GALIEN HOLDS GOBLIN MEET TUESDAY EVE

Streets are Thronged for the Annual Halloween MASQUERADE BALL Prizes Are Awarded for the Most Weird Costumes.

Bad weather means nothing in the life of a hob-goblin or a ghost, as was proven by the fact that in the neighborhood of 100 of the tribe paraded in full regalia on the streets of Galien Tuesday evening, as the preliminary feature of the grand Halloween celebration at that place.

The ghostly tribe paraded at the heels of the Snollygoster band, back and forth on Main street and around and around the review stand that talented and versatile musical organization playing over and over its repertory of tunes, which comprised "Hail, Hail, the Gang's All Here," and "John Brown's Body Lies a-Mouldering in the Grave."

They were reviewed by a board of three competent judges, comprising Mrs. John B. Seymour and Oliver Perry of Galien and Ray Stevens of Niles.

They gave the following awards: Most appropriate Halloween costume, Otto Murock, Galien, $10; second most appropriate Halloween costume, Marion Dodd, Galien, $5; most ridiculously costumed couple, boy or girl, Misses Marjorie Swartz and Margaret Littleton, Galien, $2; prettiest costumed couple, boy or girl, Jack Hess and Floyd May, Galien, $2; best ladies' costume, Beverly Linther, Sawyer, $1; best gentlemen's costume, Mrs. Annie Jackson, Buchanan, $1; funniest lady's costume, Mrs. Nannie Stroth, Buchanan, $1; funniest gentlemen's costume, Miss Mary Behner, New Buffalo, $1; best costume representing any nation, Fern Heckathorn, South Bend, $1; oldest costumed person, Mrs. Nannie Stroth, Buchanan, (75 years), $1; youngest costume person, Eleanor Ender, Galien (18 months), $1.

After the award of prizes the crowd went to Harbert Hall, where a masquerade ball was held with music furnished by Bob Armstrong's orchestra of Michigan City.

R. J. Kenney was general chairman of festivities, with Milford Nelson as his assistant.

Here's How Local Weather Prophets Have Doped Winter

The Buchanan district is due for a hard winter, especially during the fore part, according to advance dope issued this week by local unofficial weather experts, who state that the signs "point" to an early onset of rigidity and plenty of snow before Christmas.

Chief among the signs which indicate more than usual winter is the fact reported by trappers that skunk and other fur-bearers have coats which are "priming" unusually early.

While there are no signs to speak of, squirrels have been busily storing corn and other substitutes. Muskrats have been building unusually large houses, according to those who inform themselves on such matters.

The black and brown caterpillars who serve as the weather prophets for many people, forecast severe weather early in the season, the first of the three stripes being unusually wide and heavy.

One "old timer" of the locality disagrees with the majority, stating that the fact that the wind blows from the south and east for ten days after the fall solstice shows that the prevailing winds will be from that direction for the ensuing three months, until the first of the year, and that winds from those points of the compass are usually not stormy or severe.

Local Lodge Team Stages Royal Purple Degree at LaPorte

The Royal Purple Degree staff of the local encampment, No. 169, met at LaPorte Saturday evening, accompanied by several automobile loads of fellow lodge members, where they exemplified the work of that degree before a class.

They were then treated to an oyster supper, after which cards were played until midnight.

We Might as Well Claim Joe White Claiming is Good

While Notre Dame and the village of Three Oaks are basking in the glory reflected on them by the football prowess of one Joe Savoldi, the attention of the Record is called to the fact that Buchanan may as well horn in on the spot light, from the fact that the popular grid hero lived here several years, while his father owned and operated the Buchanan Candy Kitchen.

The elder Joe Savoldi, Sr., came before the World War and his family was detained in Italy when ocean travel was endangered during that conflict.

He attended the game between Buchanan Independents and Three Oaks Sunday, and is a frequent caller on friends here.

Noted Aviator is Guest of Relatives in Buchanan Sun.

Stephen Lacey, famous aviator, who is well known in Buchanan, was a guest Sunday evening at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Homer H. Cooper, 414 West Roe Street, on his return from an eastern trip.

He left his plane at the Niles airport and joined his wife, the former Honora Cooper, here. On Monday they both left by plane for Lacey's headquarters at Wichita, Kas.

Lacey was one of the pilots in the Ford Reliability Air Tour completed last week.

HELMICK AND J. CURTIS DIE IN PAST WEEK

Local Survivors of the Civil War are Reduced to Half Dozen.

BLUE LINE FADES Both Men Took Part in Many of the Famous Engagements.

Local survivors of Civil War service were reduced in number from eight to six during the past week when Eli Helmick and John Curtis answered to "taps," and joined the Great Majority of their comrades.

G. A. R. men who still remain here are John Dick, Sam Bunker, George Hanley, George Haywood, John Coveny and Henry Rundall.

John Curtis was reputed to be one of the youngest of the Michigan soldiers serving in the Civil War, having been but 15 years old when he ran away from home to enlist.

He was born in Lake Township, Berrien County, Jan. 10, 1846, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sady S. Curtis and came to Buchanan then known as McCoy's Creek in 1856.

He was wounded in the arm in the bloody battle of Shiloh. He served through that 48 hour conflict, and later through the battles of Pea Ridge, Corinth, Nigger Hill, Little Rock and Summerville.

He was wounded in the arm in the latter engagement. He was mustered out Feb. 15, 1866 and returned to Buchanan, where he was employed many years as a machinist and woodworker in the local furniture factories.

He was married to Mrs. M. C. Mahaway, survive. For a time he farmed a place adjoining that of his father on the east, and in 1876 he moved with his family to Buchanan. Here he lived for about 25 years, working in the sawmills during the days of the lumber industry, and then running a bus between Buchanan and South Bend for several years.

After the death of his wife he moved to South Bend to reside with his son, Milton, but he always claimed Buchanan as his home, retaining his vote here, and receiving his pension here as his official home. He also retained his membership in the local G. A. R. post.

A number of years ago he was a frequent and valued contributor to the columns of the Record.

The funeral will be held at 2 p. m. Friday from the Russell Funeral Chapel at South Bend. Burial will be made in the Burke cemetery, Oronoko Township.

MRS. SERVIS WALKS INTO PATH OF CAR

Witnesses Exonerate John Holmville, Driver of Car.

DEATH IS INSTANT Was Watching a Car from the Opposite Direction.

Mrs. Mary Servis, 63, was instantly killed at 5:15 p. m. last night on M-60 in Galien, opposite the Methodist church when she stepped directly into the path of a car driven by John Holmville and was hurled to the pavement, incurring head injuries that resulted in immediate death.

Mrs. Servis had gone across the street to the home of Mrs. Henry Kleffer and her daughter, Mrs. Sue Ray, for a short visit to borrow an alarm clock, stating that she wanted to get up early to go to church on Sunday.

As she stepped on the pavement, she was apparently watching a car coming and hurried across as soon as it had passed, not noticing the Holmville car coming from the opposite direction.

She stepped directly in front of his car, allowing him no chance to avoid a contact. He stopped his car within ten feet and helped carry her to the Kamey store from which she was taken to her own home.

No sign of life was noticed. Later in the evening her daughter, Mrs. Frank May, located her three children, and took the remains home to the home of the Undertaking Parlor. The funeral will be held from the Galien Methodist Church at 1:30 p. m. Saturday.

