SIXTY-FIRST YEAR

BUCHANAN, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, SEPT. 6, 1928.

NUMBER 35.

Now Here's the Proposition

THE MISER

By Haws

I'm sorry for the man I meet Who ambles right tipped down the street.
No sound comes from his close locked phiz
To tell how good the morning is.
From him no syllable is heard Lest he be known to waste a word.
Of common friendship so bereft
He never throws to right or left The largeness of a glad hello.
The fullness of his heart to show.

Too dumb to know, for all his wiles.
The large returns that come from smiles.
The smiles that bear more interest
Than any sum he may invest;
Too lost in his own self to see The profits of civility
Or know the endless dividends From well said words that bring him friends
Or grasp the truth that wise men say.
"Love lives by what it gives away."

ALL BETS OFF—NO ELECTION Rumors that an election was held in Buchanan Tuesday have been persistently circulated since that date, and in the discharge of its duty to the public the Record sent out its force of expert sleuths and highly trained reporters to ferret out the truth. After two days of investigation we are able to report that the rumor was incorrect, or at least exaggerated.

However, to dispel any slight doubt, we are watching to see whether any of the local political workers put in their bills, which ought to clear up the matter.

DISCOVERY WAS FAKE; KENNEDY THERE FIRST
The loud rumormongers last week by President Glover and Chief of Police Mitchell to the effect that they had discovered the lost city parking ground and were the first white men to penetrate to that remote section has been found to be all to the west.

After Chief Mitchell had planted the American flag and claimed all territory for Calvin Coolidge, and Glover celebrated by placing a big sign on Main Street inviting all and sundry to come in and have a look, comes one Kent Kennedy and claims he has been parking there all summer.

Kennedy states that he has not only parked his car, but that he has never incurred a single puncture from rusty nails and dead soldiers rumored to abound there.

Chicago Resident Fined For Fishing Without License

Benjamin Rangeloff of Chicago was fined $10 and costs in the court of Justice Al Charles Sunday, after pleading guilty to the charge of having fished at Clear Lake without a license. The arrest was made by Deputy Game Warden Cleva Horner of Gallien.

A telephone girl is discovered who is said not to have given a wrong number in 25 years of service. Perhaps the line was always busy.

SOMEHOW WE HAVEN'T VERY MUCH RESPECT FOR THIS KIND OF BUM

The grand old fraternity of Weary Walkers ain't just all it used to be, according to evidence which came to light in Buchanan during the past week.

Weary Willie used to come to the back door with a bundle on a stick over his shoulder and confide with you on the serious employment situation and the consequent shortage in the quartermaster's department.
And as he left he wrote on your front gate post for the guidance of future hobo.

But sell different now!
Last week while Wilson Mc-Leod was gone, an unshaven and poorly shod specimen knocked at his back door and was met there by his stenographer, Miss Virginia Zack-man.

"Please, ma'am," faltered Willie, "Will ye be so kind as to give a poor guy who wants a bath a bar of soap?"

Facially scanning the man as to his probable needs, Miss Zackman presented him with a bar of toilet soap.

RECORD AD FOR LOST KITTEN BRINGS BACK MUFFET AND 3 OTHERS

Mrs. Nan Kent, 307 Main St., is heralding the effectiveness of Berrien County Record classified ads this week.

On band concert night week before last Mrs. Kent's pet kitten, Muffet, strayed from home. After several days of inquiry, Mrs. Kent placed an advertisement in the Record.
The night after the paper came out, she had not only learned of Muffet's whereabouts, but she had two other stray cats which answered to Muffet's description.

The next morning Muffet, bedraggled and gaunt by famine was on his own back porch again, leaping warm milk, and doubtless swearing,
"Never again, never no more!"

Hayward Noe, 16, Dies At Clark Hospital Tues.

his sister, Mrs. Adeline Anderson, 117 W. Chicago street, and also to attend the public school of Buchanan, passed away in Clark hospital, Tuesday morning at 3:30 o'clock, September 4, 1928 following a week's illness of complication of diseases.

He was born in Jonesville, Va., and came to Buchanan four weeks ago.

He is survived by his father, James Noe of Jonesville; three brothers, Thomas and Turner Noe of Buchanan, and Earnest Noe of Jonesville, and one sister, Mrs.
Adeline Anderson of Buchanan.

The body was removed to the Hamilton Funeral Parlors and will

9:55 a. m. train from South Bend Saturday morning, Sept. 8th, for burial.

GALIEN H. S. HAS LARGE ENROLLMENT

Total Attendance Last Year Is Exceeded In The First 2 Days

30 OUT FOR FOOTBALL

Entire Grid Eleven Of Last Season Is Back Intact

The Gallien high school opened Tuesday under the direction of Supt. C. E. Dorr with a total of 55 students enrolled as compared with 44 for the entire session last year.

The high school enrollment by classes is: freshmen, 20; sophomores, 10; juniors, 16; seniors, 9.
This is believed to be the largest attendance ever reported at the opening of the Gallien high school.

Combined attendance in the grades of the town and four rural schools of the Gallien district is in the neighborhood of 200. The entire high school and grade faculty remains unchanged with the exception of the election of Miss Muriel Andrews, who replaced O.
E. Barber in the grades.

Football prospects are unusually bright this year, with last year's team back complete, and a total of 30 candidates out for the first night under the direction of Coach Harold Laycock.

The Gallien high school football schedule is:
Sept. 21, Watervliet, there.
Sept. 28, Niles (second team),
there.

October 5, Buchanan, there.
October 12, St. Joseph (second team) here.
October 19, Benton Harbor (second team), here.
October 26, Buchanan, here.
November 2, St. Joseph, there.
November 9, Coloma, there.

GALIEN
Eugene Ingles returned to Lansing Tuesday after spending several days with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Ingles.
Miss Irene Babcock, who graduated from the New Troy high school last June, left Monday to take a course in the South Bend Business College.

Merchants Complain That Convenience of Customers Is Not Considered

ASK FOR CONSIDERATION State Parallel Parking Rules Stricter Than In The Larger Towns

The necessity of a better coordination between village traffic authorities who have in mind the enforcement of traffic regulations placed on the village records in the interests of safety, and the business men of the town who have in mind the convenience of their customers, is becoming increasingly apparent, as complaints swell to the effect that a rigid enforcement of the rules as they are now interpreted is a business liability to the town.

The storm center at present is the enforcement of parking laws, with special reference to double parking. Most misunderstanding rises over the question of what shall constitute double parking.
Complaint is made by merchants that town authorities are preventing people trading on Front and Main from stopping their cars long enough to run into a store for goods, while the driver remains at the wheel with the motor running. The objection is made that this does not constitute parking, inasmuch as a driver is left in control, ready to move the car whenever traffic is blocked.

Objection is made by merchants on Main street that this interpretation of the double parking law is being made there, in spite of the fact that an agreement was made with city authorities this summer that more lenience would be observed there on account of the parallel parking rule which reduces the number of cars which may be parked. Special objection has been made in the case of people who stop their cars for a moment to buy papers at the newsstand, or to run into the Wilson Dairy for a bottle of milk.

The contention is made by a number of merchants that such enforcement is more rigid than obtains in much larger nearby towns, such as Niles, and that it is causing dissatisfaction among those who drive there, which will eventually drive trade to towns where more privileges are allowed.
Business men who have been approached on the matter of keeping their autos during the day in the municipal parking ground back of the L. W. Johnson store, state that they are willing to if the place is properly cleaned, but that at the present time the ground there is strewn with broken glass, sharp fragments of steel and bent nails which render it out of the question. A sign was placed at the entrance last week but on Tuesday the only business car parked there was that of Kent Kennedy, who has been using the place for several weeks.

WILMA WILCOX IS INJURED IN AUTO COLLISION

DWIGHT MITCHELL AND RAY SLANKER CRASH AT TERRE COUPE AND FRONT

Miss Wilma Wilcox, who lives eight miles west of Buchanan near Lamb's Lake near Gallien, was seriously injured Thursday evening when the sedan in which she was riding with Dwight Mitchell collided with a roadster driven by Raymond Slanker at the junction of Front Street and Terre Coupe road, throwing her through the windshield.

The following account was related to the Record by witnesses.
Mitchell was driving on the left side of the road, making the turn to Terre Coupe, opposite the filling station. Slanker was entering town on Terre Coupe and seeing Mitchell on the extreme left side of the road, thought him turning into the filling station and swung left to the center, just as Mitchell made the same turn, and they collided.

Miss Wilcox was rushed to Dr.
Wallace's office, where it was found that she had two deep cuts penetrating the flesh to the skull on the left side of her head, and a dangerous gash beside the pupil of the left eye.

Thirty-five stitches were taken on the cuts on her scalp and the eye was treated. It was not possible to tell at the time whether or not the vision would be affected.

Three Buchanan Boys Who Lost Nerve On Ground Seek Security in the Air Lanes

Among those who are flying highest in the aviation profession these days are three Buchanan boys—Dick Pears, Jack Knight, and Edwin Peck.

The incentive which these boys had to enter the industry was that the traffic gets so dangerous on the ground that they lost their nerve and simply had to get up in the air where it is safe.

Anyway that is the impression you get from Dick Pears, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Pears, and crack pilot of the Fairchild's Flying Corps, who was selected as one of the thirty best in the nation to compete in the Ford Reliability Tour.

