No Hard Times

At Washington
Says Mrs. Lister

A very interesting letter has been received from Mrs. Nettie Lister of Buchanan, who is spending the winter with her son, Harold Lister at Washington, D. C. She heard of the snow storm and cold weather we are having here. She states that they are having very little freezing weather with no snow at all. There are no hard times there. The people there do not know the meaning of hard times. There are lots of seven-story buildings being built. There are hundreds of brick layers there and they get $14 per day from 9 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. with an hour at noon. At the end of the week they are broke—horse-racing and booze. She has sent 30 post cards to friends back here and she gets from six to eight letters a day. She received the Record each week and keeps well informed of all the news.

THE GREAT AMERICAN VALUE

Fine-car distinction and quality in the new Chevrolet Six

Front view of the new Chevrolet Sport Coupe

Again, Chevrolet and General Motors have utilized their combined resources to establish a new and higher standard of value for the American motor car.

A new six-cylinder Chevrolet is now on display, offering fine-car distinction and quality certain to appeal to every discriminating buyer. For the new Chevrolet represents a type of economical transportation that America has long anticipated—a low-priced six styled with such striking talent and good taste, so smartly beautiful and complete in its perfection of detail, so advanced and refined mechanically that you will immediately recognize it as the Great American Value.

This great value is the outcome of four basic Chevrolet advantages: (1) The savings of volume production in nineteen great modern plants. (2) The economies which result when raw materials are purchased in vast quantities. (3) The benefits of continuous research in General Motors laboratories and on the General Motors Proving Ground. And (4) the close association with the Fisher Body Corporation who, this year, have surpassed all their previous achievements in coachcraft by developing bodies of outstanding quality, refinement and value.

These basic advantages have made it possible to build a finer car at lower cost. They have enabled Chevrolet to offer important improvements throughout the new Chevrolet Six—to give it a longer wheelbase—greater roominess and comfort—strikingly smarter style—impressive new luxury—more thoroughly satisfactory performance—greater dependability—and to pass on these savings of efficient manufacturing to the Chevrolet buyer in the form of low prices!

AT NEW LOW PRICES

Read over these new low prices. Know how very little it costs to own the Bigger and Better Chevrolet Six. Come in today and give this new automobile a thorough inspection. Study the many refinements and new appointments introduced in the distinctive bodies by Fisher. Ride in the car. Drive it! A few minutes' experience will convince you that the new Chevrolet Six is a new and finer type of economical transportation—a quality automobile that you will surely want to own. The Great American Value!

Trapper Must Have Owner's Consent to Trap on Property

It is as necessary for a trapper to obtain the consent of the owner of property before he may set his traps as it is necessary to obtain the property's owners consent before one may hunt.

Trapping is considered as a "property interest" by the office of the Attorney General in a ruling made at the request of the Department of Conservation. The trapper is obligated to obtain consent of the property owner before he may operate.

This consent, the ruling says, must be obtained from the owner of land, whether traps are to be laid on the land, in county drains flowing through this land; in streams bordering the land or in lakes abutting the land.

A former ruling says that the owner of land bordering on a navigable stream owns to the middle thread of that stream; that he controls the right of trapping on the upland, the land covered by water, and the ice covering the water.

In notifying trappers of the ruling of the attorney general's office, the law enforcement division of the conservation department reminded them that all trapping laws remain unchanged from last year.

It is necessary for all trappers to report to the department within five days of the close of any trapping season, the kind and quality of furs on hand.

This rule is also applicable to those hunting for fur bearing animals. The raccoon hunting season was Nov. 1 to 15.

By Nov. 20, all those killing raccoons should have reported the number of raccoon hides in their possession on the closing date of the season.

With this report filed, the furs may be retained in possession as long as desired.

Trappers are not required to attach permits to shipments of furs whether within or outside the state.

All the law requires is that he mark on the outside of the package the kinds and quantities of furs in the package, and his return address.

