

KNUTE ROCKNE AT B.H.S. MAY 2

RESPONSIBILITY OF BUILDING FLOAT ON TOWN TO PRESENT

Now Here's the Proposition

On Floating Floats
By Haws

The C. of C. is full of gents. Infirm of gait and bald of bean. Too far along in life to sense the beauty of a blossom queen.

They will not give a single groat. In fact, they have none of their own. Ere they arranged to float a float they first would have to float a loan.

The council has rheumatic pains. Too much to care for things like these. They tap the sidewalks with their canes. And rattle round on squeaky knees.

They have no care for beauties charms. For clustered curl of flashing smile. They would prefer to put their arms around a Prestite sewer tile.

Their pulse n'er flutters when they see. A classy hosiery display. And when they lamp a fifty knee. They sigh and look the other way.

How'er it be, it seems to me. It's not because they do not care to. The Council and the C. of C.— They don't because they do not dare to.

The fact they do not fill a bus. And ride along themselves to pet. Is not because they're aristocrats. But just because their wives won't let 'em.

D. A. DODGE EXPIRES IN THE HOME OF SON

Dwight Asa Dodge, 83, died in the home of his son, Frank, on N. Chippewa street, Wednesday morning at 3:55 o'clock, April 24.

Mr. Dodge was born in Glens Falls, N. Y., and for the past eighteen years had resided in Buchanan and vicinity. Prior to that time he had lived in Chicago and North Liberty, Ind.

For 15 years he worked for the American Express company and for five years was on the Northwestern railroad, retiring in 1895. For several years after coming here he operated a farm near Bakertown.

In addition to the wife, Mrs. Sarah Dodge, he is survived by two sons, Frank and Charles of Buchanan.

Funeral services will be conducted from the home of his son, Frank Dodge, Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock, April 26. Rev. J. J. Terry, pastor of the church, will officiate. Interment will take place in Oak Ridge cemetery.

Mrs. Ada Sanders Appointed to Fill Treasurer Vacancy

Mrs. Ada Dacy Sanders was appointed to the office of treasurer of Buchanan township at the meeting of the board held April 18, taking the place left vacant by the refusal of Burton Montgomery to qualify for the place. Mr. Montgomery had stated previously to election that he could hold the office only under certain conditions, and since these were not complied with, he left the place vacant.

Legion and Auxil. Arrange Series of Potluck Suppers

After the supper, games and contests were staged. The two organizations will hold another pot luck supper together on the evening of May 16, the third Thursday in May, at which time special entertainment will be provided.

HIGH SCHOOL AND C. OF C. EVADE ISSUES

Town Says Too Busy Floating the Sewer Bonds

TO FLOAT FLOAT

Buchanan's Attendant of the Blossom Queen is Off on Trip.

A subscription was started at 11 a. m. today to raise funds for a Buchanan float for the Blossom Day Parade, with an initial pledge of $55 and the promise of a truck for the float by the Russell Chevrolet Sales company. Any one who wishes to contribute may give their money to Ed. Rouse at Mead's barber shop.

The possibility of Buchanan being represented by a float in the Blossom Week parade on May 11 now appears to be squarely up to the town administration, for whatever action they may see fit to take at the regular May meeting next Monday evening.

The town council has inherited this responsibility as the result of graceful waivers on the part of the high school authorities and the Chamber of Commerce, all of whom hold that if the matter is meritorious, it should be financed by the "town"—meaning the administration having jurisdiction over the disposition of tax money. If it is of advantage to the town, the town should pay for it, say the former float builders, and if it is not of any advantage to the town, why obviously no one should pay for it.

The proposal that the town build the float comes at an inopportune time, with the city administration contemplating the unprofitable possibility of having to take the construction of the Portage and Third street sewers off the hands of Contractor Frank Reed, with a chance of financial outlay much larger than was originally contemplated.

Town officials who were approached on the matter of a float were not actively hostile, but apparently desirous of being assured that they had the general support of the tax paying public in such expenditure at this time.

Miss Karol Kool, Buchanan's representative in the court of honor for the blossom queen, left for St. Joseph Tuesday to start with the other beauties on a ten-day tour of Michigan cities, arriving back at Niles Saturday, May 4. The party appeared at the Butterfield theatre at Kalamazoo yesterday and at Battle Creek today.

Miss Kool has a leave of absence from her position as stenographer at the Bendix Brake at South Bend, until the end of the Blossom Week festivities. On starting on the tour she was presented with a purse of $25 by Homer Morley of the Princess Theatre.

Selection Blossom Queen Was Fair, Audience Report

A number of local people attended the exercises attending the selection of the Blossom Queen held at the Liberty Theatre at Benton Harbor Friday evening. Miss Karol Kool, the local representative, remained in the contest when nine or half of the number had been required in the first elimination. The judges then found it necessary to have the nine girls appear three times before they were able to eliminate the girls representing Grand Haven, Grand Rapids, Stevensville and Buchanan.

Buchanan visitors at the selection stated that the decision of the judges was popular with the audience, and that a vote would have supported their selection, although Miss Battle Creek had an abundance of unusual competition.

The monthly community night will be held at the Hills Corners Christian Church Sunday evening, April 28. The program will be in charge of the Good Samaritan class. A 6:30 pot luck dinner will be enjoyed.

BASEBALL SEASON TO OPEN SUNDAY AT ATHLETIC PARK

EAST SIDE RADIO NINE OF SOUTH BEND TO CROSS BATS WITH BUCHANAN.

Rain which deluged the baseball diamond prevented the inauguration of the baseball season here last Sunday, requiring cancellation of the game between the Blues and the St. Joseph A. C.'s of South Bend, and postponing the season's opening until next Sunday, when the East Side Radio nine of South Bend will engage the Blues, the contest opening at 2:30 p. m. at the Athletic Park.