The boy that takes his life in his hand, according to Pears, is not the aviator, but the man who drives to South Bend or Chicago, or who rides with anyone else for that matter.

Aviation is the safest means of transportation now known according to Pears, who admits that he is nervous when riding in a motor bus.

"Those things are dangerous, —there ought to be a law against letting them go over 30 miles an hour," Pears said. "And see how many wrecks they cause by in the contest.

Pears was a visitor at his home here over Labor Day, driving a plane from Minneola to Detroit for delivery, Saturday, and coming to Buchanan by train.

A Pioneer of the Air Mail Among the picked fliers who are entrusted with carrying the U. S. air mail is Jack Knight, son of Mrs. M. M. Knight and another native of Buchanan.

Knight also got his start in the aviation department of the United States army during the World War. So proficient did Knight become that he was detailed to serve as instructor in bombing at Elling-ton training field, Texas, during the duration of the conflict.

After the war was over, he was one of the first to enter the ranks of the air mail pilots when the service was started, as he is now one of the last three of the pioneer fliers to remain on the mail routes.

His first route was from Cleveland to Bellefont, Pa. Later he carried the mail from Cleveland to Chicago, from Cheyenne to Reno, and lastly from Omaha to Cheyenne, where he has been employed since 1923.

Early in his period of employment between Cheyenne and Omaha, he was one of the men selected to carry the mails during the coast to coast speed air mail speed tests. When he had made the Cheyenne to Omaha leg, he discounted from his plane and was told that his relief had not reported.

No suggestion was made by the officials in charge that he go on to Chicago, but he understood that the success of the test depended on the immediate start of the plane.

It was then dark and Knight had never flown over the Omaha-Chicago route, even in daylight.
He went into the Omaha office, studied the route map for a few minutes, then tore it from the wall and ordered the plane ready.
On his arrival at Chicago, he received an ovation. When his father, the late Dr. M. M. Knight, of Buchanan, passed away in 1923, he flew from Cheyenne to Buchanan to reach his bedside.

CAR WRECKS MINT WAGON ON M-60 TUES.

Westbound Tourist Plows Half Way Through Hay Rack

BOTH DRIVERS HURT Wagon Had No Light On Rear, As Required By State Law

Albert Doehr, son of Edward Doehr of Gallien, was painfully but not seriously hurt Tuesday evening when a westward bound tourist smashed into the rear of the load of peppermint which he was driving on M-60 a mile and a half west of that place.

Doehr was driving west shortly after dusk with no light on the rear of his wagon, when the tourist, whose identity is not known at Gallien, struck the wagon in the rear, plowing half way through the hay rack and mint, and driving the rear wagon trucks up against the front trucks. Doehr was thrown from the load to the pavement, sustaining a sprained ankle and severe cuts and bruises.
The team ran away and were not recovered until the following evening.

The front of the car was mashed in, the radiator being crushed back over the motor, and the hood driven through the windshield which was crushed down over the steering wheel, severely cutting the driver's hands. A passing car picked up the unknown driver and rushed him to a doctor in Three Cakes. It is rumored that his injuries are principally confined to cuts on hands and arms.

Claude Bryant In Car Wreck Near Buchanan

Claude Bryant of Gallien was involved in an auto collision about 10:30 this morning, when a car driven by D. E. Fuller of Aurora, Ill., crashed into the O. I. L. corner on M-60, a mile southwest of Buchanan.

Bryant was motoring east to Niles with his family. Fuller was driving west and turned the corner at such speed that he was obliged to make a wide swing to the left side of the road, when he confronted Bryant just beyond the turn. Fuller swung clear to the outside of Bryant but his car struck the latter's on the right, bending the rear fender and blowing out the right rear tire.

Fuller's car sustained a badly damaged left fender and a broken clutch. He was hauled to Gallien by a garage man.

CHIEF MITCHELL STARTS WAR ON 1 EYED FLIVVER

30 AUTO DRIVERS STOPPED
SATURDAY; WILL BEGIN LEAVING FINES

The One Eyed Flivver must go in Buchanan!

That is the law and the gospel of the administration as handed down by the village council to Chief of Police Ed Mitchell for reinforcement, and expounded by him to several dozen motorists during the past week, thirty of them Saturday evening.

To date Chief Mitchell has followed the plan of running the drivers of one eyed cars up to the curb, making them dismount, and hauling them before Justice of the Peace, Rex Lamb, leaving him to explain the legal necessity of having two lights in good working condition, and the penalties attached for failure to meet the requirements.

Beginning tonight, Mitchell states that the free lecture period will end and the fines will be applied.

"Sound" motion pictures are rapidly being developed to such a point that soon the silent drama will be a thing of the past—then just imagine hearing all those

PRAIRIE MUSTANG WITH FAMED BRAND HAULED THROUGH BUCHANAN

He was, at first sight, a poor farm plug loaded nobly on a truck to be hauled from one place of slavery to another.

The hair was white where the mane was broken above his shoulder, filling of long days of sweating under the collar at the plow. Beside him was a shambling Shire, with sleepy eyes and loosely hanging lip.

But he rolled a white eye down over the side of the truck in a way that nothing but a plains broncho could achieve, and a closer inspection told the tale. On his shoulder was the famous horse brand 52, worn by many a prairie mustang that never bore anything more shameful than a saddle, and on his right hip was the Diamond brand, once the trade mark of the best horses in the west, and a sign of excellence that was known even in the British army in India.

He had the trim wiry build, the hard knotted muscles, and the alert intellect that might have qualified him for top horse on the Two Bar outfit, or even for a rival for Tom Mix's Tony.
But fate had stacked the cards differently. He had a free youth, running the open plains on the roof of the world,—but there were too many of his kind for the dwindling cattle industry, and one day he was rounded up with a car load of his fellows and shipped to St.
Joe. His owner got $25—which was too much, as prairie horses go. He was unloaded at St. Joe and taken to the Jake Schmal farm six miles north of Buchanan, where he was broken to the plow, and sold to a Berrien County farmer for from $100 to $125.

DECKER HOME IS PARTIALLY BURNED SAT.

Flames From Explosion Of Gasoline Stove Burn Three Rooms COVERED BY INSURANCE

Set Of Bavarian Dishes Over 100 Years Old Included in Loss

Fire probably caused by the explosion of a gasoline stove partially destroyed the home of Wm.
Decker in the Burkhardt addition between 5 and 6 p. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Decker, 78, was alone in the house, and had gone to a bedroom two rooms from the kitchen.
After being out ten minutes she started back and on reaching the kitchen door was driven back by flames and smoke which filled the room.

Floyd Hatline and family had seen the fire and rushed to her help. They found her collapsed in the front room and had to lead her out. They dragged all the furniture out of the front room and bed room, and secured a table and a chair from the kitchen.

The fire department arrived and put out the flames before they had destroyed the front part of the house.

The loss included the summer kitchen, a living room, and a store room which contained all of the clothing of both Mr. and Mrs.
Decker, save that which they had
on. In addition many supplies, including a set of dishes imported from Bavaria and reputed to be over a hundred years old.

Mr. Decker was employed with the Gross Construction Company and was five miles away on the Range Line road when the fire occurred. The loss was covered by insurance.

SOMETHING DIFFERENT
In this week's issue of the Record we carry an ad for Brandon's of South Bend, who are going to hold a "Moonlight" Sale for the busy housewife and working girl. The stove will remain open Wednesday and Thursday evenings of next week from 7 to 9:30.

NOW EIGHT OVER TOTAL OF LAST YEAR

233 Reported Enrolled In Four Classes at Noon Today

LUCAS REPLACES KING Children 5 Years Old By Nov. 15 Admitted to Kindergarten

Buchanan high school enrollment reached 233 at noon today, nine above the total enrollment for last year, and 28 over the opening enrollment in 1927.

The enrollment by classes is as follows: freshmen 69, sophomores 66, juniors 52, seniors 49, post graduates 3.

Among the late developments was the appointment of L. T.
Lucas to replace Charles King, science instructor, who resigned last week to accept a similar position in the schools of Irvington, N. J. King was one of the most valued instructors of the school and his departure is regretted by students and patrons alike. It is understood that his new position represents an advancement.

Lucas is a graduate of Ottawa College, Kas., and of the University of Chicago. He comes with several years of teaching in city schools to his credit.

Superintendent Stark states that any child who will be five years old by November 15 will be admitted to the kindergarten. If by the first of next week the department is not full, the age limit may be lowered to accommodate more pupils.

BUCHANAN BOYS SEEK SECURITY IN AIR LANES

 Flies with Battle Fleet.
 The youngest of the trio is Lieut. Edwin Peck, son of Mrs. L. E. Peck, 107 Clark street, and a pilot of a bombing plane attached to the mother ship, Saratoga, U. S. N., now stationed at North Island, San Diego, Calif.
 In common with army fliers, Peck's identity is merged with that of the squadron he flies with, but at least he has the honor of being a member of Squadron VB2, one of the crack flying units of the navy airplane service.
 Peck entered the Annapolis Naval Academy in 1918 at the age of 16 years, having received a cadet appointment from this congressional district. He completed his high school work there, and was graduated in 1923. After a period of regular navy service with the fleet, he entered the government flying school at Pensacola, Fla., in 1925, and after a year of training he was detailed to the flying service, reporting for duty on the west coast. In 1927 he was sent to Norfolk, Va., and placed in charge of a bombing plane in the U. S. battle fleet. He took part in the naval maneuvers off the south Atlantic coast, and accompanied the fleet through the Panama Canal to the Hawaiian Islands and return to San Diego, where he has since been stationed.

