BLOSSOM WEEK PROGRAM STARTS MONDAY MAY 5 REED TURNS

Now Here's the Proposition

MAY TIME

By Haws

It is the merry month of May The blossom hangs upon the bough And out among the blooming hay The calfie whinnies for the cow.

Now all the little garden seeds Break through ground and show their face The lambskins gambol in the meads, And raise their bids and play the ace.

The robin shivers on the nest And wonders if she rushed the season.

We don our caps and furlined vest And woolen socks for there's a reason.

For we must put our mittens on And shovel snow from off the green; It is the time, when comes the dawn, That we must crown our blossom queen.

Our queen is fair in face and hose, She lifts among her leading charms That shade of red upon her nose, Those gooseflesh pimples on her arms.

Her shining court is round her set, Fair maids, as fair as maids may be, They are not smoking cigarettes; For that is just their breath you see.

We greet them with a rousing cheer, We crown them with the flowering wreath; Poor girls, the only sound they hear Is just the rattle of their teeth.

They speak their thanks from beautiful eyes, They answer us with looks alone; Our queen can neither speak nor rise For she is froze fast to the throne.

The future shall this verdict give: "In form and face she was divine; It was too bad she could not live— She froze to death in '29."

NINETY HONOR WORTHINGTON ON BIRTHDAY

BANQUET IS SERVED AT THE WAGNER GRANGE HALL.

Ninety members and friends of the Bethany class of the Methodist church gathered at the Wagner Grange hall last night to honor their instructor, A. A. Worthington, on the occasion of his birthday, and to testify their appreciation of his 29 years of leadership.

A very fine banquet was prepared by the ladies of the Wagner Grange and served by the young ladies of the organization. Following the banquet, a program of music and talks was presented, including a song by a quartet which had been composed by one of the classes and which celebrated very fittingly the instructor of the class and his assistant. Miss Virginia Hess played two instrumental solos; John Hess played two cornet numbers accompanied by Mrs. Jennings; Mrs. Ormiston sang two numbers; Mrs. Leah Weaver read an original composition; Miss Helen Liddicott gave two readings.

E. H. Ormiston then made an address on "A Better Buchanan," urging that the individual members of the class exert their influence in behalf of a city which would be a better place for the development of youth. He concluded with a presentation of a sum of money for the purchase of a split leaf birch to Mr. Worthington, also a beautiful plant and an angel food cake. Walter Hawes, his assistant and the present instructor, was then presented with a fine plant and an angel food cake, together with much advice.

A. A. Worthington and W. C. Hawes then responded. The gifts were greatly appreciated as may be witnessed from the fact that one of the instructors wore the wrong hat away, and had car trouble on the road home. After a verse of the favorite song of the class leader, Mr. Worthington, the gathering disbanded. Wagner Correspondent

Cass Rutkowski, chairman of the float committee, reported that more than 50 entries have already been received and that the floats this year will be more beautiful than before. Many of the smaller communities throughout southwestern Michigan are entering floats in the parade this year as well as some of the larger organizations from Battle Creek, Kalamazoo, Three Rivers, Holland and other cities.

Buchanan Township Mother sees Daughter Realize Ambition set for Herself in Czarist Russia

When Leona Wolkens of the Miller school was first placed for intermediate grades in the township spelling contest held last Friday in the Brocous school, there was one person who was doubtless happier and more appreciative of the honor than she herself.

That was her mother, Mrs. Elza Wolkens, formerly Ula Rusako, native of Vitbeet, Russia, who served a term of three years in a penal colony on the cold shores of the North Sea for the crime of having worked for just such things as her daughter is honored for here.

Ula Rusako as a girl, worked in a stocking factory in Russia. At the age of twenty she joined the Social Democrat party, which the Russian group working for moderate reform, including privileges of free speech, press and assembly, such as are enjoyed in America. The meetings of the party were spied on by the secret service of the Czar. One meeting was broken up by a military raid, in the course of which a number of arrests were made and those who tried to escape were fired on. Ula Rusako was one that escaped—but at the price of a bullet wound in her leg. But her name was on the lists of the secret service and she was shadowed. She undertook the dangerous commission of carrying messages and news to the members of her party in prison.

She took gifts of food in which messages were concealed. Her ruse was discovered by the police, however, and one night her rooming house was raided by the secret service and all of the inmates were taken to the military headquarters. All were questioned and Ula Rusako was finally retained as the object of their search. On the following day she was summoned before the general in charge of the district and told her fate—she was to serve three years in a penal colony on the shores of the White Sea. She was accordingly loaded on a train at Moscow, in company with 249 other prisoners and the long hard journey in primitive railway coaches began. For part of the distance she was the only woman occupant of her car, which included among its inmates a number of men condemned to Siberia for life for murder and high political crimes. The presence of these condemned men, confined to their seats, proved to be a protection to the girl. They threatened the lives of any guards who should venture to molest her, shaking their chains fiercely. Secured as they were, the guards knew the desperate nature of the men, and respected their threats.

On her arrival at the penal colony she was given the freedom of the town, which was made up almost entirely of prisoners. Since they were not feared here, they had every liberty, save that of leaving. The police called and checked up on them nightly and once a week they were required to report at the headquarters. They did no work and received an allowance of $8 monthly from which they paid for their food and rent, the latter item amounting to $1 per month. They also received an allowance of $17.50 twice a year for clothes. Only those sentenced for minor political offenses were included in this colony, the major offenders being sent to Siberia in penal servitude. At the end of her term she returned to her home in Vitbeet, but her experience had embittered her. She secured passage to join relatives in New York City. There she remained for a time, but the confinement of factory work reminded her too strongly of the old life in the penal colony and she came to Michigan in 1915. Here she was married to Elza Wolkens. For a time they lived in Buchanan, but Mrs. Wolkens longed for the freedom of the open country and they settled on the farm three miles northwest of Buchanan, where they have lived since.

WINIFRED ABELE LENORA WOLKENS WINNING SPELLERS

TO REPRESENT BUCHANAN TOWNSHIP AT COUNTY CONTEST.

The Buchanan Township spelling contest preliminary to the county contest next Saturday was held last Friday at the Brocous school. Winifred Abele of Colvin school winning first in the seventh and eighth grade division, and Leona Wolkens of the Miller school winning first in the fifth and sixth grade division.

