State Park Life Guards Rescue 43 People from Water

Life guards on the bathing beaches of four Michigan State Parks during the past season rescued 43 people from drowning.

Only three of the 45 persons taken by the life guards from the water failed to be brought back to consciousness by various methods of resuscitation.

Life guards are stationed at the Grand Haven, Holland, Island Lake and Bay City State Parks.

During the season of 1929 three life guards were employed at various times at the Grand Haven Park, Edward Vandenburg, Kenneth Leaman and Theodore Moore. They pulled 11 drowning persons from the water, and in all but three cases, these persons survived.

During the four months that Neal Sybesma was life guard at the Holland Park last summer, he rescued five people from drowning.

William and Edward Allie were life guards at the Island Lake Park. They rescued 30 persons from drowning. Three of those rescued were unconscious and were saved from death by resuscitation methods. Edward Allie spent much of his time instructing bathers at the state park beach to swim.

News From Gallien and Vicinity

Mrs. Dora Green Expires Thursday, Ill Many Months

Mrs. Dora Green died at her home last Thursday morning after several months' illness. She was born Nov. 29, 1858 at Shelbyville, Mo. On Nov. 12, 1880 she was united in marriage to Charles Green, who preceded her in death two years ago. To this union three daughters were born, Miss Bernice Green, Mrs. Bessie Lintner and Mrs. Flowella Rugg of Lansing. Her step-daughter, Miss Ola Green, one grandson, Harland Lintner, and one sister, Mrs. Mary Ravish, Buchanan, also survive.

The sorrowing children were with their mother in the departing hour.

Mrs. Green was a home woman, a home maker and a home lover. Her home was always open to her friends and her heart to those who needed advice.

She united with the L. D. S. church 42 years ago and lived a devoted Christian life. The church interests were her interests, manifested in unflinching service and material support and Gallien is better for her having lived.

A short service was conducted at the home Sunday afternoon at 1:30 after which the remains were taken to the L. D. S. church. Miss Blanche Cavanagh of Grand Rapids, sang two songs. Rev. W. F. Ryder, Grand Rapids, conducted the services, assisted by Rev. J. W. McKnight. Interment was in the Gallien cemetery.

The Record joins with their many friends in extending their sympathy to the sorrowing family.

Gallien Culture Club Ends Music Study

The Culture Club met Friday at the home of Mrs. C. Sebasty for a program on music. The meeting was called to order by the president, Mrs. Wentland, and the roll was called by the secretary, Mrs. Smith and responded to by a few songs of each member being played. Mrs. Gustave Jannasch then gave a paper on "The Stradivarius Violin" and "Story of the Famous Violinist, Ole Bull". Mrs. Richard Wentland gave a history of the "Most Endearing Song and Why it was Written." Mrs. Clayton Smith gave the subject of "Negro Folk Songs and Spirituals." Mrs. Hamilton gave "The Origin of Barber Chords." Mrs. C. Sebasty gave the "Lives of Chopin and Richard Strauss," and Mrs. Jannasch a history of "Dvorak and His New World Music."

The guests were Mrs. Nathaniel Swank and Mrs. Leslie Sebasty. The hostess served refreshments. The meeting this week will be with Mrs. Pearl Roberts. It is "Child Book Week" and the study of children's books will be taken up.

A large crowd attended the meeting at the M. E. church Sunday evening to hear Miss Dorothy Bradley of Logansport. She has been healed from serious illness by divine power, and is preaching each right this week.

Battle Creek to Finance Sewage Disposal Plant

In an attempt to take some steps toward financing a sewage disposal plant for the city of Battle Creek and to subsequently relieve the pollution situation in the Battle Creek and Kalamazoo Rivers, Homer S. Murphy, head of the Pollution Division of the Department of Conservation, officers of the Isaac Walton League and Battle Creek city officials and interested citizens met at the home of Mrs. James Renbarger, Monday, Oct. 28.

A preliminary meeting was held last week when possibilities of a sewage disposal plant for the city were discussed.

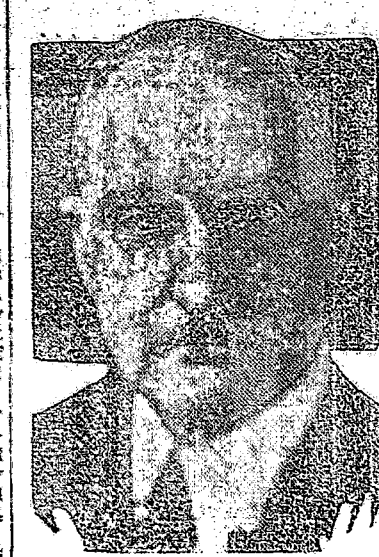

It is estimated that a sewage disposal plant for Battle Creek will cost approximately $1,000,000. While the project has met with almost unanimous favor, the principal hindrance has been a means of financing the structure. Kalamazoo, which also discharges its sewage into the Kalamazoo river, has already taken steps to remove its municipal pollution from the river.

Other communities using this river for sewage disposal purposes are: Albion, Marshall, Osego, Plainwell and Allegan.