The Prettiest of Russian Beauties?

PARISIAN beauty experts consider Mme. Hona Karolevna—whose wistful eyes greet yours from the above photo—as one of the finest types of feminine pulchritude in the French capitol. In fact, they claim she's the most beautiful ever to arrive from all Russia. By profession, she's a dancer of great talent whose performances have won widespread favor with French theatrical folk.

 On the occasion of the dedication of Lindbergh Field at San Diego, Aug. 17, when 222 planes, 82 belonging to the army service and 140 to the navy, took part in aerial demonstrations, Squadron VB2 distinguished itself in maneuvers, thrilling the crowd by suddenly appearing in a dive from a 10,000 foot altitude down over the field.

ENFORCEMENT TRAFFIC LAWS BRINGS TEMPEST

 A question has been raised by the practice of people living in the residence districts, who have been attempting to prevent cars from parking in front. On a number of occasions drivers who parked their cars in front of these places, entirely outside of the business districts, found notes in their cars on their return forbidding them to park there again. An appeal was made to village authorities, who stated that home owners had no control of the streets in front, and that they would have to prove that cars parked there were a serious inconvenience to them by entering and leaving their homes before any interference with the practice would be allowed.
 In some cases, home owners have placed parking signs of their own on the street front, forbidding parking. Auto drivers are under no compulsion to pay any heed to such signs, according to town authorities, and the owner cannot take any steps to enforce attention to such signs.

HELMICK FAMILY HOLD REUNION AT MT. TABOR HALL

86 DESCENDANTS GATHER ON FARM OF FOUNDER OF THE FAMILY

Eighty-two years ago Jesse Helmick arrived at Buchanan by team, two years ahead of the railway, and selected a farm in Ononago township five miles south of town, which he proceeded to clear of hard wood timber and bring to a state of cultivation.
 Last Saturday his descendants and their relatives by marriage to the number of 86 gathered at Mt. Tabor Grange hall built on a corner of the old Helmick farm, and celebrated their annual reunion.
 Three children of Jesse Helmick were present: Eli Helmick, 88; Burns Helmick, 83; Mrs. Alice Helmick Clark, 80. There were also present six grand children, 14 great grand children, and 3 great great grand children.
 The sole changes in the organization was the election of Mrs. Fern Bates as historian in place of Mrs. Alice Clark, who resigned.
 Members of the family and guests present from a distance were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Dave Helmick and daughter Dorothy, of Dixon, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Fred Helmick of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Bernard Helmick and child of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. Herman Rall of Chicago; Dr. and Mrs. Stanley Schriver of Chicago; Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Palmer and daughters, Mary Jane and Wilma, of Lombard, Ill.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gano and four children of South Bend; Edna and Mabel Ziegler of Wawarusa; Mr. and Mrs. Whistler and children, Mary Ellen, Omah and Alvin of Wawarusa. The last named three children were great great grand children of Jesse Helmick.
 The program presented during the afternoon was as follows:
 Instrumental music—Mary Jane Palmer.
 Responses from the honored members—Nathan B. Helmick, Eli Helmick and Mrs. Alice Clark.
 Recitations—"His Pockets" and "Castor Oil"—Mary Edith Gano.
 Vocal solo—Rev. Mrs. Liddicoat.
 Recitation—Wilma Palmer.
 Remarks—Rev. Liddicoat.
 Stomp Dance—Mary Jane Palmer.
 A bounteous dinner and horse-shoe pitching were the main diversions of the day.

Bud Proud Will Take Over Mitts Store Saturday

Bud Proud has purchased Mitts Cigar Store from E. E. Mittan and will take possession at the end of the present week. Mr. Mittan states that his plans are not definitely formed at present. Proud has been acquainted here from his residence, and from "active participation" in athletics, which should aid him in still further building up the excellent patronage which the place already has.

SATURDAY TO BE TAG DAY FOR CHILDREN

VOLUNTEERS OF AMERICA TO RAISE MONEY FOR YOUNG PEOPLE
 Saturday, September 8, will be Children's Heart tag day in Buchanan, a representative of the Volunteers of America having secured permission from the village authorities to solicit funds on that occasion.
 The cause in Buchanan will be sponsored by the following leaders in educational circles: Mrs. W. A. Rice, Rev. Henry Liddicoat, Mrs. George Wilcox, Mrs. Sig Desenberg, Rev. J. L. Griffith and Rev. H. W. Staver. Mrs. R. E. Lamb will be in charge of Young Peoples Work and Finance.
 The Volunteers of America were organized over 30 years ago by General and Mrs. Ballington Booth, and is a national institution having one or more headquarters in every state in the union. Among its activities are day nurseries, employment bureaus, boys' clubs, men's and women's employment agencies and home halls.

 Next Saturday the work of the drive will be made entirely by young people in the interest of the little ones of the state less fortunate than themselves. To stimulate the work, the Buchanan merchants and theatre owners have offered some attractive prizes and movie passes for those securing the most money.
 The first prize is a fine necklace offered by A. L. Hamblin, jeweler; the second prize is a flash light offered by Runner Bros.; third prize is a fountain pen given by Winters; fourth prize is a box of chocolates by Kean's Ice Cream Parlor; fifth prize, a combination set by D. L. Boardman. Those who do not win prizes but who secure at least $3 will receive a pass into the Princess.

Have A Good Laugh With The Camera Man

Don't run for a doctor—you're not seeing things,—the camera man did. Calm down. Pretty Lillian Metzger, at the extreme right, seems to have made the camera man go wrong. The first picture is of a film beauty, Raquel Torres—it's easy to see where the naughty camera man was looking. Johnny Brown, also of the films, is the only male sufferer in this cameraman's spree. His legs are certainly long enough to reach the ground! The second picture is of a young lady who may have got that way eating at boarding houses. When Tex Rickard sees this, he may try to sign her up—her reach beats anything he ever "seed" before. No, you don't need new eyeglasses—but somebody needs a new camera.

Modern Piano Merely Copy of Old Dulcimer

Even the handsome pianos in our modern living and music rooms were not always as we know them today. The story of the development of the piano, like that connected with everything else we use, is a story of humble beginnings and continuous improvements.

The history of musical instruments shows us that the piano is very probably a modern development of an instrument known as the dulcimer. This was originally nothing more than a flat piece of wood, on which were fastened two converging strips of wood, across which strings were stretched and tuned to a natural scale. Sound was produced by hitting the strings with two hammers, one in each hand of the player.

As a separate musical instrument the dulcimer has probably been changed less than any other. Two pieces of wood have been added to produce a sound box for the body and keys with which to tune the strings; otherwise it is still in practically its original form.

It is easily seen how the piano was developed from the dulcimer. The only difference in the principle of the two is the fact that the piano is larger, and its strings are struck by keys instead of hammers. The modern piano is really nothing more or less than a keyed dulcimer.

Wanted No Witnesses to Theatrical Flight

In Sir James Barrie's play, "Peter Pan," Thicker Bell gets up on her stage wings, hovers about the room and flies out of an open window. The playwright, watching one of his rehearsals, expressed a desire to try the mechanism by which this flight is achieved. So attentants attached the wires to the distinguished gentleman and prepared to hoist him in the air.

The amusing part of the story followed. Sir James, a veteran in the world of the theater, was suddenly struck by a terrible and overwhelming stage-fright. He came

Johnson Fond of Books

According to that greatest of all biographers, Boswell, Doctor Johnson, upon entering a library, "ran eagerly to one side of the room, intent on poring over the backs of books." Because of this custom a contemporary once called him "odd," to which accusation Johnson replied: "Sir, the reason is very plain. Knowledge is of two kinds. We know the subject ourselves, or we know where we can find information upon it. When we inquire into any subject, the first thing we have to do is to know what books have treated of it. This leads us to look at catalogues and the backs of books in libraries."

No wonder that such a man knew so well how and where to tap the sources of knowledge and give the world a great and unique dictionary.—From "Private Book Collectors."

Famous Mountain Range

The Smoky mountains are a southern extension of the Appalachian mountains, branching from the Blue ridge in south Virginia and extending southwestward near the Tennessee and North Carolina boundary, penetrating a short distance into north Georgia. On the west they are separated from the Cumberland plateau by the great eastern valley of the Tennessee, and on the east they are connected with the Blue ridge by an intricate system of cross ranges forming the rugged ridges of a lofty plateau culminating in the Black mountains. Nearly all the eastern head streams of the Tennessee rise on the enclosed plateau and break through the Unaka range. Otherwise the latter forms a sharply defined ridge between Tennessee and North Carolina.

His Comeback

Speaking of "club husbands," two met at lunch the other day, on the eve of a woman's club reception. One remarked: "Well, I suppose I'll see you tonight all dolled up like a shik, in your dress suit?" "You will not," he retorted, "but I suppose your wife will make you do the glad raiment, though," and he grimaced.

"No, my wife doesn't have to dress me. I know how, without her telling me. But say, how is it you are going at all, if you're so blonping independent?" It can't possibly be your wife has made you." "Haumph!"—Salmon News.

