

B. H. S. MARCHES ON TO TITLE

Now Here's
the PropositionOLD SPRINGS.
By Haws.

When February breezes whine,
I mind the winters of long syne,
Days when my father used to say:
"It's idle wishing time away,
But I'll not be the one to make
A fuss when spring begins to break,
And furrows start to roll once more."
And then he'd look the harness
over,
To test each rein and line and
trace,
To put each buckle in its place.
He'd shine his plow shares, rusted
brown,
And take the plow lays into town.
Then he would walk with restless feet
Out in the fields of winter wheat,
To brush the buried rootlets bare
And see if any stir were there;
He'd hunt for fences to repair,
Or look about and wonder where
The corn would make the surest yield—
The east lot or the northwest field?
And would this field grow oats or rye?
And would the year be wet or dry?
He'd get a spade and dig around,
To see what frost was in the ground,
And watch the snows fade from
the slope,
The while that old eternal hope
That comes each spring to farming men
Well up within his heart again.
God rest his soul, he lies below.
The sifting circle of the snow.

NOW THEY'LL CACKLE
WHETHER THEY LAY
ANY EGGS OR NOT

Kent Kennedy started off his first setting of eggs in his 18,000 chick plant Saturday, Feb. 9, thereby discrediting the Record story of a week earlier, stating that he would bring off a batch on Washington's birthday. Just for that we won't buy any chickens of him. We thought maybe a hen that was born on Washington's birthday would have some scruples about the truth and not turn in a false alarm whether they laid anything or not.

Friendship Class
Honors Lincoln in
Feb. Entertainment

Because of bad roads, the January business and social meeting was postponed, then the January and February joint meeting was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Mead, Friday evening.

After the devotionals, Edith Willard read an article entitled, "Lincoln's birthplace, A Kentucky Shrine, and Ada May read an anecdote, "Mr. Lincoln and a Clergyman."

The roll call was answered by each member giving the name of the month of their birth. During the business session, plans were made for getting busy at once to help in the church work financially. During the past year, the class gave into the church budget, paid for some work done in the church basement, cleaning the walls in the parsonage, paying for Christmas gifts for seventy cradle roll members, besides other smaller items. A new class song was learned.

After the meeting was adjourned, the entertainment committee consisting of the officers and teachers of the class took charge. First they presented a little "skit" entitled "The Fatal Quest, a ten minute stunt in three acts. The characters were: King, Arthur Mead; Devoted Queen, Bertha Mead; Duke, Tenny Van Every; Princess, Helen Wheat; Curtain, Gladys Mead; Scene, Shifter, Mona Rydell. Miscellaneous games followed with five and ten cent valentines as prizes. Each guest was also presented with a penny valentine. Refreshments were served.

The guests left at a late hour exclaiming, "A Wonderful Time," and promising to come again where and when? To the next class meeting, the place to be named later.

The annual measles epidemic is now at its height, according to Dr. John Strayer, village physician, the number of quarantined families now approximating 25. There are no reported cases of scarlet fever, or the contagious children's diseases of a serious nature.

Mr. and Mrs. William Schrimsher, Arctic Street, announce the birth of a son Wednesday, Feb. 13.

Societies Invited To Attend Sessions
In a Body.

Arrangements have again been completed for the services of Mrs. Alma E. Hunt in conducting the Second Annual Cooking School to be held in the High School Auditorium on February 26, 27, 28 and March 1, for the benefit of the housewives of Buchanan and surrounding territory.

Those in attendance last year will recall the excellent programs and the many fine recipes and cooking hints given. The school this year will be much more elaborate than that of last year, extending for four days which permits Mrs. Hunt to give a very extended program and plenty of time to go into detail as to her cooking methods. She will bring many recipes new to this vicinity and has arranged that part of her program shall be given to the answering of questions on the part of those present. Mrs. Hunt will be glad to give personal advice and assistance wherever it is requested. We are bringing her here for the benefit of the housewives and they should make use of her expert advice and knowledge in solving many cooking difficulties that confront them.

Mrs. Hunt will offer as prizes to those in attendance all of the food cooked during each day of the school, and in addition, other valuable prizes will be offered.

The ladies of this community should bear these dates in mind and arrange to be in attendance each day. Various clubs and societies should plan to attend in a body, as the school will be full of interesting information to everyone.

This school is free and without charge of any kind. Everyone welcome.

Watch our issue next week for further particulars.