The East Side Radios rank high in northern Indiana baseball circles, being a reorganization of the River Park Boosters nine. The line-up for Buchanan will be: pitcher, Morris; Simpson; catcher, C. Thanning; 1b, Froudy; 2b, Kain; 3b, Flingst; 3b, Smedley; Ferguson; lf, Chalm; cf, Shreve; rf, Simpson; utility, Marrs.

TOWN WOULD ROB PETER TO PAY PAUL

No Object in Collecting the Back Money Says Township.

MOTION IS USELESS

Changing Money From One Pocket to Another.

The municipality of Buchanan has a legal right to require that a portion of the township road maintenance fund be spent within the city limits in ratio to the amount of taxes paid, but if the move instituted by the town administration to collect money already spent be pushed to conclusion, the actual result will be that the town will be taking money out of one pocket and putting it into another, according to township officials in commenting on the case.

Since the money has been collected and spent, it can only be refunded by raising it through more taxation, and since the city pays taxes on approximately $3,500,000 valuation out of a total of $4,500,000 valuation in the township, it will pay almost 80 per cent of the refund itself.

L. M. BARTON FLIES OVER SUMMER HOME

Chicago Daily News Official Drops Note to Caretaker.

The day, perhaps not far distant when Chicago business men and workers will commute between that city and homes in this section by airplane was presaged last week when L. M. Barton, advertising manager of the Chicago Daily News and president of the Advertisers association of America, flew over his summer home just east of the town, in one of the Daily News planes, dropping a note to his caretaker, James A. Desmond, who is now busy improving the grounds.

Barton was about 5,000 feet in the air when he first cleared the grounds, and then dropped to 1,500, when the name "Daily News" could be plainly read on this side of the plane.

Barton flew the plane from Chicago to Detroit, accompanied by his mother, Mrs. Marshall. He circled Buchanan on his return and then flew to South Bend, lighting at the aviation field there, and then went on to Chicago.

Barton wrote later to Desmond that the town of Buchanan was a beautiful sight from the air, and that he took a number of moving pictures of the town. He stated that he believed he could arrange for a good landing ground in an open field that is part of the grounds of the old Redden property which he is fitting for a country estate.

Spring is Latest In 30 Years Say 3 Oaks Farmers

Farmers in the Three Oaks section report that they are further behind this year with general crop work than in any spring during the past 30 years. Water was standing last week on the partly plowed fields, and practically none of the oat acreage was seeded, although it is well past the normal date of planting.

Messrs. J. Craft and Cooper of Niles showed the way to some 20 shot gun artists engaged in the sport of breaking clay pigeons at the trap shooting grounds recently opened by Lloyd Sanes north of town.

Some excellent shooting was done by the Niles men, Kraft breaking 23, 23, 25, 22 out of a possible 25 at the regulation 16 yard range and 20 at a handicap of five additional yards. Cooper shot 20, 22, 21, 24 out of a possible 25 at the 16 yard distance and 20 at the longer distance.

William Fette was high man among the local trap artists, shooting 20 and 23 in two rounds. Chummy Dalrymple shot 20 and 17 in two rounds. Salisbury of Dayton shot 11, 22, 23, 20 out of a possible 25 in four rounds.

Others who competed were C. Bennett, B. Phillips, L. W. Phillips, Chas. Lyddick, Dr. Orville Curtis, C. Daniels, J. Myers, J. Burke, C. Rastetter, Delbeck of Buchanan and Messrs. Straub and Roizine of Dayton.

Silence of Siren Boosts Efficiency Dept., Says Bunker

The fire department was called at 9:30 a. m. Monday by an alarm from the residence of Mrs. Johanna Allen of Detroit street, where fire had broken out from sparks lighting on the roof. The entire fire force turned out, in spite of the fact that the siren was out of order (or because of it), according to Chief Tenny Bunker, and the flames were extinguished with damages of only $25 to the roof.

Leslie Stearns Gets Spring Lamb Crop 180 Per Cent

Profits in small flocks of sheep should be good, if the record of Leslie Stearns, young River Road farmer, could always be duplicated. Stearns has a flock of 14 ewes with 25 lambs now, from six weeks to two months old. He has been running a small band of sheep for 10 years at the home of his father, Thomas Stearns, and the record this year is not unusual. One year he had 17 lambs from eight ewes. He feeds alfalfa hay and a small amount of grain three or four weeks before the lambs are dropped, which usually begins in February.

BERRIEN CLUB WOMEN STAGE EXHIBIT HERE

Organizations are to Study Nutrition During the Coming Year.

Four hundred and fifty women consisting of the membership of the 17 Home Economics Clubs of Berrien county and their guests attended the annual Achievement Day program staged at the high school yesterday under the direction of state leader, Mildred Gardner of the Extension department of the Michigan State college.

The morning program opened with a business meeting, at which the report of the past year's work was read by Miss Gardner. The report represented a digest of the reports of the project leaders of the 17 clubs. Two hundred and eighty-five women took part in the club program last year, which was the third year since organization. Color and harmony in costume formed the subject of study and work, and the results achieved were illustrated in the exhibit which covered the walls of the Home Economics room at the high school. The work of the two previous years in clothing was also exhibited.

The program and exhibit marked the conclusion of the three years' work in clothing, and the state leader, Miss Gardner, announced the change to the study of food for the coming year, the subject being "Nutrition."

The annual organization was also held at the morning session, Mrs. James Richards of Eau Claire, being elected to succeed herself as chairman of the associated clubs. Mrs. Richards then, in behalf of the club, presented Miss Gardner with two linen table cloths and a dozen linen napkins as a gift from the club in honor of her approaching marriage.