Language Classes Study Relations of Latin to English

The members of the Latin class are keeping Derivative note books. In these note books they place each new Latin word they learn and after it, all the English words which they can find in the dictionary that are derived from that one Latin word. Thus they are constantly adding to their English vocabulary and at the same time realizing the truth of the claim which Latin makes that over one-half of our English words come from Latin.

Most problems are settled for us by the stern law of necessity.

Editorial

The most outstanding activities for boys in our school are the various sports. A large number of fellows go out for football.

Of course the girls can't play football, however, soccer means as much to them as football means to the boys.

Everyone who likes football should like soccer. When the Buchanan varsity team plays at Niles on Nov. 19, let's show the girls that we're behind them too!

THOUGHTS BEFORE SLEEP

Ouch, I hate to move. These gym exercises surely brought results. My hands sting all the time.

I don't have to wash dishes anymore, now that we have a maid. She is busy taking care of all the sick people.

I had a funny dream last night. I wish I could go to sleep! Wonder what I'll dream about.

Pickles are good for nightmares; also to test for mumps. Robert Montgomery looked funny in English class the other day.

Poor Robert will miss the Cassopolis game Saturday. Hope Cass doesn't spring a surprise.

We don't play Berrien Springs in football. In basketball we will. Wonder if the county orchestra still meets there.

Debating is hard. It makes me sleepy to write rebuttal cards. I'm sleepy now, too.

Agricultural Club Will Entertain at Father-Son Banquet

The local Agricultural Club is planning a father and son banquet for Friday evening, Nov. 22.

Watch us go!

At the county judging contest held at Berrien Springs Thursday, Buchanan was able to win first place in grain judging.

Our team was composed of J. Letcher, Harry Penwell and C. Huff. In addition to winning first place, two of the local lads were high individual scorers.

The Handicap of College.

Writing in The Daily Princetonian, a New York banker expresses the conviction that a college education is a four-year handicap for men going into business. The substance of his contention, based upon his personal observation, is that the universities cannot produce the drive in men that business gives them and which seems to be so necessary for success in the business world.

Discussing the college man, this critic comments that "most formative periods of his life, from 18 to 22 or 23, is spent in a place where he acquires lazy habits of thinking." In the universities, he asserts, men are not trained to work rapidly or accurately, and their life is easy and soft. He sees a lack of training in the colleges in what he describes as detailed work. The youth who enters business or banking from high school, he declares, gains an advantage which the university graduate can scarcely overcome.

The college mortality statistics hardly bear out the contentions of this critic. Almost any student in a college or university of recognized standing can testify that standards in the classroom are not only exact but are being constantly raised. The mistake this banker-critic makes is the common one that by some hocus pocus the college or university should be able to take raw material and turn out the finished product. The college, after all, is simply an opportunity, not a guarantee of success, nor can it ever be made the latter. What he makes out of college is largely up to the individual and to his family. If he is afire with the zeal for learning, the college will make him a better man, and usually a better business man and even a better banker.

Auto Thieving.

Despite the fact that automobiles valued at more than $30,000,000 were stolen last year in this country, this type of crime is more hazardous and less profitable than it used to be. Of the 110,000 autos taken by thieves last year, nearly 100,000 were recovered and the net loss from the thieving was $12,000,000. The records of automobile insurance companies show that such stealing has become more difficult in recent years and the proportion of recovered cars has grown larger.

The makers of motor vehicles have equipped their more recent models with much better locks than formerly. Police methods of dealing with the auto thief and the systems of auto licensing and registration have played their part, too, in protecting the car owner and in circumventing the thief. A large share of the cars that are recovered are stolen temporarily by youths bent on a good time. The force of circumstances has well nigh eliminated the habitual auto thief. It is worth remembering, meanwhile, that the records of the insurance companies show that auto thefts reach their peak in the late fall and slump in the spring.

The Medical Profession.

The United States has more physicians in proportion to its population than any other nation in the world, a recent survey by the U. S. bureau of education reveals. To minister to the physical well-being of its 118,000,000 people, there are nearly 150,000 physicians. For every 100,000 Americans, to put it in another way, there are 126 physicians available.

There are fewer medical schools than there were two years ago, the survey shows, but there are more medical students. The number had increased nearly 10 per cent last year to 20,545. The number of medical graduates in the last two years has also increased nearly 10 per cent. These developments are in spite of the fact that the standard length of the medical course in the Class A medical colleges, including preparatory work, is six years, and that a medical education is at once one of the most difficult and probably the most expensive to obtain.

The situation in Ohio with respect to the medical profession is particularly interesting. A current announcement says that the number of licensed physicians in the state is nearly 18,500. On the basis of the present estimated population this is at the rate of one medico for every 33 Ohioans. This is more than twice as many physicians in proportion to population, as there are in the country at large. Just why this is so is not entirely clear.

