

PREPARE FOR ELECTION, SAYS MAYOR

Buchanan Hoopsters Administer Defeat to Four Dowagiac Teams

First String Swamps Visiting Quint 36 to 12. RESERVES WIN Junior High Takes 2 Straight From Opponents.

Now Here's the Proposition THE CIVIL ENGINEERS. BY HAWES.

The Junior High basket five exploded defeat in their second tilt with the Niles Junior High five. The line-up and summary of the game was: Mattix, f., Marris, Shoop, f., Louie, Morse, Walker, c., Lauren, Morse, Bear, rg., Jesse, Kraft, lg., Ellis.

(Dedicated to the bunch of bums who are staking out M-601. Through the hills they're building highways, o'er the marsh they're building dry ways, and behind them hum the motor and the steam, leaving broken hearts behind them, hickin' troubles as they find them.

Pfingst, Roe and Pierce scored one basket each in the first three minutes of play, so that the fans were not doubtful of the result from the first tip-off. Morse, Roe, and Pierce were high point men for the game.

They have bridged the streams with wonder, they have razed the hills with thunder. Till they blazed a road to Sunset from the Dawn.

The home team was playing rather loosely, especially in their basket shooting, after the first dash at the Jacks, until the beginning of the fourth quarter, when they again came with a rush, which they kept up until they had 14 points for the period.

Where the plunging torrent courses they have backed its foaming horses. Till they bitted them with dams ten stories sheer; they have charted elevations, they have laid the lines of nations.

Coach Harold "Curley" Bradford was called to the bedside of his father at Grand Rapids Tuesday, and Ex-Coach Ray Miller was in charge, with Asst. Coach Walter Pfingst assisting and directing the reserves. "Curley" is expected to return today in time to prepare for the Niles game tomorrow evening.

You can almost always find them by the trail of stakes behind them. Or if you can't, you'll learn the way they take. When the rock drills raise their yammer and the hammers start to hammer.

Coach Jack Rabe is building slowly and carefully in preparation for next year, focusing on fundamentals and individual skill, while neglecting team work. He has some splendid material, and Dowagiac promises to be a threat next year in Class B even.

Where the scant and straggling pionn clings above the jagged canyon. Scaring eagles from their aerie, where the dawn's first shoots are fiery. Go those trekking bums, the civil engineers.

The Jacks are a fighting team. The Big Lyman brothers at center and forward promise to develop into first-class players. W. Lyman at center is much taller than Pierce at center for Buchanan, and was able to just about hold his own at tipping off. Freeland, who shared honors with W. Lyman for high scoring, each having five, is a remarkable player for one so extremely slight, he being hardly over the 100-pound mark.

Mrs. Elizabeth Winegar, of Marshall, Mich., mother of Mrs. George Deming, Jr., was operated on Monday at Pawling Hospital, Niles. Mrs. Winegar has been here visiting for the past few weeks.

The box-score:

Score by quarters: Buchanan 10 8 4 14-36, Dowagiac 3 0 4 5-12. Naff of Elkhardt referred both games. The crowd was almost up to the seating capacity of the gymnasium.

Local People Discuss Moving Clocks Ahead. MANY IN FAVOR Can't Save Salary—So Let's Save Daylight.

It's been a long hard winter, but there is a flush of light in the east at last. Two weeks ago if anybody had told us that we would have summer again, we would have branded them unmitigated liars.

But yesterday, the Record had the pleasure of listening in on a proposal for placing Buchanan on daylight saving time, from April 15 to Oct. 1. The daylight savings schedule is adopted during that period by practically all of the large cities of Michigan, and Niles is reported to be planning to adopt it for the coming summer.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Miss Mary Reynolds. After the conclusion of a fine banquet, a short business session was held at which the 1928 officers were re-elected, with the exception of Lee Mead, who declined, announcing that he expected to leave soon for Los Angeles, with the possibility of making a permanent connection there.

The afternoon's talk was made by Walter C. Hawes, who made a comparison of a group of present day writers with those of the age preceding, with an estimate of the causes underlying certain differences between the two groups. In conclusion he read several interpretations of Lincoln made by present day writers, as an illustration of their work. LOCAL YOUTH FACE COURT FEBRUARY 14

75 Sons Of Leading Families Haled Before Bar. TO BE EXAMINED Character, Previous Reputation To Be Considered.

Next Thursday night, Feb. 14, there will appear before the local court between 50 and 75 boys, ranging in age from 12 to 18 who will be charged with trying to improve their character, education and ability to render service to the community. In other words these boys are Boy Scouts and they are going to receive awards and advancements before a Court of Honor. How much better this is than the customary article which so often appears beneath a heading of this kind?