During the noon hour dinner was served at the Church of Christ, the Evangelical church and the American Legion hall, about a hundred ladies being served at each place. This afternoon program was attended by a large number of new arrivals, and was held in the high school auditorium. Selections by the high school band, and the high school glee club and orchestra provided the music for the program. A representative of the college spoke to the members on "Dreams," urging parents to set examples to their children in the virtues of honesty, consistency and fair play.

Mary Jo Allington of the high school department of Physical Education, staged a play in which a number of girls represented "The Color Fairies." The Bend of the River Home Economics club then staged a play entitled "The Charm of the Old Album," parts in which were played by Mesdames Charles Rydyck, George Roberts, Howard Barbour and Clyde Penwell.

LETTERS TO '29 CAGEMEN

Famed Coach to Speak Before the Assembly at 11 a. m.

PUBLIC IS INVITED

Two Year Effort to Get Notre Dame Mentor Here Successful.

Members of 1929 basket squad of the Buchanan high school who are to be honored by letters are to be additionally honored by receiving them at the hands of Knute Rockne, molder of the Notre Dame football team and most famous of the grid mentors of the nation, who has consented to come to Buchanan for that purpose, Thursday, May 2.

Coach Rockne will speak on some aspect of athletics at the auditorium at 11 a. m., at which time all who may be interested and able to attend are cordially invited to join the student body. The Notre Dame coach is known as a clever and forceful speaker, who is doubtless as well informed on contemporary athletic affairs as any other man. He has recently returned from a 20,000 mile swing around the country, during which he visited all the leading colleges and universities, delivering scores of speeches.

The coming of Rockne marks the successful culmination of two years of negotiations to get the famous coach here, and his final acceptance means an opportunity such as few high schools of the nation have been afforded. The caliber of the 1928 football team and the 1929 basket squad may have been a factor, as they point to the local school as a possible source of first class athletic material.

Letters will be awarded at the close of the speech to a list of the basketball players known at present only to Coach Harold Bradford. The high school band will also play several selections.

Winter Killing Reduces Galien Acreage of Mint

Mint acreage in the Galien, Berrien and Three Oaks sections is slated to be smaller this year than in many years, according to reports from growers, indicating a considerable winter loss through smothering under the ice sheet that covered the district during January and February.

Due to a combination of unsatisfactory prices and shortage in roots due to winter-killing, the normal amount of replanting is not taking place. It is a rule that 25 per cent of the mint is replanted this year, but this year the new acreage is negligible so far.

Prices are still down, quotations at present being in the neighborhood of $2.50 per pound. Many of the growers believe, however, that the poor field conditions and lack of replanting points to a decrease of production that may bring about a raise in prices next winter.

Market Start Is Opening 15 Cents Lower than 1928

Prospective profits of local sheep breeders for 1929 have been reduced by the market opening for wool, the first buyers in the field offering 35c per pound for the best grade as compared with a top of 50c last year. Shearing is expected to begin with the opening of May, provided the weather conditions are favorable. At present this reduction is offset by good prices offered for lambs, although they may not be maintained until this spring's crop of lambs goes on the market in the late summer and fall. The lamb drop in the Buchanan section was better than average this year, and many small flockmasters are reporting better than 100 per cent.

Mrs. Leessa Trainer, Mrs. Hazel Huff and Mrs. Helen Carroll of Niles and Mrs. Ruth Harroff of South Bend spent the week end in Chicago.

Placing Machines In Clark Plant At Berrien Springs

A trip through the enlarged plant of the Clark Transmission company is sufficient proof that Berrien Springs will soon become known as a factory town as well as a picnic and resort community—all of which should combine to increase the population materially during the next year or two.

New machinery is arriving every week and being installed as fast as possible. Some twenty or more specially built heavy machines have already been added since the "opening" and are long the entire building will be equipped and humming with industry.

Scientist McIntosh states that transmission orders are piling up and every effort is being made to speed up production as fast as machinery is installed. Due to the fact that most of the machines are specially built for the work required, installation has been delayed a little longer than anticipated, but at the rate the machines are now arriving it will not be long before the entire floor space will be in use. The plant has a capacity for employing 250 men.

Five office rooms in the north end of the building are being equipped and will soon be occupied by the local officials.

Children do not complain of difficult seeing. Parents should not wait for THAT because much harm may be done during the waiting. A thoughtful parent will submit his child to an examination whether or not it seems necessary. Don't forget that it is possible for a child to see perfectly with imperfect eyes. Any interested parent is invited to talk this over with us.

FOUR YR. MEN
TAKE JUNIOR
TO CLEANINGVarsity Men Play Against Each Other in Intramural.

BANQUET BENEFIT

Junior High Trims the High

The Seniors downed the Junior 20 to 14 Monday night in a post-season basketball game. A large crowd turned out to see some of B. H. S.'s stars in action for the last time and were amply rewarded by the fast and hotly contested brand of basketball displayed. Both teams opened at a furious pace, but the third quarter proved the Junior's nemesis when they eased up and were outscored 9 to 2. The score was 9 to 7, Seniors, at the first quarter; 9 all at the half; and 18 to 12, at the third quarter. Roe, stellar guard on the varsity, was the scoring ace with four field goals, but every Senior performed creditably. The Junior plays all hinged on "Iron Man" Pierce, but every man was in fighting for the ball. Lawson led the losers in scoring with six points. The Junior's inability to make short shots cost them the game.