The number of medical men tends to multiply in urban areas and in the vicinity of colleges of medicine. There are in Ohio at least three leading colleges of medicine and there is a large urban population. There is a tendency under such conditions, to, toward specialization which makes room for more medical men to practice. By contrast with the legal profession, most physicians remain in the field of medicine. Ohio is not less healthy than its sister states, but the number of medical men it supports might be interpreted that they have more work to do. On the contrary, if they are well patronized, Ohio is apt to be healthier than other states not so well provided.

Hoover and the Senate.

William Allen White, the Kansas editor, was in Washington the other day and, after sizing up the situation, declared he could not see why President Hoover and the progressive senators can't get together. He first called upon Sen. Norris, who recently uttered his defiance to the administration by announcing that he would seek re-election. The editor then had luncheon with the president, and came away saying that all that the chief executive and the progressives need is a go-between who understands them both.

Following his call upon the Nebraska senator, Mr. White announced that he was "for Sen. Norris first, last and all the time." After his engagement with the president he was quoted as saying, "The progressive senators and President Hoover are of one mind on so many things, I can't understand why they don't work together." Mr. Hoover he described as "the most progressive-minded president since Theodore Roosevelt."

With what the Kansas editor had to say about the president most open-minded persons will agree. But how far they would go with him in his estimate of the so-called progressive group in the senate is quite another question. There are occasions when their progressivism is plain to all, and there are other times when it amounts simply to obstructionism. The president is not infallible, of course, but the country at large is apt to have a good deal more faith in his judgment, in his liberalism of his point of view, and in his integrity than it will in any group of senators. The dillydallying of the senate with the tariff, the interjection of matters quite foreign to that measure, and the general attitude of the upper house have not been calculated to inspire confidence on the part of the public. What the senate needs is not so much a liaison man between it and the president as it is the right kind of leadership.

Revised Marriage Vows

Gradually the word "obey" is being omitted from the marriage contract as more and more ministers choose to make that revision for themselves. Absence of the word is noted in many prominent marriages where the contracting parties are members of a church, and many churches are represented as not using the word each year. Recently the Episcopal church put out a revised book of common prayer and the word is absent from the marriage vows. That action places the Episcopal church in line with common practice and will help encourage other churches and other ministers to cease using the word.

Public thought today does not support the use of the word or sanction the spirit its use would indicate. Homes are not places for autocratic dictation, the man may be the head of the house, win honor in that role, and never have justifiable reason for insisting the woman shall obey. Where marriages are arranged with reason, full acquaintance, and both parties are frank in contributing their part in making the home, one might search long and find no reason for an iron rule that empowers the man to order and have his orders obeyed. There is a rule of reason that provides a better method and insures finer results when wisely used.

The Central States.

The Chicago Tribune henceforth will refer to the territory hereabouts and yonder in dignified terms as "central states." There is really something besides affectation in relegating the Saxon adjective for the refined French derivative.

Central is focal in its inference; middle, diffusive. One can be the "center of interest" or "in the middle of a bad fix." He can, to be sure, be both at the same time; but the center is the heart of things, their middle relates to their arrangement and usually rather heartlessly.

Between the cultured east and the "golden west" sprawls this vast domain, whose dialects, ideas and tastes are described as "middle western." South of the Ohio River there are clearly recognized bounds to this section.

The patronizing east, however, is disposed to waive distinctions and make a sweeping inclusion of the Mississippi Valley, while The Tribune presumably would deny the south admission to its select circle of "central states." To this the south would not demur, still cherishing a few traditions against intrusion from the north.

Nevertheless, the great interior valley is growing more homogenous as it increases in wealth and population; more representative of what in its essence constitutes the United States. It possesses the nation's granary and it is building gigantic cities faster than the east is now doing and more beautiful cities.

It's hard to tell whether stockings are really longer or not, as just about as much as formerly seems to show above.

There is a young man in this neighborhood who doesn't worry a particle about a little thing like a knock in the motor or a flat tire so long as the muffler cut-out is working all right.

