PARTY LINES DRAWN FOR VILLAGE ELECTION BATTLE

Now Here's the Proposition

GEORGE'S ADVANTAGES.

When Washington was in the land He never spoke in lies and such; He never dealt in fiction grand, Not even when he got in Dutch, For when a cherry tree he whacked

And said, "I cannot tell a lie," They patted him upon the back And fed him slabs of cherry pie But when I pulled a stunt like that And told the truth to save my face They said "Come here you little brat."

And patted me another place. If I had lived when he was young I might have been a model youth, And always trained my tongue To have a strict regard for truth. I wonder how George would have fared

If he had grabbed his little axe Within his hand that day and pared Some limbs from, off his income tax?

If he had had a limousine, Some ancient bus he took in trade Would he have bought some gasolin? And lied about the miles he made? If he had set him down at night To tune in with a two-tube set, Now don't you really think he might Have lied about what he could get? It was no credit to that guy To keep his statements free from doubt He didn't have to tell a lie— What did he have to be about?

Jesse Boyle Speaks for Farm Laws

Spokesman in Senate Committee For Land Bank.

Jesse G. Boyle returned last week from Washington, D. C., where he had gone to report before the senate farm loan committee on the findings of the committee representing the members of the 12 farm loan districts of the United States.

The committee representing the members of all loan associations had met previously in Chicago. Boyle representing the St. Paul district, comprising the states of Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota, North Dakota and South Dakota. At that meeting Boyle had been elected chairman, and was commissioned to report their recommendations at Washington.

Boyle stated on his return that the committee had been presided over by Senator Norbeck, of North

Charter Election Certain Not To Go By Default

Last Minute Drive Secures Wealth of Material.

Assurances that the move for a change from village to city form of government would not default on account of lack of candidates for the charter commission was furnished by an eleventh hour drive by the friends of the movement resulting in the submission of petitions for 18 candidates, or double the number needed.

The candidates submitted afford an excellent choice for charter commission material and assure that a capable selection will be available.

When the office of village president, Claude Glover, closed last night, the following candidates had been qualified: Charles W. Landis, Frank Habicht, Wilson Lettier, J. Morrow Chubb, A. S. Bonner, John F. Russell, M. L. Hanlin, C. F. Pears, Harvey Bristol, Philip Boone, Harold Kitchin, Theron J. Childs, Henry R. Adams, William T. Richards, Harley R. Squier, Arthur A. Vorhees, Charles J. Bradley, G. G. Rogers.

REPUBLICANS WILL ENTER FULL TICKET

Claude Glover to Head Citizens Slate Again.

BOONE TO OPPOSE

Outgoing Councilmen Refuse to Enter The Race.

The policies and record of the present village administration was given endorsement and incumbent officials were nominated to succeed themselves in so far as they would permit their names to be placed on the ticket at the caucus of the Citizens party held at the Buchanan Council rooms Monday evening.

The meeting was in charge of Charles J. Bradley as chairman, with Phil Boone as secretary. Martin Pearson and Glen Merrifield were appointed to act as tellers.

The sentiment of the meeting was unanimously in favor of the nomination of the present village president to succeed himself, and Mr. Glover permitted his name to go on the ticket for the purpose of rounding out the work which was being initiated during his administration.

The names of Harry Post, Clarence Kinner, and Henry Eisele were placed in nomination to succeed themselves as Clerk, treasurer, and assessor respectively.

When nominations for councilmen were called for, Roy Pierce and Glen Merrifield were named but positively declined to permit any consideration of re-election. Paul Wynn increased the number of nominations required by announcing his resignation, due to the fact that after this winter he will no longer be a resident of the town, making his permanent home in his new residence on the River road. The following list of councilmen was accordingly placed in nomination: Harry Berry, Nate Sands, Wesley Swartz, Dr. Strayer (to fill out unexpired term of Paul Wynn).

The following committee were nominated to serve as committee for the coming year: Charles J. Bradley, Harry Post, H. S. Bristol. An opposing array of candidates in the field, against the Citizens ticket in the spring election, became assured Tuesday night with the holding of the Republican caucus at the council room Tuesday night and the nomination of a full slate of candidates for all offices to be filled.

The meeting was presided over by George G. Rogers as chairman, with Phay Graff as secretary. J. J. Hickey and Crosby Griffin acted as tellers. There were no keynote speeches or statements of broad grounds of action, the business of the evening being transacted in one-two-three order and finished by a few minutes past 8 p. m. Charles A. Boone was placed in nomination for the office of village president and was elected by acclamation. The remainder of the slate is as follows: clerk, Phay A. Graff; treasurer, Ralph A. Rouse; assessor, Arthur Wray, Sr.; trustee, Frank Merion, C. F. Graham, Charles Bachman, Arthur Johnston. The last named candidate was nominated to fill out an unexpired term, in view of the anticipated nomination of Paul Wynn at the next council meeting.

The committee which functioned during the past year, comprising H. W. Riley, C. W. Landis, and G. G. Rogers, was again elected.

The main contests of the caucus was for the office of treasurer, which promised to be a barber's special, the names of his tonorial associates, Fred Mead and C. T. Higgins having been entered in opposition. However, Mr. Rouse ran away from the field, lapping his nearest competitor three and one-half times and coming under the wire with 14 out of the 20 votes cast.

Francis Hiller had as his guest over the past two week-ends, his former roommate at Lehigh University, W. W. Kemmerer, now an instructor and graduate student in the Teachers' College, Columbia University, New York City. He is now studying the school administration of Cleveland, O., collecting material for his thesis.

RECORD COOKING SCHOOL WILL OPEN NEXT TUESDAY

J. C. FULK MADE GENERAL MANAGER OF BARR'S STORES

S. PATRICK OF BENTON HARBOR IN CHARGE LOCAL STORE.

J. C. Fulk, local manager for Barrs since the opening of the store here, assumed the duties of general manager of the Niles and Buchanan stores Monday, with immediate charge of the former place, his local position having been taken by S. Patrick of Benton Harbor.

Mr. Patrick has been connected with the Enders dry goods department store of Benton Harbor, and is a store manager of experience, and excellent reputation. In the spring he will bring his family, consisting of wife and daughter, to Buchanan to live.

Mr. Fulk will continue to make his home here and Mrs. Fulk will remain in the local store as bookkeeper, the remainder of the personnel remaining unchanged.

BERTRAND HERMIT FOUND DEAD AT HIS HOME FRIDAY

RELIEF ARRIVES TOO LATE TO SAVE RECLUSE.

Edward J. Peer, 75, Bakertown recluse, was found dead in bed in his home at Bakertown Friday morning by Albert E. Houseworth, Bertrand supervisor, who had gone to investigate a report that he was ill and in need.

Peer had lived in Bakertown all of his life, and for many years had lived a very secluded life, refusing to mingle with even immediate neighbors. Until her death on January 7 of this year his sister, Miss Carrie Peer, had lived with him, but both had lived apart from all association with others. Peer had a small farm, but had supported himself mainly by trapping and trafficking in furs. Since his sister's death, he had apparently failed to receive food. When kindly neighbors brought him food a few days before his death he refused to accept it.

On Thursday evening Albert Sherwood went to his home and found him lying on the floor partially under the bed, and unable to get up. He got him into bed and telephoned to Houseworth concerning his condition.

On the following morning Houseworth and Sherwood went to his home and knocked on the door, receiving no response, they burst in the door and found him dead. He had apparently been dead several hours.