Winifred Abele was the only entrant to complete the entire list of 200 words without a miss. Vera Hartline of the Covey district was runner-up with two words missed. The word most frequently misspelled was "imitate." Loren Steiner is the teacher of the Colvin school.

Leona Wolkens of the Miller school was the only entrant from the lower grades to complete the list, the rule being that at the end of each fifty words, all missing five or more being eliminated. She missed 8 out of the 200.

Both girls will enter the county contest to be held at St. Joseph, Saturday, May 4, where the winners will be sent to Lansing to compete in the state wide contest held under the auspices of the Grand Rapids Press. The winners of the St. Joseph contest will receive silver medals, and the schools which they represent will receive $6 to expend in books or pictures.

Illinois Man Opens Buchanan Service Garage

Thoma was formerly engaged in the garage business at Steger, and will open a general repair and tire service station. He will not handle any automobile agency. He brings with him A. E. Allen, his brother-in-law, who has been in his employ as mechanic. He will be followed by his family as soon as he can locate a home.

LOCAL GIRLS TAKE NILES-CLEVELAND CABIN PLANE TRIP

MAKE DISTANCE OF 230 MILES IN TWO HOURS.

Misses Gale Pears and Bonita Westland enjoyed what was a doubtless the thrill of their young lives Friday when they air-taxed from Niles to Cleveland in two hours, making the trip in the Fairclands cabin plane driven by Dick Pears, at the rate of 140 miles an hour.

The fast time was made in part due to a hard tail wind, which obliged Pears to fly his plane at a height of 5,000 feet. Pears visited at his home here over Thursday night. Friday he and the young ladies hopped off from the Niles airways at 6:50 a. m., passing over the edge of Lake Erie and the city of Toledo en route, and finally arriving at Cleveland at 9 a. m. There the young ladies disembarked and returned that afternoon by the comparatively tortoise-gaited Michigan Central flyers.

Pears wrote home after his arrival that he reached his destination at Garden City, L. I., in six hours flying.

Berrien is Best S. S. County in Mich., Says Coggan

Berrien county is one of the best organized Sunday school counties in Michigan, and one of the best developed fields, according to Bernard Coggan, state worker of Lansing, who was the principal speaker at a gathering of county workers held at the local Evangelical church Friday evening.

The attendance at the banquet and subsequent program bore out Mr. Coggan's statement, a total of 120 Sunday school people being present, representing 20 local workers and 100 from the outside. Arrangements had been made for an anticipated total attendance of about 40, but fully that number came from Niles alone.

The Mothers and Daughters banquet will be held a week from Saturday at the Evangelical church.

BLUES BEGIN SEASON WITH 9-2 VICTORY

Locals Play Tight Ball; Are Strong on Offense.

RAIN INTERFERES

Umpire Calls the Game in the Eighth Frame.

The Buchanan Blues won a 9 to 2 victory over the East Side Radios of South Bend last Sunday at the Athletic park diamond in mud, rain and cold. Rain, cold and mud delayed the game so much that Umpire C. A. Roskay called it at the end of the first half of the eighth inning.

Despite the weather handicaps that have kept Bill Baker's boys from coveting for three weeks, they went through their paces behind little Lefty Morse without a bobble, except Kain's juggling of a hot, wet one in the seventh frame, which did no damage. But the visitors did not fare so well, the 2 errors chalked up against them inadequately measuring the difficulty they had in this, their first start of the season.

Morse held them helpless, with one hit in the second, and another in the third, up to the sixth inning, when he eased down and they hit twice in each of the sixth, seventh and eighth innings, but did not score until the eighth, when he issued his first and only base on balls, opening the way for them to score twice, one only being earned.

Gassensmith bore the burden of hurting for the Radios for four spasms, and then Greenlee took it up, with Gassy in center field, Kistler, who had replaced Whiting at first, at second, E. Miller moved in from center to third and Marschal receiving. These changes were made in the fifth and the Blue Sox made four runs off the new combination. Then they got tired and quit trying, yet it took three hours, elapsed time, to play seven and one-half innings.

Table with 4 columns: Name, R, H, E. Rows include Chain, Kain, Ferguson, Frings, Shilling, Shoves, Thanning, Morse, Smedley, E. Side Radios, Kesser, Stilson, Turner, Greenlee, Gassensmith, Whiting, E. Miller, Marschal, McKenzie, Kistler.

Two base hits, Gassensmith; struckout by Morse, Stilson, Gassensmith, Kistler, Miller, Marschal, by Gassensmith, Simpson, Morse (2), Ferguson; by Greenlee, Morse (2), Smedley, Frings; Shoves, Chain, Proud, Thanning. Bases on balls; off Morse, Turner; off Gassensmith, Proud; off Greenlee, Proud, Kain Chain (2), Smedley.

Whiting dropped the third strike on Miller in the second and tossed it to Proud for the putout. Marschal let the third strike on Thanning go through him and the lenky catcher made first.

Manager Bill Baker has the Elkhart Grays scheduled to meet the Blues next Sunday at the local park. Simpson is expected to be in shape to take up the pitching, giving the locals two gilt-edged port-siders for the mound.

Miss Buchanan Receives Honors At Saginaw, Mich.

WARD PLANT STARTS WORK NEXT MONDAY

Machinery is Now Installed Ready to Begin Production.

PLANT IMPROVED

The transfer of the Ward Mailbox factory equipment from LaPorte to Buchanan was completed Tuesday, three truck loads arrived bringing the last on that day, and the wheels of industry will be rolling again, or rather, for the first time in the model factory building on Smith street by the first of next week.

A number of changes and installations have been made by W. J. Miller, owner of the building, and Ward states that he is delighted with the quarters, which he says, are the best he has ever had. The structure was erected four years ago for the Ward Electric Refrigerator company, and was built in accordance with the most approved ideas of factory construction, the greater part of the sides being of aluminum glass permitting an abundance of light.

In response to the requirements of the new concern, Miller has installed in addition to an enclosure a tool and machinery room, a fire-proof paint room, a shipping room and the glass partition which formerly closed off the spacious office rooms of the Ward Electric Refrigerator Company have been moved slightly and now close off the Telephone department.

The remainder of the week will be taken up by the installation of equipment, and it is now anticipated that the company will start in production the first of next week. All machinery is already in place and connected with the power, ready to run.

Ward stated he would bring to Buchanan Bert McFarlane of Chicago, an expert telephone man, and Mr. Zoker from LaPorte, an expert metal painter with both their families.

