Buchanan To Stage Dollar Day Sale on Saturday March the 8th

Now Here's the Proposition

Suspicion
By Haws

I missed a dollar and ten cents one day while cleaning out my pocket; I said: "I know right where it went, I bet John Hennessey has got it. I left it laying out in sight, I saw him slyly looking at it; He waited till I left that night And watched his chance and jump-off right at it. I well remember where it laid, And it was gone the morning after; So now it cannot be gained John Hennessey is but a grafter. Or else it is Miss Susie Jones; I think that she has sticky fingers; I've never caught her swiping Jones. But still the firm suspicion lingers. She has a shifty gaze and sly. She is devoid of moral scruples, And never looks you in the eye— She is the dame that has my ruples. I ought to call on the police And issue warrants to replevin And give those crooks six months apiece— Their wretchedness smells clear to heaven. I'll have them both dragged into court And run up costs and make them foot it." I grabbed my hat up with a snort, There was my cash right where I put it! Now are I close this passing rhyme? I would record this small addition. I'm not the only ass sublime That ever stooped to small suspicion.

LOCAL STORES OFFER MANY REDUCTIONS

Municipality Will be the Scotchman's Paradise.

VARIETY OF OFFERINGS
Advertisements in this Issue Present Many Opportunities.

Whatever the index of dollar purchasing ability is at the present date, it is due for a rise in Buchanan Saturday, March 8, when local merchants are staging a Dollar Day sale that should make this particular trading center a Scotchman's paradise.

And since everyone has a little Scotch in them these days, in one way or another, it is expected that the offerings will have a wide appeal. Local merchants have made an effort to place before their customers some unusual values which the discriminating buyer cannot afford to overlook. Practically every branch of merchandise offered in the city is included in the Dollar Day Sale.

The opportunities available on the occasion are fully set forth in the pages of the Record, and the local public will find it worth their while to make a careful study of goods and prices, taking advantage of the opportunity to provide future needs at a material saving. Among merchants participating in the sale are men's and women's furnishings stores, drug stores, automobile accessories, groceries, stationery and notions.

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pangborn to Celebrate Golden Wedding Monday

Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Pangborn will hold open house to their friends at their home at 101 West Fourth Street from 2 p. m. until 7 p. m. next Monday, March 10, in celebration of the completion of fifty years of wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn were married in the Methodist parsonage in Buchanan on March 10, 1880, their marriage ceremony being performed by Rev. Joshua White.

Mr. Pangborn is a native of Oronoko Township, having been born there Dec. 22, 1856, the son of Joel and Sarah Pangborn. His parents were the children of pioneers who came here very early from New York. Joel served in the Civil War.

Mrs. Pangborn was Mary Ann Tomlinson before her marriage. She was born on a farm three miles north of Buchanan on July 29, 1856, the daughter of Albert and Lucinda Tomlinson, who had emigrated from Kentucky to Indiana in 1836, and a few years later to Michigan, settling on a farm three miles north of Buchanan, where Mary Ann was born. Her parents drove from Kentucky to Indiana in a one horse wagon, with an extra saddle horse. While fording the Ohio river, one horse was drowned. When they were near Logansport, Ind., the grandmother of the future Mary Ann was taken ill, died, and was buried there. In Kentucky, Albert Tomlinson worked for a slave holder as an overseer of the negroes. When they came to Buchanan, there were a few Indians here yet, although old Chief Moccasin was gone. Her father cut the logs for their house from dense forest surrounding them.

In 1867, Mr. and Mrs. Pangborn celebrated their first July 4th in Buchanan. Mr. and Mrs. Joel Pangborn had driven with a yoke of oxen from their farm near Bridgman, making the drive during the night. Mary Ann Tomlinson and her mother walked from their farm home early in the morning, spent the day in Buchanan and walked back in the evening.

Mr. Pangborn is a pioneer grocer of Buchanan, having embarked in the business here about 30 years ago, retiring about the first of the year. He and his wife have spent all of their married life in Berrien County with the exception of eleven years.

They have four living children, seventeen grandchildren and one great grandchild.

CO. WARS ON TRUCK LAW VIOLATORS

February Thaw Causes Early Breakdown of Pavings.

PATROL SQUAD WORKS

Four Drivers Are Arrested On U. S. 31 Monday Night; Fined.

The county highway patrol squad was enlarged last week by the addition of four men to enable the sheriff's office to enforce the regulations of the state law governing weight of trucks on highways, effective March 1.

The men added are deputy sheriffs Clarence Dunbar, Frank Priebe, Charles Davis and John Lay. Each man is provided with two small scales, one to be inserted under each wheel to weigh one axle at a time. The sum of the weights on each axle are added for the total load.

Due to the unusually warm weather during the last two weeks in February, the roads began to break before the weight law became effective, as the statute limits the loads during March, April and May. However, the law provides that the sheriff may make special regulation at any time in case of a road which has weakened.

Overloaded trucks were the greatest factors in the breaking down of county paved roads last year, for which expense repairs totaled in the neighborhood of $60,000.

