

RAIL CROSSING CRASH KILLS YOUTH

Now Here's
the Proposition

AN INVESTMENT TIP

There's the whirring of a motor
—it's a sound that tells a tale Of a message from the distance brought upon the morning mail.
There's a woman stopping eager from a little farm house door Out along a footworn pathway that she's often walked before.
Now she's looking in the mailbox;
now she walks the pathway back.

Heartened, maybe, by a letter, saddened, maybe, by its lack.
Walking with a slower footstep or a foot that's taken wing
From the little lift of pleasure that a two cent stamp can bring.
For the just a bit of paper that is almost light as air.

But that little scrap of paper sure can carry a load of care.
It can carry loads of pleasure through a thousand miles of space.
It can lift a load of heartache in a mighty distant place.

Though but few the words it carries,
it can brighten for a day When it brings an old world message from a lad that's far away.
Just a little from your pocket,
just a minute of your time.

But the things they will accomplish measure up to the sublime.

And if you stop to balance up the gain against the debt,
That will be one small investment
you will never need regret.

HERE IS THE STRAIGHT
DOPE ON THE OFFICIAL
ROUTE M-60 WILL FOLLOW

We're getting tired of the eternal repetition of that question:
"Do you know where M-60 is going?"

Since it seems that nobody believes what we've printed on the subject, we will vary for once from our usual rule and tell the straight facts of the matter.

Last week we were hurriedly summoned to Lansing to confer with the state highway commission and the following route was divulged as the final and authoritative selection:

Starting at Gallien, it will run in a direct line midway between north by south and south by north, crossing Dayton Lake at a point just south of the Mt. Tabor Grange. From thence it will deviate slightly to the east, through the main business sections of Dayton, Glendora and Baktown, in order to clutch the votes of those municipalities for the party in power, and will enter Buchanan from the north, coming down over the brow of Chamberlain Hill, and down Days Avenue. Detouring around Al Charles' fish pond on account of the insurmountable engineering obstacles, it will run down the alley through the municipal parking ground, and out by River street crossing the river at Batchelor's Island. From there on its route will be determined in accordance with the special act of the legislature which provides that it may not go within five miles of Niles.

The work is in charge of an expert corps of engineers who are now busily engaged in whitening grade stakes in the Ladies' Rest Road. Extreme accuracy is required in their findings, the error margin allowed them being 321 rods to the mile.

Celebrates 76th

W. D. PITCHER SAYS LAST 20 YEARS HAVE BEEN
BEST OF LIFE

W. D. Pitcher, veteran Buchanan fruit grower, celebrated his 76th birthday Saturday, Sept. 22, having seen the light of day, metaphorically speaking, just 75 years before at four o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Pitcher has packed a varied experience in his 75 years, having spent 34 years on the road as a commercial traveler, 10 years as a printer and journalist in New York city, and the past 18 years as a farmer, developing the beautiful place which he has named Roselawn Gardens, on the north side of the Michigan Central railway a short distance east of the Campbell Transmission factory.

"The last 20 years have been the happiest of my life," Mr.
Pitcher states. "I get more pleasure out of my little farm than I ever did at anything else I ever worked at."

Pitcher is as active as most men 20 years younger, and still devotedly all the work on his fruit farm of 20 acres, in addition to selling fruit over Buchanan daily for four months during the summer and fall.

As an outstanding incident of his life Mr. Pitcher relates that while he was a reporter in New York City he was one of the first to cross Brooklyn bridge, making the trip across by basket with a party of newspaper men, when the structure was still incomplete.

The basket was swung by wire,
He was also a witness of the formal opening of the bridge, when crowds rushed onto the structure from both the New York and

Brooklyn sides, meeting in the middle in a riot that resulted in the death of a number of people.

He started his newspaper career in the metropolis by setting type on the New York World. Later he was editor of the News-Advance, a weekly newspaper which was published in the Harlem district. Still later he edited the Hudson River Democrat at Caxoskie, 20 miles south of Albany, N. Y.

Leaving the profession on account of ill health, he went to Wisconsin, where he traveled as a salesman for many years. He continued his work on the road for several years after coming to Buchanan 19 years ago.

ALSO THIS IS WHAT COMES FROM BEING
IN TOO BIG HURRY

Possible results of the time honored feminine practice of banking the roll in the sock were illustrated by a mysterious happening which was investigated by Under Sheriff C.
P. Smith of Glendora last week.
It appears that a boy attending a country school near New Buffalo has been in the practice of riding his bicycle to school and parking it in a brush patch a short distance from the school house. One morning he left it there as usual. When he went after it, he found beside it a pile of feminine clothing and a roll of bank notes amounting to $12.

A notice was sent to the sheriff's office at St. Joseph and deputy Smith was delegated to investigate. The only clue he found in the clothing was a receipt made out to a woman by a Saginaw undertaker. Communications with the undertaker revealed that the woman whom the receipt had been made out to had driven to Saginaw by car to attend a funeral, and had started for Oklahoma again. A letter had been received in Saginaw stating that she had lost her money, and thought that she had left it where she changed her clothing along the road. The money was forwarded to her.

Speeding Drivers Work Havoc On Telephone Poles

Deadly Precision of Aim Results
In Two Broken Poles

The deadly precision of aim which is being developed by local motorists is evidenced by two telephone poles in or near Buchanan which were broken off during the past week by colliding automobiles.

Boots Thompson of Niles was the first to achieve a broken pole, having wandered from the straight line while leaving Buchanan by 31-60 and crashing into a pole opposite the Henry Adams farm a half mile west of town. Thompson was thrown from the car by the shock of the collision, but the car went on, careening up the lawn in front of the farm house.

Mr. Vandervelde heard the car coming and rushed out to find it stopped in front of his door, while Thompson was picking himself up.

Thompson was evidently under the influence of liquor and was taken in tow by Motorcycle Officer Dummer, who took him before Justice Al Charles, where he was fined $10 for drunkenness. The fact that he was not in the car rendered it impossible under the Michigan law to charge him with driving while intoxicated.

A second pole was broken by collision on West Front street.

Prestol River Vanishes!
Meeker, Colo., Sept. 27.—A portion of the headwaters of the White River, at Trappers' Lake, above here, disappeared overnight.

The portion was three miles long.
One morning last week all the residents could find of the stream was a dry bed in which lay thousands of trout, dead and dying.

An overflow from Trappers' Lake, Colorado, maintains a fish hatchery, starts the headwaters of the White River.

Suddenly it was noticed that the river was not where it ought to be.

Instead there was a great hole into which the water had disappeared.