He is survived only by one sister, Mrs. Mary Curran of South Bend.

The funeral was held at 2 p. m. Monday from the Childs Chapel, Rev. Liddicoat officiating, and burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

M. E. Dramatic Club to Present Three Act Comedy

The Young People's Dramatic Club of the Methodist church will present a three-act comedy entitled "Anne's Little Affair" at the high school auditorium on the evening of Thursday, Feb. 28. Mrs. N. I. Resler is acting as director of the dramatization, and Francis Hiller as business manager.

Measles Epidemic Gains Additional Scope This Week

The measles epidemic gained scope this week, as new exposures developed to complaint, according to Dr. Strayer, village physician. The families of Elmer Rahn, George Fitch, and Bert Rohl, living in adjoining houses on Cecil Avenue, all contracted the disease. Among other homes quarantined this week were those of Frank Habicht on Chicago Street, Joe Manning at Clark and Chicago, and George Chain on Main St.

SOUND DEVICE CLUB WOMEN IS INSTALLED AT PRINCESS

New Device By Local Inventor To Be Permanent.

PROVES SUCCESS

Harry Banke Takes Charge of The Music.

The first of R. R. Robinson's Super-Symphonophones has been installed by Manager Homer P. Morley at the Princess Theatre and may be heard five or more times a week hereafter. This latest of creations by the local musician and music dealer has many features in advance of the experimental machine put in some weeks ago.

The installation includes a cabinet table of the right height to be operated while standing, on which are placed three electrical motorized Victor turntables equipped with the latest reproducing mechanism. The cabinet was built by Clevenger & Marble shops, and has a number of ingenious conveniences devised by Messrs. Morley and Robinson to facilitate the accurate handling of the large number of records required to accompany elaborate pictures.

Alongside the cabinet is a filing case for the records, in which they will be listed by number, and also by moods represented by the compositions. There will also be a card index, so that the operator will be able almost instantly to find suitable music for whatever is on the screen. This filing device is an inspiration of Mr. Morley's.

The entire unit is installed alongside the steel projection booth in a small separate booth on the gallery. From there a system of insulated wires lead to the stage, where three loud speakers of the very latest type are placed, just where an audience would expect music to be.

The three speakers correspond to the three primary organs in a pipe organ, and cover the high, medium and low ranges of the orchestral gamut. Each is adjusted to be sensitive to its own particular range, of that speaker obligato in the music produced. This is controlled by a series of buttons.

The operator can instantly adjust the volume of the entire composition as desired, as well as make fine nuances by the adjustment of the various ranges represented by the speakers, thus giving almost perfect control of emotional moods. Since all the best music is found recorded today, the entire world of music is available for use at the Princess Theatre. For this symphonophone is adapted to use all records. Already Mr. Morley has purchased a library of 400 records, and expects to add steadily to his collection.

The Symphonophone is really a super-phonograph, which is saying a great deal in these days of perfect phonographic reproduction. It is equipped with all the delicate devices for removing every mechanical sound and preserving every artistic inspiration of the musicians. Scratch filters eliminate the old time scratch of phonographs, and electrical devices clarify the results of all magnetic notes.

The music heard at the Princess is an electrical reproduction from records originally made by the light wave electrical process, making them most happily amenable to the Symphonophone's electrical system of musical projection. Dynamic agitation is completely eliminated. Moving pictures are rapid-fire productions. The moods change with lightning speed and great contrast. The fading-out system designed by Mr. Robinson is so perfect that the listener cannot tell exactly when a band marches off the stage into the distance and an orchestra or ensemble takes its place.

CLUB WOMEN HEAR MUSIC OLD MASTERS

Girls Glee Club Is The Feature in Fine Choruses.

SING IN LATIN

Monday Club Host To Many Guests At Fine Concert.

The Buchanan High School girls glee club, 54 strong, featured in an educational music program under the auspices of the Monday Club at the Methodist Church Monday afternoon, rendering a number of selections from master musicians with a proficiency that indicated much skill and care in training.

The program was in charge of Mrs. W. F. Runner, club chairman for the occasion, and was opened by singing "America the Beautiful" by the audience. Mrs. Runner prefaced the song by a short description of the events leading up to the composition of the song by Katherine Lee Bates.

Henry Liddicoat then read a paper on "Church Music" which had been prepared by Rev. Liddicoat, who was called away to preach a funeral. The paper proved most interesting and it was decided to invite Rev. Liddicoat for further talks on that subject.

Miss Theo Olson, High School director of music, then took charge of the program, giving a series of explanatory talks on the music of the masters, illustrated by selections by the glee club and by Marvin Gross, pianist.

Several Beethoven records, of which the high school has a full set, were played on a victrola. A vocal trio comprising Mesdames E. C. Pascoe, Mrs. Henry Liddicoat, and Mrs. E. H. Ormiston then sang "When the Nightingale Sings Her Gentle Song," arranged by Branscombe for the music of Beethoven's Minuet, Mrs. H. M. McKinnon accompanying them.

Miss Olson then introduced Handel's music, playing the "Largo" and the "Water Music Suite." Brahms's music came next, with Miss Zeldia Schumacher singing the "Lullaby" and the girls glee club singing "The Little Duetman." Marvin Gross played the "Spring Song" as an illustration of the music of Mendelssohn, and the "Fantasie in D Minor" as an illustration of the music of Mozart.

Perhaps the most remarkable along the numbers of the program was the singing of Rachmaninoff's "Glorious Forever" and Mozart's "Ave Verum," the latter being sung in the original Latin by the chorus of 54 voices, without the aid of written words or music.

The program was closed by the rendition by Miss Olson of Guilmin's "Lamentation," prefaced by an interpretation of the meaning of the music and the circumstances underlying its composition.

A good audience ended the program, including nearly the entire membership of the Thirty Club and a number of other guests.

Lester Van Halst Opens New Grocery At Kazoo Saturday

Friends of Lester Van Halst, former Buchanan youth, a nephew of J. E. Arney, will be glad to hear that he is now a grocery store owner and operator in his own right, having opened a store at Kalamazoo Saturday. He was born in Buchanan, and lived here for 19 years, being employed for several years in the grocery of his uncle, J. E. Arney. From here he went to Kalamazoo, where he was in the employ of the Kroeger and Thomas chain stores for three years, until he opened his own business last week.

Mrs. Mary Layman and sister, Kate, spent the week-end at the Wentland home.

WE WILL FIGHT, BLEED AND DIE FOR RIGHT WHEN THEY RAISE PAY FOR IT

We went in to see a fellow in Buchanan in his office last week and he says: "You guys can't straddle in this fight, and get away with it, you gotta get on one side or the other."

We ain't sayin' what his name was nor what fight he was talkin' about, but we will remark regardin' most any fight that if we don't see anything in it for us but a swift kick in the pants, with the probability that the dear public for whom we are supposed to be fightin' will be standin' on the side lines givin' three rousin' cheers for the kickee—why if this gent thinks we can't straddle, just let him stick around and watch us.

J. HANOVER, 62, DIES FRIDAY AT BERTRAND FARM

BORN NEAR GLENDORA, LIVES ENTIRE LIFE IN BERRIEN.

Jackson Hanover, 62, died early Friday morning at his home in Bertrand Township, 3½ miles southwest of Buchanan after a life-time residence in Berrien County.

