

SUMMERRILL IS HURT IN CRASH

CLASS OF '29 HOLD BACCALAUREATE SUNDAY NIGHT CAR HURTLES OFF HIGHWAY AGAINST TREE

Now Here's the Proposition

On the Celebration of Memorial Day

BI HAWES

Now let us trot the old bus out And dig a can or two of bait, For years ago grandfathers passed on So let us fitly celebrate.

We'll fix us up a pot luck lunch Appropriate for a day so festal, And gather in a joyous bunch To feast upon our graves ancestral.

And lest his memory grow dim, We'll fill our tanks and travel places Or sling a baseball game for him And use the family graves for bases.

Ashes to ashes! dust to dust! He sleeps in quiet, rest his soul! So what more fit than we should bust.

A pint around the nineteenth hole? Or let us hold an auto race And raise a loud and sonorous racket Around about the hallowed place Where grandfathers quietly hid jacket.

He was a gay dog in his day, Ere time had writ its in Memoriam But since he now is laid away, We'll have to make his whoopee for him.

High-School Holds Citizenship Election

Thelma Whittaker was Picked by Class and by Faculty.

13 WERE CONSIDERED

Wednesday, May 21, the annual high school citizenship election was held. Every year some member of the high school body is selected as the person who is the most outstanding person during the school year. Scholarship, citizenship, athletics, music, debate, drama, class activities, club activities, popularity and general attitude are considered.

The selection this year was a Junior—Harold Knight, a well known participant in athletics, as well as a very popular and well liked person in school life.

Second place was given to Thelma Whittaker, who was honored by receiving the Senior class citizenship cup. This cup is not given to a senior by the popular vote of the school, as the one previously mentioned, but, with the exception of popularity—which is voted on by the senior class, the faculty have the entire "say so" of this award.

In the awarding of this cup a four year period is considered. There are first, second and third places of which the points considered are as follows: scholarship, citizenship, athletics, music, debate, drama, class activities, club activities, popularity and general attitude. Of these Thelma received the first place in popularity, club activities, athletics and citizenship. This cup was awarded to George Wynn in 1928 and to Leslie Marstener in 1927.

It might be added that thirteen other members of this year's graduating class were considered for this honor, well proving the worth of the class of '29.

130 Ft. Sewer Tile Laid on Portage St.

The city force working under the direction of the John Hipskind Co. of South Bend, had completed the installation of 130 feet of sewer tile between Third and Dewey on Portage this morning. Thirty-two well points were in use pumping the water from each side of the trench. City officials watching the installation stated that competent work is being done, although the installation is necessarily slow, due to the great difficulty of controlling the water.

Troop 41 Holds Practice Drill on Tuesday Evening

Troop 41 held a drill practice last Tuesday evening in preparation for Memorial Day. Scout Commissioner Kenneth Blake put the scouts thru pivots, faces and right abouts so that none of them have excuse for saying he didn't know.

The drill led to Athletic Park where a game of follow the leader was led by Lauren Johnson and "Augy" Topash. The fellows led them on some real stummers such as sliding down a roof head first and grabbing the eave-trough and swinging the legs around so you light on your feet instead of your head, or walk across the top of the score board, these were a few ways they tried to keep young.

The prize for ticket selling in the Benefit Show Contest at the Princess were won by Morris Aronson, first, a free period at camp; Richard Milner, second, $3 for scout equipment and Jesse Leggett, third, $2 for equipment. The troop made sufficient funds to get the tents desired.

Last Saturday Scoutmaster Leo Slate and assistant scoutmaster, Don Wood, took a group of boys to Madron for the week end. The hike was very warm as some of the fellows found out when their sunburns began to get active. The boys found they were not the only ones at Madron when they arrived as Gallen, two Benton Harbor troops and one from St. Joe and some from Dowagiac were there.

At the meeting Tuesday a collection of two cents per Scout was taken for the fund being raised to buy Sir Robert Baden Powell a trophy to be presented to him at the great Jamboree at Burkenhead, Eng.

Memorial Day Proclamation

Once a year we are privileged to set aside a day in memory of those who offered their lives to their country. They marched forward when need arose. Theirs was the common cause of humanity, and their heritage to us has been peace, security and happiness.

We cannot honor too highly those who died on the field of battle, surrendering life that loved ones might live. In the presence of their sacrifice we can only bow in pride and sorrow.

The thinned ranks of the Grand Army of the Republic are moving toward their goal. Back of them stand the shadows of those heroic figures who established American independence. Before them are the veterans of the Spanish American and World Wars ready to step into the vacant ranks.

This day should also be dedicated to the memory of all of our loved ones who have gone before.

By virtue of the authority vested in me as Governor, I hereby proclaim Thursday, May 30, 1929, Memorial Day and urge statewide observance.

Given under my hand and the Great Seal of the State this twenty-third day of May, in the year of our Lord, one thousand nine hundred and twenty-nine and of the Commonwealth the ninety-third.

FRED W. GREEN, Governor.

250 ARE PRESENT

The fifth degree work for the Berrien County Pomona grange was exemplified by a team of 21 Michigan State College students, representing the grange of that institution, to a class of 19 candidates at the Mt. Tabor grange hall Saturday evening.

The student team was accompanied by their advisor and sponsor, Mrs. Dora Stockman, who is a member of the Capitol Grange of Lansing and lecturer of the state grange. The team was headed by Vernon Armstrong, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Armstrong of Niles, county grange master and lecturer, who is the retiring master of the student grange. The work of the team was very effective, and was illustrated by a number of beautiful tableau scenes, in which young ladies of the team took part.

The candidates were mainly from the Wagner and Mt. Tabor granges, the following being entered from each:

After the meeting the visiting State College students were entertained by members of Mt. Tabor grange, at the homes of Dean Clark, Clyde Pennell, Bert Mitchell and Grange Master Roffinot.

On the following Sunday, the students were taken on a tour of the fruit section of Berrien county, and along Lake Michigan. This proved a treat to a number of the guests, who came from inland and northern counties and had never seen Lake Michigan, or extensive orchards and vineyards.

Berrien County students took a leading part in the work, Vernon Armstrong and Miss Dorothy Clark being members of the degree team. Both the retiring and the recently elected presidents of the college grange are Berrien county men, Arthur

BLUES HAND BEND TEAM 10-0 DEFEAT

Baker Revamps the Team and Comes Back with a Bang.

MARRS PITCHING

Will Play Decoration Day Game at Three Oaks.

Buchanan's home-grown Blues came to life Sunday with a bang and trounced the South Bend Macabees baseball team at Athletic park, Buchanan, 10 to 0. Sammy Marrs, a former high school pitcher, perched on the mound for the Blues, and issued but one pass and one hit during the afternoon's work. His only hit came in the eighth inning. It is Sammy's first start for '29.