The patrol squad works in pairs on 12 hour shifts, travelling the county roads 24 hours daily. Deputy sheriffs Dunbar and Lay arrested four truck drivers on U. S. 31 Monday night. The offenders and the fines assessed were:

J. Stamp, LaPorte, 2900 pounds over, fined $35 and costs.
C. Geddings, of Chicago, 3,700 pounds over, fined $55 and costs.
J. E. Hunge, South Bend, 2100 pounds over, fined $25 and costs.
Paul Stevens, Chicago, 3,500 pounds over, fined $45 and costs.

Clark farm, Ed. Sult in charge, last Saturday and reported that he found a large percentage of the buds unhurt. Knoblaugh also inspected a peach orchard in the Bend of the River, and reported an entire loss. The partial exemption of the Clark orchard is probably due, he stated, to the excellent air drainage.

CITY COUNCIL PROVIDES FOR MORE BEQUEST

New Ordinance Passed to Create Means for Reception.

EFFECTIVE MARCH 17TH

Several Bequests Not Used Hitherto on This Account.

The need of some adequate means of providing for the reception and use of money bequeathed for the purpose of caring for cemetery properties was provided by an ordinance passed by the City Council Monday evening, to become effective after March 17.

The special occasion for the passage of the ordinance was the necessity of creating some way to receive and use a fund of $500 which was bequeathed by William More of Chicago to "The Buchanan Cemetery Association" for the care of the More mausoleum in Oak Ridge cemetery. The money had been held in an Indiana bank which retained the fund contending that they could find no legally recognized authority to turn the money to. The bank finally stated that unless some provision was made the fund would revert to the state of Indiana.

The ordinance provides that such funds shall be received by the cemetery board to administer in accordance with the terms of the bequests.

Several other smaller bequests have not been available on account of the lack of a regularly constituted body to administer them.

J. H. BATTEN MEETS TRAGIC END SATURDAY

Eats Unknown Root While Cleaning Ditch; Dies Two Hours Later.

GRADUATE OF B. H. S.

Employed at Studebakers; Record as Brilliant Student.

Death from accidental poisoning cut short the life of John Hillis Batten, 24, popular young man of the Dayton community, the end coming about 2 p. m. Saturday, only two hours after he had eaten some root of unknown species while cleaning a ditch on his father's farm, 5 1/2 miles west of Buchanan and a half mile south of M-60.

Young Batten had been working that morning in company with Sam Tinkey, an employee on the farm, opening up a ditch to drain a field. About 11:45 a. m. just before they stopped for dinner, he picked up a root, cleaned it and tasted it.

"That is good enough to eat," he said, and apparently ate all of it. The two men went to the house at noon, fed the stock and then went to the farm house for dinner. As young Batten sat down at the table, he suddenly complained of burning sensations and acute pain in his stomach. At first the two men joked about the root he had eaten shortly before and the possible ill effects. The pains became more acute, however, and his mother gave him milk as an antidote. He at once began vomiting and shortly afterward went into convulsions. A physician was called, but the unfortunate youth was paralyzed and beyond the skill of a physician by the time he arrived. He died about 1:50 p. m.

He was born at Edwardsburg on Nov. 23, 1905, the family moving when he was a child to the Dayton farm. He was graduated from the Buchanan high school with the class of 1923, with a brilliant record as a student. He attended Michigan State College three years. During the last two years he held a position in the body designing department of the Studebaker plant at South Bend. He had attended the Citizen's Military Training Camp at Camp Knox for the past two summers, and was studying by correspondence for the rank of lieutenant at the time of his death. He was also taking correspondence work to fit him as an expert accountant.

He is survived by his parents, John and Grace Batten; three sisters, Mrs. Louis Noggle, Evelyn Batten, a student at the South Bend Business College, and Harriet, who is attending public high school. He was a nephew of Mrs. Roy Buland of Buchanan and of Theron Batten of South Bend, also a grandson of Mrs. Levi Batten.

The funeral was held from the home at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday, and a second service was held from the Dayton Methodist Church, of which he was a member, at 8 p. m. Burial was made in the Oak Ridge cemetery.

After the above story had been written, the Record received a written communication from the parents of Hillis Batten relative to the manner of his death and other information, part of which is given below:

He thought it was an artichoke at first, but upon washing it and scraping it, knew that it was not. However, he cut off a piece and ate it, remarking to his companion, Samuel Tinkey, that it tasted like a carrot.

Immediately the two boys returned to the house for dinner, where Batten complained of his stomach burning, saying he had eaten a wild root. First aid was given by his mother, but he soon became violently ill and Dr. Wallace of Buchanan was sent for, but could do nothing to alleviate his condition, the poison having paralyzed his brain. He died in convulsions in less than an hour.

Members of the Sunday School class which he taught and friends were the pall bearers at the funeral which was held at the First Methodist church in Dayton, Mar. 4th.

Mrs. Earl Beck and daughter, Mrs. Nora Miles and Mr. and Mrs. Will Dempsey went to LaPorte, Wednesday to attend the funeral of Mrs. Ada Fields, who passed away at Chicago.

GOVT. FORE SEES EARLY SUCCESS IN DISEASE FIGHT

METHODS OF CONTROL SAVE HERDS FROM HUGE LOSSES.

Encouraging results in the battle against many serious diseases of animals has caused the bureau of animal industry in the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture to ask all livestock owners to co-operate with all public agencies which are trying to still further accelerate the work of disease control.