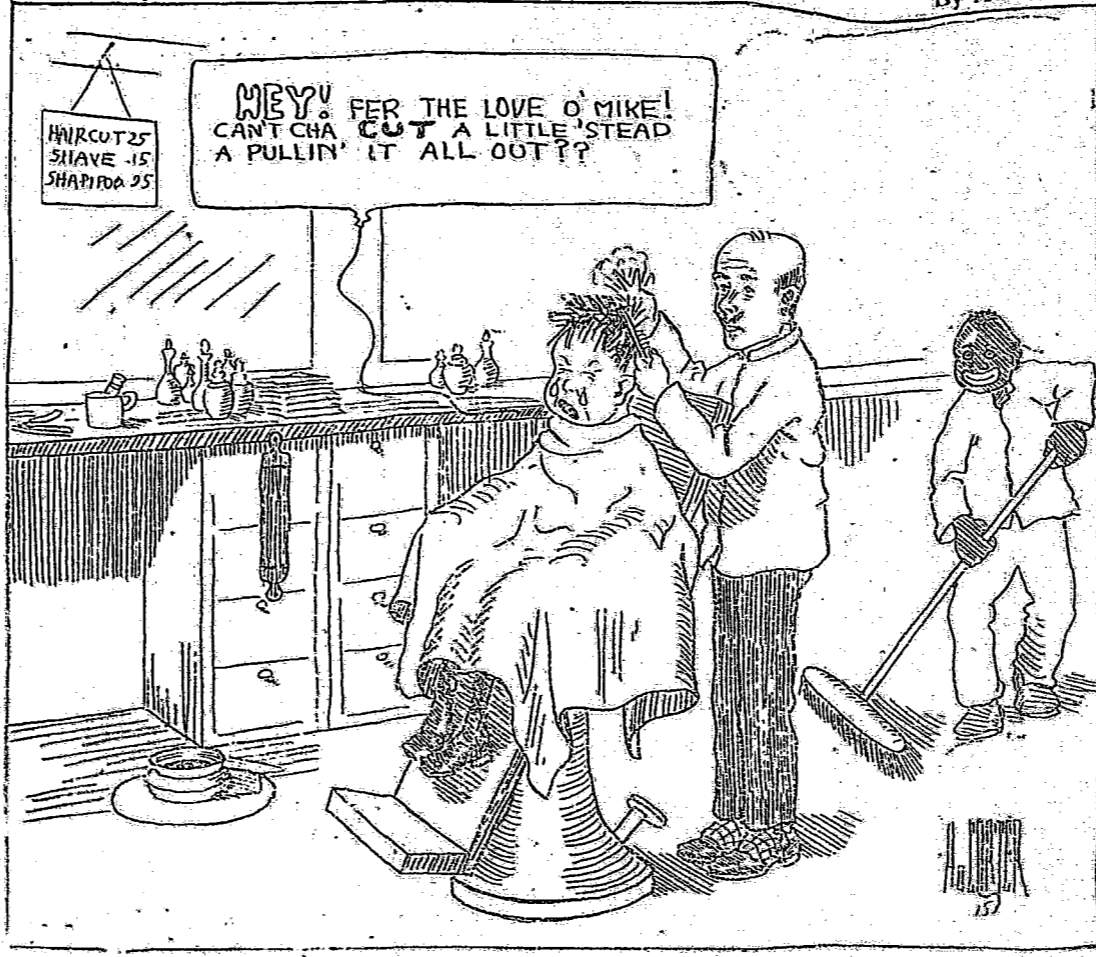

Perhaps the most annoying thing about the back seat, as it tells you exactly what to do, is that it always seems to think you're deaf.

New Troy P.T.A. to Stage Fruit Festival on Nov. 15

REPRESENTATIVES MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE PRESENT; ST. JOE VALLEY SHIPPING ASSOCIATION TO DEMONSTRATE FARM BUREAU SERVICE.

All farmers and school patrons of Berrien County will be welcome guests at the annual Fall Festival which is to be held at New Troy Friday and Saturday of this week under the auspices of the Parent-Teachers Association.

Farmers will be especially interested in exhibits and talks staged by the agricultural and education departments of Michigan State college, which is expected to have several representatives at the festival. The college will have an exhibit illustrating fruit and potato grading and packing requirements. The new state law governing packing and grading will be explained in detail by Mr. Esslinger, state fruit and produce inspector located at Benton Harbor, who will talk at the high school auditorium at 8 p. m. Saturday evening.

L. H. Kelly, director of education in Michigan State college, will judge the agricultural exhibits of the rural schools. Mrs. Buchanan, head of the state normal school located this at Bridgman, will judge the rural school exhibits.

NEW METHOD TO LOWER COST OF USE LIMESTONE

STATE COLLEGE SOWS MINERAL IN DRILLS WITH SEED.

Recent experiments made by the Soils Department at Michigan State College indicate that it may be possible to get all the benefits derived from the use of limestone at a greatly reduced cost.

The old method of broadcasting limestone required the use of from one and one-half tons to four tons per acre to correct the soil acidity and permit the production of legumes. The new method of application places the limestone in the plant rows and from 550 to 600 pounds of limestone make the conditions satisfactory for growing alfalfa or clover on some soil types.

In the experiments the lime was sown with the seed to insure its being close to the sprouting plant. The rate at which limestone particles break down and disappear in the soil varies greatly in the different soil types. Limestone breaks down slowly in some types of sandy soils. The amount of organic matter in the soil appears to have a marked influence on the rate at which the limestone disappears.

The use of smaller quantities of limestone in direct contact with the seed not only reduces the amount of limestone needed but also lowers the labor cost of applying the material.

Soft Corn Reported In Portage District

The corn husking season is drawing to a close in the Buchanan district this week, maturity of the ears varying according to the district. The corn crop in the district north of Buchanan, where the soil is lighter, is reported to be generally well matured. The plantings made at a medium early date in the Mt. Tabor district resulted in a good crop. The early and late plantings were not so good. Considerable soft corn is reported in the Portage Prairie district.

State College Advocates Winter Mulch for Berries

The application of a winter mulch on strawberries increased the yield 716 quarts per acre as compared to the yield secured on berries which were not mulched in experiments conducted at Michigan State College.