Manager William Baker had revamped his team, and the changes put the punch into the boys, and they were invincible behind Marrs' pitching. But one error was chalked up, and that against the elongated first baseman, Bud Proud, on one that might have been called too hard to handle instead of an error. The opposition garnered 6 errors in the meanwhile.

Pierce and Nell were at the points for the visitors, and Pierce struck out eight of the rampaging turquoise hosiery crew, while Sammy set down 13 without a look in as they went by. Catcher Carl Thaning played a stellar game at the receiving end without a bobble. He is gradually working back into the finer tricks after a five year lay off.

Dick Lister cultivated the center garden, replacing Herbert Shreves and Kane, went to the right pasture. The remainder of the team was about as heretofore, with Chain in left field, Pfingst at short, Ferguson at third, Snedley covering second. Wise relieved Kane at right during the last few innings.

Umpires, Simpson and Morse.

Score by innings:

Buchanan—060 001 020 10 13 1
South Bend—000 000 000 0 1 6

The Blues have scheduled a game for Decoration Day with the Three Oaks Greens at Three Oaks at 9:30 a. m. central standard time. Probably Morse and Marrs will do the mound work. Harris Simpson, last year's star portside hurler, is suffering from the loss of part of a finger and will not be able to pitch for some time. The Greens will play a team from the House of David at 2:30 p. m. Memorial day.

CAR HURTLES OFF HIGHWAY AGAINST TREE

Fails to Negotiate the Curve on M-40, Near Dowagiac.

SKULL IS FRACTURED

Physicians Extend Hope for His Recovery This Morning.

Hopes for the recovery of Olin Summerrill, injured in an auto accident Monday, were reported this morning by physicians of the Lee Sanitarium at Dowagiac, where he was taken following the injury. Summerrill left Buchanan about 5 minutes of 12 o'clock, Monday noon, on a business trip to Dowagiac. At a curve on M-40 about five miles this side of Dowagiac, Summerrill's car left the pavement and crashed into an oak tree which stands about 4 feet from the concrete. He suffered a fractured skull, broken lower jaw, broken nose and badly wrenched arm.

A few minutes previous he had picked up Robert Thomas, colored, who was walking along the highway toward Dowagiac. Thomas incurred only a wrenched shoulder. He hailed the driver of a passing car, who picked Summerrill up and rushed him to the Lee sanitarium, where it was first announced that he had no chance for recovery, and rushed relatives to his side.

He remained unconscious until the following day, when he regained his senses and his condition began to show improvement. Thomas, who was held for a time while inquiry was being made into the cause of the accident, was released when it had been ascertained that the accident was due solely to the failure to negotiate the curve at high speed.

Witnesses who arrived shortly after the accident stated that Summerrill had gone thru the windshield and landed beside the pavement, about 15 feet ahead of the car, apparently clearing the tree. The car is known to have had a bad "shimmy" in the front wheels which made it hard to control when going at high speed. It was also prone to steer to the right when the brakes were applied, and it is thought possible that this caused it to leave the pavement. Thomas said that he had expressed concern, when Summerrill started to round the curve, and it is believed that he jammed one of the brakes and the machine veered out of control.

The car, a Wolverine cabriolet, was brought back to the Dewey Garage yesterday by Elmer Rohen. The front is badly damaged, the radiator being totally wrecked, the front wheels pushed back through the fenders and the motor pushed thru the floor boards into the transmission. The motor is unhurt, save for the supports, and the body of the car is unhurt, although the frame is wrecked.

many colors, but those of golden hue predominated.

Alva Shepherdson and Hattie Smith were married May 29, 1879, at the ages of 24 and 19 respectively. After their marriage, they started "west" in a covered wagon.

It took them six weeks to negotiate the distance, and during that time they were not inside a house. At nightfall they made their bed "beneath the stars." The couple who stood up with them at their wedding also rigged up a wagon and went west with them.

They remained in Kansas for two years then returned to Buchanan township. But in the year of 1880 they "got the fever" again and went to the state of Washington, where they remained for six years. Then, on account of Mr. Shepherdson's health, they were obliged to go to Idaho, where they lived in the mountains for five years.

At the end of that time, Mr. Shepherdson's health had been restored and they decided to return to Hills Corners community, where they have resided ever since. Their union was blessed by the coming of two children, Guy Shepherdson of the home community, and Mrs. Hazel Smith of Mt. Tabor.

William A. Gardner and Sarah Ellen Stevens were united in marriage May 25, 1879, at the ages of 19 and 18 respectively. Sarah Ellen was born in Indiana, but came with her parents to Michigan when she was five years old.

Since that time she has always lived in the Hills Corners community. The groom was born and reared in the same community. The history of their wedded life does not present so much of the spectacular and the change as that which characterizes the career of the first couple, but the denizens of Hills Corners say that it has been none the less romantic and colorful.

The happy couples wore the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. And they face the golden glow of the sun set years with a new joy in their hearts.

Mrs. Dell Blackman supervised the preparation and serving of the wedding dinner and Mrs. Con Kelly was general mistress of ceremony.

Don't forget the Community meeting at the church Tuesday, June 4. Pot luck supper. Good program. All invited.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Salisbury was the scene of a very merry gathering Sunday, when the Paul reunion was held and the 87th birthday of the mother of the family, Mrs. Lydia Paul, was celebrated. Mrs. Paul is enjoying fairly good health and has an unusually keen mind and good memory.

Luncheon was served to 69. Many beautiful flowers were in evidence. Her ten children were all present, Lewis of Glendora, James and Mrs. Lydia Dempsey of ton and Mrs. Mae Van Lew and daughter went to Indianapolis for several days to visit relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Budoff and Mr. and Mrs. Cline of Chicago, spent the week end with Mrs. S. Spasek.

Mr. and Mrs. Lon Matthews, Miss Mildred, Harry and Minnette Richter of Michigan City, spent Sunday with Mrs. Julius Richter.

Mr. and Mrs. B. F. Redding and son and Albert and Russell Heckathorn spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Lee Seymour at LaPorte.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Vickery and friends of South Bend spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Hamilton.

NEW TYPE OF TELEPHONE CABLE CONTAINS 1,818 PAIRS OF WIRES

Fanned Out Cable Shows "Multiple Unit" Arrangement of Wires

By JOHN B. O'BRIEN.
THERE is now coming into regular use in the Bell System a new type of telephone cable, a cable that contains as many as 3,636 single wires, or eighteen hundred and eighteen pairs of wires.

This is an important advance in the telephone art, as it increases by 1212 the number of single wires contained in a cable which is not much larger than a man's wrist. With the great increase in telephone traffic in cities and towns throughout the country and the consequent large number of wires placed beneath the streets, this new development is of great significance, for it means that in many cases streets will not have to be dug up in order to put in ducts for additional cable.