Mrs. Servis was born on a farm near Galien on June 18, 1866, and had lived in that vicinity all of her life with the exception of a short residence at Three Oaks. Her husband died in 1906.

She is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Earl Hayes of Three Oaks and Mrs. Maude Ackerman of New Carlisle, and by one son, Harvey Servis, Jr., of Rochester, Ind.

Scout Troop 41 At Court Honor In Benton Harbor

A delegation of Scout Troop 41 attended the Court of Honor held at Benton Harbor Monday evening, the following making the trip: Loren Johnson, George Renning, Tom Howell, Bachelor, Morris Johnson and Don Sargent.

Fortress of the Great Eastern Rum King

The time-honored Buchanan tradition which holds that bridges are a game of skill and science rather than of chance is played every year on the north side of Front Street was triumphantly vindicated during the past week when the North Side Bridge crew won an eleventh hour victory by doing and noded out their historic enemies at the conclusion of the fall series by a margin of between 200 and 300 points.

A delicate situation confronted the two teams when it was found that the North Side had already purchased the prizes and had brought them to the final meeting in anticipation of defeat being prepared to hand the spoils to the victors.

When the unexpected happened and they were returned victors what to do with the prizes became something of a problem, until the South Side made an offer generously agreed to by the victors from them and they gave them back to them.

Another series is soon to be started but the South Siders will be handicapped by the absence of Mrs. Alfred Richards, who leaves soon for California.

Now Here's the Proposition

Monday Dinner

A Sunday dinner is grand, there's no doubt about it, but a Monday feast, to say the least, is junk from the day before.

They slip you a hash that's made of ham and a chunk of cow. Or hard-boiled eggs and some chicken legs, but you never would know them now.

There's a rubber croquette or two that you catch upon the board. For that is the day when the meat scraps scrap and the veal just loafs around.

There's a patie that's labelled spud and a pie that I think is oyl. And I like to say, in a heated way, that the chicken croquettes are fowl.

But restaurant men must save. And customers lives are cheap. So they fill on hash in a manner rash and they lay them down to sleep.

They lap up a mulligan stew that's a crime to the sense of taste. For none of the junk must go to waste so all of it goes to waist. And I ought to help them out, but I'm nervous and half afraid. So bring me a silver of half burnt toast and the egg that marmalade.

Dr. R. H. Snowden, who is accumulating a store of health and a coat of suntan while residing at the Princess Martha hotel at St. Petersburg, Fla., is reported to be securing good results from the rest cure and expects to be back on his rounds this winter in renewed health. Odd Fellow Party To Attend Meet At Benton Harbor

A large number of members of the local I. O. O. F. lodge plan to attend the meeting at the Benton Harbor armory Saturday night, when the Michigan state degree team, composed entirely of past Grand Masters of the Grand Lodge of Michigan will initiate a class of about 100 novitiates from all Berrien County and outside points.

There will be a parade through the business section early in the evening, followed by the lodge-work at the armory.

ELECT OFFICERS

The Buchanan Candy Kitchen received the ball for Buchanan on the kickoff and advanced it to the 40 yard line. Swank's Dry Cleaners took the oval on the first play, going through the opposing line like a shot of gasoline through a pair of pants, etc., etc., and so on.

The Michigan Mutual covered all would-be tacklers like a fire insurance policy.

That's the way the football games to be played by the late Buchanan Independents, now the Buchanan Orioles, are to be reported in the future, as the result of action taken at a meeting of the team held at the city council rooms last night.

For the name of Buchanan Orioles was adopted for the team at that meeting and announcement was made that a number of Buchanan merchants had donated 15 jerseys to the players, their advertisements to be carried across the backs.

OPEN SEASON INDEPENDENT ON PHEASANT 11 TRIMS BLUE ENDS TONIGHT STREAKS 12-0

Hunters Report Poor Success With the Ring Necks.

OPENS ON COONS TWO TOUCHDOWNS

Game Warden Reports the New Regulations on Trapping.

An army of several hundred hunters have been patrolling the fields and woods of south Berrien County during the six-day open season on ring-necked pheasants and squirrel which comes to an end tonight, without conspicuous success as far as the feathered game is concerned.

Only a few hunters bagged the first of two pheasants for one day, among the lucky men being Dan Rouse, Ira Swartz and Glenn Vanderberg. The limit for the six-day season is four. The birds are more plentiful than usual, according to Deputy County Game Warden Cleve Harner of Galien, but are smarter in eluding the hunters.

Simultaneous with the closing of the pheasant and squirrel season tonight is the opening of the raccoon and opossum seasons. Raccoon may be shot or trapped in this section of the lower peninsula from Nov. 1 to 30 inclusive. Opossum may be shot or trapped from Nov. 1 to Dec. 15 inclusive. There is no limit on the number.

Of chief interest to hunters, however, is the opening of the deer season, beginning Nov. 15 and ending Nov. 30 inclusive. The limit is one male with not less than three-inch antlers under hunter's license. Each camp of hunters is allowed one male deer, with not less than three-inch antlers, in case they possess a camp license.

The season on cottontail and jackrabbits continues open in the lower peninsula until Jan. 1, the limit being 5 in one day, 10 in possession, and 50 in a season. The limit on fox squirrels during the five-day season now ending is 5 in one day, 10 in possession, and 50 in a season.

Those who plan to trap muskrats should inform themselves on the new state regulations, according to Warden Harner. They are as follows:

A hunting license also permits the holder to trap for fur-bearing animals, except bear, muskrat and beaver.

Special license for muskrat trapping. Bear may only be killed by licensed deer hunter by shooting.

No open season on beaver. It is lawful to use firearms, spears, bladed hooks, explosives, chemical, mechanical devices other than traps or to use pitfalls, poison or smokers of any kind to kill, trap, or capture muskrats, or to drive muskrats or other protected fur-bearing animals out of their holes or homes.

Metal tag with name and address of owner must be attached to each trap set for fur-bearing animals.

Unlawful to have in possession any live fur-bearing animals protected by this act except during the open season or under permit.

Unlawful to stake out or set traps for the taking of fur-bearing animals at any time preceding the day on which the open season for the taking of such fur-bearing animals begins.

Within five days after the close of the respective open seasons provided for taking fur-bearing animals, it shall be the duty of every person having raw hides of protected fur-bearing animals in his possession at the close of the open season, to make a report to the Director of Conservation, stating the kinds and number of hides in his possession.

Pierce the Heavy Forward Wall in the Second Half of the Game.

CONRAD CASHES IN ON LONG RUNS BY HIS TEAM MATES.

Game Warden Reports the New Regulations on Trapping.

The Buchanan Independents broke through the heavy forward wall of the Three Oaks Blue Streaks Sunday to win their second game by a score of 12-0, the Buchanan offensive becoming effective in the second half, after having been held scoreless until the mid recess.

The Three Oaks team is the first independent eleven to represent that city, and includes grid talent from the Aconn City, Michigan City, LaPorte and Benton Harbor. The forward line outweighed the local front line defense by a margin, and the backfield had a well-coordinated aerial attack that kept Buchanan busy during the forepart of the game putting out of danger.