Kidd Unjustly Condemned

Information has recently been brought to light which would indicate that Capt. William Kidd really was not as great a pirate as he was painted. It is said that a letter from Lord Bellowout has been brought forth which would have exonerated him if it had been admitted to evidence at the time of his trial. His enemies, however, would not permit its use. Also the forged French passes under which the Moorish vessel which he captured was sailing have been found in the archives of the British public record office. He was not allowed to submit these in evidence.

Diogenes' "Tub"

The "tub" of Diogenes, or "pithos," was a huge earthen jar that had been used for holding wine or oil for sacrifices in the temple of Cybele and had been discarded. It was large enough for Diogenes to lie in at full length.

Idle Women

There are millions of idle men, but I think the good Lord there is still some objection to them. . . . But there is no objection to idle women. . . . And how many millions there are of them! We regard our idle women as a fine tribute to our gallantry, but the naked truth is they are our greatest disgrace. —B. W. Howe's Magazine.

Ambidexterity Not a Thing of Importance

For the last 30 years systematic attempts have been made to teach children to use both right and left hands indiscriminately. But the results have been amusingly unsatisfactory. The explanation apparently is that the power of the hand is intimately associated with the unfolding of the cerebral cortex which regulate language and are located on the left side—that is to say, in relation to the centers which regulate the control of the right hand and arm. The examination of thousands of human skeletons has demonstrated that in all cases in which the right arm is better developed than the left there is evident a correspondingly satisfactory development of the left side of the brain. It follows that left-handed persons must have less linguistic ability than the right-handed and that children obliged to use both hands indiscriminately will have diminished power of ready speech and ability markedly less in learning and retaining language.—Washington Star.

Peter Mark Roget, who compiled the thesaurus which bears his name, was an English physician and scholar, born in London, 1779, died in 1859. He studied medicine at the University of Edinburgh and removed to Manchester where he became physician to the lunatic asylum, the fever hospital and the infirmary. He settled in London in 1805, and was long secretary of the Royal Society. Among his works are "Animal and Vegetable Physiology" (1834) and "A Thesaurus of English Words and Phrases" (1852), which passed through 23 editions. In the author's lifetime, was edited by his son in 1879 and became a standard work of reference.

He Didn't Advertise!

STANDING in the doorway of his store—a disheartened look on his face—a merchant watched two big delivery trucks going by. On them, he noticed containers labeled with the name of merchandise he himself carried in stock. "Somebody is doing a lot of business, but it's NOT me," he grumbled. "My prices are as low as others, yet I'm not getting the customers. Wonder why?"

It never dawned on him that if he consistently advertised in the Berrien County Record—he wouldn't have time or cause to "kick" about lack of trade. That if folks KNEW they could buy, perhaps even more reasonably of him than of others, they'd keep him stepping lively!

The lesson pointed out, Mr. Merchant, is let people KNOW what you have to "Tell and Sell" via the only medium that reaches the vast multitude—THIS NEWSPAPER!—It's the surest "Better Business-Build-er" you can find!

Excavations on the Portage street sewer are approaching McCoy's creek between Dewey and Front streets today, with the problem of getting under the creek added to the many other troubles which have harassed Contractor Frank Read during the entire progress of the contract.

Under ground springs have slowed down the work this week, the water getting into the bottom of the trench and mixing in the dirt brought up by the digger, which turned into slush and ran back into the trench. Read has been constructing a box to inclose the digger shovels, and keep the water away.

Piano Playing Calls for Panching Power
Few rightly estimate the amount of force expended upon the piano by a player in making a note sound. If the pianist is playing fortissimo, at times the force of six pounds is thrown upon a single key to produce a solitary effect. With chords the force is generally spread over the various notes sounded simultaneously, though a greater output of force is undoubtedly expended. This is what gives pianists the wonderful strength in their fingers.

A story used to be told of Paderewski that he could crack a pane of French plate glass half an inch thick, merely by placing one hand upon it, as if upon a piano keyboard and striking it sharply with his middle finger.

One of Chopin's compositions has a passage which takes two minutes and five seconds to play. The total pressure brought to bear on this, it is estimated, is equal to three full tons. The average "tonnage" of an hour's playing of Chopin's music varies from 12 to 14 tons.

Candace Babcock Is Wedded to Russell Hartman Saturday

Miss Candace Babcock, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dwight Babcock and Russell Hartman of South Bend, were united in marriage Saturday afternoon at 2 p. m. at the home of the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Hartman, Galien, Rev. Kimberlin officiating. The bride was charmingly gowned in green georgette crepe, and carried a bridal wreath. She was attended by her sister, Irene, who wore pink georgette crepe, and the groom was attended by his brother, Earl Hartman.

The bride grew to womanhood in Galien and endeared herself to the hearts of our people through her genial and becoming conduct. She graduated from the New Troy high school in the class of 1923, and finished a business course in the South Bend Business College in 1924, where she has since held a position with the Rubber Co. of Mishawaka. The groom is in partnership with his father in the contracting business in South Bend, where the couple will reside.

A bounteous supper was served at the home of the bride's parents to the immediate relatives. The dining room was artistically decorated with beautiful gladioli, which were furnished from the Orrin Stearns. Pink place cards and favor cups were at each plate. Earl Derflinger And Bride Guests At Home Coming

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Derflinger, who were joined in marriage recently at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Long of Ceresco, Mich., were entertained at a home coming party Thursday evening by the members of the Sunday school class which they attended at the Methodist Church. The reception was given at the home of Mrs. George Chain, 405 Main Street. Light refreshments were served and a fine time enjoyed. On Friday evening the happy couple were given a tousing "belling" by their friends.

NATION'S 1928 CROP PRODUCTION IS LARGEST ON RECORD

Aggregate Estimated to Exceed 5 Year Average by 8 Per Cent

PREVIOUS RECORD 1920 Estimated Corn Yield Is Over Three Billion Bushel Mark

Crop production is the largest on record. This statement is based on an analysis of the government's estimate as of August 1. The aggregate amounts to nearly 5 per cent more than last year and 8 per cent more than the average of the preceding five years.

Large aggregate yield is not due to bumper production of some one or two important crops, but rather to a favorable outturn fairly evenly distributed among all important products.

The net money income of the farmer should be higher than last year. Gross income will be larger and the average cost of production will probably be somewhat lower.

Our estimate of the gross farm income for the year beginning July 1, 1928, is about $12,315,000,000, compared with $12,253,000,000 recently estimated by the Department of Agriculture for the past year.

In past years our advance estimates of the farmer's income have been correct as to direction, whether increases or decreases, but somewhat conservative as to total amount of change.

The biggest surprise of the season—and a pleasant one—is the large quantity of winter wheat produced. The acreage lost by winter killing was nearly the heaviest on record, about one-fourth of the entire acreage planted.

Kansas has produced the largest wheat crop in her history. In the East Central States—especially Ohio, Indiana and Illinois—the bulk of the wheat was winter-killed and early this season prospects looked gloomy.

The unfavorable feature of the wheat crop is that the quality of much of it was affected by excessive rains at harvest and threshing time. Also, production of that particular kind of wheat raised in the Ohio Valley—soft red winter, used largely for pastry, crackers and biscuits—is even smaller than last year's short production.

The production of hard winter wheat—the kind raised in Kansas, Nebraska and Oklahoma—is apparently the largest on record.

The August 1 government estimate of production of all wheat, 381 million bushels, is nearly 20 million larger than last year's crop, as estimated by the government, and about 85 million larger than the average of the preceding five years.

The United States exported, net, slightly more than 190 million bushels of wheat during the last crop year. And, the reserves at the end of the year were nearly 20 million larger than at the beginning. It would appear, therefore, from present prospective supplies, that this country could export 220 to 225 million bushels. Unfortunately for American wheat farmers, the world supply of wheat for the current season is larger than last year. So the level of prices is likely to be materially lower. Wheat farmers may expect a 50 million dollar smaller return from their larger crop.

Larger income in prospect from live stock. Feed grains represent between 35 and 40 per cent of the total value of all crop production, but only about 3 per cent of gross farm sales. The income from these products is mostly indirect, that is, from the sale of live stock and live stock products, which represent about 50 per cent of the total farm income from all sources.

In the live stock industry the best opinion seems to be that farmers will receive a larger return for their live stock than in the past year. Prices for hogs at present are more than 20 per cent higher than a year ago and prices for beef cattle are more than 15 per cent higher.

The short corn crop of last year forced many lightweight hogs to market and drained the surplus supply. The marketings during the coming season are expected to be smaller in number, but with higher prices will bring more dollars to the farmer.

Cattle have been selling at high prices during the past year and are expected to continue high for another. Live stock will be produced at a lower cost this year. Profits from the big grain crop will be in the form of live stock and live stock products.

Owing to cheaper feed, the increase in the net income from live stock will be greater than the increase in gross income.

BERRIEN CO. HAS THIRTY PER CENT TOTAL APPLE CROP

BANNER GRAPE CROP CUT IN TWO BY FAILURE TO SPRAY

The 1928 fruit crop of Berrien County ranged from 20 per cent for winter apples to 90 per cent for blackberries, according to the September 1 estimate prepared by County Agent Lurkins for the state extension headquarters at Lansing.