Search of three miles of the river bed disclosed that there was no running water in the stream.
A little further on, however, the water reappeared, coming from hole in the side of the hill. Then the course of the river continued.

It was generally believed the stream had cut to an underground passage or lake that may have been caused by an earth shock or a slipping of earth and that the cave provided an easier course for the river.

COUNCIL TO RAISE ISSUE CITY GOV'T.

Petition To Be Revived By Village Trustees At Next Meeting

READY FOR ELECTION

The issue of changing from the village to city form of government is to be revived at the next meeting of the council to be held Tuesday evening of next week, according to a statement by several village officials.

The matter was discussed at the September meeting and the general sentiment was in favor of the change. Previous action had not been taken, awaiting the entire completion of the financial arrangements necessary for the construction of pavement on Portage street. No action was taken at that meeting due to the fact that the wrong petition had been brought before the meeting.

Members of the administration state that the petition carrying three hundred local signatures is a mandate to them to submit the question to a special election, and that they are now ready to prepare the matter for an expression of the popular will.

In addition to the many advantages argued in favor of the city form, and the additional prestige to be derived from the change, certain road construction matters are now pending which make it expedient to change during the near future if at all.

Scout Troop 41 Teams Compete In Hunt for Treasure

The "treasure hunt" Tuesday night by Scouts of Troop 41 was won by Ernest Beadle and Richard Milner, each receiving a fine kit of signal flags. Second place went to the team composed of John Strayer and Mr. Aronson, who received books, "Four Boys and a Fortune," and "The Crimson Rider." The booty prizes, ice cream cones, went to George Cooper and L. Johnston.

Before the hunt, Troop 41 held their first emergency mobilization, having six officers and seventeen Scouts in line in less than thirty minutes. The order was given to Assistant Scoutmaster Leo Slate, who drove with bugler Robert Dempsey past each officer's house, sounding the assembly. This was part of Troop 41's program. In keeping with the Scout motto, "Be Prepared."

The treasure hunt started at the Methodist church, where Scouts teamed off and received their cryptic clues:

"Where the wicked pay for their
many sins,
Where citizens vote and their candidate wins,
Where our City Dads in their councils grave,
Pass the many laws that make us rave,"

and they quickly found the "City Hall."

With similar rhymed clues they found their way to the Postoffice, the Michigan Central passenger station, Scoutmaster Ken Blake's home, the Clark Equipment bridge and pond, Kathryn Park, the Waterworks, the big schoolhouse, the Advent Christian church, and finally came—

"At the local headquarters of a youthful band,
The treasure is guarded by a criple man.

Walk right up to him and say,
"Are you the one who gives treasures away?"

And Assistant Scoutmaster Herman Boyer gave the sweating "argonauts" the "treasures" as they finished at the Methodist church.
A ghostly figure waited in the dim shadows to give further clues at each of the places mentioned.

The program was the third by Assistant Scoutmasters Slate, Wood and Mitchell, besides the week-end overnight hike to Mad-ron lake last Saturday, in which fourteen officers and Scouts participated. The next Tuesday program will be another surprise.

DIFFICULTY WORKING
OUTSIDE SCHOOL

Direction of the high school band was taken over the first of the week by L. A. Kaler, newly elected instructor. R. R. Robinson having given up the position of director when it became apparent that it would be impossible to arrange practice hours outside of school that would suit the convenience of all of the players.

Mr. Robinson has already performed a considerable service in starting young people on their way toward proficiency in band music. He will continue to cooperate by giving individual instruction outside of school hours.

Mr. Kaler has had some exper-

it is hoped that the organization will go forward under his direction, until it can fill the very large place that is waiting for it, in the life of the school.

Rooster Struts from Tomb Latrobe, Pa., Sept. 27.—The endurance prize goes to a rooster discovered on the T. J. Elmer farm. The rooster's a regular savor of the Black Arts.

He was buried thirty-two days under a mow full of wheat before being discovered. When rescued, the bird appeared doped, but after shaking himself several times emitted a feeble crow and began to strut.

alive" trick had better look to

Notice Of Change Of Ownership

Before the next issue of the Record will appear, title to the property will have passed from McClure Bros. to H. L. Hayden, who is buying back the property after a thorough examination of a number of plants over the country convinced him of the difficulty of duplicating it satisfactorily.

McClure Bros. took charge of the Record April 1, after selling the Chelsea Standard, where they had been associated for five years. During the six months of their management they have carried on a very satisfactory business, and have worked conscientiously to publish a paper that would serve the interests of the community. They plan to enter the newspaper business again in new locations as soon as they can and satisfactory openings.

Mr. Hayden is well known to the people of Buchanan, having published the Record from Jan. 1, 1928, until selling to the McClures April 1. He states that he was influenced largely in buying back by his pleasant impressions of the town as a place of residence during his eight months' stay. He has a successful record of newspaper management in Michigan and in the west, and his ownership is a guarantee of the continuance of a successful publishing business serving the needs of Buchanan.

John C. Coleman
Wedded Tuesday
To Baroda Girl

John C. Coleman, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Coleman, who live on a farm three miles southwest of Buchanan, was wedded at 3 p. m. Tuesday, Sept. 18, his bride being Miss Olga Rick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Rick of Baroda.

The marriage was performed in a Baroda church, the witnesses being Leo Rick, brother of the bride, and Miss Dorothy Quandt, of St. Joseph. Following the ceremony, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents, after which the wedded pair left for a short honeymoon trip to Chicago. They will make their home in Buchanan.

Best to Return
As Scout Leader
Here Next Year

James Best, Boy Scout field executive for the Berrien-Cass area, has been re-appointed to that position for another year, and has delayed entering the University of the City of New York until the middle of November when he will go to complete his course in scout administrative work. Best plans to complete his course within two months, and may be able to be in the field here again by the first of January. He has been able to strengthen the troops of this area very materially during his term, and his return here is welcomed by the scout members whose loyalty has been won by his sincere and efficient work in the field.

As the result of a motor accident, a lady being removed to hospital was attended to by a doctor, who remarked: "I'll sew that I only want plain sewing, you know, not hemstitching and embroidery."

Guests Say Buchanan Recep- tion Finest Along Route

FLAG IS PRESENTED
Pupils From Village and Country Schools
Out En Masse

Buchanan was honored yesterday by a visit with 90 leading citizens of the beautiful city of Grand Rapids, wholesale jobbing center of the lower peninsula, who came to increase the already friendly relations between the two towns.

"This is the finest reception we have met in any place along our route," was the expressed sentiment of a number of the trade excursionists as they met the throng of 700 school children representing the Buchanan schools and several nearby rural schools, plus several hundred citizens of the town.