In the third period, however, the Three Oaks defense weakened, and the fast Buchanan backfield got away for several long runs which were converted into touchdowns by Conrad.

The first touchdown resulted from a 20 yard run by Wilcox and a pass, Conrad to Chubb, netting 10 yards. Three Oaks was then penalized to her own five yard line, from which point Conrad made the touchdown by line plunges.

The second marker came in the fourth quarter after several long gains by Wilcox, bringing the ball to the one yard line, from which point Conrad carried the oval across. Both attempts at goal kicking for the extra point failed.

Quarterback Pfingst made the longest run of the day, a 50 yard sprint after a forward pass, placing the ball on the Three Oaks seven yard line as the game ended.

STATE RECORDS FULL IN HORSE PULLING CONTEST

TEAMS KEEP SCORERS BUSY IN BATTLES STAGED AT COUNTY FAIRS.

The State record in horse pulling contests for both heavyweight and lightweight teams has been broken several times in the contests held at 15 county fairs which were supervised by members of the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College.

The record at the beginning of the year was held by the team owned by P. Gay, LaPorte, Michigan, which pulled 2300 pounds. This record in the heavyweight class, was broken by a pull of 3275 lbs. made at the Ionia Fair by a team owned by George Abbott, Ellwell.

This record held one day less than a month and was raised to 3300 pounds at the Saginaw Fair by horses owned by R. F. Langley, of Flint. The Gohr team went out and got their record back by pulling 3325 pounds at Marshall.

Records in the lightweight class were broken by teams owned by the Hall Orchard, Belding, and by Peter Horn, Charlotte. The Horn team now holds the record at 2925 pounds.

The three heavyweight teams which have broken records this year will compete at Michigan State College during Farmers' Week, Feb. 3-4. An attempt will be made to better the world's record pull of 3500 pounds.

All pulls are made on a machine, which measures exactly the amount of energy expended by the horses and the pull made is equal to lifting the same number of pounds vertically.

W. C. T. U. Holds Interesting Meeting

The October meeting of the Berrien County Women's Christian Temperance Union was held Friday afternoon, Oct. 25th, at the home of Mrs. Ellis Willsey, 129 Main Street.

After the devotionals, a short business session was held at which time Miss Elsie Mae Mills was re-elected president, following the resignation of Mrs. L. M. Otwell, who had been elected to that office the month before. Mrs. Esther Kiefer was elected to the office of first vice president and Mrs. Otwell, second.

The program of the day was a report of the National Convention which had been held September 19 to 25th at Indianapolis, Ind.

Those taking part in the program were Mrs. I. N. Barnhart, who gave the report of a telegram of greetings and encouragement from President Hoover, and the response by the National convention. Mrs. Otwell gave an interesting account of the convention, taken from the Christian Herald, out of which we quote: "Exactly fifty years ago there came to the city of Indianapolis, a little company of women, three hundred in all. They met together in the First Baptist church. There they sang and prayed, listened to addresses, transacted a measure of business, and adjourned. And Indianapolis, unnoticed, went about its work."

"Now it happened that among the items of business before these women was the election of officers. That wasn't unusual. It's a rare gathering that doesn't have an election of officers to cap the climax. It made history—is still making it, in fact. For when the ballots were all in and counted, it was found that this, the fifth annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, had named for its president Miss Frances E. Willard.

"Last month for its forty-fifth annual convention, the W. C. T. U. returned to Indianapolis. There were not three hundred women, but three thousand. They sang and prayed, heard addresses, and transacted business. But Indianapolis did not go unnoticed, about its work. On Sunday afternoon, the governor of the state, accepted on behalf of Indiana, a memorial plaque of Miss Willard and a monster parade of 4,750 young people, in her honor, paraded through the streets of the city, a fleet of airplanes circled low to drop a cloud of white carnations (costing over $5,000, donated by different floral companies) upon the crowd. The White Ribboners held the town."

Mrs. J. E. Arney gave an account of the dedication of the Willard Memorial Tablet and Mrs. Blodgett, of the Aerial Crusade, in which nine pilots participated, the planes dropping carnations and temperance literature upon the people that had assembled at the state capitol for the unveiling of the tablet in honor of Miss Willard. Mrs. Kiefer read of the 40,000 gain of new members during the past year, and also of the establishment of a new department of work, "Non-Alcoholic Fruit Products" with Mrs. James M. Doran as its superintendent.

Mrs. W. F. Runner gave the report of the success of the Youth's Roll Call, the plan of which is to secure the signatures of one million young people between the ages of 14 and 30 years, who wish to support the Constitution and the eighteenth amendment in particular, as a pledge to President Hoover. These names to be presented to President Hoover sometime in the month of November.

Members of the "Four Leaf Clover Club" met at the home of their leader, Miss Marion Boyle, last Saturday afternoon. Their officers are: president, Vera Hartline; vice president, Dorothy Blackmun; secretary, Hope Kelly; treasurer, Edith Dickey.

By J. O. PERRINE

"Take two blades of grass grow where one grew before," "make two ears of corn grow where one grew before," are well known slogans of the agriculturist. Translated into the language of telephony, the slogan might be "make one pair of wires carry two telephone conversations where one was carried before." Not content with an objective of 100% increase, the communication engineer has developed apparatus and principles by which several telephone conversations and a number of telegraph messages can be simultaneously sent over one pair of wires.

Twenty-six Wires for One Message

Almost 100 years ago a Swiss suggested a system of telegraphy in which twenty-six wires were required, one for each letter of the alphabet. At the end of each of the twenty-six wires were hung two platinum balls, and when an electric charge was applied at the distant end of the wires, the platinum balls separated. Each pair of balls represented a letter of the alphabet and they were arranged in alphabetical order so that it required the expert eye of the cypher player to follow their motions. There are no records as to the speed of transmission, but it would be safe to guess that it did not exceed five words per minute.

Ten Wires for One Message

A few years later a Dutchman proposed to effect a large saving in wire by using only ten wires. In this case electric charges were to be sent over one or more wires simultaneously to indicate a letter of the alphabet. The receiving apparatus of this early telegraph system was most interesting. The plan was to have the ten fingers of the hands resting on ten little metal plates connected with the ten connecting wires. If the receiving operator got a shock in his right hand he said "R"; if on his left hand he said "L"; if on his right thumb he said "T"; if on his left thumb he said "W"; if on both thumbs simultaneously he said "L"; if on both little fingers simultaneously he said "Q." If on all his fingers at once he said "A."

Candidates for the job of operator may not have been plentiful. The transmission of twenty-six different letters over ten wires was regarded as a great contemporaneous achievement.

Whether these interesting systems of telegraphy were ever put to practical use, there is no reliable record.

One Wire for One Message; for Several Messages

With the invention of the telegraph paper tape receiver by Samuel B. Morse, one wire was made to carry one message. Soon afterward it was possible to send a message in each direction simultaneously by means of the duplex telegraph, and the carrying capacity of a wire became about fifty words per minute. Later, Edison produced the quadruplex system by which it was possible to transmit, simultaneously, two messages in each direction, four messages over one wire.

