Wolgast-Carlson Go Headliners in Opening the Winter Fight Season Here

WELTERS MIX FRIDAY EVE IN LOCAL ARENA

Michigan Boxer Will Meet Welter Champ of Sweden.

SNAPPY PRELIMS.

The Buchanan Athletic Club Will Sponsor the Fight Card.

Al Wolgast of Cadillac, brother of the illustrious Ad and Michigan's lightweight champion until he became too heavy to make the weight, will find the traveling anything but easy against Mel Carlson, the undefeated welterweight champion of Sweden, in their 10-round main event on the 32-round card in the Clark Theatre arena Friday night that will usher in the winter boxing season of the Buchanan Athletic club.

Carlson, although but 19 years old, has had 48 ring engagements, and has yet to lose a fight. He won seven of his last 21 professional fights by a knockout and in meeting Wolgast, he will face the best man of his career. Both men have 10-round draw decisions against Larry Cappa, Carlson was the last Cammerer card.

Two regular main-go principals are booked for the eight-round semi-final. They are the ever popular Peevee Jarrell, misnamed as the jumping spider and one of the middle west's leading lightweights, and Art Champagne, the hard hitting Battle Creek boy. This fight should be equally as good as the main event.

Joey Levine of Niles and Victor Pawloski of Michigan City, will meet in a six-round and there will be two four-round bouts. Gled I. Miltenberger of Niles will referee. The first preliminary will start at 8:15.

A preliminary of more than usual interest to Buchanan fight fans will be the appearance of a new local fighter, Bob Sawyer, who will go four rounds with the Niles chocolate drop, Kid Dodd. Sawyer is an employee at the Clark plant. He has fought only two professional fights previously, both of which he won by knockouts. Another four-round preliminary is yet to be arranged.

Tickets for the fight may be purchased at Mead's Barber Shop, Proud's Cigar Store or Donley's Billiard Parlor.

TELEPHONE TOPICS

According to the San Francisco Chronicle, Mr. Wong, Chinese, out-talks Mr. Jones, American, twice over—telephonically speaking. Which means that in San Francisco's Chinatown there is a daily average of eight calls per telephone, as against four calls a day for the whole city, which, by the way, holds the world's talking record for large cities. San Francisco with 250,000 telephones makes a million calls a day, while Chinatown with 2,300 telephones makes more than 18,000 telephone calls daily. Midnight is said to be the favorite hour for social calls in Chinatown and the Chinatown operators are not disturbed when a conversation starts at midnight and continues until 4 or 5 o'clock in the morning. Frequent use is also made of Long Distance and these calls to Vancouver, Chicago or New York are said to sometimes last an hour.

Mrs. Charles H. Pickens of Omaha, Nebraska, is one of the few persons now living, who was present at the Philadelphia Centennial Exposition in 1876, and witnessed the memorable incident when Emperor Dom Pedro of Brazil picked up one of Alexander Graham Bell's telephones on exhibition there, and cried out, "My God, it talks."

Mrs. Pickens, then a young miss, was visiting the Exposition with friends, when she was attracted by the group of judges about Bell's exhibit; leaving her friends, she walked over to the exhibit and was just in time to hear the Emperor's now historic utterance. She also recalls seeing him pass the instrument to other members of the group and the expressions of wonder that appeared on their faces as they heard the voice of Bell transmitted over the wires from another part of the building. Thirty-nine years later, in 1915, Mrs. Pickens was present at a banquet in Washington, D. C., when the first transcontinental telephone line was opened and recalls vividly listening to the waves of the Pacific Ocean beat upon the shore.

According to an A. P. dispatch from St. Louis to the San Francisco Chronicle, a citizen of that city was tackling the job of searching through 14,000 discarded telephone directories to see if he could find checks and currency totaling $1,955, which he had tucked away in his directory for safe keeping. A new directory had been delivered at his home and his old book with 13,999 others had been dumped into a freight car for shipment to a Chicago paper house.

While workmen were digging a trench for telephone cable in Main Street, Alhambra, Calif., recently they struck pay dirt. P. Schaefer, a telephone company inspector, a former mining prospector, took some of it home and reported the next day that he had found one gold nugget of coarse gold the size of his finger nail, also particles of platinum and a small ruby. Since that time the digging operations have been furious and fraught with interest, but no new finds have been reported, although many workmen have taken home sacks of gravel for panning.

Colonel Charles Erskine Scott Wood ("The Buck in the Desert") looks exactly like the traditional concept of Jehovah.

A census taken from the air of the big game animals in Alaska is being made by the Alaska Game Commission.

Smiff, I hear you took a long auto trip with Sandy MacTight. Who paid the traveling expenses? Bjones. Well we split 50-50. I furnished gas and oil while Sandy saw to the air and water.

WRONG SPRAYS CUT PROFITS OF MICH. ORCHARDS

Proper use of materials subject for school held Nov. 19-20, 21.

Flinging dollar bills to the winds and the use of wrong spray mixtures on Michigan fruit trees are equally bad economic practices in the opinion of the horticultural department at Michigan State college and in an attempt to lessen wastes, the department has arranged a course of instruction in the use of spray materials to be held at the college Nov. 19, 20 and 21.

Instructors and specialists from the college staff and other men familiar with spray materials will conduct classes for dealers, county agricultural agents, fruit exchange managers and growers who enroll in the course. Problems donated to Michigan orchardists by the old world will be up for discussion when the control of the European red mite and the Oriental peach moth appear on the program. In addition to the instruction on how to avoid insect and disease injuries, the students will be told how to avoid injuries caused by improper uses of the sprays themselves. Spray residues are another subject for discussion. New methods of combating old enemies will be topics for lectures and those enrolled in the course will get some first hand instruction in spray mixtures by the actual mixing of materials in the college laboratories.

B. H. S Wins Neck-and-Neck Grid Contest From Otsego

LOCALS MAKE 1 TOUCHDOWN IN 1ST. HALF

Game Was Marked by Desperate Defensive Tactics.
OTSEGO THREATENS Two Collar Bone Casualties in the Camp of the Enemy.