The chief benefits of the mulch in addition to making the yield greater were the conservation of moisture, keeping the berries clean, and smothering weeds during the harvesting season. The mulch also protects the berries against winter injury.

In localities where there is little snow, the mulch will be especially valuable, and it is additional insurance of a good crop in seasons of light rainfall.

The mulched plots in the college tests, yielded 2,938 quarts per acre while other portions of the field yielded only 2,275 quarts per acre. The difference in yield was worth 90 dollars per acre.

The exhibits are to be entered in the following classes: Rural school agriculture: 10 best ears corn, 5 best apples, 5 best pears, $1 prize each, any variety. Rural school education: map work, booklets, penmanship, health posters, Thanksgiving posters, story illustrations, sewing, $.50 prize each.

General agricultural exhibit: 5 apples, 5 pears, 5 potatoes, 10 ears corn, 1/2 peck wheat, 1/2 peck oats, any varieties. The P.T.A. will conduct a bazaar with the following booths: Fancy work, farm products, fish pond, popular girl, guessing, Junior throwing, corn game, senior booth, junior booth. General admission will be 10c for adults, children free. The P.T.A. will serve a cafeteria supper from 5 to 7 p. m. each night.

FARMERS BUY FAKE POULTRY MEDICINE

AGENT CLAIMS TO REPRESENT MICHIGAN STATE COLLEGE.

Michigan poultrymen are warned by the poultry department at Michigan State College that at least one man has defrauded the state farmers by selling them a medicine supposed to cure almost every disease which affects poultry.

The salesman claimed to represent Michigan State college when he sold the remedy to one poultry raiser in St. Clair county. At other points in the state, he has posed as the representative of the Michigan Poultry Laboratory.

A sample of the remedy, when analyzed at the college contained re-ground bran or middlings, wood charcoal, quassia, limestone, salt and Epsom salts. None of these ingredients have a marked remedial effect upon diseases of poultry and any of them can be purchased at local stores if they are wanted.

College poultry specialists advise flock owners to call the local veterinarian, the county agricultural agent, or the college department before investing money in poultry remedies sold by strangers.

MT. TABOR GRANGE INSTALLS HEADS

PIONEER TELLS OF FIRST INSTALLATION 55 YEARS AGO.

Installation of officers was held Friday evening at Mt. Tabor Grange Hall, Master Noe Anderson and Mrs. Anderson of Bend of the River Grange being in charge of the installation, with Mr. and Mrs. Will Whitaker of the Wagner Grange assisting. Officers installed: were master, Victor Ruffinot; overseer, Herbert Stineback; lecturer, Minnie Zennel; steward, Walter Freeman; assistant steward, Ralph Painter; chaplain, Mrs. Alice Clark; treasurer, Clyde Pennell; secretary, Clara Ruffinot; gate keeper, Clifford Shafer; Ceres, Augusta Clark; Pomona, Lillie Shafer; Flora, Florence Engleright; lady assistant steward, Ardele Kinney.

In the program hour following the installation, Mrs. Noe Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Will Whitaker gave reports on the state grange at Ionia, which they had attended. An interesting talk was given by Burns Helmick, who related the story of the first grange installation ever held by Mt. Tabor Grange, 55 years ago, in the home of one of the members. About 20 grangers gathered at the home, Helmick stated, and installation was made by Deputy Master Silas Ireland.

The installation was preceded by a fine chicken supper served by the ladies of the grange. Mrs. Housewife, What makes you so late with the milk these mornings? Milkmaid, Well, you see, the pure food law don't allow us more than 25 million bacteria to the gallon, and you wouldn't believe how long it takes to count the little son-of-aguns.

INTERNATIONAL LIVE STOCK SHOW HELD NOV 30-DEC 7

BOYS' AND GIRLS' JUDGING CONTESTS HELD ON NOVEMBER 29.

The essential wonders of the rural world and that vast empire of valley and plains of which Chicago is the commercial capital will be vividly on view at the Chicago Stock Yard the last of this month.

Opening on November 30, the first Saturday following Thanksgiving, and continuing throughout the next week until December 7, the International Live Stock Exposition will be a macra to thousands from both country and town. According to an advance program issued by the management, a pre-exposition event will be the farm boys' and girls' livestock judging contests on Friday, Nov. 29, the day before the formal opening of the show. Here selected teams of farm youths from every state will put their knowledge of livestock in spirited competition.

Saturday, Nov. 30, youth will still be in the spotlight, with the state collegiate livestock judging teams, and the Junior Live Stock Feeding contest, from which ranks last year's grand champion steer came, occupying the main program. On this day and throughout the following, scoring of the hundreds of samples of the finest harvests of the world, entered in the International Grain and Hay show will keep a large staff of crop experts busy.

Monday, Dec. 2, will see the exhibition in full stride. The judging rings will be crowded with nominations for the highest honors of the 1929 livestock show season, including Percheron and Shire horses and entries in the fat classes of all breeds. The awarding of championships in the fat classes, always a tensely dramatic occasion, will be on Tuesday, and at the same time judging of the Shorthorn, Hereford and Aberdeen-Angus cattle classes will begin and will be continued, along with the other breeds of stock, throughout the week.