If one hue is more becoming than all others, its use as a foundation for color schemes for clothing will give the wearer individuality and distinctiveness and make for economy in dress. By using small amounts of strongly contrasting colors, the wardrobe may have great variety in color effects without being either unbecoming or costly.

ALLEGED KILLER
CHICAGO GIRL
RESIDED HERESTORY OF H. COLEMAN
IS HELD INSANE
IMAGININGS

Howard Coleman Buchanan youth who confessed Sunday to the murder of Miss Laura Buckholz at Blue Island, Ill., is now believed to be merely the victim of his own insane imaginings, and to have had no connection whatever with the crime, according to advances from the Northern Indiana Hospital for the Insane at Logansport, Ind., where he had spent a previous term of six months.

Coleman is the son of Cass Coleman, and is thought by local residents to have been born during the residence of the family on Berrien Street. The family left here while he was a small child, going to a farm near Three Oaks, where they still live. The family were highly respected during their residence here.

Until recently Howard Coleman was employed at the American Wire Fabric plant at Blue Island, Ill. A few days after the murder of Miss Buckholz, he appeared at the home of his parents south of Three Oaks. After remaining there a few days, he became so unmanageable and abusive that his parents called on Sheriff McDonald of LaPorte to take care of him.

The sheriff and his deputies called at the Coleman home and represented that they had lost their way, asking to be directed to LaPorte. Young Coleman was induced to accompany them and show them the road. After he was with them a while he showed signs of wanting to confess something, and exclaimed several times, "I clubbed her."

After they had arrived at the jail he made a purported confession of his alleged crime, telling a story which corresponded in general with the known facts concerning the murder. Medical examiners were called in, however, and he was declared insane and removed to the asylum for the mentally deranged at Logansport. After Blue Island authorities had been communicated with, it was found that the description given by two Blue Island men who are believed to have seen the murderer of Miss Buckholz in no way tallied with that of Coleman.

ONE TICKET IS OUT FOR
SPRING POLLOpposition Remains
Silent As Zero
Hour Comes.CITIZEN CAUCUS
Special Election May Be Allowed To Default.

The 1929 village elections are likely to be a one-way traffic affair, according to present indications, the Citizens party being the sole organization to call for a caucus, while the customary opposition has up to the present maintained an impenetrable silence apparently underlain by an unwillingness to shoulder the sewer and other problems at the present stage of the game.

The general sentiment seems to be that the present administration should be permitted to complete the program in which they are now engaged, and that nothing would be gained by a change this spring. A second consideration for allowing the election to go by default is the fact that in case the town should decide in favor of a city form of administration, the village officers would hold office only until a form of charter could be determined and a second election held.

The Citizens Party have called a caucus meeting to be held at the Buchanan pattern works, 125 South Oak Street, for the evening of Feb. 18, beginning at 7:30 p. m. Present indications are that there will not be an opposition ticket in the field.

The special election called for an expression on the change from village to city form of government is now hanging in the balance, awaiting the action of friends of the measure in circulating petitions for nine charter members. In case nine candidates are not qualified by 20 days preceding the date of the polls, there will be no special election according to village President, Claude Grier. Last date for qualifying is February 18.

Mrs. H. A. Markley
Dies This Morning
At Daughter's Home

Mrs. Harriet A. Markley, 86, died at 2:30 today at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Bert Dalrymple, 204 South Oak Street, after an illness of 8 years following paralysis.

Her husband died there 10 years ago, and when she became ill, she came to Buchanan to make her home with her daughter.

Four children had been born to her, one of whom died in infancy, and another, Arthur Markley, was killed in a railway accident January 15 of this year. The two surviving children are Mrs. Mrs. Bert Dalrymple of Buchanan and Frank Dalrymple of Centerville. BEND ATTORNEY
DELIVERS LINCOLN
DAY SPEECH HEREFELLOWSHIP MEMBERS
HOSTS TO WIVES
AT BANQUET.

The Methodist church basement was almost packed to capacity Tuesday evening by a large audience assembled to listen to the fine Lincoln address delivered by Atty. Fred Woodward of South Bend.

Atty. Woodward's interpretation of Lincoln was well above the usual Lincoln Day speech, revealing many characteristics of the Great Emancipator unfamiliar to his audience. His dominant characteristics sympathy and power of understanding were stressed by the speaker, who said that if the world had statesmen today of similar capacity in these respects there would be a far better understanding between nations.

