

CITY FORM SUITS ROYAL OAK

BUCHANAN WILL BE HOST TO VISITING TEACHERS

OTHER TOWNS ARE PLEASED WITH CHANGE

Mayor Fred Smith of Otsego, Says No Regrets.

NO TAX BOOSTS Govt. Efficiency Increased With City Form.

Changes from the village to the city status have been made in at least three Michigan towns during the past ten years without occasioning any serious derangements in administration or finance, or without leaving any trails of regrets, if answers to inquiries made by The Record to mayors and secretaries of the Chambers of Commerce of Otsego, Royal Oak and River Rouge may be taken as an indication.

These three towns were selected because they had changed forms of government at a fairly recent date, and their population rendered it likely that their problems somewhat resembled those of Buchanan.

Answers from the mayor and secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of Royal Oak were most complete and indicated satisfaction with the change. Both officials stated that the expenses were correspondingly less, increase in population considered, than they had been under village government. Valuations have grown rapidly, due to the corresponding growth of the population and business of the town, but the tax rate was lowered after the change.

Both officials stated definitely that the administration had improved in efficiency after the change, the mayor writing: "I believe there was a great gain in the efficiency of the administration. We adopted the city commission form of government, so that we had a specialist directing the management of the city, whereas prior to that time the party with the strongest political prestige, regardless of the ability to manage, controlled the administration."

Both officials stated that there was no sentiment in favor of a return to the village form. They stated that the change was effected in less than six months after the election, the reorganizations of the departments taking place under the new management without any break in administration.

Royal Oak made the change in 1921, at which time it had a population slightly over 6,000.

Fred Smith, mayor of Otsego, wrote that there was a general satisfaction after the change, and little complaint, although the vote was close at the time of the special, and in fact the issue was defeated in a previous test. He stated that he felt warranted in saying that the town had gained in efficient government, and that the expenses were practically unchanged, the only item of expense that could be charged to the government shift being the item of $100 per year which they had voted to pay their commissioners. This was optional, however, as the state law of Michigan provides that city officials may be paid under either village or city forms at the discretion of each particular town. Otsego made the change in 1918, and in 1920 had a population of 3,168.

The secretary of the Chamber of Commerce of River Rouge wrote that to all appearances the people of River Rouge were well satisfied with the city form of government and that as far as he knew there is no sentiment for a change. The amount of taxes paid has not been affected materially by the change, in his opinion. River Rouge changed from village to city form of government in 1921. In 1920 it possessed a population of 9,822.

Although not specifically noted in the answers, the administrative advantages alluded to seem as follows:

Separation from township affairs and escape from the confusion that the mingling of township and village affairs always entails.

The adoption of the ward system of government, with commissioners from each ward, responsible for affairs in their particular parts of the city.

City elections every two years, doing away with part of election expenses and too rapid shifts in government.

POSTOFFICE SHIFTED TO LEGION BLDG.

Move Made Without Interruption Of Service.

OTHER CHANGES

Sargent to Move Dental Office Upstairs.

Transfer of the Buchanan post-office from the Johnson building, formerly owned by Jake Rough, where it has been quartered for the past ten years, to the American Legion building was effected Sunday without interruption in the usual service to the patrons.

The new quarters are a great improvement in point of light and pleasing exterior. They are well lighted on the east and south, and the steel panels of the lobby partition have an imitation golden oak effect that adds to the interior lighting.

M. J. Cavanaugh, head of the Cavanaugh Construction Company, was in Buchanan Monday from Lansing and approved of the work done by his carpenter force. The government inspector has not arrived to extend the federal approval.

The Cavanaugh force are staying until they complete some additional alterations for the American Legion, making some alterations in the Chamber of Commerce quarters, and altering the upstairs to provide an apartment for Dr. Sargent, who will move his dental office there by April 1.

Francis Hiller Talks to Scouts On Conservation

Francis Hiller spoke to Troop 41 last Tuesday evening on the Conservation of Lumber. The conserving of our natural resources, both timber and mineral is a vital factor in the future of our nation.

Timber is characteristically American for about 80 per cent of our homes are of wood, he said.

In the future timber will be a crop, as corn or wheat is now. Favorable legislation in respect to property producing a crop of lumber will soon come. Today large tracts of otherwise useless lands are being set with trees.

There is no other material quite as usable for the average hands as wood. It is the greatest constructive toy for boys. They can make almost anything they wish from it.

Several of the Scouts' interests in the new glider which Mr. Hiller and Emerson Longfellow had ordered got talking about gliders and their possibilities, and it was revealed that Germany held the record with fourteen hours flight and that an altitude of 2700 feet above the starting point has been reached. The glider ordered will only fly a reasonable distance above the ground, it being for novices.

Several new and funny games livened things up and the meeting closed with the scout benediction.

Mrs. Jennie Lawton, 95, died early Wednesday morning at the county infirmary, where she had been a patient for several years, and arrangements have been made for the funeral to be held at the Childs Chapel at 2 p. m. Friday.

Mrs. Lawton had lived most of her life in the vicinity of Buchanan, and is very well remembered by all of the old timers here. For many years she served as housekeeper for the mother of I. M. Wells.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Berger of Notre Dame called Sunday on the former's brother, William Berger, at the home of Mrs. Dell Bolster.

BUCHANAN HIT BY NOR'WESTER DURING NIGHT

MERCURY DROPS 51 DEGREES WITHIN 15 HOURS.

After a few fleeting hours of spring, Buchanan awoke again to winter this morning, with the thermometer registering nine degrees above zero and a North Dakota blizzard howling through the streets.

During an interval of 15 hours the mercury registered a drop of over 50 degrees, temperatures of 60 degrees above having been registered yesterday afternoon. The blizzard came on the heels of what appeared to be the first week of spring, robins and other harbingers having been general during the past few days.

Fruit and grain crops are so far undamaged according to general reports, the winter wheat emerging from the long ice unscathed, much to the surprise of local farmers, who looked for at least a partial loss.

HOBO ARMY GETS SOUSED, RUNS AMUCK

Sons of Rest Fill Up On Commercial Booze.

PARTY IS THROWN

Whereon Sixteen Are Thrown Out Of Town.