The Buchanan High school steam roller flattened a hard fighting group of athletes from Otsego at the enemy camp last Saturday by a score of 6 to 0. The "Bucks" began their flattening tactics in the first period and finally crossed the line in the second quarter. But then they ran out of steam so the Otsego lads proceeded to do a little "rolling" of their own and for a while things did not go so well for the locals.

A couple of gridsters from Otsego, one playing under the name of Walters and another under the name of Adams, proved to be the proverbial "fly in ointment" for the locals. However, the latter got in too deep and was removed from the game with a cracked collar bone. Then a lad named Yeakey picked up the burden and dashed around end in a real ambitious fashion. Although these flies covered lots of ground the locals would set their brakes on their steam roller and Otsego would lose the ball.

The stars for the "Bucks" were the thirteen men who played in the contest. Pierce, the "baby elephant," played his usual stellar game, but every other player had to help him. In the first quarter Buchanan received and by using straight football made 2 first downs in a row, but Otsego braced and Pierce punted outside on his opponents' 29 yard line. Then followed an exchange of punts and the quarter ended with the ball in Otsego's possession on the B. H. S. 41 yard line.

Another exchange of punts gave the "Bucks" 3 yards at the 39 yard line. Pierce made 3 yards at tackle and Frings carried the ball 8 yards to the 28 yard line for a first down. Chubb raced around end for 14 yards. Pierce hit tackle for 7 yards, putting the ball on the 7 yard line. Pierce hit the center for 4 yards and another first down. Then Pierce smashed the line for the remaining 3 yards and a touchdown. His kick for extra point was wide. A few minutes later Buchanan fumbled and Otsego recovered on the 41 yard line. Then a pass, Walters to Adams, put the ball on the 38 yard line. Another pass, Adams to Yeakey, made 20 yards more. A pass, Adams to Walters, was incomplete. Adams went around end to the 11 yard line but was injured and had to be removed from the game. After Buchanan got the ball Aronson fumbled on his 16 yard line, but Pierce intercepted a pass and returned it to the 35 yard line as the quarter ended.

In the third quarter Otsego would try sweeping end runs, but after gaining a little would be forced to punt. After this procedure had been followed for some time Otsego rushed the ball to the locals' 23 yard line, but here Capt. Pierce intercepted another pass and carried it to the 48 yard line. The quarter ended at this place. In the last quarter Frings and Pierce worked the ball to the 27 yard line, but here they decided to quit; so Pierce fumbled and gave Otsego another chance. However, Frings clamped on to a stray pass sent by Otsego and the Bucks smashed their way to the 18 yard line. Again they ran out of steam and Otsego took the ball. The game ended with the ball on Otsego's 29 yard line. Adams, the big Otsego fullback, received a cracked collar bone when he was tackled after a pretty end run. A guard, received a fracture of the collar bone in the first quarter but stayed in the game for six or seven plays more. The "Bucks" came out of the fray with only bruises to remember their engagement by. The "Bucks" engage Cassopolis there, Friday, in an expectedly easy game.

Velmarian Club Holds Monthly Meet
Friday, November the first, the Velmarian Literary Club held their monthly meeting. The meeting was called to order by the president, Ray Barbour. Roll call was answered with one statement by a football critic. Because of Toastmaster Harold Pierce's absence, Helen Kean was appointed toast-mistress in his place. The very interesting program which entertained the students consisted of "The Origin of Halloween," by Raymond Reed; "The Broomstick Train," by Kathryn Reed; "The Black Cat," by Arthur Anderson and a very humorous story by Harold Knight. After the program the Literary Critic, Richard Zerbe, gave his report. Bright: Do you know why water melons have water? Dumb: No, I can't imagine. Bright: Because they are planted in the spring.

Still Wrangling
Last Friday each boy and girl wrote an original story. The best ones were read and voted on. Mildred Francis was chosen as the best. Charles Harris was next choice. Editorial
The process of living off someone else is called "sponging." In every community there are a number of people who make a practice of doing this. Likewise, in school life, every class has several so called "spongers." These people are the ones who never quite understand their lessons, so they borrow some one's paper or note book, and then proceed to copy the whole thing. These are the ones who very slyly look at their neighbors' papers during an examination. These are the people who constantly borrow paper and pencils and never return them. They often get good marks without any work. This is unfair to those who work hard for their good marks, and also to those who work just a little and get barely passing marks. There are two ways to abolish "sponging" in our school: First, if you are a "sponger," be honest for a change, and second, if you are one of the ones who help "spongers," start to reform, for you are being unfair to yourself as well as to the person you are helping. BELIEVE IT OR NOT

Student Council Plans H. S. Party On Friday Night
Friday, Nov. 8th, is the date of the annual high school party. It is not to be a masquerade as some people thought but better. Only the four upper classes are included. "Speed" Saunders now drives only thirty miles an hour. The Seniors enjoyed all day strollers while working on Booster Day Floats. Dick Chubb is getting over his infant and they are not cold sores. "Nene" DeNardo got up before 12 o'clock last Saturday morning. The ticket sales for the Clark play were finally straightened out. Frances Sutphen entertained "Bill" Saturday night. The Seniors finally learned twenty lines of Wordsworth each. Madelon Hamilton still keeps thin jogging around each morning on her little pony. "Shorty" Mitchell is growing up. A patron of the Clark play was heard to say that the high school band surpassed the Clark. Hardly true yet but it might come to that if you don't watch out. Freddie Portz was caught with a frown. Glenn Jesse sprained his neck flitting with Marjorie Howe. George Cooper didn't have a date Saturday night. Miss Skeels is giving the Frosh 3's in Citizenship instead of 4's. The files keep Lloyd Kolhoff from sleeping in history. (Bring a swatter). Mr. Hyink misses his absent sweetheart—Per Geometry class. Frank Anderson was seen calling on his friend E. H. Ormiston today. Miss Niffenegger has steel plates on her shoes. "Speed," you're not alone!

Affirmative Teams Give Speeches to Assembly Friday
The affirmative debating team consisting of Marvin Gross, Arthur Anderson, and Richard Zerbe, gave us a sample in General Assembly last Friday of what they are going to do Nov. 14, when they have their first debate with Do-vagiac. The question for debate is, Resolved that, The Jury be Abolished and a Judge or Board of Judges be substituted for all civil or municipal trials. Teacher: How much time did you put on your lessons last night? Student: Ten hours. Teacher: How come? Student: I put my books under my head as I slept.