At this Court will be present several prominent local men who will make short speeches as the boys present themselves for advancement in the scout work and receive their awards. As this is the first event of this kind to take place in Buchanan, the public is here urged to attend and see for themselves just what the scouts and scout leaders are doing in this community. The court will be composed of Troops 41 and 42 of Buchanan and 51 of Galien.

To make the affair especially attractive to the adults a program of vocal and instrumental music is being arranged and a speaker has been secured from Dowagiac who can say more valuable and interesting things about the value of scouting in a minute than many speakers could in a week. This talk alone will be worth your evening. In addition to this means of securing the grown-up's presence, a contest is on between the two Buchanan troops and the troop responsible for the most adults there will receive a wall plaque to keep until the next court of honor.

The affair is in charge of District Scout Commissioner Kenneth Blake and should you be called upon to assist in the program please assist to the best of your ability. Remember that scouting is an organization for the development of good character and leadership ability and a nation full of that kind of boys will be a lasting or permanent one. Be at the American Legion Hall Thursday, Feb. 14 at 7:30. Scout Scribe.

CURLY'S CAGERS FACE BATTLE IN MORROW'S TILT

NILES EXPECTED TO ATTEMPT REVENGE FOR FORMER DEFEAT. Tomorrow evening the "Fightin' Bunch" will face a crucial test on the Niles floor. Lockard, the elongated colored center, seems to have found himself, and is hitting them from all angles. Little Clem Savoldi swarmed all over him on the home floor, but the six and one-half foot giant has improved since. Kenney is also going fast, and the rest of the squad makes Coach Davidson's quintet even stronger than before the semester exams. When "Curly" gets by this game and the one with Bridgman, over there, next Wednesday, he can coast along in preparation for the district, regional and state tournaments.

Poll Cannot Be Made Unless Petitions Are Entered BY FEBRUARY 20

Able Men Needed To Determine Form Of Govt. If the people of Buchanan wish to change from the village to the city form of government, at the special election to be held in connection with the regular spring polls March 11, it is high time that the required preparations are made, according to Village President Claude Glover.

Among other things it is required that nine electors living in the territory which is to be so incorporated qualify as members of the charter commission, which is to decide on the form of city government to be adopted in case the voters decide for the change. These candidates for the Charter Commission must qualify by submitting to Village Clerk Harry Post petitions bearing the signatures of 20 qualified electors of the town. While any number of candidates for the commission may qualify, it is required that each voter ballot for only nine.

These candidates may qualify on their own initiative, or other citizens may enter their names and petitions qualifying them. It is absolutely essential, however, that at least nine qualify, or the election will default. Since the work of the Charter Commission will be of supreme importance to the town, there should be a concerted movement to secure capable men for the commission, and such should be drafted to the work if necessary. Petitions must be filed with Clerk Post not later than February 20.

Anyhow, note the slimmness of her figure which has been rated as "perfect" by artists and sculptors. That is, not that it resembles the ancient ideal of Venus but rather the "boyish" lines of today—that much wanted beauty of slimmness which is the hope of the modern woman and girl.

There are many reasons for the ease of steering the new Ford

THE new Ford is exceptionally easy to steer because of the well-proportioned weight of the car, the steel-spoke wheels, the co-ordinated design of springs and shock absorbers, the size and design of the steering wheel, and the simple mechanical construction of the steering gear.

The shaft and worm together. The steering worm sector is forged and machined in the same piece with its shaft.

The housing of the steering gear mechanism is made of three steel forgings, electrically welded together. This housing is then electrically welded to the steering column. Such a one-piece steel unit is naturally much sturdier than if several parts were used and bolted or riveted together.

Throughout, the new Ford steering mechanism is so simple in design and so carefully made that it requires practically no attention.

The only thing for you to do is to have the front steering spindles, spindle connecting rods, and drag link lubricated every 500 miles and the steering gear lubricated every 2000 miles.

For this work, you will find it best to consult the Ford dealer. He has been specially trained and equipped to help you get the greatest possible use from your car over the longest period of time at a minimum of trouble and expense.