Lawson opened the game with a "swisher" from the side, but W. Pfingst retaliated with a short one, the next tip-off. Roe pulled the old Bridgman play of throwing the ball a little past him to the foul line and then taking a short. W. Pfingst again counted on Knight's personal. Lawson sank a long one, and "Olive" evened the score on W. Pfingst's foul. Savoldi sank one from the corner, but Pierce's one-hand shot again knotted the count at seven all. "Punk" followed in on Savoldi's charity toss as the quarter ended.

The second quarter saw little scoring, but little "Punk" sank one to even the score at nine all.

The Juniors slowed down in the third quarter, and Fette, Morse, and "Punk" all sank field goals. "Little Joe" scored on "Olive's" personal before Pierce sank a pot-shot on a tip-off play. Roe switched another as the quarter ended. Score 15 to 11, Seniors.

In the last quarter, Pierce scored on Squier's personal, but W. Pfingst again dribbled in for a short shot. Lawson rang up two more points as the game ended.

The strong Junior High romped over a "picked" team to the tune of 25 to 11 in a preliminary encounter. Louis Morse starred, making 10 points, while Eisenhart led the losers with 5.

The lineup was as follows:
Juniors, f. R. Pfingst; f. Lawson; c. Pierce; g. Ristol; g. Knight. Seniors, f. Savoldi; f. Wilcox; W. Pfingst; c. Roe; g. Morse; g. Fette; g. Squier.

H. S. Annual Goes
To Press May 1

The 1929 edition of "The Pines" goes to press May 1. Have you secured your copy yet? If not, it will be necessary to do so at once if you desire one.

This year book, which is published every year by the Senior class, contains the pictures of all the high school classes, societies, clubs, and all the organizations of the high school, in fact.

The various teams, which have made Buchanan famous throughout the year, are pictured, with interesting write-ups about each; a calendar of the daily happenings of the school year; a large joke section, and numerous other articles are contained in this book. For the small price asked for it and the pleasure received from owning it, "The 1929 Pines" should be in every Buchanan home. Show your interest in Buchanan High school—buy an Annual!

Grades Entertain
In H. S. Assembly
Friday Morning

To a completely filled auditorium Friday morning, the grade department of the Buchanan schools gave a very well selected program, consisting of a band number by the Primary pupils, two vocal selections by the pupils of Mrs. Fischner's grade, two readings, "My Cousin's Friend" by Dale Lyons, and "The Lost Purse" by Helen Liddicoat; a piano solo by Cherry Heim, "Wood Nymph"; a dramatization by Mrs. Fuller's pupils, and to cap the climax a playlet, "The Clowns," enacted by Miss Hopkins' pupils. The last mentioned deserves special mention because of the manner in which it was given, and the parts played by the different pupils were very good.

The spelling contest between 7-1 and 7-11 last Friday resulted in twenty-seven 100s for 7-1 and twenty-four 100s for 7-11.

FIRST GRADE

We have a new pupil, Paul Bennett. He came from New Carlisle. We enjoy our new library table very much and wish to thank the Manual Training department for making it for us.

The A class is reading in their new Field Readers. This makes nine books we have read so far this year.

We have been coloring and cutting out birds. We are going to make a bird book.

SECOND GRADE

Mrs. Wilcox's second grade gave an entertainment for morning exercises Friday. One group entertained the other with songs, stories, and poems. This will be repeated next Friday, another group doing the entertaining.

There is a fine attendance in this room at present.

We like our reading table so much that the Manual Training department made for us.

At morning exercises Friday, Alice Leazenby, Carlton Fletcher, and Jack Miller whistled two songs for us: "America," and "The Little Frog."

Last month we reviewed and had four tests on half the year's work in spelling. Our record shows that 17 were 100 per cent and 10 were 90 per cent, out of a membership of 39.

Several of our girls and boys furnished a number on the program at General Assembly last week. They gave us an interesting account of it Monday morning. Lawrence Newsom received 100 per cent in spelling in last Friday's spelling test.

"Cleaning Up" was the basis for language, reading and art activities this week. We read and wrote stories about cleaning up the yards and houses. In art we made posters and illustrated them by cut out letters and free hand cuttings of implements used in cleaning up.

We are much interested in birds and their habits. We are going to make a bird book and put in it the birds we color and the stories we write about them. We have studied about the robin and the bluebird.

We are also learning the names of the wild flowers, and also the cultivated flowers that are blooming now.

We are correlating nature study with our poem study, and are learning poems about the birds and flowers.

THIRD GRADE

Mildred Miller gave an acrobatic dance for our room and also for the fourth grade.

We are studying frogs. We have some eggs and tadpoles and we are watching the larger tadpoles in the aquarium in the science room.

THIS AND THAT

The members of the Extension class under the instruction of Dr. Pellett of Kalamazoo college, were invited to Three Oaks last Wednesday evening, guests of Miss Myrtle Pardee and Miss Faith Harrington, who are members of the class.

Mr. Don Jordan representing the American Book company made the Buchanan schools a friendly call Friday. Mr. Jordan was on his way home in South Whitley, Ind.

The Junior high appreciates very much the opportunity afforded them by Mr. Homer Morley, who allowed them to take over "The Land of the Silver Fox," featuring Rin Tin Tin last Thursday and Friday nights. The pupils cleared a little over the $25 which was the amount asked of them by the management of the high school annual. They wish to express their appreciation to Mr. Morley and to all their friends and relatives who made their success possible.

Supt. and Mrs. H. C. Stark and son, David Joseph, spent the week end visiting at the home of the former's parents at Grand Lodge.

Miss Theo Olson spent the week end visiting her parents in Chicago.

"The Echo," a publication consisting of work done by all pupils from the kindergarten to the high school is well under construction. The printing press is being run over time that you may have this edition some time next week. This little magazine will be sold for just enough to cover cost of material.