40 GAL. STILL CAPTURED ON BAKERTOWN FARM

JOHN KUBIEG IS BOUND OVER TO DISTRICT COURT.

Twenty gallons of liquid T. N. T., commonly known as moonshine whiskey, was diverted from the regular channels of consumption to the county jail, and 500 gallons of corn mash flavored with prune juice was returned to the stiller from which it sprung as the result of a raid made by Clarence Dunbar and C. S. Overcash of the sheriff's office on the home of John Kubieg, six miles southwest of Buchanan, in the hills south of Bakertown.

The two undersheriffs arrived at the Kubieg home about 9:30 a. m. Friday morning, armed with a search warrant. They found the still in full blast with Kubieg presiding over its operation. The moonshine manufacturer made no alibi except to maintain that he had "just started up in the business."

He was taken before Justice of the Peace Al Chaires, where he waived examination and was placed under bonds of $1,000 to appear in the district court. He secured the bond and was released.

FRAMERS OF CHARTER END WORK MONDAY

Toil for Seven Weeks; Thirteen Meetings have been Held.

SIX WKS. REVIEW

Will Probably Be Voted On Early In July.

The City Charter Commission completed its work at a final meeting held Monday evening, seven weeks from the time of their election, and passed the completed product of their labors to City Attorney Frank Sanders for legal opinion and review.

The commission was elected on March 13, and were sworn in at a meeting held March 15. T. D. Childs was elected chairman and A. S. Bonner, secretary. Thereafter for three weeks they met three times weekly, with four subsequent meetings totaling 13 in all. Outside of these meetings much hard labor was done.

While their work has yet to run the fire of legal review at the hands of the city attorney and of the state department at Lansing, after which it must win the approval of the electorate, it will not be amiss to risk a prophecy that it will pass all these tests with possible minor alterations.

The ranks of the commission contained a high measure of ability, and the trust in whom the town placed its trust for this very important service took that trust in all seriousness and discharged the work faithfully and thoroughly. Many charters from cities all over Michigan were secured and carefully examined, several were taken as models on which to build, and the final result represents what seemed to them a selection of the best features of charters now serving as the basic law of cities functioning satisfactorily under them.

Their work required a vast outlay of time and mental and nervous energy, and a real sacrifice of other interests, all of which they contributed without hope of any reward save the possible approbation of their labors and the well-being of the city about to be established.

According to the law governing the adoption of new charters, the document must be ready for the electorate at the termination of 90 days. The commission has completed its share of the work, by far the greater part, in good season, allowing the other agencies plenty of time to act by the termination of the allotted time early in June. It is not likely that the election will be called immediately after that date, inasmuch as the assessment of taxes will be in full swing at that time, and a change in the government then would be extremely inconvenient. It is likely, in the opinion of members of the commission, that the election will be called for a date early in July.

The membership of the commission is: T. D. Childs, A. S. Bonner, Morgan Chubb, Charles Lanalis, A. H. Hillier, replacing Geo. Rogers, who resigned.

Twenty Marksmen Trap Shoot Sunday

Twenty marksmen, present and prospective, met at the traps of the Buchanan Gun Club Sunday morning, despite the adverse weather conditions, and shot thru from one to three frames, William Pettie leading with totals of 23 and 20 out of a possible 25.

The individual records were: B. Phillips, 8; Wyman, 15; 15; L. W. Phillips, 9; 10; Sallis, 22; 16; Martin, 10; 15; F. Imhoff, 9; 18; Laycock, 10; 11; Gleisner, 8; 7; 16; Straub, 12; 19; C. Marble, 10; Dalrymple, 17; 17; J. Meyers, 9; 7; Crum, 7; Rette, 23; 25; L. Miller, 5; Puterbaugh, 15; 14; Ferris, 11; G. Chain, 9; L. Sands, 12, 12.

The regular meeting of the Synovia chapter, No. 74, of the Eastern Star lodge, will be held Wednesday evening, May 8. This will be the first meeting for the new officers, who will also be the committee in charge.

Mrs. Charles Ellis returned Saturday from a visit of several days in Chicago.

CONTRACT TO BONDING CO.

Surety Company Gets One Week to State Their Decision.

TOWN MAY BUILD

Would Hire a Sever Expert; Cost Plus Basis.

Frank Reed, Dowagiac contractor, who for the past 10 months has been acquiring an education in the sewer installation business at a considerably outlay of expense, stepped out of the picture Monday as far as active participation in the construction of the Portage and Third street ventures are concerned, and left the complicated results of his labors to be assorted out by the city of Buchanan and his bonding company.

Reed's resignation came in an answer received Monday by President Claude Glover, to an invitation sent him to attend the meeting held Monday evening at the expiration of the ten days time allowed him to decide whether he would take steps to push completion or not.

Reed merely replied that the completion of the Portage and Third street sewers is now up to the Fidelity Bonding & Trust Company of Maryland, and that he was not interested in attending the meeting. Previous to that statement he had moved all of his equipment, save the ditch digging machine which did not belong to him, to Dowagiac.

Mayor Glover stated that notice would be served on his bonding company that they would be given an opportunity to take over and complete the unfinished work if they could, failing which, the town will take over the work, hire a competent sewer man to take charge, and place a force at work to rush the sewers to completion. The bonding company has until next Tuesday evening, the time of the regular May council meeting, to decide. At that time the council will act, either on their consent, or to arrange for the work if they decline. In case the town does the work, they will not let a contract but will pay for the work on a cost basis, and in case they are able to finish the work at an outlay within the original contract price, they will pay the difference to Reed. If the completion costs more than the first contract price agreed on between the town and Reed, that difference will be paid either by Reed or by the bonding company which stands liable in the event of his failure.

James Ward, Jr., is Superintendent in Aircraft Factory

James Ward, Jr., who was formerly associated with his father here in the manufacture of mailboxes and telephones, is now production superintendent in the plant of the Aero Aircraft Corporation of Lincoln, Neb., manufacturing a two-seated sport model plane, with an output of two daily. Recently young Ward flew over from Lincoln to Detroit to attend the aircraft show, making the distance in 7 hours. He stopped for a visit on his return, with his parents, who then lived at LaPorte.

Ward received the position thru the mediation of a former professor at the University of Michigan, under whom he took work, and who is now chief engineer for the Aero Aircraft Corporation. His appointment to a position of responsibility was due to the fact that he had had much experience in factory management during his association with the Ward Mailbox Co. He now has 150 men under his direction.