Carrier Current Systems for a Number of Messages

The history of telephony records that Alexander Graham Bell's early experiments were concerned with an attempt to develop a method for sending several telegraph messages over a single telegraph wire by using different frequencies for different messages, much as broadcasting stations now send many messages over a single medium, sometimes called the ether, by using different frequencies. Bell was not entirely successful in his multiplex telegraph experiments, but out of them came his most important invention, that of the telephone. Since his time many investigators have been attracted to the problem of increasing the number of telephone messages transmitted over a single circuit by using currents of different frequencies and separating them at the terminals.

What Two Telephone Wires Can Do

Carrier current systems, whereby one pair of wires successfully carries a number of messages, are daily rendering service in communication.

To list the accomplishments of a pair of wires, it is to be noted first that one telephone conversation and four direct current telegraph messages can, with suitable apparatus at the terminals, be obtained without carrier current systems. However, with carrier current systems a pair of wires may carry simultaneously three carrier telephone messages in addition to the one normal telephone and four telegraph messages mentioned above. In some instances it is desirable to use the carrier facilities for telegraph purposes rather than telephone, in which case the pair of wires carries one telephone conversation, four telegraph messages, and 20 telegraph messages by carrier current. If need arose and it were economically warranted, higher frequency carrier currents could be used, and the one pair of wires could carry one telephone conversation, four telegraph messages, and 60 carrier telegraph messages. Each of the telegraph messages can be transmitted at the rate of at least forty words per minute by means of printing telegraph apparatus, which means that one pair of wires can carry successfully one telephone conversation and upwards of 3,500 telegraph words per minute.

One hundred years ago, 26 wires were used for one message and perhaps five words per minute were thus carried. The situation today, indeed, warrants the statement that there has been "real progress in extent and facility of communication."

GAME DEPARTMENT ISSUES WARNING TO THE DEER HUNTERS

STRAITS FERRIES PLACARDED WITH LISTS OF DONTS.

Warnings, cautions, and don'ts for deer hunters going into the upper peninsula for this year's season will be displayed on big placards in the cabins of the three state ferries at the Straits of Mackinac. The placards have been prepared by the Department of Conservation and will be posted with the cooperation of the state highway department.

The placards list information as to what a deer hunter may do while he is in the woods and what he may not do, what he should do if he becomes lost and display slogans that it is hoped will help to reduce the annual list of fatalities.

"Your license does not permit you to use artificial light, use dogs in hunting, kill a doe, kill a fawn, hunt a deer while it is in the water, hunt from your automobile, have venison in your possession more than 30 days after the close of the season, hunt on private property without owner's permission, have loaded gun in your car," says one of the placards.

"Don't neglect to tag your deer, wear your license button, unload your gun before you enter camp or an auto, carry a compass," says a second poster.

Advice to those who are lost is contained on a third card. It says: "If you get lost, don't get excited. You will probably be able to find a fire tower or its telephone line. Follow the wires. They will take you to town. If it is dark, build a fire and wait until morning. Don't tire yourself out walking in circles. Always carry a compass and matches."

As a rule, it has antlers before "brushing" and "some of you may not come back if some are careless," are among the slogans listed on the posters.

A large percentage of the deer hunters going to the upper peninsula enter by way of the state ferries.

To the Citizens of Buchanan, Michigan's Youngest City:

Mr. Editor,

For the past several months Old Timer has been rambling up and down McCoy's creek, and the hills to the north of Buchanan. Before I have finished I wish to have something to say about the hills to the south of Buchanan.

First, I want to take you over that period of time in the early 30's so much in the writings of Old Timer. Along about this time Buchanan had a chance to have a north and south railroad from South Bend via Buchanan, Berrien Springs and on to St. Joseph and Benton Harbor. Buchanan was asked to give a certain amount of money to help build the road. Some of the wise citizens of that day said, why should we pay for a railroad, it will come here anyway. It can't go any other way. And these wise men sat on the curbs and the hitching posts of those days and let the road go to the west, passing through Gallien, Glendora, Baroda and on to Benton Harbor. Through the failure of these citizens to grasp the opportunity of getting a N. & S. R. when it was offered to them, has cost Berrien county many times the sum of money asked for the railroad. Buchanan might have been a city about 30 years earlier, during its furniture manufacturing days and Berrien Springs would now be our county seat in the center of the county. Berrien Springs, with its Chapin Lake and big dam is today one of the prettiest little towns in southern Michigan.

Gallien, with an N. & S. railroad became a railroad center and for a number of years all trains over the M. C. R. R. going either east or west, stopped at Gallien. To reach the county seat or to go to South Bend our wise citizens would take the morning local west, change at Gallien to go either north or south. All this was before the advent of the automobile, when to travel 20 or 30 miles was an all day's journey.

Now comes the automobile period. When the automobile first appeared it was called a plaything and not practical. We have all lived to see the folly of that judgment. Automobiles and motor trucks are now doing a very large per cent of the transportation of our country. Automobiles made a demand for good roads. Berrien county responded with many good hard roads. It has been found that many of them are too narrow, and also they would have been better if built of concrete.

The aviation period is now at hand. When the automobile came upon the scene, no one foresaw what their future was to be. So it is with aviation at the present time. Who of us can tell what will happen in the next 10 or 20 years in perfecting the flying machines? You might say that one man's guess is as good as another but I think we have some flyers that are looking ahead into flying that will surpass that of the automobile.

In the beginning I told you I had something to say about the hills south of our city. These hills, commonly known as the Chamberlain Hills, are and are not now appreciated to their full value. Many compliments have been paid to them by people who have travelled many miles to see other hills no better. Many of our citizens should have gone to these hills with their children a few weeks ago that they might have seen the passing of the Graf Zeppelin from a point of view that would have remained with them all the remainder of their lives. To me it was a wonderful sight.

The foregoing has been leading up to the fact that your city has been promised by the county road and state highway officials to have the re-routing of M-60 thru your city limits. State officials have said that it will not be on the north side of the M. C. R. R., so the next best thing for Buchanan is to demand that it be built on the south side of said railroad as per the survey through Hobart addition to the city of Buchanan. If M-60 should be built as surveyed, at the foot of the Chamberlain hills, it will come to the attention of thousands of tourists that are on the look-out for a proper place to locate outside of the smoky and noisy city. Not too far from their business, with M-60 built through the city, will bring Chicago within about 100 minutes of your homes.

and see that it will pass a good cause. Do not do as our early citizens did in the matter of the railroad, but put in every effort to get what you are entitled to and if you should lose you will have the satisfaction of having done all in your power for

GIVES LABORERS VACATIONS

Edward G. Seibert, president of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) who last March succeeded Col. H. W. Stewart as its chief executive, has just announced a new vacation plan for that company which is attracting wide attention. Whereas in most companies vacations are given only to salaried workers, Mr. Seibert's administration has given them also to hourly paid workers on a basis of one week vacation after five years of employment and two weeks after ten years. The new plan affects 5,000 employees scattered over the states of the Middle West. With 6,000 salaried workers already receiving vacations, the company will now have 11,000 on its vacation list. The company's hourly paid workers had been asking for vacations for more than ten years but their plea had been repeatedly denied by the previous administration on the grounds of impracticability. "Far from being impracticable," declared Mr. Seibert in announcing the new plan, "we expect to get an appreciable return from it through increased loyalty."

