

LIGHT VOTE AT CITY POLLS

Clark Equipment Co. Produces New Type of Mechanical Conveyor

Now Here's
the Proposition

The Goal
Is Haws

I mind my daddy used to say
In them old days, so fur away,
When he sets out to teach me how
To navigate a walkin' plow:
"If you would draw the furrer
true,
Jest keep some steady mark in
view;
Pick out some mark that ain't too
nigh
That you can draw the furrer by,
Some rock or tree that's sure to stay—
A horse or cow might move away.
And keep the mark by which you steer

Between the furrer horse's ears,
And never let your line fall slack,
And don't be lookin' down er back,
But keep your team up on the bit
And keep right on a-watchin' it."
Now I've fergot my plowin' stuff,
But still dad's rule is good enuff.
It's best to pick some fur-off goal
To be the lodestar of your soul,
And not be pullin' haw or gee,
Confused by everything you see,
Nor drawn aside by idle talk—
The less folk's know, the more the squawk.

Stick to the course that you have planned.
An' hold it with a steady hand,
An' never let your line fall slack,
An' don't be lookin' down er
back—
But, most of all, jest keep your eye
Upon some mark that ain't too
nigh.

DEMOS MAKE CLEAN SWEEP AT BERTRAND

Followers of Andy Jackson Increase Majorities
at the Polls.

FRED KOENIGSHOF WINS

Keep Township in Democratic Column in County Board.

Democrat candidates registered
a complete and sweeping victory
Monday in the polls held in Bertrand township, long known as a Democratic oasis in the desert of Michigan Republicanism, the majorities garnered by the adherents
to the principles of Andrew Jackson being the largest in the history of Bertrand politics and ranging from 40 to 90 votes.

A number of the Bertrand Democratic candidates won their offices by majorities of two to one or more over their Republican rivals.

High vote was won by Mrs. Elba York, candidate for clerk.
Fred A. Koenigshof inherits the mantle of Albert Houswerth by his 154 to 94 victory over Emory
Rough. A total of 95 straight Democrat and 48 straight Republican votes were cast.

The vote in detail was:
Supervisor: Emory J. Rough
(Rep.) 94, Fred A. Koenigshof
(Dem.) 154.
Clerk: Mrs. Iva Swartz (Rep.)
St. Elba York (Dem.) 170.
Treasurer: LaTae Gillette
(Rep.) 103, Arthur Elsie (Dem.)
144.

Highway Commissioner: Charles
Foster (Rep.) 84, Frank Rhoades
(Dem.) 163.
Overseers of Highways Dist. 1:
Ray Frame (Rep.) 90, Frank Straub (Dem.) 154.

(Dem.) 145.
Constables: Ed Hamilton (Rep.)
98, W. F. Reineke (Dem.) 142, Otto Siewert (Rep.) 97, Arthur Newsom (Dem.) 145, Albert Stekman
(Rep.) 96, James Knox (Dem.)
148, A. Keuhn (Rep.) 91, Claude
Haslett (Dem.) 149.

TWINVEYOR IS PROVEN A SUCCESS

Device Introduces New Principle in Transportation.

IN PRODUCTION MAY 1

Tested Two Years in Largest Sugar Factory in the World.

Announcement was released last week through E. W. Clark, vice president and publicity manager
for the Clark Equipment Company, that an addition has been made to the already diversified product of that concern in the form of the Clark TwinVeyor, a portable, flexible conveyor which introduces a new principle into
the transportation of materials,
production to begin by the first
of May.

Mr. Clark said that the Twin-Veyor is being put on the market
only after two years actual service in the largest sugar refinery
in the world where it demonstrated its ability to transport and tie
thousands of bags of sugar a day.

"The TwinVeyor is the last word
in a portable, flexible conveyor," Mr. Clark said. "We think that the addition of this new product to our already large line will greatly increase our volume of business.
We will be in production on the Clark TwinVeyor May 1 and are now booking orders. The first publicity was released April 1.

"We are glad that another product is being added to Battle Creek's production and will help to carry the good name of our city throughout the nation and world."

The Clark TwinVeyor was developed for the moving of thousands of bags of sugar in the refineries of California and Hawaii,
but it is equally useful in the handling of all bagged materials
such as sugar, salt, coffee, beans,
fertilizers, chemicals, poultry and dairy feed, cereals and any other commodity that can be packaged in jute or burlap bags.

Under certain conditions, it was explained, sacks, cases, bales,
casks of ice, barrels, boxes, book
shooks and shingles also may be transported on the new conveyor.

How the TwinVeyor works is best explained by the accompanying pictures.

Roughly described, the new device consists of two tubular external screws turned toward each other by a power head. The power head is an electric motor, the size of which depends on the requirements of the individual user.
Standard construction provides for eight-foot dual sections, joined by patented devices so as to provide for a continuous and uniform flow
of power along the entire Twin-Veyor assembly. The assembly measures 50 feet, including the power head and six eight-foot sections. The dual spiral units may be directed almost at will, any of the joints taking an angle of 15
degrees horizontal or vertical.

Actual operation has shown that the TwinVeyor, when transporting material at its normal speed of 90 feet per minute, has a capacity of about 1,800 sacks or packages
per hour.

"Chief" Robinson Is Arrested For Breaking, Entering

"Chief" Elmer Robinson, reputed
to be a full blooded Pottawatomie Indian, was placed under arrest Thursday morning and was arraigned in the court of Justice of the Peace Al W. Charles to answer to the charge of breaking and entering the Evening Tire Shop on the previous night. The evidence against Robinson consisted mainly of his own admission to local officers that he had picked the door open with a screw driver,
the fastening being a slip bolt on the inside. He stated that a dog
inside barked and frightened him away. Robinson has been a familiar character of the town for many years, picking up a precarious living by odd jobs and sleeping in the jail at night. He is evidently of defective intelligence,
and it is believed that he is growing, worse, to the extent of being a menace to the safety of the town.

NEW CLARK EQUIPMENT PRODUCT

The above pictures show the Clark TwinVeyor, the latest addition to The Clark Equipment Company's diversified line of products.
Above, the TwinVeyor is shown in use, combining the advantages of a tiering machine, escalator and belt conveyor as it handles 1,800

bags of sugar per hour at a speed of 90 feet per minute. Below, two TwinVeyors are shown loaded on a single truck, illustrating the compactness of the conveyors.

LARRY GADD OF GALIEN IS SUICIDE

Ill Health and Worry Ad- vanced as Theory for Killing.

TAKES DOSE POISON

Larry Gadd, 58, resident of the farming district south of Galien
for the past three years, died suddenly at his home Saturday evening, presumably from a dose of poison self-administered.

Gadd had been in ill health lately and was reported to have been worrying about business affairs,
connected with the prospective
sale of the farm on which he lived
by his brother-in-law, who owns it. Gadd came to Galien
three years ago, with his half-brother, Edward Haines, and the two settled on a nineteen acre fruit farm two miles south of town, which a brother-in-law in Detroit had purchased. They had previously been engaged in railway work on the Union Pacific
and Santa Fe railways in the west
for many years. They stocked
the place with poultry and improved the house and grounds until the farm was known as one of the show spots of the Galien district.
Gadd had been unable to do heavy work lately, and was caring for the housework and making the necessary trips to town. He had made trips to both Galien and to
New Carlisle Saturday afternoon.
After his return he put his car in the garage and went in the house,
where, as Haines relates the story,
he found him about 4 p. m. when he came in from the field.

Haines states that he spoke to Gadd about husking some corn
that afternoon, and Gadd told him
to wait until Monday, adding "if I feel better then I will help you."
Soon after he went into the kitchen and got a cup and went upstairs to his room. In about ten minutes Haines heard him calling and rushed up stairs to find him

lying on his bed with eyes rolled back and frothing at the mouth.

Haines states that he asked Gadd what he had taken, to which he replied, "I'm awfully sick."

Haines states that he told his half brother that he would call a doctor, to which the latter replied:
"No, I will be dead in a few minutes."

Haines rushed across the road to the home of a neighbor and called
Dr. Higbee of Three Oaks, who arrived a short time later. However, Haines found Gadd dead
when he got back to the house,
and there was not a trace of life
when Dr. Higbee arrived.