"Sixteen men on the Deadman's Chest. Yo, ho, and a bottle of rum."

Only the sixteen men were considered a discrimination, and had been there for the past week, and the bottle contained, not rum, but denatured alcohol, "canned heat," and whatever other commercial substitute the said sixteen men could get for the customary waters of nepenthe.

But on Friday the town got the men off its chest, Chief of Police Ed. Mitchell appearing at the village house on the morning of that day and issuing a blanket invitation to all the aforesaid sixteen to depart.

"In all fairness to the non-paying guests who have been 'flopping' the house house for several weeks, it must be said that only about a half dozen had really made themselves obnoxious, and that number had not attained the proportions of a menace until last week.

Then, due to the stirrings of spring or the change of the weather, or some other innate spiritual cause, a number of the leisured guests acquired a great thirst for anything carrying an alcoholic content. It is reported that from some source they acquired what they sought, and the hose house became a laboratory for the purposes of finding out how much wood alcohol the human system could absorb. Quarrels followed, and on Friday night one drunken bully chased all his companions out into the cold and monopolized the retreat.

On the following morning Chief Mitchell received a request from the administration to take steps to abate the nuisance. The occupants were driven out into the cold world, and the town street department force were set to work cleaning out the erstwhile retreat of Hoboemia, hauling away an entire truck load of refuse which had accumulated as a result of the presence of the army of occupation. The hose house is now being thoroughly disinfected in preparation for the village election on March 11.

Construction Is Resumed on River St. Addition Wed.

Construction of the River street plant of the Clark Equipment Co. was resumed Wednesday of last week by Contractor F. L. Sturgiss and his force, after an interval of over a week while the frost was being thawed from the ground in preparation for laying the cement floor. The structure will in all likelihood be completed in three weeks, if weather conditions remain favorable.

Contractor Reed Making Ready To Resume Sewer Work

Frank Reed, holder of the contract for the construction of the Portage and Third street sewers, was in Buchanan the first of the week, running a few surveys and otherwise preparing for beginning work as soon as weather conditions permit. He dug into the manhole at the corner of Third and Portage streets, and reported the presence of 3 1/2 feet of frost at that point. He said that in his opinion conditions would not be right for resuming the work until April 1.

Appoint Officials For The Annual Polls.

WYNN SIGNS OFF

Reed Gets Another Time Extension on Sewer.

The 1928-9 village council held its last meeting and warbled its swan song at the regular March session Tuesday evening.

The main business of the evening was the appointment of election officials and the arrangement of hangover business for the forthcoming administration which will take shape as a result of the spring polls.

Trustee Paul Wynn presented his resignation as a member of the council and shook the responsibility of civic affairs from his shoulders to enter the joys of private life in his St. Joe River road home. The council assured Jerome Seabast, who was present in the interests of a water extension to his residence addition, that the matter would undoubtedly be cared for by the next administration, whatever its complexion. The problem of the Portage and Third street sewer was also willed and bequeathed, by virtue of a resolution granting the Dowagiac contractor another lease on life until May 15, 1929.

The following election officials were appointed by President Glover and approved by the council; inspectors, M. J. Keeling, Ruth Roe, Al Charles; clerks, Ada D. Sanders, Rex Lamb; special clerks for the election of form of government, Roy Pierce, Elsie Kingery, June Koons.

Insurance Will Rebuild Burned School Structure

Plans are now being made for the reconstruction of the burned section of the old school building, to provide quarters again for the mental training department of the Buchanan school system, which has been partially discontinued for the remainder of the school year.

The insurance on the destroyed structure, amounting to $6,000 on the building and $4,000 on the equipment, will be sufficient to rebuild, in the opinion of Supt. Stark. It is planned to build a structure lower than the former, with more floor space, to permit of a mechanical drawing class room.

The manual training work has been discontinued for the present year, with the exception of classes in mechanical drawing and home mechanics at the Dewey Avenue school.

APOPLEXY TAKES ST. JOE VALLEY PIONEER SUNDAY

D. W. BOONE WOULD HAVE BEEN 80 NEXT DAY.

Daniel W. Boone, 79, died at his home at 204 South Portage Street at 6:15 Sunday, March 3, death following apoplexy, with which he was stricken on the evening of the preceding day.

Mr. Boone had been in his usual good health until Saturday morning, when he complained of feeling unwell. However he went his usual rounds, and that afternoon was working in the back yard of his home. His wife noticed that he had been out some time and went to see what he was doing. She found him trying to get up the rear steps, a stroke having rendered him unable to use one leg. She aided him into the house and a doctor was summoned who pronounced his trouble to be apoplexy. His condition did not at that time appear to be immediately dangerous, but early in the morning he suddenly passed away.

Mr. Boone was born near South Bend on March 4, 1849, and would have been 80 years old had he lived until the following day. On April 2, 1873, he married Catherine Dressler. Thirty years ago they moved to a farm south of Buchanan, remaining there until 1915, when they retired and moved to Buchanan. He remained quite active, however, and worked at the carpenter trade for a time last summer.

He is survived by his wife and by the following children: Franklin M. Boone, South Bend; Mrs. Edith Dempsey, Buchanan; Phillip E. Boone, Buchanan; Robert M. Boone, Niles; Mrs. Hallie Shedron, Greely, Colo.; Dr. George D. Boone, Royal Oak. All the sons and daughters were present at the funeral. He is also survived by the following brothers and one sister: James Boone, Buchanan; W. T. Boone, Los Angeles; Schuyler Boone, Heartwell, Neb.; Alwilda Crestivon, Baltimore, Md.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon from the residence, Rev. H. Liddicoat preaching the sermon, and the four sons, son-in-law and grandson serving as pallbearers. Burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Now Here's the Proposition

THE SPOTLIGHT HOGS.

Hi Haws.

Backward, turn backward. Oh Time, in thy flight, Make me a child again, just for tonight; Shorten my legs up by three feet or four.

I would crawl back in the cradle "once more. Give me a cute little bunch of a nose.

Two budding toothlets and ten little toes. Some ringlets that ring and a cute little grin

And a howl that goes out where the bottle goes in— A magnavox howl which whenever begun

Will bring seven women upon the dead run.

I want to do nothing for days and days through. But just to say "mama" and "Dada" and "goo."