Fur dealers must attach a yellow permit tag to all shipments of furs leaving the state.

These tags are obtained from the local conservation officer or from the department office at Lansing.

Each shipment must be inspected by the local conservation officer before the tag may be attached.

CHEVROLET TO SELL MILLION CARS IN 1931

J. Russell, Local Sales Mgr., Grants Exclusive Interview to Record Correspondent.

SEES BRIGHT FUTURE Returns from District Meet of Chevrolet Dealers at Fort Wayne, Ind.

Chevrolet will build and sell a million cars in 1931, according to John Russell, Buchanan Chevrolet dealer, on his return last week from Fort Wayne, where with 400 other dealers in this area he attended the twelfth of the winter dealer meetings, being conducted from coast to coast by the Chevrolet Motor company.

On this basis, Mr. Russell declared Chevrolet sales in this section would be more than 25 per cent greater than in 1930.

Mr. Russell's statement was based on studies of current conditions and surveys of the future made by the Chevrolet Motor company and announced at the Fort Wayne zone meeting by M. D. Douglas, Parts and Service Manager of the company, who directed the meeting.

"The studies and surveys show that business is improving, and 1931 promises to be one of the best years we ever had," Mr. Russell said.

"Business is coming back, slowly but inevitably. Money is plentiful at cheap rates. Savings deposits are ahead of last year. Inventories in all lines are at rock bottom and mills, factories and wholesalers report orders in increasing volume."

"As for Chevrolet, our company is one of the most stable in the industry. We have 400 more dealers than we had a year ago. We are better situated than ever before. Our used car stocks are at bottom. In the first ten months this year our organization sold 1,100,000 used cars, an all-time record."

"Our new car stocks are equally low. Our 1931 models are larger and the finest and cheapest in Chevrolet history. Our dealers are that much better prepared for the late winter and spring rush of business. There is a normal replacement market of 3,000,000 cars in America. That plus the deferred buying that will show up in 1931."

promises an excellent year. The first of the year will witness a pronounced improvement. Next year should rank with the best years in automobile selling."

Mr. Russell reported greater enthusiasm among dealers of this area who attended the Fort Wayne meeting over next year's prospects and particularly the new car, than featured previous similar meetings.

Higher Income Taxes.

Indications at the federal treasury are that it will be impossible to continue through the coming year the present low income tax rate, and that the rate used in 1928 will be effective in 1931. Business conditions have caused a decrease in governmental income, while ordinary expenditures for the year thus far have been heavy. That points to a reduced surplus and without a generous surplus the low rate is impossible. The present low rate was limited to payments of 1930 when made. Unless there is special action by Congress when it meets in December the low rate will be discontinued automatically. In that case the old rate will be restored.

It is too early for the treasury department to speak finally on the subject, but indications are so definite tax experts agree there is little hope for continuing the low rate. The reduction in the rate made by Congress last December saved to the taxpayers of the nation the sum of $160,000,000 on payments made this year. The action was taken when treasury conditions showed a heavy surplus that made the cut safe without impairing the national cash supply. Indications today are that the surplus at the end of the year will not justify another reduction.

Eat to Prosperity.

Amelita Galli-Curci, that glorious songbird of the opera, recently gave out an interview which, to many minds, contains all the simplicity of genius.

"Solve the world depression by eating more," asserts Galli-Curci. By a program of "hard eating," she declares, she has built herself up to 130 pounds, ringside, or backstage or whatever it is that fits an opera singer.

Upon this advice, all of the little flappers who flap in the wind because they have starved themselves down to a non-resistant slenderness, should lay off the lamb chops and (we shudder at the word) spinach. Instead, the handsome T-bone and the baked Murphys should adorn the plates of the dainty Misses when they dine, with or without male assistance (financial).

Should all members of the cult of slenderness take upon themselves the duty of eating for poundage, the farmer's market would be enhanced tremendously and thereby all industry would gain, the theory holds.