Search revealed a note on which was written: "Am broken hearted,
doing this for you."

Gadd was born in Canada. He is survived by two sisters living in Detroit and by a half brother, Edward Haines, with whom he had been associated in work and residence for many years. The body was shipped Monday to St. Thomas, Can., where the funeral was held Wednesday.

HOWE NAMED SUPERVISOR OF TOWNSHIP

Democrats Carry Posts of Supervisor and Clerk.

G. O. P. TAKE REMAINDER

Maintenance of Concert Sup- port Rejected by Heavy Vote.

The election of Fred Howe over Jesse Boyle for the supervisorship
and of Dean Clark over Paul Wynn for the position of clerk formed the two exceptions to an otherwise complete victory for the Republican ticket in the Buchanan township polls Monday.

The success of Fred Howe in his fight for the post of supervisor afforded greater surprise than any other election result in the neighborhood of Buchanan, the Democrat taking the election by 144
votes to 140 cast for his opponent.
Howe and Boyle each received 87
votes from split tickets, Howe winning from the fact that there were 57 straight Democrat tickets
as compared with 53 straight Republicans.

Dean Clark led all candidates
with a vote of 184 for the position of township clerk. Will Whitaker,
running in the opposite column,
polled second largest number of votes, 181 to be re-elected to the post of township treasurer.

The proposal that the township
continue support of band concert,
as in the past was vetoed by 287
to 35.

The township open meeting was held at 1 p. m. and the following appropriations were made: general fund, $2,500; road repair, $2, 500; poor fund, $100.

The vote in detail on the candidates was:

Supervisor: Jesse G. Boyle
(Rep.) 140, Fred Howe (Dem.)
144.

Clerk: Paul Wynn (Rep.) 100, R.
D. Clark (Dem.) 184.

Treasurer: Will Whitaker (Rep.)
181, Tichenor (Dem.) 98.

Commissioner of Highways:
Fred Wallace (Rep.) 157, A. Miller
(Dem.) 127.

Overseer of Highways: Lovege
Harroff (Rep.) 187, E. Sands
(Rep.) 103.

Board of Review: Clyde Gunyon
(Rep.) 144, Charles Hess (Dem.)
129.

Justices of the peace: Perry
Morley (Rep.) 157, Fred Hall
(Dem.) 110, Amos Harroff (Rep.)
158, Frank Strunk (Dem.) 107,
Amos Spaulding (Rep.) 163, Chas.
Mutchler (Dem.) 104.

Constables: Bert Mitchell (Rep.)
172, Will Markley (Dem.) 81, Bert
Capen (Rep.) 152, Vel Russell,
(Dem.) 107, Clayton Spaulding
(Rep.) 150, Elmer Wolkins (Dem.)
108, Joe Letcher (Rep.) 150, Chas.
Howe (Dem.) 113.

Buchanan Cat Has 26 Toes On Six Legs

Any Niles cat which retains uncontested the title to having the most toes of any cat in the county will have to toe the scratch with more than 26 toes, according to Mrs. Fred Bromley, whose cat,
Tom Bromley, has sufficient pedal subdivisions to tie the count with the Niles claimant. The Bromley cat has twenty-six toes, of which sixteen are where they will count
most in his business—on his front feet.

Each toe is well equipped with a toe nail in good fighting trim, and when Tom lights all sprawled out, he can make his mark 26 times all at once. Three of the toes on each front foot are on a division of the leg just below
the knee, so that by a small stretch of the imagination it might be said that Tom Bromley has four front legs. Now let the rest of the county bring on their cats.

Buchanan Gun Club Holds First Shoot

The Buchanan Gun Club held its first trap shoot of the year at the grounds north of town Sunday,
the following scores being made:
Salsbury 21-14, Straub 20-20,
Rotzine 20-14, Nelson 9-11, Hunter 18-23-16, Dalrymple 17-21, Ed.
Sands 15, L. Sands 12, W. Fette

Sam Smith's Contribution to His Country is a Good Five Cent Cigar

Some men die for their country,
others raise it, but it remains
for Mr. Sam Smith, Buchanan's veteran tobaccoist to fulfill vice president Marshall's definition of patriotism by producing for his country's need a good five cent cigar.

For 47 years Sam has been rolling 'em on the same wooden bench
and throughout that entire time,
almost a half century, he has always sold them for the same price,
five cents.

"Why, there's over a hundred brands of ten cent cigars sold in Buchanan," said Smith, "so there is no need for me to go into competition in that line."

Smith learned his trade as a boy in his father's tobacco shop in

COMMISSION CAGE STARS ACTS TO END TO TWINKLE FIRE NUISANCE LAST TIME

Police Told to Enforce the State Traffic Law Strictly.

ARREST IF NEEDED

Speeding Cars Interfere With the Progress of the Fire Truck.

Action against the growing nuisance of drivers who interfere with the passage of fire fighting ca-
paratus enroute to answer alarms,
and who clutter up the premises,
and otherwise interfere with the work of the fire department at the location of the flames was urgently requested by Chief Bunker
at the meeting of the city council held Monday evening.

Bunker stated that cars get in front of the fire truck, forcing it
to take to the gutter to get around
and frequently constituting a serious wreck hazard. The cars of the curious sight seers are parked around the burning building, often in such a way as to obstruct
the use of the hose.

The commission instructed Chief Mitchell to strictly enforce the provisions of the state traffic law
governing the behaviour of private vehicles in the vicinity of fire apparatus enroute to answer alarms.
It was made clear that not only the city police have the right to make arrests but also the fire
chief and any member of the city commission. It was proposed by one councilman that a force of special police be appointed, including several business men and several residents of outlying districts
of the city to act as special officers to enforce regard for the traffic law at fires.

The state law governing the matter, as revised by the 1929
sessions of the legislature, is as follows:

Sec. 22 (A) Upon the approach
of any police or fire department vehicle giving audible signal by bell, siren or exhaust whistle, the driver of every other vehicle shall immediately drive the same to a position as near as possible and parallel to the right hand edge of curb or highway, clear of any intersection of highways, and shall stop and remain in such position
unless otherwise directed by a police or traffic officer until the police or fire department vehicle
shall have passed.

(B) It shall be unlawful for the driver of any vehicle other than one on official business to follow
any fire apparatus travelling in response to a fire alarm closer than 500 feet or to drive into or park such vehicle within one block
from the place where the fire apparatus has stopped in answer to a fire alarm.

The admission will be 25 cents
for everyone and the first game will start at 7:30. The High School band, under the direction of Ralph Robinson, will furnish music during the game. It is hoped that a large crowd will turn out to see the local stars in their last appearance as well as to boost the band and the annual.

Susan Dickinson Expires in Chicago

Mrs. Susan Dickinson, 77, former Buchanan resident, passed away at 4417 North Ashland Avenue, Chicago, Saturday, April 5.

Mrs. Dickinson was born in Beloitt, Wis., June 11, 1852. She is survived by a daughter, Mrs. C.
W. Reed of Chicago.

The body was brought to Buchanan on the 9:18 train Tuesday morning and burial was made in Oak Ridge cemetery. Rev. H.
W. Staver, pastor of the Presbyterian church, held a short prayer service at the grave.

Father and Son Banquet April 18

On Friday, April 18, the first annual Father and Son banquet is to be held in the Buchanan high school gymnasium at 6:30 p. m.

phone 40 for reserve your ticket.
There will be speakers from Michigan State college and the boys' glee club will sing a few numbers.

Admission is 50c per plate.
Your presence will be appreciated. Please bring your son or a boy
in whom you have interest.

BAND APPROP ENDORSED BY 11 MAJORITY

Wilson Leiter Re-Elected to Office in City Commission.

BECK, BOYCE RETURNED

Total of 539 Ballots Are Cast Out of 1290.

Buchanan's first regular city
election, held Monday, April 7, was a rather mild and spiritless affair,
less than a normal vote responding, the outstanding results being the election of Wilson Leiter, Harry Boyce and Harry Beck to
the contested offices by safe majorities and the endorsement by a narrow margin of the proposal to empower the city commission to appropriate for band concerts.