Upstreamers Class Help Observe 50th Wedding Anniversary
 The home of Mr. and Mrs. Will Haslett was the scene of a very pleasant social evening enjoyed by themselves and twenty-four of their Upstreamer classmates, who responded to their invitation to come and help make merry on the eve of their golden wedding anniversary, October, the eighth.

The gifts were beautiful and appropriate to the occasion. Mrs. M. L. Mills read an original poem of congratulation from the class and this was followed by all shaking hands, speaking and music. After a season of jollity and mirth in keeping with their reputation as the jolliest bunch in the Sunday School, good nights were said to these friends, who are still young though having reached the allotted span of life.

Violators Game Laws Are Getting Stiffer Penalties

A gradual but certain increase in the sentences imposed by Michigan judges, and justice on conservation law violators is indicated by a report issued by the law enforcement division of the Department of Conservation.

Among other numerous violations were hunting rabbits and pheasants out of season, hunting from motor boats, using nets illegally and carrying guns in deer areas.

Taxing the Automobile.

During 1929 Michigan auto owners will be taxed more than $50,000,000 to operate their motor vehicles. Of this amount nearly $35,000,000 is expected to be the total revenue from the gasoline levy which is on a pay-as-you-go basis. Another $12,000,000 or more will represent the income to the state from the registration and license fees. The balance will consist of the return of motor vehicles for the general property tax.

It is not so many years since the sum of $50,000,000 was more than sufficient to operate the state government in all of its ramifications for a single year. Yet in this authorized era the automobile alone produces that much revenue in a fairly painless fashion to be divided between the state and local agencies for the maintenance and construction of roads. The automobile has indeed become a beast of burden as a tax producer, and yet if ways could be found to extract public revenues from other sources as equitably and as easily, the state would have no difficulty in raising all of the money it could possibly need to carry on the thousand and one undertakings of government.

The Rocket Plane.

As spectacularly as he did with the automobile, Von Opel, the German, has succeeded in harnessing his mysterious rockets to the airplane. His first public flight, after a year of preparation, lasted just a minute and a quarter. The plane was damaged in landing because the average altitude it attained was only 49 feet. Von Opel himself was unhurt.

The plane which Von Opel used was a combination of a glider and a baby plane, weighing 250 pounds. It had no motor and an abbreviated body ended in a magazine with spaces for 16 rockets, each 18 inches in length and three in diameter. Von Opel guided his curious machine into the air from a truck from which it was shot by three rockets at a speed estimated at between 75 and 100 miles an hour. Once in the air it was propelled by the firing of successive rockets.

Von Opel is satisfied that he has proved that a plane can be pushed upward and forward by the force of escaping gas from rockets. His feat was achieved with powder rockets, but he looks forward to the time when a much more powerful liquid rocket will be developed. Once this problem has been worked out, he believes, a plane which travels at a speed of 125 miles an hour in areas of air resistance will easily attain a speed of 10 times that fast once it reaches the stratosphere where there is no air resistance.

Von Opel's flight was marked by a lurid trail of fire as the rockets exploded. His plane took the air with a swishing sound. It came down, according to the cabled description, in a cloud of black smoke. Such characteristics are apt to impede the adaptation of the rocket principle to aviation until it is greatly refined. The rockets may ultimately displace the present use of motors in airplanes, but the time is likely to be quite distant.

Once More, the Ohio.

The Ohio River—La Belle Riviere to the French when the nation was young—no longer is an unstable wench likely at any time to reach up a sandy hand and hold fast a cargo of commerce or a boat of voyagers. Work started 20 years ago to guarantee a fixed channel at all times has been completed and this month the great stream celebrates emancipation from sandbars and shifting shallows.

Army engineers have finished the last of a vast system of locks and chambers making possible a nine-foot stage from Pittsburgh to Cairo, Ill., a 936-mile trade route through the midriff of industrial America. In this signal engineering achievement, $13,000,000 has been spent. The series of locks and chambers are 110 feet wide and 600 feet long. The completion of the project automatically will increase river tonnage, from the freight terminals of Pittsburgh and other smoke-hung cities that line the river's course.

For some two centuries the Ohio complacently bore heavy burdens on its wide waters. "It was a proud center of life, glimmering and roaring with color. But, boats got bigger, inevitably, and La Belle became monumental with her shifting sandbars and questionable channels, and when the army engineers began their task the glory that was the river's had faded.

Now, the great stream has again come to its own. This month of celebration is an event of the greatest significance in industrial transportation; a milestone passage in the program of inland waterway development in the United States.

Outdoor Apple Cellar.

In the current issue of The National Farm Journal of Philadelphia, the editor gives instruction to his readers on the proper method of burying apples in the ground during the winter. The completeness of his instructions and the detail in the statement suggests that his readers had no information on that subject. That is the most interesting feature of the detailed story of those who were boys on the farm and helped to "heel in" apples, potatoes, cabbage and other surplus foodstuffs when there was no cellar in which they could be stored until needed.

Early day farmers used that method exclusively, and the food so stored was safe from frost and decay if the work was well done. The editor suggests a pit about a foot deep be prepared, lined with straw, the apples placed on the straw, then covered with more straw and a light covering of earth placed over the pile, additional earth and straw being used if winter brings excessive cold. There was no ventilation prepared. When the family wanted the apples, the boy took the pick, cut through the hard frozen earth covering, tore a hole in the straw and took out such amounts as were needed. The hole would be filled with straw, closely packed in, and, if the weather was extreme, would be filled with earth.

The process was repeated as the family wanted the apples, cabbage, potatoes or other foods in the outside cellar. Gradually the store would be taken out, save a few specimens in the heavy straw about the lower side of the pile. The same process is used in Colorado now to protect and bleach celery for use or sale during the winter. Market gardeners around Denver find that method doubly valuable, the celery being entirely fresh when taken out for sale and commands a fancy price.

There may be young readers of The Farm Journal who do not know the method of "heeling in" fruit from the orchard and the vegetables from the garden, but it must be there are plenty of the adult farmers who know all about the plan, and to whom the recent painstaking explanation and instruction would be entirely unnecessary.

The Disciplined Mind.

President Nicholas Murray Butler of Columbia University is convinced that in its form and content American common school education has declined notably in recent years. At the same time, he asserts, astounding advances have occurred on the administrative and material sides of education. This retrogression, the educator told a convocation at the University of the State of New York recently, is due chiefly to abandonment of the doctrine of formal discipline and to the collapse of the family and the church as co-operating educational agencies.

"The pretty complete abandonment of the doctrine of formal discipline," Dr. Butler declared, "has deprived school teachers of any objective that really matters. We are now actually invited and urged to take as our model for the education of the American child, the cow, which grazing lazily in the pastures munches what pleases the eye and seems likely to fill the stomach. The result is so plain that no one can be excused for failing to see it."

The object of discipline, Dr. Butler pointed out, is to serve as the rungs of a ladder which enables a child to mount to the height of self-discipline, and not, as some believe, to repress individuality and to impose preconceived notions and doctrines upon the child. Scattered and experimental methods, he added, result in wasting "a very large part of our total educational effort." If parents are turning over the entire training of their children to school teachers, he said, an alarming situation is inevitable.