Early Cables
The first telephone circuits, following the invention of the telephone, consisted of open wire, but the development of underground cables began at an early date. This was the era of the single wire. During the first decade of cable development, many different types of construction were employed. Rubber and gutta-percha were tried, but although well suited for telegraphic purposes, caused the telephone to work very badly, voices frequently becoming almost unrecognizable and sounds being muffled and hollow. For a time, oil insulation was used to a considerable extent, and in one cable at least, each one of about twenty wires was enclosed in a glass tube surrounded by grease and rosin. Then came cotton covered wires, having the cotton impregnated with paraffin. Trials of omitting the oil filling and later the paraffin, culminated in experiments carried on with manila paper as a covering for the wires, resulting in the dry core cable now in general use. It was a gradual evolution from cotton insulated filled cables to paper insulated dry core cable, with many different types of cable in the transition.

Up to 1892 the efforts of telephone engineers had succeeded in placing fifty pairs of No. 18 gauge wires within a cable as large as could conveniently be handled. In 1892, means were found to make cables containing 100 pairs of No. 19 gauge wires. Continued development increased the number of wires gradually until, in 1901, the 300 pair No. 19 gauge cable became available. Following this, continuous progress took place until in 1914, 1212 pairs of wires could be put into a single telephone cable, the wires being No. 24 gauge. Now the era of the 1818 pairs of wires has arrived.

Development of Newest Cable
This new cable is the result of several important developments, one of which is the use of smaller wire. The size of wire in telephone cables is usually indicated by numbers in which a larger number indicates smaller wire. Thus the 26 gauge wire used in the new 1818 pair cable is smaller than the No. 24 wire which is used in the 1212 pair cable and which, in turn, supplemented the 22 gauge wire in a cable containing 909 pairs of wires and the No. 19 gauge cable containing 455 pairs. No. 19 wire, used to a great extent in Long Distance cables, is somewhat larger than an ordinary pin. No. 26 wire is about half the diameter of an ordinary pin and a little more than twice the diameter of No. 90 cotton thread, but over this fine wire the voice can travel successfully if the distance is not too great.

Another important development is the "multiple unit" arrangement of the wires inside the cable. Previously the cable was manufactured by wrapping additional wires until the full size was reached, so that a cross-section resembled a cross-section of a tree with circular rings. The multiple unit structure, however, means that the cable consists of a number of component units, so that the new 1818 pair cable consists of eighteen groups of wires, each of which possesses 101 pairs. These eighteen units are twisted together to form the cable, after which it is completed by the covering of lead. The multiple unit structure is an important advantage in splicing a cable with so many pairs and also in its manufacture.

The use of thinner paper for insulating the individual wires has also helped to make the new cable possible. Machines which would apply the thinner paper without breaking it had to be perfected.

The principal use for this newly developed cable will be in cities and towns, especially in the congested business sections. Its chief application will be for connecting subscribers to central offices, but it is likely that there will be some use of the cable for providing connections between central offices when they are located near each other. This new cable is now being installed in widely separated parts of the country.

Meaning of Fence

Fence soon will be nothing but a country word, for in the cities fences have almost been forgotten. It is a word, though, full of romance, being a shortening of defense—the first use of a fence being to keep out foes.

Think So?

Scientists, thinks a philosopher writing in the American Magazine, may lose the kernel of life in studying its changing shells and homes.

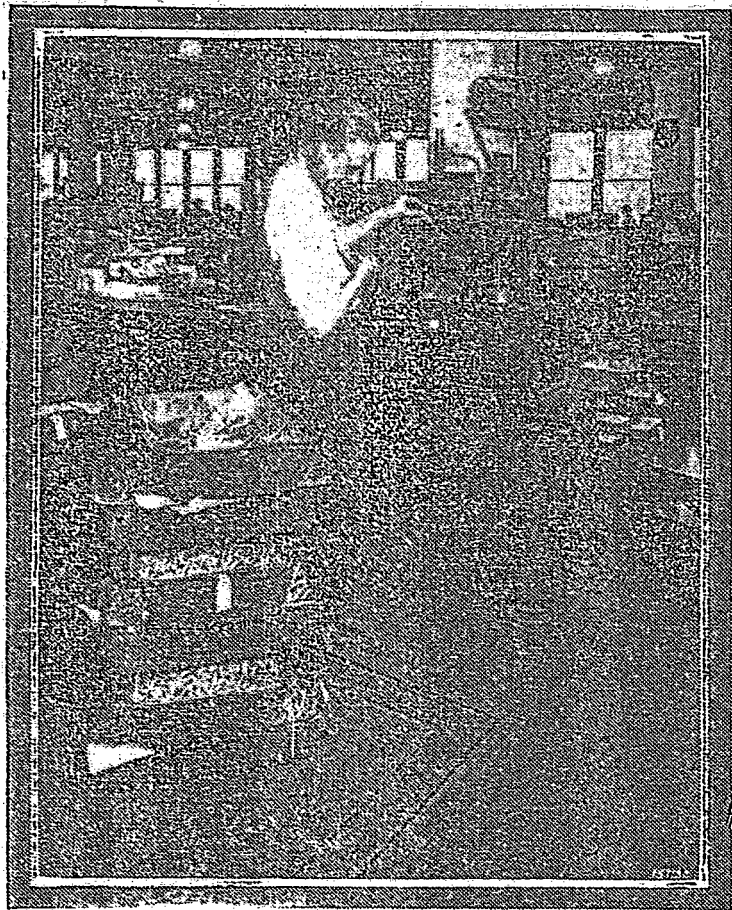

HOW TO CHOOSE YOUR WINTER FLOCK OF LAYERS

Honest-to-goodness value is something that every poultry raiser craves when buying chicks that are to make your winter layers. At this time of the year there are millions of almost worthless chicks sold to unwary buyers who are attracted by the low price appeal. Chick producers who are not interested so much in your welfare must somewhat disregard quality in order to have something that will sell at a low price.

IDEAL FARM CHICKS are produced with both eyes on results. There is a very firm policy behind every IDEAL FARM CHICK. This policy is that the quality of IDEAL FARM CHICKS will not be sacrificed in order to make the prices lower.

COUNTING THOUSANDS OF PARTS BY CLEVER WEIGHING DEVICE

Greatly Simplifies Important Problem of Large Scale Production

COUNTING by weighing is one of the methods used at the great telephone factories of the Western Electric Company to keep track of the enormous numbers of small parts which are handled daily. As suppliers to the entire Bell System, the Western Electric must maintain an enormous manufacturing schedule, and keep large stocks of parts and apparatus on hand. In doing both of these much counting is necessary. A simple yet ingenious method has been worked out for determining the number of parts from their weight. The obvious method, of course, would be to count and weigh a few parts, then weigh the entire lot and use arithmetic to get the answer. Instead, by using some of the parts themselves as weights, the simple principle of the beam scale allows the work to be greatly simplified.