Rev. J. L. Griffith, pastor of the Church of Christ, and Mrs. Griffith and a number of the church members will attend the District convention of the Churches of Christ at Kalamazoo, May 9 and 10.

Mr. D. DiGiacomo presented the Church of Christ with a very attractive out-side bulletin board at the morning service. The expression of appreciation was unanimous. A vote of thanks is tendered by the congregation to Mr. DiGiacomo.

Mrs. Charles Ellis returned Saturday from a visit of several days in Chicago.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary, there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping. Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Indeed it does . . . but Mrs. Gartley found that our modern laundry doesn't wring clothes. They are removed from the washers and placed in large spinning baskets or "extractors" where the water is removed by a rapid whirling process which makes it almost impossible to damage buttons or fabrics. Treasury Announces Size and Design New Paper Money

The new size for the paper currency is 6 5/16x2 11-16 inches. The principle of denominational design has been strictly followed. The face designs are uniform for each denomination irrespective of kind. The face design, likewise, are characteristic for each denomination as regards the important protective features, with only sufficient variation in detail to indicate the kind. Five kinds of paper currency are now issued, United States notes, silver certificates, gold certificates, Federal reserve notes and National bank notes. The new designs will be applied to all issuable denominations of all these kinds.

The portrait assigned to the faces of the several denominations are as follows: Washington $1 Jefferson $2 Lincoln $5 Hamilton $10 Jackson $20 Grant $50 Franklin $100 McKinley $500 Cleveland $1,000 Chase $5,000

Redesigns on back: $1, Ornate One; $2, Monticello; $5, Lincoln Memorial; $10, U. S. Treasury; $20, White House; $50, U. S. Capitol; $100, Independence Hall; $500, Ornate five hundred; $1,000, Ornate one thousand; $5,000, Ornate five thousand; $10,000, Ornate ten thousand.

The backs of the new currency will be printed uniformly in green, the faces will be printed in black, and the treasury seals and serial numbers will be printed in the following colors: Silver certificate, blue; United States notes, red; National bank notes, brown; gold certificates yellow; Federal reserve notes, green.

A new type of distinctive paper has been adopted. The paper is actually of the type developed during the past few years with a higher folding endurance. The use of small segments of silk fiber as a distinctive feature has been retained, but the segments are scattered throughout the sheet and not localized in rows as formerly.

All kinds of currency except National bank notes and all denominations from $1 to $20 will be included in the initial issue, and it is probable that the higher denominations of gold certificates and Federal reserve notes will be issued at the same time. The issue of National bank notes in the reduced size will follow shortly after the issue of the other kinds of currency. Meanwhile orders for the new currency cannot be accepted.

U. S. Employment Show 8.71 Per Cent Gain in Year

Employment in industries throughout the country is numerically 8.71 per cent higher than it was a year ago and the present complement of workers will be maintained throughout the summer, according to the annual spring employment survey of the National Association of Manufacturers made public by J. E. Edgerton, president of the organization. Moreover, those industries are operating at the very favorable peak of 85.1 per cent of their fullest capacity.

The survey covers twenty-three classifications of industry. Of these, nineteen classification report gains in employment, some of them running as high as forty-four per cent more than they employed last April. Those reporting increased employment are automobile accessories, 44 per cent; automobiles, 23; machinery, 14; electrical, 13.5; iron and steel, 10.5; furniture, 9.5; glass, crockery, porcelain, 8.5; miscellaneous, 8.5; rubber, 8; building supplies, 5; metals, 5; hardware, 4; paints and oils, 3; jewelry, 2; paper and pulp, 2; chemicals, 2; food and farm products, 2; textiles, 1; stationery and printing, 0.5.

Mr. Edgerton, in making the survey public, said: "When any considerable typical group of manufacturers in all parts of the country report that they are employing nearly nine per cent more persons than the previous year, and when they are operating at a rate of 85.1 per cent of their full capacity, that is an excellent state of industrial and economic health for the nation. A fine condition prevails as to the relations of employer and employee. There has been no scaling down of wages; on the contrary they have advanced in many instances and in some localities there is demand for new skilled men. Strikes are practically eliminated, and there are no reports of disturbances to retard the general advance of industry. The whole situation looks particularly bright for some months to come."

Transcontinental Aerial Mail Line Re-routed May 1

Every portion of the country will be directly benefited in the transfer of its mail by the changes to be made effective May 1 on the 2,680 mile transcontinental air mail route linking the Pacific and Atlantic coasts.

Mail over the main artery, starting the first of the month, will leave coast terminals after the close of business and be delivered on the other coast early the second morning in time for the first delivery. Only one business day will be lost in the transfer of coast to coast mail, and its receipt will be expedited up 12 hours over present day schedules, due to the completion of lighting between Salt Lake City and the west coast, which will permit planes to fly at night over the entire distance. Previously, due to planes being forced to fly the extreme western end of the transcontinental in daylight, mail has arrived too late in the afternoon on both coasts for delivery over until the next morning.

New Chevrolet Passes Half Million Mark

Detroit, May 2.—Evidence of the wide-spread popularity of the new six cylinder Chevrolet was revealed here today in an announcement by H. R. Grant, vice president of the Chevrolet Motor Company, in charge of sales, that more than half a million of the new cars have been placed on the road since the first of the year.

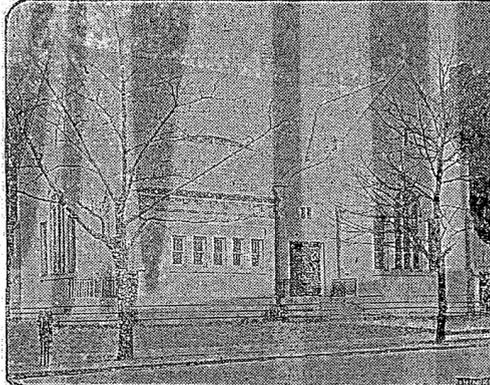

A significant feature of this achievement, it was noted, is the fact that Chevrolet in four months time built a greater number of six cylinder cars than any other automobile manufacturers have produced in an entire year.

This figure would have been even greater, Mr. Grant pointed out, if Chevrolet had been able to take immediate care of the tremendous volume of orders, with which the factory has been flooded since the introduction of the new car.