SOPHOMORES LEAD IN SALE TICKETS FOR CLARK PLAY
PHIL HANLIN IS HIGHEST INDIVIDUAL WITH 185 TICKETS SOLD.
The ticket sale for the Clark play, "The Whole Town's Talking" was pushed diligently by the four classes in high school. The town was divided into sections for selling purposes so that the whole town was covered. Not only the students were working, but the teachers also had a hand in it. Some were seen frantically tearing their hair, others holding their heads and as a whole telling us indirectly that they were having a hard time keeping the number of adult and children tickets sold, who sold them and everything else that goes with selling tickets, straight. The prize of $5 given to the class selling the most tickets, was claimed by the sophomores. They sold 335 tickets. The freshmen were right on their heels, selling 248. The juniors sold 194 and the seniors 103. Phil Hanlin sold the largest number of tickets for an individual. They were 185 in number. Phil showed real school spirit for he not only worked to help his class win the prize, but also to help the band get their uniforms by persuading people to come to the play.

Grade 3—Mrs. French
We are glad to have Tommy Fitch back in school after a two week's absence. We were sorry to lose Bill Forders. He moved back to Shelbyville. The boys were victorious in the spelling match. There were four boys and three girls standing at the close. Last Friday each boy and girl wrote an original story. The best ones were read and voted on. Mildred Francis was chosen as the best. Charles Harris was next choice. The last twenty minutes Friday afternoon we chose some of our best readers and they each read us a story. Charles Harris and Katherine Mosier read the best. Robert Ferris, Alta Ferris, Geo. Lakin, Alice Leazenby, Shirley Bauch, Audrey Ruth and Mildred Ferris did not miss any words in the written spelling test.

Grade 4—Mrs. Fuller
The boys and girls of Mrs. Fuller's room observed Halloween by dressing for the occasion last Thursday afternoon. They also helped the other grades to remember the date by marching in a silent line through their rooms. We enjoy watching our elephant incense burner puff perfumed smoke when the air becomes stuffy as school rooms sometimes do. The boys and girls wish to thank the P. T. A. for the lovely book, "Smoky," which they gave them for getting the largest number of members in the recent membership drive. We have four gold fish in our room and enjoy watching them as

Grade 1—Miss Carnegan
We have some new Mother Goose puzzle pictures. Friday afternoon we dramatized the story of "The Three Little Pigs." John Montgomery brought an ivy plant for the room. Grade 2—Miss Myers Group II are ready to start reading in their new Beacon Primers. We enjoyed a Halloween party Thursday afternoon. We played games and had pop corn and apples. Third Grade—Mrs. Heim
In our Nature Study class we have been studying vegetables which were brought from home gardens. Karol Dunlap brought a plant for the school room. Grade 4—Mrs. Fuller
The boys and girls of Mrs. Fuller's room observed Halloween by dressing for the occasion last Thursday afternoon. They also helped the other grades to remember the date by marching in a silent line through their rooms. We enjoy watching our elephant incense burner puff perfumed smoke when the air becomes stuffy as school rooms sometimes do. The boys and girls wish to thank the P. T. A. for the lovely book, "Smoky," which they gave them for getting the largest number of members in the recent membership drive. We have four gold fish in our room and enjoy watching them as

We are glad to have Tommy Fitch back in school after a two week's absence. We were sorry to lose Bill Forders. He moved back to Shelbyville. The boys were victorious in the spelling match. There were four boys and three girls standing at the close. Last Friday each boy and girl wrote an original story. The best ones were read and voted on. Mildred Francis was chosen as the best. Charles Harris was next choice. The last twenty minutes Friday afternoon we chose some of our best readers and they each read us a story. Charles Harris and Katherine Mosier read the best. Robert Ferris, Alta Ferris, Geo. Lakin, Alice Leazenby, Shirley Bauch, Audrey Ruth and Mildred Ferris did not miss any words in the written spelling test. Beginning next week, the most outstanding piece of work done in the High School English classes will be printed every week in the Microphone. After this the girls' locker room will be swept every day. All girls are asked to co-operate in keeping it clean. A. Anderson, I. Bachman, E. Zerbe, G. Houswerth, R. French, G. Lyon, D. Eisele, H. Huntington, and E. Montgomery attended the young people's S. S. conference last Saturday night. Part of the bunch was chaperoned by Mr. Ormiston. Miss Kathryn Reed entertained her cousin, Miss Ethlyn Hall over the week end. Mr. Stark explained that the Indian War Dance outside the study hall windows was the football boys having their pictures taken. A group of the Senior Sewing Circle, A. Welbaum, M. Frickich, E. Montgomery, M. Bachman, Edith Eddy, Esther Bradley, and Mrs. Dunbar, big sister of the group met at the home of Sally Wilcox last Wednesday night to plan the novelty sale which will be had sometime in November for the benefit of the Annual. High Blood Pressure.

"The person with a high blood-pressure should not allow himself to become a 'high blood-pressure fiend,' constantly talking, thinking and living his high blood pressure," says a bulletin of the Public Health Service. Blood pressure is a very necessary function of the human mechanism, and the degree of that pressure is dependent upon various causes. "Some families noted for their longevity constitute a group having especially good arteries," says the bulletin. "Other family groups are unfortunate enough to inherit and transmit poor arteries, that is, arteries which have too little elastic tissue in them." As age advances the arteries thicken, with consequent pressure of the blood upon the walls, and persons who have the most elastic arteries have the best chance for old age.

It is found that sometimes "a certain amount of increased pressure is necessary, and in this there is grounds for optimism; but there are limits beyond which the rise may become dangerous in itself." However, as a general rule the Public Health Service says that if the pressure can be kept below 200 the individual is relatively safe from developments due directly to high blood pressure. The treatment recommended to those whose blood is pressing at a rate approaching the danger point is a simple one of regimen and rest. The amount of exercise should be decided upon by the family physician. Don't overindulge an appetite by eating too much, restriction in amount rather than quality is of importance. But above all the sufferer, and he who thinks his pressure is too high, "should adopt a cheerful frame of mind; shun too frequent estimations of the pressure, avoid physical and mental, and especially emotional, excesses and get plenty of rest, and he may live with his pressure to a ripe old age."