He talked of the opposition which Lincoln was obliged to face, stating that Schuyler Colfax, former South Bend resident, and frequent Buchanan visitor, was among the leaders in the opposition to Lincoln within the ranks of his own party.

The address followed a fine banquet served by the committee of the Men's Fellowship Club. Messrs. Schultz and Weaver of Berrien Springs furnished several instrumental numbers on piano and zylphone, and Mesdames Ormiston and Liddicoat sang several vocal duets, accompanied by Mrs. Jennings on the piano, all of which were much appreciated by the audience.

D. L. Boardman acted as chairman, prefacing the remarks of the speaker by a humorous introduction.

MILK PRICE
BOOST TO
ELEVEN CENTSPRODUCERS MEET LAST NIGHT WITH LOCAL CREAMERY MEN.

Retail prices on milk to Buchanan consumers will be increased to 6 cents per pint and 11 cents per quart and producer will be paid on the basis of 65 cents per pound for butter fat content, as compared with a previous price of 60 cents per pound beginning March 1st, as the result of a meeting of 40 producers and representatives of the two local creameries held last night at the rooms of the St. Joe Valley Shipping Association.

A temporary organization of producers had effected last week with a view to securing a better wholesale price, the first demand being 70 cents per pound for the butter fat. The producers elected Henry Adams as chairman and Ted Siekman, secretary. They contended that they were not being paid on the same basis as producers in surrounding towns, and that present prices of feed would not allow them to produce profitably on the present scale. It was pointed out that consumers were now paying 12 cents per quart at Niles and South Bend, and 14 cents at Chicago.

Chicago milk producers are now receiving a wholesale price of $2.65 per hundred, on the basis of a test of 3 1/2 per cent test.

At the old price of 60 cents per hundred, Buchanan consumers had been receiving $2.10 per hundred, and will receive $2.75 on the basis which will be in effect March 1. As a matter of fact, Buchanan milk tests on an average of 4.4 per cent butter fat, and they will be paid $2.86 per hundred when the new price goes into effect. This is no more than just according to the producers, as the cattle producing the high test milk represent a more valuable investment, and the consumer receives a superior product.

The only town in this section besides Buchanan where consumers are receiving their milk at ten cents per quart retail is Three Oaks. The arrangement made last night will be in effect until Sept. 1, when further deliberations will be held. Henry Adams presided, and the following committees represented the patrons of the two creameries: Wilson Home Dairy, Amos Harrier, Manual Conrad; St. Joe Valley Creamery, James Reed, Joseph Letcher.

Mrs. Harry Brown, Moccasin avenue, entertained on Monday evening at a surprise party in honor of the birthday anniversary of her daughter, Miss Lillian Brown. Abundant prizes were won by Miss Gladys Dombolt, and William Bohl, Jr.

BRIDGMAN IS NOSED OUT IN
LAST PERIODVictory Over Class
D Champs 10th
Straight.PERFECT RECORD
Two Easy Games Left
Tournament.

Buchanan High School's basketball quintet won its tenth straight game of the season last night 23 to 25 from Bridgman's state champions on their floor. Though there were no over times the game was a thriller right to the end. The basketball played by both teams was fast and hard, often seemingly rough, but due to hard play and not deliberate fouling.

Bridgman, Class D State champions, has lost but two games this season, both to Buchanan. The defeat for Bridgman was the first received on their home floor in two years.

Buchanan took the lead, making four points before "Bun" Baldwin opened up, and it was then nip and tuck till the first quarter gun, when Bridgman took the lead, 9 to 8. Bridgman found her place the second quarter, making the score 10 to 15 at the half.

The second half the tables were turned. The third quarter showed the Buchanan team to be finding itself again, making 3 points against Bridgman's 7, not sufficient to even tie the score though. The fourth quarter told the story when the "Fightin' Outfit" really got going and made 10 points while they held Bridgman to 3, ending the game with Buchanan 28 Bridgman 25.

The team has shown up more powerful than ever in the last week. In spite of losing two of the best players, they defeated Niles, a Class B school, 21 to 15, and Bridgman The Class D Champs, 28 to 25.

The scoring of the Buchanan team was fairly evenly divided, all the members making points. The Bridgman team posed more grouped Baldwin making 10 alone, he being point man for the evening.

Both teams played with no substitutions throughout the entire game, neither coach caring to risk a change with the score and opponents looking as they did.