The federal bureau states that of the 35 serious animal diseases present in the world only 24 are known to be present in this country, and 17 of those present are being effectively controlled or are approaching eradication. Tick fever is one example of a disease which is being eradicated from the national map. Four-fifths of the original area in which this disease occurred is now free from the disease, which has been eradicated from five states.

Tuberculosis, hog cholera, and contagious abortion are three serious diseases whose control has progressed remarkably during the past few years. The help of herd owners is still needed in the additional work which is necessary to further reduce the losses from the three diseases.

Specific measures for inoculating animals to prevent the occurrence of certain diseases, methods for using dips to cure or prevent skin diseases, and ways to avoid losses from internal parasites or poisonous plants are described in printed matter which is distributed free by the bureau of animal industry, U. S. Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Failure of several Indian money lenders in rural districts of Burma has further complicated the agricultural situation of the country.

Fish caught by Norwegian fishermen last year, were valued at $21,500,000.

NEW RECORDS BIG FISH REPORTED BY FIELD AND STREAM

NEW MARK SET FOR MUSKALUNGE, GREAT NORTHERN PIKE, CHANNEL BASS.

The biggest channel bass ever taken on angler's tackle was caught by Charles D. Beckman, 126 77th Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., at Chincoteague, Va. It weighed 74 pounds and measured 55 inches in length and 34 inches in girth. The previous record was a fish caught by Louis M. Silvia weighing 68 pounds and 4 ounces. The biggest muskallunge that has ever been taken on an angler's tackle was caught by Gordon M.

Curtis, 7 Forrer Blvd., Dayton, O., at Sabaskong Bay, Lake of Woods, Ontario. It weighed 53 pounds, 12 ounces and measured 57 inches in length and 35 1/4 inches in girth. The previous world's record was held by J. A. Knoble, with a fish weighing 51 pounds and three ounces. It is interesting to note that the winner of the second prize in this class in the Field & Stream contest also broke the previous world's record, with a fish weighing 52 pounds and 12 ounces, or just one pound less than the new record making first prize winner.

The biggest great northern pike ever taken on angler's tackle was caught by John V. Schanken, 1000 Loyola Avenue, Chicago, Ill., at Basswood Lake, Minn. It weighed 45 pounds and 12 ounces and measured 49 inches in length and 23 inches in girth. The previous world's record was held by William Bostwick, with a fish weighing 36 1/2 pounds.

These National Prize Fishing contests have been conducted by Field & Stream every year for the past nineteen years and each year thousands of dollars worth of outdoor equipment of the finest quality has been awarded as prizes. The purpose of the contests has been to stimulate interest in angling as opposed to just fishing, because it is a fact that those who become anglers quickly become ardent conservationists. Taking fish on light rods and light lines with artificial lures is rare sport and requires considerable skill. The American Museum of Natural History lends its co-operation to these Field & Stream contests, checking and verifying size and weight of the fish entered and keeping a record of all record sized fish.

The 20th annual contest will be opened in April. There will be several thousand dollars worth of prizes divided among about seven classes of fish. It is expected that in 1930 many valuable prizes will be won with fish of no great size, as this has always occurred in previous contests. The first prize winners are usually good size fish, although world records are not broken very often. But the second, third, fourth and fifth prizes in many classes are frequently captured by contestants whose fish are not in any way extraordinary. There are necessarily rules and conditions but they are easily complied with.

The other first prize winning fish in this 19th annual contest were as follows:

Brown trout, 7 lbs. 8 oz.; brook trout, 9 lbs. 9 oz.; rainbow trout, 8 lbs. 6 oz.; steelhead trout, 18 lbs. 8 oz.; small mouth black bass, 14 lbs.; large mouth black bass, 14 lbs.; northern division, 10 lbs. 1 oz.; large mouth black bass, intermediate division, 10 lbs. 6 oz.; large mouth black bass, southern division, 15 lbs.; wall eyed pike, 13 lbs. 7 oz.; crappie, 2 lbs. 15 oz.; striped bass, 59 lbs.; bluefish, 10 lbs. 8 oz.; weakfish, 13 lbs.; lake trout, 34 lbs.; tarpon, 155 lbs.

Local News

The O-A-O Sunday School class of the Methodist Church met in the church parlors Wednesday evening. Twelve members were present. Election of officers resulted as follows: president, Mrs. Kenneth Blake; vice president, Mrs. Wilbur Dempsey and secretary and treasurer, Mrs. Harold Kramer. Several games were enjoyed and refreshments were served by the ladies of the church. Plans are being made for a class meeting for March 19th, at which time Mr. and Mrs. N. I. Ressler and Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Blake will entertain.

Rivers Co. Will Complete Quarters A. & P. This Week

The Rivers Construction Company are completing the alterations on the former Desenberg building, purchased by A. F. Howe, the completion having been delayed beyond the date originally set by the decision to lower thirty feet of raised floor in the rear of the room. Painting and installation of store furniture will take place next week, and it is expected that the Atlantic & Pacific Stores will take possession the following week.

A Viennese physiologist predicts that in 300 years the population of the earth will starve. We are in hopes, though, that 90 per cent by that time will be on strict diets, leaving plenty for the rest of us.

Bucks End The Season With Win Over Stevensville Five

LOCALS HAVE HARD FIGHT FOR VICTORY

First Defeat on Own Floor
In Four Years For Lakeside Boys.