Except when I lift up that magnavox yell And bring all the women a running pell-mell

To haul me about with caresses to suit. And "Ain't he the darling" and "Isn't he cute!"

For I am so tired that my weary heart aches

Watching the babies get all of the breaks.

Four Glendon ladies gave a playlet entitled "A Bargain in the House." The members of the 1930 Club then staged a mock wedding.

Fred Hall Matched With Former Rival

Local devotees of the grappling art are following with much interest the match between Fred Hall of Buchanan and Bull Dog Betz of Danville, Ill., to be held at Stoner & Hess Hall, Lake Village, Ind., on Friday evening, March 15.

The match has assumed the form of a grudge affair between the fans of Danville, Ill., and Morocco, Ind., the latter being the home town of Hall. The two men have been matched before, Hall being returned the winner on that occasion. Danville fans are looking for a reversal of the decision, and expect to win the money back which they lost on the previous occasion. Some large bets are reported to be up on the match.

Interest is added from the fact that Betz is now known as a leading exponent of the "Flying Tackle," an innovation adopted from football and popularized by Gus Sonnenberg in his conquest of Strangler Lewis. Hall is being drilled in the straight arm and other methods of defense against this hold by local football men.

Mrs. Charles Huff had as her guests at her home on Alexander street Friday, her brother, Ernest Huffman and wife, Mrs. Clara Baxter, a son, Victor, and daughter, Mrs. Ethel Curtis, and the latter's daughter, Mrs. Esther Putbaugh, all of Michigan City. While here they also visited at the home of Mrs. Anna Bolster on Portage street.

Tires for the new Ford are specially made to give long wear

WHEN the new Ford was designed, it was immediately apparent that a new tire would have to be made to match the car's performance.

Though the Ford tires are designated as 30 x 4.50, they have the resiliency and air space of much larger tires because of the drop center rim of the steel-spoke wheels.

For best results, the tires on the new Ford should be kept inflated to an air pressure of 35 pounds and checked regularly to insure this pressure all the time.

So that every Ford owner might be assured of maximum tire mileage at the lowest cost, the Ford Motor Company devoted many months to research and experiment in conjunction with the leading tire manufacturers.

As a result, certain definite specifications were developed for tires for the new Ford. These specify cords of certain strength and texture, a large volume of tread and side-wall rubber, sturdily non-skid design, and reinforced plies for protection against bruise breaks—all the strong features of construction formerly considered for only the largest tires.

Great care also was taken to secure the best riding qualities in connection with the transverse springs and the Houdaille shock absorbers.

At the end of each 5000 miles, when you have the front wheels packed with grease, it is a good plan to have the wheel alignment checked. This will prevent premature wear.

When punctures come, as they will with any tires, you will find the Ford dealer particularly well-equipped to make repairs quickly and at small cost. See him, too, for replacements. Then you will be sure of getting tires built specially for Ford cars according to definite Ford specifications.

Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Saturday, March 2, was the 59th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel William Wolfe, who were married in Galien March 2, 1870 at the home of the groom's parents, by the Rev. William Varohime of Niles. The bride's mother, Mrs. Fleischhorn, and the groom's father completed the wedding party. Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe have lived in Galien all of their married life, and were the parents of three children, Edmond and Elizabeth, having passed to their reward, their only daughter, Mrs. Cecil Hyatt living at Flint, Mich., who was unable to be with them on Saturday. They also raised four grand children, their granddaughter, Mrs. Elizabeth Galaske, and her son, are making their home with them. Mr. Wolfe's only sister, Mrs. Kate Smith, lives at Elkhardt. They also have ten nieces and two nephews living in California. Mrs. Wolfe has been a faithful member of the German Lutheran church since her marriage and was the Aid Society's treasurer for 23 years; also was an active member of the Macabee lodge for 33 years. Amelia Augusta Fleischhorn was born in Saxony, Meiningen, Germany, May 15, 1851, and came to America with her parents in August, 1864, where they lived in Niles.

At the close of the Civil war they moved to Madison, Ill., and she recalls very clearly, and relates a wonderful story of train loads of soldiers returning home almost starved, stopping at her parents home and ate everything they had in the house. Her mother was baking bread which was taken from the oven place on the table, with a piece of boiling beef taken off the stove and all the sweet and sour milk from the basement was placed before the soldiers, which they soon devoured leaving the family without a thing to eat, and they had to wait supper until milking time, and made their meal on milk soup.

On arriving in Galien, another interesting story is told by Mr. and Mrs. Wolfe, who are Galien's oldest pioneer residents. Mr. Wolfe who will be 82 years old in April, and his wife, 78 years in May, 59 years ago the main street of Galien was paved with sawdust about three feet deep. The sawmill which stood there where the Lintner garage now stands, was owned and operated by George Blakeslee with the Montross handle factory back of the mill. Across the street was a two-story frame building owned also by George Blakeslee who had a store on the first floor, and the T. D. S. church conducted their services on the second floor. Part of this building was moved and is now owned and occupied by Mrs. C. F. Hess. The Galien school house was a log house, and stood on the Wolfe farm, which is now owned by Frank Wilhamer. The

MOVIES

PRINCESS THEATRE.

Tonight and tomorrow at the Princess Theatre will be seen "State Street Sadie," the lurid picture of Chicago's underworld gang government in operation, with Conrad Nagel and Myrna Loy as the hero and heroine.

Saturday Ken Maynard, champion horseman of all times, will be seen in "The Code of the Scarlet," as a Northwestern Mountie. That code is tersely stated in "Get Your Man," and is so deeply felt by the Mounties that they "don't come back without him." This is a heavy piece of acting that Ken had in "The Wagon Circus," and involves more dramatic situations.

Two stupendous pictures will be seen next week. Tuesday and Wednesday "The Trail of '98" comes. It is a historical picture of the desperate Klondike rush days. Two years were spent in making the films, in which Dolores Del Rio, Ralph Forbes, Karl Dane and George Cooper are supported by the stars.

Thursday and Friday bring the other monster picture, "Drums of Love." D. W. Griffith's mightiest picture since "The Birth of a Nation." The romantic days of the Don in Southern California furnish the historical story here enacted by Mary Philbin, Lionel Barrymore, Don Alvarado, Tully Marshall and Wm. Austin. Massive views and scenes are taken, two of them depicting battles in which more than 500 men clash in the Middle Ages.