Berrien I. O. O. F.

Will Convene at Three Oaks May 7

The Berrien County I. O. O. F. association will hold its regular monthly meeting at Three Oaks on the evening of May 2. Great preparations are being made by the Three Oaks lodge, and some worthwhile entertainment will be held at Memorial Hall. The Third degree work will be exemplified by South Haven. The members of the Rebekah lodges of the county are also invited to be the guests of the Three Oaks Rebekah lodge.

Secretary George R. Fox is asking for suggestions on a destination for this year, and word of how many will join in the trip.

A lady in Santa Barbara, Calif., noticed that she could hear radio programs coming from a pan of boiling beans, although there was no receiving set in the house. Experts investigated the phenomenon and decided that the radio waves were probably picked up by the electric range through induction or something.

SENIOR PLAY TO BE COMEDY
ENGLISH LIFE

"TONS OF MONEY" PROMISES TO PRODUCE MANY LAUGHS.

Practice for the Senior play which is to be given May 7, 2 in place of class night, is well under way.

The play is "Tons of Money," a play which contains many laughs for everyone. It is an English play, and when Americans take the part of typical English characters, the result is always a good laugh.

Fred Smith is Aubrey Maitland Allington, and in portraying the English atmosphere of the play he is even better than his name. To help portray the correct impression, he will wear a monocle, and he is rapidly learning the art of using it. Aubrey Henry Maitland Allington is a carefree happy-go-lucky fellow whose philosophy seems to be "eat, drink and be merry, for tomorrow you may die," and he not only dies once but dies twice. However, he is brought back to life from necessity of course.

Virginia Snowden is Miss Mullett, also typically English, and to make matters worse she is the aunt. She is very prim in manner and has a high-brow way about her. She speaks abruptly and is quite deaf, helping to create laughs on account of her deafness.

Much of the humor is created through situation and in the ability of the English to contract debts without anything to pay them off. In one speech Aubrey Allington says, "I beg your pardon, when the bank refuses to meet my checks, I shall take my overdraft elsewhere."

Facts concerning other characters and their descriptions, along with various other announcements about the play, will be given later.

3 Oaks Society

Plans Pilgrimage
To Historic Spot

The question of a 1929 pilgrimage for members of the Three Oaks Historical society is being considered.

In the past it has been the custom of the Three Oaks Historical society some time during each summer or in the early fall, to take a trip in a body to some historical site, museum or other point of interest.

LaPorte and an Indian village site were the first visited, the South Bend museum and the museum at Cassopolis were other points to which the society journeyed.

Secretary George R. Fox is asking for suggestions on a destination for this year, and word of how many will join in the trip.

A lady in Santa Barbara, Calif., noticed that she could hear radio programs coming from a pan of boiling beans, although there was no receiving set in the house. Experts investigated the phenomenon and decided that the radio waves were probably picked up by the electric range through induction or something.

Every activity suggested and every study proposed have been defended on the ground that they serve some useful purpose. This is the first requirement of education, but it is not enough.

In a world of unlimited change, it is not enough that an educational activity lead toward some desirable goal. Every educational goal should not only be useful, it should be relatively more useful than an alternate goal that might be pursued.

These are the most important aims of education, and they take in our individual and social development. Education is steadily advancing to a higher plane, but the underlying objectives change very little.

COLVIN

Winifred Abele won the local spelling contest of the seventh and eighth grades held Friday, April 19.

Congressional Shorn Lamb.
Hon. Leonidas Carstarphen Dyer, ten times congressman from the twelfth Missouri district, all in St. Louis, and ranking Republican member of the house judiciary committee, has come before the public as a shorn lamb from Wall Street. Not as an ordinary lamb does he appear, but one guileless and uninformed, emphasis on the latter word.

Officials of the New York Curb Exchange claim they have received a letter from the Hon. Leonidas demanding payment to him of money lost in recent trading. What stock do you suppose the veteran judicially minded congressman from the "Show Me" state bought and sold? It was the Hiram Walker stock, issued by a Canadian liquor distillery, but he insists he purchased the security in complete ignorance of the fact that it was a distillery security. When he learned the fact he ordered it sold, the price was below the purchase level, he had to stand a loss.

Since Jan. 1, the Walker stock has sold as high as 99 and as low as 66, and that is spread enough to cause a loss that would hit a congressional purse a rousing thump if a considerable block had been handled. He might find company, if he posed merely as a loser, but probably must remain quite alone in his utter lack of information. Most traders know, or think they do. That is why they trade. He demands the return of the lost Dyer dollars because the Curb Exchange had no right to list stocks of companies whose products are contrabanded in this country.

There have been many shorn lambs in Wall Street, many novel, weird stories, and demands for money back, when loss has been suffered, but never an instance where profits were handed back if the trade was a winner. The Missouri congressman has not indicated his course had the shares been selling above the purchase figure. When seen at Washington he declined to talk, later he may regret having written, even if it did bring him to the fore as the most completely uninformed congressman who ever put thru trades in a bull market.

Does the Better Business Bureau in St. Louis urge the people there to investigate before they invest? It might send one of its wall mottos to the Hon. Leonidas Carstarphen Dyer, M. C., Washington.

Too Many Laws.
It is a matter for wonder by a great many people just why when a state legislature gathers at the capital they think they are not taking care of the people unless they load them down with more laws almost beyond their capacity to carry them. In this connection it might not go amiss to repeat the following which is taken from the Ohio State Journal: "The Vermont legislature which adjourned since die a short time ago has been coming in for high praise from the public and press. Why? Because its recent session was the shortest in 27 years and it placed almost no new laws on the statute books. This legislature acted on the theory that there are far too many laws already. The theory is generally recognized as sound by the legislature that acts on it as a rarity."