An aggregate of 539 ballots were cast in both precincts, out of a total possible vote of 1290. In all, 511 votes were cast in the special ballot on the band concert
question, of which 261 were for
and 250 against.

The vote in detail was as follows:

Notre Dame Speaker Talks at Last Meet of Fellowship Club

The Good Fellowship Club held its closing meeting of the year at the Presbyterian church parlors
last night, the occasion being Ladies' Night, and the speaker,
the Rev. Father S. A. Reamers, instructor in history and philosophy
at Notre Dame University.

Rev. Reamers spoke on the theme
"The Passing of the Extraordinary," and commented at length on the false attitude of the modern sophisticate, who declines "to be surprised or shocked at anything,
and who does not recognize anything as unusual. He advocated a return to older attitudes and for the old-fashioned practice of
"drawing the line somewhere."

Kenneth Wallace of the South End Engraving Company made a short and sparkling preliminary talk. About 90 attended. Mrs.
and Mrs. Louis Runner and daughter of Chicago, being among the
out of town guests.

The Hills Corners quartet entertained with a number of very excellent selections.

City Commission Canvas Vote Tonight Name Mayor Mon.

The city commission will meet tonight to canvas the vote cast at the spring election held Monday,
and will again meet next Monday
to organize and elect the mayor
for the coming year. The mayor
will then name the city appoints
as chief of police, treasurer, clerk,
etc. It is likely that the appointments will be made public at the May meeting.

Mrs. Eugene Boyce Expires Suddenly At Glendora Home.

Mrs. Eugene Boyce, 70, died
very suddenly at her home, near Glendora yesterday, having been found lying dead on the kitchen floor by her husband, when he came from the field for dinner
about 11:30. It is believed that a paralytic stroke was the cause of death. She was born in Wee-saw township and lived there all of her life. Her name before marriage being Alice Dawson. She is survived by her husband, a one daughter, Mrs. Glenn Bilmire, and by a son, Glenn Boyce, of Chicago. She was a member of the Glendora Rebekah lodge. The funeral will be held from the Hills
Corners Christian Church at 2 p. m., Saturday.

News From Gallien and Vicinity

GALLIEN C. O. P. ELECTS ENTIRE TICKET MONDAY

LOOSE LANDSLIDE OF VOTES ON THIN LINE OF DEMOCRATS.

Gallien Republicans and such scattering Democrats as were able to hear up under the disapproval of the Great Majority went to the polls in the Gallien Township election Monday and went through the formality of returning a complete quota of certified and unimpeachable Republicans to all the offices in sight.

Majorities were of the clearest and decisive character, ranging from 88 to 166 in a total vote of 302. A total of 133 Republicans marked the top of the ticket and let it go at that while 62 Democrats testified to a similar devotion to their political principles.

The vote in detail was:

William Stricker Expires Suddenly

William Stricker, aged 53 years, died at his home about mid night Sunday. He was born in Chicago, and moved to Gallien with his family about seven years ago, settling on a farm about one mile north of Gallien. Sunday morning about 6 a. m. he was taken ill while shaving and became unconscious, in which condition he remained until he passed away. They had traded their farm and were all packed and ready to return to Chicago. He leaves his wife, two sons, William of Chicago and Ralph at home; two daughters, Mrs. Florence Fiebert and Mrs. Myrtle Schlegel of Chicago. He was a mason and a member of the Eastern Star. Funeral services were held at the German Lutheran church in Gallien Tuesday at 1 p. m., conducted by Rev. Louis Kling of Three Oaks. Burial was made in Chicago.

Mrs. M. J. Mitchell Is Honored Guest At Family Reunion

Relatives and one guest to the number of 22 gathered Sunday at the home of Mrs. Mary Jane Mitchell for the annual family reunion on the occasion of her birthday, April 5 having been her 76th natal anniversary.

Of her six children, only one, Mrs. R. S. Beardsley of Morgan Park, Chicago, was absent on account of illness. Sons and daughters present were, Andrew Mitchell of Portage Prairie, Mrs. William Stevens of St. Joseph, Mrs. E. C. McCollum of Buchanan, Mrs. Ed. Freuborn of South Bend, Bert Mitchell of Buchanan. A bountiful pot luck dinner was served at noon.

Mrs. Mitchell has lived in this vicinity all her life, having been born on the farm in the Covey district, now owned by Chauncey & Charles Edgeman farmers and real estate dealers. She was married to Eli Mitchell 57 years ago, and they lived over thirty years on the old Mitchell homestead, where Bert Mitchell now lives. In the fall of 1905 they left the farm and moved to the home on North Detroit Street, where Mrs. Mitchell now lives, and where Mr. Mitchell died five years ago. Since that date her brother, Frank Conrad, has made his home with her. Mrs. Mitchell also has a living sister, Mrs. Melvin Ely of Litchfield, Mich.

Muir; Associate Patron, Eugene Steele; secretary, Minnie Wagner; treasurer, Mrs. Alma Fuller; Conductress, Mrs. Bessie Bilger; Associate Conductress, Mrs. Mayme Chubb.

7 Dozen Chickens Roasted in Fire in Sebasty Addition

The odor of baked chicken hung heavy over southwest Buchanan Friday as the result of a fire which originated in the explosion of a brooder stove, and which consumed a double gang, and 33 spring chickens at the home of Harold Mullin in the Sebasty addition.

Mr. Mullin was away at his work in Baroda, where he is superintendent of Schools. Mrs. Mullin was first to see the fire when she looked out of the window to where her two children were playing and saw the garage enveloped in flames. She placed a call with the fire department, which made a speedy run and was successful in keeping the fire from the house, about 30 feet away. The paint was so badly blistered on the south end of the house that it will be necessary to repaint it. The windows were broken by the heat and house plants in the south windows were killed.

The garage was fully covered by insurance. The 36 chickens which Mrs. Mullin had reared to a pound and a half weight, ready for the broiler market, were an entire loss.

Federated Clubs Hold Annual Meet at New Troy Apr 16

The Federated Women's Clubs of Berrien County will hold their annual meeting at New Troy, Apr. 16, the event having been postponed March 26 on account of the storm and drifted roads.

The sessions will open at 10 a. m. Mrs. L. A. Boyd of New Troy, welcoming the delegates and Mrs. A. B. Muir of Buchanan, giving the response. In the afternoon, the federation will be addressed by the president, Mrs. J. F. Bark of Eau Claire and by president of the southwestern district, Michigan, Mrs. George E. Arnold of Tawas.

The music will consist of selections by the boys' and girls' glee clubs of the New Troy high school, by J. S. Rood of Gallien and Mrs. Sara Sherman Maxon of Sawyer will lead in community singing.

FARMER PLANTS DYNAMITE TRAP FOR HIS FAMILY

SWITCHING ON LIGHTS TO BLOW HOUSE TO PIECES.

Spying on the part of a neighbor who looked through the window and observed Gustave Schultz of Stevensville planting a stick of dynamite in contact with electric light wires probably saved the life of Schultz' wife and five children, for whom it is believed, the deadly trap was laid.

Schultz had been showing symptoms of insanity for two weeks previous, and three days before had driven his wife and children from home with a shotgun. A neighbor observed Schultz, sitting quietly, running in and out of the house, and investigated, observing him in the act of wiring the dynamite. He reported the case to the sheriff's office. Deputies Ku-bath and Griese entered the Schultz home at night through the window, fearing that Schultz might have wired the trap to set it off with the opening of the door. By the use of a flash light

WANTED—Baby carriage by the United Charities. Call Mrs. Fy-dell or Mrs. Herb Roe. 1341c

they found the dynamite and removed it from contact with the wires. They then found Schultz a short distance from his home and placed him under arrest.

The dynamite had been planted so that switching on the electric lights would have set it off, in all probability blowing the house to bits.

Big Pike Found With 90 Smaller Fish in Stomach

One great northern pike, caught in Houghton Lake, had 90 small hass and bluegills in its stomach. The Fish Division of the Department of Conservation has received from Dr. Frank Alger of Houghton, a report of a pike speared in Houghton Lake during February. With the head on the pike, Dr. Alger sent 93 small bass and bluegills found in the stomach. About two dozen additional small fish had been partly digested.