BUCKS WIN THIRTEENTH STRAIGHT GAME FROM STEVENSVILLE

KEEP JINX FROM DOOR FOR RECORD

Strong Finish Trims Class D Team 34 to 17.

YOUNGSTERS WIN

Take Game From Stevensville Embryos by 19 to 12.

The last game of this school year on the home floor was won by the Buchanan basketball tossers last Friday night from the peppy Stevensville aggregation 34 to 17, or exactly two to one.

This thirteenth straight victory for the season without a blot, in this game added after the series tickets were printed, marks the most successful period in the history of the present generation of Buchanan high school.

Pieces led the scoring for the home boys with 13 to his credit, while Morse followed closely with 9. However, there is no competition between individual players for scoring honors, all working together to get the ball down under the basket for the one who is free to toss.

Siewert was the brilliant ace for Stevensville, although he was not high point man, that honor going to Engler who copped 7, with Friesel following closely with 5. Siewert was everywhere all the time. The entire team, however, gave everything they had to support Captain Siewert.

Coach Marshall Sherer, who is also superintendent of schools at Stevensville, is laying the foundations for a great team next year. He loses Siewert by expiration of time, and T. Schultz by graduation. All the rest but one on the present squad of 16—all he had out this year—are sophomores. Of a freshman class of 23 he got but five boys this year, and four of them were midgets.

Buchanan's Fightin' Bunch did not get going in the first half. They met a desperate charge of the Stevensville to start the second half which brought the score to 10 to 9 before they finally solved the attack and began to roll up the record. Then Morse, Pfingst, Pierce, Pfingst, Morse and Savoldi scored like machine-gun fire to end the third quarter 22 to 13 in their favor.

Clem Savoldi was suffering from an injured right elbow, and was not sent in until near the close of the second quarter. Squires playing the position and looping in one basket for two points. Knight, who has warmed the bench almost all season, nursing his football injuries to knee and shoulder, went in for Fette to start the second half and played a brilliant game at guard until near the end of the game when Bristol relieved him. He seems completely ready for the tournament. At the same time that Bristol entered the fray, Squires relieved Pfingst, going to center, Morse went forward, and Fette returned to guard.

The Buchanan Maroon and White will open at the tournament at Niles tonight at 9 o'clock against their old enemy, Three Oaks, who, with Coach Wencelassen back on the job, are going great guns, having defeated Bridgman on the Three Oaks floor by an overwhelming score. It may have been that Bridgman was laying back for the next week they swamped Niles 35 to 13.

Buchanan will have a hard game with Cassopolis also. Coach Harold Bradfield is taking no chances, and is drilling every member of both first and second team squads, to insure plenty of reserve strength whatever happens. A splendid spirit is seen, and every-

Score by quarters: Buchanan - 7 3 12 12-34 Stevensville - 3 3 7 4-17

Engler's feat of tossing five free throws without a bobble is notable. The boys with the beautiful Scarlet Tanager on their jackets made nine good free throws in fourteen tries, one more point by the gift route than they made by the basket from floor route.

The second teams put up a close, exciting game, with the Buchanan yearlings a little ahead all the way. Big Bartz at center for Stevensville played a stellar game, and promises to become a star next year when he begins to hit the baskets. Eisenhart and Lawson led the scoring, each having 6 points. The two Kreiger boys and Brown showed scoring possibilities, that give Coach Sherer a rosy outlook for next year.

Box score of second teams: Buchanan (19) B. F. P. T. Chubb, lf. 1 1 0 3 Eisenhart, rf. 3 0 1 6 Dreitzler, c. 1 0 3 2 Lawson, lg. 3 0 1 6 M. Schultz, rg. 1 0 0 2 Aronson, lf. 0 0 0 0 Post, rf. 0 0 1 0 W. Schultz, c. 0 0 0 0 Dempsey, lg. 0 0 0 0 Imhoff, rg. 0 0 0 0

Referee: Nancy, South Bend, Timekeeper, Miller, W. S. T. C. The crowd was small, but watch them at Niles tonight!

George Lakin, Dicky Neal, Russell Nye and John Meils received 100 per cent. in last Friday's spelling review.

The boys and girls wrote stories about being careful not to get their feet wet for language, and made health posters illustrating their stories.

In Mrs. French's grade the boys and girls are learning to tell time. The boys and girls in Mrs. French's room showed their civic pride by writing about our new postoffice. We are proud of it.

Those who had 100 per cent. in spelling in Mrs. Wilcox's room last week were as follows: Betty Ann Miller, Jeanette McGowan, Ruth Jean Haslett, Lynae Rothfuchs, Norma Hess, Phil Pierce, Katherine Mosier, Ruth Lightfoot, Barbara Schram, Lucian Depyl and Robert Wesner.

Several are absent on account of the measles. The children made health posters last week in health work. In language we are studying the first signs of Spring—pussywills, birds, etc.

In Mrs. Fischner's room the following were 100 per cent. in the weekly spelling match: Girls—Helen Renninger, Ann Mogford, Geneva Babcock, Elberta Maxson, Alice Clark.

Boys—William Snyder, Vernon Walls, Edwin Ingelright, Orlo Maxson, Lawrence Burgoyne Matheo Rauch, Valentine Paul, Carleton Pletcher, William Carlisle, Harry Hemphill, Jack Miller.

We are glad those who have been absent on account of measles are in school again. They are Robert Habicht, William Strayer, Anna May Lintner, Betty Jane Mitchell and Lewis Pascoe.

The girls and boys finished their health board last week. Each one made a breakfast poster. Besides that we made general health poster.

In Miss Simmon's room the pupils are making health posters. We wrote a story about the flag for language. All but four stood 100 per cent. in spelling. We are starting some window baskets. We are 100 per cent. clean teeth and hands. We have been reading about the lives of great men whose birthdays are in February.

We are 100 per cent. clean teeth and hands. We have been reading about the lives of great men whose birthdays are in February.

Our Junior high honor roll for February consists of the following names: Seventh grade—Maxine Myers, Lorin Johnston, Mary Irwin, John Godfrey, Dorothy Bailey.