Pay in the Colleges.

The economic plight of teachers in the colleges in the years immediately after the war was made so plain that millions of dollars were poured into the treasuries of the universities and colleges to remedy the situation. Campaign after campaign was carried to a successful conclusion; endowment funds grew enormously; the public, particularly that part of it far removed from academic life, may have justifiably supposed that the problem had been disposed of. It comes as something of a shock, then, to hear such a reputable teacher as Prof. Randall Henderson of Yale saying in "Science" that most of the prodigious effort of the recent past was wasted so far as its effect on the individual is concerned. Referring to a study which he made in conjunction with Maurice R. Davie, he writes:

"But the Yale report in its most important and unfortunately least noticed section proved with mathematical decisiveness that the reason why the enormous sums of money which are annually added to the endowment of our educational institutions produce only a sluggish upward movement of salaries is that the number of salaried teachers is increased in nearly the same proportion as are the funds available for salaries."

The increase in the number of teachers, according to Prof. Henderson, can be attributed to "the idea, prevalent now, that college students can be taught effectively only in small classes." Division of all classes into small groups, if carried much further than at present, he believes, will make higher salaries hopeless and will encourage the recruiting of college faculties from those who would be more usefully employed in high or preparatory schools. The only remedy that lies within the power of the college to apply is to hold faculties at approximately their present strength until sufficient funds accumulate to permit of increases in pay.

Liar's Contest.

Year after year the little Indiana town of Servia, has, without attracting much attention, "staged" a "liar's contest" in connection with its homecoming festivities. Prizes are offered for the most competent liar. Competition is strong and local excitement is, it is said, feverish. Other states may have their pole-sitting contests, their rocking chair contests, their marathon dances and marathon talks. Each one of these is, in the language of the Thirty-nine Articles, a "fond thing," wholly without intellectual quality and devoid of any cultural value.

Lying, on the other hand, is of the brain, or mind, or soul—indeed, of all three. It has been said that children and fools cannot lie. The art then seems to be one of the man's maturity. Some intellectual power must go into it. Many wise men have said—the words have become almost proverbial—that liars must have good memories if they are to "get away" with their falsification. In a lie may be found "the fine felicity and flower of wickedness." To be a great liar is an achievement, though an evil one, and has brought fame to many men—perhaps to some women. While no good man would bet this distinction, it is a distinction none the less.

The Young Lawyer

It is no doubt an encouraging sign that the lawyers get together to discuss the evil persistence of too many lawyers. Long and long the general public has been impressed with the existence of this evil. Ours is a litigious world, ours a litigious nation; and the lawyers, who make the laws, make most of the litigation. And even they, as it appears from an address delivered by William M. Blatt before the Law Society of Massachusetts, are impressed by the fact that there are too many lawyers. No doubt they might agree to that proposition as the result of a conviction that if there were not so many in the profession, those who are in it might get more and bigger fees.

But while Mr. Blatt's lawyer hearers might have applauded his notion of the desirability of thinning out the ranks, they could not—since most of them were young men—endorse another proposition of his, which was that lawyers should be admitted to practice only on reaching the age of 40. The idea itself no doubt has something to recommend it. The lawyer of mature years may be assumed to have attained to a full degree not only of learning but of discretion. He would be less inclined to come before the court with frivolous motions and foolish, time-wasting arguments.

A great deal of time of the courts is expended, to the loss of the public, in educating lawyers. So far, so true. But where, pray, would the young lawyer be, and how would he lodge and eat and clothe himself, while waiting for his fortieth year?

New Hope for Indian.

Dr. Ray Lyman Wilbur, secretary of the interior, would take the Indian out of the sociological cage which America has built around him. He has ambitious plans to lay the groundwork looking toward permanent settlement of the troublesome question of what to do with the people who once owned the United States. Substantially he believes the most important thing to do is to treat the Indian as a human being, not a curiosity. Dr. Wilbur is a scientist and an extremely able individual. Other interior secretaries, fresh on the job, have tackled the Indian issue with commendable enthusiasm and held out hopes for an equitable settlement of the question; but little has been done to place the Indian on the basis of a self-sustaining citizen. Mr. Hoover's personal friend and personal selection as secretary of the interior, may make better progress than his predecessors. In the light of his past achievements it seems logical to think that he will.

Dr. Wilbur's plans were outlined in a memorandum prepared by him and read at the Lake Mohonk, N. Y., conference on Indian problems. He said the endeavor of the interior department is to set up a constructive program which would gradually lead, in the course of, say, 25 years, "to placing the Indian and his property upon the normal basis of contributing citizenship." "Our first effort," he said, "should be toward working out the practical daily problems so that justice can be given to the Indian. With this much on its way, we should be able to model our plans so that the Indian will become a self-sustaining, self-respecting, independent American citizen."

There has long been a tendency, said the interior secretary, to regard the Indian as a person apart, for whom the rules of progress and happiness are different from the same rules for the white man. That attitude is characterized as an obvious mistake.

White man's greed, his injustice, in many instances, and his odd double standard in dealing with the Indians have done much to put these people where they are today, ill equipped to make their way in a world that has passed them by.

The Fountain Pen.

Warren Lancaster, who died recently at Bloomfield, N. J., at the age of 79, is credited with having patented the first fountain pen in the United States. He took out his historic patent 48 years ago. Five years ago his factory was destroyed and since that time he has made pens for a private clientele.

The record books say that fountain pens were known as far back as the beginning of the eighteenth century. They were sometimes known as "fountain inkhorns." It was not until the nineteenth century that practical results began to be obtained with such pens. It is only in the last 20 years, however, that really good fountain pens have been produced and the better pens now in use are products of the post-war period. To their practicability have been added durability and beauty.

A few persons still living can remember the time when the quill pen was all that was to be had, at least on the frontier. Then came the steel pen whose manufacture was begun on a large scale in this century about 1860. Then appeared the first crude fountain pens, some of which had to be filled with a medicine dropper. The advent of the self-filler was the next link in the chain and finally the present pens, some of which run into fancy prices, were evolved. In its modest way, the fountain pen is a symbol of the development of civilization. It is as much superior to the quill pen of 150 years ago as the airplane is to the stagecoach.