Mr. Hanover was born near Glendora in 1867, his father having been John Hanover, a pioneer of this section. In 1887 he married Nellie R. Brown. For the past 14 years he had made his home on the farm in Bertrand Township where he died. He is survived by his wife; by one son Lysle; by two grandchildren; by one brother, William Hanover of Glendora; by two sisters, Mrs. Amanda Morley of Galesburg and Mrs. Mary Harris of Pasadena, Calif.

The funeral was held at 2 p. m. Sunday from the home, Rev. J. L. Griffith of the Buchanan Church of Christ preaching, and burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

WM. HOUSEWORTH, PORTAGE PRAIRIE FARMER DIES SAT.

LIVED MOST OF HIS LIFE IN BERTRAND TWP.

William Houseworth, 83, died Saturday at the home of his son, Albert W. Houseworth, 5½ miles southeast of Buchanan, disabilities rising from old age being the cause of death.

Mr. Houseworth was born in Pennsylvania, October 6, 1845, and came to Bertrand Township with his parents, when he was 15 years old. Since that time he had lived continuously in Bertrand Township, following the profession of farmer, save for a few years when he lived at Bristol, Ind.

For many years he owned the farm immediately south of the Portage Prairie Evangelical Church, in which he held a number of offices. His funeral was held from that church at 2 p. m. Tuesday, Rev. Sanders preaching the sermon, and burial was made in the cemetery adjoining the church.

March 1 Last Date Payment Township Taxes

Township Treasurer Burton Montgomery will close his office at the Buchanan State Bank in March 1, due to the need of time in compiling the numerous taxes and road rolls.

He has requested that anyone who has sold property on contract without receiving payment look up the taxes to see whether they have been cared for. Also anyone who may know of absentee property owners who may have overlooked payment of taxes due to confusion over dates is asked to remind them.

Mr. and Mrs. Emil Schaefer announce the birth of a baby girl Tuesday morning, at their home on Terre Coupe road.

MRS. A. HUNT FAMED MENU ARTIST HERE

Modern Labor Saving Devices Will Be Featured.

TASTY RECIPES

Surprise Program For Men Wednesday Evening.

On February 26th at 2 p. m. the cooking school will open at the High School Auditorium to extend for four days. The school will be conducted by Mrs. Alma E. Hunt, Home Economist Expert, and all housewives of the city are invited to attend without charge. Mrs. Hunt is a home economist of national reputation. She is known as a leader in her profession and has been honored on many occasions by recognized food authorities. Her training and many years in this work has made her an authority. She has held institutes in all sections of the United States. Buchanan is exceptionally fortunate in being able to secure a teacher of such ability and reputation as possessed by Mrs. Hunt. No registration formality will be required at the school and those who wish to watch each process closely are advised to arrive early in order to obtain seats near the front. A large attendance is anticipated, including many from out of town who are urged and invited to be present.

The cooking school is carried on each year on the lecture plan. Full kitchen equipment is placed on the platform, including many of the modern labor saving devices. The ladies are invited to inspect this equipment closely and to ask any questions they desire.

Definite Program Set. Mrs. Hunt will follow a certain program each day. She will prepare and cook dishes, lecturing as she works. She will explain each step as it is taken and will cook the food correctly as the audience watches. Recipes for each article she makes will be supplied. She will give information which it would be difficult for the women of Buchanan and vicinity to obtain in any other way. She will bring recipes new to this part of the country, providing pleasant changes from the usual routine of food.

The dainty touches in cooking, the simplest way in which to make the difficult dish, the proper food to serve on certain social occasions, will all be set forth by Mrs. Hunt. Salads and desserts will be taken up and cakes, pies and meats will be included. Bread making will receive little consideration, with the exception of quick breads.

Surprise Program for Men. Mrs. Hunt is departing from her usual procedure and has arranged a special program for the men on next Wednesday evening. This is intended especially for those men who have some rather vain ideas as to their powers as a chef, as well as to the confirmed bachelor and those who occasionally keep bachelor's house. Her program is arranged to appeal to the men and she has arranged for some quickly prepared foods as well as the more complicated ones which men are inclined to prepare. A number of dishes with a distinctly masculine appeal will be offered and a special effort to please the male of the species will be made. All this should not imply that ladies are not invited. By all means the ladies should come as they will attend a very interesting program. Ladies should bring the men along and those without men, should and some to bring with them. Everybody welcome.

Forty-four years ago today, according to H. E. Binns, was 26 below zero. And eight years ago today the dandelions were blooming.

MANUAL ARTS SECTION IS TOTAL LOSS

Fire Gains Headway in Early Hours of Morning.

SAVE HEAT PLANT

School Suspended One Day by Water Damages.

Fire which originated from spontaneous combustion early yesterday morning in the southwest corner of the basement of the old school building used as quarters for the heating plant and manual training department, completely destroyed the west wing of that building, together with all of the equipment and material used by the manual training department.

Although the cause of the fire is involved in mystery, spontaneous combustion seems most probable inasmuch as the part of the structure where it apparently began contained nothing but coal, and there was no wiring. The supply of paints and wiping clothes used by the manual training department, in which spontaneous combustion is deemed likely, was kept in a steel receptacle in the hall and was found intact after the fire had abated.

The flames were discovered shortly before 3 a. m. by Mrs. H. C. Marrs, 401 Smith Street, who was awakened at that time by the barking of her dog, which ran into her bedroom barking. She raised up and turned to look at the clock and noticed the reflection of the flames on the white wall of her room. Looking out the window she saw the fire pouring from the windows on the south side of the manual training room. She turned in a fire alarm immediately.

Fire Chief Bunker was aroused by the alarm and drove to the fire with what aid he could muster, experiencing some trouble in getting the truck up the icy hill. By the time he arrived, the entire floor of the manual training department was in flames and that wing of the building was apparently beyond hope. The department accordingly devoted their entire attention to confining the fire to the manual training department and keeping it out of the boiler room, in which they were aided by the double brick wall between the two departments. By 4 a. m. the fire was well under control, but the entire west wing was a total loss, together with manual training equipment valued at $4,000, none of which was saved.

The entire heating plant was undamaged save that the water poured into the structure by the fire department settled in the boiler pit to a depth of about six feet, completely inundating a motor under the boilers, and filling the tunnel connecting the high school and the heating plant. Due to this it was impossible to heat the main school building and the sessions were suspended yesterday, until the fire department could pump out the water and the motor could be dried out.

In addition to the manual training equipment, a considerable amount of lumber and other materials and numerous articles of furniture and other projects partially completed, the property of the boys, was also lost. Twenty-five tons of coal stored in the basement continues smouldering, it being impossible to put that out with water.

The destruction of the manual training quarters will mean the suspension of practical work on that line for several weeks at least and the school authorities are contemplating suspending the seventh and eighth grade work for the remainder of the year, and instituting a class in mechanical drawing for the ninth grade, in order that they may not lose the necessary credit for that work. The manual training department is directed by Ray Miller and has been one of the most popular in the high school.

The home of Ora Wellbaum in Bertrand township is under quarantine for scarlet fever; two children, Orville, 17, and Nona Mae, 14, being ill with the disease. They attend school at New Carlisle. Dr. Snowden is caring for the cases.

Times Do Change—Even In er-er-Lingerie

THIS photo is intended for the eyes of "women only." It pictures the change in milady's lingerie styles over the last decade or two. Jean Arthur, the motion-picture star, is the model. At the right, she is shown garbed in the "undies" that were in vogue about fifteen or twenty years ago. That garment is just about the equivalent of the modern day frock. At the left, Miss Arthur appears in the "combination" of today—a beautiful creation even though there is a little less of it. Ho-hum—the times do change.