The Ford steering gear is of the worm and sector type used on high-priced cars and is three-quarter irreversible.

In simple, non-technical language, this means that the car responds easily and quickly to the steering wheel, yet there is no danger of the wheel being jerked from the hands of the driver by ruts or humps in the road. A light touch guides the car, yet you always have that necessary feel-of-the-road so essential to good driving.

Strength of materials and careful workmanship give unusual stability to the Ford steering gear and housing.

The steering worm, for instance, is splined to the steering worm shaft and is stronger, of course, than if a single key were used to hold

Automobiles Are Most Important Taxation Source Probably the most important source of taxation in this country is the automobile. Most of this tax is levied indirectly, but none the less it has resulted from the production of motor cars. With a total federal, state and municipal tax budget of $12,000,000,000 annually, it may be estimated conservatively that 10 per cent to 15 per cent is traceable directly and indirectly to the motor vehicle. Taxes are levied on automobile plants, gasoline in most states, garages, repair shops, dealers' buildings, corporations producing road material, contractors' equipment used for building roads, tire producers, accessory producers, oil producers, income of manufactur-

They were not given a solid foundation, sentiment and friendship were used in planning, when there should have been actuarial expertness. Sentimental plans do not stand the test of the years. Before any state is justified in giving serious attention to any of the new social pension legislation there should be an insurance survey of the field made, that the state may know the nature and importance of its new task. Any other course would be folly and would insure disaster.

Buchanan Teacher Observers Methods in Chicago School
Mrs. Leah Weaver, instructor in mathematics and civics in the Buchanan junior high school, was a visitor in Chicago several days during the past week, attending the dinner of the Chicago-Buchanan Society Friday evening, and visiting at the Tilden Technical high school Monday. Each instructor in the Buchanan schools is allowed one day each year for visiting and observing at other schools. While in Chicago she was a guest of her cousin, Miss Mary Reynolds, principal in the pre-vocational department of Tilden Technical high school.

Black Walnut Tree Shortage.
Nature gave Michigan an abundance of black walnut trees in the days when forests were placed on the earth to supply beauty and serve mankind. They were most numerous in the southern part of the state but were found in the groves in other sections. Early settlers made free use of the walnut trees, they were plentiful and easily handled. Huge timbers in buildings were taken from the trunks and old fences still may be found in the state with walnut rails in place. The huge oak and walnut trees were sacrificed to supply the big gateposts for the farms. In those days the walnut tree had a value to the farmer but was worth little for market. As the demand for walnut lumber developed the trees were sacrificed to the mills and that custom has been continued for generations. It has decreased the numbers of large walnut trees. They can be found but most seekers for walnuts in the fall take their store from small trees. It has not been the custom to plant a walnut tree, or a number, when one of the fine old trees was sacrificed for profit. Similar conditions are found in other states. In one section of Illinois it was reported recently that not a single marketable walnut tree could be found, although train loads had been shipped to market from that section. There are marketable trees in Michigan but buyers take them now by the half dozen where they bought hundreds only a few years ago. For years in this state there has been an appeal to the public to plant trees. The walnut has been recommended for planting on the farms, around the homes and inside the farm limits along the highways. There is the hope that some day the state will adopt tree planting and carry out that beautification along all improved highways and along others as improvements are completed. The black walnut is a beautiful tree in its days of growth and development and when it has reached maturity, has a market value and that value will remain through the years. There is a shortage of first class walnut lumber today. It will bring good prices in the future, doubtless well above the figures quoted today. Michigan would be richer if thousands of walnut trees were planted each year.

Brighter Day in Chicago.
It is possible a better day has dawned in Chicago since some new judges and a new district attorney have taken office in the criminal court building. The new officials appear to be willing to give far greater consideration to the interests of the public than was in evidence in many cases in court there during recent years. It is a novel story to appear in a Chicago newspaper, telling how a court and a district attorney did lose sight of public interests, when some high-grade crooks were in prison and sought release. It has been an established custom in the criminal courts there to grant most applications for habeas corpus when some gunman was arrested by police and was held under investigation. At any hour, day or night, there has been a judge to hear the application and grant the writ. The courts learned over a great distance to construe laws in favor of the wealthy gunmen and bootleggers. And that course of action came very near making police investigations impossible, helped many big crooks slip through the loops of the law and escape. The refusal to grant the habeas corpus writs instantly will frighten the crooks, destroy their confidence in the protection their legal aids are able to provide and help make Chicago unattractive to them. And that is of large importance to the public.