Action to save the trees has become national. But no one seems to be doing anything about the pedestrians.

Edison invented the light, 50 years ago, but there's still a chance for somebody to think up a way to make a tail light keep burning.

Alcohol in the trees colors the leaves, says a bulletin. Just another phase of the red nose theory.

M. S. ADVISES

BUYING EWES IN THE FALL MONTHS

PRICE USUALLY IS LOWER AND MORE ANIMALS ARE AVAILABLE FOR CHOICE.

Recommendation that breeding ewes be bought in October and November is made by the animal husbandry department at Michigan State College because ewes can usually be obtained at a lower price during those months and the buyer also has a large number of ewes from which to make his selection.

The purchaser of ewes from breeders who live near the buyer is also advised. If the buyer sees the animals before they become his property, many misunderstandings can be avoided. The buyer can also examine the conditions under which the animals have been kept and can judge whether the flock is apt to be free from parasites.

Western ewes can often be purchased more cheaply than native stock. These animals are not native to Michigan and the buyer is unable to see them before he receives them on his farm.

Two three-year old ewes are most desirable. They are proved breeders and their owner may expect less trouble at lambing time. The animal should be healthy and should carry a good udder. A firm dense fleece attached to a pink skin indicates good condition. Good breed type and an absence of coarseness in body conformation are other points which should be noted before the ewe is bought.

Mich. Bldg. & Loan Assoc. Gain 300 Per Cent in 10 Yrs.

Net gains of building and loan associations of Michigan for the ten-year period ending on June 30, 1929, will run close to 300 per cent, it is believed by Charles N. Remington, of Grand Rapids, president of the Michigan Building and Loan League. The prediction is based on the fact that the associations gained 280 per cent in assets during the ten year period which closed on June, 30 of this year.

Associations of the state showed resources of $42,315,000 on June 30, 1919, and during the ten years following experienced a gain which brought their total of $161,105,257.

While this increase ranks well with the gains experienced by the states having a large investment in building and loan, it also adds strength to Michigan's position as regards average size of associations. The average size in Michigan is slightly more than $2,250,000, placing this state second only to Massachusetts among the states having resources of $100,000,000 or more.

DELIGHTED BY QUICK RESULTS FROM KONJOLA

LADY SUFFERED FOR YEARS WITH KIDNEY TROUBLE AND NERVOUSNESS, FINDS NEW AND GLORIOUS HEALTH.

MRS. V. F. KELLER
"I had suffered for years with kidney and bladder trouble," said Mrs. V. F. Keller, 322 1/2 Everson street, Detroit, Michigan. "I dreaded to see night come, as it meant suffering and bad dreams. I would have to get up four or five times and there were sharp pains in my back over my kidneys at all times. I became very nervous, so much so that every sudden noise would make me jump. I lost my appetite and strength and vitality were rapidly leaving me."

"A few weeks treatment of Konjola, and every trouble had vanished. I never have pains in my back and the night rising is a thing of the past. My nerves are calm and steady. My appetite has been restored and I feel stronger and better in every way."

Konjola is sold in Buchanan, Mich., at W. N. Brodick's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

of nuts native to the state will compete for prizes for the first time.

The show will be held in Demonstration hall and the two main rooms will be used to give space to entries of fruit, flowers, vegetables, honey and nuts.

Two contests, vegetable judging and identification and judging of apples by Smith-Hughes students, will be conducted during the show. An educational exhibit prepared by the state department of agriculture will be on display.

Students in the horticultural department at Michigan State College are in charge of the local arrangements for the show. H. E. Chickering, Belding; M. J. Backofen, Battle Creek and C. H. Poesch, Monroe, are the officers of the student's horticultural club.

Committee chairman for the show are L. A. Zilman, South Haven; R. E. Toles, Romeo; W. J. Woodman, Paw Paw; H. E. Chickering, Belding; and F. E. Dorman, Cedar Springs.