"Nearly every month this year has seen a new monthly production record. I order to satisfy the demand for cars pouring in from nearly every section of the country, output has been steadily increased as fast as consistent with the precision manufacturing methods which Chevrolet employs," said Mr. Grant.

To signalize the achievement of placing on the road more than 500,000 cars in less than four months time, Chevrolet has secured John Philip Sousa and his world famous band for an hour's broadcast over a nation-wide hook-up Monday night. It will be the first time that the celebrated March King has been heard over the radio.

Where the Hoovers Will Worship

The Orthodox Friends' meeting house at Irving and Thirteenth streets, N. W., Washington, where Mr. and Mrs. Hoover will attend services during their occupancy of the White House.

The radio debut of the famous band master will come over the air during the regular General Motors "Family Hour," starting at 8:30 p. m., Eastern Standard time. Although Mr. Sousa has played to more people than any other director in the history of band music, appearing once before a single audience of 153,000 people at the International Exposition in Glasgow, America's grand old March King on Monday night will have one of the largest audiences that ever listened to one musical offering.

Thirty-nine stations extending from coast to coast and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf will be linked together for Sousa's radio debut. Because of Sousa's fame as a band master and composer and because of the universal affection in which he is held, it is expected that a record breaking radio audience will tune in.

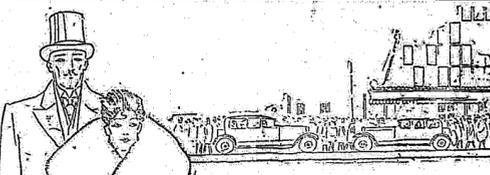

Chevrolet officials expressed themselves as highly gratified that Sousa chose the Chevrolet hour to make his bow to the radio audience, after refraining for more than seven years from appearing before the microphone.

Large Producers Seek Muskegon Crude Out Put

Prospects for better prices for the crude oil from the Dundee formation of the Muskegon oil field appeared much brighter as two large companies indicated that they were seeking the Muskegon oil. Producers at Muskegon believe that a return to the mid-continental price for the oil is not far distant. Standard Oil company of Indiana has posted a price equal to the original offer of the Shell Corporation, or 70 cents a barrel. This price is ten cents greater than that which has existed since March 11, and 20 cents higher than the price announced on Feb. 7.

Word has been received at Muskegon from Chicago that the Sinclair interests may be interested in the purchase of oil from the Muskegon field to ship by boat to the refineries at East Chicago, Ind., which are now said to be without sufficient supply of oil to keep them in full operation. The Sinclair refinery at East Chicago has a capacity of 40,000 barrels.

The Gala Event of the Year. The Phenomenon of the Age—transformed into the miracle of the screen—at a cost of $2,000,000 in money—and two years of effort—the most important novel ever written in this country has been transformed into a dramatic marvel. For 75 years it has touched the hearts of millions. Generations have loved it and passed it on to the next generation to love. But it remained for Carl Laemmle to transform its intensity and far-reaching sympathy into the GREATEST HUMAN DRAMA EVER SCREENED.

a day of crude oil and a cracking capacity of 35,000 barrels. The Isom type cracking process is used by the plant.

Muskegon producers are growing so optimistic about the future market for the Dundee crude oil that they have failed to sign up with the Shell Corporation for the sale of a maximum of 8,000 barrels a day at $1 a barrel for 75 per cent of the oil which would be shipped by boat, and 70 cents a barrel for the 25 per cent which would be transported by rail. The Shell corporation operates two refineries near Chicago, one at East Chicago, Ind., and the other at Wood River, Ill. The former plant has a daily crude capacity of 27,000 barrels but a cracking capacity of only 8,000 barrels a day. The latter plant has a crude and cracking capacity of 20,000 barrels a day. The former uses the Dubbs process only and the latter the Dubbs-Cross type of cracking unit.

Uncle Tom's Cabin Will Feature May Shows at Princess

The Princess theatre closed the good month of April and opened May with Reginald Denny, and comes within one of closing May with the same exciting speed artist in "Clear the Decks" on May 23 and 24.

Tonight and tomorrow Milton Sills and Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., and Betty Compton pass through in "The Barker," an inside story of the carnival companies that infest small and middle-sized towns all summer.

"Tom Mix is the first of the dare-devil riders to appear this month, coming Saturday in "Painted Post" and he will be followed by Hoot Gibson a week later in "The Danger Rider," and Gary Cooper in "Nevada," and William Boyd in "The Cop," besides Al Wilson and his bucking plane in "The Sky Skidder."

Jack Mulhall is to be here twice this month, once next Sunday with Dorothy Mackaill, his long-time partner, in "Waterfront," which assures action, and again on May 16 and 17, in "The Butler and Egg Man," which made a tremendous hit on Broadway and has since been filmed, Manager H. P. Morley is bringing it here in a benefit for the Boy Scouts of Troop 41, two nights only.

Monday brings "The Eternal Woman," with Olive Borden and Ralph Graves, substituted for "Greenwich Village," which could not be finished in time. Mr. Morley is right on the heels of the cameraman for the good ones. To see Frank Merrill in "Tarzan, the Mighty," is a revelation of what physical culture can do for a man. Seventh chapter Monday.

The biggest thing of the May program is James Lowe's, "Uncle Tom's Cabin," the one perfect screening of Harriet Beecher Stowe's novel that caused the Civil war. It is too big a production for two performances in one evening, so Tuesday and Wednesday the program begins at 7:30 and there will be but one performance each evening.

Just to name some of the stars of the rest of the month will bring a thrill to movie fans: Lon Chaney, Marion Nixon, Ian Keith and John Mack Brown are two rather new ones here, May McAvoy, Mary Astor, Marion Davies, Irene Rich, Billie Dove and Jacqueline Logan. Manager Morley was almost forced to take Ian Keith, in "Street of Illusion," and Mack Brown in "Annapolis," by the importance of their productions, for he is proud that the Princess shows a higher percentage of the great pictures in a year than any other theater in southwestern Michigan or northern Indiana.

W. C. T. U. Holds Monthly Meeting

The Women's Christian Temperance Union held their April meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry D. Smith, 307 Moccasin avenue, Friday afternoon, April 26.