The containers holding the parts to be counted are put on the main scale platform, which is set level with the floor, and the operator sets a certain adjustment on the scale to compensate for the weight of the containers used. He then transfers enough of the small parts to the pan on the scale arm to bring the scale into balance. All that is necessary then is to multiply the number of parts thus transferred by 100, or whatever the ratio for the particular scale is, and the answer is the total number of parts in the containers on the scale platform.

This method of counting is so accurate that it can also be used in making up for shipment, packages of many kinds of parts.

Christian Science Churches

"Soul and Body" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all

Christian Science churches on Sunday.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following from the Bible: "Behold, the eye of the Lord is upon them that fear him, upon them that hope in his mercy; to deliver their soul from death, and to keep them alive in famine." (Ps. 33:18-19.)

The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Fewer people emigrated from Italy in 1926 than in 1925."

"Soul is not compassed by finiteness. Principle is not to be found in fragmentary ideas. The material body and mind are temporal, but the real man is spiritual and

RYAN GIVEN A LICENSE

Rev. W. H. Camfield, pastor of the Evangelical church of Buchanan for the past three years, preached his farewell sermon Sunday morning, preparatory to leaving for his new pastorate with the Francis street Evangelical Mission at Jackson, where he has been assigned by the state conference.

Rev. Camfield is fortunate in his transfer, as he will be near his daughter, Mrs. Earl Treadwell, and he has many old friends in Jackson, having been pastor of the First Evangelical church there 19 years ago. Both he and Mrs. Camfield have been very popular with their parishioners during their three years of residence here.

Herbert Ryan, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Ryan, 409 West Roe street, also attended the recent conference at Kalamazoo and was awarded a license to preach on probation. He plans to attend North Central College at Naperville, Ill., next year, taking either the four year college course or the three year, theological course. Four other young men received licenses to preach at the conference.

The conference voted to hold the next annual session of Michigan ministers at the Portage Prairie church south of Buchanan. This will be an outstanding event in local church history, as the conference annually draws in the neighborhood of 300 ministers and church leaders. The Portage Prairie church entertained the convention 10 years ago, at which time the Niles and Buchanan churches assisted in the entertainment.

EDITORIAL

The school year of 1928-29 is almost a thing of the past. For the seniors their whole high school career is over. There is no way in which they can change their past, the future is now the thing to be considered. However, it is a wise policy to study the past somewhat.

In later years countless remembrances of the happenings this year will return. Our successful football season, during which we lost only one game, will be a happy recollection. Our wonderful basketball season will be something to glory over. The senior play will long be a reminiscence to those who witnessed it, not to exclude the Junior plays, the Operetta, etc. Other less prominent social events will never be forgotten and many personal experiences will be lived again and again.

No one will deny that this has been a happy school year, however, some mistakes have been made, and various undesirable circumstances have arisen. This is a perfectly natural condition. The important item which arises is, "Do we profit by the mistakes?" A backward look means nothing other than a few minutes in dreamland if we do not profit by the condition which existed. Let the dead past bury its dead as soon as we find what was wrong with it.

As each year passes by, a valuable store of experience is possessed by the students. The more they profit by the past, the greater the advancement possible. As we look back over the good times intermixed with a strain of sorrow, it should be our firm resolve to make the future even better. As this year's senior class steps out of high school, the difference between the good work which they could accomplish if they continued as in school, and the excellent work which they are able to accomplish lies in how much they profit by their high school experience in avoiding making the same mistakes twice.

Grade News

First Grade
We were glad to have 13 parents visit us on Friday, Mother's Day. We were sorry more mothers could not be here.
Johanna Burk and Leona Campbell, Ruth Ramsey, Marilyn Staver, Robert Fairman, James Leazenby, Edward Pascoe and Dickie Pierce are doing especially nice work in phonics.

Second Grade

There were 10 mothers visited in Mrs. Wilcox's second grade on Friday. The children and teacher enjoyed their visits very much.

The children who received their silver star buttons in writing are as follows: Carol Dunlap, Phil Pierce, Betty Ann Miller, Ruth Jean Haslett, Lynne Rothfuch, Kenneth Phiscator, Dennis Hand, Valora Rohl, Lee Miller, Robert Wesner, Marjorie Wheat, Beth Sargent, Lawrence Dellinger, Ruth Lightfoot, Dale Simpson, Shirley Bauch, Ruth Wales, Ralph De-wees, Lucian Depyl, Nathalie Proud, Virginia Rohen, Jeannette McGowan, Norma Hess and Katherine Mosier.

There were seven visitors in Mrs. French's room Friday. George Lakin spelled the school down Friday.

We are using the book "Baby Animals" for supplementary reading and like the stories very much. John and Alice Merle brought a discarded robin's nest and Blenda Everett brought an oriole's nest. We found out how birds build their nests and wrote about it for language.

The following girls and boys in Mrs. Fischer's room have received their silver Palmer buttons: Mildred Ferris, William Strayer, Geneva Babcock, William Snyder, Lawrence Burgoyne, Monabelle Dretzler, Matthew Rauch, Carleton Pletcher, Alice Leazenby, Marie Rudoni, Eugene Stults, Harry Mitchell, Anna Mogford, Robert Habicht, Elberta Maxson, Helen Renulinger, Edwin Ingleright, Orlo Maxson, Violet Weaver, William Carlisle and Burdette Walters.

On Mother's Day we had 10 visitors.

Our girls and boys were glad to learn they had won the prize for parents' attendance at P. T. A. This is the second time this year. They decided to have another picture.

We are enjoying our new nature books "By the Roadside."

Junior High
The Junior high boys numbering 16, with their coach, Mr. Ray Miller, journeyed to Dowagiac Friday afternoon where the boys entered the dual track meet with Dowagiac.

The results are as follows:
Buchanan scored a sweep in class B in the following, high jump, broad jump, 50 yard dash. In class A the Dowagiac team seemed the better of the two. Much credit is due Mr. Miller for his untiring effort with those boys during the year. The splendid showing made by the team during the basketball season will be remembered.

This and That
Pictures and books which are much appreciated were donated to the Buchanan school last week by Mrs. H. H. Daws of Chicago. Some of these belonged in the old Graham home at the corner of Detroit and Front streets.

We wish to express our sincere appreciation for this gift, as the books consist of much reference material which we needed in many of our courses.

1929 Pines is a Literary and Financial Success

The '29 edition of The Pines was given out to the high school students Monday after school. This Annual is one of the best the school has ever published, if not the best. Printed on India paper with a head and tail piece of pea green, it serves as a very beautiful and fitting setting for the material written on its pages.

Two hundred and fifty annuals have been sold, and with the money received from the Senior play it is believed that the book will be a financial as well as a literary success.