Speedy Relief For Sore Throat

This Doctor's Prescription Requires No Gargling.

No longer is it necessary to gargle and choke with nasty tasting medicines to relieve sore throat. Now you can get almost instant relief with one swallow of a doctor's prescription. This prescription was refilled so often and became so popular that the druggist who originally filled it decided to put it up under the name Thoxine and make it available to everyone.

The remarkable thing about Thoxine is that it relieves almost instantly, yet contains nothing harmful. It is pleasant tasting, and safe for the whole family, and is guaranteed to relieve sore throats or coughs in 15 minutes or money back. Just ask for Thoxine, 35c, 60c and $1.00. Sold by the Wisner Pharmacy and all other good drug stores.

dean-Angus cattle classes will begin and will be continued, along with the other breeds of stock, throughout the week.

For other details of the judging schedule, anyone particularly interested in the time set for one or more breeds of stock, can obtain it by addressing his inquiry to the exposition, says Manager E. H. Heide.

Auction sales of breeding cattle and fat stock will take place throughout the week. They always attract large audiences of interested onlookers in addition to buyers. Thursday and Friday will be the big fat stock sale days, with the grand champion steer scheduled to go under the gavel at 9 a. m. Thursday, Dec. 5. Last year's champion, owned by a boy, brought $7 a pound and weighed 1150 pounds. Sales of choice breeding cattle are listed for Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of "International Week."

FAKE SPECIALISTS NABBED BY POLICE

MICH. STATE POLICE ARREST POULTRY REMEDY SALESMAN.

One volunteer "member" of the staff of poultry specialists at the Michigan State College is now spending a vacation without pay in the Cheboygan county jail.

This man has called on poultrymen throughout Michigan and after examining a flock of birds would prescribe remedies which were supposed to cure everything from frosted combs tobumble-foot. He stated that he was on the staff at Michigan State College.

State police had been warned by the college and the state department of Agriculture to bring the man in for questioning if he could be located. The suspicion of a Cheboygan county farmer when the faker killed a fat hen, pronounced it diseased and offered to sell medicine brought the salesman into the hands of the police.

The examination before a justice of the peace disclosed that there are two of the medicine men in the State. While it is probable that the one at large will go into some other business for a time, farmers are warned that anyone representing themselves to be members of the college staff and trying to sell any remedies should be regarded with suspicion.

A telephone call to the county agricultural agent will enable any farmer to check up on the claims of salesman who say they are from the college.

The height of success these days is a man being quoted by the press about things he knows nothing about.

Hollenbeck Ships Foundation Stock To Colo. Breeders

Three pure bred Guernseys were shipped last week by J. C. Hollenbeck of Berrien Springs as foundation stock for the Richards Brothers of Wetmore, Colo. The Hollenbeck farm was visited by Paul B. Richards and Francis Richards, accompanied by R. I. Holden of West Lafayette, Ind., field representative of the American Guernsey Cattle Club. Pending two days touring the Guernsey herds of Berrien County, they finally selected three heifers, all daughters of Dawn of Cronoko, 146986, and Lone Pine Royal Victor, 98707.

Railways and The Telephone

A freight train puffs quietly on the siding—waiting—the outlines of the cars showing dimly through the darkness. A minute passes—two—three. Then over the night air floats a muffled whistle. Far down the track a light appears. The rails begin to hum, the light grows bright, and a passenger train roars past, windows gleaming. Then the freight comes to life and the long, shadowy outline moves away.

Four million persons in Michigan are served by this steam transport system—four million persons rely upon it, and upon its worthy partner, the electric railway lines. Michigan desires the prosperity of these efficient and progressive railways, for only as they prosper can they serve.

Over hill, across valley—paralleling the rails or following the highways—go the telephone wires, freighted with the spoken commands of industry, agriculture, finance and business.

Railways and wireways traverse the land as partners in progress. Upon the one you depend for the transportation of yourself, your family and your goods. To the other you give your voice to be flashed immediately, one mile or thousands, from your home or your office.

The great rail-transportation systems and the universal service of the telephone are vital factors in this country's development and prosperity.

Our policy—"To continue to furnish the best possible telephone service at the lowest cost consistent with financial safety."

It's just too bad if any smoker because of misinformation denies himself or herself the pleasure of CAMELS.

New smokers are not always in a position to have a real preference in cigarettes. ## J. C. Holmes Recalls Some Early Settlers

Cedar Rapids, Ia.
 Editor Record,
 In the early fifties two brothers, Beardsley, David E. and S. L., familiarly called "Lem," and their father, started a small shop on the lot now occupied by the Record, for making wagons by hand, made good wagons and sold them as fast as they could turn them out and were thriving, when along came the fire in 1861 and wiped out all of the business district lying between Main street and the street and from south of the tail race of the "Pears" (then Bainton) mill, north to Second Street, including the Beardsley Wagon Shop. They, at once, built two small one story shops, for wood and iron work and made a new start and were getting along all right until they got the idea it would be well to spread out and go into the wagon business on a large scale, so they organized a stock company, known as the Buchanan Wagon Works, and built the three story brick shop in which the Record is now located. After that the Beardsleys did not have full control and the business fell into the hands of Andrew C. Day and Solomon Rough and became Day & Rough Wagon Works. On the death of Mr. Day George H. Rough, William R. Rough, Mrs. Peter Womer and Mrs. Amos House, of the Rough family, took over the Day interests and formed Rough Bros. Wagon Works. They made another extension by erecting the two story addition on the east of the original shop, and the large two-story building now occupied by the Richards interests. The Rough brothers were all farmers. They employed a saw mill man for shop foreman and by the time they had learned that unseasoned lumber did not make good wagons the Rough pocketbook was empty and thus ended the wagon business in Buchanan.