The score by quarters:

Buchanan — 9 2 10—28
Bridgman — 8 7 3—25

Prescription He Wrote in 1892 is the World's Most Popular Laxative

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their system. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colic and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start taking it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles.

We would be glad to have you prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours. Just write "Syrup Pepsin," Monticello, Illinois, and we will send you prepaid a FREE SAMPLE BOTTLE.

BUCKS SCORE 9TH WIN IN NILES TILT

Tight Guarding Holds
Kawneerites to 1
Basket Each.

ON TO THE TITLE!
Is Slogan of Backers
Of Bradfield's
Cagemen.

Buchanan basketballers scored their ninth straight victory of this season Friday night when they defeated the fast coming Niles quintet at Niles to the tune of 21 to 13. This was a more decisive score than the 22 to 20 victory they won over Coach Davidson's proteges just before the semester examinations.

Although Davidson has taught his squad a lot of basketball in the last three weeks and they have improved by probably 25 per cent, he has not brought them along quite so fast as Coach Harold "Curley" Bradfield has worked with the Buchanan squad. The Buchanan boys turned in the most finished game of the year thus far.

The "Bucks" guarded Davidson's six and one half foot center so perfectly that he snared but one field basket and one free throw for a total of only three points. Not a member of the Niles team made more than one field goal, they securing 5 of them and five free throws out of ten tries, while the Buchanan boys secured seven field goals and seven free throws in the same number of tries.

Pierce and Morse shared the high-point honors with 8 points each, both playing at top speed and with a steady accuracy despite the rather desperate defence presented by Niles all the way. As is beginning to be a habit with the home boys, however, they let down in the third quarter and were outscored, 7 to 2, but took each of the other three quarters with a nice margin and always led. The entire team showed an admirable brand of defence, and Fette threw a cold chiver into the spines of Niles fans and players when he dropped a perfect shot into the net from the center of the court in the third quarter.

The home team is developing a slow baffling attack, with a careful picking of the moment when the five players are set for a flashy dash through the opposition to the basket. They deceived the hard working Niles players for gains over and over again Friday night.

Savoldi played the best game he has turned in. His diminutive size makes it impracticable to reach above the five-man defence presented by every good team, and he confines most of his efforts to juggling the ball out of the hands of the enemy and getting it down the floor to his taller teammates. He brought down the gallery, as usual Friday night, with the uncanny way in which he guarded the big boys. Also he is sharpshooter enough to make it necessary to keep him guarded rigidly. He rung up three free throws, but was banished to the showers near the end of the fourth quarter on four personal fouls. But the game had been won by a margin that permitted of no alibis, and neither side scored afterward.

Young Pfingst, and also Fred Smith who relieved him for most of the last half of the game, played a flashy game at right forward. "Pinky" has lots of power and speed and is aggressive at all times, along with an instinct for the game that youngsters seldom show.

Buchanan's second team was not so fortunate in the opening game of the evening, losing out in a five-minute overtime just at the crack of the gun by one basket, 21 to 19. They had the game their own way all but the second quarter, when they completely forgot that they had to guard the home basket, and the Niles bunch beat them in that one quarter 13 to 1. This game was the thriller of the evening. It was only by a wild upward fling of the hand that Meyer scored the winning basket as the gun barked. The 700 fans went wild during the fourth quarter when Buchanan's beginners pulled up and tied the score from a six-point handicap. They outplayed their opponents during the five-minute period just before they had done during the fourth quarter when Niles was blanked, but with everybody under the basket and helping to keep the ball high overhead, Lady Luck favored the enemy. The fine juggling of the ball through the ring, making 9 out of 12 tries at free throws, while the opposition made only 3 of their 14 tries put Buchanan seconds into the running despite their throwing of the game away by carelessness in the second quarter.

Wilson, W. S. T. C., refereed the main event, and Crawford, W. S. T. C., umpired, and their positions were reversed in the opening game. Bob Rinker was official scorekeeper and Walker was timekeeper.

ON CITIZENSHIP.

For some time this school has been working upon citizenship and endeavoring to show what it really means. Besides grading every pupil in citizenship the members of the various classes meet for thirty minutes of the first period in the morning, the boys of each class meeting in one group and the girls in another, making a total of eight groups. During the thirty minutes the banking is done and the remainder of the time is spent upon problems of citizenship and thrift. Furthermore, each year the whole high school votes upon the person whom they consider the outstanding citizen of the school and the winner is awarded a silver cup. These three things illustrate the extent of the work which is being carried on in regard to citizenship, and they should be sufficient to really create an interest in being a good citizen.