Feat after feat demonstrates power of DYNAMIC NEW ERSKINE

LOW cost is no barrier to champion performance! A small down payment procures it for you in The Dynamic New Erskine. This BIG car has repeatedly proved its power and stamina in typical Studebaker fashion. At Pomona, California, it set a new record for the 7.1-mile climb up Mt. Baldy. It climbed 75 feet farther up Motorcycle Hill, near El Paso, Texas, than any other car ever went. These and many other recent spectacular feats, certify that The Dynamic New Erskine, built by the Builder of Champions, is champion in its own right—entirely worthy of its 78-year-old heritage of quality.

MRS. J. DANGEL
Be of good cheer, you who suffer from the cruel pangs of neuritis and fear there is nothing to help you. Read the words of Mrs. J. Dangel, 315 South Tenth Street, Saginaw, who says:

"I certainly owe Konjola a debt of gratitude, for it put an end to the tortures of neuritis which for months had been almost unbearable. Konjola also cleansed and stimulated my entire system, so that today I feel better than I have in years. My troubles started three years ago, when my stomach and kidneys failed me. My back was lame and I had to be up many times at night. Then the neuritis set in and suffering I endured was terrible. Then Konjola came to my relief. After taking five bottles I was feeling fine. The neuritis was gone, and my stomach and kidneys were working normally. What a medicine Konjola is! No wonder Konjola wins such victories for it is really 32 medicines in one, and of these 32 ingredients 22 are the juices of roots and herbs long known for their medicinal value. Konjola is sold in Buchanan, Michigan, at W. N. Brodrick's drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section."

CHAIN FACTS No. 2

HERE ARE THE FACTS
Whether the National Tea Co. or an independent merchant sells groceries to you, the money covering the cost of these groceries goes to the producer whether in California, Illinois or New York.
National Tea Co. as well as independent merchants pay the following bills: rent, light, gas, advertising, repairs, etc. Both pay employees' salaries—all this money remains in the town.
National Tea Co.'s economical distribution of the necessities of life saves the consumer considerable on grocery bills—that money stays in town with the consumer. Even if the net profit which amounts to 2 1/2% leaves the town the advantage is decidedly in favor of the consumer because of the National Tea Co.'s method of distribution.

Sam Smith's Contribution Good 5c Cigar

Hallifax, Pa. For nearly 20 years while he was engaged as fireman and engineer on steam boats and launches on Pennsylvania rivers and canals and on the Atlantic he kept in practice by buying leaf tobacco and rolling cigars for himself and his friends.

For several years he was engineer on the private launch of Joseph Stickney, millionaire coal mine operator of Pennsylvania, running up the rivers and canals of the state, cruising in the southern seas during the winter. When he finally tired of the roving life he betought himself of his boyhood trade and invested part of his savings in a supply of leaf tobacco, setting up a shop in Selwyn's Grove, Pa.

After working there for a short time he heard through a friend of the thriving sawmill and manufacturing town of Buchanan, Mich. Through relatives in Elkhart, he leased shop quarters in the room now occupied by the Michigan Gas & Electric offices in the corner of the Kent building, then owned by D. C. Nash. Here he maintained his shop for about 20 years, manufacturing cigars for the sawmill employees and furniture makers of early Buchanan.

New sights and thrills were rare in Buchanan fifty years ago, Smith states, and it occasioned no little curiosity when he set up his bench and started to roll cigars. He placed his desk in front of a window on the west side of the building and started to work. In no time, the window was crowded with curious watchers, who filled the available space all day during his first day. He had brought a supply of ready made cigars with him, and these were sold out the first day as the news of the new shop spread among the mill and shop men.

Many of survivors of those days still patronize Smith and place their orders regularly for boxes of "Our V" cigars.

At the age of 80—he was born Oct. 1, 1849, Smith still makes cigars, having set up his shop in his home at 201 South Oak Street. Recently he suffered an attack of illness, and has been able to work only part time, but has been making from 150 to 200 cigars a day. When in good health he is able to make 300 per day.

"I started in the cigar-making business to get away from a wandering sailor's life and have a home of my own said Smith. "A home is the best thing a man can have in the world and when he has one he ought to stick to it."

BRER RABBIT OFFERS CHANCE FARM RELIEF

CONTRIBUTOR ASSERTS THAT BUNNY INDUSTRY HAS GREAT FUTURE.

The bureaus and boards appointed to help the farmer out of his slump are urging farmers to sow less wheat so as to reduce the over supply and thereby maintain the price. Sounds fine, but will it stand analysis?

A farmer's stock in trade is his land; and it is just as reasonable for him to crop that land as it is for a manufacturer to run his factory.

The price of farm produce is inadequate not only of wheat but of all other produce. If the low price is due to an over supply, then the farmer has an over supply of land or there are too many in that line of business.

Then why not get into the rabbit business with a demand beginning for a supply? But remember just any old kind of rabbits are not in demand, and there is no profit in any rabbit except for meat.

The Raisin Brook white rabbit was created expressly for meat purposes and has no equal for quick growth and delicious flavor.

In all foreign countries rabbits are the principle meat food and they are raised by the millions. The little country of Denmark, only one third as large as Michigan, has thirteen rabbit packing plants.

The Raisin Brook Packing Co., Dundee, Mich., has the only rabbit packing plant in the whole United States east of Los Angeles.

This company has a killing capacity of 300 rabbits daily which will soon be increased to 4500 daily and is the only government inspected plant in the country.

This company has already created a market for over two million rabbits per year in Detroit alone. Every day requests and orders are received from other cities which cannot be filled.

Poultry houses by the hundreds in Michigan are being converted into rabbitries. Rabbits multiply faster than any animal in existence. The meat contains 92 per cent digestive nutriment. The chicken contains only 66 per cent.

Raisin Brook rabbit meat contains all the necessary vitamins for growing children and is the most palatable for sick folks.

While the market reports "rabbits not wanted," the demand for Raisin Brook rabbits cannot be supplied and the price paid for live rabbits is 25 cents per pound at three months old when they will average six pounds each.

Nothing you can raise on the farm, in your back yard or empty building, will equal the profit the Raisin Brook rabbit will give you four times per year.

Report recently published states that $373,000 in taxes in Berrien county remain unpaid. Every dollar of this tax and the mortgages as well can be paid in full if you will give Raisin Brook rabbits a chance to do it.

The Raisin Brook Packing Co. will teach you all the mysteries of successful rabbit raising, by a correspondence course, their school at Dundee, or any of their twenty-four branches. All this is free. You are also entitled to the hospital and veterinary and field service force, which should assure your success.

In addition you are given a five year contract for all the rabbits you can raise at a guaranteed price, and this buy back contract means just what it says.

With this opportunity awaiting you is there any good reason why the farmers of Berrien county should waste further time, on profitless business, or the shop man work on half time when Raisin Brook rabbits offer a 265 day income at any profit you choose to make?

Opportunity calls on every one, but it does not hang on the door knob awaiting an invitation to enter. A man's own judgment and action is the key to his destiny. The time to get into any business is when its future is before, not behind it. The Raisin Brook Packing Co. offers you that opportunity now. Whether you are to travel along to success with them depends on you. He can who thinks he can.

Population of Detroit Nears the 2,000,000 Mark

Half a score of years ago there were far-sighted men in Detroit who predicted a metropolitan population for the city of 2,000,000 by 1930. They were pooh-poohed by many and were styled imaginaries or real estate propagandists who had come to grind. The new 1929-30 Detroit city directory, however, gives Greater Detroit a present population of 1,888,955. If the average increase in population during the past five years is maintained during the current 12 months, and there appears to be no valid reason why that average should not be maintained, the 2,000,000 total will be practically attained.

During the past year the population of Greater Detroit increased over 98,000. This increase was recorded in Detroit proper, Highland Park, Hamtramck and Grosse Pointe. When to this total is added the population of other centers ordinarily considered a part of the city's metropolitan area, it can be seen that the 2,000,000 population period has arrived.

The great increase in population in the metropolitan area last year was in Detroit proper. The number of inhabitants in the city is now estimated at 1,641,718, compared with 1,556,270 a year ago. This increase of 85,448 leaves an increase of but 12,668 for the other three communities in the Greater area. The city's increase is the more striking because of the fact that no new territory has been added to the city since 1926.