Another Job for Calvin.
The latest rumor about President Coolidge's next job is that he will be offered the presidency of the University of Michigan, a position from which Dr. Clarence C. Little will retire in September. The regents of the university are a little coy about discussing the report, but one of them has gone so far as to say that if President Coolidge could be induced to accept the place it would be a great thing for the institution. It certainly would be a great advertisement for it and, from the president's standpoint, it would be a dignified position with great potentialities for usefulness. College presidents are not chosen so often as formerly for their scholarship but rather for their executive ability. President Coolidge is no great scholar, having been busy with other things for a good many years, but he has had five years' experience as the executive head of a rather large and important enterprise. He is a man of high ideals, good sound sense and great industry. We should think he would make a successful college president, though perhaps Al Smith would be more popular with the students.

One by one our idols are overthrown and now they tell us that Buffalo Bill used scattering bird shot and not rifle bullets when galloping around the arena, he shattered glass balls thrown into the air and we suppose, some prominent iconoclast will be discovered next that young David had a machine gun that time he went out after old Goliath and got him. We have lived to see many days that we never expected to and if you'd told us 10 years ago that we'd compliment a 15-year-old girl highly on her conservatism when she told us that she never takes more than one cocktail before dinner, and that only not to seem impolite to her hostess, we'd have thought you were crazy, even if you really weren't. We haven't heard anything for some time from that eminent college professor who declared in his embittered way a month or so ago that what this country needs is bigger and better cusswords and maybe people with wider experience of life have been sending him their lists. If it is true, as we are frequently informed, that no man can understand how a woman suffers it isn't because she doesn't do her best to make her flu symptoms clear to us. Woman is braver than man and we often wonder if man, if things were different, would ever have the courage to wean a baby, the way the cute little cuss carries on. The thriciest rumble-seater in this neighborhood cuts another inch off her 1926-model scanties every year and looks as well dressed as anybody. We often wonder how a man who confesses all his sins that he can think of, under the impression that he's going to die, feels if he gets well. All the formal announcement of an engagement ever does is to confirm what the neighbor women said several weeks previously. Another pathetic little feature of 'everyday life is an ambitious woman trying to drag a lunk of a husband ahead socially. Our personal taste in pastors runs to the kind, if any, that believes more in the efficacy of prayer than in that of legislation. When we look at a beautiful gown hanging in a shop window we nearly always say to ourself: But where's the skirt? Cigarettes, in these days of truth in advertising, now prevent or cure practically everything undesirable but skidding. Perhaps the hardest thing is for a strong Al Smith woman to be enthusiastic about Mrs. Hoover's hats.

HOLMES SCHOOL
Robert Hempel was out all week. Ivan Price was absent all day Friday. We celebrated Carol Sobash's eighth birthday last Friday during Good English Club hour. Half hour noons were not half long enough for us to slide down the hill in back of the school house, so we voted to add fifteen minutes and not have any last recess. We have quite a good slide and a number of good sleds. The School Board had a surprise for us last Monday. When we arrived, new curtains had been put up. They are fastened in the center of the window and pull from both directions, thus getting the maximum light. We knew that we were going to get new curtains some time, but not such extra nice ones. We are anxious for a shiny day to try them out. The pictures of the school turned out very well. Most every one bought one or more. Every one was pleased with theirs.

Buchanan Hoopsters Continue Their Victorious Career

TAKE THREE OAKS FIVE INTO CAMP

Wins 7th Straight In Three Oaks Melee Friday Evening.

STAR COVERED

Pierce of Buchanan, Stange, Three Oaks High Men.

Buchanan High School's quintet kept its slate clean by winning its seventh straight game of the season against Three Oaks 17 to 14 in the home floor. Coach "Red" Wilson was in charge of the Three Oaks squad due to Vonelcauson being ill. The "Featherbone" boys have improved immensely since their defeat of 10 to 19, but not enough to better the Aaron and White. The game was a thriller or near baskets; both teams shot that repeatedly seemed to be baskets, to have them swoop in and out again or else bounce the wrong way off the backboard. The game as a whole was well divided, changes of pace from fast to slow and long and short passing. Throughout well organized plays were evident. Heckathorne, captain of Three Oaks quintet, played his hardest, but was so closely blanketed that he made but a single basket and was put out on ails in the first part of the fourth quarter.