The excursion was met by forty automobiles, which transported the Grand Rapids men on a short trip to the Clark Equipment Company and thence to the business section where the crowd formed at the junction of Front and Main, and the band which accompanied the special train played several selections. Lee Bierce, secretary of the Grand Rapids Chamber of Commerce then presented to the Buchanan schools a fine American flag, accompanying the presentation with a short talk on the virtues which the national emblem represents. The gift was gratefully accepted by Virginia Snowden, as president of the high school student body.

The visiting band then played
"The Star Spangled Banner," and the quartet accompanying the excursion sang several songs. The high school, led by Miss Olson, responded with a good show of spirit, following which Maynard Post, chief leader, set off a rousing cheer for the guests.

An impromptu platform was furnished for the speakers by the large Troost Bros. Furniture truck, which also hauled two dozen of the Grand Rapids men to the depot.

Accompanying the excursion was H. G. Hart, representing the Grand Rapids Herald, published by Senator Arthur Vandenberg. He paid a pleasant visit at the Record office.

Pomona Grange
To Meet Tuesday
At Pipestone

The Berrien County Pomona Grange will hold a county-wide meeting Tuesday of next week at the Pipestone hall on the Watervillet road six miles north of Eau Claire, with County Master Wynn Armstrong in charge. Sessions will be held in the morning, afternoon and evening, with lunch and evening meal served to the visiting representatives from all granges of the county. Covert act roads will be a main consideration.

Wheat Planting
To Be Finished
Here This Week

Winter wheat sowing will be practically completed here this week, 75 per cent of the crop being now in the ground, with planting being rapidly pushed on the remainder.

The seed is going into the ground under unusually favorable conditions this fall, being sowed
"in the dust," with a subsoil well stored with moisture, which is considered an ideal bed. An unusual amount of fertilizer has been used here for wheat ground, carloads having been sold by the Buchanan branch of the St. Joe Valley Shipping Association along, practically all of it going on wheat ground. Considerable phosphate was used, running from 20 per cent to 44 per cent, and also much
"2-12-2" mixture of nitrogen, phosphoric acid and potash.

THE quilts like grandmother used to make are all the rage just now. The fortunate possessors of the real old ones are lucky indeed and can display them with pride.

However, those of us who have not the antique coverlets can be well content with those we can make. The patterns for the quilting may be purchased from almost any pattern service. These designs are varied and may be found to carry out almost any idea or to suit any taste.

The pieces of material for the quilt itself may be from the scrap bag or may be purchased in the desired colors. The wool or cotton for filling may be bought as well in the necessary size.

Quilting Necessities
A regular quilting frame or a wooden curtain stretcher will be necessary for the quilting if it is to be done by hand. On it can be done quickly and easily on a sewing machine. Either one will

BUCHANAN DIVISION

Bowlers to Organize Tuesday Evening

ALL INTERESTED IN PIN CRASHING URGED TO ATTEND. ORGANIZATION REQUIRED TO ENTER A. B. C. TWO LEAGUES TO BE FORMED. LADIES' LEAGUE TO BE FORMED.

All who are interested in bowling are requested to be present at a meeting at the Buchanan Bowling Club alleys, starting at 8 p. m. Tuesday evening, for the purpose of starting the ball rolling in the winter tournaments.

The business of the meeting will be to form an organization of bowlers, with officers who will be empowered to open negotiations with the American Bowling Congress for recognition, thus making it possible to gain official sanction for any good marks which may be set up in the local alleys.

It is desirable that all prospective team members be present, or at least that each team have at least one representative present. As far as possible team line-ups will be arranged, and rules adopted to govern the team play during the tournaments. The latter being a condition of entrance to the bowling congress.

It is planned that two leagues will be formed this year, one for scratch and one for handicap players. The division to be made according to arrangements to be made at the meeting. The league will contain 8 to 12 and the handicap league 12 to 16 according to present arrangements. Last year's teams are expected to line up with practically the same membership.

Plans are also under way for the formation of a six-team league of ladies, who are to have a special night when they will have the use of the alleys, as well as a season on all other occasions.

Who are at all interested in the great indoor sport of pin crashing are urged to be present, whether they were members of teams last year or not.

Does 55 Days Without Food
7 Days on Lime Juice
Toronto, Ont., Sept. 27.—Peter Henderson, thirty, whose normal weight is 171, is reduced to 90 pounds. He is recovering at the Toronto General Hospital after fasting fifty-five days and substituting seven days more on lime juice only. This is Henderson's second fast this year. In May he went without food of any kind for thirty days.

His fasts are on the advice of a physical culture publication advocating this treatment for indigestion, from which he suffered. His case brought to mind Mrs. Leonard, who died last year after fasting fifty-five days on the advice of a "specialist."

ONE INNING SLUMP COST BLUES GAME

Michigan Central Nine Scores 6 Times in Sixth

COMEBACK FALLS SHORT

The baleful shadow of Ol' Man Calamity again hovered over the Buchanan Blues Sunday, causing them to let another game slip through their fingers in a moment of weakness after it should have been won.

Which goes to further illustrate that winning teams are known by their consistent playing.

The weak moment which caused the downfall of the Blues came in the sixth, when they were leading 3-1. The trouble began when an outfield substitute dropped a fly and let third baseman Fries of Niles reach the second sack. The next Niles man up reached first on another error, which apparently demoralized pitcher Belt, who lost control and permitted four hits in a row, filling the bases and scoring Fries and Swanson. At this opportune time, the Blue infielder unified another, scoring Corcoran and Wright. Root and Smith of Niles circled the diamond by the hit route, completing the devastation.

The score now read 7-3 and the Blues pulled themselves together in a brave attempt to come back. Miller and Bailey cracking out singles and coming home on Nash's single. Then pitcher Smith of Niles tightened and held them hitting fifty-five days and substituting seven days more on lime juice only. This is Henderson's second fast this year. In May he went without food of any kind for thirty days.

and social workers in all cities where "The Natural Law" has enjoyed lengthy runs and comes to Niles as a guaranteed attraction. While it entertains, it also educates. It not only shows what is needed, but carries it thru to an accomplishment of the work to rid the menace of social disease from society at large, in the unreeling of intolerable unbelievable conditions as they exist today.

With the birth of the motion picture it was only made possible to present this masterpiece of the screen in every town, hamlet and city, in order that such a delicate subject could be brought before the masses without giving offense.

The scenes, while true to nature itself, are visualized in such a way that they are indelibly stamped upon the memory compelling your resolution to be ever on the alert to prevent this dreaded contagion and ravage of the social disease.