Eighth Grade—Lora Hafner, Marvin Gross, Freddie Portz, Edward Roland, Donald Sargent, Rosemary Thompson, Dee Weaver.

Th first honor roll of the new semester has very few people on it—one is told, however, that there is a very large list at the other end of the ladder, the history students of Mr. Ormiston being especially prominent.

Although this is the smallest honor roll to be published, this school year it is thought that such a depression will stimulate the interest of the students and more will work harder during the coming month.

Tenth grade—Helen Schmalzreid 3A2B, Roger Thompson 4A2B, Jeanette Upham 3A2B. Eleventh grade—Arthur Anderson 4A4B, Mary Frklich 4A4B, Richard Zerbe 4A2B.

Twelfth grade—Robert Morse 3A2B, Virginia Snowden 3A2B. Honorary Mention. Ninth grade—Ruth Pierce 2A2B 2C.

Tenth grade—Ruth French 4A4 1C, Sheldon Ryan 2A3B1C, Ralph Zerbe 3A1B1C, Lenna Thompson 4A3B1C.

Eleventh grade—Harold Knight 2A1B1C, Mildred Morse 2A2B1C, Edith Eddy 2A2B1C. Twelfth grade—Donald Fette 2A2B1C, Bernadine Dewitt ABC.

Paper Consumed by Britain. Great Britain uses less than one-half the amount of paper consumed in the United States.

THIS AND THAT. Nearly two-thirds of the school year has been covered. During this time much sickness has made it necessary to put an "Incomplete" mark on the report cards some where along the line. It will be much to a pupil's advantage if all this work is made up in full when June comes.

Bars Are Raised In Definition of Good Citizenship

It is unknown whether the students are just naturally getting bad or whether the teacher are expecting them to suddenly become "little angels." At least only eight are honored as first citizens this month—the eight are: Paddy McHenry, Theresa White, Helen Schmalzreid, Jeanette Upham, Ralph Zerbe, Arthur Anderson, Claude DeWitt, Robert Morse.

The real truth about the smallness of the above list, however, is the fact that a better interpretation of citizenship is trying to be made. Average good citizens are to be given a two hereafter instead of the previous one and those receiving one's are those who have made themselves outstanding in every possible way.

Not only is this question being discussed in student council but also such questions as: the problem of one-half day in which the students will reign supreme, they have charge of next Friday's assembly program, and the group meetings on Tuesday as well. So it may be seen that the government of the students is reaching out and grasping a greater sphere.

Our Superintendent, Mr. Stark, was away most of the week attending the national meeting for superintendents held in Cleveland.

We are told that our former superintendent, Mr. B. F. Eggert remains about the same. We are heartily in sympathy with Mr. Eggert, and sincerely hope for his speedy recovery.

Two weeks ago notice were sent out asking the parents to help solve the problem of so many children remaining in the buildings during the lunch hour.

We appreciate greatly the help given us. The next day after the notices had been received in the homes, the number of pupils remaining was reduced nearly one-half.

However, there still remains this fact. Very often pupils living for the future. Your inventory

Face, front! A military term but very applicable to life. Characteristic of youth, always looking forward. As soon as one stops building, growing, and lives on memories, decay sets in. You can not stand still; either you progress or decay. The history of nations, races, animals, and plants all bear this out.

George Lakin, Dicky Neal, Russell Nye and John Meils received 100 per cent. in last Friday's spelling review.

The boys and girls wrote stories about being careful not to get their feet wet for language, and made health posters illustrating their stories.

In Mrs. French's grade the boys and girls are learning to tell time. The boys and girls in Mrs. French's room showed their civic pride by writing about our new postoffice. We are proud of it.

Those who had 100 per cent. in spelling in Mrs. Wilcox's room last week were as follows: Betty Ann Miller, Jeanette McGowan, Ruth Jean Haslett, Lynae Rothfuchs, Norma Hess, Phil Pierce, Katherine Mosier, Ruth Lightfoot, Barbara Schram, Lucian Depyl and Robert Wesner.

Several are absent on account of the measles. The children made health posters last week in health work. In language we are studying the first signs of Spring—pussywills, birds, etc.

In Mrs. Fischner's room the following were 100 per cent. in the weekly spelling match: Girls—Helen Renninger, Ann Mogford, Geneva Babcock, Elberta Maxson, Alice Clark.

Boys—William Snyder, Vernon Walls, Edwin Ingelright, Orlo Maxson, Lawrence Burgoyne Matheo Rauch, Valentine Paul, Carleton Pletcher, William Carlisle, Harry Hemphill, Jack Miller.

We are glad those who have been absent on account of measles are in school again. They are Robert Habicht, William Strayer, Anna May Lintner, Betty Jane Mitchell and Lewis Pascoe.

The girls and boys finished their health board last week. Each one made a breakfast poster. Besides that we made general health poster.

In Miss Simmon's room the pupils are making health posters. We wrote a story about the flag for language. All but four stood 100 per cent. in spelling. We are starting some window

Oratory holds an important place in the activities of the Niles high students this semester. A local contest will be held on Friday, March 1. Only three students braved the sea of new words and thoughts to enter this event.

The Niles Senior high has achieved vast proportions that combined assemblies with the Junior high can no longer be held. At the suggestion of the Senior high that speeches, pep meetings, and General assemblies be enjoyed alone, the Junior high readily withdrew.

Peace is expected hereafter, without the usual showing and cramped positions.

The fairer of the Niles faculty were entertained by the masculine members at a banquet on January 29. Eighty-eight faculty members were served and the evening was closed enjoyable with speeches and music. It is reported that next month the ladies will take their turn and treat the gentlemen to a feast.

Alimony and Justice.

Alimony has become a national curse. It is helping break up homes and tends to popularize it by making it financially profitable, so a learned jurist in Chicago declared recently at the conclusion of a divorce hearing. A woman of wealth sought a large weekly sum for alimony from the man she was suing for divorce. The court gave her alimony of $5 per week, made the statements above, and declared henceforth only nominal alimony awards would be made in his court, save when real needs were shown.