SPECIAL TRAIN PROMOTES BETTER SIRE MOVEMENT

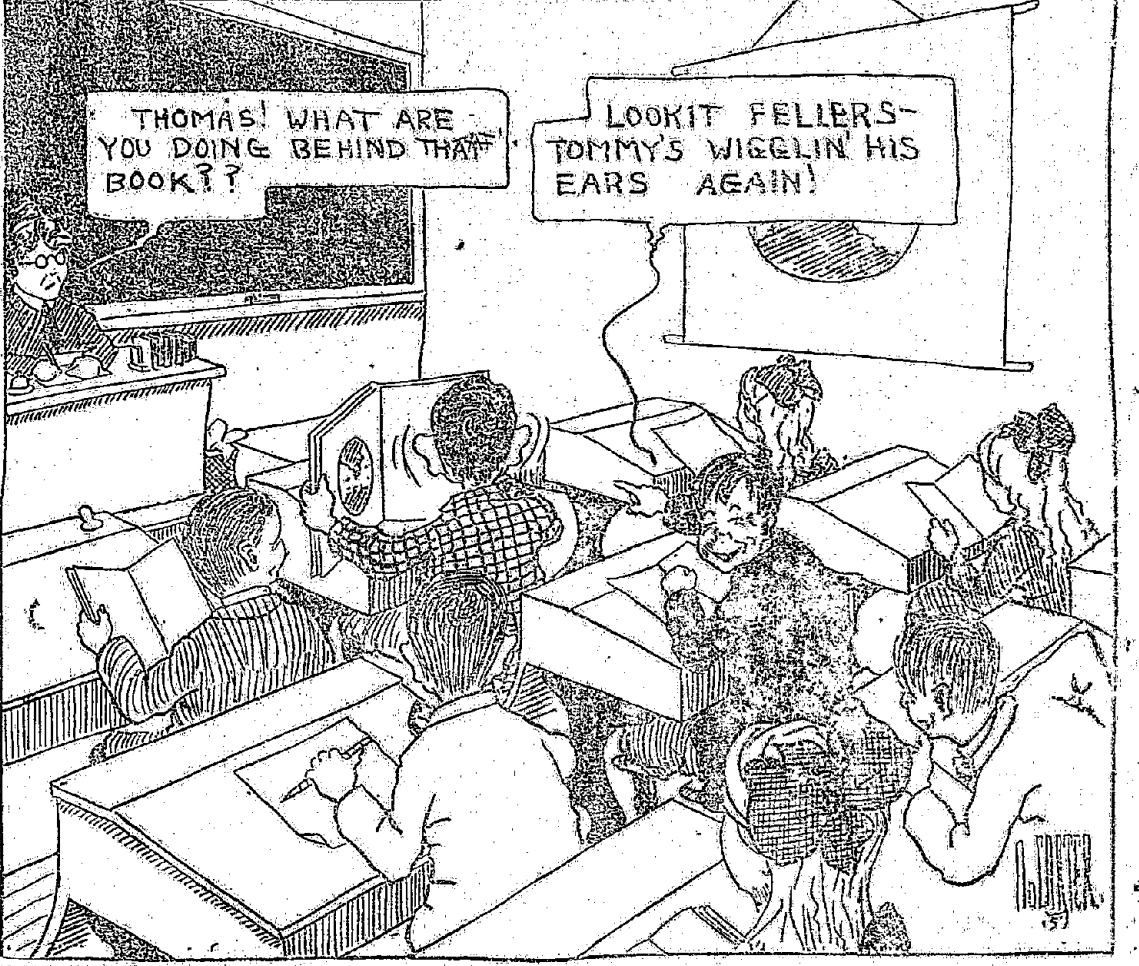

PUREBRED BULLS INCREASE PRODUCTION OF DAIRY HERDS IN STATE.

Spanish ships which used to sail east with cargoes of American gold were just carriers of small change when compared to the wealth that dairy specialists at the Michigan State College believe was carried into northeastern Michigan by the Better Sires Train.

They say that the computation is just a case of simple arithmetic. Eighty-two purebred bulls were sold from the train and will be used to replace that number of scrub sires.

JUST KIDS—The Pride of the School!

By Ad Carter

The bulls will have an average of 15 daughters which will increase their dam's records of production by 100 pounds of butterfat a year. This increase over a four year period of production will total 1,968,000 pounds of butterfat with a value at 40 cents a pound or a total worth of $787,200. Visitors to the train totaled 1,845 at the 22 stops. The largest audience was at Cheboygan where 626 people listened to the dairy talks and examined the exhibits. The largest number of bulls was sold in Alpena county where 13 animals were bought by farmers at two stops. Cheboygan county dairymen bought 10 bulls at the two towns where stops were made. A toy balloon released in Suffolk, England, has been found in Sweden, 700 miles distant.

Highways and The Telephone

From woodland trail to corduroy and dirt road; then gravel, macadam, concrete—thus, our highways have evolved.

Yesterday, we traveled twenty miles a day behind a spirited mare; today, we ride one hundred miles of an evening, in a motor car. Yesterday, travel was momentous; today, it is incidental.

From smoke signal and moccasin runner to pony express; from pony express to fast mail; fast mail to long distance telephone—thus, communication has evolved.

Yesterday, we wrote long letters and waited days, weeks, or even months for a reply; today, we lift a telephone receiver and, in a few seconds, have an answer. Yesterday, communication was laborious; today, it is effortless.

Michigan is building one of the finest highway systems in the United States, linking her cities by means of splendid concrete roads and opening a paradise of lakes and forest to all her people and to thousands of visitors.

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company, too, is building highways, modern voice wireways, comparable in every way with the finest concrete roads; these wireways link every section of the state. Michigan's telephone wireways are partners of her other highways of commerce, and an important part of a universal telephone system.

Highways and wireways have helped develop our state, its commerce, prosperity and social life, and wherever your motor takes you over the fine, wide roads of Michigan, you also will find a voice wireway leading to your home and office.

Our policy—"To continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety."

The Old Timer's Corner

Old Timer's Scrap Book is Filled Is Forced to Buy New One

Old Timer's scrap book is getting filled up and today I will have to spend a little money for another one of the same kind. I don't really know what good it does for anyone else, but for myself, I sure enjoy looking over the items that have appeared in the "corner" and the comments from my friends. I have a loose leaf book that contains a little more than room for one year's articles. I have many other things in the book besides a complete list of the articles that I have sent in, myself. Anything that borders on old times, old friends, etc., goes into this book and on dark dull days, when there is little to do but reflect upon a brighter past, I take a look at the things that have been pasted in the old scrap book. I wish I had room to put in local items, of many of the old friends that are mentioned in the Record, but in order to keep a complete scrap book, one would almost have to just paste in the entire Record each week.

In a recent personal letter from John Holmes, he told me that he keeps such a scrap book also, and that he thought I was the only one that was so thoughtful. But I am wondering what is the use, after all. It won't be so terribly long now, when I won't be around here to look through the old pages of the book. And I don't know of any one that will be interested in it to the extent that would cause them to turn its pages carefully and note the ideas expressed therein. I know also that I have a whole trunk full of old pictures of old friends and friendly places that will also mean little or nothing to younger folks and to those that will have to dispose of such stuff after I have "passed on." I open up the old trunk once in a while and go all over the old pictures, dust them good and put them in neat piles, and stack them away for another time.

I have pictures that I have made myself from my little camera of all sorts of places and people and things and as I look them over I actually live over again, the circumstances that took place at the time indicated by the pictures, and some of them are of interest to no one but myself. I have thought that I would destroy them all but I keep thinking that I am still "good for twenty years more" and so I put that process of destruction off. Maybe it would be a wise thing to do to "lay off" the old things and friends and try to imagine that I am still "chick-en." But I don't feel that way and I just simply cannot pass up the old longings for the old friends and places that I knew and loved when I was a kid and a young man. No, I will just leave them as they are and enjoy them as long as possible and I will continue to keep my old scrap book also, but when I am through with them I don't care what becomes of them, but if I am still able to think and remember after "passing on", (which I don't really believe I will) then I shall still have the old friends to think of and love.

It is a wonderful thing, this "getting old" stuff. I was talking only yesterday with an old friend who had just passed his 85th birthday and is still healthy and active. He seems old to me. Some one has wisely said, "when asked how old a person had to be to be thought 'old,' that 'any person is 'old' who is twenty years older than the person whom you ask that question.'" At ten years of age a person who is thirty is old to the youngster. When we are thirty, we think a person who is fifty is old and so on. I believe that person who set down that rule "knew his vegetables."