WIN FROM FOUL LINE

Stevensville Leads at Half;
Race Neck and Neck
at the Quarter.

Playing without the services of Bartz, star center, the highly touted Stevensville basketball team went down in defeat before a scrapping bunch of Buchanan cagers by a score of 29 to 26. It was the first time in four years that Stevensville had met defeat on their own floor, and they fought stubbornly to maintain their clean record.

The lakesiders matched the "Bucks" field goal for field goal, but Buchanan "cashed in" on 7 of the 14 chances from the foul line, while Stevensville dropped in 4 of their 8 tries. Friesel and Novotny were ejected from the game on personals. Lawson rang up 4 field goals and a free throw for 9 points, while Pierce counted three from the field and three from the charity line for a likeminded 9. Kreiger led the losers with 8 points.

Lawson opened the game with a nice long shot and scored again on Kreiger's personal. Jefferies, Kreiger, and Heym dropped in short shots, and Jefferies added a free toss, while Knight sank a pair of close in shots and Shultz contributed a free throw giving the "Bucks" in 8 to 7 lead.

In the second quarter, Kreiger's two shorts and Jefferies', and Heym's fielders boosted Stevensville total to 15, while Pierce's corner shot and pair of free throws gave the "Bucks" 12.

Bradfield's proteges tied the score in the third quarter when Lawson sank three beautiful long shots and Pierce counted on Novotny's foul. Novotny scored on a short to tie the score at 19 all.

In the last quarter Novotny dropped in a pot shot from the foul line, and Kreiger sank a short. Pfingst again scored on Friesel's personal, but Novotny dropped in a short to bring the score to 26 to 21 with 5 minutes to play. Pfingst got loose for a short and a few seconds later Pierce dropped in another close in shot. Shultz gave Buchanan the lead with a pretty corner shot, and when Pfingst missed a free throw, Pierce batted it in for the final basket.

The Stevensville reserves ended an undefeated season by defeating Buchanan's second team, 22 to 19; however Lauren Morse did the scoring with 9 points, while Kreiger was high point man for Stevensville with 8.

H. S. Council Throws Splendiferous Party

Saturday night, March 1, beginning at 8 o'clock, the biggest, the grandest, the most "splendiferous" party was given by the Student Council to all the members of the high school.

Music for dancing was played throughout the evening by "Ralph Robinson's Ramblers", an orchestra formed for just such occasions. Those not wishing to amuse themselves by dancing, tested their knowledge in bridge, straight and crazy run, dominoes, checkers, bingo, etc.

During the intermission, refreshments of lemonade and wafers were served.

About the witching hour of midnight, the students both tired and happy, made their way to their homes.

The Church of Holy Trinity, Stratford-on-Avon, England, where Shakespeare is buried, was recently broken into and three boxes containing donations rifled.

Grade News

Kindergarten—Miss Ebbert

Tuesday morning one of the caterpillars which we found last fall, came out of its chrysalis where it had been sleeping all winter. We are so happy to have a butterfly in our room, especially since we saw it spin its cocoon. It is a beautiful swallowtail, blue, black and yellow.

Twelve of our kindergarten band played for a party Friday afternoon. They were Josephine Pascoe, Evelyn Jean Mangold, Doris Lamb, Doris Mae Hollenbaugh, June Decker, June Gregory, Duane Chase, Elmond Brown, Robert Dodge, Gwendolyn Irie, Shirley Mae Eirskine, and Marian Blake.

We are going to make a Dutch scene in our sand table. We made tulips for the flower garden.

Kindergarten—Miss Vandenberg

We are glad to have Junior Bonham back with us again after a long absence.

From our study of the pussy willows, we were able to make some for our room. We put them on the blackboard where our snow man was. They look very pretty.

We have had many poems about the wind and about the flying of kites. Happy are we that March has come!

Eight Initiated Into Phi Kappa

Eight new members were initiated into the Phi Kappa Society Monday at the Phi Kappa meeting. After the regular business meeting the meeting was turned over to Kathryn Reed, who was in charge of the program. The new members, Doris Campbell, Jeannette Upham, Theresa White, Ruth Pierce, Ralph Pfingst, Robert Dempsey and Pauline VanEvery, gave extemporaneous speeches on such subjects as, "How I felt when I was asked to join Phi Kappa," "Why I Like Being a Member of the Microphone Staff," "What I expect to get out of Phi Kappa," and others. Arthur Anderson and Richard Zerbe gave talks on what they would like to see Phi Kappa become. Mr. Knoblough, also a victim of the initiation, gave a speech on "Time Thinking and Space Thinking." The next meeting will be Monday evening, March 10, at Arthur Anderson's home. The remainder of the initiation for the new members will be given that night.

Senior Basketeers Get Strangle Hold On Intramural Title

With but two weeks left of interclass play, the seniors have practically won the championship. In the second team league, they have but one game left and the outcome would have no effect on their standing, since the second-place juniors have lost three games and the seniors have yet to meet defeat.

The first team league, the near-grads have two games left on their schedule, and if they lose both they would get no worse than a tie. They will meet determined resistance from the Junior High and juniors, but they should easily whip them.