The devotional program was in charge of Mrs. Emory Rough, director of the Evangelistic department for the county, her theme being, "Giving Thanks for God's Goodness." Roll call was answered by the reading of short articles from the "Union Signal" with reference to the pledge signing campaign which was first started by Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, of Topeka, Kansas, and which has grown with great rapidity, and has been signed by people from all walks of life including "congressmen, legislators, governors, college presidents and faculties, Sunday schools, men's and women's clubs, civic clubs and other organizations. It has been signed, already, by politicians and journalists, leaders of industry, college officials and church members."

This pledge has also been sponsored by many of the leading newspapers of the country such as the "Los Angeles Times," "The Christian Herald," "Zion's Herald" and "The National Enquirer," and the "Chicago Evening Post." The suggestion is made that the newspapers in every city should ask its readers to sign the pledge of allegiance, which might be given in coupon form in each issue. Reports of the number of signers might appear in the news column from day to day. If even a hundred city journals were to engage in this "allegiance to the Constitution" campaign, how far-reaching and beneficial would be the results.

The pledge as sponsored by Dr. Sheldon reads as follows: "I promise myself and others that I will abstain from the use of any intoxicating drink. So help me God."

Some of the reasons given for the signing of such a pledge are: 1. "The people of this country have declared by a large majority of citizens that the use of intoxicating drinks is harmful to the best interests of all the people. I wish to be classed with this national group.

2. "By constitutional enactment the Congress has made the manufacture and sale of intoxicant liquors a crime to be punished as such. I wish to help in the enforcement of this law by my own personal loyalty to the Constitution.

3. The drinker encourages the law-breaker to make what he drinks. I do not wish to give him any encouragement by buying what he makes and drinking it.

4. "The results of the prohibition law have proved the economic and social and moral advantage of the law; in happier homes; more money saved for education; better health and general conditions; I wish to help and be helped along these lines. Becoming a total abstainer will help, to increase the general welfare of all the people.

5. "The habit of total abstinence will not interfere with anyone's happiness or personal well-being. The habit of using intoxicating drink may harm very many, lessen my personal influence, and make the enforcement of the law more difficult. I therefore, cheerfully, promise to be a total abstainer."

The chief speaker of the convention will be Mrs. L. A. Woodford, national lecturer for the Scientific Temperance Instruction department, speaking in the afternoon on "Methods Used" and in the evening on "Prohibition has Come to Stay." Other convention speakers will be Mrs. Dora B. Whitney, Mrs. F. L. Elevation, Mrs. Anna Kilmer and the district president.

The program for the local meeting was given by young people of the high school. Miss Mary Fridlich gave an oration entitled "Ideals and Ideals" and Arthur Anderson gave an original oration entitled "Modern Youth." These were very well rendered and were very much appreciated by those present. Misses Marian VanEvery and Delight Deming gave a vocal duet entitled "The End of a Perfect Day." They were accompanied on the piano by Miss Pauline VanEvery.

The meeting adjourned and the hostess served dainty refreshments.

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The sin and error which possess us at the instant of death do not cease at that moment, but endure until the death of these errors. SENIORS TIE JUNIORS IN TRACK MEET

Number of Intramural Meet Records are Topped.

TRACK IS HEAVY

Walter Pfingst is High Point Man; Pierce is Second High Man.

The annual B. H. S. inter-class meet Friday afternoon turned out to be a thrilling dual between the Juniors and the Seniors with both teams scoring 53 points. The near-grads started out strong and at one time had a lead of 11 points, but the Juniors, seeing their hopes of three championships vanishing, pulled up and finally tied them.

The score was 53 and 48 with but the relay yet to be run. The Juniors then stepped out and nosed out the four-year men in one of the most thrilling races since the meet was started.

Some very creditable performances were turned in, despite a very soggy track which was under water at several places. Five records were broken and two were tied, showing that B. H. S. will be recognized in track as well as in basketball and football.

W. Pfingst started for the Seniors by taking two first and one second place, as well as being the backbone of the relay team. Pierce, star four sport man, led the Juniors with one first and two second places, besides being anchor man in the relay.

EDITORIAL

In this modern age one individual doesn't make a great deal of a difference one way or another. It is the group that counts. Practically all of the great men of history were members of large groups which were in reality the great factors which brought about the progress.

Columbus is given the credit for discovering America, yet he never touched the mainland. If there had been no Columbus, would America have been discovered? Such a question is foolish, for conditions after the time of Prince Henry, the Navigator, were such that the discovering of America was inevitable.

Even the great Columbus was part of a large group of adventurers. The group is the thing that is important and not the individual. If the group is to be successful and is to accomplish great things, each member must bear his share of the responsibilities.

Right here is where a great many fall down. They will not cooperate with the group as they should, but become parasites, doing harm instead of good. A chain is as strong as its weakest link, and a person who refuses to cooperate is certainly a weak link.

One of the greatest school problems at the present time is to get the students to take their share of the responsibility. If they can be made to do this many remarkable things can be achieved.

Farm Relief Bank

More bunt is spoken and written about farm relief than on any other subject, except perhaps tariff and prohibition. It is about as easy to make the people prosperous by passing a law, making an appropriation and appointing a federal bureau as it is to make them normal by the same simple process.

How about the fat, over-protected infant industries? They're prosperous, aren't they? Well, there are very few of them, as compared with the whole population. Of course the government can take money away from 100,000,000 consumers and distribute it around among 1000 corporations and make the latter rich. But when you come to trying to do a third of the population a like favor the taxes you levy on that third, along with the rest, eat into the benefits pretty seriously, especially in view of the notoriously high cost of government administration. Even the big tariff babies would be better off today, we have little doubt, if they had been forced from the first to develop self-reliance. The over-protected textile industry of New England was not competent to meet a crisis when it came but hawled, from force of habit, for more tariff. Strength for use in emergencies is not built up by leaning on the government or anybody else.

The most conservative proposal for farm relief contemplates the creation of a high-salaried federal board with a $500,000,000 fund to lay out in advice and loans to farmers. Farmers already have ample credit facilities, including a chain of federal land banks. We do not believe an upstanding farmer asks or desires any special favors in the matter of interest rates and surely the government does not plan to go in for lending money on inadequate security. Farmers certainly do not ask or desire any more political inspection and "expert" advice about how to run their business than they already have. One of their common complaints is that they have too much official inspection and advice already. Two million or more farmers now are connected with cooperative marketing associations, organizations which they built up and manage themselves and which, therefore, are successful, the results of practical experience and hard, intelligent work. It was a farmer, we believe, in the old tale, who found out that the way to get a thing done well is to do it yourself.