The first half looked rather spiced ending 12 to 3 favor of Buchanan. The second half, though, was a different looking affair, for Three Oaks woke up in the third quarter making 9 to Buchanan's 3; the quarter ending 15 to 12. The fourth quarter was a hard fought one even if Heckathorne was put out at its beginning. Both teams made two points, Buchanan a basket and Three Oaks, two three throws, the game ending Buchanan 17, Three Oaks 14.

The Referee for both first and second team games was Mr. John Stahr, sports writer for the South Bend Tribune. He was exceedingly fair and impartial.

The high point man was Pierce, Buchanan center, who made 10 points; Stange of Three Oaks game second with 7 points for his team.

B. H. S. Reserves Trim Three Oaks in Rousing Finish

The Buchanan High School Reserves set an example for the first team in the preliminary by winning from the Three Oaks Seconds 22 to 17.

The Three Oaks boys gave a real tussle up to the fourth quarter when they were ahead 17 to 14, but the Reserves pulled together, the fourth quarter and made 8 points while they blanketed Three Oaks during the game and Buchanan Three Oaks 17.

Offensive Eisenhower was the star game making 11 points for Reserves, Wilford Shultz came second making 5 points, and Leo Weed, Three Oaks, left guard, had his team with 5 points.

FOLLIES OF '23 PRESENTED BY FRESHMAN CAST

YEARLINGS GIVE FINE PROGRAM OF SONG AND DANCE.

Did you see last Friday's assembly program? Well, you missed one of the best programs of the year if you didn't.

The Freshman Class under the direction of Miss Hanlin presented their idea of the "Follies of 1932" now being presented in New York.

The presentation was enacted in two parts, the first scene being laid in the home of Lillums Lovewell (Margaret Koone), who is taken to the Follies by Harold Teen (Robert Montgomery).

The main part of the program was played at the theatre, where the stars were properly introduced by Paul Whiteman (Kathryn Fortz). The orchestra consisted of Jane Habicht, "Phil" Hanlin, Jane Easton, John Strayer, Ruth Pierce, and Marie Hess.

The program contained the season's best stars of whom were the following: The Duncan Sisters, Topsy and Eva, Teresa White and Dorothea Rothfuchs.

George and Al Brennan—John Strayer and "Phil" Hanlin. Irene Castle—Teresa White.

The season's most talented ball players from Dayton, Bakerstown, and the surrounding country—Jimmy Eisenhart, Paul Letcher, Lloyd Koloff, Walter Babcock.

Grand Finale—The entire group. The people presenting this unique entertainment should be congratulated, and after seeing it one

THE HONOR ROLL

It is the practice of most high schools, as it is in Buchanan, to have an honor roll. In our own high school the requirements for getting on this monthly honor roll are to have no mark below 2 in Citizenship and to have at least an average of B in all subjects.

The names of students meeting these requirements are read each month after the report cards are handed out. On the average, twenty percent of the high school are on the honor roll, and there is about the same percentage of failures, leaving sixty percent in the mediocre group and in this majority group lies the fundamental purpose of the honor roll.

The greater part of those on the honor roll are students who would be near the top regardless of the honor roll. They are naturally ambitious and need no incentive other than a little interclass competition to keep them on the upward climb.

The lowest group—the one containing the failures—could not possibly be benefitted by the honor roll except upon rare occasions, for a climb from the lowest position to the highest is no small accomplishment and seldom takes place outside of fairy tales. These students are interested primarily in getting through, and the honor roll represents too much work to be an incentive.

Since neither the falling portion nor the upper portion of the students are affected by the honor roll, it can have no other purpose than for the benefit of the remaining group—the majority. Without something to lead them on, this group might go in any direction, and the easiest path is down. To offset this we have an honor roll. It would be possible for a large majority of Buchanan High School to get their names upon this honorary list. It is not confined to those of exceptional ability but merely uses these as an example to others. The honor roll is for the benefit of the majority and not for the prestige of a few.

Hazel Johnson Is Head Girls' Glee

At the meeting of the Girls' Glee Club on Monday, Hazel Johnson was elected president of that organization. She received twenty-nine out of fifty votes. The rest of the time was spent discussing the party to be held on Wednesday night in the gymnasium.