In detail, Lurkins' estimates are as follows: Total apple crop, 30 to 35 per cent. Summer apples, 50 per cent. Winter apples, 20 to 25 per cent. Peaches, 55 per cent. Pears, 50 per cent. Plums, 40 per cent. Grapes, 50 per cent of ten year average.

Cherries, 37 1/2 per cent. Blackberries, 90 per cent. Muskmelon, 90 per cent. Early prospects for a banner grape crop were reduced by a late spring freeze which nipped the bloom in the central and northern part of the county and by rot which affected the crop during August. The rot affected only the first vineyards which were not consistently sprayed, according to Lurkins. Almost without exception, the growers who sprayed from four to five times, using the formula furnished by the county agent's office, did not lose.

The worst rot afflictions were found in vineyards where the bloom had made a small start last summer, and had not been properly safe-guarded against this year. In several vineyards in the Twin City section, the crop was a total loss on this account.

A similar result has ensued from failure to spray in the muskmelon fields, where rust has made inroads during the past three weeks. One St. Joseph grower stated that he had saved $5,000 by one spray application made 10 days ago.

Spirea Bush Is In Full Bloom At Glendora Now

A rare natural phenomena is to be seen in the yard of the home of Mrs. D. E. Hill of Glendora in the form of a blooming spirea bush. The bush bloomed in the regular flowering period in May, and lapsed into quiescence with the other spirea. About two weeks ago buds again appeared and the bush is now in bloom. A number of cases of pear trees in partial bloom when the fruit is on the trees have been reported about Glendora this summer, but a spirea flowering in the fall is unheard of.

An attempt will soon be made in the African jungles to get lions to roar into microphones, the unique concert to be broadcast so that Americans may hear it. On the day this program is given, we bet many people will mistake static for it.

FARMER BEST OFF TIED TO COW'S TAIL

Douglas Dean Says Ten Dairy Cows Relief From Worries

SOLVES FARM PROBLEM

President Testing Association Outlines Successful Dairy System

The best source of relief from adverse agricultural conditions is a herd of 10 good dairy cows, according to Douglas Dean, president of the South Berrien County testing association, who was a visitor in the Record Office yesterday.

Running a dairy herd may mean "being tied to an old cow's tail," according to Dean, but it also means relief from the financial worries that make life a nightmare for the farmer with an unbalanced work program. The dairy provides a year round income, and distributes the work around the year, so that there are no slack periods.

Last year Dean kept tab on all expenses and on labor involved in caring for his milk herd, and found that after all expenses were paid he had 60 cents an hour for his labor.

His feed allowances per cow for a year are as follows:

- 10 pounds hay per day for 9 months, 1 1/2 tons yearly. 30 pounds silage per day for 9 months, 1 ton yearly. 100 pounds of corn per cow per month, 1200 pounds yearly. 100 pounds oats per cow per month, 1200 pounds yearly. 75 pounds dairy feed per cow per month, 900 pounds yearly. 1-10 pounds bran daily, 36 pounds yearly.

For a herd of ten cows this allowance would mean: 15 tons hay, 40 tons silage, 220 bushels corn, 375 bushels oats, 4 1/2 tons dairy feed, 365 pounds bran, 4 1/2 tons.

It is a poor cow that will not make a yearly profit of $100 over the cost of her feed, according to Dean, and $125 is a more likely figure. Dairy men can raise their own cows at a production cost of about $100 as compared with a price of $125 which is the minimum for a good dairy cow on the market.

The testing association of which Dean is president has 30 members, the tester spending one day monthly at the farm of each member. The charges range from $3.15 per month to the owner of 1 to 6 cows, and up the scale to $3.90 for the owner of from 13 to 15 cows and $5.15 for the owner of from 25 to 30 cows.

Guernsey cows predominate in the milking herds of Berrien County, with Holsteins second, and other breeds in scattering numbers. There is one herd of Brown Swiss cattle near New Troy.

HAIL VISITS SECTION EAST OF GLENDORA

CORN LEAVES STRIPPED AND PEACHES DAMAGED BY HEAVY STORM

The farming district lying on each side of the Glendora road from the Carpenter school to the Jesse Boyle farm was severely damaged by hail which visited that section Sunday afternoon, the chief hurt being sustained by corn, fruit, and the tender garden crops. The district suffering the heaviest damage was about three miles long and from a mile and a half to two miles in width. Corn stalks were stripped of foliage to the extent that it is doubtful whether the ears, which are now in the milk stage, will mature and ripen properly.

Peaches were dented by the hail stones, so that it is not likely that any of the fruit will be marketable. Plums were dashed from the trees and grape vines were stripped of both leaves and grapes. Wind which accompanied the storm did damage over a much wider area, lodging late corn and breaking down limbs of trees.

Hills Corners Lutheran School Has 30 Enrollment

The Hills Corners Lutheran school opened Tuesday with an attendance of 30, and a prospect of close to fifty pupils next week, when fall work slackens. Rev. S. Martel is in charge of the school.

PICKLE GROWERS AT GLENDORA END PROFITABLE YEAR

CROP RETURNS AS HIGH AS $260 PER ACRE; PRICE FINED

The Manhattan Pickle factories at Glendora, Three Oaks and Harbor Hill in all probability close next week after a successful season of six weeks, during which the output greatly exceeded that of last year.

The crop yield this year was 90 per cent, according to A. L. Weinberg, general manager of the three plants, as compared with 50 per cent last year. With an acreage of only 94 acres at the Glendora Plant, a much larger pack of pickles was made than from the 115 acres last year.

The best returns were reported by Cliff Nelson, who secured returns of $280 per acre. An advantage which growers received was the price guarantee, which was made before the crop was planted. The Michigan farmers this year receive a better price than either Wisconsin or Indiana farmers, the local schedule being as follows: $1.50 per bushel for firsts up to 4 inches long; 50c per bushel for seconds; 40c per bushel for nubbins.

Wisconsin and Indiana growers receive only $1.25 for firsts, with a 3 1/2 inch limit.

The secretary of the bar association was very busy and very cross one afternoon, when his telephone rang. "Well, what is it?" he snapped. "Is this the City Gas Works?" asked a woman's soft voice. "No, madam," roared the secretary. "This is the Bar Association of the City of Louisville."

1928 WHEAT MARK SET ON CLARK FARM

10 Acre Field Averages 42 Bushels, 4S Bushels 10 Years Ago

Corn Yields 100 Bushels; Oats Average 70 in Rotation System

The record for wheat production in this section of Michigan was again set this year on the farm of C. A. Clark, 2 1/2 miles south of Galien, where 10 acres yielded 42 bushels per acre.

This production was made on a farm which has been in the possession of the Clark family 68 years, and which was originally known as one of the poorest farms in Galien township. The fertility of the soil has been built up by constant application of manure and commercial fertilizers, and by a four crop rotation system which has been consistently followed over a long period.

Clark's system has been to rotate in succession wheat, clover, corn and oats, then returning to wheat again and letting the clover stand only one year. The year that oats are planted, manure is applied from the Clark dairy, and on the year that wheat is planted 250 pounds of commercial fertilizer is applied. The fertilizer insures a catch of clover and prevents winter killing.

Any farmer who limits his acreage to what he can care for well, and who follows some definite system such as the above can duplicate this result, according to Clark, who states that yields of 20 bushels are practically unknown on his farm. Yields there usually range from 30 to 35 bushels per acre. The record was 4S bushels per acre, made 10 years ago.

HILLS CORNERS SCHOOL CROWDED ABOVE CAPACITY

SCHOOL BOARD FURNISHES FREE TEXT BOOKS TO PUPILS

The Hills Corners school opened Tuesday with an attendance of 54 pupils for 49 single seats, and prospects of more next week, as compared with an attendance of 46 last year, according to Miss Bernice Scott, teacher.

At one time last spring the school had an enrollment of 57 due to the closing of the Lutheran school and the transfer of part of the pupils there. This was solved by making two divisions of the pupils and having each division attend half day.

The enrollment this year is apart from the Lutheran pupils who are again attending their own school. The school board will meet Friday evening to consider means of solving the problem.

An unusual feature of the Hills Corners school is the fact that the board furnishes the school books free to the pupils. This system is handled by only a few districts in Berrien County.

It was decided on after a vote by the district several years ago. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Hickey and sons of Chicago were week-end guests at the C. A. Roberts home. Mr. and Mrs. James Rusco of Chicago were Labor Day guests at the Doyle hotel.

A number were in attendance from South Bend and Buchanan. Elder G. E. Harrington from the church headquarters at Independence, Mo., was in charge.

The help given the ladies was greatly appreciated.

The Township taxes have been cut $58,100.00. Now there is no reason why anyone should vote no on a new school house. Artist Paints Walls Glendora Lutheran Church Interior painting and decoration of the Hills Corner Lutheran Church started Tuesday, with a crew of eight men at work under the direction of Mr. Gaunt, painter of Three Oaks. Mr. Gaunt has commission to paint two wall panels representing Peter and Christ, and a reproduction of the "Come Unto Me" of Hoffmann. Gaunt has an excellent reputation, as a mural painter of ability. The figures will be nearly life size. The contract will take four weeks.