One danger, however, lies in that the poor males, forced to purgle up for groceries not figured in the family budget, might go bankrupt and thus disrupt business, which would be unable to take advantage of the producer's gains.

Maritime Reading.

Those inlanders among us who always think of our mariners as hammocking gaily upon the deep with nothing to distract their thoughts aside from an occasional swabbing of the decks, now are informed that the American sailor is getting to be very intellectual. According to a library official, the sailor's read philosophy, travel, detective stories and general adventure. One ingenious reporter has even remarked, "We won't need another war, we'll have a spelldown." That is a very fine suggestion and should be placed before a Hoover commission at once. No doubt the United States navy could completely baffle the tricky foreigners by smuggling aboard the enemy ships a few hundred of the latest "Book-of-the-Month" productions.

Jailless Town.

The thriving town of Monroe, Mich., now faces a very baffling situation. Governor Green has announced with a great deal of finality that the city jail, long ago condemned as unfit to house prisoners, positively will be closed this month. To make matters worse, four bond issue proposals to provide funds for a new jail have been defeated. It will indeed be a sad blow to Monroe's civic pride not to be like all other really up-to-date cities, provided with a jail. But until something is done to remedy the situation, we suggest that a prohibition law be enacted, because then we won't need any jails.

Pamplemousse.

Did you have your pamplemousse for breakfast this morning? Now don't get excited. "Mousse" is French and has nothing to do with rodents. Pamplemousse, you must know, is another name for "grapp-fweet," which is the Gallic way of pronouncing grapefruit. And the French Academy, with intelligent artistry, we should say, does not think that "grapp-fweet" is a particularly pretty-sounding expression, and has officially decided to scratch it from the dictionary in favor of "pamplemousse." As Academician Henri Robert, a noted lawyer puts it:

"Pamplemousse is a beautiful word. It evokes in my mind visions of a tropical isle, an exotic beauty, an enchanted climate and sweet dreams, while 'grapp-fweet' engenders only visions of a horrid bitter ball that is neither lemon nor orange."

Just so. It is all right with us. On the side, you may be glad to know that grapefruit is not so called because it tastes like a grape or is the size of one. It grows in bunches like the fruit of the vine that's all. And it was originally called "shaddock," because, we understand, a New England sea captain of that name, many years ago, brought it home with him from the tropics.

Real Estate in New Uses.

The automobile and the miniature golf course, successors to the relegated phaeton and the side yard croquet set, have contributed many increased opportunities for income for the owner of real estate, the National Association of Real Estate Boards point out. The association suggests that holders of real estate take account of the changes of use which are constantly occurring and examine their properties to see for what their location is best adapted under 1930 conditions.

In July there were 5,846 of these midget links, all of which had settled themselves down to doing business and in most cases, on some piece of real estate at the time unproductive of income. On Aug. 11, there were more than 25,000 pigmy courses in operation, representing an investment of $125,000,000.

The National Association finds that vacant lots leased for miniature golf courses are often signed up for three years. Nor is the course satisfied with just any location. It is an exacting renter and raises its bunkers on locations as choice as any to be found. Michigan Boulevard in Chicago, in its expensive district north of the Water Tower, is the site of a miniature golf course one block long and there is an indoor course south of the loop on the first floor of the Congress Hotel building.

The indoor and outdoor tennis court, too, locates itself between skyscrapers in cities and on convenient suburban corners.

A new use for rural western and southwestern real estate has been found in the dude ranch. Along the Northern Pacific route there are 104 of these popular resorts where urban folk take to wide brimmed hats and mustangs.

Open air theaters are becoming increasingly popular. In California eight cities have municipal theaters. Several cities offer outdoor opera during the summer.