The portrait I am enclosing is that of one of the eight sons of Lem. Beardsley, and is distributed by the Cedar Rapids Savings bank and Trust company to demonstrate the character of timber they use for directors. When I came to Cedar Rapids he was city physician.

There was a time when Buchanan was the home of the wealthiest man in Berrien County if not of the state. If such a thing as an eight rail, staked, double ridged fence came in his way it was no obstruction, nor did he take the trouble to climb over it, just jumped it, clear. About 1858 Harvey Roe, Turner Green, John Fancher and Enos Holmes went for a term in the Bryant and Stratton Business college in Detroit. Enos finished his work a bit ahead of the others and came home. It was a couple of weeks before he went to town, and when he did he was walking along the sidewalk at the front of the Collins & Weaver hardware store, which stood on the east lot now occupied by the Opera house block, when John Fancher dropped down in front of him onto the sidewalk and without turning about to say a word, Fancher had taken that way of letting Enos know he was back. He had jumped over Enos' head, touching nothing but the air and walk. Enos measured six feet two and a half inches besides foot heels and hat.

 The building that held the Collins & Weaver business at that time was moved to the second lot south of the Wagon Works, new building, used, the last I knew, by the Parkinson Clothing Store.

Lecture Recalls Memories to Mrs. Winch

The lecture given by Mr. Fox, of the Three Oaks Museum on the lake shore dunes, reminded me of an experience of mine about a mile from Sawyer, where the dunes begin. Away up stood an old store house near a lumber port pier. A woman and her two children lived in the house. Her husband coming from the mill where he worked over Sunday, Mrs. Sawyer, Mrs. Hillyard and Mrs. Horton, all of blessed memory, told me to come to them to board instead of going so far as the dunes. But the good little children urged me to go home with them. After several months I went with them, one mild winter evening. The mother was very cordial. I enjoyed the evening. About bed time it began to snow in great fleecy flakes and the lake winds howled in weird, doleful shrieks through the pine trees. I slept with Mrs. F. From sound sleep she caught my arm screaming "Miss Montague wake up there is a man trying to break in the window." Sure enough, he tried the door, too, hollering "Let me in." After a while he went away. I trudged through a foot of snow to school next morning. The de-nouncement was a heavy jumper near Troy had come stealthily home to see his family and a U. S. officer came to his door. He jumped out of the window. Poor fellow—deserter though he was—out on the dunes on such a night!

Perhaps his penalty might have been worse, had the officers caught him. That fear had winged his feet to the lonely house on the dunes.

My activities were and memories are many, of the years 1861-1865. But only those whose steps are growing slower and whose heads are bowing lower care for ancient, last century's war reminiscence. Clint Montague, who left his card on the turtle—was asked, what did they do at Sunday school after his first visit there. He said the teacher asked the class, "Who was the strongest man? A kid piped up 'samson.' I knew all the time it was John L. Sullivan." (With apologies to Clint).

House David Queen Resists Injunction

"Queen" Mary Funnell will resist the ouster proceedings designed to eliminate her from active part in the management of House of David affairs at Benton Harbor, it was intimated by Atty W. J. Barnard of Paw Paw Thursday.

Judge H. T. Dewhirst, claimant to the authority of King David, initiated the ouster two weeks ago when he secured from Circuit Court Judge Charles E. White, a temporary injunction restraining Mrs. Funnell from taking any part in the management of House of David business.

Atty. Barnard stated that as soon as he had completed the defense of James Kane, on trial for the Millburg bank robbery, he would take up the cudgels in behalf of Queen Mary.

3 Oaks Football Squad is Feted By Epworth League

The Three Oaks high school football team were the guests of honor at a very interesting party given by the Epworth League of the M. E. church. The party was given in the basement of the church. The room was decorated in purple and gold which are the school colors.

Mr. Larson, the minister, had charge of the games. Those present were divided in two groups. One side was Three Oaks and one side, Buchanan. Each game counted so many points toward the final score. The score at the end stood: Three Oaks, 35, Buchanan, 27. Cheers were given for both teams. The captains of the teams were Franklin Weed and Margaretta May. Refreshments were served and short talks given. Russ Able, the first vice president, spoke for the League. Miss Baxter represented the faculty. Leo Weed and Lawrence Heckathorne, leaders of the football team, told how the team appreciated the interest taken in them by the church. Mr. Larson gave a short talk and the meeting came to a close. There were 49 present.