THREE GLASSES WATER HELP CONSTIPATION

One glass of water is not enough—take three glasses one hour before breakfast. Much better results are obtained by adding a teaspoon of simple glycerin, saline compound (known as Adierika) to each glass.

Adierika acts on BOTH upper and lower bowel and removes old waste matter you never thought was in your system. Stops gas and sour stomach in TEN minutes! Relieves constipation in two hours.

Cultured "Hobo" Writes Of His Tour Around The World

A VAGABONDING tour of the world recently brought Rene Muhlich, (above) 25 years old, of Austria to Los Angeles, Calif. His home, if he can be said to have one, is in Vienna where his father—Karl Muhlich—is publisher of the Wiener Tageblatt.

Local Home Has Copy of Mooted "Original Issue"

The controversy which has been taking space in nearby city papers recently relative to the authenticity of issues of the Ulster County Gazette, Kingston, N. Y., of the year, 1800, containing accounts of the funeral of Washington, has revealed that one of the papers in question is in the possession of Mrs. L. M. Hamblin, 205 Moccasin Avenue. According to published accounts, most of the papers assuming to be of the mintage of 1800 are in fact of reprints made either on the occasion of a July 4 celebration at Kingston in 1846, or at the time of the Centennial Exhibition in 1876. The paper in possession of Mrs. Hamblin is known to have been in the hands of the family since the early fifties at least, which places it definitely before the time of the Centennial reprint. It has the appearance of extreme age, but whether it would pass the inspection of the critics who assume to know that only authentic copy of the original issue remains is not certain. Another interesting document of undoubted authenticity which Mrs. Hamblin owns is a copy of the New York Herald containing the news of the assassination of Lincoln.

Full Restaurant Service Installed At Keans Parlor

James Craig whose catering abilities are well known in Buchanan, has entered the employ of Richard Kean as chef. Mr. Kean has been unable to take care of the work lately on account of illness, but since he has secured the services of Craig he has decided to widen the scope of the service, serving meals as well as the short orders.

Have you met this person?

He is around 45 years of age—more or less. He is reading the paper and holding it too far from his eyes. Can't read it closer. Thinks his eyes are strong when he can read it so far away. Mistaken of course. He needs reading glasses so he can read at 13 inches. No eye strain then. Print clear, eyes comfortable, half an hour spent solves the problem of difficult reading.

"Soul" was the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Christian Science Churches on Sunday, Feb. 17.

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible: "And I will set my tabernacle among you; and my soul shall not abhor you. And I will walk among you, and will be your God, and ye shall be my people" (Lev. 26:11-12).

The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Soul must be incorporeal to be Spirit, for Spirit is not finite. Only by losing the false sense of Soul can we gain the eternal unfolding of Life as immortality brought to light" (p. 335).

vs. Jacob Hoag, John Terpenning, Geo. W. Reynolds, the wife of Edward J. Reynolds, John Reynolds, John F. Schwartz, William Redden and the unknown heirs, devisees, legatees and assigns of each and all of them, Defendants.

Suit Pending in the Circuit Court for the County of Berrien, In Chancery, at the City of Saint Joseph on the 30th day of January A. D. 1929.

In this cause it appearing from the bill of complaint on file, in the clerk's office, that certain of the defendants herein are not residents of the State of Michigan and their whereabouts are unknown.

On motion of Geo. H. Batchelor, attorney for the plaintiff, it is ordered that the above named defendants cause their appearance to be entered herein within three months from the date of this order and in case of their appearance, they shall be required to answer the plaintiff's Bill of complaint to be filed, and a copy thereof to be served on said plaintiff's attorney within fifteen days after service on them of a copy of said bill of complaint, and in default thereof, said bill of complaint be taken as confessed by the said defendants.

And it is further ordered that within forty days, the plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be published in the Berrien County Record, a newspaper printed, published and circulating in said county, and that said publication be continued therein once in each week for six weeks in succession, or that the plaintiff cause a copy of this order to be personally served on said non-resident defendants at least forty days before the time set for their appearance.

The bill of complaint herein filed was filed to perfect certain defects in plaintiff's title to a parcel of land in the Township of Bertrand, Berrien county, Michigan, described as follows: to-wit, the North-west quarter of section ten, town eight south, range 18 west.

CASS LEADER SPEAKER AT COURT HONOR

Sixty merit badges were conferred on members of Buchanan Boy Scout Troops 41 and 42, and ten boys were advanced from second to first class Scouts at the Court of Honor held Thursday evening at the Methodist Church, doubtless the largest single Scout ceremony ever held here.

Oscar Noll, Berrien-Cass area executive, presided over the Court. Among the matters of business transacted was the formal announcement of the appointment of Kenneth A. Blake as Scout Commissioner of the local district. The committee conferring the merits at the Court of Honor were Rev. J. L. Griffith, Leon Wood, E. A. Irwin, Arthur Frazee.

Arthur Frazee of Dowagiac was the speaker of the evening, delivering an excellent address of the principals of Scouting.

Scout Master R. R. Bannan and nine members of Edwardsburg Troop No. 39 were guests of the local troops. It had been planned that the Edwardsburg Scouts would receive 34 merit badges, but the papers authorizing the credits were held up in the mails and did not arrive in time.

The boys received a thrill in the offer of Willis Kysor, in charge of the Eaglerock Airways at Niles, who was present and accepted an appointment as examiner in aviation. Mr. Kysor offered to give a free airplane ride to the first four boys passing the examination in aviation. He also offered to give an hour's demonstration in plane driving to any Scout Master who would bring his entire troop to the Eaglerock Airways.

An audience of 200 relatives and friends of the Scouts attended and greatly enjoyed the meeting.

Michigan Banks Prosperous.
Michigan's banking institutions are said to be among the strongest, most prosperous, and best managed of any state in the Union.

The state now has 548 incorporated banks and 21 trust companies, and there has not been a single failure in over two years. This also applies to National banks, although they are not under state supervision and therefore not included in reports given out by the state banking department.

Commercial and savings deposits during 1928 increased the enormous amount of over 35 million dollars, in spite of the fact it was a campaign year, which is generally marked by a depression. Michigan seems sanely prosperous—with high hopes for the future.

J. G. Boyle Speaks for Law Change

Dakota, as chairman, and included Senator Brookhart of Iowa. Boyle was subjected to a long examination and some grilling by two eastern senators who apparently represented manufacturing interests not entirely friendly to any possible concessions to the farmers. The majority of the committee was friendly, however.

Boyle's principal recommendation was that the farmers be granted more voice in the administration of the farm loan bank, in accordance with the original of the Federal Farm Loan Act. According to the provisions of that measure as originally passed during the first administration of Woodrow Wilson, the farm loan bank was to be an autonomous affair, governed by its own members. The necessity of starting the bank in operation required that the officials including the National Farm Loan Board of five members, be appointed by the government. As a matter of fact this management imposed from above, has remained in authority, and the memberships have become political appointments, constituting patronage at the disposal of the party in power. The farmers do not control their own bank, according to the provisions of the Farm Loan Act. The opposition apparently comes from political forces unwilling to relinquish this patronage and from manufacturing interests unwilling to extend authority to the farmer.

A second recommendation reported by Boyle was that some arrangements be made for the creation of a fund to pay the expenses of the secretaries of the local farm association who to a large extent have donated their time, due to the lack of available money.