Girls Glee Club Entertains Assembly

The first general assembly in two weeks was held Thursday morning during which time a miscellaneous program was enjoyed. The Girls Glee club gave two musical numbers, a skit from the Senior play was given and then the remainder of the hour was given over to the awarding of the two citizenship cups—one to Harold Knight and the other to Thelma Whitaker.

SENIORS CLEAR TONS OF MONEY ON CLASS PLAY

FRED SMITH AND MISS VIRGINIA SNOWDEN STARR IN PARTS.

The Seniors of 1929 played both Wednesday and Thursday nights at the high school auditorium, the play proving true to title in being a good money-maker.

The net sum of $300 was cleared above all expenses, to defray Commencement expenses and provide for the annual Senior gift to the high school.

Outstanding among the players, in the general opinion of the audience, were Fred Smith, who carried the triple character role of the English gentleman and his various aliases and Virginia Snowden, in the character role of Miss Mullet, the English spinster. The other actors also maintained an unusually high average of stage performance and the entire production proved most pleasing.

N. Buffalo Chapter I. O. O. F. Hosts at Memorial Services

Messrs Seth Ingleright, Harley Squires, George Slater, R. F. Hickok and wife and Mrs. Chas. Ellis and mother were guests Sunday afternoon at the I. O. O. F. Memorial Day services held at New Buffalo. The attending lodge members paraded to the cemetery, traffic on U. S. 12 being held in wait by state motorcycle men. The address of the day was made by

Rev. Bellingham of Benton Harbor.

Margaret Smith Completes Perfect 2 Yr. School Record

Margaret Smith, seven year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Larry Smith, Terre Coupe road, completed her second year of attendance at the Broceus school Tuesday of last week with the most unusual record of no absences and no tardiness. She is reported in addition as being a most unusual student.

Wagner Grange to Review Farm Aid Work of Congress

Members of the Wagner Grange having birthdays in May will be in charge of the regular fortnightly meeting at the hall Friday night of this week, the main feature of the program being a discussion of the work of the special session of Congress on farm relief to date. Roll call will consist of the relation of Scotch stories by all members.

Books and Pictures From Graham Home Given to High School

Mrs. H. H. Daw of Chicago, set a precedent which may interest other residents of Buchanan by donating to the local high school a number of valuable books and pictures which were formerly a part of the furnishings of the old Graham home, a pioneer Front street residence.

The donation was placed in the hands of Mrs. Josephine Pennell, junior high school principal and consisted of 40 valuable works in historical reference and a number of fine old steel engravings.

Conservation Dept. Finds European Hare Undesirable Citizen

Many requests have been received by the game division of the conservation department for information on the habits and sporting qualities of the European hare. Questionnaires sent to various states, colleges, and agricultural agents where this "rabbit" has been introduced, have supplied testimony both for and against this species.

Everyone seems to agree that the European hare is a fine sporting animal. Its size and agility enable it to run long distances, behaving in many respects like the native red fox. When dogged it takes to the open country and travels in wide circles, two or three miles across. It is reported to jump the astonishing distance of thirty feet.

Unlike the snowshoe hare it does not inhabit the cedar swamps and does not hole up, but spends the day in open country in depressions and clumps of grass, depending, when detected upon speed and dodging ability for its get-away.

However, the other side of the report is not so alluring. Connecticut reports that it is very destructive to apple trees and can reach up two feet to cut low hanging limbs. From Ontario, where this hare is spreading rapidly, comes the comment that it has proven a menace to horticultural crops. And from the same source it is asserted that "young European hares will kill young cottontails at every opportunity."

The principal objection to this animal seems to be the damage it does to fruit trees and to agricultural crops. Its flesh is highly prized in Europe and is generally considered palatable in this country.

The conservation department has ben strongly advised against introducing the European hare into Michigan. It is claimed that once introduced it would be difficult or impossible to control, and even though it were found to be a good game animal, it would probably spread into districts where it would be unwelcome.

A further consideration lies in the fact that there is no information available as to how this species would react to tularemia and until public health and other authorities can advise what is or is not safe in this connection, the importation, planting, or shifting about of any sort of rabbit is being discouraged.

Don't Let Your Community Make the Same Mistake

Within recent years many communities have made the mistake of paving their roads and streets at what they considered a "bargain price." The taxpayers thought they would save thousands of dollars.

In many instances the maintenance has not only wiped out the hoped for saving, but has exceeded original cost. And in many cases also it has been necessary to build entirely new pavements—of permanent construction.

There are communities, however, which know the cheapest is not always the best. Many of these also built roads and streets several years ago. And they built for permanence with concrete.

These concrete pavements, built in accordance with approved standards of construction, are in as good condition today as when they were built.

Which of these communities will yours be?

Two years ago this month the General Electric Refrigerator was publicly announced for the first time.

Fifteen years of research and development had produced a refrigerator with an hermetically sealed, dust-proof mechanism, mounted on top... a refrigerator with an improved type of cabinet, mounted on legs... one with an accessible temperature control... that established a new standard of quiet operation... that required no oiling... that dispensed with all troublesome machinery...

that lowered operating costs... that carried an unequalled two-year service guarantee.

A radical improvement has been made in the cabinet! It is now all-steel! It cannot warp. It is as strong as a safe. You can purchase the new models shown at our display rooms on conveniently spaced payments.

A Mechanized World.

The world of Robots seems a step nearer with the current announcement of a machine described as the "business brain." This device, the invention of a young Norwegian, is credited with being able simultaneously to do the work of a cash register and of a bookkeeping and adding machine, while from another part of the building it makes a complete record of a sale at the time it is made. World-wide patents have been taken out on the machine, which is about to make its entrance into American industry.

While an operator writes out a bill of sale, for example, the machine is said to be able to calculate and record the prices which are added simultaneously, to figure the discounts desired, to record in proper classification the discounts and net totals, to multiply the pounds and fractions in weights by a fraction in price and, at the end, to give the grand total of the various sub-totals of the columns. It is capable of adding, multiplying, performing division and subtraction. Installed in a bank it is said to be capable of doing the work of nearly nine-tenths of the employees.

Many a schoolboy would give a good deal for such a machine. Many a business man will jump at the chance to acquire such a device as soon as he is convinced of its possibilities. The invention is just another in a long series of labor-saving devices that have made their appearance in the last half century. This is truly the machine age and yet a thoughtful man cannot help but speculate as to what the end will be. Besides the economic considerations, vast social questions are involved in the complete mechanizing of civilization. It is all very well to anticipate greater freedom for the individual, but honest labor has its rewards as well as its penalties. It will be a sorry day when, if ever, the human hand and brain are replaced entirely by machines, however efficient and tireless they may prove to be.

Our New Paper Money.

Providing the people of the United States with an entirely new supply of paper money has been a great task for the treasury department. More than 1100 tons of paper of a special kind has been used by the treasury department in printing the new money, which will be distributed to the public about July 1. The new bills will be one-third smaller than the present paper money. Reduction in size was made for convenience, but it will save the government enormous sums for paper. With the entire amount of money placed in circulation, there will be an average of 26 for each man, woman and child in the United States.