Thus it seems that all over the country the same thought is in mind, that of too many laws. We verily believe that the legislature that goes to the statehouse and places the fewest number of needed laws on the statute books and at the same time repeals the greatest number of obnoxious and worn out, forgotten laws that are a menace rather than an aid to better government, will be in far better shape with their constituents than any other. There is no discounting the fact that the people are getting tired of nothing but laws every two years.

Some legislators go to the seat of government—if some of the acts that they introduce are to be taken as a criterion—with the idea in mind that they are to introduce any pet theory or hobby which they may have been nursing for years, regardless of the merits of the case, if they are to be hailed as good representatives of the people. A good many, and we could name a few, if necessary, have the added idea that to keep "your name before the public" is the thing to do whether it is by some good move or bad, but the main idea is to "keep your name" before your constituents to be successful.

The public, however, has different ideas on the subject, and these legislators who have been "getting by" will soon awaken to their sorrow to the fact that times have changed and the public is far more conversant with public affairs than they were 30 years ago when "almost anything went."

Here Is a Bad Bill.
There is pending in the legislature in Pennsylvania a bill granting the right of eminent domain to telegraph and telephone companies. Early in the session it was introduced, it has been pushed along by the support rallied for that work but has encountered stiff opposition. Indications are that some real efforts to force it to passage will be made. If it is passed and becomes the law, in that state the telegraph and telephone companies could place their pole and conduit lines in such places as their engineers might select and the property owners affected would be nearly or quite helpless. It is not easy to understand why these great public service corporations should seek to have that grant of power given them. They never have had it before and many people will feel they do not need it now for the orderly development of their business. Use of it hardly could be made without irritation that would arouse an abundance of ill will, and ill will is a liability even to the strongest corporation. At a time when many of the large corporations are endeavoring to develop good will, the incident in Pennsylvania appears the more extraordinary. It looks like a tremendous blunder on the part of the strategists of these corporations.

What of the Railroads?
The Fred Harvey organization, it is announced, has contracted to serve meals, west of Chicago, on a transcontinental air line. That proves that a highly successful restaurant corporation has faith in the early development of passenger transportation by air on a great scale and it is also an argument for going west by that particular line. Fred Harvey was a great public benefactor and his organization is still conducted in accordance with his ideals, as patrons of the Santa Fe will testify. If anything could make us hungry in an airplane it would be a Fred Harvey meal.

But what is to become of the railroads? Automobile and airplane transportation is cutting into their business more and more every year. Their financial reports show an almost consistently steady loss in gross earnings, especially from passengers, though in some instances their losses are made up by new economies in management. Soon, apparently, they will lose all their profitable long-haul mail contracts. Postmaster General Brown said the other day that before the expiration of his term he expects to see all this business in the hands of airplane corporations. More and more freight is carried by trucks over the highways and who would venture to predict that air craft suitable for this heavy service will not be manufactured. Already grand pianos have been taken from New York to Washington by airplane.

Henry Ford announced a few days ago a reduction from $10,000 to $7,000 in the price of his big passenger airplanes, due, and here is the significant thing, to a large increase in demand and responding production. The automobile already has put nearly all the interurban railway lines out of business and now it and the airplane are seriously threatening the great steam railroads. We do not believe railroad stocks are gilt-edged investments for the long pull.

Mr. Sinclair to Jail.
Cynical persons may ask if Harry F. Sinclair's lawyer can't do something more for him in the way of obstructing justice, even if the United States supreme court has finally decided that he must go to jail for three months. What his lawyers may dig up it is impossible to forecast or imagine, but this much is true—the United States supreme court might as well go out of business entirely if Harry does not go to jail. The jail sentence was originally imposed by the lower court some two years ago. The offense was contempt of the United States senate for refusing to answer questions in the oil investigations. The jail's doors are ready to receive the culprit and they will soon close on him. The decree of the court of last resort cannot be evaded. Its own prestige is at stake.

One cannot escape the thought that others ought to go to jail with Sinclair. It is rather staggering to remember that all of the bunch of oil plunderers, Sinclair alone has received a jail sentence. And his offense was not answering the senate committee's questions! Juries acquitted him and fell on conspiracy charges. In view of the complete failure of the jury trials in these cases, the work of the United States supreme court affords the greatest satisfaction. Whenever the supreme court has had the opportunity to pass on any of the questions involved, it has vindicated law and justice. The jury system has failed even to vindicate itself.

About the most unfortunate thing we have seen in the general nature of a typographical error lately was a serious defect, evidently on the plate, in the half-tone portrait of the girl who was jubilantly proving to the great reading public that the last pimple was gone, and it looked like a carbuncle.

The time has come, and it's another day we never expected to live to see but did, when we hesitate to read an artistic advertisement with a couple of nice-looking women in it, for fear it's something it isn't proper for us to know about.

If old Ed. Gann is half the man we think he is he'll get out of attending every formal social function that comes along under this administration and play poker every night with the other boys, out of respect for his wife.

A director of the New York Life Insurance Company gets $50 every time he attends a meeting and Director Coolidge impresses us as a man who would be faithful to every duty.

We often wonder if the chaplain of the senate believes, after a few years' experience, in the efficacy of prayer.

Barry Farmer Says Woodlot Returns Equal Cleared Land

East Lansing, April 25—Accurate records on the returns from farm wood lots are hard to obtain but Glenn Ingram, a Barry county farmer, has kept accounts which show that his 10 acre wood lot has returned him an average of $36.50 an acre for the past 13 years and he has been offered $2,500 for the mature timber which is now in the wood lot.