Yesterday I drove out through the country and it sure looks like Fall and even the fore runner of old man Winter. Does it make me sad? No, I like it. I like all the seasons. Storms and rains and snow and sunshine and all. It is just a part of the endless "whole" that means Nature and I am glad all the time, that I am here and able to see and know what little I have absorbed in the way of friends and enjoyment while passing this way. You know, we only pass "this way" one time, and if you miss anything it is your own fault. Do the things you enjoy doing without any discomfort to others and you are pretty close to following the line that old Nature intended for you to follow. We can't all be what we imagined we might be, but we have had a whack at life and have had a good time with good friends and we should be glad all the time. Perhaps it isn't so easy to be glad when you are bed ridden and sick, as many of us become in our advanced years, but even then, there is a lot to be thankful for. Some one loves every one, and we can and do appreciate that more and more as the "hatch" grows gray and the sight grows less perfect. So, I shall continue with my scrap book and my old pictures and my memories as long as it is given me to enjoy them. After that, "what does it matter?"

I enjoyed the "corner" last week with interesting letters from Mr. Holmes and Mrs. Winch, and also in another part of the record I found a short letter from our friend from Coldwater. Why not sign your name? We don't know whom it is and cannot get the pleasure out of it that we might if we know who you are. It is the same as though some one spoke to you in the dark and refused to tell you who they were. Come on again, "Friend Coldwater," and sign your name, so we may enjoy your letters to the fullest extent.

"OLD TIMER,"
Mrs. Nayber, Your little Jimmie is a fine boy. Mrs. Strickleback, Maybe he will get to be president when he grows up.
Mrs. Strickleback, Oh, don't say that—I don't want him to have any such hard-working job as that.
Mrs. Chimpanzee—I see the scientists claim that we are near relatives to man.
Mr. C.—Yes; ain't it fierce!

School Nurse Recalls Otherday to Mrs Winch

"News from the school nurse" read a headline recently in your Record. Shades of the teachers "away back," who taught with a hickory rod and main strength. What next? And yet neither school board nor Parent Teachers associations are doing too much in furnishing school utilities for child welfare.

Has school teaching kept pace with school equipment? Incidentally Mr. Dewey, the first principal of the two room brick school house in Buchanan, began "improved methods" there about 1856. He said every pupil must write an article or speak a piece on Fridays. Florence Bennett, a 14 year old girl, did neither. Mr. Dewey kept her after school. She then wrote on the blackboard: Farewell scholars and farewell school.

Farewell Dewey, you darned old fool.
She decided to stop school but was sent back next day. The writing was still on the board. Mr. Dewey told her to apologize before the other pupils. She would not and I believe he fanned her hand. Anyway her father sued Mr. Dewey and lost his suit.
The principals of that school did well. Their only equipment was a box of chalk. Their working programs were "catch as catch can." A boy might be studying Algebra who never had a lesson in grammar or a girl diagraming long sentences who did not know the multiplication table. Each teacher—in a measure—tried to bring method out of the educational chaos. Many more girls went to school than boys. Even before a legion of Buchanan boys went to war the old school house was filled from its beginning. Would-be teachers swarmed from its doors. More girls wanted schools than there were schools to be had. There were even fewer places for hired girls. The only "servant" was in the dictionary. There were no other occupations for women. Families of girls were educated for teaching. There were the Head girls, the Black girls, the Carlisle girls, the Hall girls, besides Dell Franklin, Louisa Baker, Emma Weaver, Carrie Hildreth and many more. The list is a long one. Flavilla Quint Spaulding and Julia Smith Billings, two successful teachers, lived in the country out of Buchanan, but belonged to the teaching fraternity of Buchanan township.

From childhood to old age Flawilla, Julia and I have been in occasional touch with each other. The teachers boarded around. While not an unmixing blessing on stormy mornings and rainy nights, to wade through mud or piles of drifted snow, sometimes for a mile or two, it had rewards. So often one came upon angels unawares. Contacts that sealed long friendships. Good things to eat were often saved until the "school meal" came. Sometimes I was given dried apple pie. Then I felt—as now—"call me a fool or tell me lies, but don't give me dried apple pies."

Boarding around is an excellent stimulus and support to a teacher—I mean it was. With all its provincial back woods origin and pioneer necessity it was the awakening soul of the Parent-Teachers association now co-operating in child welfare. My experience in "boarding around" in my memory still lingers

MICHIGAN FRUIT LOW IN YIELD HIGHER IN PRICE

Like the soft, caress of baby fingers. Esther Montague Winch.

The estimated apple crop is 6,472,000 bushels of which 1,112,000 bushels are rated as commercial. While the fruit is of good color and generally good quality in commercial orchards, dry weather prevented the usual size development. As a result, the percentage of "A" grade fruit will be less than average. Last year's crop amounted to 5,400,000 bushels. The United States crop is estimated at 140,037,000 bushels or about 25 per cent less than that of 1928. The prevailing prices to date have been very satisfactory.

The peach crop also brought favorable returns, being of fairly good quality and high sugar content. The crop amounted to 816,000 bushels, an increase over earlier estimates, but 30 per cent less than the state produced last year. The total crop of the nation was 44,837,000 bushels which was only about two-thirds as many as were produced in 1928. The peach crop is also smaller than last year both for Michigan and the entire country. The state's crop was estimated at 475,000 bushels or only 39 per cent of a normal one. The production was considerably below the state average in Berrien and Van Buren counties, the two leading counties in acreage.

Michigan's grape crop was placed at 68 per cent of normal which is practically an average production and equivalent to 66,000 tons. This is about ten per cent less than last year's final estimate. Because of more favorable freight rates than formerly, it is expected that a larger percentage of the crop than usual will move by rail. Michigan ranks third in production among the states. The United States crop is forecasted at 1,966,272 tons, or nearly the same as that of 1928.

The returns from a special inquiry regarding plums indicate a production of 41 per cent of normal compared with 61 per cent last year. Melons were of unusually good quality in the commercial section.