Three Autos In Collision On The Glendora Road

Three cars were put out of commission in a single collision near the Carpenter school on the Glendora road about 9 p. m. Sunday, when a car driven by Clyde Lohmough crashed successively into machines driven by George Janke, 3637 North Sacramento, Chicago, and Frank Trapp, R. R. 3.

Lohmough stated that he was blinded by the lights of the Janke car. He accompanied the driver of that machine, then swerved sharply toward the ditch on the right side and again back to the left into the Trapp car, again striking the left side and bending the front axle and left wheel-base.

In the last clash the left front wheel was broken from the Lohmough car. None of the occupants were hurt.

Hints for the Home

by Nancy Hart

Cleanliness within the refrigerator is most important—especially if baby foods are stored therein. The old-fashioned ice box should be scalded out periodically to keep it sweet and clean. In the best automatic refrigerators, however, the use of scalding water and soap is not necessary. Simply wiping the box out quickly with a cloth wet in a cold solution of baking soda and then wiping dry is sufficient.

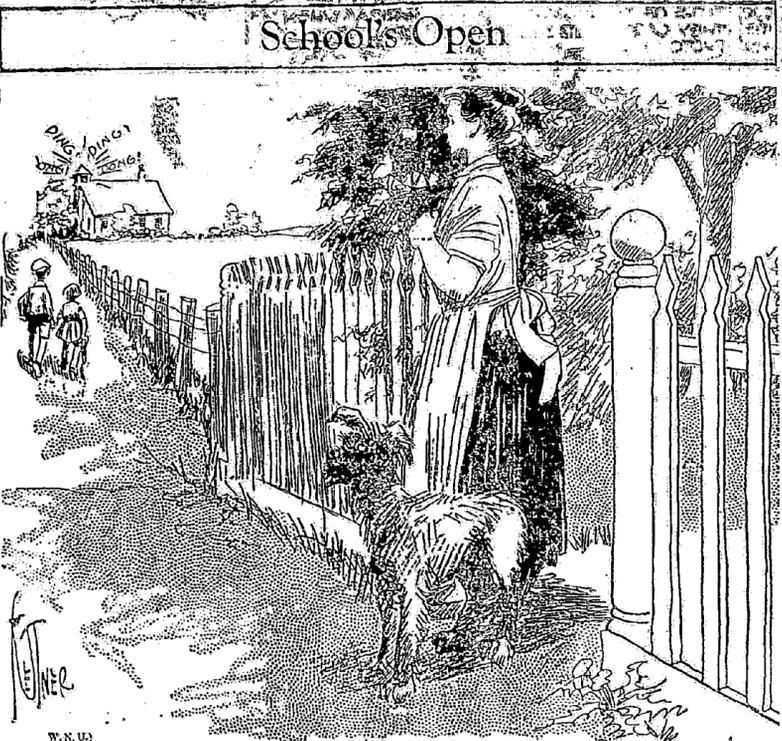

In the automatic type, defrosting the chilling unit is necessary about twice a month in order to maintain proper radiation of cold from the unit. It can be done over night. Before retiring, turn off the current—or gas, if you have one of the new noiseless refrigerators which operates by gas. By morning the refrigerator is again ready to function and the drip pan can be emptied and fresh water put in the ice-cube trays.

New York's Civil Service Commission investigated the qualities of life guards, hired by politicians to protect New York City's beaches. They were supposed to dash into the boiling surf and save the drowning.

It was found that of 163 guards, 15 couldn't swim a stroke, 18 more refused to "risk the swimming test in the water." They thought it too dangerous. In the words of Mrs. Cook of Los Angeles, imagining their embarrassment when anyone cried "help." There may be something in the statement that politicians are not fit to attend to any kind of business. In New York they certainly are not fit to select life guards.

When a gasoline launch exploded on North Bay, Ontario, a priest, a man and wife and their two children were thrown into the water. All but the father perished.

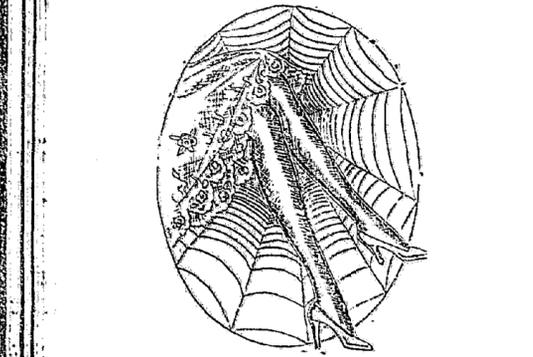

With his two little children, one aged two years, one only a month old, in his arms, the father endeavored to swim to the shore, a mile away.

But, exhausted, he was obliged to drop the children. He reached the shore alone.

It was a noble effort. The only difference between a father and a mother in such a case is that THE MOTHER WOULD HAVE DIED WITH THE CHILDREN.

Most of us who have tried breakfast in bed remember, not the luxury of it, but the inconvenience of the wabbling tray balanced precariously on our knees—or at best the awkward reach required by its location on a table beside the bed.

Now, in the name of invalids and luxurious folks, a novel tray has been designed to fit over the knees, with its sides resting solidly on the mattresses. The table top is broad and firm, and there are side pockets to hold the morning paper and personal mail.

You may have your choice of pink, blue, mauve, or pale green or ivory in these trays—and usually there is a delicate flower motif by way of additional decoration.

For an intelligent woman real life begins at forty-nine. Wise Providence would let women do important mental work much before fifty. Up to that age Nature intends women to be busy with children.

Roy Chapman Andrews, searching for strange things in Central Asia, reports finding an extinct monster "as big as the Woolworth Building."

Such an animal, if carnivorous, could carry home in its mouth a couple of elephants and walk thru an ordinary city crushing buildings as it went.

But it had a small head, little or no thinking power. That is why it is no longer with us.

A great nation, and good pace maker, is Canada. This year's Canadian wheat crop, 500,000,000 bushels, breaks all records. And Canadians have just dedicated a National Park, in the northern part of the Province of Saskatchewan, 900,000 acres in extent.

Doing things in a big way is Canada's habit, and this country is glad to have so able and friendly a neighbor.

Uncle Sam contributed to Canada's wheat growers when he dug the Panama Canal, letting all nations use it on the same terms as ourselves.

Through that canal, Canadians in the Northwest can deliver wheat in Europe much more cheaply than our Middle Western farmers can deliver it.

The Old Timers' Corner

The Old Timer Calls The Roll Of Pioneer Business Men of Buchanan

Ferry Fox used to say, "Religion, is religion, and horse tradin' is horse tradin'." He made money in all trades and spent it easily in his own way to show that he was really religious. A small wiry man with a keen wit and keen mind for business transactions. He made a good bit of money in Buchanan, like many others, but he lost it in a venture of local improvement. Like many others, his "fore sight" wasn't as good as his hind sight.

Wm. Peers, a staunch old Buchanan, with all the attributes of his race, steady and sure, making money and holding to it.

Charlie Bishop, good pleasing personality, easy to get along with, but with a mind of his own when it came to business transactions.

John Ross, came to Buchanan when a young man and grew up with it, making money all the way. Lived well and was kind to his family and friends. He was usually known as "D." Not exactly a "boss" of the town, but always consulted when any important matter arose.

Some of the doctors:

Dr. J. M. Roe, of a large family and running true to the traditions of his family. Of a Scotch turn of mind, heavy on "quintine and liver powder" for almost every ailment that you might have. It usually worked out to the good of his patients.

Dr. Henderson, lived upon Front street, lived well and did well.

Dr. Bailey, lived in the Perry Fox home, after the Fox family had moved to Niles. He was a good man, with plenty of pep and personality and did good work in and about Buchanan.

Dr. Berrick, long a fixture at Front street and what was then "East street," but is now called "Oceanic avenue." He had a big lawn and always kept it in good condition. He was quiet and unassuming, religious to the extreme, but always square with every one.

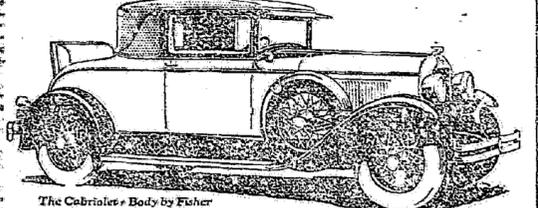

Dr. Knight, living just across the railroad tracks, in a shady home in the edge of the woods, was well known and liked by his many friends. He was very fond of horses and raised some very good ones of which he was justly proud.

Among our attorneys, we had two at least that are still on the job.

Bert Worthington was then and still is, a fixture when it comes to law. He talks well and easily and I don't know of any person in Buchanan that ever had a bad word to say about him. That's going some, too, to live a long life time in a small town where everyone knows everything you do or think.

Long may he be spared to enjoy this rightly earned reputation.

John Dick, while not a lawyer, as I remember but a minion of the law at all times, was another steady rock to which one might lean and not be worried at all. His judgment was always sought and when as a law grounded, when it was really needed, we had John

Another Old Timer Has To Donate His Ten Cents Worth

Editor Record:

In the very interesting reminiscence of school day times, "Old Timer" loses sight of the most picturesque character in the whole picture, in the person of old Uncle Abijah Estes, who used to buck-saw the 100 cords of clear hewn and maple wood that was burned to keep the High school building warm each year. The wood was cut in four-foot lengths and he cut it once through, when he was so nearly blind that he was guided in his work entirely by sense of feeling. I believe he was quite past eighty years old when he sawed the last lot. One evening when he came "Downtown", carrying a lantern he met "Man Hamilton" who asked why he carried a lantern as he could not see and his answer was that while he could not see, others could see him and not run against him.