B. H. S. Athletes Also Stars In Their Classes

The first semester averages of the Buchanan High School were made public last Friday. The list has a total of forty-seven, twenty-nine girls and eighteen boys, who received not less than a B during their first semester work.

The Senior Class outranked all the other classes by having forty percent of the class, or sixteen as honor students. The Sophomores had the smallest number—twelve and one half percent—or only eight.

Only one pupil received an all A average for the first semester, that one is Jane Habicht, a freshman.

An interesting thing to be noticed is the fact that a large number of the athletes of Buchanan High School are on the list. Seven boys of the first string of ten are on the Junior and Senior list as honor students. This is a very exceptional condition. In many schools, players are worrying about eligibility on account of their grades.

Jolly Home Ec.'s Elect Officers

The Jolly Home Ec.'s in their meeting on Monday afternoon elected the following officers for the new semester:

- President—Jane Easton. Vice-President—Jane Habicht. Secretary—Ruth Pierce. Treasurer—Zaida Frank.

Competition will continue to go on between this class and the morning class. It will be the same as before when the Jolly Home Ec.'s were victorious by a small margin. A party will be given by the losers at the end of the year.

Grade News

Second Grade.

"The Helping Hand" by Emil Renouf was the subject for a picture study in Mrs. French's room. A project for helpfulness was developed from this. Each child was to help father or mother and report. All but two reported deeds of helpfulness.

The boys and girls memorized two poems about the snow this week. They studied about the snow and ice in nature study and wrote a story about it for language work. For art they cut out snow flakes and mounted them on a chart. This chart was a silent reading lesson about the snow.

The pupils in Mrs. French's room have pledged themselves to eat a cooked cereal three times a week. If two-thirds of them do this for four weeks we are going to receive a picture for our room.

The girls and boys in Mrs. Fischer's second grade were greatly pleased because they won the prize Monday night given to the room which had the largest number of fathers at the P. T. A. meeting. After talking it over, we decided to buy a picture of Lincoln as a boy.

In Mrs. Fischer's room the girls and boys are finishing their fourth Second Grade readers. As a review each child is to tell one of the stories or recite a poem from the book before the room.

We have memorized a poem on February and are now learning one about the chickadees. We are studying the winter birds this week. In language we shall write our own story about them and draw them in the art periods.

Upper Class Girls Carry Off Honors In Basket Series

The first game of girls' basketball was played last Tuesday night, the contestants being Seniors vs. Sophomores, and Juniors vs. the Freshmen.

Each class has two teams known as the first and second teams and each goes through the process of elimination until one becomes the champion.

The Seniors carried off the honors for their team by a 62-1 victory, while the Junior-Freshman score was in favor of the Juniors.

These games will continue to be played every Tuesday night until the end of the basketball season.

B. H. S. Students Trek To Niles Via Bob Sleds

At eight o'clock Tuesday evening we found thirty hilarious high school students before the Hotel Rex waiting for the bob sled which was to take them to Niles.

The reporter had to note "The correct wearing apparel for young ladies" which was displayed on this memorable evening, everything with warmth being the vogue.

Soon the bob arrived. Then such a mad scramble—equal to any football rush in history, choice seats in the 'snay' being the main reason.

The bob held twenty comfortably, but as there is strength in numbers we had thirty.

After many accidents and much fun, we arrived at Niles. We at once burst into the ice cream parlors and lunch rooms to satiate our ravenous appetites. (We found, to our sorrow, that Club House Chicken sandwiches cost sixty precious cents!)

Eventually the party over came the gnawing of hunger and again the football rush "de classe" to the bob-sled.

This was the second attempt at sleigh riding parties this year. The first was rather a sad affair, because of the lack of snow on the highway. Snow was not any handicap this time, and it was the most successful, and never-to-be-forgotten party.

The students of English VIII have been writing biographies of Whittier in connection with their work on Snowbound, among the best being those written by Anita Andrews, Doris Campbell, Madeline Hamilton, Freddie Fortz, Donald Sargent, and Wilma Shipley.

Sir Leonard Dunning, high police official in London, stated at an inquiry that policemen were failures because they were "nosey parkers."

Speed Records Of Beginning Typists

The following is a record of the first year typing classes' speed tests which will be published each week, giving the people an idea as to what grade of work the beginning class is doing. In this way, the interest of the student is kept at a higher pitch, as the pupils aspire to higher achievement with the realization that it means a publication of their grades.