The advent of the automobile has, been ushering in a wide variety of new uses for real estate, the association finds. The vacant lot convenient to the business district of a city offers its owners a chance of income if he will use the ground for parking space until the time is ripe for a building on his site, the association says. A 25-story garage is now in operation in New York City and can make room for as many automobiles as could be parked in 10 square blocks.

The motorist whose car registers no gasoline today usually finds his situation no predicament, because he is more likely than not to be within a short distance of one of the 350,000 filling stations which have sprung up on property along the roadside and on vacant lots.

The auto laundry is demanding locations, preferably on a vacant lot near the city's main apartment house district. One California concern is now planning to start 200 auto laundries.

The fruit and vegetable sellers are catering to the motor age by opening drive-in markets. In the Los Angeles area there are 104 such drive-in markets. Dallas has several stores built back from the curb to allow a drive-in parking space.

Tourist camps have created a new use for real estate along main highways on the outskirts of towns and cities.

Motor bus travel which extends from coast to coast, has made its imprint on the utilization of property. In every city some strategic downtown site must be found for its principal bus terminal, and out lying sites must be used for local bus stations.

The steady growth and adaptation to practical purposes aviation is now making and will continue to make, increase uses for real estate. There are now close to 2,000 airports and landing fields in the United States. The establishment of 1,053 additional air ports is contemplated at the present time. Major M. A. Pakas stated that pilots of experience confirm the necessity of landing fields 10 miles apart. Installations at these intervals would practically eliminate all danger from forced landing, he said. Consequently, the association points out, the holder of property 10 miles distant from an existing landing field or airport may be very wise if he hides his time.—Mich. Manuf. & Fin. Record.

The Old Timer's Corner

Old Timer Pays Buchanan a Visit

I drove over to Buchanan, thru the little snow storm Saturday afternoon and all along the road on many farms I saw where they had failed to put away their machinery, when they were thru with it this fall. I hate to see such a waste of good money. Machinery costs real money and in such times as these, it just made me feel bad to see them letting things set out in the snow and storm to rust and go to the bad generally. I would like to appoint myself a committee of one to go and ask them to house their stuff for winter. If you haven't space for them in the barn or shed, then pile them up along side a building and your opportunity.

nail up some boards over them, sort of an "improvised" shack to cover them any way. A good heavy tarpolin would be better than nothing.

The country was beautiful. Just enough snow had fallen on the brush and trees to outline every twig with a layer of clean white snow. The little bushes as well as the big husky trees were beautiful. Seems to me that every season brings its share of beauty if we will just take time to look at it.

I had some more of my sister's good apple dumplings, yesterday, and if you don't believe me, ask her how many I ate for dinner. She sure knows how to make them "just like mother used to make them."

I had a good laugh last week at John Holmes' letter of "congratulations" regarding the route of M-60. There are a lot of us that feel as you do about it, but what can we do? Nothing. So we just make the best of it, and you will find that an unusual number of citizens along this new route will have filling stations and "stands" along the road and they will all make good money out of it too. I saw where they were or had been, digging things up out on the Franklin farm, and it sure is a "mess" right now, but when it is done it will look different. It does seem to me that the engineers are just trying to see how much work they can pile on and make the hardest work out of it that is possible in that district.

This is the season when all the youngsters are on their good behavior, so that they won't be forgotten on Christmas day. I called on one young man, 10 years old, and left a little message for him "not to be opened until Christmas Day," and you should have seen the look of anticipation on his face. All right, Chester, you won't find much in the package, but it comes from the heart, anyway.

Hoping that all the readers of "the corner" will have a good Christmas, and hoping to hear from many of the old timers from time to time, I am yours for better times

Buchanan Reserves Redeem

First Squad Defeat by 19-16 Victory.

DUMBOLTEN SCORES 11

Buchanan high school lost their second game of the 1930-31 basketball season, when Davidson's Daring Dribblers annihilated Bradfield's Buchanan Basketeers by the lopsided score of 27 to 10. Buchanan had some chance until the visitors opened up in the second quarter and gave themselves a 14 to 5 lead at the half.