The earliest recollection I have of "Pet's" place at Clear Lake was when there was a corral built of split rails, with a slip gap, and large enough to hold about 200 sheep and all of the farmers living within a radius of a mile drove their sheep there each May to give them their annual bath previous to shearing. How many of the modern American homes can build a slip gap?

"Nother Old Timer."

The number of marriages has decreased considerably this year. And yet they say there's no hope for the younger generation.

BENTON HARBOR NINE WAS VICTOR BY ONE RUN IN JULY GAME

The Minot All Stars of Benton Harbor, long time rivals of the Blues for Berrien County baseball honors, will engage the locals for the second time this year at Athletic Park Sunday afternoon.

The Minots defeated the Blues in their first game here July 29 by a one run margin, and also eliminated them from the county championship series last year.

The game of July 29 demonstrates that the two teams are playing the same caliber of ball.

The gate arrangements announced last week for the M. C. game will hold good, fifty cents for the head of the family admitting the wife and all children under twelve years of age or under. The measure of response which the Buchanan public makes to this liberal offer will in a large measure determine the future of baseball here.

The lineup of the two teams will be as follows:

Nash	2b	Bischoff
Hamilton	3b	Dorsey
Miller	2b	Gustafson

Saturday you will get all the thrills of the World Series from your seat in your favorite theatre. The Princess has booked Paramount's latest Richard Dix release, "Warming Up" and in it you will find besides the star, many professional and other famous figures in baseball.

An "Our Gang" comedy "Love My Dog" assures this program to be one of the most entertaining programs of the past week.

"Domestic Troubles" is destined to amuse a big crowd Sunday afternoon and night. Louise Fazenda and Clyde Cook, one of the greatest comedy teams in pictures appear in this riot of fun. Louise Fazenda as the flirtatious young lady is uproariously funny and has never been seen to better advantage.

"The First Kiss" with Paramount's glorious young lovers, Fay Wray and Gary Cooper, who were last seen in "The Legion of the Condemned", will be the attraction on Tuesday and Wednesday of next week. The story is an original one written by Tristram Tupper, which appeared in the Saturday Evening Post under the name of "Four Brothers."

The romance of sail boats, wharfs and water fronts, suspense of river piracy, hold deeds on dark nights, action, mystery, melodrama are all incorporated in this splendid entertainment which was filmed on some of the most historic ground in the nation. "The First Kiss" is one of the most inspiring love stories ever presented on the screen.

Plan now to see Delores Del Rio in "Ramona" coming next week. Besides being a tremendous story Ramona was photographed in one of the most beautiful spots in America.

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

The new Buick is the new Style

More than handsome... more than luxurious... a wonderful new type of motor car beauty... a thrilling turning point in body design

It will be imitated, of course! The new, the fine and the beautiful always inspire emulation. But so great is the cost of building the magnificent new Fisher bodies for the Silver Anniversary Buick that imitation will be possible only to much costlier cars, and even these will find difficulty in following where Buick leads!

$1,500,000 has been expended in manufacturing the dies alone for the new Buick bodies, and the gracefully curving side panels which form one of their distinguishing characteristics represent the most expensive steel paneling work employed on any automobile in the world!

But it is not in the matchless grace and beauty of exterior design alone that the Silver Anniversary Buick eclipses other cars. In fleet, powerful performance too, the world holds no equal for the Silver Anniversary Buick with Masterpiece Bodies by Fisher. And the motor-pump, buying in such tremendous volume as to force the great Buick factories to work day and night to supply the demand, is elevating it to the prominence of a vogue!

GRAND DADS AHEAD

Those who seek the easy existence of perpetual summer are welcome thereto. For others the desire for luxury and material comforts of lazy days and luscious eating, nothing compared with the pleasures, anticipations and vigor derived from the infinite variety of the temperate zone, where weather is weather, not climate, and nature in the course of a year can play her entire repertoire.

There are romance and an intangible solace for the "bigger than weather" in gray days and frosty nights and the human frame seems to take new strength and life from the beating snow and biting cold. Man's spirit flourishes on combat and resistance. It is the long winter night that puts iron back into northern souls and rescues them from the appalling possibilities of eternal summer.

It is only during his periods of indolence that the dweller in the temperate zone sighs for the year of a single season and dreads the approach of the argonauts, the bleak winds of winter, the drifting snow and the ice-covered streets. But when the first blast of winter straightens his shoulders, sends the warm blood coursing through his body and enlivens his pale memories of the summer's vainish before, anticipations of snug overcoats, blizzards, hearty sound slumber under cozy comforts, roast turkey, pumpkin pie, whole evenings for reading or repose and complete contentment.

Fuel bills and shortages, and freeze concoctions, snow-covered walks, stalled automobiles and uncertain conditions overhead and underfoot are surely more than compensated for by the many blessings the temperate zone holds for its children.

DREAM AND STOODER

Dreams are made of star dust, we are told, but a recipe is suggestion and imagination. Those who can look at a brick and see a castle are builders of a bigger and better world.

To be serviceable an imagination must be exercised. Do you want a suggestion? Look about you; a weed becomes an industry, if you want more encouragement turn to the classified advertisements and there you will find an ever changing department store full of them.

The business manager advises you to read classified advertisements when you want a job—an automobile or a candlestick, but these things are all at the main entrance of the store. Visit the bargain basement and the upper floors where great treasures are stored; uncensored news of human activities, relative values in parallel columns, heart-throbs and character studies to educate and entertain. Best of all, however, is the stuff that keeps dreams alive.

THE FIREPLACE

Those who are supplied with fireplaces in their homes feel no resentment as the chilly evenings of the early fall arrive, with their promise of colder evenings and the winter not far away. The chill of fall can be welcomed because it provides good reason for a blaze in the fireplace with the joy and good cheer possible as the fire crackles and develops, the ashes drop and the fire burns itself out.

The family gathers about the fire, as the lure is strong and there is promise of a happy hour. It is a proper place to visit, or read, or smoke, to relax and dream. The glow of the fireplace is cheerful, companionable and inviting. One may watch the curling smoke, the set of flame, the ruddy glow and find over a new picture always interesting.

Fireplaces are domestic, belong in the home where a family is found. The selfish man and the miser might refuse them, certainly could not hope to see their charm, glimpse the picture or feel the spell. The hour of peace, kindly contemplation and retrospection comes as the evening wares away and the fire burns low, the hour with its soothing and sweetening effect on life. Those hours come only in this life. They are for the generous, the kindly, the helpful to know and enjoy.

STRAW HATS

The well-sustained effort of the Weather Man to make us believe it is still July has kept a few straw hats on public display, but in the main American men are bowing to the dictates of Dame Fashion and are donning felt headgear.

"What becomes of the straw hat?" asks an inquiring reporter. A national publication says that thousands find their way to the vaudeville stage to be smashed, one day, two a day or three a day, depending upon the number of times the hat-wrecking comedian performs. Which may or may not be true, but this much is apparent, that man is quite as much a slave to style as woman.

"Man yields to custom as he bows to fate. In all things ruled: mind, body and estate."

When September 15 comes he puts away his straw hat, though tropical weather prevails.

A man in love will do anything, but he usually does nothing.

Nothing hurts your luck as much as thinking you haven't any.

It is a wise man who looks things over instead of overlooking things.

A Good Wall Paper Cleaner. Mix a tablespoon of kerosene, two of kragol, two of ammonia, one of salt, a half cup of warm water and one cup flour. Cook together, stirring continually. Then knead as you would bread dough, until smooth. Break into bits and rub soiled paper with it as if it were an eraser.

"Bossy" Gillis, mayor of Newburyport, Mass., has been sentenced to jail for operating a gasoline station without a license. He says that the more often he goes to jail, the more popular he becomes, and he hopes to capture the Governorship of the state in order to get even with the judge who sentenced him. We don't think a mere matter of operating a gasoline station without a license is quite enough to make him Governor. Why doesn't he put over something BIG?

FIFTH INSTALLMENT
WHAT HAPPENED BEFORE Simon Judd, amateur detective, and William Dart, an undertaker, are visiting John Drane, eccentric man of wealth, at the Drane place.
Suddenly the household is shocked to find that John Drane has been murdered. The dead man is first seen by Josie, the maid, then by Amy Drane and Simon Judd. The last faints.

Police officers call and investigations begin. Dr. Blessington is called, and after seeing the murdered John Drane, makes the astounding revelation to Amy Drane that her "uncle" is not a man but a woman.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"Yes, Dr. Blessington made the examination; victim dead several hours, cause of death stab wound to heart. Suicide theory untenable, Dick, because the old lady couldn't have used so much strength. And there ain't no knife around, either, Dick. She's been murdered all right. Well, the guesser part is she's this John Drane that's been living here, see? He was a she all the time; wouldn't it far you?"

"Yes, hang around. I'll have a look or two."