Real estate activity in Detroit is considered to have been slow during the past three years. Real estate operations, however, should find cause for considerable optimism in the above population increase. Property values reflect merely supply and demand and increased population spells increased demand. It takes a lot of housing facilities to accommodate 100,000 new people each year and that is the approximate rate at which Detroit is growing. Confidence in Detroit has been verified in the past and the future holds promise of fuller verification.

Rebekah Chapter Entertains Guests From Live Lodges

The Bayleaf Rebekah lodge entertained visiting members from the Niles, Gallien, Baroda, Glenora and Three Oaks chapters on Friday evening, in the neighborhood of 200 being present, including the members of the host lodge. Leviathan in Voice-Reach of Land As "Ship-to-Shore" Service Opens

The Third Operator From the Right is at the "Ship-to-Shore" Position on the Switchboard Where Telephone Calls Pass to and From the Leviathan.

By H. M. CARLETON
Time and space, once such great barriers standing in the way of the swift conduct of the affairs of men, received another annihilating blow when telephone service was opened between all Bell telephones and the S.S. Leviathan, flagship of the U. S. Lines and the largest vessel afloat. So science adds another achievement to the long list of those which "are shrinking the circumference of the earth."

Although actual service has just recently been opened to the public, the telephone network on shore and the ship at sea was accomplished by Bell System engineers as early as 1916. On that occasion the Secretary of the Navy in Washington and the Captain of the U. S. S. New Hampshire, carried on a two-way conversation over land wires and radio connections. This trial was part of the communications preparedness work carried on by the Bell System in cooperation with the government. The experiment was highly successful, but the development was not carried to the point of establishing regular service to the public because conditions prevailing in the shipping world did not seem to justify this type of service.

Times have greatly changed, even in thirteen years or so. Thousands more travel to and from foreign lands. Talking to people over long distances by telephone is a commonplace experience in our lives. A commercial ship-to-shore telephone service now meets a need of transatlantic travelers. During these thirteen years much has been learned and many contributions made to theory and practice in the field of radio telephony. The scientists and engineers have been continuously at work at Deal Beach, New Jersey and other experimental stations of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company.

One of the great difficulties to be overcome in the rendering of this new and specialized telephone service arises from the fact that the receiving and transmitting stations aboard the Leviathan must be located close together, while radio telephone stations for receiving and sending on shore can be located many miles apart, thus avoiding the danger of interference. To prevent this interference, which would quickly render the service useless, it becomes necessary to use separate wave-lengths for transmitting and receiving.

Let us take a glance at the pathway of a call between the Leviathan and some city on shore. Imagine yourself in Atlantic City, New Jersey. That city comes to mind because the first call to the Leviathan after the service was opened originated there. The Atlantic City operator takes your call in the usual way. She sets up a connection to the long distance headquarters of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company at 24 Walker street, New York. Here there is a special ship-to-shore operator, as you can see by the picture above. She is given the name of the person wanted aboard the Leviathan, and she plugs in to the proper jack on her switchboard. The current runs from Walker street to Deal Beach, New Jersey, where it is amplified many millions of times by the large water-cooled vacuum tubes and transformed into radio waves. These are received by the apparatus on the ship, amplified again and travel over wire to the private telephone booth where an attendant answers. He is told who is wanted and brings your friend to the telephone.

We have already traced the way your speech will travel. Now let us trace that of your partner in the conversation. His voice travels from the telephone where he is talking to the ship's sending apparatus where it is amplified and transformed into radio waves. These travel to Forked River, New Jersey, where they are "picked up" by the receiving antenna, amplified again, and transformed into voice currents which run to the long distance office at Walker street, New York, and from there to your telephone in Atlantic City. And all this happens in a fraction of a second.

The antennas used for ship-to-shore radio telephony are interesting, especially in one respect. In the case of transatlantic vessels the course is along fairly well defined lanes which make it possible to use directive antennas for transmitting to them and receiving from them. Directive antennas are of very great value since they concentrate the radio waves in the direction required. Receiving antennae of the directive type serve the two-fold purpose of receiving signals best from a particular direction and thus also reducing the interference coming from other directions.

It is not possible to take advantage of directive antennae on ships, but these special types of land transmitter and receiver help materially to offset the limitations of the ship as a site for radio telephone equipment. The land transmitter is quite powerful, about 15,000 watts. The ship's apparatus has only about one-thirtieth this capacity, but since the receiving conditions on land are much more favorable than on shipboard, the quality of the transmission from ship to shore and shore to ship is about equal.

In the radio transmitters of the Leviathan and the Deal Beach station, use is made of high power vacuum tubes. Those at Deal are of the water-cooled type, two feet in length and weigh about ten pounds. Similar in construction and operation to much smaller tubes used in telephone repeaters on land circuits, the water-cooled tubes play an all-important role in amplification. Instead of the whirling wheels and flashing sparks characteristic of the wireless in its early stages, the vacuum tube, in a quiet and efficient manner, amplifies the tiny electric currents from the telephone transmitter several million fold. These currents are sent to the transmitting antenna from which radio waves are projected, strong enough to carry the human voice over the hundreds of miles of space.

Today we can talk to but one ship, the Leviathan. But like all the other scientific developments in the field of communication the service is expected to spread from one ship to another until, within a few years what is now a novelty will be a commonplace, and people will think no more of calling a friend on a ship anywhere at sea than they now do of telephoning from one city to another. The transatlantic service also has become increasingly popular, and where the service was opened with one long wave channel, there have been three short wave channels added and a telephone cable to supplement these it is expected will be operating in 1932.

7TH, 8TH PUPILS WRITE ESSAYS ON CARE OF HEALTH

CONTEST UNDER AUSPICES
OF MICH. TUBERCULOSIS
ASSOCIATION.

Announcement is made by Superintendent Harold C. Stark of an essay contest to be conducted in the seventh and eighth grades from April 17 to April 30, in cooperation with the Michigan Tuberculosis Association, on the topic, "Protecting Health in Youth." The relation of health to success in life, and its value in the prevention of tuberculosis is the subject matter upon which the students will write. Mrs. Roba Lamb, school nurse, is in charge of arrangements for the contest.

All students in the two grades will participate in the contest, which will be carried on as a class exercise in English. It will be a purely local enterprise. The best paper will be printed by the "Record," and its writer will be rewarded with a prize offered by a local store.

The essay contest will be the principal local enterprise to be conducted in connection with a nation-wide April campaign on child health and childhood tuberculosis. This campaign is based on the fact that approximately five out of every one hundred school children have "childhood tuberculosis," a condition often leading to active tuberculosis later in life.

LARGE ACREAGE WILL CAUSE LOW POTATO PRICES

CONSERVATIVE PLANTINGS, CUTS IN COSTS URGED FOR MICHIGAN PRODUCERS.

Michigan potato growers are asked to consider the statements made by government officials in the Agricultural Outlook which reports a contemplated increase in the acreage of potatoes grown in the United States and predicts a consequent reduction in market prices if weather conditions are favorable for the crop.

With normal weather conditions, the proposed acreage to be planted will produce 421 millions of bushels. The farm price for the 1924 crop which was approximately the same number of bushels was 62.5 cents per bushel.

Prospective lower prices will make production economics still more profitable. The usual method of reducing the costs of production per bushel is to produce more bushels per acre.

One of the least expensive ways of improving the crop is to use high grade seed which is certified to be free of troublesome seed-borne disease. Michigan produces some of the world's best potato seed and growers of the State have the first opportunity to purchase it.

The varieties of seed recommended by the State College farm crops department are Irish Cobbler for early potatoes, and Russet Rural, Green Mountains or White Rurals for late varieties.

Cowpeas make a valuable crop. Government agriculturists say they grow under a wide range of conditions and can be used to good advantage in almost any system of crop rotation. They are especially valuable as a catch crop and for hay or seed production.

Seed corn has been badly damaged during the past season, according to the United States department of agriculture. For that reason it advises all corn growers to test their seed corn before they plant it this year and avoid serious injury to their crop.