The lumber obtained from this wood lot was 14,000 board feet of basswood, whiteoak and red oak in 1910; 13,000 feet of elm in 1913; 7,000 feet of basswood in 1918; 21,000 feet in 1926, and 2,000 feet in 1927.

All fuel burned on the farm except during the past three years was cut from the woodlot, as were poles and posts used on the farm. Maple trees in this stand of timber have furnished an average of 100 gallons of syrup. Mr. Ingram rented a nearby wood lot three years ago and has cut his fuel from those woods since he rented them. The soil on which the timber stands is a good loam and is fairly rolling. Mr. Ingram says that the 10 acres has yielded as great a return as any similar area on his farm.

He states that he always has pastured the woodlot but now sees that this practice has killed out the seedlings and prevented the growth of young trees to replace those which are cut, so he plans to keep all livestock out of the woodlot in the future.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

STATE FARMERS USE EIGHT HORSE TEAM

MULTIPLE HITCHES SPEED UP PLOWING ON MICHIGAN FARMS.

East Lansing, April 25—Michigan farmers are using western methods of hitching horses into teams so that one man can handle from six to eight horses, and the popularity of this form of hitch has caused the animal husbandry department at Michigan State college to arrange demonstrations of the multiple hitch in 17 counties of the State.

With this method of utilizing horse power, any number of horses can be driven, as lines are used on only the lead team. The other animals are tied in so that they have no choice but to follow the lead horses. Unbroken colts can be worked without any previous handling.

The horses are worked tandem so that all side draft in plowing is eliminated. Farmers who are using the multiple hitch say that they can plow an acre per horse per day.

Animal husbandry specialists who will attend the demonstrations will carry materials to show how the eveners which are used with the multiple hitch can be made by any farmer. Any of the materials used in this hitch can be home made.

At some of the meetings where western horses can be secured, new methods of horse breaking will be shown. Several carloads of western horses have been sold in Michigan this year, and most of these animals had never been harnessed before they were shipped.

Counties in which multiple hitch demonstrations have already been scheduled are Kent, Eaton, Calhoun, Van Buren, Cass, St. Joseph, Clinton, Branch, Jackson, Lenawee, Barry, Ionia, Ingham, Gratiot, Tuscola, Sanilac and St. Clair.

Plan $140,000,000 Aviation Merger

A $140,000,000 holding company which will unite the interests of Bendix Corporation, General Motors, Curtiss Aeroplane, Wright Aeronautical, Electric Auto Lite, Stromberg Carburetor and American Brown Boveri as an aviation accessory organization, is in process of formation. The organization would own the Bendix Corporation, the Eclipse Machine Company, Stromberg Carburetor Company of America, Scintilla Magnetic Company, an American Brown Boveri subsidiary, and a new corporation now being formed to take over the development of Delco Remy, a General Motors subsidiary in aircraft electrical appliances.

The proposed organization of the new company centers around the Bendix Corporation as a nucleus with the intention of creating in it the dominating agency in aviation accessories, the reports state. What Bendix has been to the automobile industry, with 90 percent of the starting and brake business and 30,000,000 cars carrying its devices, the new company is intended to become to aviation—except that the line of production would be materially extended and diversified, according to plans outlined in the reports.

Bendix has been the pioneer in brakes and wheels, especially designed for aircraft requirements. Stromberg Carburetor has contributed in the same way to aircraft carburetion. It reports a present volume at a $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 annual rate in its aeroplane product with every American manufacturer using the device except one. Virtually every aircraft manufactured is equipped with a Bendix starting device, which is exclusively produced under license by the Eclipse Machine Company. This company, owned 55 per cent by Bendix Corporation and 45 per cent by Electric Auto-Lite, would bring the latter company into the set-up.

Affiliation of General Motors and Electric Auto-Lite with the new company would, it is understood, reserve for the accessory organization any further developments in aviation ignition and lighting by the former, and in combination these two companies already dominate the automotive ignition field.

Scintilla Magneto Company, another constituent proposed for the company, has developed specially constructed aeroplane magnetics, for which it holds contracts for United States army and navy planes and the products of Curtiss and Wright. These two aviation companies would also be brought into the picture through the inclusion of Stromberg Carburetor, C. M. Keys, president of Curtiss Aeroplane and Motor company and Richard F. Hoyt, chairman of the Wright Aeronautical Corporation, are both directors of the carburetor company.

It is understood that the new undertaking will not require public financing, the acquisitions being proposed on a stock exchange basis. Cash requirements for the present plans are said to be provided for in the subscription to stock in excess of the quota under the exchange plan by certain of the participants and a block of stock to go to the bankers in the transaction.

Gov. Fred Green Turns Gavels out of Historic Oak

With rolled up shirt sleeves and wood chips flying about his face and arms, Governor Fred W. Green of Michigan, displayed unusual skill as lathe operator recently when he stepped over to the Spar-ton Radio plant at Jackson and fashioned three gavels from the limb of one of the oaks under which the republican party of the United States was born on July 6, 1854. The gavels will be presented to the president of the United States and the presiding officers of the senate and the house of representatives at Washington. The event brought to the fore an interesting bit of history in the formation of a national political party, and also marked the plans of Governor Green, who next July hopes to induce the members of President Hoover's cabinet to attend the seventy-fifth anniversary of the birth of the republican party under the famous Jackson oaks. Jackson was settled in 1829, and the centennial of the city will be celebrated this summer.