This is something relatively new, a radical departure from customs long observed in divorce courts. In some places the amount of alimony has been fixed at the maximum it was possible to wring from the man, at times a permanent alimony has been ordered. The Chicago court declared that policy entirely wrong, no longer to be sanctioned by orders his court might issue. There have been some strange orders made in divorce courts when emotions were roused and impulses developed under the spell of contention in the trials. The Chicago jurist feels the time has come to call a halt, get a finer insight into the questions at issue, that justice may be more nearly evenhanded when the decrees are written.

The Cigaret Empire.

The consumption of cigarettes continues to grow, blame it on the women if you want to. Statistics for 1928 show that over 100,000,000,000 of fags were smoked last year; and the tax levied by the federal government amounted to $317,833,335, an increase of $26,000,000 over 1927. Blame women or the war or advertising or whatever it was that over night turned America into a nation of cigaret smokers, as yet there is no turning back of this tide. The spectacle of all the college boys puffing away on pipes may have made the cigaret more popular. But popular the cigaret is, and popular it bids fair to remain.

This is proved by the fact that 8,000,000,000 more cigarettes were smoked in 1928 than in the previous year, the exact figures being 105,915,965,014 in 1928 and 97,176,607,454 in 1927. Moreover, of the total tax paid on all kinds of tobacco and snuff of $411,016,098.04, three-fourths was paid on cigarettes alone and the increase in the total tax for 1928 over 1927's sum was less than the increase in the cigarette tax.

It is a humorous spectacle to outsiders to observe two powerful interests, the tobacco and the confectionery, tearing into each other. That is a war in which no one is obliged to depart from a benevolent neutrality. Suffice it to say that "De gustibus non disputandum" applies just as much to smokes of sweets as to literary criticisms.

He Left No Will.

For more than two decades former United States Senator Oscar W. Underwood of Alabama was a conspicuous figure in American public life. His brilliant mind made it possible for him to win prominence early. As a young man he helped write the constitution of his state. He served in the lower house of Congress a score of years, then spent a dozen years in the senate. In a number of national conventions he was a contender for the presidential nomination. The South loved him, the nation respected his ability and admired his many noble qualities. In the senate he won and held a prominent place because of his ability. But he died without leaving a will disposing of his property.

For more than three decades he had helped make laws affecting a hundred million people. He had studied the task of protecting the larger interests of the nation, had accumulated a moderate fortune, had three heirs. Brilliant lawyer that he was for more than 40 years, he failed to give his thoughtful attention to the disposition of his estate, making light the work of distribution, insuring justice as he planned it for each heir. Because he did not complete that task the Underwood estate will be administered under the laws of the state and those who wrote the laws will be, in fact, the distributors of his fortune.

It would be interesting to know how many men who read this story of Senator Underwood's unfortunate lack of attention to an important matter have had their wills written. How many have estimated the fortune accumulated, studied needs of heirs, made an effort to contribute to their best interests and insure their largest comfort by an orderly distribution of the property, with the fortune, large or small as it may be, safeguarded? Records in the probate courts prove the fact that many men fail, just as Senator Underwood did. His failure was made impressive by the fact that he had won a high place for the brilliance of his legal mind and his deep understanding of the law. Writing a will is one of the important affairs for any man, rich or poor, and its largest value is in conserving and safeguarding the property accumulated. Many neglect that duty.

Learning to Co-operate.

Surely, if slowly, the farmers of America are learning the true possibilities of co-operative effort, and are taking advantage of it. Out of the confusion of a decade of effort in which ill-advised and poorly managed activities played a large part, the true science of co-operation is emerging with much to its credit. According to the bureau of co-operation of the U. S. department of agriculture, 2,000,000 farmers now are organized into 12,000 associations for the purpose of marketing their products or purchasing their supplies. The same authority states that these associations last year marketed farm commodities to the value of almost $2,000,000,000, and purchased farm supplies amounting to about $500,000,000.

It is probable that these figures are somewhat exaggerated. Moreover, comparative few co-operation sales are made direct to consumers, the association in the main having so far merely taken their places in the chain of middlemen. But the fact remains that a very large volume of business now is annually transacted by co-operative associations that have reached a high degree of efficiency and stability. A worth-while service to the members is being rendered. That this business will continue to grow, both in volume and in the numbers engaged in it, seems assured.

There is some co-operative activity in each of the 48 states. The movement has made greatest headway in Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, Missouri, New York and the states along the Pacific coast. The farmers' elevator associations form the largest group, followed by those handling dairy products, cotton, fruit, poultry and wool all are handled co-operatively in huge aggregate amounts. Hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of live stock is marketed annually by commission firms organized and operated by producers, although these agencies can scarcely be classed as co-operative, in the sense that many of the other associations are. They operate much the same as the old-line commission firms, but distribute their profits among their members and customers.

The hardest lesson for co-operative minded farmers to learn was that good management is as essential to the success of a co-operative association as to any other method of transacting business. It took actual experience to convince many of them that there is no statutory safeguard against incompetency and inefficiency. The era of camp meeting style of organization, disastrous and costly as it was, may have been worth the price, because it was the failure of associations so organized that drove home these facts.

Burned fingers are slow to take hold again unless reason and experience justify. It has been proven that local co-operative efforts are more likely to succeed than the state or nation-wide movements not based upon local units. The conclusion is easily reached that unless people can work together in communities, they cannot do so on a larger scale. It has been demonstrated by the Canadian wheat pool that, after having learned to work together in local units, farmers may effectively organize on a commodity basis, in a very large way.

Tribute to Professors.

That world-famous man of science, Dr. Michael Pupin, pays high tribute to the devoted university professors in the current issue of Scribner's, for their many contributions to science. He discusses the pioneering professors, who are not content with the wisdom known in their respective fields but search continually for the hidden things. He points out some who made large contributions to science with discoveries, made in voluntary tasks and not as a part of the work given them in the university. Dr. Pupin insists the world of science is deeply indebted to the pioneering professors.

Records in the war and navy departments at Washington would supply names of many scientists now living who made famous discoveries during the days of the World War when called on for service by their country. These departments called on the universities of the land, asked individuals of known qualities of leadership, invited others, and the answer was generous and productive. One who gave conspicuous service was Dr. Max, now with the University of Chicago, but in the army of which he was a member were hundreds of others when the men of science were mobilized for government service.