The distribution of new money and the collection of the money now in use will be made through the banks. All paper money now in use will be taken up. As old money is accumulated in banks it will be exchanged for new and, in the course of time, the old paper money will disappear from circulation. Distribution of the money will be made to Federal Reserve Banks and through them to member and other banks. If the money were all shipped from Washington at one time it would mean many carloads, but that is not the way the government does business. It will be sent in smaller shipments.

The new one dollar bill will have the picture of Washington, the $2 bill, Jefferson; $5 bill, Lincoln; $10 bill, Hamilton; $20 bill, Jackson; $50 bill, Grant; $100 bill, Franklin; $500 bill, McKinley; $1000 bill, Cleveland; $5000 bill, Madison, and the $10,000 bill will bear the likeness of S. P. Chase. Of the latter there will be a limited number printed, only 50,000, as they will circulate only in a restricted field.

The front of the new money will be black and the reverse side will be in green, the handsome yellow backs of bills redeemable in gold will disappear from circulation. The new money will be far more difficult for counterfeiters to imitate. It is printed on paper of special characteristics and the engraving has been so done as to make it nearly impossible for anyone to copy. The special paper made for the money is expected to outwear the present paper money as it was made for service and to stand rough use.

The Pulitzer Prize

The Pulitzer prize for the best novel of the year is well bestowed, we think, on Julia Peterkin's "Scarlet Sister Mary." The story is the simple portrayal of the life of a community of descendants of former slaves and is told with charm and sincerity. These people are primitive, superstitious and un-moral but, despite all this, good and attractive. Sister Mary, with her nine children all with different fathers, does not make vice alluring but appeals to the reader, rather, because of her real virtues of cheerfulness, good-heartedness and self-reliance. The book, we have no doubt, gives a true picture of one phase of American life and is interesting and wholesome.

Another well merited prize is that given to Burton J. Hendrick for his "Earlier Life and Letters of Walter H. Page," a valuable and highly entertaining contribution to American biography. People who have read it tell us that "John Brown's Body," by Stephen Vincent Benet, declared to be the best volume of verse produced by an American last year, is a great poem. We may read it sometime but it looks pretty long and perhaps a little pompous. Not much great poetry is written. The prizes for newspaper writing, so far as we can judge, were all fitly bestowed, for work representing high ideals and excellent technique. Of course when it comes to the selection of the year's best cartoon all the judges have to do is to decide which one of Rollin Kirby's to pick out and this year, we think, they picked his best.

Some Investors are Careless.

Investors in Liberty Loan and other national securities have neglected to turn in their matured securities and receive their cash and they are sustaining an enormous loss annually because they have been careless. There are overdue and unpaid obligations of the government in the hands of investors amounting to $46,127,910. These securities have interest rates of 4, 4 1-2 and 4 3-4 per cent, but the interest stopped when the securities matured, and no interest is being paid or can be collected on the $46,000,000 now. Just figure out the annual interest on that huge sum and you will have the price of carelessness shown plainly.

Of the amount nearly $2,000,000 matured in 1917 and more than 12 years' interest on the investment has been lost to holders. Of the second Liberty Loan, which was called for payment in 1927, there remains in the hands of investors more than $11,000,000. Of the third Liberty Loan, called for retirement in 1928, more than $25,000,000 has not been surrendered and it is today an unproductive investment for the holders. More than $4,000,000 of treasury savings certificates are outstanding, and of each due or called issue of governmental securities there is a large unpaid portion still out.

The government has done, its full duty to the investors, it has sent the news of the maturity and calling of these securities broadcast, has carried printed advertising in hundreds of newspapers, and bankers have joined in the effort to gather in the investments and prevent loss to the investors. But all that work has been unproductive to a large degree and the securities are outstanding. Of the live issues of securities many are in the hands of investors who are slow in clipping the interest coupons and these bits of paper float in many months after they were due. That helps swell the loss to the investors. It is unfortunate that so many good and patriotic people who responded to the appeal of the government to invest should neglect their financial interests and lose so heavily. The principal is due and ready but the interest has stopped.

Less Demand for Lawyers

A speech recently made by Chief Justice Marshall of Ohio before the American Bar association in Buffalo has occasioned considerable comment in eastern newspapers. Judge Marshall's subject was the falling off in the employment of the legal profession, a condition whose existence the outside world had hardly realized or suspected. This situation he ascribed largely to a growing disposition to arbitrate business disagreement instead of fighting them out in the courts, to the establishment of small claims courts for the settlement of trifling disputes and of regularly organized arbitration courts in large cities, to the operation by trust companies of trusteeships and receiverships and the settlement of estates by the same functionaries and to the fact that many matters formerly made the subject of litigation are now attended to by such non-judicial agencies as public utilities commissions, industrial commissions and tax commissions.

"More serious than any of these things," continued our chief justice, "is the fact that parties frequently forgive just claims or pay unjust demands or voluntarily compromise claims without the aid of counsel and without regard to legal rights."

All this may be deplorable from the lawyer's standpoint but the layman's reaction is likely to be that public intelligence is increasing after all. It does not appear to us deplorable that people are learning to adjust their differences without going to law or even that they are inclining to forgive or compromise claims which they consider just rather than to subject themselves to the tediousness and expense of court procedure in the effort to get the last dollar due. In fact, it seems decidedly sensible. We are sorry for the lawyers, or anybody else, who cannot find work but, so far as the general interest of society goes, the tendency depicted by Chief Justice Marshall makes us feel more like cheering than deploring.

Alfalfa Seed Adds To Farmers Income

East Lansing, May 23—While the production of alfalfa seed is one of the latest sources of income for Michigan farmers, the increase in the number of bushels harvested last year, as reported to the farm crops department at Michigan State college, show that this crop will be of major importance in a few years.

The largest amount of seed is grown in the Thumb district at the present time but other sections, particularly in the northern part of the state, appear to be well adapted for the production of excellent crops of alfalfa seed.

Michigan grown seed has ranked high in hay production tests on the college experimental plots and the varieties which mature early in this state are well adapted to Michigan climatic conditions. Seed which is grown in southern states of which is imported from some foreign countries will not survive severe winters.

Several Michigan growers secured crops of more than five bushels to the acre, and the average yield of the fields which were certified by the Michigan Crop Improvement association was 3.4 bushels per acre for Hardigan and 2.9 bushels for Grubbs.

Michigan growers of alfalfa seed find a ready market for their crop, most of it being purchased by the neighbors who wish to avoid the introduction of weed species which are sometimes found in alfalfa seed from other sections.