The standings at the end of the eleventh week are:

1st Team League

Teams	Won	Lost	Pct.
Seniors	6	0	1.000
Junior High	4	2	.667
Juniors	3	4	.430
Sophomores	3	4	.430
Freshmen	0	6	.000

2nd Team League

Seniors	7	0	1.000
Juniors	4	3	.571
Junior High	2	4	.333
Sophomores	2	5	.286
Freshmen	2	5	.286

Editorial

The district basketball tournament will be held at the Niles high school on March 6, 7, and 8. Buchanan, winner of the district championship in Class C for the last two years, will try to retain her crown. With grim determination, Three Oaks, Bridgman, Berrien Springs, and Cassopolis will enter the tournaments, each trying to displace Buchanan and win the championship. There will be battles worth seeing.

Residents of Buchanan will be interested in seeing not only the Class C games, but also the final game on Saturday night—that between St. Joseph and Niles for supremacy in Class B.

Judging from the number of tickets sold through the high school students, the citizens of Buchanan will be well represented among the spectators at the tournament.

Advance Sale of H. S. Annual Begins

The Annual sale has begun. The Annual staff have been working hard to produce this Annual and to make it the best publication in the history of the school. Its contents are going to be surprisingly new and clever.

The final pictures were taken last Wednesday. Members of the basketball team, orchestra, band, girls' glee club, champion interclass teams, Junior play cast, and Senior play cast had their chances to "look at the birdie and smile."

Anyone wishing to order an Annual may do so by seeing any member of the Senior class. The price is only $1.50, not half of its real worth.

Circus Was Sure
Hot Sketch, Mamma

My dear Mummy,

The second day I was here in Buchanan I went to school with Jim. It was on Friday and they had an assembly program just before we came home for lunch. At least, Jim called it an assembly program, but he doesn't know much because it wasn't an assembly program at all. It was a real genuine circus! There was a bearded lady and a man that could stick a knife down his throat and cut his appendicitis out, and a man that lifted a thousand pounds right up without even grunting out loud. Jim said he bet I couldn't do that, but I know I could 'cause it wasn't really a thousand pounds, it was just a rubber ball. Of course I didn't tell Jim that was what it was, because he might've been disappointed that the strong man was a fake.

There was a gorilla at the circus, too, but it's face looked just like the girl I saw Jim kissing last night when he thought I was in bed, but I was really standing behind a tree watching him. He called the girl "Sal," but I didn't like the way he made love to her. I think he'll do better now that he has seen Romeo and Juliet at the circus. Gee, they were nice. They could sing good, too.

Besides all these things, there was the acting of the song, "The Wedding of the Painted Doll." I liked this real well because there were lots of pretty girls. Best of all, I liked the side-show barker. He was awfully funny but he knew his "stuff."

I must stop writing now, but I still wish you could have seen that circus because you know, Mummy, all that nice "assembly program circus" was put on under the supervision of the Senior girls and Mrs. Dunbar, the English teacher. Everybody says that the senior girls sure put on a swell program. Love and smackers,

ME.

Correspondence Between Buchanan and various cities in France and Belgium should be flourishing in the near future. We already have five or six French friends from whom we hear regularly, and last week we received the names and addresses of fifty more correspondents. Some of our people are writing in French and receiving answers written in English, while others are confining their efforts to their native tongue. Either course is helpful as we correct the English of our French friends and in turn have our French corrected by them.

Soph Girls Win

Capture Title

Upsetting the Juniors in two fast contests, the Sophomore girls won the championship of the interclass league, after their hopes had been almost ruined by a defeat at the hands of the Freshmen.

The first game, played last Wednesday after school, resulted in a 17 to 12 victory for the "Sops". As the league standing was then a tie, another game was played on the following day. The "Sops" clinched the championship with an 8 to 3 win. Theresa White held high point honors.

Although not winning the championship, the Junior team managed to garner the most points during the season, making 102 while the "Sops" made 90. High point honors for the season went to tenn.

Mary Jane Harkrider, star forward of the Juniors, who gathered 34 points in six games played. Frances Sutphen, a Sophomore, made 34 points in seven games, and Doris Campbell of the Freshman team, made 31 points in six games.

The final standings were:

Bend of River Grange Host To Mt. Tabor Friday

The Bend of the River Grange met at their hall on the Walton road, Friday evening. The local grange was host to twenty-eight members of the Mt. Tabor Grange. After the business session the visiting grange had charge of the evening's entertainment. The entertainment committee, Mrs. V. B. Eckert, Mrs. Pansy Carpenter and George Shaffer, with the help of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Fryman, Mrs. Clyde Pennell, Mrs. Burton Cable, Mr. and Mrs. John Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Douglass Dean, Miss Adelle Kinney, Mrs. Geo. Shaffer and Herbert Steinbeck, furnished a pleasing program which included a radio broadcast from station WMTG (Mt. Tabor Grange), a playlet, "Aunt Betsy and the Oil Stock" and another play, "Just Plain Jones" by the "Select Up-to-Date Eight." Vocal and instrumental music was rendered by the cast. Mesdames Fryman and Cable gave a piano duet. After the program a banquet was served to one hundred members by Mrs. Fred Franz and her committee.

Grain Makes Fine Medicine for Ewe

A grain mixture of equal parts of bran and whole oats is excellent medicine for the ewe flock, and the addition of either barley or corn to the mixture makes the remedy even more effective for thin ewes, according to animal husbandry specialists at Michigan State College.