Whether the common school education of today is inferior to that of a generation ago, as Dr. Butler believes, is debatable. But that there is too much emphasis in the schools upon the independence and the self-expression of the child many will agree. Many of the facts that have been saddled on the schools have died out, but there is always the tendency upon the part of the professional educator to experiment with the schools, using the children as raw material. Some of these enthusiasts need to be reminded occasionally that learning is still the fundamental business of the schools.

One of our leading automobile dealers announces that the salesman who sells you a car retains the same active and solicitous interest in you afterwards that he had before and, while that's the car we wanted, we suppose we shall have to buy some other kind, having a good deal of work to do when the opportunity is afforded.

We often fear that our hardened old professional reformers are not possessed of the international mind and nothing seems to fill them with more glee than a report, not necessarily confirmed, that the young people in some country where they don't have constitutional prohibition are drinking too much for their own good also.

Our great party's attitude on farm relief seems to be that if tariff revision downward on the big campaign contributors is necessary to attain the desired end, then the farmer doesn't need any relief.

One of the steady-going young men of this town is thinking of marrying one of our wild girls to reform her, and that's another day we never expected to live to see but did.

Our way of not minding winter so much is to think about homegrown rhubarb.

Nothing amuses a really competent girl more than the idea entertained in some quarters that girls ought to have the right to propose, as if it were necessary.

Another thing we feel pretty sure of is that no Missouri delegate will get any money from Mr. Lowden's manager this time.

GREAT BRITAIN IS BUILDING WORLD'S GREATEST AIRSHIP

R-101 TO HAVE LIFTING CAPACITY 150 TONS; BURNS CRUDE OIL.

The greatest airship in the world is now being built at the Royal Airship Works, Cardington, for the air ministry—the R-101. The construction of this monster, larger than an ocean liner, is involving features hitherto untried in airship design. But every factor has been experimentally checked, and its builders are fairly confident that their picture of the airship's performance will prove accurate when the great machine finally takes the air.

The gas capacity of the R-101 is approximately 5,000,000 cubic feet which gives her a lifting power of more than 150 tons. That is the same capacity as the R-100, but the dimensions of the latter ship is much greater. She is 724 feet three inches long with a minimum diameter of 131 feet 8 inches. The 5/4 to 1 ratio of length to diameter was selected because exhaustive tests on models have shown that it gives the greatest aerodynamic efficiency.

For the first time gasoline is banished from the airship. The Beardmore Diesel engines are to use fuel oil, a special type of which has been developed with a flash point of 210 degrees Fahrenheit, making navigation in tropical climates safe where the more volatile gasoline would be dangerous, and a satisfactory flow at temperatures as low as zero on the Fahrenheit scale, to permit of successful handling in the low temperatures of the upper air.

There are five power gondolas, two near the front of the ship, two further back and a fifth on the middle. Each contains one of the Diesel engines, and they are so made that they can easily be detached and a new power unit put in place even while the ship is riding at the mooring mast, just as a train changes locomotives. Specifications for the R-101 provide that the ship have a cruising radius with full load of 4,000 miles at a minimum speed of 70 miles per hour. Fuel for this distance is carried in tanks accommodating 29 tons of fuel oil.

The passengers' quarters are inside the hull. These quarters are on two decks. The upper deck has a large lounge with promenades on either side, where windows in the outer cover of the ship permit a view of the country over which the ship is passing. A fully person dining room and a number of two berth cabins are also on this deck.

The lower deck carries the captain's control room, connected with the control car projecting from the envelope. A wireless cabin adjoins the control room. The electric kitchen is also on the lower deck with a small elevator to the dining room. A smoking room, lavatories, crew's quarters and a complete set of the lower deck accommodations. The electric distribution room and ventilating chamber are on this deck.

Volunteers of Am. Hold Heart Tag Day Here Next Saturday

Permission has been given to a representative of the Volunteers of America to hold their annual "Heart Tag Day" in Buchanan on Saturday, Nov. 2.

The affair will be sponsored by the following well-known leaders in civic and clerical circles. Rev. H. W. Staver, Rev. J. L. Griffith, Rev. Thomas Rice, Mrs. Sig Desenberg, Miss Georgia Wilcox, Mrs. W. A. Rice, with Mrs. R. E. Lamb in charge of finances and young people's work. Headquarters for the day will be at the Rex hotel.

The Volunteers of America has many activities especially in the larger centers of the state where the needs are greater; children's homes, boys' clubs, day nurseries, homes for working mothers, holiday cheer, etc. Mrs. Booth's many years of voluntary service in the prisons of the United States are well known. She made the first systematic efforts ever instituted to help, spiritually, the man behind prison walls, extended a helping hand to the discharged or paroled prisoner, or to assist his family often left destitute while he served his sentence. Recessional officers of the organization look after such families anywhere in the state.

The enterprise on Saturday will be a children's affair for the work is to be done by the grade girls and boys. There will be attractive prizes and movie passes for those securing the largest amount for their heart tags. For the first prize a No. 2 Brownie kodak will be given by W. N. Brodick. Second prize is a pair of roller skates given by Eumer Bros. The third prize is a $1.50 box of chocolates given by Wisner's Pharmacy and the fourth prize is a $1.25 box of chocolates given by the Buchanan Candy Kitchen. Those who do not win a prize but secure at least $3 for their tags will receive a pass good for one movie show given by Manager Morley of the Princess Theatre. The hearts are to be sold for what ever the purchaser is willing to give and they hope everyone will "Have a Heart" on Saturday thereby helping an unfortunate. Contributed.

The Old Timer's Corner

Some Early Buchanan Settlers are Recalled by Mrs. Winch

Fashion plates are showing silhouettes of long skirts that seem a revival of 19th century fashions. Some one asks "Does that mean a mental walk down?" Not at all. Her clothes are not the woman. Early in the 50's Mrs. Amelia Blomster out of her skirts and donned trousers—or colored pants. She was of the group of women in New York, who were trying to outshout the shriekers that women were getting out of their "spears." Said sphere was very circumscribed. In Buchanan the cloister widened to allow a woman to preach. She led a following of women in short dresses they called bloomers. No catechism followed. Then women gave up short dresses, hooped their skirts, tightened their corsets and trails instead of trousers became womanly, suited to their spheres. No, the clothes are not the woman.

The Mansfields came to Buchanan, strangers. He was a mild, good looking man. Mrs. Mansfield was a woman of the Juno type. Both were advent preachers. No church in Buchanan would allow them the use of a pulpit. So they preached in the ball room of the American House from the fiddler's platform. From curiosity crowds of people gathered to hear a woman preach. Her singing was melodious to a wonderful degree. Mr. Mansfield, too, sang well. Soon their converts were numerous and willing to form a congregation and build a church, wherein the husband and wife preached the new doctrine for several years.

I was glad to read Mr. Holmes' sketch—even if he did challenge my assertion that Dr. Harrison and Dr. Roe were the only doctors at one time in Buchanan.

I remember facts better than dates. But I am sure that at one time these two doctors were the only ones in Buchanan. Our family went to Moccasin Bluff in 1850 and I immediately was entered in Mrs. Harrison's Sunday School class and often stayed to dinner at Dr. Harrison's. I remember a dozen or more doctors coming to Buchanan, although not in exact sequence.