Citizenship is difficult to define and everyone has his own idea concerning it, but the underlying difference between the various opinions seem to be in the words used to express it rather than in the idea itself.

Citizenship represents how well you fit into things or, in other words, how you adopt yourself to the realm of school life. It governs your actions as a social being and with reference to your particular environment represents your behavior in toto. The only reason for difficulty in defining it is because of the fact that it represents your general attitude, and under different conditions different behavior constitute good citizenship; therefore, in defining citizenship a flexible conception must be given so that it may cover a wide range.

Many students think that to be good citizens they must be "angels," but this is not true. It is no virtue to boast that you never did anything. A good citizen is up and doing. He is not expected to be perfect. All that is required of him is his best. He should sense the ideals of the school and exhibit a good school spirit, strive for high quality of workmanship, cooperate and avoid disturbing others. These factors constitute a good citizen.

What is the value of this extensive work carried on concerning citizenship? Why not spend the time and energy on scholarship or athletics? However, scholarship and athletics are a part of citizenship and without it are almost impossible. What a fine basketball team we would have if the players refused to cooperate and did not show a good school spirit! What kind of grades could anyone expect if he didn't half try, and spent his time disturbing others. Citizenship is necessary to school life. Another desirable thing obtained by training in citizenship is that it prepares the student for the future, a future which extends beyond school to something more important. What do we go to school for but to train for the future? By observing the rules of good citizenship we are merely getting our money's worth.

THIS AND THAT

Last Thursday, Miss Reams invited the teachers of the fifth and sixth grades to her room to enjoy a lesson in History with her sixth graders. First, the rapid review on Rome put all the pupils in a right frame of mind and focused their attention on an outline on the blackboard. The general gist of the lesson was the early life of the Christian era, and the adoption of the calendar, two mature subjects for the pupils of that age; but the lesson approached was made so attractive, and the review played such an indispensable part, that no difficulties were encountered. Miss Reams followed this lesson the next day, by giving a talk which covered this same material and, finally, papers are to be written by the pupils, which will serve as individual checks.

Coach Miller and his Junior High basketball boys fitted to Dowagiac last Tuesday and came back victorious. Buchanan is fortunate to have a man of Mr. Miller's characteristics to handle this group of youngsters. They are not only learning basketball, but qualities that are found to enrich their lives long after leaving B. H. S.

A notice was sent out last week asking the parents to kindly assist the members of the faculty by not allowing the pupils to return to the buildings until one o'clock, for the doors are not open until that time. The individual room doors are locked in the absence of the teacher. The statement also asked that all pupils who live near the school buildings, or could possibly go home for lunch, would be allowed to do so, as the Domestic Science department is taxed beyond its capacity.

Supt. H. C. Stark called upon County Commissioner B. R. Eggert

last Thursday. Mr. Eggert was in fine spirits, and although a little thin, is looking very well.

Mrs. Herbert Walton was unable to attend to her Junior High classes last Wednesday and Thursday, on account of illness. Mrs. Riley Zerbe taught for her.

Miss Genevieve Carnagan, teacher of first grade, spent the weekend in St. Joseph visiting relatives.

Old Timer Writes of Chicago-Buchanan Dinner

I didn't see you at the Chicago-Buchanan dinner. No? Couldn't get away, eh? I've heard that before. Well there were three representatives from there and we were sure glad to see them. One was "ye editor," Mr. Hawes. It was the first time I had ever met him and now I know why his rhymes are so funny. It's because he is not funny at all, himself, and he has to balance the thing up by writing them. If he didn't he would sure enough "bust." He happened to sit right next to me, at the dinner, and I tried to be sociable like and give him a chance to talk to me and tell me a story of his life or something, but he wasn't there for that purpose at all, and while he made good use of the food that came our way, he otherwise seemed preoccupied, and had little to say. But when he did get up to make a little talk for us, it was worthwhile and we hadn't much to suggest after he got through.

