.

This is one of the special services that Farm Bureau members receive from their organization, the reward being offered in order that the farms of Farm Bureau members might be better protected.

In as much as Mr. Collins is a Farm Bureau member, the two were entitled to the reward and received it this week.