The Reynolds family (one of them married into the Howe family) and I think the Posters, too, lived at or near Carlisle Hill or Terre Coupe Prairie. It wasn't so very far from the Holmes home to Carlisle Hill. I knew Dr. Foster and his wife (Mrs. Rook) but not in early life. What mattered a few miles ride from Buchanan or Carlisle Hill?

I wondered and still my wonder grows, about who wrote the story of the Colvin district? Names were so familiar—so long gone—once so intimate, it was startling. George Colvin married one of the early teachers of Buchanan township, (Mary Frazier). She was a sister of Mrs. White Redding and became the mother of Mrs. John Montague, my adorable sister-in-law. "The mother, like daughter" is a special tribute to both.

I am not trying to write an autobiography. But the little log school house in the Colvin district holds especial memories that were heart throbs.

In the summer of 1860, two years before I was through school, several Colvin District people asked me to teach the summer school to their small children. No public funds were available. I was to teach a subscription school of thirteen weeks for $1.00 a scholar. Of course I boarded around. I got through. Flavilla Quint was my mentor. She had taught school even then and I found her kind and helpful, my friend in our old age.

A big black snake one day took issue with me as to who should occupy the school house. As he was weaving through between the logs I capitulated. "Why didn't you kill him," said my host, Alvin Bates. It had not occurred to me.

There was the Shemely boy who in the whole term persistently called a rat "stwid." Joe Fuller, who would not say one word. Wallace Burgoyne, who sat in my lap to read. These three were my dear four year olds.

Mark Carpenter brought his bride, that summer, to his farm in the Colvin District, where his son, Sandford, still lives. Sandford's wife is of the Berre family. Excellent people, quite of the verve de ver order.

OLD RECORD GIVES INTERVIEW WITH SETTLER OF 1832

REMEMBERED WHEN INDIAN VILLAGE STOOD BELOW MOCCASIN BLUFF.

The following recital of early Buchanan history is taken from the special Home Coming edition of the Berrien County Record published Aug. 19, 1910, the copy being furnished us by Mrs. Nettie Lister.

Recently the Record had an interview with Chas. Snyder, the oldest continuous resident of Buchanan, which town, when he arrived in 1832, consisted of a few scattered log cabins in the almost unbroken wilderness. At that time the village of one of the leading Pottawatomie chiefs, Moccasin, was located on the flat below Moccasin Bluff, situated on the St. Joseph river a mile north of this place. Another Indian village called Mishaguaka, was located just south of the village. The Indian emigration westward commenced in 1836 and in 1843, the remainder, except Pokagon's band, went west.

"There were only a few habitations, all of the log cabin variety, when I arrived here with my parents in '32," said Mr. Snyder. "We plunged into the forest and carved out a home about six miles northwest of here. There were many Pottawatomie Indians hereabouts in those days, but they were friendly. This peaceable attitude of the Pottawatomies may have been attributed to previous contact with French missionaries and traders.

The dense forest stood undisturbed in all its primeval grandeur when we arrived on what became the site of our home, and deer, wild turkey, partridge, quail and other wild game abounded, but the timber soon suffered inroads at the hands of the early settlers, who in their eagerness to clear up the land burned enormous quantities of valuable timber, and in later years it was entirely wiped out by saw-mill industries, which rapidly denuded the country.

"Nature with the indulgence of a kind mother, furnished the early settlers, who had plunged poorly equipped into the wilderness, with an abundant of health-giving food, and in addition to the other game, the wolverine, muskrat, raccoon, beaver, otter, mink and martin were common and furnished both pastime and profit to the hunter and trapper, and the streams and lakes swarmed with fish.

Mr. Snyder, who was born in Richmond, Ind., Sept. 2, 1826, and who was only six years old when he came to these parts with his parents, lived on the farm in the wilderness till about 1840, when he came to Buchanan, which was then a hamlet of a few hundred population, and learned the trade of a brick mason, and he piled the tools of his trade continuously until about a year ago.

Mr. Snyder erected the union school building the Redden building, now occupied by W. F. Rumber, the druggist; Hotel Lee, the post office building, the Evangelical church and many others. He also built the Gatchel block at Niles, and some fine buildings at Dowagiac.

Mr. Snyder says that he recalls spending a night in the first house built in Buchanan. This house, he says, was erected by Leonard Madder and was of the log cabin variety.

In 1836, Madder sold the house, which stood on the bank of the creek in the rear of the present site of the Atlas Belting company plant, to Andrew C. Day, Mr. Day was a native of Connecticut and came here in '36. He worked on the saw mill which Russel McCoy and Hiram Wray built in 1835, at the mouth of the creek. In 1839 Mr. Day and John Hamilton erected a grist mill with two runs of stones on the creek.

The first person to settle in Buchanan township is said to have been Chas. Cowles, who came from Vermont in 1838, and settled on the present site of Buchanan. He built a shingle mill on McCoy's creek shortly after his arrival.

Mr. Snyder recalls that the village of Buchanan was platted by John Hamilton in 1842 and contained about 40 acres. The original village has greatly enlarged by subsequent additions. The village was incorporated in 1858 and at the first election, James M. Matthews was chosen president.

Mr. Snyder remembers that the first dry goods store in the village was opened in 1842 by the firm of Stanley, Staple and Twombly; that a distillery was established in 1840 by Julius Russell, with whom Chas. Clark was afterward associated; that the first physician in the place was Dr. Wm. C. Harrison; that the first village attorney was John Grove; that among the prominent early settlers of the village were Edward Ballinger, L. P. Alexander and John D. Ross; and that among other prominent business men who were identified with important industries in the village were Wm. M. Bainton, Geo. H. Richards, A. Willard, Chas. Black and H. S. Black. Mr. Bainton at an early date built a flour mill known as "Bainton's Mills." The business is still carried on by his sons, W. F. and Charles.

Mr. Snyder enlisted in Company C, 12th Michigan Regiment, in 1863, and served till the close of the war. He is a republican and has voted in many national and state elections. In 1864, Mr. Snyder was married the first time. His wife died 16 years ago and he re-married, his second wife dying nearly a year ago. The first marriage was blessed with two children. There are J. W. Snyder of Chicago, and Mrs. George Howard, who resides with her father.

NEW CONTRIBUTOR TO CORNER TELLS OF ANCIENT FIRES

ADDS HITHERTO UNPUBLISHED INFORMATION ABOUT JOHN HOLMES

I see Old Timer for the Record has retired for a rest. As I have never seen an account of the two most disastrous fires that ever happened in Buchanan in one winter, I thought I would write a little about them.

The first fire was at Rough's saw mill in the winter of 1892 or 3. The mill was the busiest place in town. Loads of logs came in every day and the mill ran early and late sawing the logs up in all kinds of building material. One night the fire bell rang and we were awakened up suddenly. We were living at that time in the Ingersoll house, just across the street from the mill. The fire spread all over the mill burning bright and when the company arrived the structure was nearly burned to the ground. So they turned the water on the safe to save the contents.

The next day all was quiet where there had been a beehive of industry. Then just a short time later, Sparks & Hathaway's grocery and the bakery burned on the spot where Denenberg's Clothing store is now and Clyde Baker had a dry goods store adjoining.

Clyde moved all of his goods down in the building where Rumber's Hardware now is. He had plenty of help as most of the town were out en masse.