The grain mixture is especially important the month before lambing. Ewes which have been carried through the winter on leguminous hay and which are in fairly good flesh will pay well for the grain mixture at that time.

Bran has a value as a source of phosphorus and as a conditioner in addition to its normal food value. The grain mixture should be fed at the rate of one-half to one pound a day.

Legume hay has a special value as roughage for the ewes. If the forage is given to the flock at least a pound and one-half of clover or alfalfa should be fed to enable the ewes to contain the proteins and vitamins needed by them. Roots or silage may be fed in amounts up to three pounds a day per animal, but two pounds is recommended as a safe limit. Even though the silage may contain considerable corn, the grain mixture should not be omitted from the ewe's ration.

Ewes which are in good condition and which get plenty of exercise should produce healthy lambs that gain weight steadily until they are old enough to eat finely crushed grain or leafy hay.

According to the meteorological department, 1929 broke records in England for cold, heat, wet dryness and winds.

M. S. C. TO HOLD RABBIT EXHIBIT

BUNNY'S ECONOMIC VALUE TO BE THEME OF SPECIAL COURSE.

Poor old Brer Rabbit, after playing around in the story books all these centuries, now finds himself haled out of the tortoise race into the economic race where he will be a subject for investigation at a special school to be conducted at Michigan State College, March 10 and 14.

Professors and laymen will conduct classes during the five days, and people who are already growing rabbits for sale or who are interested in the financial possibilities of the business are invited to enroll in the course.

The first rabbit show to be sponsored by the college will be held during the last four days of the school. This will give prospective breeders an opportunity to see all the types of rabbits which are now popular.

The class work will include a study of the feeding methods, disease control, marketing and judging. Judge John C. Fehr, of Indianapolis, Ind.; Dr. E. G. Baxter, Webster, N. Y.; Prof. F. M. Langworthy, Albion; and prominent breeders in the state will act as instructors for the classes.

The school is being conducted by members of the poultry department of state college, and members of the department state that there is a rapidly growing public interest in the business of growing rabbits for fur and meat.

Stevensville 5, Minus Pivot Man, Flop to 3 Oaks

Playing without Bartz, star center, who was incapacitated on account of an infected arm, Stevensville lost a game to Three Oaks Wednesday evening on the latter's floor by a score of 25 to 9, closing the pretournament schedule. The loss of Bartz, who is the key man of the Stevensville plays, appeared to demoralize the whole team. It is expected that he will be back in the game by the Niles tournament.

The Stevensville reserves tramped over the Three Oaks seconds, 36-14.

"No, No, Nanette" Is Scheduled For Ready Theatre, Niles

"No, No, Nanette" will open at the Ready theatre Saturday with a midnight show at 11:15.

First National's screen version—partly in technicolor—of the famous musical comedy is on a vastly larger scale than the stage version. There are 150 girls and men in the chorus, with a large cast of principals headed by Bernice Claire. Alexander Gray, Lucien Littlefield and Louise Fazenda.

"I want to be Happy" and "Tea for Two," the big song hits of the stage production, are sung by Gray, Miss Claire and the big beauty chorus. Other song numbers are "King of the Air," "The Dance of the Wooden Shoes" and "Japanese Ballet." The latter three songs are becoming as widely popular as were the two original hits.

"No, No, Nanette" is the story of a kindly millionaire who wants to make others happy—especially young girls. Written by Otto Harbach and Frank Mandel, the musical play has been adapted for the screen by Howard E. Rogers, himself the author of several successful musical shows.

The Old Timer's Corner

Old Timer Tells of Days When 'Roads' Belied Their Name

My dictionary says a road is "a public way to travel upon." The more recent years have made that definition "come true," but I can remember when it was hard work to make it true, all right. Can't you?

At this time of the year when the frost was getting out of the ground, after a long, cold winter, this "public way" was not so good, and to travel it was a real job. And often as I go spinning along over the present roads on my way to Buchanan, I often think of the conditions when we were kids. A ten mile drive, sometimes, meant a day's work for man and team, and perhaps having to get "pulled out" of a few holes along the way, at that. Now, we drive a hundred miles in three hours time and think we are abused if we are made to "detour" for a mile or two on the way, while they repair the otherwise good road.

The road down north of town, straight down past Moccasin Bluff on north, down in the "clay country," where "hard scramble" reigned, it was some trip, I can assure you. Hard scramble was much steeper than it is now, and it was clay, and when I say clay, I don't mean sand or gravel. It was that sticky blue stuff, that made the horses' hoofs "muck" when they managed to extricate their feet from it, in wading thru it and pulling the broad tired lumber wagon, or what ever they were hitched to, thru the "mess." Praises be to the man or men, that started the "stone roads" in that country. It just seems little short of a marvel to me, as I go buzzing over the same roads now and try to imagine what they were at one time. We used to kid Carlton Wade, and Harry Bronson and the pupils that came to Buchanan high school from down that way, and told Carlton that we knew how he got his name for he had to "wade" to get out of there. That clay gradually lessened as you came toward town and when you got up to the Reynolds farm and from there on toward town, it became more and more a sandy loam and was easier to travel.