Grade News

Kindergarten—Miss Vandenberg

The bad weather caused many absences in our kindergarten last week. We are eager for our sick people to return so they can become residents of our village. Our village is a means of creating a desire for cleanliness. Every day each child is inspected and if he lives up to the rules he is a member of the "Keep Clean Village" and is represented by a small paper house on which his name is printed. If he does not pass the inspection, he is not a member of the village and therefore must take his house and move out. This procedure is carried on daily, and houses are added to or taken away from the village as the case may be. The pupils greatly enjoy the plan and nearly all have remained in the village.

The village is decorated with tooth brushes, bars of soap, finger nail files, tubes of tooth paste and miniature signs showing rules of cleanliness, all arranged in an orderly fashion.

We are sure that when our absent kindergartners return they will be glad to be a member of our "Keep Clean Village."

Kindergarten News—Miss Ebbert

Thursday morning a Polyphemus moth came out of its cocoon. We were all excited about it as we had waited for it to open for several weeks. Elwood Brown brought the cocoon to us last fall. Several weeks ago a Swallowtail butterfly came out of its chrysalis. We have been making health posters of children sleeping with their windows open.

Our moving picture of "The Three Pigs" is almost finished. We have all the pictures on the roll and we will make the setting after vacation.

First Grade—Miss Myers

Group III have finished reading the Elson Primer. Now we are going to read in the Field-Martin readers. We enjoyed making sleep posters last week.

2nd Grade—Mrs. Wilcox

Mrs. Wilcox's second grade was presented with a pretty picture this week. It was greatly appreciated by both pupils and teacher. Robert Fairman is ill with the mumps.

3rd Grade—Mrs. Fischer

Mrs. Fischer's second grade was presented with a Lincoln picture this week. It was greatly appreciated by the pupils and teacher.

4th Grade—Mrs. French

TRUCK DRIVER NOT GUILTY OF DEATH OF BOYS

POLMANTEER ABSOLVED OF RESPONSIBILITY OF DOUBLE KILLING.

Volney Polmanter, driver of the Nehi Bottling Works truck which killed Nelson and Edgar Woods, Benton Harbor boys, on Thursday evening, was acquitted of all responsibility for the accident by a coroner's jury which met the following day. Polmanter was returning to Benton Harbor from a trip making deliveries of pop along U. S. 12 east of that city. A mile east of Twelve Corners he started down a hill, dimming his lights to meet an east-bound truck. As he reached the bottom of the hill he suddenly saw three boys walking on the pavement about 15 feet ahead, too late to avoid striking them. The two Woods brothers were hurled from the pavement and killed outright and Johnny Tucker, 6, was struck and slightly injured. Rollie Curtis, 15, and Harold Dohm, 17, were walking at the side of the pavement and were unhurt.

The testimony of Polmanter and Johnny Snyder before the coroner's jury conflicted, the former asserting that the boys were walking abreast, while the latter claimed that they were walking single file. Polmanter stated that he coasted the truck about 400 feet further on to park it off the pavement, there being a ravine alongside the highway at the place of the accident.

The five boys had driven a car to Coloma that evening, where they left it on account of motor trouble and were hiking back. They had hailed several cars for a ride but had been unable to secure one.

As a boy Lone Wolf mixed his own colors from bark, berries and other natural sources. He has never taken a lesson.

FILLING STATION OWNERS ARRESTED ON BOOZE CHARGE

HARBERT PAIR ARRAIGNED IN LOCAL J. P. COURT FRIDAY.

Mrs. Bessie Peters and Rudolph Schneider, proprietors of the Harbert Sandwich filling station, were arraigned in the court of Justice Al Charles Friday on a charge of maintaining a place where illegal beverages were sold, and were placed under bond of $1,000 each to appear for trial before the circuit court.

The arrests were made by a raiding party comprising deputy sheriffs C. S. Overcash and John Overcash of Niles and under sheriffs Ben Drier and William Klute of Three Oaks. Action followed a number of complaints by Harbert people to the effect that filling stations were violating the dry law. A Niles man went to the station operated by Mrs. Peters and Schneider Friday and purchased a drink. He reported his purchase to the sheriff's office and the raiding squad visited the place in the evening, finding 200 bottles of home brew beer which Charles Novak, an employee, was in the act of bottling, a 20-gallon jar filled with the same beer, in which kerosene had been poured, and a quantity of bonded liquor and malt. A slot machine was also taken.

Road Department Needs $60,000,000 For New Highway

The Michigan State Highway Department states that it is $60,000,000 behind traffic requirements. This condition exists in spite of the fact that approximately $22,000,000 was spent during 1929 on trunk line construction. Commissioner Grover C. Dillman indicates that the remedy wherewith to meet the needs of traffic is not to increase the yearly expenditure on new construction, but to place the new construction where it will do the most good.

To the end of having all future trunk line construction give the maximum service to the greatest number, plans are now made for having a thorough and systematic traffic survey made of the whole state. In this undertaking the federal authorities, having to do with highways, will participate. It is the expectation of the federal department that the highway traffic survey will have application to highway problems in every state in the Union.

In view of the fact that the state highway department is so far behind actual construction needs it is held little wonder that requests for new construction keep continually pouring in. When the traffic survey is completed it is expected that the State Highway Department will be in possession of a statistical showing which will indicate the points of greatest need.

When it is shown that the construction funds are being placed to serve the heaviest traffic it is expected such showings will operate to satisfy those who are urging that part of the state highway funds be turned over to the cities for their especial use. Much of the building according to indicated need will be strictly rural, but, nevertheless, it will serve large centers of population as far as financial resources permit.

The policy of the department is taken to mean that it regards the state as a single highway problem but that the problem be met on the basis of indicated state need rather than try to meet it according to political subdivision.

Lavish Revue Color Numbers mark Lord Byron of Broadway

"The Woman in the Shoe," who was possessed of too many children, is the nursery rhyme character who forms the excuse for an elaborate technicolor stage number in "Lord Byron of Broadway," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer comedy with music, which will open at the Ready theatre Sunday for two days.

Nacio Herb Brown and Arthur Freed, composers of "Singin' in the Rain," wrote this spectacular dance number which features Ethel Terry, prima donna of Ziegfeld's "Rio Rita."

Sammy Lee, former dance director for Florenz Ziegfeld, fashioned the dance so that it shifts at the behest of a fairy wand from an old, down-at-the-heel shoe, similar to the illustrations in any "Mother Goose," to the very modern, smart high-heeled slipper. And the number of "children" who come pouring from the modern shoe would not indicate that our twentieth century mothers and fathers are at all derelict in their duty.

Cheaper Books.
Like most other businesses, the publishing business has gone in for mass production, to the great benefit of the publisher, the seller, the reader and, we hope, the author. Several publishers recently have put books on the market that sell for as little as a dollar. The editions consist for the most part of reprints of recent successes, although included are several standard works that have been widely read through the years.

As a result the book business is expanding. People who feel the pinch on their pocket-books when they spend three to five dollars for a book can afford to purchase books for nothing is lost by not having read it.

The dollar books, we suspect, were published at more frequent intervals. Their enjoyment is just the same for a good book is readable at any time. If, by the time the reprint comes out, the book has lost interest, then it wasn't a good book anyway and lished for two reasons. Since the war, interest in reading has mounted. Books immediately after the war were of such a sensational character that even people who never made a habit of reading were intrigued by them and their rawness, and thus established a reading habit. Too, the recent inauguration of book clubs, whereby a wide distribution of books was made possible, has stepped up the tempo of the reading public. The number of readers has increased and occasional readers have become steady.

With a reliable demand for books and with the risk for loss lessened, it was simple for the publishers to increase the supply. With low prices and enormous sales, the book world should prosper.

The Unpunished Criminal.
Inspection of criminal court records in cities brings to light facts of a startling nature. Good service for the public is done when crime commissions and associations for criminal justice assemble these facts and make them public. In Philadelphia recently the newly organized association for criminal justice told the public that 92 per cent of the people arrested for commission of major crimes are able to beat the cases against them and go unpunished. That gives Philadelphia a batting average of 8 per cent for conviction. Other cities have small credit in the figures but several of the larger places have a record ahead of Philadelphia. Chicago, for instance, claims to convict 15 out of every 100 criminals arrested, and Baltimore claims a record of 51 per cent, the highest of any large city.