What this country needs is more self-reliant citizenship, used to face and solve its own problems. Among the things it emphatically does not need are more federal bureaus, more official inspectors, more restrictions upon personal liberty or individual initiative and responsibility, more special favors, more taxes to support, bureaucrats and their expanding organizations. If this Congress should check the drift toward paternalism, start to withdraw special favors instead of providing more, frown on further applications of the bureaucratic salve when what is needed is the knife, it would make glorious history. It won't, of course. Political necessity, as it is called, stands in the way. But we wonder how it would be if some great man, some great leader, should arise and shout above the tumult: "To hell with political necessity! I'm for common sense." Some day, perhaps, that will happen and then an irresistible army will rise up from field and factory, from market and office, to follow that great man, that great leader.

Mabel for Discretion.

Mrs. Willebrandt herself, perhaps instructed to do so by a superior officer, advises United States attorneys to use discretion in prosecuting prohibition law violators under the Jones law, with its terrific penalties. She appears to have no abiding faith in the effectiveness of the law but speaks only of giving it a fair test, which is substantially President Hoover's position on the whole "noble experiment." She advises resort to the drastic law only in "good strong cases involving commercialism."

Mrs. Willebrandt, very likely prompted, takes a sensible position in this matter, incidentally testifying to the soundness and force of the arguments advanced against the Jones law by the wicked wet newspapers. That law makes it possible to punish a person who sells one pint of home brew, for the first time, by five years' imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. The penalties are cruelly and grotesquely out of proportion to the gravity of the crime and, if a general effort to enforce them were made, the result could be only to arouse public sentiment further against prohibition. Already the Jones law, from its mere enactment and the popular reaction thereto, has made convictions for dry law violations more difficult. We should not wonder if Texas Guinan and Helen Morgan, though they were not tried under it, owed a good deal to the Jones law.

Mediaeval Stuff

Michigan psychology is more interesting than attractive. Having once passed a law compelling imprisonment for life for anybody convicted four times of selling liquor illegally, it has now passed a further law (in the House only, as yet) legalizing the old whipping post as a punishment for "hardened" criminals.

als. Passage of two such laws would make, some might think, a hardened criminal out of a legislator.

Michigan legislators must be worshipers of the code of the middle ages. May we not look forward to a law reviving the thumbscrew and the pillory and legalizing the burning of witches?—Chicago-Herald Examiner.

Our Friend, the Red Tulip.

All early bloom is beautiful. It comes when the world is hungry for it. There is a real need for it, to brighten the garden and the field, and a greater need as a tonic for humanity, grown weary with the dull colors of winter. Never are flowers more welcome than when the first bloom of Spring appears. The world is won by its appealing beauty and its cheerful brightness.

Every one loves flowers. Most individuals have their favorite, some bloom with an intimate appeal. There are many flowers, an endless variety of human preference, so each bloom has its own group of enthusiastic admirers. No flower is neglected, each is a favorite with some group.

Tulip, iris and peony are among the early blooms, and always are shown abundant attention. They should have that friendship. Nature seems to have designed them to win it. Physically they stand erect, almost bold, they appear enthusiastic as they lift their stalks high, and spread their beauty for human gaze. There is a variety of color, each magnificent, but to many the red tulip is the most beautiful bloom of the early season. Its magnificent upturned bell of flaming red is striking in its boldness and beauty, prominent in any group of bloom or green, glorious in the sunlight and quite as beautiful under artificial light. It is a wonderful flower with which to visit. One may spend an hour near the red tulip and find a new feature of beauty in each inspection. The red tulip fills an important place in the early bloom each season. A visit with that flower is a tonic for body and soul.

Less Drinking in England.

In his budget speech in Parliament the other day Winston Churchill, chancellor of the exchequer, reported a steady decline in the consumption of alcoholic liquors throughout the British Isles. The tax revenue from this source fell off in the last fiscal year about $40,000,000. "I think we may dwell with complacency," said the chancellor, "upon results which regulated freedom corrected by high taxation has shown, compared with those which have followed elsewhere from prohibition tempered by bootlegging," at which reflection upon her native land's policy Lady Astor shouted "Nonsense, nonsense!"

There are millions of people in this country, who, doubtless, regard Lady Astor's argument as conclusive. Yet there are many evidences before national prohibition that this country was becoming rapidly more and more temperate of its own volition and good sense. Whether it has become more temperate under duress is an open question. The evidence of statistics depends upon who prepares the statistics and the evidence of observation depends upon who does the observing. Perhaps President Hoover's investigating commission will be able to throw some light on the question within a year or two. But the noble experiment has proceeded far enough to make it perfectly plain that, prohibition or no prohibition, individual free will is the real reliance for sobriety. President Hoover shows his realization of this fact when he urges people to quit drinking of their own accord.

All we have to judge by, of course, is human nature but we'll bet, when a girl gets all dressed up in her bare arms, bare legs and bare back this summer, the mosquitoes will decide that they would have liked one of the few areas still covered up much better and be quite indignant and unhappy about it.

Old-fashioned names for girls are coming back, we learn, and if other tendencies continue as they are we'd like to live long enough to see a person named Prudence climbing into the rumble seat.

A man here is thinking of giving up smoking, as a good example to his wife, daughters and mother-in-law, and that's another day we never expected to see but did.

Another time when we glance nervously at our bank balance is when someone writes us a nice letter winding up: May we have the opportunity of serving you?

We're for literal interpretation in the main but the fact is that nothing makes us madder than a soft answer when we're all het up anyway.

Probably the hardest thing is for New England to be properly sorry about the troubles in the textile mills of the South.

If an editor makes a few people love the paper and a whole lot hate it, he probably is doing some good in the world.

Talkies in the home, we see, are now possible but what we're worrying about is whether they're preventable.

Another lovable character, while he lasts, is the one who is willing to go on your note. We often wonder if old Ed. Gann ever wishes he had remained a bachelor.

Middle age is that period in life when you are afraid of breaking a tooth.

When Pain Comes

Two hours after eating

What many people call indigestion very often means excess acid in the stomach. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated, and food sours. The corrective is an alkali, which neutralizes acids instantly. And the best alkali known to medicine is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia. It has remained the standard with physicians in the 50 years since its invention. One spoonful of this harmless, tasteless alkali in water will neutralize instantly many times as much acid, and the symptoms disappear at once. You will never use crude methods when once you learn the efficiency of this. Go get a small bottle to try. Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, prescribed by physicians for 50 years in correcting excess acids. 25c and 50c a bottle—any drugstore. "Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Charles H. Phillips Chemical Company and its predecessor Charles H. Phillips since 1875.