Another one that was at the dinner was George Dressler. He had an awful time finding the place, and to enjoy it best you will have to get him to relate it to you himself. He likes to talk more than any old maid I ever heard, anyway, and he will just die with combustion if he don't get to tell some one pretty soon. It runs like this:

Getting off the train at 12th St. depot, he decided that inasmuch as he was to stay with friends in town so his hotel bill wouldn't cost him anything, he would take a taxi and then to the address on North Michigan Avenue where the Buchananites were held forth that evening. The taxi driver stopped at a place and opened the door and said "Here You Are," collected his fare and drove off. Then George began to look around and found that he couldn't find the number he was looking for. The right number was "360" and he was in the "400" block. This happens to be right at Chicago River, the 400's start on the north side of the river in Michigan Avenue, and the "360" number had to be on the south side of the river, so George carrying his little old grip, went hiking across the bridge and hunted for "360." Arrived there, he hunted around and the very best he could find was "356." That was a china shop or something of that sort and he knew that wouldn't do, so he asked some one on the street where "360" was located and they hunted around with him and said "It must be on the other side of the river." So over he goes again, grip and all. Over there he found they hadn't taken off the "400" numbers from the same buildings, so he asked some one else, where "360" was "at" and they looked wise and hunted a while and then decided that it was "on the other side of the river." So back he goes, still carrying his little old grip, and there he found the same condition that had confronted him some time before. "360" was as far as the numbers ran and then you came to the street that cuts into Michigan Avenue at that point, (namely Wacker Drive), so George saw a colored man there and asked him about it. He directed George to walk over the beautiful bridge that spans the Chicago River at that point and he figured that he would find the wanted number. This made George mad. He had already walked that bridge four times and they seemed to want him to keep it up all night. George was getting desperate, it was nearly 6:30 p. m. and that's the time when the Buchananites "set up" to the table. So he decided to do a little "gum shoeing" himself, and he decided to take a walk around that blamed building and see if it had any numbers on the other side. That decision is what saved his life, and so at the first doorway around said corner he found staring him in the face the long lost number "360" in plain figures, and so he made a dive for it and arrived on the third floor just in time to meet the advance guard going on duty to greet all comers.

So that ends the story of "How George found his number" and while it has only taken me a little while to write it and while you have perhaps spent only a few minutes reading it, it took George some longer to find it and it was cold that night on the shore of the lake and over the river that bears the name of this fair city. Ice and snow were on the street, (making them hard to negotiate) as well as in the air, and his nose was red when the receiving committee grabbed him and yanked him from the elevator on the third floor. I may have left out two or three or more of his trips that he made, crossing and re-crossing the good old river bridge but I know this, that unless you ask George about it and give him a chance to elaborate, he will blow up from "story pressure," which is the next thing to "blood pressure."

When George had finished telling me all his troubles about this number business, etc., and that it was all the taxi driver's fault for taking him too far, etc., I told him a story, and told him "he should worry" for he wasn't as bad off as the party I had once heard of who was in a terrible hurry to catch a certain train that pulled out from the North Western sheds at 5 p. m. and it was in the old times of real "hack" drivers and horses, etc. The driver took the information in and nodded, and climbed up to his seat and whipped up the old horse and they were "off." It was only about a half mile to the depot and the traveling man saw that they were approaching the depot, in fact they were passing it, in fact they were away past it and still going strong, so he yelled to the man to stop and incidentally yelled, also, "Whoa!" to the old horse, and that obedient old fellow recognized orders and stopped. Where upon the man found out that his "driver" had an impediment in his speech, the fact he stuttered something awful, and he claimed that he had been trying to say "W-w-whoa!" for three or four blocks, but couldn't. So I claim that this man was worse off than even George. George thought so too and "laughed it off" like that. George says he hopes they will have the dinner in the same place next year and then he wants to get there early and sit on the railing of the old bridge and see how many "dumb fools" will try to wear the river bridge out hunting for "360" as he did, and then he can give them the horse laugh. More power to you, George.

Well, we had a lot of fun at the Buchanan Dinner, and we wished we could have had a lot more of you with us, but we are coming to Buchanan and have our annual "outing" on the 29th of June, I think it is, and then if you don't care enough for us to come over and eat, then we will decide that the Buchanan spirit is lacking in the coming generation. The "Old Timers" were on the job at this dinner and they will be in Buchanan, too. So you better lay your plans now to be with us when we come over to Buchanan.

Funny thing happened at our dinner the other night. They had "tags" or labels printed for each person to write their names on and wear them on their coats, etc., so any one could tell whom they were without going through the usual. It seems that your face is familiar, but I just can't say the name." Well, Henry Grover is a printer and he was so blamed busy that he didn't get them printed in time or something and he and his whole family came wandering in after we were about half through with the dinner and every one had said their little speech and found out whom, every one there, was, and so the little old labels were of no use, so they are going to save them for next year. So now you have a chance to get a label yourself, for they will try and get them there on time next year. Come over and get one.