I will tell a little joke on John Holmes. Buchanan was entertaining the 12th Michigan at their annual reunion and Holmes came up in the hall to take the names of those that had registered for his paper. There were several ladies decorating the stage for the entertainment and Holmes called to me it.

By Government decree, the name "Emden" has now been made a name of honor that may be added to the family name of all living survivors of the German cruiser. The first to adopt the new title is Friedrich Garbe-Emden.

After extinguishing a fire which threatened his apartment, 30-year-old Captain Henry Hammond of Bexhill, England, dropped dead from over-exertion.

KONJOLA WORKED WONDERS FOR ME IN A SHORT TIME

NEURITIS, KIDNEY TROUBLE MADE LIFE MISERABLE; QUICKLY ENDED BY NEW HERBAL COMPOUND.

MRS. ALTA GRESLEY "I had been troubled with neuritis and kidney trouble for about three years," said Mrs. Alta Gresley, 142 Monroe street, Lapeer, Mich. "My kidneys were so weak that I had to get up several times every night. My limbs were badly swollen and the neuritis pains were so bad that at times it seemed almost impossible to get around the house. My condition became worse and worse, and nothing seemed to help me. All medicines merely gave me temporary relief, until I found Konjola. I have been helped wonderfully. Three bottles of this really worked wonders for me in a short time. I am glad to give this voluntary endorsement with the hope that it may help someone that might be suffering as I once did."

Konjola is sold in Buchanan at W. N. Brodick's drug store and by all the best druggists throughout this entire section.

ST. JOE MAN IS KILLED ACCIDENTALLY BY HIS SON

Joseph Raymond Clemens, 44, member of a prominent Twin City family, was instantly killed Friday by an accidental discharge of a .22 calibre rifle in the hands of his 11-year old son, while the two were squirrel hunting at Volinia, 14 miles southeast of Dowagiac. A shell had jammed in the .22 and the weapon was accidentally discharged while the father and son were endeavoring to dislodge it, the bullet entering the father's heart.

MRS. A. A. HARNER OROKONO TOWNSHIP PIONEER EXPIRES

Mrs. A. A. Harner, well known pioneer resident of Oronoko township, died at the Harner homestead eight miles northwest of Buchanan Friday, six weeks after the death of her husband, which occurred Sept. 10.

Mrs. Harner was 76 at the time of her death, and had been in failing health for about a month, beginning to fail about two weeks after the death of her husband.

Mrs. Harner's parents, Aaron and Elizabeth Van Tatton, came to the middle west in the early days from New York state. Mr. Van Tatton came to Chicago with the Michigan Central railroad, and but a short time later moved to Berrien county with his wife. They settled on a homestead southwest of Berrien Springs and there on May 1, 76 years ago, their daughter, Charlotte, was born. After her marriage to A. A. Harner, Charlotte Van Tatton moved to a farm within two miles of the family home, where she had since resided.

Mrs. Harner was the last but one of the five children in the VanTatton family. A younger sister, Mrs. Nellie Krist, resides in Milwaukee.

The son, Eldon C. Harner of West Palm Beach, Fla., is the only child surviving Mrs. Harner. A daughter, Mrs. Carl Pennell of Berrien Springs died two years ago.

There are also eight grandchildren surviving, two of whom are children of Mrs. Pennell. Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Harner have two children and four adopted children.

15 YR. OLD ST. JOE GIRL RELEASED BY KIDNAPERS

Margaret Berk, 15 year old daughter of Court Officer Berk of St. Joseph, returned to her home Friday, after an absence of two months, during which time she had been forcibly married to Richard Gates and held by him and his father, William Gates, who posed to be wealthy Colorado cattlemen. She stated that she had been placed on a bus at Kalamazoo that day by the two men, who told her that her mother was critically ill at the Mercy hospital and that they were permitting her to go to see her.

The girl was married to the younger Gates at Plymouth, Ind. Police afterwards located a dozen women who had been married to deserted by one or the other of the two men, several of them being victimized out of considerable sums of money. They are reported to be driving a blue Packard carrying a Colorado license and with Minnesota plates in the car.

Birds Migrate From Arctic Zone To South America

"Join the migrants and see the world" might well be the slogan of thousands of North American birds which every year fly south in the fall and then come north in the spring. Some of these birds think nothing of flying 5,000 miles from their nesting places in the north to southern South America.

For example, the scarlet tanager, known for his gaudy red and black dress, nests in the United States and Canada. When autumn comes he hustles way down to Peru for the winter. The bobolink not only dares to take a 500 to 700 mile sustained flight over the ocean from Cuba to South America but he also keeps on until he reaches Brazil, Bolivia and Paraguay. Purple martins, cliff swallows, barn swallows and some of the thrushes also like South America as a winter resort. Another champion long distance flyer at this time of the year is the black poll warbler. Summertime finds some species breed north of the arctic of the black polls as far north as Alaska. This winter you'll see them 5,000 miles from that northern playground—enjoying the insects and climate of northern South America. The night hawk also takes a couple of blue ribbons as a long distance traveler. He may nest as far north as the Yukon. Now he is on his way to Argentina.

The whip-poor-will, which kept you awake nights when you were camping a few months ago, may travel as far south as British Honduras before he decides to stop for the winter. The wood pewee, whose plaintive calls is a feature of many woodlots in the United States, must have insects during the winter, so he winters anywhere from Nicaragua to Peru. Thus you can tell the roll of our American birds and find many hard travelers among them when it comes time to migrate.

But the performances of all of these birds, when they take to the air for their migration journeys, are shaded by the long distance flying of a few waterbirds, notably the shore birds. According to Wells Cooke of the United States biological survey, nineteen warblers breed north of the arctic circle and every one of them flies to South America for the winter. Six of this group penetrate Patagonia, a migration of 8,000 miles. On the other hand, some of our commonest birds make just a bluff at a migration, choosing to change their range but slightly during the winter. For example, the robin, which is apt to be a welcome neighbor in the middle states throughout the entire year, lives in Canada only during the summer and go into Florida and other gulf states in the winter. Thus we have the Canadian robin coming down in the fall to take the place of the midwestern bird which has decided to go to the gulf for the winter. We have seen large flocks of robins in the cabbage palm hammocks of Florida, and on the sandy islands or "cheniers" in Louisiana swamps during January and February. As soon as spring is in the offing these birds start north to their old nesting grounds. Somebody told O'Goofy that football under the new rules was becoming effeminate. He was beginning to believe it until he saw Fordham play the entire New York university eleven and reserves.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking Nulol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nulol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping. Nulol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you're feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine."

In spite of the fact that a million Chevrolet Sixes have already been placed in the hands of owners, and have proved their performance and stamina by billions of miles of service over every type of highway the nation affords—

—the Chevrolet Motor Company continues to take new Chevrolet Sixes from the assembly line at the factory and subject them to pitiless testing on the roads of the General Motors Proving Ground!

For in no other way is it possible to make the Chevrolet Six so sound in design and materials—so dependable in performance—and so economical to operate!

If you are considering the purchase of an automobile, come in and see the new Chevrolet. You will find that it is more than a Six in the price range of the four. In every way it is a finer car than you ever thought possible in the low-price field!