There is basis for the charge that too much is done for the criminal when he has been arrested, that court procedure and laws favor the criminal more than the public. Large cities have been amazed at the ease and certainty with which known criminals are able to wiggle their way out of trouble when they are taken into a magistrate's court after arrest by the police. In many cities there are judges in these lower courts who are openly hostile to the police, they appear to welcome an opportunity for finding a flaw in the proceedings that enables them to release the prisoner. So long as these associations for criminal justice will continue to assemble the records and make the findings public they will be doing fine public service. Ultimately the public will be awakened.

Indiana Seed Corn.
From various parts of Indiana come reports that corn intended for use as seed is low in germination qualities. Most farmers are sticking to the varieties of corn ordinarily grown in this state, and it is with such seed that they are concerning themselves. In sections where the European corn borer has done great damage experiments with a corn that will resist it have been in progress, but corn that can be considered borer-proof is not yet available for general use in this or any other state.

Farmers know that it would be foolish to follow haphazard methods in seeding, and for that reason tests are general. It is from such tests as have been conducted that the bad news is coming. The condition is attributed to bad weather during the growing season, failure to harvest the corn when it should have been taken from the field and from other causes. Regardless of the cause, the chief interest now is in the result, and the progressive farmer has no intention of making a gamble out of his prospective corn crop. He will use some approved method to test every ear of seed corn he has in reserve and will seed only that which shows high germinating qualities. The best thing for any farmer to do, when in doubt about his seed, is to consult the agricultural agent of his county. Such agents are familiar with the best methods of testing seed corn.

Indiana grows the best quality of corn in the world. This has been shown again and again when the Hoosier farmers were crowned international corn kings. The average yield for the state has been increasing gradually, and the five-acre corn competition, conducted by Purdue University, has shown what can be done by intelligent attention to details. But the grower must use good seed and it is with that phase of the crop that the farmers are now concerned.

The Price of a Name.
What's in a name? Money, sometimes.

If you have the signature of Button Gwinnett, for instance, one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence, it is worth quite a bit. Usually the name of authors, statesmen, warriors or others who have attained fame and position, as classed as valuable. More value is added, of course, if there are only a few of the signatures extant. Thus, usually the signatures of men long dead are the more valuable. The signature of George Bernard Shaw is not worth much, financially. His signed letters are being sold for as little as $2.40. One would think that in this day signatures of recent notables would have little or no financial value, but there are exceptions. For instance, a letter written and signed by the late President Harding recently sold for $1100. Samples of his own handwriting are scarce, which explains the high price, the highest by the way, paid for the signature of any of the recent presidents.

George Washington
George Washington has been much debunked of late. Many of the pretty stories told of him are now branded as fiction. He didn't pray at Valley Forge. He didn't cut down the cherry tree. He didn't do this, and he didn't do that. He was human. He drank. He danced. He slept and he ate his meals. What of it? The important thing to us is that in his character George Washington displayed the values that makes a man great. He was persistent. His vision was wide. He had a sense of justice. He battled for what he thought was right. He had a goal, a purpose and he strove toward it. He was strong, so strong that he was a mighty force in changing the course of history.

When the anniversary of his birth comes around we pause and try to catch something of the man to annex to ourselves. We look into his rules for living. We examine his values of good and bad and we try to see by what standards he regulated his course through the petty difficulties of life. But that is not easy to find, for after all it is up to every man to solve for himself the individual problems with which he is faced. It is comparatively easy to distinguish right from wrong, or good from bad; the big problem is to distinguish one right from another; one good from another. In ability to do this, one man differs from another. Washington was able not only to choose the higher right, the higher good, but also to achieve leadership, and therein lay the admirable qualities that made him one of the outstanding characters of all history.

The next war may be fought with Russia to make that perverse and deluded country restore its churches.

Another distinct peculiarity which no doubt helped that scientist to his conclusion that apes are not related to humans was that only the latter have to be protected by city ordinances against jewelry auctions.

Rupert Hughes in his latest book on Washington says the Father of His Country did not pray at Valley Forge, and now the only thing left for him to reveal is that George's marriage to Martha was companionate.

The old theory about there being safety in numbers is a little far-fetched when you are dodging automobiles.

It won't be very long now until the perplexed young men will be writing to Jaeh Hope wanting to know how to keep moths out of spats.

Divorce cases reveal that the pocketbook is frequently the family scrapbook.

Among the little disappointments of life is when, after we write a paragraph which makes us glow with the pride of authorship because of its sheer excellence, a correspondent writes in saying he heard the same thing 100 years ago.

Considering how skittish and spirited they were, and prone to run away upon the slightest provocation, it's a good thing in the interest of public safety that the horse has been replaced by the auto before the men began dressing in awning stripe trousers and green coats.

At the slow rate it's going, looks like the London conference might run through the summer, and now we can appreciate why they are holding it in a country where there isn't any baseball.

An interprising genius with a flair for doing something original milked a cow in an airplane the other day, but offhand it seems as though it would be more convenient to use condensed milk.

Another hopeful sign that the world is growing better is seen in the fact that few men have their pictures taken any more with their dreamy features propped up with an index finger.

Reformers are the Almighty's back-seat drivers.

AWARDS FOR 1929 MADE TO MICHIGAN BELL COMPANY EMPLOYEES FOR OUTSTANDING SERVICE

THREE SAVE LIVES, FOURTH MAKES A VALIANT ATTEMPT

Pontiac, Mt. Clemens and Detroit Men Receive Medal. Commendations Given Battle Creek, Benton Harbor and Lansing Workers

Outstanding acts of service in moments of extreme emergency, that called for unusual initiative, quick action and the application of first aid measures, have brought recognition to four Michigan Bell Telephone company employees in the form of the bronze Theodore N. Vail Medal for 1929, according to Burch Foraker, president of the company. The announcement followed action by the Michigan Theodore N. Vail committee of award which considered the cases.

Two telephone employees rescued persons from drowning, a third made a heroic attempt under similar conditions, and the fourth dragged an unconscious man from a carbon monoxide gas-filled garage and helped restore consciousness. These acts of life-saving were performed by James L. Barrett and George Adams, Detroit; Carl Shoemaker, Pontiac, and Louis J. Lozaun, Mt. Clemens.

Honor Telephone Leader
The awards were made under the plan of the Theodore N. Vail Memorial Fund, created a decade ago, in memory of a man who played a leading part in the development of universal telephone service, and to perpetuate the ideals and traditions of public service he inculcated into the telephone business.

Since the establishment of the fund, 43 such awards have been made to Michigan telephone men and women, 39 of them employees of the Michigan Bell Telephone company and four employed by connecting telephone companies.

The Old Timer's Corner

Mrs. Winch Tells Interesting Incident of Her Early Life Here

I don't believe my mother ever did one thing that she thought was wrong. Before God and man her conscience was clear, even in a line fence deal. Through a rail fence a cloven foot often shows through, or used to. Her bringing up had been strongly and uncompromisingly on the red hot line, "Thou shalt not lie." She was honest, an excellent thing in an ancestor, steadfast, immovable in belief and practice. After my father's death, (he, too, was religious, a "class leader"), I went alone to Buchanan to Sunday School. How terribly I missed the gentle hand that led me there for three years with never a reprimand and with many a caress. That lonely road! Before the Totten house was built there were only two houses between Buchanan and Moccasin Bluff. Sunday after Sunday I recited six Bible verses to kindly teachers, several of them and very good to me. I liked every one, but it was no fun to go there.