The Niles boys had Buchanan guessing most of the game and consequently had many close-in chances to score, most of which they took full advantage of. Both teams used a man-to-man defense, but Davidson's boys seemed to have quite a bit more success than it than did the local. In fact, the Nilesites were so good that Buchanan made but one basket inside the foul line. Coach Bradfield started his regular lineup of the Morse twins, the Schultz twins and Glenn Jesse, but he soon decided that substitutes were in order and in went the reserves who had just about as much luck as their predecessors. The Bucks just couldn't get to working, and consequently, did not even give the Niles boys much of a run.

Meyers, Walker and Shoop were the big guns in the Niles attack, with Walker leading the scoring by annexing eight points. Louis Morse topped the Buchanan scoring with four points, while "Doc" Strayer turned in a nice defensive game.

The Bucks met Bridgman here Friday night and if they just had an "off" night against Niles, they have a good chance to win, but if they put up the same kind of a ball game that they did Saturday night they will be in for another tanning.

For Victims of Gas or Flames

Another of the series of health lectures was given last Friday morning by Dr. Robert Henderson of Niles. His talk was "What to do in Case of Being Overcome by Poison or Fire." Dr. Henderson related several ways by which one could be overcome by carbon monoxide, a poisonous gas. A great number of people die each year from inhaling the gas which comes from the exhaust pipe of an automobile. This gas is called carbon monoxide and is the same as that which is used in cooking," stated Dr. Henderson.

Slides were shown, showing a Sheaffer method of resuscitation, which means artificial breathing. To give students a clearer impression of this method, Dr. Henderson had George Spatta and George Remington demonstrate it.

Managers of Class
Basket Sextets

The basketball practices began last Tuesday with the freshmen and sophomores having their first practice, while the juniors and seniors had their first practice on Thursday.

The election of class managers was held Thursday night after school with the following girls being elected: freshmen, Jean Russell; sophomores, Rosemary Thompson; juniors, Frances Sullivan; seniors, Ruby Robe. A basketball tournament will be held after Christmas vacation. Four practices will be required to be able to play in the tournament.

A sleigh ride is being planned by the G. A. A. with Freddie Portz and Helen Mogford acting as chairman.

Supt. H. C. Stark announces that the entire school will close at 12:00 noon, Wednesday, Dec. 24, for Christmas vacation.

There will be general Christmas exercises for the lower six grades in the forenoon.

Mr. Stark states that there will be no exchanging of presents between pupils this year.

There will be no general assembly before Christmas vacation. School will reopen Jan. 5, 1931.

HOT SHOTS

Oh me! Oh my! Did you see that game Saturday night? After all those high hopes for the Bucks and their well-thought-out defense, they were left with a dozen games left and they ought to take some of them anyway. It was probably an off-night for the locals.

However, do not think that I am trying to belittle the opposition. Far be it. Coach Davidson has a nice aggregation, not unbeatable, but pretty good. Meyers and Shoop have played consistently good basketball in the three games that Niles has participated in and didn't do a very bad piece of work Saturday night.

The height of "Stub" Walker, Niles' towering center, was also a big help in many instances, particularly on the tip-off and under the basket.

Stevensville pulled a comeback Friday night after losing their first game, when they handed the Chubb, rf. 0 0 0 0

Imhoff, lf. 1 0 0 2
Totals 3 4 9 10

Buchanan high school has a very fine rooting section especially their silent cheering department. The local students must have read one of the metropolitan newspapers which advertised the merits of the college silent cheering, and decided to emulate their ideas. Fifteen Niles enthusiasts could drown out the whole group of tight-tongued Buchanan rooters.

The second quarter Saturday night was the first quarter for years that Buchanan has not scored at least one point during the period. The Bucks were still in the race at the end of the first quarter, but when they failed to score in the second session Niles definitely had the game on ice.