BUCKS SUSTAIN RECORD AND WIN ELEVENTH STRAIGHT GAME

TAKE SCALPS
OF SPRINGS
HOOPSTERSBradfield Uses His Entire Squad in Contest.

PIERCE HIGH MAN

Reserves Easily Master
Their Opponents in Preliminary.

Buchanan basketballers won their eleventh straight game for this season Friday night on the local floor from Berrien Springs by the top-heavy score of 49 to 22. The second squad also won from the Berrien reserves rather emphatically with 27 to 9 to their credit.

It may be said that the Bucks won from D. Dugan, for he was the scoring ace of the Springs bunch, collecting 16 of the 22 points himself. He is one of the flashiest basket shooters to appear on the Buchanan floor this year. The locals found it impossible to stop him, and with adequate support for their star, the Berrien bunch would be one of the best. Dugan is a senior, so will not have the pleasure of playing with the promising outfit Coach Paul Harvey is developing for next year.

The result being a foregone conclusion, Coach Harold "Curly" Bradfield used the Springs tilt to help bring boys to top form in preparation for the tournament to open at Niles March 7th and continue through the 9th. Clem Savoldi was ill with a cold and in the game but a moment, and some of the members of the second squad were pushed into the lineup at various times, all showing the possibilities that "Curly" has developed.

Pierce topped the scoring for both teams with 9 baskets for 18 points. Squires and Pfingst each had 12 markers, and Morse 7. Bristol carried the burden of standing guard duty, Fette being in but a short time near the end of each half, playing his usual impregnable game.

One more Class C game, with Cassopolis tomorrow night, will close the dual contest for the season, and bring the team up to the crucial tests of the year in the tournaments. It now seems probable that the boys will go clear through the season with 12 straight victories, unless Cassopolis performs a miracle.

Crawford, W. S. T. C., refereed both games, and Miller, W. S. T. C., was time keeper. The attendance was rather light.

The second team started against the Springs reserves with a burst of fire works that brought 9 points in the first quarter to the opposition's goose-egg. Coach Walter Pfingst has his boys going at top speed most of the time, but has not as yet succeeded in making their play consistent, as he found in both the Niles and Bridgman games, when they allowed the enemy to score 13 and 11 points in a single quarter to lose the games. They have absorbed the fundamentals, however, and will be ready next year to take their place in the first squad. With Jimmy Eisenhart's flashy scoring ability and so many rangy boys in the bunch, the prospects for another good season are more than ordinarily bright.

Wetzel was going strong and puzzled the local boys for a time in the third quarter. Dugan, brother of D. Dugan, the star of the Berrien cagers, also has fine promise as a cager.

Are Initiated

Into Phi Kappa

Six shivering candidates for Phi Kappa were seen entering the Hamilton home Tuesday, Feb. 12, and it was noted that they came out a few hours afterwards all in one piece!

What happened during those intervening hours has been discussed pro and con, but beyond all doubt they must have been highly initiated; for from the report one receives from the participants and their aggressors, one hears that Maynard Post has learned "to scramble like an egg" and that Walter Squires surpassed the best in "blooming like a rose." Of course, that may be all hearsay for Phi Kappa itself. The only honorary organization of B. H. S. contains a very dignified group, and the six who were initiated: Kathryn Reed, Walter Squires, Esther Brady, Arthur Anderson, Thelma Whittaker, and Maynard Post will add to this uplifting atmosphere.

However, for all the tonic taking and operations performed, it is heard from good authority that a lovely lunch concluded a very pleasant evening.

Harvey Sherwood
Chosen Member Of English Society

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Sherwood of Bakertown recently received from their son, Harvey L. Sherwood, a clipping from the Kalamazoo Gazette announcing his election to membership in the Philological Society of England. The election to membership was in recognition of an essay, "Some Aspects of Browning's Philosophy of Idealism," written by Sherwood. Lord Dunsany, noted Irish dramatist is a member of the society. Mr. Sherwood is English instructor at Central high school.

Is Valedictorian
of Senior Class

The three members of the Senior class having the highest averages for the first three years and a half were announced last Friday morning in general assembly. These three were Virginia Snowden, who had an average of 95.5, and who will be Valedictorian, Richard Dellinger, who had an average of 93.2, and who will be Salutatorian, and Mercedes Capen, who had an average of 92.2 and was announced as the third honorary member of the class of '29.

Inasmuch as there will be no class night this year, the two having the highest averages will deliver their orations at some other time.

Jr. Hi Reserves
Smother Dowagiac
By Tight Guarding

The Buchanan Junior High second team also won their game against the Dowagiac Reserves, by a score of 18 to 6. Coach Miller played his full reserve squad in this contest. The fine defensive work of the Buchanan boys was shown by the fact that they held their opponents to one free throw until the last quarter, when an entire reserve squad was in.

The individual score sheet reads:

BERRIEN SCOUT NEWS

The program was very successful. Courts of Honor were held in the three districts, St. Joe, Dowagiac and Buchanan with 381 awards. Largest courts for several years.

The Mobilization created much interest; whistles blew throughout the two counties calling the Scouts from their homes to the Court. The average time for mobilizing was twenty-one minutes and 97.2 percent of all the scouts in the area reported.

Court Ceremonies were very impressive. They were in charge of Dr. Blanning in St. Joe, Mitchell Jamar, in Dowagiac and Kenneth Blake, in Buchanan. Capacity houses at each Court.

A new troop was installed in the Congregational Church of Water-vliet, by District No. 1 Scouts in charge of deputy Worth and Ex. Noll. On Sunday night.

Every troop in the area had special meetings with dinners and parents or visitors present.

Troop No. 2, with George Roberts Scoutmaster in charge, had a very elaborate program, dinner and indoor field meet. Troop No. 1, Mr. Cooper Scoutmaster, was presented with a bugle by Mrs. C. L. Heinlin in recognition of Special Achievement along Advancement lines.

Forty-one Scoutmasters and their assistants registered for the Training School which opened last evening at the First Congregational Church, St. Joseph. The course will consist of 12 sessions and be conducted in two sections.

Elementary and advanced courses are given and when completed will be recognized by national headquarters with a certificate, and will also apply on the five-year training award, a scoutmaster's key, an emblem coveted by all scout leaders throughout the country.

The sessions will be held each Friday night and are opened with a dinner. Dr. Blanning gave a very inspirational address on the "Standardization of the Court of Honor."

The school is organized into troop formation with patrols, and everything is done just as a model troop would conduct its sessions.

Many leaders who did not attend last night are planning on attending next week. These men come from the entire area—Cass and Berrien Counties.

The patrol leaders school meets every Saturday afternoon at 1 o'clock. This week in the Baptist Church of Benton Harbor. Thirty-two enrolled last session from the Twin Cities in Dowagiac and Buchanan, 22 enrolled.

The purpose of the school is to show the proper way to conduct the patrol meetings and the right way to prepare the test work for advancement.

COLVIN DISTRICT

Mount Tabor Grange enjoyed an oyster supper, Valentine party and program Thursday night. Forty were present.

Mr. and Mrs. Dean Clark, Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Carpenter attended the Good Fellowship banquet at the Buchanan M. E. church Thursday evening.

Mrs. Clyde Pennell will have the Ladies' Aid Society for an all-day's meeting with a pot-luck dinner at noon Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Carpenter spent Sunday with the latter's mother, Mrs. Ann Thomas of the Miller District.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Blanta and family spent Sunday in Buchanan at the Cleon Hartline home.