A family named Hart lived a mile away, right on the bank of the river. They, with their girls, were soon going to Iowa to live. Girls from the log school house on the Berrien road were asked to the Harts for a farewell dinner the last Sunday of their stay. In my innermost soul I longed to go to the Harts. My feelings were too deep for utterance. So as toys, chiefly of home construction, were put away, I kept silent. Sunday morning I dressed for Sunday School, in childish assertion. I ran speedily down the river road to the Hart home. Alas, "the best laid plans of mice or men gang oft awry." Down by the old well-known spring mother spied a child's tracks not pointed toward the Buchanan Sunday School. Some evil genius or perhaps a guardian angel, directed her work-worn feet to the river bank. "Oh boy! Oh girl! Never such fun. With long ropes tied to trees, two canoes were floating on the water with about a dozen girls who soon were to go to company dinner. Like the surprise of cannonading at Waterloo, "Hark! What sound bursts on the ear?" It was a familiar voice saying "Esther Montague come here this minute." My soul was shaken to its depths, nevermore so. I was convicted of not only "original sin" but of wicked, sinful disobedience to my mother and my duty to the Sunday School. I had left my stockings and Sunday shoes high up on the bank and was barefooted, the better to wade in the river. Not desiring company home, self preservation, or a determined independence prompted me to wade up the river home, instead of going to her. I decided our ways must part, or did I fear a severe whipping for my wicked disobedience. Anyway I could work for my own living. I got out an old carpet bag, put in my handkerchiefs and eleven aprons (the aprons were from relatives in New York). Before mother arrived at the house, I was well on the way to my fancied goal of independence. Thru the deep forest I came out at the Brocous (then Howe) school. Then I went on to Bakertown. Tired and hungry I stopped at Hiram Baker's and asked for work. My offer was 25c a week and Mrs. Baker scoured my service. My first job was scouring knives and forks with a piece of brick. When I was ten all the people I knew had two-tined fork and steel knives that were scoured daily.

The next day mother and my brothers came after me. I had been betrayed by visiting neighbors. Even old Buck and Bright yoked to the ox wagon, looked good to me. Mother did not kiss or caress me, but there was a wistful, unusual tenderness in her manner and her voice. She did not whip me nor scold me nor tell me to pray for forgiveness for disobedience. The mother heart, true to its God-given instincts, was in the ascendant.

Twelve years later I taught the Bakertown school at $25 a month. Then that was high in Berrien county. Although I hoarded around

I never heard an allusion to my escapade, for which I was glad. Teachers' wages were poor, so was the teaching. Not that teachers did not work or care, for nearly all were honest, conscientious women. The bread and butter three R's together were a mountain set in an educational desert. Taxes were low. There was little to tax. The director of a school was a hospitable man whose wife was willing to make her home "a port in a storm" or otherwise, for the teacher. The township examiner was an honest, upright citizen, chosen quite as much for that as for what he knew of books. How fortunate not to be born when Michigan itself was in its swaddling clothes.

Early Diving Suit
The diving suit is not so new as one might think. A patent was granted to John Stappleton on March 17, 1893, for "a new engine so by him contrived as to permit a person inclosed in it to walk under water, and to a new invented way to force air into any depth of water to supply the person in the said engine therewith and for continuing a lamp burning under water; also a way to make the same serviceable for respiration."

Why we waited 6 months to announce this new oil to the public...

Last October, after a year of research, a new type motor oil was perfected. Announcement of it was delayed 6 months to give it the most thorough tests possible in actual use.

We can now definitely make the following statements:

1. New Iso-Vis means less wear on every moving part of the automobile engine.
2. It does not "thin out" with use.
3. It gives effective lubrication over a wider range of temperatures—both high and low.
4. It means a radical reduction of carbon deposits—far less than in most premium-priced oils.

With New Iso-Vis you get a type of lubrication that has not been possible before, regardless of the kind of oil you have used.

This improved New Iso-Vis Motor Oil is now on sale at all Standard Oil dealers and service stations.

HUNDREDS of cars, of practically every make and model, were used in road tests under the toughest conditions possible, to prove the superior value of New Iso-Vis as a motor lubricant. These road tests were successful even beyond our expectations. The 4 points at the right give the details:

SAVE THE EXPENSE and bother of carbon removal. Again, thorough tests and experiments have proved that New Iso-Vis has less tendency toward carbon residue than other oils.

MICHIGAN CITIES OPPOSE DYKSTRA BILL AT JACKSON

DETROIT AND GRAND RAPIDS
POLITICAL LEADERS NOT INVITED.

Some of the largest cities in the League of Michigan Municipalities are not in favor of the Dykstra bill, which proposes to divert one third of the automobile weight tax from the state highway funds to city administration treasuries. This news came out in a meeting of representatives of some 12 cities who gathered at Jackson, March 9, to discuss the Dykstra bill, at the invitation of the Jackson Chamber of Commerce, according to the State Farm Bureau, which was represented at the meeting.

Letters and telegrams were read which stated that prior to the Jackson meeting the following Chambers of Commerce or the city officers and sometimes both, had voted opposition to the Dykstra bill: Flint, Kalamazoo, Saginaw and Port Huron, which met at Sandusky; with representatives of Muskegon, Lapeer, Huron, St. Clair and Sanilac counties, and all opposed the Dykstra plan. Jackson city commission and Chamber of Commerce good roads committee voted to oppose the bill. The only outspoken supporters of the bill at the Jackson meeting were Muskegon Heights and Lansing.

Detroit and Grand Rapids were not invited to the meeting. Political leaders in those cities are leading supporters of the Dykstra plan and have led the state to believe that the entire League of Michigan Municipalities is behind the bill, as one representative to the Jackson meeting put it.

Harold Smith, secretary for the League urged that a re-distribution of state highway funds should be made to give cities, villages and townships a larger share, stating that neither the gasoline or axle taxes would have to be increased if that share were made one third of the weight tax. He said that the League's committee has not reported the measure it will support for that purpose. Mr. Smith urged a larger city share on the basis of necessity for improved streets and bridges in cities to care for auto traffic, increased cost of traffic control and that 80 to 90 per cent of all motor vehicles are housed in municipalities and pay that percentage of the auto taxes.

Replying, former State Senator Connelly asserted that trunk lines are merely elongated city streets, that city limits don't exist for travel, that 90 per cent of traffic on the state roads is of city origin and that it is fair that city cars should pay for those roads. An outstanding feature of the Dykstra bill, said Mr. Connelly, is that it does not confine proposed additional money for cities to through streets, but would allow it to be used anywhere.

Mr. Connelly pointed out that it has been the policy of the state highway program to spend road money where it is needed most, and that has been put state, for through roads through towns and villages, for adequate bridges, with city traffic benefitting thereby. Larger cities have been well connected with the best roads, the cost of which would have been prohibitive if placed on the rural sections traversed. Mr. Connelly said that the Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids highway through Livingston county had cost the state $1,750,000 more than road taxes collected from that county, with the large cities as the principal beneficiaries. He pleaded for support of five and ten year programs of road building, which will bring adequate assistance to city, county and township roads.

Cities represented at the Jackson meeting were: Adrian, Ann Arbor, Battle Creek, Coldwater, Flint, Jackson, Kalamazoo, Lansing, Muskegon, Pontiac, Port Huron, Saginaw.

Hard Winter After Dry Summer Reported Fatal to Muskrats

A dry fall which dried up shallow marshes and ponds, followed by a quick, hard freeze-up, is taking its toll of muskrats, said the game division of the Department of Conservation has received several reports of muskrats dying from exposure and starvation.

During the first week in December, 12 dead muskrats were found on the ice and snow of one marsh in the Saginaw Bay district, all apparently having frozen or starved to death. H. D. Ruhl of the Game Division recently found several muskrats dead on the ice on Crow Island, Saginaw county. On a licensed fur farm, two more muskrats were found dead in their houses.

The seven muskrats brought in to Lansing, had apparently suffered from exposure and lack of food, according to the report of an examination made of the animals.

Unusually early and severe freeze-up following a dry summer and fall, has apparently caused the present conditions. Many shallow ponds and marshes are freezing to the ground so that the rats cannot feed below the ice. When this occurs they must find deeper water or must feed above the ground.

In many places muskrats are being reported living in old cellars and haystacks and their signs are frequently seen where they have been feeding in hay fields or corn shocks.

Would YOU Sell at Par?

An analysis of the material in a human body reveals that its actual value is about 98c. Naturally, if you were selling yourself, you wouldn't have to quote the par value of your body—98c. But how much more are you worth?

In other words, (aside from your potential earning power) have you systematically built up a reserve in a Savings Account? For if you have, you are worth a great deal more than "par." But if you haven't, wouldn't it be wise to come in and open your Savings Account now—and plan to increase your value steadily?