Our office secret for the day: The way for a commercial organization, reform or otherwise, to assure itself of adequate publicity is to come out strongly for newspaper advertising in the resolutions adopted without a dissenting vote.

That eminent college professor who remarked some six months ago that there is no such thing as a beautiful but dumb person, beauty and intelligence always going together, how repeats it and evidently he hasn't met the right people yet.

The farm relief problem, upon which our best minds have been working so long and diligently, seems to have been simplified into a question of how to fix prices without price-fixing.

Our idea of a discriminating sense of humor would be one that could tell authoritatively which is the funnier end of a girl, the hat end or the shoe end.

He is the kind of man, we said in our bitterly intolerant way, who would feel more than unusually important if he got a letter by air mail, even a bill or a circular.

Another great dietetical discovery, we note, is that onions, like peas, can be ruined by mixing them with diced carrots.

Lower Michigan's 3 Zone Freight Rate Questioned

Lower Michigan's three-zone freight rate structure, created in 1917 by railroads serving the state, now seems in a fair way to be abolished as the result of an adverse report on this zoning system made to the Interstate Commerce Commission, recently, by Examiners Bardwell and Faut in Iron and Steel Docket No. 17000, Part 6. The report, if adopted by the Commission, means that all shippers in the lower peninsula will be placed on the same rate basis as competitors to the south of the Michigan state line in Indiana and Ohio. Such action would be a boon to the automotive industry particularly, involving as it does a substantial lowering of rates on practically all shipments of finished and raw materials. The zone rate application has been the subject of many hearings for years.

In view of the recommendation of the examiners that a new basic scale of rates be applied in Michigan, without the addition of zone arbitrations, and the long fight made by Michigan industrial representatives and boards of commerce it is expected that the Interstate Commerce Commission cannot do otherwise than place all the important cities of Michigan on the same rate basis that competitors in adjoining states enjoy. The three zones which have applied in rate making for Michigan during the last dozen years are designated as A, B and C. Zone A extends roughly between the boundary line of the state on the south and from Detroit westward to Kalamazoo and thence westward to the south to New Buffalo. Zone B, which includes Grand Rapids, Saginaw and Bay City, extends its northern limits along a line from north of Bay City to Muskegon. Zone C is the entire territory lying to the north not inclusive of the upper peninsula, however. Zone A takes the basic rates while Zone B takes a two cent per hundredweight arbitrary over Zone A rates. Zone C takes an even higher arbitrary in spite of the fact that it is largely an agricultural section. Zone B includes many cities in which are located important manufacturing industries that consume large quantities of iron and steel. They compete with similar industries located a short distance to the south in Zone A. But aside from Detroit, there are no cities in Zone A which compare in importance with such Zone B cities as Flint, Jackson, Grand Rapids, Benton Harbor, Pontiac, Howell, St. Joseph, Lansing, Holland, Muskegon and Port Huron. Industries of Zones A and B consume each year between 4,000,000 and 5,000,000 tons of iron and steel products such as bars, plates, shapes, sheets, hot and cold-rolled strip, hoops and bands. Of flat-rolled products alone, they consume about 2,500,000 tons annually. Besides, they absorb yearly between 350,000 and 400,000 tons of pig iron, one-half as much scrap, 10 tons of sand to each single ton of castings, and thousands of tons of coal and coke almost all of which fuel is shipped in from outside districts as far distant as Kentucky and West Virginia. Enjoying but few commodity rates, and these on such commodities as sand, gravel and lumber, lower Michigan manufacturers pay full fifth class railroad rates on all inbound traffic, and also pay 110 per cent of first class on their outbound traffic such as automobiles and trucks. Michigan railroads, participating only slightly in the through traffic from Trunk Line territory to and from the west, have had to look at home for their sustaining revenues. Had the automotive industries not formerly enjoyed wide margins of profit and had they not progressively perfected their economic and manufacturing organizations to a fine point, they might not have survived the adverse traffic systems of the past decade. J. J. Lynch, of the Hayes Wheel Company, Jackson, testified that he pays 14 cents where competitors in Ohio and Indiana pay 6 or 7 cent minimums. P. L. Carter, president of the Jackson Fence Company, testified that 10 years ago there were 10 important wire fence fabricating concerns in Michigan that shipped their product all over the country; whereas today they have all disappeared except two and these are affiliated with outside concerns.

$3,075 From Sale Christmas Seals In Berrien County

Definite announcement that Berrien county's anti-tuberculosis program will be directed in 1929 by the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, Lansing, has been made by T. J. Werle, executive secretary of the Association. The December, 1928, Christmas seal sale, through which preventive tuberculosis work is financed, was conducted from Lansing.

Mr. Werle, in announcing plans for this year, said that educational work in industries and schools will receive the most emphasis; "Reduction of the wastage caused by tuberculosis among factory employees will be one of the leading projects in our program for the county," declared Mr. Werle. "In addition, working with Mr. Ben Eggert, County School Commissioner, we hope to reawaken interest in school health instruction, particularly in the rural districts." "The Michigan Tuberculosis Association will also lend its aid whenever possible in the county's sanatorium program," he said. "We hope to cooperate both with Pine Crest Sanatorium and with the County Board of Supervisors." A total of $3,073.48 was realized in Berrien County in the 1928 Christmas seal sale. This amount exceeds by $150.00 the sum raised in the previous year's sale.

Farming Expert Predicts Decrease In Potato Acreage

East Lansing, Feb. 28.—Unless farmers have changed their natures recently they will plant a much reduced acreage of potatoes next spring, according to a prediction made by Dr. C. C. Stipe, Bureau of Economics, Washington, D. C.

Statistical studies, made by the Bureau of potato prices and the number of acres planted during previous years indicate that two years of unattractive prices reduce the next year's planting material.

The same figures show that a price of $1.60 per bushel for potatoes increases the next planting 10 per cent and a price of $1.80 increases the acres planted by 30 per cent.

Dr. Stine says that, although the weather plays an important part in determining the size of the potato crop, the greatest factor in producing a surplus is the increased plantings which follow periods of high prices.