Week-end guests at the Dean Clark home were: Mr. and Mrs. John Zeiger and daughter, Mable, of Wakarusa, Ind., Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Bates and two children—of Niles, and Dorothy Clark of Kalamazoo.

Automobiles.

Automobile manufacturers are habitual optimists. The tremendous development of their industry within a relatively brief period and the many remarkable individual and corporate successes scored in it justify a high degree of optimism on their part.

It is not strange, therefore, to find them prophesying, almost in unison, that 1929 is to be another year of unexcelled prosperity. They have made the same sort of forecast at the beginning of every year—except during the period of the world war—since the manufacture of cars began, and commonly their predictions have been well within the facts.

The American demand for automobiles and motor trucks seems to be limited only by the possibility of using them. The high value of motor vehicles for purposes of business or pleasure has been demonstrated so thoroughly that no one now questions it. The greatest problem in expanding the American market for cars is in the construction of adequate highways. In many cities the streets, along with the highways that lead into them, already are taxed almost to the limit by the passing cars. Fortunately more and more state, county and city governments are actively engaged in the construction of broad streets and highways.

For the American manufacturer there remain vast opportunities for expansion in the foreign field. But that expansion cannot be effected without effort. Though better cars are manufactured in the United States at less cost than elsewhere and under reasonable tariff regulations they compete to advantage with the cars made in any other country, the competition is becoming constantly more difficult. As fast as they are able the producers of cars in Europe are adopting American methods of manufacture and distribution. The industry in this country is still comfortably in advance of all foreign competition, particularly in low-priced and medium-priced cars. The industry has capital and other advantages which it will take foreign manufacturers years to overcome.

Certainly buyers of American cars never before got better value for their money in comfort, appearance, performance and reliability than they are now offered.—Chicago News.

Jumbo Licorice Jellybeans.

A middle-aged man saw exposed in a store window a quantity of so-called jumbo licorice jellybeans, black and shiny, and memories of his early youth, when licorice was his ideal confection, thronged back upon him. He bought some of the jumbo licorice jellybeans, five ounces for 10 cents, and, somewhat to his surprise, for he had had some experience in endeavoring to recall the delights of childhood, they tasted about as good as ever they did. That is to say, the licorice did. The only objection to the jumbo licorice jellybean is that it is too much jellybean and too little licorice.

Some 40 years ago licorice was extraordinarily popular with the younger set. All candy was strangely good then, of course, but we believe that licorice held the first place in the small boy's affections. There is a tang to licorice, an individuality about it, which is wholly unique and, if a boy likes it at all, he loves it. Moreover, the color scheme in and about the mouth resulting from its consumption leads him happily to believe that casual observers will think that he is chewing tobacco. In fact, licorice, which is the residuum left after boiling the root of the licorice plant, is extensively used in the manufacture of chewing tobacco. If we ever take to chewing tobacco, like so many of our hardened old professional reformer friends, it will be on account of the licorice, for the tobacco we prefer in a pipe.

In our day a good-sized stick of solid licorice could be purchased for one cent, cash down, and often was. A huge stick, seven or eight times as large, cost five cents but nobody in our crowd ever had that much money at once except on the rarest and greatest occasions. Licorice drops, shaped like small chocolate creams and licorice all the way through, also were available at reasonable prices. As we have said, the only objection to the jumbo licorice jellybean is that the jellybean content is too high and the licorice content is too low. We wonder if licorice sticks and licorice drops, pure and undefiled, are still obtainable in the marts of trade and intend to make it our business to find out. O memories of childhood! O happy days of innocence and licorice!

The Mysterious Radio.

There has been no more striking illustration of the possibilities of radio than was afforded at the dedication of the nine-mile tunnel through the Cascade Mountains recently. The tunnel is located in the western part of the state of Washington. The program was directed from a studio in New York City. The numbers on the program were contributed by a speaker on the scene, music was supplied from New York, Madame Schumann-Heink sang in San Francisco and two speakers in Washington supplied their parts.

This program, made up of numbers supplied by people 3000 miles apart, was distributed through a chain of radio stations so well that people living between Winnipeg and Havana and from ocean to ocean could tune in if they cared to, occupy easy chairs at home and hear the entire offering of talk and music. It was possible to hear the train that was first to pass through the long tunnel, as it stopped to pick up the people at the station at the east end of the long bore through the mountain range.

The world accepts quickly the new convenience scientists and artisans provide, little caring what it is or how the task it supplies is done. No man understands fully the radio, even if men have learned its use and operation. It is still the great mystery, one wonderful power man has been able to harness in part for his use and entertainment. Long distance telephony has become commonplace, so readily does it serve humanity. We look at the wires and pretend to understand something of the operation. But the radio, far-reaching and mysterious, without wires, distributes a message through the land. The human voice, thousands of miles away, is heard distinctly and without the slightest trouble. The radio is one of the wonders that surround us on every hand. The fact that it is so serviceable, apparently so simple, serves to heighten the mystery that surrounds it. Distance is conquered, the world is brought very close together as one listens to the message it brings.

Good Five-Cent Cigar.

It was a goodnatured jest when Vice President Marshall said the great need of the country was for a good five-cent cigar, but the jest included a bit of truth many smokers appreciated. Various efforts to meet the need have been made but no outstanding success has been reported.

Recently the house ways and means committee at Washington heard a fervent plea for legislation designed to make production of that good five-cent cigar possible. Manufacturers from Michigan and other states asked for a heavy reduction of duty on Sumatra tobacco, used as wrappers and binders for the proposed cigar. It was a throbbing appeal and it was said the committee members were deeply impressed. Then the other side of the story was heard. Tobacco raisers in New England and Florida appeared to protest against the reduction, they wanted the duty increased to keep out the Sumatra tobacco, for the simple reason that they were raising the wrapper tobacco and more Sumatra wrapper would shorten the market possibilities for their product.

Indications are the country will continue to wait for that good five-cent cigar. Tastes differ and interests conflict. Sumatra would help the Michigan manufacturer but might harm the growers in other states. Tariffs can be written to help, protect and foster, and they can be written to harm, weaken and destroy, but few members of Congress seek the latter result. Each side in the hearing insisted its wishes were a part of the legislation sought for agricultural relief, and that adds another high hurdle the good five-cent cigar must clear before it arrives, if it ever does.

Consistency continues approximately as rare as at the time of the last preliminary survey and a prominent Hoover woman of this neighborhood feels that she has ample ground for a divorce from her Al Smith husband in the fact that he won't let her have any of his Canadian stock for pudding sauce flavoring.

Senator Royal S. Copeland, M. D., declares that a man of sedentary pursuits should not work more than six or eight hours a day under any circumstances and should make it a point to rest a great deal of the time but the cost of living is pretty high and we can't all be senators.

Human nature changes little, if any, as the centuries roll on and when Daniel stepped proudly out of the lions' den that time we suppose there was a good deal of speculation as to what kind of dope he used on the animals.

Our office secret for the day: The average editor knows approximately as much about how many new cruisers we really need for purposes of national defense as he does about exactly what good from the scientific standpoint Commander Byrd's trip is going to do.

The best dressed girl in this neighborhood always leaves the impression on us that the stock must have been pretty well picked over when she went to the store and she had to take something two or three sizes too small.