Special reels are shown daily at each performance for both sexes and segregated audiences being the rule, the management has set aside Monday matinee and night for men only and for women only Tuesday matinee and night.

The Princess Theatre closes a brilliant September, and promises even more for October, with Myrna Loy in the colorful "Crimson City" melodrama Sunday matinee and night. Clara Bow, who made a great hit in "It," comes tonight and tomorrow in "Rough House Rosie," and Patsy Ruth Miller makes another appearance Saturday matinee and evening in "The Red Riders of Canada," a real whirlwind of action and daring.

Manager Homer P. Morley announces a fine list of notable plays from the most famous authors of today, and with the outstanding screen stars appearing almost nightly. Jim Tully, bobo author of five best selling novels, is represented by "Beggars of Life," on Tuesday and Wednesday, with Wallace Beery as the hero. Wallace has no equal as a big, vital, burly tramp, and he has the advantage of being directed by Wm. Wellman, of "Wings" fame.

Al Jolson's "Jazz Singer," which was to appear here as a talkie, but failed because the mechanism failed to produce high class results, will be seen Thursday and Friday of next week, with the inimitable minstrel as the hero. Mr. Morley still plans to install the speaking movies.

Zane Grey's "The Water Hole," coming soon, with Jack Holt and Nancy Carroll, is full of suspense, humor and near tragedy. A proposal on a bet, treacherous Indians in a treacherous desert, water 90 miles away, pranks, and timely rescue come tumbling across the screen. A feature of the picture that raises it above the ordinary is the beautiful scenes, and views, most of which are photographed in colors.

Reynolds' "Liza," European fashion artist, says that a woman cannot acquire charm until she is thirty or more. Evidently a stunt to get women to tell him their right ages!

A most interesting play, coming Sunday, October 21st, is "The Strange Case of Mr. Ramper." It is a psychological study of a man lost in the Arctic, living, but losing all but the savage power to win life. It proves the potential fineness in all mankind, even those most desperately underprivileged. It is not a play for immature children, but is strong meat for men and women. It is as true to the psychology of life as German scholars can make it.

Rin Tin Tin, most popular of dogs, comes in "A Race for Life," on October 16 and 17, and George Bancroft will be the hero of "The Docks of New York," the 25th and 26th. This is a waterfront adventure story with international and underworld implications.

All the month fine action pictures will be seen—westerns and world adventures. In them will be seen Leo Maloney, Jack Hoxie, who has been away for some time, Monte Blue, Hoot Gibson, Ted Wells and Richard Dix, who was here the other day in "Warming Up." This time he appears

The scenes, while true to nature itself, are visualized in such a way that they are indelibly stamped upon the memory compelling your resolution to be ever on the alert to prevent this dreaded contagion and ravage of the social disease.

Special reels are shown daily at each performance for both sexes and segregated audiences being the rule, the management has set aside Monday matinee and night for men only and for women only Tuesday matinee and night.

The Princess Theatre closes a brilliant September, and promises even more for October, with Myrna Loy in the colorful "Crimson City" melodrama Sunday matinee and night. Clara Bow, who made a great hit in "It," comes tonight and tomorrow in "Rough House Rosie," and Patsy Ruth Miller makes another appearance Saturday matinee and evening in "The Red Riders of Canada," a real whirlwind of action and daring.

Manager Homer P. Morley announces a fine list of notable plays from the most famous authors of today, and with the outstanding screen stars appearing almost nightly. Jim Tully, bobo author of five best selling novels, is represented by "Beggars of Life," on Tuesday and Wednesday, with Wallace Beery as the hero. Wallace has no equal as a big, vital, burly tramp, and he has the advantage of being directed by Wm. Wellman, of "Wings" fame.

RIPE CALIFORNIA FIGS

In combination with bran, put flavor and zest into what many consider a too-desirable dish when attempting to eat bran alone.

In Fig Bran Flakes the real originators of Battle Creek health foods have prepared for every-day use a fruit, palatable flaked food that has a likable taste. It is a combination that unites the age-old laxative quality of the fig with the mechanical cleansing of suitably prepared bran.

Blended in just the right proportions they form a dish which breakfast appetites find pleasant and satisfying. And with that satisfaction comes the keen stimulus that the mind receives from a diet that breaks no law that Nature is determined to enforce.

About Your Health
Things You Should Know

by John Joseph Gaines, M. D.

LEST WE FORGET
Oxygen is absolutely essential to human life. Let the supply of oxygen be diminished, and the health suffers accordingly. There is no danger of an over-supply of oxygen from the air about us.

Oxygen is stimulant-tonic. Pure oxygen gas is a destroyer, and is not met with, save in the laboratory. It is a supporter of combustion—a steel watch-spring will burn in it, as a plane splinter will burn in the air. Oxygen burns up impurities in the blood, reaching them through our lungs.

Oxygen in proper dilution with nitrogen makes up the air we breathe. Our "moulden dust" is to get plenty of pure air—we are in little danger of getting an overdose.

If you are in the habit of lying in bed until nine o'clock these mornings, you are not getting the health-giving supply of oxygen that you must have if you would be vigorous. The habit of lying in bed until long after sunrise, is pernicious in the extreme. That debauch dinner that you devoured at six o'clock the evening before, and which you should not have eaten at all, gave up at least fifty per cent of deadening impurities. You felt dull, apathetic, and appetiteless, when you crawled out of bed at nine in the morning; you were simply poisoned, and—did it yourself; if a physician tried to poison you, you'd want to trash him if not more. You prefer to commit your own suicide!

Nitrogen deadens. You consume an over-dose of nitrogenous foods—its effect is certain. You take away the nitrogen excess with oxygen, derived from both air and water—for water! is one-third oxygen, derived from both air and harness the lungs with bed-covers nine or ten hours, it is no wonder you feel lazy and incapable. Get up early—and drink freely of water; get back your "pep."

Dahlia Mexican Flower
The dahlia was first discovered in Mexico in 1615, where it was growing in the wilderness of the Sierras in myriads of colors. The Spanish botanists, Cervantes and Cavanilles, were the first to appreciate the greatness of this flower. Seeds of the dahlia were received at the royal gardens at Madrid in 1780 by Abbe Cavanilles. The first of these seeds flowered in 1790, producing semi-double flowers which were named after Dr. Andrew Dahl, a Swedish botanist.

"Tammany's" Beginning
Tammany is a corruption of Tammenee, the name of an early chief of the Delaware Indians. In 1780, W. N. Mooney organized a secret society adopting many Indian rites and ceremonies and the corrupted name Tammany. He called the organization "Sons of St. Tammany."