Down on the river road, there were places also that were pretty soft, to say the least. Some places were filled in with logs, etc., and in the side roads, "hog roads" were common. Also down toward Garden and toward Hills Corder and Lakeside, etc., down in the country that our good friend Mrs. Winch has been telling us about this winter. Mrs. Winch has told us of many interesting facts, from her vast store of experiences, and for one, I have enjoyed reading them. I taught school myself down in her old "diggings" for one year, after finishing high school in Buchanan and I will say this: I had never attended a country school and knew very little of what was expected of a teacher in one, but I was nineteen years old and had a certificate to teach and I was bound to try, anyway. Some of my pupils were as old or older than I was myself. It was what was called the "Avery" school, two or three miles this side of Three Oaks and they had mud down that way, too, I can assure you of that.

The first morning of school, I was on hand. My sister, Laura, drove me down there and she offered to go in with me and help me get started. I said no! I hadn't much of an idea what I would find, for I had never seen the place before, and I was glad she was gone, for the stove was a mess, the desks were dirty and the stove pipe stuck up in the air. I had a fine warm day in September so we didn't need a fire, but having been raised on the farm and knowing what the little word, work, meant, it didn't take me long, with the help of some of the older children, to get the stove in place and also the stove pipe, and we cleaned up the room, burned the rubbish and about the middle of the forenoon I had the place looking better and called them to order and then began registering the pupils and getting the classes lined up so that we were fairly well organized and the afternoon saw us well on our way. I won't try to tell you how it looked to me that first morning, for you can imagine, perhaps what it would look like to a kid that was tackling something new and trying to make a showing. But I went thru with it and eventually made good. I think it was partly due to the fact that I had a room full of pretty good kids, I had very little trouble with them, but always had pretty good order among them. One or two were little devils, and hard to handle, but they found out in time, that I wasn't so old as they thought and was onto them before they got under way, so we came to an understanding and after that it was better. But, all this leads up to the roads down that way. They were of that clinging sort of black "muck," those days, and while they had been heated up a little, they were mighty soft and hard to travel, when the wet weather loosened them up. In order to keep the children from bringing that muck into the school room, I arranged a sort of "mud" system, that counted for them as "department" and any one found guilty of coming into the room with dirty shoes or boots was given a "department" and believe me, they were all looking after high marks in the school work and I had very little trouble with mud, after that.

I drove down thru that country last summer, and saw the old places where I "boarded" and noted the changes. But the roads were a joy to me. I could drive as fast as I liked and go as far as I liked. It is a marvel to me, when I remember how I had to skid around from one "bog" to another to even walk a half mile from where I boarded at the time. I had three boarding places during the year. First at Henry Phillip's, who was one of the school board, and then his older daughter came home and they did not have room for me, so I moved to the home of Charlie Sherrill. His wife broke her arm or something and I again moved to the home of Charles Blimke. There I finished my year, and I will say this, that they all treated me fine and I enjoyed knowing them all. I wondered, as I drove through there last summer, how many of them were still alive and what had become of the sixty or more pupils that I had in classes in the old school. The school house is still there and looks exactly as it did then, but the roads are some better.

In Buchanan, at the time I was on earth, there were two seasons of the year when the roads were pretty good, and that was, of course, the good cold winter weather, with plenty of snow for sleighing, etc., and the good old summer time after the ground had settled again. But Oh Boy! In spring and fall, we got what was coming to us.

Now it is always good. Sometimes the roads will get filled up with snow but it is only a matter of a few days until they get a clearing through them with the modern snow plows etc., and the roads are still good and doing business as usual.

I am mighty glad that this generation does not have to put up with what we had at that time. Well they haven't time now, for one thing. They are used to having the new roads and if they were transferred back to our days and had to wallow thru our kind of roads they would all be late, that's all.

Mrs. Eliza Bamford To Compromise in House David Suit

The suit brought by Mrs. Eliza Bamford against the House of David for $35,000 representing claims for alleged moneys and services contributed to the colony over a number of years has been settled out of court. Mrs. Bamford compromising for between $3,000 and $4,000, according to unofficial reports from attorneys. Mrs. Bamford is the mother of the two Bamford girls, whose charges against "King Ben" Funnell in 1922 precipitated a long series of legal action. This ends a series of suits in which the colony has been involved for eight years, as the case between "Queen" Mary and De-whist has already been compromised. It is estimated that in the neighborhood of $100,000 has been spent in legal fees and payment of judgments by the colony.

Move to Prevent Division Assets of House of David

Suit was instituted by Atty. George H. Bookwalter in behalf of Mrs. Emma Bausecke, widow of the late Lewis Bausecke, in the Berrien County Circuit Court Saturday to prevent the division of assets of the House of David, a religious colony, between the followers of "Queen" Mary and "Judge" Dewhurst.

The suit is based on a contention that property of Louis Bausecke, who died at Benton Harbor May 3, 1925, had been obtained by illegal means by the suit. It is rumored that Bookwalter will file suits in behalf of other former members of the colony.

Street accidents in London have become so numerous that the minister of transport recently called a conference of local officials and representatives of all road users to consider means of reducing the toll.