Governor Green, a furniture manufacturer in private life, displayed an unusual amount of skill with the assortment of turning chisels. He slipped and gauged into the swiftly revolving stick of wood with a vengeance that spoke of past experience. And as he became littered from head to foot with shavings and sawdust, he looked more and more like a veteran of the lathe. Afterwards, he surveyed his productions with that keen pride and satisfaction which belongs only to a master craftsman.

The gavels will be kept in specially constructed cases, each with

The Old Timers' Corner

'What's in a Name' is Old Timer's Philosophy

Once upon a time I saw our "family tree," bound in one volume and it was nearly as large as an "Unabridged Dictionary." I ran through couple hundred of the pages, but all I could see was an array of names that didn't mean anything in my young life and so I guess they decided that I wasn't very keen on the "family tree" thing. I never could understand why some people stand up and tell the wide-wide world all about the wonderful things their ancestors have done and what a wonderful thing it is to have their particular name. Taking it "by and large" I think that mostly any name is a good name if you treat it well. I have in mind one of our home boys that had a name that never amounted to a whole lot, when we were kids and now you never see a copy of the "Record" but that it tells what he is doing and what he thinks and all about it. Now his "family tree" has just been grafted with a little bit of old-fashioned horse sense and hard work and he has made his own name for himself. I am not going to mention his name for I have said that his name (when it was wished on him) didn't amount to much, and that is no nice thing to say about anyone, for I'll bet a nickel that even his family tree was boasted about, even before he came along and made something worthwhile of it.

Speaking of trees, you know, of course, that by processes of grafting, a single tree can be made to bear several kinds of fruit. It doesn't mean "grafting" in the manner that our politicians earn that title, but I mean placing a "slip" from one tree and "budding" it into another tree of like species. We had one old apple tree on the farm that had four different kinds of apples on it. We never knew what to call the fruit for some times only one kind of the fruit would mature and sometimes all four of them would come through with their shares. It all depended upon the season, for some of them were more easily killed by hard winters and frosts, etc. But anyway, trees are wonderful things and they give us a cause to pause and admire the works of Nature. There are so many kinds and they are all sufficient unto themselves, and give us a good example of how we ought to live and fashion our own selves, so as to be "regular" and have our "family tree" as well as they. Some of the trees that we knew best in and around Buchanan have been cut away and nothing remains of them but history and the monuments in the form of homes that were made from them. I wonder if sometime when a few hundred years have passed, that they will have trees growing in closed-in spaces to show the coming generation what "trees" looked like. They will have a sign upon them "mustn't touch," etc., so as to preserve the curiosity. Maybe it will come to that. I have an idea it will, from the almost total wrecking of the old woods and forests of our home state.

Maple trees, oak, elm, beech, walnut, butter nut, hickory nut, rassafras, catalpa, willow, ironwood, etc., and the array of fruit trees, apple, pear, peach, plum and even a quince tree. Not forgetting the pine and hemlock and evergreens. Now to my mind all these trees sort of indicate "family trees" for many families have many of these same sorts represented in their own "family tree." Many of them have a mild family tree but now and then a tart one will slip in, in the form of a "quince" and make the whole lot of them sour, for a long time. Some have all sweet apple trees while others are blessed with winter apples that take a long time to ripen. Some are built up with pear or peach trees, while other families are more like the "slippery elm," hard to hold on to. While many others are very slow in growth and are always "green" like the pine and hemlock.

In our family we had a real family tree, one time it was this way. When the old farm was sold, we all wanted some token of some sort to "have and to hold" to remind us of the old farm. (As though we needed any such thing, when memory is still working.) Well, any way, there was a good old walnut tree out in the "ten acre lot" that was about of age, and would soon be blown down, and of no use to any one, and so we had that tree cut down and made into seasoned timber suitable for making some kind of furniture, and each member of the family was given a chance to name the thing he wanted made out of it. But before it got around to me the poor old tree was all used up and so I have only a "memory" of it to remind me of that good old walnut tree. One member of the family decided that he wanted a place to keep his books, and he had a lot of them and it took about two-thirds of the said walnut lumber from the "family tree" to make that book case that reached across the entire side of his "library," and so that's the way it is. Some members of the family "hog" all of the "family tree" and the rest of us have to get along with what is left over. I never could see much good in bragging about what our fathers, etc., have done. Why not do a little something your ownself and let the blooming tree take care of itself?

In real nature there is no one, I believe, that appreciates trees more than yours truly. I think they are wonderful. They are poems. They are sermons. They are life itself. But "family trees?" I am not strong for them. Just run your own affairs so that when we quit this existence we call life, some one will say that he has lived a decent life and has done something for his fellowmen. That's all the family tree that is essential. "Do all the good you can and don't make any fuss about it." That's my kind of family tree and each person can then be his own family tree.

OLD TIMER.
P. S. Speaking of names and family trees, etc., reminds me of something that some one has said. "God gives us our relatives, but we have the privilege of choosing our friends."
I say: "Amen" to that.

Ford Model A
Output Nearing
1,500,000 Mark

Aggregate production of new model Ford cars and trucks to April 1 totals 1,359,353, of which 1,122,886 were produced for domestic trade, 126,460 for export and 110,057 by the Canadian Ford company.

March production of Ford Motor company of Canada, Ltd., established a new monthly record with a total of 13,251 cars and trucks. The previous record month was August last year, when production totaled 13,095. March production brings Ford of Canada output for the first quarter to 36,251.

The issuance of shares of the Ford Motor company on the continent has been delayed because of the desire of the company to prevent speculation in stock such as has occurred in the London issue. The French stock, which will be distributed through the co-operation of the National City Company and the Societe Generale, will probably be issued in lots of only two or three shares. Sale of the stock in small blocks is planned with a view to placing the issue permanently with the French public and thus identifying them with the success of the enterprise.