BIG MEN FROM SMALL TOWNS

CLARENCE S. DARROW
The story of Clarence S. Darrow, in brief, is the story of a boy born in a small town, self educated, who by dint of his broad humanitarianism and constant espousal of unpopular causes, rather than by his pelf or money making propensities, has become known all over the world as one of the greatest lawyers America has ever produced.

It is one of the most inspiring stories in the world, for Clarence Darrow's life has been a noble one devoted to fighting for the right as he saw it, regardless of popular opinion and with no bow to Mammon. For this great lawyer has come to the defense of many accused persons unable to compensate him for his services. He has always helped the under dog and those he has thought unjustly accused.

caused. Darrow loves to take up lost causes and win them. He has great personal magnetism and is a marvelous orator. He is popularly known as the lawyer who has never lost a case. This may be an exaggeration, but it is very close to the truth.

Darrow was born in Kinsman, Ohio, then moved to Ashtabula. He early interested himself in politics, and in fact attention was first directed to him as the result of his political utterances. Shortly after the beginning of his career he had the opportunity of becoming the lawyer of a great corporation; it would have meant a life of great wealth, but Darrow turned down the offer, as the handling of criminal cases appealed to him more. He wanted to be always in a position to help those needing help. Although he is retired now, Darrow is active in many ways and when a case particularly interests him, he forgets that he is retired and gets right into the fray. A born fighter, with a great heart.

Darrow's life is remarkable in that it shows us how a boy born in a small town, self educated, has come to be one of the greatest lawyers in the country through sheer native cleverness and kindness. Darrow takes a liberal view on all public questions, and is even now in his retirement constantly traveling and making speeches in all parts of the country. He is very active in a fight for the more lenient treatment of criminals, and is the moving spirit of the League to Abolish Capital Punishment. It is Darrow's opinion that people do not commit crimes because they are bad, but because of their environment and mental and physical disorders. He would have criminals treated as if they were ill, rather than punished. Many of Darrow's ideas are unpopular and considered impractical, but he has devoted his life to their furtherance with single-hearted devotion. And as a result he has gained universal respect as a fighter, orator, and humanitarian. The many great criminal cases in which he has figured prominently and brilliantly are too well known to be enumerated here.

Canvas Modern Buckskin
The modern hunter uses canvas where Daniel Boone and the old timers would have used the skin of some animal, according to a writer in Field and Stream. "Canvas is in reality a substitute for skins," he writes. "Its principal uses are for clothing, shelter and equipment. The pioneer wore trousers, moccasins, and a shirt or a jacket made of buckskin. The modern hunter sallies forth clad in a canvas cap or hat, canvas gloves, canvas hunting coat, canvas trousers, canvas leggings, and sometimes canvas-topped shoes."

IF WAR VANISHED.
PAIN AND SUFFERING.
ABOLISHING POVERTY.
PADLOCKS FOR HOMES?

That pact outlawing war is signed, and for the present, nations seem to take it seriously. Suppose the improbable should happen, and all nations suddenly abandon war. What would happen?

Earth's population has been regulated by WAR, DISEASE, FAMINE.

Machinery and better government have practically eliminated famine.

Science has almost eliminated the plagues that killed wholesale.

No more "Black Death." With war gone, what would prevent growth of population greater than the earth could sustain?

Divine Wisdom, ruling the earth is probably able to solve that problem as it has taken care of others, including the most difficult, how to keep populations GROWING in spite of war, plague and famine.

The Rev. Dr. Auer, who teaches philosophy at Tufts College, says men should not seek to AVOID pain and suffering but to UNDERSTAND BOTH.

That is better than the old theory that God actually wanted men to suffer.

When anaesthetics were first used, the clergy of Britain denounced them as interfering with God's wishes.

God wishes us to suffer when we have our legs cut off, and men must not interfere with His plans by using chloroform, thus cheating the Lord, said the preachers.

An ingenious doctor answered, to the confusion of clergymen, quoting the Book of Genesis, asserting that the Lord was the One to use anaesthetics when He "caused a deep sleep to fall upon Adam" before removing one of Adam's ribs to make Eve.

Men should understand pain and suffering, of course, as the rever-

GALIEN
At 12:10 p. m. Wednesday, the students of Galien school met at the depot to greet the Goodwill Land Cruise representing the business men of Grand Rapids. The Grand Rapids band contributed several pieces of music suitable for the occasion. Each student was presented with small souvenirs and the school was presented with a beautiful American flag.

Word was received in Buchanan Monday that a daughter was born that day to Mrs. Edwin Peck in a Los Angeles hospital. Lieut. and Mrs. Peck made their home in Coronado, Calif.

end philosopher Auer says. But they should also concentrate on eliminating both by scientific means, and especially by abolishing poverty.

The best thing in Herbert Hoover's speech of acceptance, the best thing said by any presidential candidate since Lincoln, was his statement expressing the hope that by giving every man a job, well paid, poverty may be made to disappear.

In Minnesota prohibition officials threaten to padlock wet homes.

Quite a surprise for the Minnesota ploughman homeward plodding his weary way, or children from the public schools to find the front and back door padlocked, and be compelled to sleep in the garage.

One way to kill a thing is to make it ridiculous.

Seven thousand miles happen to be the distance in a straight line across the Pacific Ocean. Planes able to make that trip ought to interest us.

But we haven't any air ministry. Our government doesn't yet realize that airplanes really exist. This nation, richest in the world, depends on private individuals to develop the airplane. We may pay for that some day and be compelled to call on British airplanes to help us as we had to call on British ships to help us in the big war.

What we are saving now on airplanes may cost us a thousand dollars for one some fine day.

Value of Old Books
A general belief is that books are valuable simply because they are old. This is a common fallacy. Unless an old book is sought after by collectors of today, it has no market value.

Truck Upsets and Scrambles 2,500 Eggs Near Galien

Two thousand five hundred eggs were smeared over the landscape in the general vicinity of M-60 a half mile northeast of Galien yesterday when a large truck belonging to a commission company tipped over while rounding a curve there.

The accident is said to have been caused by a spring in the rear of the truck giving way. The running gears and chassis did not tip over the box of the truck alone coming loose and rolling in to the bar pit. Due to secure packing, most of the cargo of eggs was saved, the loss being estimated at seven cases, or about 210 dozen.

GALIEEN MEN TO MASQUERADE IN FEMININE TOGS

WOMANLESS WEDDING TO BE STAGED, AUSTICES FRI. CULTURE CLUB

Galien business men will cram their corpulence into corset stays and wear the powder put and lip stick with a still born of long and close observation on the evening of October 4th and 5th, when they will take the stage in the "Womanless Wedding," a production given here for the second time, on this occasion under the auspices of the Friday Culture Club.