A middle-aged man of sedentary pursuits in this neighborhood who thought up to evening before last that he felt just as young as he used to be ate three thick pork chops for dinner and had changed his mind yesterday.

Another day we never expected to live to see but did was the one when a girl would be glad the ball on her neck wasn't on her leg, where it would be more noticeable.

If you have any firm, moral convictions at all they say you're narrow-minded on the subject, and that's another evidence that virtue simply has to be its own reward.

We're mighty glad the Bible says the peace-makers are blessed, as otherwise we shouldn't suspect it.

Judge Landis plans to visit all 16 of the big league training camps this year, to have his picture taken for publication.

About Your Health

Things You Should Know

HARMFUL DESSERTS.

I am indebted to the Health Commissioner of a North Carolina city, Dr. S. G. Jett, for this valuable bit of information, which I am passing on to my readers. No less an authority than George F. Buchanan, M. D., of the Royal College of Physicians, of Britain, and Member of the American Public Health association, warns our people against the common habit of ending meals with sweets, which cling to crevices, get between the teeth and set up fermentation with its many evils, and leading to dental decay. In a radio message to Dr. Jett, he adds:

"The correct way to finish a meal is with fruit, coffee, and a cigarette." (If don't endorse the coffin nail.) "The fruit hardens the gums and cleans the teeth; the coffee stimulates the flow of saliva in the mouth, and acts as a mouth wash; while the cigarette disinfects, (?) the mouth and soothes the nerves." Interrogation point mine.

MICHIGAN BEES MUST KEEP BUSY OVERTIME

East Lansing, Jan. 31.—Bees may not have grown bigger and better but they have been given another task to perform in Michigan orchards and small fruit plantations, according to statements made by specialists in agriculture at Michigan State College.

Studies made in Michigan orchards during the past few years have proved that many varieties of tree fruits will not produce a profitable crop unless insects have free access to the trees at blossoming time, and, in many cases, there are not enough insects under natural conditions to insure a full set of fruit.

The Roach Canning Company, Hart, last year rented several hundred colonies of bees which were placed in their orchards to make certain of effective pollination of the fruit blossoms. Tests made at the M. S. C. South Haven station show that a larger crop of raspberries was secured from plants to which insects had access than from plants over which cages were placed to exclude insects. This use for bees has aroused a new interest in apiculture, and, to meet a demand for instruction in this latest phase of the business, a special short course will be given at Michigan State College February 11 to 16.

Lectures in the course will be given by members of the M. S. C. faculty and by orchardists who have used bees to secure better crops of fruit.

Calvin Coolidge Pays Tribute To National Grange

Many people have wondered why the Grange organization has lived so successfully for more than 60 years and is today stronger in membership, finances and influence than ever before during its long career, while during the same period scores of farm and rural organizations have been instituted, have had large membership lists and strong treasuries—even subsidized by Federal and state funds—and yet have disintegrated and disappeared. Many reasons have been given for this situation by those who have made a study of it, but it remained for President Coolidge in his address before the National Grange at Washington to put his finger on the exact spot when he declared:

The last half century has seen many organizations named in the name of agriculture usually to relieve some local or national distress. When conditions have improved the organization has disappeared. But the National Grange, having a much broader basis, has continued without interruption a long and useful existence.

The main reason for this has been the sound foundation on which it stands. It has not devoted its efforts to the treatment of local and temporary symptoms, but with a wider and more penetrating view it has sought to eradicate causes.

It has been interested in securing prosperity, improving living conditions, and encouraging education; but primarily it has stood for the development of them, women and children of the farm in intelligence, character and moral worth. Realizing that these are the most important products of life in the open country, it has never failed to place upon them its main emphasis.

Based on this need, which goes on alike in prosperity and adversity, while other organizations were committing their life and their reputation to the promotion of panacea for the relief of all the ills of the farm, some of which have been tried, some rejected, and some proven a delusion, the Grange has continued to hold a sound and conservative position and to grow steadily in influence and in the public estimation.

It has been an inspiring example to the other successful farm organizations now in existence. When its activities began the farm was isolated, highways were poor, educational facilities were poor, labor-saving machinery on the land and in the home was scarce, social life was almost entirely lacking.

The Grange has steadily given its support to the movement for better roads and better schools, to developing agricultural colleges and experimental stations, organizing the national and state developing agricultural colleges and experimental stations, organizing the national and state departments of agriculture, and to the general improvement of life in the farm home. It is entitled to great credit for the vast improvements which the last 50 years have witnessed.

Tell Us What It's All About And We Might Laugh Too

Did you ever see or hear a mule laugh? Well the above surely would make one laugh to read it. We really even have not thought about free delivery. But a few of us actually did have a dream lately that a rural route carrier had fond hopes of increasing his bank roll by delivering mail from the Buchanan Postoffice to one or two and possibly two and a half families at Dayton. These hopes may be also shattered soon when some one receives a neat looking sealed envelope from the Postmaster-General stating how very much pleased all the residents of Dayton are with the service they have been receiving and are now receiving, let alone something that would do more harm than good to the village. Now let's let the mule rest and all laugh together.

New Movietone— "Champions, Made For Studebakers

New York, N. Y., Feb. 7.—The most elaborate and unique motion picture with sound accompaniment ever made for industrial use, has been produced by the Fox Case Corporation for Studebaker and now is being presented throughout the country.

The new film is entitled "Champions." Its plot tells the story of the development of the Studebaker cars which have earned world championship honors by their performance in winning 11 world and 23 international records for speed and endurance in addition to every official American record for fully equipped stock cars.

Reigning Broadway revue favorites, an artist's model whose face has charmed millions of Americans from billboards, Knute Rockne and his Notre Dame "Fighting Irish," Florenz Ziegfeld and a trio of his "glorified American girls," Ann Pennington of "Scandals," the Howard Sisters of "Whoopee," Quin Ryan, familiar voice of WGN; Eva LeGallienne, famous emotional actress, and other national celebrities are included in the cast.

Action and thrills, accentuated by the movietone which faithfully records every accompanying sound, are conspicuous throughout the entire production. Rockne exhorting the "Fighting Irish" between halves of a crucial game; speeding motor cars racing around Studebaker's Proving Ground, ploughing through the "bath tub" test and soaring around the Atlantic City Speedway; the presentation of the

Former Record Devil Now Air- Marrying Parson

Editor Record,
Buchanan, Michigan,
Dear Sir:

Enclosed clipping from Boone News-Republican is of some interest in your hallowick. The Frank Mutchler is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Mutchler of Buchanan and Weesaw townships. Served for a short time as the young satan in the Record office. I do not know how long but a number of years he has served the same congregation in Des Moines. When I was serving on the federal jury in 1917-18 in Des Moines he called on me at the federal building, and he was an "old timer" there then. I leave you to select the portion of the article you wish to use.

J. C. HOLMES.

The section of the story which particularly pertains to Mutchler follows:

"The ceremony took place with the ship travelling 120 miles an hour at a height of 600 feet over the Des Moines airport. The Rev. Frank W. Mutchler, who has come to be the "air-marrying parson" tied the knot. He officiated at a similar "high-up" wedding when he united a couple as a feature of the state fair last fall.

This preacher did not wear the conventional dress of ministers but instead an overcoat and a fur cap. The bride and bridegroom were also attired in just a bit different manner than are the ordinary bridal couple. Mrs. Leo wore a black satin dress trimmed in white, black suede pumps, a dark blue sport coat and a close-fitting little black hat. The bride groom found an overcoat a necessary part of his bridal apparel.