School nurse says all girls should know this

TALKING to a roomful of high school girls on personal hygiene, an experienced district nurse said: "One of the basic rules of health for girls is to keep the system functioning naturally at all times. Normal exercise and diet habits should be encouraged. But when necessary there's no harm in taking nujol, since it works mechanically and can't disturb the normal functions of any organ of the body. Particularly with girls, there are times when nujol should always be taken. Take a spoonful every night for a few days. It's a thoroughly safe and harmless method. It won't cause distress or gas pains or griping. Nujol is different from any other substance. It contains no drugs or medicine. It can be taken safely no matter how you're feeling because it is so pure and harmless, and works so easily. Every woman should keep a bottle on hand. Every druggist has this remarkable substance. Get the genuine."

Fiancée, Well, if you must know, I was wearing the porthole as a lavalliere.
Melachrino, There's a woman who makes little things count.
Zabirio, Who is she?
Melachrino, Oh, she's a first grade school teacher.

Chicago shows 104% increase in EIGHTS!

Facts just obtained from 28 representative American cities indicate conclusively that the motoring public prefers the Eight to all other engine types. Take Chicago as an example; for the first 8 months of 1929, new cars with list prices above $1000 showed a 104 per cent increase in Eights and a 12 per cent decrease in Sixes!

At the famous Paris Salon this fall, 44 makes of eight cylinder cars were exhibited, compared with 27 last year. Studebaker, world's largest producer of Eights, two years ago initiated this cra of the inexpensive Eight with the champion Studebaker President which traveled 30,000 miles in 26,326 consecutive minutes.

And today, at customary six-cylinder prices, you can choose from three great lines of Studebaker Eights—holders of eleven world records for speed and endurance and more American stock car records than all other makes combined.

Get a smart, new, thrifty Studebaker Eight—backed by 77 years of manufacturing integrity—and your car will be worth more in the trade-in markets of the future.

Berrien County News in Brief

FOUR KILLED IN AUTO COLLISION ON U. S. 12 FRI.

Due to confusion by black line at new pavement forks.

One of the worst accidents of the season happened Saturday, when about six o'clock two cars collided on U. S. 12. Two young men driving a coupe were instantly killed and two men and two women in a large car were hurt. No one witnessed the accident. A boy by the name of Douglas Robinson was the first to find them. The accident occurred a short distance from Lathrop's garage in Harbert. The sheriff's office was called and Deputies Andrew C. Umhoefer of St. Joseph and Frank Sawyer came to the scene. Edwin Barnhart, Justice of the Peace of New Troy, was called to act as coroner and Dr. Corey took charge of the occupants of the car who were hurt. After the jury was sworn in by the coroner the dead were removed to the Hall Funeral Chapel at Harbert. One was Alex Rednick and the other was later identified as Fred Tiefenbach. An inquest was called and the verdict was that to the best of their knowledge the accident was due to the confusion of black line leading off of the old road to the new pavement. The occupants of the large car, four in number, were taken to Mercy hospital, where two have since died, Mrs. Anna May Gallagher, 40, and her brother, Harry Striker, both of Chicago. The injured are Robert Gallagher and Miss Stella Campbell.

BRIDGMAN AND LAKE TOWNSHIP CALL OFF WATER WORKS SCRAP

Work on the new Bridgman water works will again be resumed as the result of an agreement reached at a conference held on Friday night between officials of that village and of Lake township, which terminated the opposition of the latter to the project. In the previous week Lake Township had secured an injunction from Judge Charles E. White of the Circuit Court, stopping work on the grounds that the town was using township park property without permission. At the Friday evening conference, the township agreed to permit sinking wells in the park by the village after proper application had been made.

FARM LABORER PARADES AS OIL OPERATOR

Mr. Youth with 3 children poses to keep wolf from door.

Olvin Shearer, 22 year old farm laborer and the father of three children, fell into the clutches of the law at Three Oaks Monday, when, as a last expedient to keep the wolf from the door he went into the Three Oaks department store in that village and asked for credit, representing himself as an oil driller in charge of a gang of men sinking an oil well in the vicinity. He stated that he was associated with his father in oil exploration under the name of H. H. Sherwood & Son. He ordered $53 worth of groceries, saying that his father would settle for them later. He then expressed a desire for a large quantity of tobacco, so that "the men would not continually be leaving the job to go after it." He was taken across the street by a clerk and introduced at Behler Bros. Drug Store, where he offered a check for $14.83 and received $9 worth of tobacco and the remainder in change.

After he had left, Behler became suspicious and summoned Deputy Sheriff William Klute to arrest Shearer. He stopped the alleged oil operator on his way home and took him back to Three Oaks, where he pleaded guilty to misrepresentation before Justice Paul Sawyer, pleading the impoverished condition of his family. In view of his youth and hard circumstances, Justice Sawyer took mercy on him and released him after a payment of a fine of $2 and the return of the groceries, tobacco and change received from the Behler Bros. store.

It is the intention of the organization to determine some feasible means of protection and then devise a way to finance such protection. It was voted to send a delegation to Michigan City, where a sea wall is being erected, to get possible ideas on protection at St. Joseph.

A. physical education department, gave a talk on "Proper Use of Leisure Time" after which she led a session of organized play in which all present joined.

Commercial Fish Hatcheries Fail

With a few notable exceptions, commercial trout rearing concerns in Michigan have met with failure or have been abandoned as non-profitable, according to the fish division of the Department of Conservation. However, there are now several privately owned rearing ponds thru the state in which trout are propagated for clubs for personal use. Many of these are successes. There are also some rearing ponds from which the output is sold on the market. The most recent of these is in Mason county where Bernard Ostendorf and Gustave Rieckhoff, Sr., have established two large ponds where 8,000 young brook and speckled trout are growing to maturity. The owners hope to eventually have a sufficiently large supply of adults to be able to sell on the market.

Privately owned rearing ponds on private property are permitted by the state without a license or permit. In these ponds the owner is permitted to take fish without regard to season. However, he must secure a permit from the Department of Conservation before he can sell the output of these ponds.

Diseases and the high cost of production have discouraged the owners of many of the commercial rearing ponds, it is said, and they have abandoned their projects. Successful commercial enterprises of this kind have derived much of their income from the sale of eggs, and in some instances, sale of eggs constitutes the largest part of the income.