He went to the bed and looked down at the victim of the murder and, turning, surveyed the room.
He walked across the floor and opened the door of the closet.
Here hung many suits of men's garments, on proper hangers, each on its own hook, while a dozen pairs of shoes stood in a neat row on the floor. He stood on a chair and examined the shelf, taking down several hats, looking into each and noting the makers' marks in them. He moved the hanging clothes and tapped on the inner wall of the closet.

His next act was to open the door leading into John Drane's private bath. Here the walls were piled to the height of a man and the porcelain tub was built in, as was the shower. The whole was immaculately white, as was the wall above the tub and the ceiling.
On a glass shelf stood the few toilet articles any man might use —a safety razor in its gold-plated case, talcum, bay rum, and so on.
There was no opening out of the room except the door into the bedroom and a narrow window, the lower part of which was in leaded glass.

"The door wasn't locked, huh?" Brennan asked.

"No. This maid Josie came up to call the old lady and when nobody answered she opened the door and faints. Door couldn't have been locked. It don't look like the old lady was expecting to be killed, Dick, does it?"

"Nothing stolen out of here that you've heard of?"

"Not that I know of," the officer said. "We didn't ask. We waited for you."

"All right!" Brennan said, going to the door. "I'm through here, I guess. You better telephone the coroner, Henry, and Joe—you look around for a knife or something.
You might keep your hands off anything smooth, in case of fingerprints. Reach in under the mattress and around and anywhere you think a knife might be. Sometimes these killers shove things in under when they get a panic. I'm going down. What did you say the girl's name was that saw in here first?"

"Josie. But she ain't downstairs. She's in that room across the hall. She's got a weak heart and they took her in there to bring her to. There's an old dame with her—the housekeeper."

"I'll see them," Brennan said.
His interview with Josie in Amy's room yielded him, however, nothing we do not already know.
"And you?" Brennan demanded of the maid Zella.
"I don't know anything," Zella said, "I was down in the kitchen, along with George—he's the chauffeur—and Maggie Maney, the cook, and we heard Josie screaming and heard her fall. So we came up as quick as we could.

She was fainting on the floor, and Mr. Judd, too—"

"Mr. Judd? Fainted?" Brennan asked. "Who's Judd?"

"He's a visitor, a friend of Mr.
Drane's, I guess. He come last night and stayed over. He saw the blood and fainted."

"He reached the room before you did?"

"Yes, but after Josie, didn't he,
Josie? Josie was first, then Miss Amy came—"

"And who is Miss Amy?"
"The grand-niece like of Mr.
Drane—of her we thought was Mr.
Drane," Zella explained. "Him and her was the family—the rest of us was just the help."

"Then Josie was the first to open the door, and Miss Amy was the first to follow her, and then "The undertaker man," Zella explained. "He's an old friend of Mr. Drane's and sometimes he comes to play cards and stays the night. He always has the blue guest room. But last night he didn't stay."

"Not that I knew it," Josie interrupted, raising herself on her elbow. "I knocked on his door when I came up the first time.
That was about half past eight. I thought—" she hesitated. "I thought he answered that time."

"I see!" Brennan said. "You knocked to wake him up and you thought he answered. What did he say?"

"I thought he said 'All right!
Yes!' or something like that. So then I went to Mr. Judd's room and knocked and he said 'All right, I'm up.'"

"But, that first trip, Mr. Drane did not answer?"

"No, sir, but I didn't think anything of it. Mr. Drane don't often have to be called; he always woke up of himself. I thought he was in the bathroom, likely, and would be down. I just knocked on his door and went on, sort of reminding him. The others I waited for an answer because they were guests, and guests ain't sure."

"And the second time you came up you got no farther than Mr.
Drane's door? You fainted there?"

"Yes, sir; that's it."

"Show me the two guest rooms," Brennan said to Zella, and she went with him, first to the yellow room Judd had occupied and then to the blue room with its untouched bed. Brennan looked around the rooms without much care, but on his way to the stairs he called the officer named Joe and told him to look into the two rooms carefully. Zella went back to Josie and Brennan went down to the lower floor.

As Brennan reached the lower hall the screen of the front door was pulled open and a young man, his face betraying his excitement, came in.

"Oh!" he exclaimed. "I know who you are; you're the detective.
I saw you—it was when our house was robbed and I was before the grand jury to tell what was stolen."

"Yes, you're Robert Carter," Brennan said simply. "Seven three four Beech Avenue. You made a good witness. Your man went to the pen. You a friend here?"
"Yes, Amy," young Carter said, reddening more. "We're—we would have been—engaged. I just heard of this awful business and I came as soon as I could. Is she—"

"Eating breakfast, I shouldn't wonder," Brennan said. "Go right in, if it's the usual thing and you want to. I've been put on this case and I'm looking it over a bit."

"If there's anything I can do—" Carter suggested.

"No; never mind that now," Brennan said. "I'll take it up with you if I need to. I want to talk to Miss Drane next and you can help me most by steadying her down if she's excited at all. Tell her I'm out here on the porch and will see her whenever she's ready.
No hurry. Let her take her own time. Tell her it's nothing to be afraid of."

"That's fine of you," Carter said, putting out his hand impulsively.

"Brennan is the name," the detective said, shaking Carter's hand. "Trot along now."

Bob Carter found Amy and Simon Judd finishing their breakfast and about to arise. Mrs.
Vincent sat at the end of the table had eaten nothing, merely sipping tea, and her face showed she was still in great pain. Impulsively Amy arose as Carter entered and he was holding her in his arms before he was aware he had intended to do any such thing.

"Oh, Bob, Bob! Isn't it dreadful!" Amy cried as he tried to comfort her. "If I didn't have you I wouldn't know what to do!"

"Yes—well, you've got me all right, honey," he said. "Don't you take it so hard. It's bad enough, but you want to buck up. No good in letting it get you too hard.
We'll stick it out together."

"It's so good to have you here," she said, wiping her eyes again.
"I don't mean to break down. I'm trying to—to not."

"That's the idea!" Carter agreed.

"And now, look 'n' here, honey—there's a detective fellow out there wants to talk to you. Just don't let it worry you, that's all. He won't be rough; he's a nice sort.
And we needn't go out until you're ready; he says he's in no hurry."

"I'm ready now, Bob," she said.
"You'll come, Mr. Judd?"

"Sure!" cried Simon Judd widely.
"Surest thing you know. Detectives are the thing I want to see;
I'm going to be one myself!"

"You'll see a good one when you see this Brennan," Carter said.
"None better."

"That's the kind I want to see," said Simon Judd, and they went out to the veranda. Brennan arose as they appeared.

"Miss Drane," he said. "And this would be Mr. Judd? My name's Brennan as Carter has probably told you. I've been put on this case. I've got to ask some questions of you, Miss Drane, but if there are any you don't care to answer in a crowd we'll leave them until later. No, you men need not go; I'd rather have you here—the young lady is less apt to be nervous. Let's sit down; we may as well be comfortable."

"I've had the officers make a search of three rooms up there," Brennan said. "Mr. Drane's room —we'll call him that, or call her that—and the room Mr. Dart was to occupy, and your room, Mr.
Judd."

"Suits me all right," Simon Judd said heartily. "Anything you do suits me; I'm going to be a detective myself, and the way you do it is what I want to see."

"We'll talk that over later, then," said Brennan after a glance at the huge Westerner. "I don't suppose, Miss Drane, we'll find anything in those rooms that will mean anything, although a man can never tell. I've talked to Josie and got all she could tell me, and Zella has told me her story. You, they say, were the second person to reach Mr.
Drane's door. Just tell me why you went there and what you saw."

Amy, folding and refolding her handkerchief, told what she already knew.

"Yes; nothing in all that," said Brennan. "Now, have you personally any reason to think any particular person killed?" He pointed toward the house with his thumb.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

JUST WORK

Regular, legitimate toil never harmful any one. We often hear of "overwork" being a cause of break-down mentally and physically; but, when we look carefully into the matter, we find the victim, long prior to his invalidism, wrecked the machinery of his body by improper feeding, irregular sleep, and unsystematic exercise. Can you imagine a tubby, nervel-chair, club-hidden gormaznizer, getting exercise from a ride in an upholstered automobile, and three hours a week devoted to santing around a fancy golf course, where he does his heavy-ballasted canvas more harm than good? Wouldn't you think he is about fifteen or more years too late with his "exercise?" There is no hope of long life for that sort of man—absolutely none! He is in danger every moment he exists.

One thing our city business men should remember: There is a vast difference between "good business" and "right living." My idea is, there is nothing that pays quite so well as a rigorous adherence to proper care of the body. It is a shame that we violate every law of diet, sleep, and exercise—the young—and put the blame on overwork.
Does Providence remove the man that commits suicide?

I knew a man who worked in a stone-quarry on his farm until he was near eighty. "A freak," you say. No, you are the freak! This man ate regularly, never sat in a swivel chair in his life; when tired, he rested. He had his full allotment of fresh air; he slept eight hours every night; he ate just what he wanted and no more. He died at eighty-two—and he didn't die of overwork. His was a perfectly natural death.

Employer: "Really, Topson, your figures are disgraceful. Just look at that three. Anyone would take it for a five."

Employer: "Well, I should have sworn it was a three."

George Eastman, Kodak King, has introduced a process whereby amateur motion pictures may be produced scenes in full natural colors. The new process utilizes a three color "light filter" and a new film with minute cylindrical lenses.

he thinks one fighter more or less won't be noticed over there.