Before going up, while the preacher was filling out the necessary papers, the pilot switched on the radio and the strains of organ music brought a bit of wedding atmosphere. Then the group fastened their clothes tighter and made ready for the journey. The bride "squealed" a little from the excitement of her first air ride and the thrill of being married."

Commission Fixes Nat. Boundary On Ambassador Bridge

The International Boundary Commission has announced completion of its survey to determine the exact location of the international line on the Ambassador Bridge which is to be opened this summer for traffic between Detroit and the Border Cities of Ontario. The ornamental tablet to mark the boundary is to be approximately two and a half feet long by one and a half feet wide and is to feature the coats of arms and names of the two nations. The castings are to be made by the U. S. Navy Yard in Philadelphia of manganese bronze, believed to be the most durable metal for the purpose.

Running across the center is a raised line indicating the boundary and on the tablet are words "International Boundary Line" and the legend "Erected by the International Boundary Commission, Washington, D. C., and Ottawa, Canada."

The tablet was designed for the Peace Bridge at Buffalo but has been decided upon by the commission as the standard form of marker to be used on international bridges. It is understood that the first tablet cast is to be placed on the Ambassador Bridge and that duplicates will be placed during the year on the six other spans between the United States and Canada.

Acid Stomach

Excess acid is the common cause of indigestion. It results in pain and sourness about two hours after eating. The quick corrective is an alkali which neutralizes acid. The best corrective is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of Phillips' Milk of Magnesia neutralizes instantly many times its volume in acid. It is harmless and tasteless and its action is quick. You will never rely on crude methods, never continue to suffer, when you learn how quickly, how pleasantly this premier method acts. Please let it show you—now.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1876.

The Old Timers' Corner

Bright Future for Aviation is Seen by Old Timer in Prospect

Are you becoming Air-Minded? I'll bet your are and don't even know it. I am. And I don't mean that I am getting of a mind the thinness of air, either. But I have been thinking about the wonderful progress that has been made in this baby industry, in the past quarter of a century. I think it is about twenty-five years ago since the first successful flight was made and by a good American at that. Since then, we Americans have been lagging in producing and perfecting our own inventions. But we are coming through, nicely now and as I said, getting "air-minded" and taking it for granted that it is the coming mode of travel and will in time replace to a great extent all other forms of transportation. Can you imagine having certain "levels" for trucks and heavy carriers to fly in and with the higher levels for the day the every day passenger cars, perhaps, and still higher for what we might think of as "train" service, or passenger service for the through routes, so to speak. Then when you come to the landing fields at various cities, you would have to imagine some sort of a spiral space where the trucks, pleasure cars and transportation service machines could circulate around and finally slide off into their allotted space for fuel, perhaps and taking on and off of cargo. I have no doubt at all, that some time there will be some way of fueling while in flight, or perhaps engines that take their power from the air and do not have to be "fuel-ed." We are only starting, you know and although we are "old timers" and are given credit for "holding up the works," so to speak, I will venture to say that many of my readers would be willing to risk their necks in a good, common-sense flight with a pilot that knows his stuff and is not trying to be "funny" and do crazy things up there. I have had three flights and I am ready to state that I like it far better and feel safer than when I drive my car over the Dunes Highway going to and from Buchanan, and especially in summer time, and on Saturday or Sunday. So take it from me, that unless you have tried a flight, you have missed something. It is no different from a different view point. I do not expect to live to see the time when all the skies will be plotted and certain levels be policed, etc., as I have suggested heretofore, but some of you probably will and most assuredly some of the youngsters of today will be there at that time and will probably be among the foremost of them as doing the stuff in the air that we are not doing on our highways. Every home will have its own landing field back of the house and perhaps the landing will be made in direct descent, then, instead of the present, sliding to earth and the bumping that is essential over rough fields. We will perhaps fly up over our own home and by pressing a certain lever, descend gently to our back yard or to the top of the house, where provision has been made for the plane which will fold up its wings and run easily into the hangar and, we go on down stairs and go to bed, after a nice evening ride over to Buchanan or elsewhere for a few minutes chat with old friends. What could be finer. Then no matter how icy the roads or how cold the air, we would be inside and warm and comfortable and with a few well chosen glides and a tail spin or two, we would light down in the back yard of some old friends and have a piece of home made cake or pie and some buttermilk and then kiss them good night and fly home.

You think from this line of raving, that I am "air-minded." (Right in the upper story?) Well, you will come to it in time. We are all coming to it, and you are going to come along with the rest of the American people. They are having Aeronautic shows all over the country, now, and now that Americans have started to fly, the necessity of further invention to eliminate danger and safeguard the public, will be forth coming.

"Necessity is the mother of invention," and so I have every confidence in the future generation that it will go on and up, (mostly up) and that to fly will be as common as Henry's Flivvers are in Michigan.

I am glad to know that some of Buchanan's boys of the present generation are flying already and to know that we are represented in the practical pioneer days of this coming mode of travel is something to be proud of. More power to them.

P. S.—Since reading what I have here written, I am reminded of the Chicago-Buchanan Picnic, and will suggest that with the coming invention of stabilizing planes in the air, that without a doubt, there will many such gatherings in the air, parking their planes just off the air-ways, and gathering in bunches over some beautiful wooded place where lakes and forest give off their that American has started to fly, group together and have their lunch while hanging suspended in the sky. Then after a light and airy lunch, they could take a little spin around a few states and come back home to Buchanan for supper and spend the week-end. Nothing easier, if you will but become "air-minded."

But I am reminded here of the mild rebuke from a friend, who says "Doc, you are a flat tire. I will have to give you the air."

Borah, Good American.

Grow Your Own Fur Coats.

Einstein's Discovery.

Publishers, Cheer Up.

Senator Borah, good American, fears that if we build cruisers without making arrangements satisfactory to Britain we shall have a "shipbuilding race with England." If necessary, why not have it?

But Britain couldn't afford it and knows well that we shall never attack Britain unless we are first attacked.

The British, while they could, dominated the seas, and were proud of it. Whoever didn't like it could lump it. That condition existed from the day when Nelson at Trafalgar wiped out Napoleon's chances of British conquest up to 1924.

It is Uncle Sam's turn now.

Airplanes, submarines, fast cruisers, will answer any question from any other nation, and this country should have the answer ready.

Grow your own fur coats at home. Mr. Vernon Bailey of the Agricultural department tells you that muskrats, supposed to need big swamps, can be raised like rabbits or guinea pigs, in small pens. They need only enough water to keep comfortably wet and cool if you raise them, among others.

The world of science, including Bertrand Russell, called the greatest living mathematician, is interested in Professor Einstein's announcement that electro-magnetism and gravity are practically the same. This discovery, says the learned, Dr. Pupin, of Columbia University, places Einstein beside Galileo and Newton.

All interested in physics await a demonstration that there is only one kind of force in the universe; that light, heat, motion, electro-magnetism, gravity are all the same. Einstein seems to confirm part of Herbert Spencer's definition of evolution which describes the "retrained emotion" as undergoing a transformation from "an indefinite, incoherent homogeneity to a definite, coherent heterogeneity."

More interesting to practical publishers of newspapers is the fact that they big Woolworth concern plans an enormous advertising campaign amounting to $3,000,000 the first year. Abandoning the theory that selecting the right location makes advertising unnecessary proves the wisdom of Woolworth's president, H. T. Parson.