Old Timer.

Sidelights on the Chicago-Buchanan Society Dinner

PRIMARY GRADE OF 1886.

Among the items of interest that came up at the program following the dinner was the reading by Mrs. Pet Beardsley Tuttle of a list of first grade pupils in the Buchanan public schools of 1886, the list having been taken from an old dictionary which was presented by the class to their teacher, Miss Edith Beardsley. The list of pupils was as follows: Roland Burr, Mayde Lambert (deceased), Lizzie Sutherland, Mattie Scott, Mamie Barmess (deceased), Ethel Woodbridge, Julia Redden, Jennie Bunker, Charles

MEMBER ENTERS POLITICS

Among the guests present was Clarence O. Milner, another member who gained entrance by marrying a Buchanan girl. Mr. Milner has his hat in the political ring in the city election scheduled in Chicago, Feb. 26, having been nominated for the office of park commissioner in the Jefferson Park district.

HEADS CHICAGO SCHOOLS

Among those who sent regrets on account of inability to be present was Dr. E. F. Buck, former Buchanan superintendent of schools, and now assistant superintendent of schools of the city of Chicago. Dr. Buck is now acting head of the Chicago school system, during the absence of the superintendent.

The MAYTAG Cast Aluminum TUB

THE MAYTAG tub was originated and designed by the Maytag Company and a $900,000 aluminum foundry, the finest in America, was built to produce it economically.

It keeps the water hot for an entire washing and is shaped to guide the gyrofaumed water into many cross currents. The sediment trap collects the loosened dirt and keeps the water clean. The gyrator is counter-sunk into the tub. It will not tangle the clothes nor injure buttons. Phone for a trial washing. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it.

Positive Cooking Results with the FEDERAL 4-way Oven

Your cooking results are positive and certain when your food is placed in a Federal Gas Range oven—bread and biscuits come out light and fluffy—cakes have an evenness of texture.

The new patented feature—4 way circulation of heat—assures even delivery of heat to every part of the oven—top and bottom as well as the four sides are equally heated.

How much better foods taste and how much more inviting do they appear when they have been evenly cooked.

Too, the 4-way circulation of heat makes for faster cooking, and does it with a considerable saving of gas. Modern home keeping does not call for long hours in the kitchen and cooking with the Federal Gas Range is a joy because it does the work so well and so quickly.

Best of all, your Federal Gas Range adds beauty and distinction to your kitchen. Your friends will admire it and you will find it so easy to keep clean. See the beautiful display of different styles of Federal Gas Ranges.

The GREATER HUDSON

and Motordom calls for LARGEST HUDSON output of all time

Already in response to the public's demand, production of the Greater Hudson has been increased, and then increased again—by far the largest schedule Hudson ever found necessary.

In their own words, by their marked and recorded ballots, motorists by tens of thousands are telling us the Greater Hudson is truly the greatest of all time.

Voting in every Hudson salesroom in the country, these enthusiastic multitudes have piled up the most convincing endorsement in Hudson history. Perhaps even more important, they have bought these beautiful new Hudsons in such numbers that we must make thousands more of them to insure prompt delivery.

Every experience and suggestion of the world's largest 6-cylinder ownership is incorporated in the 64 improvements of the Greater Hudson.

As co-authors of these creations the 1,000,000 Super-Six owners are naturally first to want to see, inspect and drive them. It is particularly interesting to observe their special satisfaction in the numerous body improvements. In comment, these important developments in body design and appointment, fully equal the more dramatic qualities of the more than 80-mile-an-hour performance.

They definitely set Hudson apart from like-priced cars, just as Hudson performance stands alone among all cars.

Come, see and drive the Greater Hudson. We believe one ride will make it the car of your choice.

YOUR EYES and OUR SERVICE

BY BLACKMOND

The Ladies Complain

That the eyes in their needles get smaller and smaller with the years. These are middle-aged ladies. Once they could thread the smallest needle with ease. Now they look for the needle with the largest eye. The correct glasses overcome this annoyance. We can equip these complaining ladies so they may again sew (or read) with pleasure.

(To be continued next Thursday in the Record, be sure and look for your eyes and our service "by Blackmond.")