No man is quite sane; each has a grain of folly in his composition, a slight deterioration of blood to the mind to make sure of holding him there to some point which nature has taken to heart. OLDER MEN DO BEST WORK SAYS FACTORY HEAD

NEW ORLEANS FINDS OLDER WORKERS MORE ACCURATE AND STABLE.

Looking for a job was a trying task, Edmond Jumouville believed. It was too often an unpleasant undertaking for men of his age. He recognized that a man past 40, even though skilled, had less opportunity for re-employment than a younger person.

But he was looking for men, not jobs. He needed steady, dependable workers for his mop factory in New Orleans, La., and figured that as an employer he could help the older men while improving his business. Prompted particularly by the desire to aid those who might have to remain unemployed for a long time, he adopted the policy of taking the mature jobseekers into the Squeez-Day Mop Company.

Seven months of experimenting convinced him that his policy was sound. A labor leader and a professor of sociology have commended his example to other employers. When asked about its results in his plant, Mr. Jumouville was enthusiastic.

"We find that the stability of these settled workers insures steady and efficient production, steady and efficient production, leading to a larger output," he said. "And they need less supervision than the youths whose places they are filling. Many employers do not realize, perhaps, that men of 50 and over would jump at the chance to earn a steady wage, even though a moderate one."

He has found that the men beyond their youth are conscientious about discarding defective materials.

"You mean that they apply the Golden Rule in this work?" he was asked.

"Yes. They will not put in material that they would not want to buy. Moreover, they excel in the progress that requires minute accuracy."

"With a few exceptions, I believe these older men could do all classes of work in the factory, and that it would work out advantageously all around."

Mr. Jumouville believes that the older men could be used advantageously in many other types of work.

David Marcousy, president of the New Orleans Central Trades and Labor Council, pointed out that organized labor is deeply concerned with the problem of finding places for older but efficient workers. Their enforced idleness not only is unfair to the individuals, he explained, but means an unnecessary economic loss. Dr. J. F. Steiner, professor of sociology at Tulane University in New Orleans, also considered Mr. Jumouville's policy of great significance. "One of my vivid memories of work a few years ago," he said, "was the frequently vain search for employment for men who, for one reason or another, had been scrapped by industry."

In his country where we are apparently unwilling to follow the examples of Europe and adopt a plan of old age and unemployment insurance, the policy in certain factories of seeking out old men for employment is of great significance. Unfortunately, too little is done in this direction to indicate whether from an economic point of view this method of dealing with the problem could be widely extended."

Motor Output Makes Record For All Time

The Federal Reserve Board has announced that automobile production in the United States reached the highest level in history in the first three months of 1929 and that the demand for automobiles had not been sufficient to absorb the output.

This production, the board said, in its monthly bulletin, was the chief factor in the rise of industrial production to its present record level of 10 per cent more than in the same period of last year. The board found that the automobile output had increased the demand for other materials, chiefly iron and steel, textiles and rubber. The production of tires was said to have exceeded the demand and stocks were larger than they were a year ago.

The board said that the increased production of the country, while participated in by most industries, reflected chiefly the gains in iron and steel, automobiles, copper and petroleum, and had been under way for 15 months. Some industries showed declines, including building construction, cotton and wool textiles and coal.

The board said that the increase in copper production appeared to be caused chiefly by growth of consumption by the end of 1928 to a point where refineries found difficulty in meeting the demand and to a shift by consumers from a hand-to-mouth policy to one of forward buying.

Building construction, the board said, had declined steadily since

November of last year, and in the first quarter of this year was 15 per cent lower than for the same period a year ago. The largest decline was in the New York district, the board said, while small increases were shown in the Cleveland, Richmond, Minneapolis and Dallas districts.

The growth of the steel output, the board said, "has been in response to increased activity in a wide variety of industries. These included the large demand from the automobile industry, increased orders from railroad, and manufacturers of machine tools and agricultural implements as well as a fair demand for structural steel."

Embarrassing

Pedestrians in one of the busy streets of Glasgow, Scotland, recently were amazed by sweet strains of music issuing apparently from a young woman, who was blushing furiously. She had just bought a portable radio set that had not been shut off when she left the store. While she was on the street, the Glasgow station began broadcasting and she did not know at first how to shut off the machine.

The Old Timer's Corner

Old Timer Recalls Delightful Scenes along St Joe River Drive

Greetings to other Old Timers. I was very glad to note the printed letter from Mr. Holmes calling me to task as to the Harrison family and adding bits of information that were unknown to me but made them all the more interesting. I wish that other Old Timers would write in just such letters and I welcome a letter sent in from Mr. Holmes, always. When I was a kid, he was a grown up fighting man, and I always had a whole lot of respect for him. I still have it. My father once said of him, talking to me, one day, that "when John Holmes got mixed up in that 'dam business,' he made a mistake, but he is square and will come out all right, even if the rest of his associates are a little shaky." So come ahead Mr. Holmes, and I for one would be glad to turn over the Old Timer's Corner to you for a while, for I know mighty well that you could and would tell us things that date far ahead of any thing I could write for the readers. If you say so, I will be glad to sit on the side lines for a while and enjoy reading things that would be interesting to all of us Old Timers.

Speaking of the Dam, reminds me of another pleasant spot to think about. The river was some what "messed up" by the building of the dam and power house, but it has always been an added attraction for our town and means a lot to the forward movement that started in those long years ago, when the factory on the bank opposite the power house was set in motion and Mr. Porter had charge of it. That little factory was an inspiration to other business, and it was a pity that it had to pass out of existence. We had many good friends among the personnel of that force of workers, both in the managerial end of it and the workers. I never was fortunate enough to own one of those "bike wheeled" carriages that they turned out, but I liked them and was sorry to see them go out.

So now, let's take a little ride down the river, along the east side, starting in at the power house. Not much of a road, at best, but I am thinking of the scenery that you get and the thoughts that come to me as I pass down along that old deep quiet river. Just below the power house is where Charles Ingalls lived and we pass along and see the big high bank of the opposite side of the river, heavily set with big trees, hung with vines and moss, and some of them leaning far out over the old St. Joe, making cool shady places in the afternoons where I imagine a whole lot of fish liked to swim and rest themselves in the shade.

Passing along slowly and watching the machine to be sure and keep in the "track" (ruts), we steal a glance here and there as the opposite bank dwindles in height and come down to a mere fifteen or twenty feet above the level of the river, and all along there we see the old trees and shrubbery growing just as it was made in the beginning of things or that have come to live there by natural changes, in generations long before our times. On the side of the river where we are driving, the line of shrubbery gives us a short glimpse, now and then, of the other side of the river. It has been told that in former years when the original Americans, the American Indians, roamed this territory, that they had their homes mostly on the west bank of the river along this part and farther north, with their village on the flats just below Moccasin Bluff. And now as we "pale faces" ride leisurely along the east bank of the old St. Joe, we can imagine, almost, that we can see mythical faces of the long departed "red man," peering thru the openings in the branches. To me it has always seemed a crime that the "whites" must come and disrupt the homes of these older Americans, but they, in their ignorance of civilization, fought them off and made it very hard for the new comers to get a foot hold in this peaceful old river valley.