The presentation will be directed by a representative of the Simpson-Lewis Company. While it has been seen here before, its amusing situations never fail to arouse amusement. Costumes representing practically all the styles evolved during the past half century are being assembled, with prospects that the stage will hold a number of "come-on cuties" that will fairly outshine the feminine part of the community, who for once will be reduced to the role of audience.

Hopes of Mint Growers Dashed By Lower Price

Hopes of Galien mint growers for improvement in the pepper-mint oil market have been somewhat dashed during the past week, notice having been received by the buyers in the field not to purchase any at more than $2.75 per pound. The price had advanced from $2.50 to $3.00 since the beginning of the harvest, and growers have been holding in hopes of further advances.

Italy is to receive two and a half million dollars in taxes on bachelors. Probably no taxes have ever been so cheerfully paid.

START OF GALIEEN BEET HARVEST DELAYED 2 WEEKS

CROP IS VERY POOR, DUE TO BLIGHT FROM TOO MUCH MOISTURE

The sugar beet harvest in the Galien district will be in the neighborhood of two weeks late this fall, due to delay in making repairs on the factory, the present prospects being that digging will not start before the middle of October, according to Warren Hagley, local field man for the Holland-St. Louis Sugar Company. The crop will be very poor this year, the blight which struck the crop all over Michigan and Indiana about August 1 having cut the growth short. The blight was caused by excessive rainfall, and killed the leaves, which checked growth of the roots. Due to the unusual amount of moisture in the ground, the roots did not have to go down for moisture, and the beets are unusually short.

The Holland factory will not open this year.

Biology Students Are Seeing Snakes In Class Periods

The biological class room of the Galien high school has been a "snaky" place for the past week, two non-poisonous reptiles of the water and garter variety which were collected by the class for observation having escaped their cage, and are now at large somewhere under the cabinets in the rooms. While the snakes are harmless, some tense moments have occurred when the snakes came out of hiding during class hours, creating a chorus of wild shrieks from the girls.

CORN CROP NOW PRACTICALLY OUT OF FROST DANGER

BERRIEN COUNTY FARMERS SIDE STEP ENSILAGE FOR ALFALFA

The corn crop of Berrien County is now practically out of danger of frost in all save the lowlands, although another week is needed to place the crop beyond the danger of serious damage from a severe freeze.

Very little of the crop will be converted into ensilage this fall, the silo having been to a great extent retired from consideration in farm operations, in favor of alfalfa. Dairymen are reported to feel that excessive use of silage has been a detriment to milk cows, ruining them after a few years of continuous use.

Federal Ship Subsidy To Be Subject Of Interscholastic Debate This Year

Don Wood Is Sole Survivor of Buchanan Squad of Last Year

Resolved: That a Federal Subsidy for the Development of an American Merchant Marine would be a wise National Policy.

The question for debate this year is of important national issue, and the students out for debating are intensely interested in the question.

B. H. S. is somewhat handicapped inasmuch as we have practically all new material with the exception of Donald Wood who made the position of alternate and who debated against Paw Paw last year.

B. H. S. is already enrolled in the state debating league and has started research work on the question, with their first preliminary debate falling on November 16.

The question has been a cause for national debate over a period of forty years, and consequently there are many interesting arguments for and against, which should prove to make it very interesting.

Credit for the successful coaching of our team the past three years is due to Charles E. King, Eugene Hubbard, our new science instructor, will have charge of the debaters.

OUR GOOD NAME

A good name is a hard thing to get and a harder thing to keep. Buchanan high school has a good name. We, the students, are considered good sports and our teams are known to play a fair, square, and clean game. Much credit is due to those students and to those teams whose good sportsmanship won this honor for our school. Now a great responsibility rests on us—the responsibility of keeping Buchanan high school a school well known and admired for its excellent sportsmanship and for its fair playing.

BRADFELD SQUAD GETS FIRST TEST AT DECATUR SAT.

CASS CO. ELEVEN HELD DOWAGIAC TO 6-0 LAST WEEK

Buchanan's high school football team travels to Decatur, Friday, Sept. 28, for the first game of the season. Decatur should put up a real fight, considering the fact that many of their last year's players are back this year. An example of Decatur's strength this year is shown by the fact that they held Dowagiac to a 6-0 score last week in a scrimmage held at Dowagiac.

Buchanan will take 22 men to Decatur Friday, and incidentally it may be said that every reserve man can fill a position when he is called on. The first team will be equipped with complete new outfits, and Buchanan will have a well equipped and protected team on the field. The team will travel in a new bus and another bus is being hired by the student body so the fellows will have plenty of support from the students. The game starts at 2:30.

The proposed Nation-wide Air Taxi Service may be a good thing, but think of the poor air taxi drivers who won't ever be able to make traffic stops!

Girls Athletic Assoc. Hikes 10 Mi. For Watermelon

O-o-o-o-h! sighed all the G. A. A. members in a delightful voice when Mary Jo Allington, girls' physical education director said, "We'll all get up on Thursday morning and hike to Moccasin Bluff and have our breakfast. All meet at the bank corner."

All the girls were on time except Miss Allington who had to waken her neighbors to collect the cooking utensils she agreed to take.

We arrived at the Bluff at 5:40 the fire was started immediately and the coffee made, then bacon and eggs were fried until everyone was full.

After breakfast the girls rambled off through the woods. Miss Allington collected all the girls at 7:15 and all started back to town very happy.

A ten-mile-hike to Madron lake and a water-melon feast was sponsored by the G. A. A. members on Friday of last week for all the girls who wished to become members of the G. A. A.

"Oh, my dear Madame, she fell into a cataleptic fit and woke up in the middle of the funeral. The noise of the organ and the choir awakened her." "That settles it. There'll be no music at my mother-in-law's funeral."

H. S. Student Council Organizes, Draws Up Plans For Booster Day

STARK SPEAKS TO ASSEMBLY ON SCHOOL LOYALTY

Girls' Glee Club Sings; Season Football Tickets Sold

"Loyalty to the institution, and respect to the teachers and to each other, are the things which we expect from the student body." Thus began Mr. Harold C. Stark, superintendent of schools, in his first address to the students. Mr. Stark went on to commend the general good conduct of the pupils and to stress the rule which positively forbids any student to enter the building before 8:00 in the morning or 1:00 in the afternoon, regardless of any conditions. This rule also prohibits students from keeping books in the study hall, which was provided originally for this purpose. The student must not enter the study hall unless he has no class, between the hours of 8:00 and 3:45, and between 1:00 and 1:15. The penalty of being detained by the teacher in charge, thereby being forced to be absent from his scheduled class.