Over 3,000,000 U. S. Families Own Two Autos

It has been estimated that there are more than 3,000,000 families in the United States owning two or more automobiles. This is a natural outgrowth of two conditions.

First of all, the low prices of cars have brought the automobile within easier purchasing range of the individual.

Second, the expansion of our cities out into many suburbs has made it increasingly necessary for each adult to have his personal transportation. And frequently the car can be paid for by the difference saved in rent. Land and property several miles from the railroad station costs far less than in the heart of the city, and yet this type of living because of its outdoor advantages is being increasingly preferred because of the quick transportation made possible by the automobile.

The Old Timers' Corner

Old Timer Tells Incident of City's Numerous Pitfalls

Well, today I have been thinking about some old time friends of mine that have come to the big city to "have a good time" and I am disgusted and still I am their friend, but I want to talk to you about it. It just does seem that an old fool is the biggest fool of all. I am not going to mention any names at all. I can't very well do that and I wouldn't if I could.

In a way I suppose I should call myself to blame for all that happened, but in a far greater way I was not to blame, for I gave confidence in this old rascal and thought he knew more than to fall for what he did. This wasn't a "bunco game" or "selling him the Masonic Temple" or any of those time worn ones at all, but it was brought about in a perfectly natural way. You know I am in business in Chicago and and has to wait a few moments and "they meet." That's the answer. Could I help that, I ask you? Ha ha. (Sounds like a Jewish joke but it is a serious fact, just the same).

This lady that I introduced to him was about 19 years old, I should judge by her looks and I never was interested enough to ask her in person, and she is one of the latest models of 1929 "jazz baby," made up like a circus horse with all the un-clothes-inducements. To me she is just a "person" and I never gave it a thought that our friend from home was even looking her way. BUT, he is more than fifty years old, and has grand children, so I thought he had a few grains of horse-sense, but he hasn't. I guess he is getting some now, since he had his "good time" that following night. I didn't know anything about what was in the wind until he told me about it the next afternoon. He told me that he had a date to go to a show with some other friends and would try and run out and see me the next afternoon. So I said goodbye and forgot all about it until the next day when he came out and told me with tears (?) in his eyes what had happened to him.

It seems that this "vampire" that he met here in my office had sized him up as a "good thing" and had asked him to meet her down town later in the day and they went out and did a little harmless "shopping" and "rube-like" he insisted on paying for the "little" (?) things that she "just adored," and then after having them sent out to her flat, they went to a very respectable hotel for dinner. He was spending his money like a sailor and she decided to get the rest of it, I guess, so she called up six of her friends, whom she explained to him were "in the know" and they drove to a north side apartment where you don't "talk so loud" (in other words, a speak easy) and there he met the rest of them and after hitting up a few highballs and some red wine, he didn't care much what happened to him and his old clothes looked pretty tacky beside their evening dress, but he was spending his money and they made him think he was a witty cuss, and so the evening wore on and the bills grew higher. The music was "tippec" and getting "tipsy," but so were the rest of them and when it was all over he couldn't find his little girl friend at all. She had ducked out with some of her town friends and he was left holding the bag, so to speak. They presented him with a bill for $187.75, and he didn't have that much on him, so was about to be pinched, when he came to enough to remember a way out of it through his hotel, and in that way, managed to get out and on to the street, cleaned to his last penny. He didn't even have car fare, but he was only two miles from his hotel so he walked in and that saved him up some what, and he turned in just as he would have been getting up to milk the cows at home. He came out to see me the next afternoon, after he had made a raise of some money from home, and told me of what a wonderful time he had had. He came out here more especially to find out this lady's name and address from me, since she was a patient of mine, saying that he thought he might go out and call on her and tell her how sorry he was to have missed her at the last of the party. I finally got it through his head that he had been a "come on" and an old fool, and promised never to mention his name in connection with it, to anyone, and got him started toward home.

But now wouldn't you think that a man of his age, and I know for certain that he has been around quite a lot, would know better than that? Just a pair of slim, lanky half-naked legs and a make-up to go with them and the old fool was "lost." Such is life. So I say, as I said at the start, that I am still his friend, and I sure hope that when he meets people again that he won't take it for granted that they are "all wool and a yard wide" just because he meets them through someone that he has confidence in. We meet and have business relations with all sorts in a town of this size, but we don't "marry them" because we work for them. That's all for this time.