Niles Man Escapes When M. C. Engine Demolishes Auto

Norman Gooding, day engineer at the Federal Ice plant at Niles, narrowly escaped death Wednesday of last week when his car was struck by a M. C. switch engine in the "subway" crossing in that city, his Pontiac car being completely demolished and he himself suffering painful scalp cuts, a broken index finger, and general shock.

Gooding was en route home after dark from his days work and was crossing the tracks in the terminal yard. He saw the engine approaching, but was confused by the lights, and believed it was on the main track which he had safely crossed. Instead it was on the switch track, which he was approaching, and he drove directly in front of it. By a peculiar accident, as the engine crashed into the car, the door on the opposite side was jerked open and Gooding was hurled through it, falling clear of the tracks and rolling down the embankment. He was at first thought to be seriously hurt, but examination at Pawating hospital revealed that his injuries were minor.

Fire Caused by A Defective Flue Burns Farm Home

Fire originating in a defective flue completely destroyed the farm of L. L. Rogers at Smith Lake, nine miles north of Niles on Thursday afternoon, only the furniture on the first floor being saved. The family was at home, but the flames had spread over the entire second floor before they were discovered. The home had recently been purchased and completely modernized by Mr. Rogers, who moved his family there from Watervliet. The place was known for many years as the Albert Ricketts farm.

As long as they can manage to eat, some people refuse to face realities.

GALLEN VALLEY CHORUS SINGS AT 3 OAKS IN DEC.

EVENT WILL BE MILE STONE IN BERRIEN MUSICAL HISTORY.

Mrs. Sara Maxon of Sawyer, director of the Galien Valley Community Chorus, was a visitor in Buchanan Friday and stated that her organization would give a recital in the auditorium of the Three Oaks high school during the fore part of December at which time the Girvin Little Symphony Orchestra of Chicago, will also appear. The chorus is now holding regular rehearsals weekly at Three Oaks, and is rapidly gaining proficiency. This recital will be an important event in the musical history of this section and will be well worth attending. A number of residents of Buchanan, Three Oaks and Glendora are members. The director, Mrs. Maxon, is an instructor of vocal music in Chicago, and was formerly engaged in light opera work in New York City.

THREE OAKS MEN ARE JAILED FOR COUNTERFEITING

CAPTURED AFTER HOLD-UP OF OWNER OF SOFT DRINK EMPORIUM.

Activities of a counterfeit ring operating in southwestern Michigan were uncovered in the past week with the discovery in a house at Sawyer of equipment for making counterfeit money, including four printing disks and a file with which the money was made rough on the edges. In connection with the discovery, Messrs. Marion Huston, 49, Henry Votaw, 20, and Ray Looker, 30, all of Three Oaks, were placed under arrest. The young men first fell under surveillance when they were holding up the proprietor of a soft drink parlor in northern Indiana. The trio had been in the habit of entering such places in southern Michigan and northern Indiana, forcing the man in charge to turn over the contents of the slot machines. Their undoing came when the proprietor of one of the roadhouses followed them out and fired a shot after them, disabling the car. Before they could get under way, he had secured the license of the car, which was one that had been issued to Votaw by a Chevrolet dealer.

AGAIN KONJOLA TRIUMPHS OVER STUBBORN CASE

NEW MEDICINE QUICKLY ENDED SEVERE RHEUMATISM, ALSO KIDNEY TROUBLES.

MR. S. M. ABOOHAMAD
 "I was trying constantly to find something to relieve me of severe attacks of inflammatory rheumatism," said Mr. Sam Aboohamad, 1427 East Jefferson Avenue, Detroit, Mich. "My limbs would swell, sometimes, in fact, the swelling would spread to my entire body, and I suffered terrible agony. During the past few months my kidneys, also, caused me trouble. Sleep—that was unknown to me."
 "The first three bottles of Konjola greatly reduced the swelling and relieved the pain. I continued with this medicine and today I am a well man. The rheumatism is gone, and the kidney troubles have been corrected. It has increased my appetite, I am gaining in weight, and feel 100 per cent better in every way."
 Konjola is sold in Buchanan, Mich., at W. N. Brodick's drug store, and by all the best drug stores in towns throughout this entire section.

The World's Most Efficient Washer Tub

..... The Maytag seamless, cast-aluminum tub is moulded in one piece to last a lifetime. It keeps the water hot for an entire washing, empties itself and is cleaned in 30 seconds.

For homes with out-electricity, the Maytag is small, efficient and has a gasoline motor.

PHONE for a trial Maytag washing. If it doesn't sell itself, don't keep it. Deferred payments you'll never miss.

ELEC paints your store with light

People are drawn to the store that displays ELECTRICAL Advertising—Crowds gather outside of brilliantly lighted windows—attracted by merchandise shown to the best advantage. Before properly lighted windows they pause—they stop—if the store is open they enter and buy—if not they will return at the first opportunity for the remembered coveted article.

Our lighting engineers are at your service—call upon them to make a lighting survey of your store—Electricity to serve you.