Following Mr. Stark's address the Girls' Glee club, directed by Miss Olson, rendered its interpretation of "The Little Duetman," by Brahms. Football season tickets were then placed on sale and the program was concluded, as usual, with the singing of the high school song.

ORGANIZATION MAKES FINE START TOWARD YEAR OF SUCCESS

It seems as though every year Buchanan high school has a big surprise in store for someone every year the surprise varying to the greatest point from any other year. This year being the Girls' Glee club.

Years preceding this the Girls' Glee club has been rather unsuccessful as to the number of members in the club as well as to the accomplishments. But this year it looks like the Glee club is going to be a total success.

It seems as though one glimpse of a very keen looking music instructor soon displayed vocal talent from every class in high school of such an extent that the "Girls' Glee Club" now consists of just fifty members.

THIS TIME MAY COME
The time may come when someone will not be extolling the "good old days." When oldsters will not be viewing with alarm the goings-on among the young people. When the comic sheet will not pretend that husbands are henpecked. When a reporter, a detective and a parson on the stage or in the movies will resemble a reporter, a detective and a parson in real life. When popular magazines will think up some new way to adorn their covers without glorifying the American girl. When a man will work as hard as he leads his wife and his friends to think he works. When cynics will not be knocking the church and the church will not be knocking the world. When an employe admits he is being paid all he's worth. When professional reformers admit that society is O. K. and voluntarily quit their jobs. When a man gives up his automobile and explains that he cannot afford one. When somebody will not be prophesying that the world is coming to an end.

ROAD TO SUCCESS
In the attainment of solid, well-founded success there has been found a substitute for honest labor with the hands or mind. The ages have recognized this as an immutable truth, yet every age, including the present, has had its skeptics, its unbelievers, its seekers after fame and fortune without paying the price in work.

Some sage has said that to attain success use half as much effort as you would exert in attempting to seek success without work. There is much wisdom in the axiom that it takes less mental effort to climb to legitimate success than to climb to an illegitimate success. Legitimate achievement requires no fortifications, no protection. Illegitimate achievement demands more in its attainment than in its attainment.

It is a gross injustice to humanity to say that if there is any one thing, more than another, that entitles very much of the attention, time and effort of the people it is in scheming and planning to get something of value for nothing. The number of society's parasites is large but the number of honest, hard-working supporting pillars of society is preponderantly larger.

EIGHTH INSTALLMENT

What happened before Simon Judd, amateur detective, and William Dart, an undertaker, are visiting John Drane, eccentric man of wealth, at the Drane place. Suddenly the household is shocked to find that John Drane has been murdered. The dead man is first seen by Josie, the maid, then by Amy Drane and Simon Judd. The latter faints.

Police officers call and investigations begin. Dr. Blessington is called, and after seeing the murdered John Drane, makes the astounding revelation to Amy Drane that her "uncle" is not a man but a woman.

Dr. Blessington discounts the theory of suicide, saying that Drane was definitely murdered. Dr. Blessington comments on the fact that all the servants in the household of Drane are sick, and that Drane has never discharged a servant for ill health. Dick Brennan, the detective, arrives to investigate the case.

Brennan questions the persons in the house, asking Amy if anyone had any reason to kill her "uncle."

Amy says no one had any reason to kill her uncle. After further questioning, she is asked about Dart. Meanwhile Judd has told the story of his acquaintance with the actual John Drane in Riverbank.

Simon Judd proposes to Brennan that he help in the solution of the case, serving as Brennan's partner. Brennan accepts the proposal immediately. Judd confides that Amy "ain't" what she says she is.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"What do you mean by that?" Brennan asked. "You mean she's crooked?"

"Oh, black my cats, no!" Simon Judd exclaimed. "If I know folks she's the straightest sort there is—and the nicest, too. She ain't this late John Drane's niece, nor yet his grand-niece—that's what I mean. You hear her say off that rigamarole about John Drane's brother Daniel going to California in '78, and marryin' a Mary O'Ryan, and havin' a son Thomas that was this Amy's pa? And about this Thomas Drane marryin' some Amelia Gartner that come to be this Amy's ma? Well, black my cats, it's all true except none of it! There wasn't no brother Daniel. No, sir! I take my oath to that. I knowed that Drane family as well as I know myself, and there wasn't no Daniel in it. That's all right."

"Are you sure of that?" Brennan asked.

"Why, listen!" said Simon Judd. "This girl got the story from John Drane. John Drane told her this Daniel Drane went west in '78. In '78 John Drane was twenty-five years old and him and me had been chums since we was born—never a day we didn't see each other. I was at their house more than I was at my own. I knowed them from A to Z. And there wasn't any Daniel Drane. I tell you. There was just two kids in the family—John and this sister of his named Ella, and I knew them both all the time."

"He made up this story to tell the girl," said Brennan.

"Because he was a woman," said Simon Judd, "and hadn't no children to love and cherish. He was 'she,' mind you, Brennan. And when she—this John Drane, whoever she was—got along oldish she had to have some child to love. So, if I ain't an old fool and guessin' wrong, she picked out some orphan child somewhere and told a lot of lies. Just to have a kid to come back here and love her when she got too old and feeble to fuss with this Wall Street stuff and so on."

"This may be mighty important if it is true," Brennan said. "It might account for the murder—some connection of the child, her father perhaps, wanting money. Something along that line."

"It's true," Simon Judd insisted. "Why, look here, you! This old woman, this John Drane, made it all up. Take the names—Mary O'Ryan was a girl we both knew out there in Riverbank when we were all kids. She died out there only last year. And Daniel—she had a brother Daniel, this Mary did. And Amelia Gartner, that was another kid we both knew in Riverbank when we were kids together. She's alive yet, out there, and she had a brother Thomas—that gave the notion of a 'Thomas Drane.' You go out to Riverbank and you'll find that's all the solemn truth; you go out to California and I bet you don't find any trace of a Daniel Drane, or a Mary O'Ryan his wife, or a Thomas Drane, or of—"

"Hush!" Brennan said. "The girl is coming."

Amy returned with the notebook for which Simon Judd had sent her and almost immediately Mrs. Vincent came out, leaning on the arm of Bob Carter. She had been resting on her bed, being in great pain, and had been obliged to put on a dress before she could answer Brennan's summons. The poor woman seemed to be in a very bad state indeed, but she did her best to answer Brennan's questions, and her answers were full and quite circumstantial. She was a widow, she said, and had been employed by the supposed John Drane for five years. He had personally engaged her as housekeeper at an employment agency in the city where she had registered, and his offer had been a great relief to her because it had been hard to find a position on account of her poor health. He probably would not have taken her, she said, except that the house had been for two months without a mistress, the former housekeeper having died. The wages were all she could have expected.