CURATOR 3 OAKS MUSEUM RETURNS FROM EXPLORING

REPORT INTERESTING STUDY OF ANCIENT SEAT OF CIVILIZATION

George R. Fox, curator of the Three Oaks museum, arrived home there last week after having been absent four months on a trip by boat and foot through Central America, the Bahamas and the islands of the Caribbean Sea. During the trip the party explored the ancient center of culture in Central America, where it is said that a high type of civilization, excelling in science and arts, had been built up previous to the discovery of America. This civilization was inferior to that of the Spaniards, who destroyed it only in the killing arts, and for that reason succumbed to it. The party found evidence bearing on the actual landing place of Columbus on San Salvador and on the character and probable origin of early Indian tribes. He was a member of a party headed by Commander Eugene McDonald, who led the party of exploration through the island in 1928, and also commanded MacMillan's flagship on his death to the pole in 1925.

SHERIFF PARTY RAIDS RESORT

ARREST TWO AND SEIZE TRUCK LOAD OF ILLEGAL BEVERAGES.

One of the largest hauls of illicit beverages ever made in Berrien County was secured Saturday night when a party of deputy sheriffs raided "Chickhaven," a resort on the Niles road, three miles south of St. Joseph, seizing a truck load of brew and arresting the proprietor, John Skalecki, and his assistant, Frank Schultz.

In addition to the bottled brew, the officers destroyed a large quantity of malt which was brewing, and poured out 300 gallons of wine. Considerable brewing equipment was confiscated.

It is reported that Skalecki sold most of his brew in case-lots. The raiding party were in possession of search warrants secured by deputies who had bought a dozen bottles of brew previously.

Both of the men arrested waived examination, Skalecki furnishing a $2,000 bond and Schultz a $1,000 bond to appear for trial.

Conserv. Dept. Ordered to Keep Out of Politics

Stating that the Department of Conservation "more than ever before finds itself divorced from politics," Director George R. Hagar today sent a letter to all departmental employees, ordering that they refrain from all political activity.

"You must refrain from furthering the candidacy of any individual, you must not act on election boards, nor will you be permitted to go as a delegate to the county or state conventions," the order says in part.

"Some time ago this department laid down the ruling that no employee was to engage himself or herself in a political campaign," Director Hagar said in his order.

"The reason for this rule was that we as state employees engaged in a work which affects all of the people of the state, cannot carry on effectively if we participate in the candidacy of any particular individual. We receive a salary for doing the specific work of furthering the interests of conservation.

"If we lay aside these duties from time to time, to work in the interests of a candidate for public office, we are not giving the full measure of service due the state, and we are incurring the displeasure of those who do not agree with us in our selection of candidates."

"You should, however, go to the polls and exercise your right of franchise, voting for the man or woman you think best suited for position sought."

Homes for the aged, maintained by fraternal, religious, trade union and other groups in the United States have facilities for about 80,000 persons.

A katydid utters its notes as fast as two hundred a minute. The apparatus which produces the music consists of a curious development of veins and membrane at the base of the wing cover. A vibration of this membrane produces the sound.

Rededicate Sunday

There will be an all day meeting at the M. E. church Sunday, March 9, with services in the morning, afternoon and evening. All who have ever been attendants of the services of the church at any time since it was dedicated are cordially invited to be present. Some repairs have been made and the occasion will be a dedication and home coming. A pot luck dinner will be served in the basement at noon. Pastors who have served the church years ago will be present. G. Gilbert Stansell, who was pastor and who came here as a student twenty-four years ago, has written that he will be here. At present he is in Waukegon.

THREE YEARS OF TORTURE ENDED
BY NEW KONJOLA

WHEN ALL ELSE TRIED FAILED KONJOLA PROVED ITS AMAZING MERIT.

MRS. J. S. ROWSEY
"How I wish I had known of Konjola long ago!" Thousands who suffered while seeking in vain for relief until they found Konjola, have said that. One of these is Mrs. J. S. Rowsey, 10222 Twelfth Street, Detroit. And think how happy she must have been when she paid this tribute to Konjola.

"How I wish I had known of Konjola long ago, for this is the only medicine that ever helped me. Three years ago I was afflicted with stomach and kidney troubles. Pains settled in the small of my back; I had dizzy spells and attacks of nausea. My feet and ankles were badly swollen. Constipation added to my misery and I was sick all over and completely discouraged. The many endorsements of this new and different medicine, Konjola, induced me to try it. To make a long story short, it took Konjola just three weeks to vanquish every last one of my ailments. I can hardly believe that I am the person who was so miserable three weeks ago. Konjola certainly restored me to glorious health when all else I tried had failed."

Konjola is sold in Buchanan at W. N. Brodrick's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

The Woman's Christian Temperance Union met at the home of Mrs. W. F. Runner, Feb. 28, for their monthly business and social meeting. The executive committee reported holding a meeting since the last monthly meeting and obtaining the consent of the teachers to have the Scientific Temperance Instruction Essay Contests in the schools, beginning with the third grade, up to and including the high school. The Union then ordered about 3,000 pages of helpful literature for the pupils to use in connection with their study for the various essays which they are to write for which there are to be prizes awarded by the local W. C. T. U. also the county, district, state and national W. C. T. U.

The Union voted to hold a bake sale, Saturday morning, March 8, at the Army Grocery store, the proceeds of which will be used to carry on the work of the Union, the purchase of literature, also very much appreciated. Mills gave a very informing view on "A Greater Scourge than War," telling of the great increase in the use of heroin, a habit forming drug for which there is no cure, and the use of which is spreading very rapidly especially among young people. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess.