So now we drive along down and here we find we are right opposite the "old swimmin' hole" and passing the Deno farm. The old swimmin' hole looks mighty inviting to me, even now and I suppose the people would think I had gone "loco" if I were to go down there and take a swim, but I would like to do just that very thing.

The sand hills stand high and look really higher than they are. From our road where we are traveling, for we are so much lower on the east bank of the river. When the rail road was put thru this part of the country, they had to cut thru the base of these big sand hills and laid their railroad in sand, and now we see the sand hills, topped with small trees and tufts of grass, and between each a "wash" where the rains of the years have carried the sand out and away to the river, leaving steep-sided sand hills on either side.

Here we are at Batchelor's Island, and it sure looks quiet and nice out there in the middle of the river. It was one of my ambitions when I was a kid, to buy and own that island and to have my house out there and to just live and enjoy Nature from all directions. "Air castles" like many other of our childhood "day dreams," but it would be mighty fine, at that. Just over beyond the Island on the far shore and up over the bank we see the lower reaches of Moccasin Bluff, and Oh Boy! What fun we have had on that old hill in winter time.

Now we are passing the lower end of Batchelor's Island, with a narrow neck of swift running water between it and the next island, lying just below it. This island is mostly wet and not so good on the east shore of it, but Deb Voorhees used to have his "shack" on the other side of it, I believe, and camped there and fished etc. (I wish I could have been there with him.) I understand that someone has taken over Batchelor's Island and promises to make a sort of resort of it. That sure would be an ideal spot for one, but I would hate to see it filled up with papers and dusty roads and autos, etc., that always go with a resort place. The water of the river on our side (the east side as we are passing) is very shallow, along there, and we used to "ford" the river over to the island when we went there for picnics, etc. A bridge could very easily be placed at this point and would make a good excuse for them to fix this road we are traveling from the river bridge down this way. Yes? More power to them.

Here we are at the end of the river road. We have to turn east and right here is where an aunt of mine lived for a long time. It was David Waggoner's home and his wife was my mother's sister. They lived right over there to our left, as we are turning east, we can still see remains of the old foundation of the house and the pump. This home was one of the earliest homesteads in the "Bend of the River" I am told, but they later moved to a farm out north-west of town.

And now, our little drive is over, we have to climb this little old hill, of fine "road gravel" and be on our way. It is a real treat to me to drive down this little "one way" road, and I hope to go there again the first time I am in Buchanan.

I want to thank an old friend of mine for a kind word that she sent me thru my sister, not long since. She said she enjoyed reading Old Timers Corner and had many good laughs from it. Now I don't know that made her laugh, but I am glad if I didn't make her cry. Thank you, Lottie.

parents, from Fergus Falls, Minn. For several months she has been employed at the Grill. The bridegroom came from Fergus Falls at the same time, and has been employed in the New Axle department of the Clark Equipment Co.

Miss Norah Rossow, sister of the bride was brides maid for the occasion and Walter Nehring, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Clella Kingery, sister-in-law of the bride, and Arnold Rossow, brother of the bride, were also witnesses of the ceremony.

Following the ceremony, the bridal party motored to Buchanan where a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents. On the following morning the happy couple started for Fergus Falls, Minn., to make their home. They were accompanied by Walter Nehring and Mrs. Chas. Rossow, who went as far as Columbus, Wis., for a visit with another daughter.

The fete in Miss Layne's honor will take place in the dance hall of the Mission Inn, said by dance critics to be one of the best dance floors in southern California. A large number of friends and acquaintances of Mr. and Mrs. Scott will be in attendance.

complete the turn before he gets to the ground. As an airplane has very little excess flying speed on the take-off and for a short time after, the result is always a stall and fall out of control from 25 to 50 feet.

A pilot may reduce the forced landing hazard on the take-off by planning his path of flight to go between obstacles such as houses, trees and hills. Then in the event of motor failure he has open territory ahead of him in which to land.

When new pilots learn not to climb an airplane too sharply on the take-off, it will eliminate another source of preventable accidents in flying.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping."

Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you are feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine.

Years of service in MODEL T FORDS

THE Model T was so strongly and sturdily built that it is still rendering reliable, economical service to motorists in every section of the country. Millions of these cars can be put in shape for two, three and five more years of use at very small cost.

So that you may have this work done economically and satisfactorily, the Ford Motor Company is still devoting a considerable section of its plants to the manufacture of Model T parts. It will continue to do so as long as they are needed by Model T owners. The following list gives the approximate labor charges for reconditioning the Model T Ford:—

Engine
Tune motor (including replacement of commutator case, brush and vibrator points if necessary)	$1.00
Grind valves and clean carbon	$3.75 to 4.00
Overhaul carburetor	1.50
Re-line detachable car transmission bands	1.50
Install new pistons or connecting rods	6.00
Tighten all main bearings	6.00
Overhaul motor and transmission	$20.00 to 25.00

Rear System
Replace rear axle assembly	2.50
Install universal joint	3.00
Re-line brake shoes	1.50
Replace rear axle shaft, drive shaft pinion, or drive gear	5.00
Overhaul complete rear axle assembly	$5.75 to 7.00
Rebush spring and perches	1.75
Oil and graphite springs	3.00

Front System
Overhaul front axle	$4.00 to 5.00
Rebush spindle bodies and arms (both sides)	2.50
Replace or straighten spindle connecting rod	.75
Tighten radius rod or steering ball cap	.60
Tighten all sockets and joints of front end	1.50
Replace front spring tie bolt or new leaf	2.50
Straighten front axle	3.00

Chassis
Replace rear fender	1.75
Overhaul steering gear	3.50
Repair muffler	1.00
Overhaul radiator	7.50
Repaint Coupe	25.00
Repaint Sedan	25.00
Repaint Touring Car	20.00
Reupholster Runabout	8.00
Reupholster Touring Car	15.00
Replace top deck (Coupe or Sedan)	4.00
Overhaul starting motor	3.00
Overhaul generator	2.60

These prices are approximate and are for labor only, because the need and number of new parts depend on the condition of each car. The charge for these parts is low, however, because of the established Ford policy of manufacturing and selling at a small margin of profit.

Women's Importance in The Field of Finance—is constantly growing. This is graphically illustrated by the fact that today, over 41 per cent of the individual income taxes are paid by women.

Moreover, when it comes to incomes of $100,000 or more, over 50 per cent are controlled by women. Certainly, in view of these facts, every woman should maintain a Checking Account, in order to manage her personal finances in the most modern, efficient, business-like manner.

This bank makes a specialty of women's accounts. Their business, no matter what its size, is always assured a cordial welcome here.