The Old Timers' Corner

Old Timer recalls incidents in Lives of other Old Timers

Mighty glad to hear from other Old Timers. The letter from Jerry Richardson in last week's Record was fine. Mighty glad to hear from him and while I have never mentioned him or his family, I have often thought of them and we used to know them very well, as neighbors, for they used to farm the "Totten" farm, which was just north of the line that marked the end of "town" and the beginning of the "country." There used to be an old house and barn up on the hill about midway north of that farm, but the house went to ruins and the barn afterward was taken away or something and nothing but a few scrub oaks, hickories, etc., grew to mark the place where the old "Totten" house used to be.

Jerry's father was George Richardson, and he had a sister, Martha I believe. I hadn't heard of them for years and I say again, that I was very glad to hear from them thru the lines in the Record. I wish that other Old Timers would follow his example. Jerry tells us of some of the things that I cannot remember, but I have heard of them, of course. Hop to it, Old Timers, and let's hear from those that used to know about the things we all want to talk about.

Another Old Timer wrote me, anonymously, and said that I did not finish the story of the Cooper shop, etc. Jerry mentions more about it in his letter, and I am reminded that Mr. Vorhies afterward built his cooper shop at the corner of Oak and Fourth streets, and it was there, I guess, until his death.

Today I want to talk a minute about some of the friends that used to live "down on the flats." Joe Anstess lived almost opposite Ashley Carlisle's place, had a little place with a garden and barn, and he ran a dray. He had a son and a couple of girls, Will, who I believe lived in Michigan City later, Sadie and an older one whose name I cannot remember.

Almost back of them, a little to the north and west, lived "Old Man Beedie," and a son, George. I never knew what became of them. They had a great liking for lattice work around the house and garden, and had vines and flowers in their garden and took a lot of pride in fixing up this little home. Then right up at the road, and opposite where Mr. Carlisle used to live when Frank Carlisle was born, lived a widow woman, Mrs. Rose, and she sure had her troubles, raising a large family of children. They had a small place but it was always clean and nice.

"Jap" Susan lived directly east from there about two blocks, and had a nice little plot of ground with fruit trees and garden stuff. He used to work for us a lot, on the farm, and when Jesse Susan was born, he was bragging to my mother one day about what a wonderful child the baby was, and he said "He is such a schmarld paby. He lays on his mudder's arm and breathes, chust as natural."

Right near Mr. Susan's place lived "Old Man Davis," a colored man and his family. He had a lot of kids and they likewise had a lot of company and my father used to swear that "when they all got in that little house at the same time, the sides of the house go in and out, when they breathe. I was only a kid at the time I heard him say that, and so I used to harg around that place at meat times and try and see if it were really true, if the sides of the house did move with the breath of the people inside.

"Aunt Charity King" was an old character and lived south of Susan's place, over toward the Blodgett brick yard. Aunt Charity used to work for a lot of the people in town, but I never knew much about her. She had a girl named Letty, if I remember right.

And this brings to my mind the Blodgett family. They were mighty fine folks and there was a whole gang of boys and girls. Jake, Will, Henry and some sisters and other brothers. Will Blodgett and Jake, were about my age and I used to know them in school, etc. They lived just at the foot of the hill on the little short street that ran from Main street down toward George Black's little shop where he used to make garden plows and many other things.

The clay hole lay to the north from where the Blodgett's lived, and I used to like to go over there and see the bricks in the making, lying in neat rows out in the sun, to dry, with boards handy to protect them from rains, etc. They made very good brick and also tile. The kiln was made of brick, and was covered with slab-siding, and used to be a great place for the kids in years that followed, when the brick yard wasn't so busy.

I guess George Black is still in town. He lived in a dandy little home up on Front street, at the top of the hill, west. He was a grown man when I was a kid, so George, if he is still alive, is getting well along in years. Once he told me that his "secret ambition" had always been to be the captain of a big boat, on the lake or even the ocean. I know that everyone has had their secret ambitions, but George has told me about that on several occasions. He used to come to our house, when we lived on the farm to see the different girls that came to visit at the house, and one time a girl friend of my sisters was there, from Kalamazoo or some place and I think her name was Gardner or something like that. She was very good looking and George used to be a regular visitor, at the farm while she was there. One night after George had been sitting in the hammock with Belle Gardner until the wee small hours, she came in the house and went to bed and my sister heard her talking, and went in there and the poor thing had gone "loco" and was out of her mind entirely. She was in that state for several days and the doctor ordered complete silence in the house and complete rest for the patient. I was only a kid and was scared "pink" at the thought of a crazy woman in the house. She used to raise up in bed and grab in the air with her hands and say "buzz, buzz, buzz" as though she were trying to catch flies or mosquitoes or something, and one morning I was sent up stairs to call someone for breakfast and had to go thru her room. She was apparently asleep, so I sneaked thru, in my bare feet, and thought I had gotten away with it, without waking the "crazy" girl, but when I came back thru the room she was sitting upright in bed and saying "buzz, buzz, buzz" and grabbing at thin air, and you may believe me when I say I lost no time at all in getting out of that room and around the head of the stairs and down the steps in "no time flat." I hit the bottom with a bump against the door and it flew open and the rest of the family said my eyes were sticking out and I was as white as a sheet. They had a good laugh, at my expense, but no power on earth could get me to go into that girl's room after that.

Speaking of the stairs, etc., reminds me of another little thing that used to happen there regularly until I spoiled it. It was this: One of my older brothers was "stepping out" those days, in fact, he had a "steady girl" and was out with her nearly every night. I was a little skinny kid then, and would very often fall asleep on the couch that was in the living room. Then when my older brother, Ellis, would come home, mother would call to him and ask him to carry "the baby" (meaning me) upstairs to bed. I would always hear her say this, but in order to get a free ride upstairs I would pretend to be sound asleep. One night he was carrying me and I thought he was a little bit careless in the way he was doing it, so I said "don't bump my head." Well, that was all. That was my last "free ride" up to bed. After that I had to hoof it myself.

That's all for today. I have been a little bit personal about myself today, but maybe it will be your turn next. Let me hear from other Old Timer friends. I am always glad to have your little bit added to the "corner."

OLD TIMER.