She said, furthermore, that she was a widow and the antecedents she gave were such that Brennan could easily look up. Mr. Drane had always left the household expenses to her. On the first of each month, he would pay to be "upheld" exact—he had given her a check for the estimated expenses; if the expenses ran higher he gave her extra money, if they ran less he made the check less. He was always very particular in checking the bills with her but they had never had any quarrels; he was fair that way.

Mrs. Vincent Is Led In For Questioning

She had never had, she said, the slightest idea that "John Drane" was a female. He was peculiar in some ways but no more so than other people. She considered him a finicky old bachelor—his shaving twice a day, for instance, which she now saw was in order that the lack of a beard might not be noticed, has seemed to her merely one exemplification of his "old maidishness."

Very few people came to the house, Mrs. Vincent said, although the young folk began to come after Amy's arrival, and Mr. Drane liked that. He encouraged it, telling Mrs. Vincent to do all she could to make the place pleasant for them. Mr. Dart, the undertaker, had been the most frequent visitor, often coming to play cards and staying the night. The blue room had been used by him so often that the servants usually called it "Mr. Dart's room." Personally she did not like Mr. Dart much; he was apt to be "uppish" when Mr. Drane was not present. By "uppish" she meant "bossy," she explained, for he acted as if he thought he had a right to order the servants around, which he hadn't. He never acted so when Mr. Drane was around, of course. Mr. Drane always had a way with him and knew how to keep people in their places.

The servants, Mrs. Vincent thought, were all decent and reliable; she had personally looked into the references of all of them when they were engaged.

"Mr. Drane," she said, "got them from the hospital."

"You mean he took the hospital employees away from the hospital?" Brennan asked her.

"Oh, no, indeed!" Mrs. Vincent exclaimed as if afraid Brennan might think ill of John Drane.

"It was quite the other way, sir. Mr. Drane took a great interest in the hospital, you see; he helped build it and all. That was one of the few places he ever went at night—to the meetings of the hospital board. The hospital, you see, sir, can't keep chronic patients but so long—a couple of weeks, maybe—and then out they must go, and where to go very few of them know. So Mr. Drane took them. That is why they are all so sickly, one way and another. It was easy work, here for them, almost no family, and Mr. Drane always wanted them to rest when ill. The hospital would let him know when there was a case that could work but was incurable as you might say. Ah, sir, so many of them never did get well!"

"Died, you mean?" Brennan asked.

"Yet, sir, Dr. Blessington can tell you," the housekeeper said. "There's no house in the town where he comes oftener. Not where that man Dart comes oftener, the more pity it is!"

"The undertaker Dart?"

"That same," Mrs. Vincent said. "And if I may say so, sir, I think it was for that reason he made up to Mr. Drane so persistently. It's not a nice thing to think, and I'm ashamed to think it, but there have been a great many funerals from this house, and no expense ever spared." Mrs. Vincent wiped her eyes. "Just when you get to like a person it was another funeral, it seemed. Like Norbert, the poor fellow! I've a great fondness for him, even if he is black, for he is a good man, Norbert is. He's not long to live."

"Great heavens, what a house!" Brennan exclaimed.

"Yes, there were times when I felt it was lugubrious," said Mrs. Vincent, shaking her head. "It was not always cheerful, knowing that all those under me would almost surely die and make place for those that would die in their turn."

Brennan glanced at Simon Judd. The fat man was listening with his eyes closed but he was not asleep, he was rubbing his plump hands back and forth across his enormous paunch slowly.

"I think that will be all, Mrs. Vincent," Brennan said. "Send me Norbert next, will you?"

When Mrs. Vincent had gone Brennan sat a few moments tapping the veranda floor with his toe and frowning. He turned to Amy suddenly.

"This isn't pleasant for you," he said, "and there is no need of your listening to all this. It is only what you know already, I imagine. If there is anything else you'd like to do you need not stay."

Bob Carter took her by the arm.

"He's right," he said. "Suppose we go and sit in the summer house a while. We've enough to talk over ourselves, Amy," and the girl arose and went with him.

"What do you make of all this, partner?" Brennan asked Simon Judd. "It's queer all through, don't you think? It sounds to me as if this John Drane woman was crazy—slightly touched in the head, anyway. An alienist, you give it a name, I suppose. When a woman masquerades as a man all her life, and gathers around her a lot of chronic invalids and nothing much else, and makes an undertaker her best friend and chum, she's crazy. Or what do you think about it?"

"Well, I don't know as she's been masqueradin' as a man all her life, Richard," Simon Judd said deliberately. "I wouldn't go so far as to say 'all her life,' not yet, anyway."

"Oh, you know what I mean!" Brennan said. "A long time."

"I don't know as I'd say 'a long time,' not yet," Simon Judd insisted. "For all I know, mister, she may have started in half an hour before I came here. The whole bunch of these folks may be lyin' to me, far as I know. I don't know what they may be tryin' to cook up on us. There's one thing I would like to know."

His opportunity to learn it came promptly, for Dr. Blessington drove up to the veranda at that moment, his other affairs having received attention. Brennan, who knew him fairly well, asked him to sit a while.

"I guess you're the very man I want to ask a couple of questions of," Simon Judd said. "This Mrs. Vincent lady says you've been coming here pretty regular right along, and you look like you had a couple of eyes in your head. About this John Drane—is there any time you noticed any special change in him?"

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE" TO BE PRESENTED FOR FIRST TIME AT POPULAR PRICES

The Gifford-Jackson Players, now permanently located at the Blackstone Theatre, South Bend, are presenting as their attraction, "Abie's Irish Rose," the stage play that has broken all long run records in every city in the United States as well as in every foreign country where it has been presented.

Those who know of the show, know that it has been a tremendous success but they have little idea of the actual work that has been done by the piece. For example, the play earned more than $22,000,000. This afforded its author, Miss Ann Nichols a profit of approximately $5,000,000. There have been 17,000 performances of the play including the six years run on Broadway. Eleven actresses played the role of "Rose-Mary" during the run in New York City.

"Abie's Irish Rose" is said to be excellently suited for use as a stock production and a delightful treat is in store for those who attend any of the performances. A reserve seat policy has been adopted by the theatre thereby making it possible for out-of-town patrons to be assured of securing the best seats, all of which are at popular prices.