The 1924 crop of 425,000,000 bushels of potatoes grown in the U. S. brought $270,000,000 less than the 323,000,000 bushels which were produced the next year. In addition to the money lost on the difference in sales price, the large crop cost a great deal more to grow than the smaller one.

The branch of the United States Department of Agriculture which Dr. Stine represents furnishes crop and market reports, advanced reports on intentions to plant, and a great deal of other valuable economic information for farmers, who can obtain it by writing to the Department.

A Message from Mrs. Alma E. Hunt

TO THE HOUSEWIVES OF BUCHANAN AND VICINITY

In bidding you farewell for 1929, I would like to take this opportunity of thanking you for the wonderful reception given me. I want you to know I appreciate the many courtesies and kind words given me and I sincerely trust that we may all be here to meet again next year.

At this time, permit me to say a word or two in behalf of the Hotpoint Electric Range. I have used it in my schools for the past fifteen years and I am frank in saying... I sincerely prefer it to any other stove, regardless of the type of fuel. The convenience and ease of operation saves me many steps and reduces my work immeasurably—its positively excellent results relieves me of the worry of uncertainty. It is a thing of beauty and brightens the appearance of any kitchen. Electricity is the ideal fuel and handled properly in a quality product, such as the Hotpoint Range, is the cheapest of all types of artificial fuels. The stove is as easily kept clean as a China Dish and its quality makes it permanent. It will last for years—nothing to wear out but the units which are cheaply renewed.

I thank you.

The Old Timers' Corner

Old Timer Recalls Friends and Neighbors of Other Years

I have just been thinking about a spot that perhaps you, like myself, had near forgot. It was down north of town, just where Moccasin avenue and Main street "collide," which happened to be right in front of our old home. It was an old frame, gilding made of rough boards, and was not at all good to look at. It was a cooper's shop, and was owned and run by one of the finest old fellows that I knew. Joe Vorhees. He was tall and thin and walked slowly; and it seemed that his legs being so long had to take their time in getting any place. He was somewhat deaf also so you had to talk pretty loud to make him hear you, but Joe was the salt of the earth as to honor and integrity. He made many, many barrels in that old shop, and as Buchanan was very much an apple growing community, as well as many other fruits, he did well and made "barrels of barrels," and you could hear his pounding away from early morn to dewey eve, and the old forms on which he made them were worn smooth and clean by his labors. Joe was sometimes troubled with asthma, also, and couldn't breathe so good, as he grew older, so he decided to close up the shop for he thought the dust from the wood he worked on, made him worse, so he was looking about for a buyer for his property and my father, being of a turn of mind that leans toward anything that is more beautiful, bought the "corner" and took down the old shop and left the lot vacant, sodded and clean. It was right in front of our home and it wasn't so good to look at, but there was never a complaint from any neighbor for Joe was a good man and did a good straight business. He lived just a little way south of there on West Street, opposite the John Guyberson home. There was only one house between his shop and his home and that was the home of Mr. and Mrs. Robinson. Joe's wife's father and mother. They were fine old people, and lived quietly and well in their little one-story home. They had a lot of old pine trees in the yard, they grew so thick and close together that you could hardly see the house, which was set upon a my father and so more in a spirit of fun than anything else, he acted as though he were going to pick something up and throw it at Mr. A. and all that he found on the ground was "grass" so he grabbed a handful of grass and threw it in the direction of Mr. A. and he ran like a wild man down to the street and home, talking wildly and as he passed the neighbors along the way he told them that my father had got mad at him and was throwing grass at him.

These and many other recollections come to me when I think of the old Cooper's shop, with its piles of staves and hoops, which were always piled up in none too neat a way around the end of the place. It stood right between two large trees, one a wild cherry and the other an old Oak which gave ample shade, and as the farmers came into town with their produce they would hear Joe working away with his funny looking hammer, making "barrels of barrels." The trees are still there, or were the last time I passed the old lot. Ashley Carlisle and his family lived nearest neighbor to it on the Main street road, and his son Frank, who has passed on, now, was always too good a boy to be mixed up with us in the "gang," but he was a good sort and we liked him. Ashley Carlisle later on moved into the old Carlisle home where he recently passed away, among the big Oak and Maple trees that sheltered their home. Mrs. Carlisle was one of the finest "mothers" I have known and a good neighbor to all. It was a great old "neighborhood" with no real black sheep in it and where boys and girls were raised to think that good people are every where. Not a bad idea for them to have. They have to learn the other side of life, later on, all too soon.

It just seems to me that with our old home all changed, and with the peach trees and grape vines and the apples and pears and all that stuff, dug up and gone and new homes being built along the roadway and part of the old farm laid out in streets and all that, it just makes me homesick to see the old place as it once was in a neighborhood where every one had their little affairs in life and attended to them quietly. Well, its just "got" to be, that's all. The trees are still there, or were the last time I passed the old lot. Ashley Carlisle and his family lived nearest neighbor to it on the Main street road, and his son Frank, who has passed on, now, was always too good a boy to be

Will Study Plans For Home Gardens

East Lansing, March 7.—The gardener has his innings in the short course which will be given by the horticultural department at Michigan State College, March 25 to 29.

The course furnishes material for plant growers, whether they are interested in growing vegetables to supply the table or flowers to enhance the beauty of the home on its grounds. The students will get theoretical training and then will be required to put this information into practice in the laboratory periods which are a part of the course.

The most effective planting plans and the most suitable means for starting the various plants will be discussed the first day. Seeds, bulbs, slips, and cuttings will be used in acquainting the students with the various methods of plant propagation.

Friendly insects which are the garden's aids and bugs which are the bane of his existence will be measured and finger-printed during the week, and the best ways of preparing poisonous lunches for plant assassins will be considered.

The college horticulturists say that properly planted shrubs attract birds to the home grounds, and these feathered friends are not only decorative but also aid the gardener in his warfare against insects. One period during the week is devoted to a discussion of the plantings which are attractive to birds.

Anyone interested in plant propagation is invited to enroll in the course.

He's An "Honest Crook"

An apologetic thief ransacked a Pittsburg home and went away with a $250 diamond ring and $2. In the ring's place the family found a small card bearing the following note: "I need this more than you do. Am very sorry." An Honest Crook."

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medical science is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention.

One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.