Buchanan meets their old friends and rivals, Bridgman, next Friday night, and only a decided improvement will enable them to take a heat. Bridgman has Emlogon, Ward, and Stetler back for duty this year and will provide the locals with a very interesting evening. Due to two defeats recorded against Buchanan, the Bucks will be doped for a good licking but, you never can tell.

Here are a few scores from around these parts:
Stevensville, 25; Three Oaks, 9.
Waterliet, 22; Hartford, 17.
Coloma, 27; Covert, 7.
Dowagiac, 31; Cassopolis, 13.
Grand Haven, 19; Holland Christian, 18.
St. Joseph, 14; St. Augustine, 18.

Mr. Ormiston attended a high school principals' meeting last Thursday and Friday. Needless to say, we missed him decidedly for no one we care not with a hand out yellow slips to ninth hour assembly with as much indifference and nonchalance as our Mr. Ormiston. The high school assembly for sixth period has been greatly interested in late in the antics of Richard Brodick. He has acquired that envious habit of being tardy and is quite fond of exercising it. As a result his presence at ninth hour is desired quite frequently. He has that certain air of obtaining those little yellow slips which are so necessary to admit one to that final assemblage of the day.

The two glee clubs journeyed last Friday afternoon and evening to Niles, a neighboring city, where they participated in a music festival held in that community.

Miss Skeels has charge of ninth hour this week.

THE INQUIRING REPORTER
Do you think that the annual county musical concert is a benefit to the students taking part?

I think the annual concert benefits the students participating because it gives them additional practice in singing. It gives them practice in singing before the public, and they get an opportunity of showing their ability to the rest. They also have a chance of entertaining others, and what is singing principally for if it isn't for that?

Yes, I think that the concert is a benefit to the students, and it certainly helped the Boys' Glee Club along considerably, taking, for instance, the seven or eight boys who joined when they found out that the Glee Club was going to Niles.

Anita Andrews.
Yes, in a way I do believe it is a benefit. It gives to the ones that partake in the concert some valuable instruction on how to produce a more attractive voice in tone value, and the way of handling their voices, while still they are partaking in something—as every club should if it wishes to stand out. Although it means work, it is working for a good cause.

It gives us a good idea of all kinds of classical music; thus it benefits those taking part.
Dor Weaver.

I think that it will be a benefit to the students taking part, and it will also benefit our school. I think, however, that the students who are really interested in music and singing will receive more benefit than those who are attending merely for the sake of being excused from school for half a day to simply enjoy themselves. It helps to advertise our school along the line of music and helps those who attend to become better acquainted with other schools.
Carl Linsemler.

3rd Grade, Mrs. Fischmar

The following names were added to the honor roll in spelling this week: Harold Hittle, Velma Martel, Betty Jane Burgoyne, Doris Ewert and Dewey Barker. We now have twenty-three on the roll. Our dental honor roll is also growing. We now have twenty-two on the list.

We are learning Christmas songs and poems. In drawing we have drawn cedar branches, snow men, poinsettias and decorated Christmas trees.

1st Grade, Miss Vanderbark
We were glad to get back in our room before the holidays. We are having such good times together preparing for the Christmas season. The Christmas season has a different meaning from any other time in the whole year.

Christmas to us means the Christ-child story, shepherds and the wise men, hill tops and a manger, a beautiful star, the spirit of giving, a time of peace and good will.

This we have expressed in our work this week. We have made gifts to gladden our parents. Music has been worked out by the children. There are ever greens, bells and snow men round about.

We have missed Margaret Somple, Barbara Wallace, Josephine Pascoe and Geraldine Pazder this week, from school. We are hoping they will be back soon.

4th Grade, Mrs. French
We are very glad to get back to our newly painted school room. It looks very bright and cheerful. Our desks have been refinished and are as good as new. We are proud of our room and would like to have the parents visit us and see our new quarters.

Mildred Ferris was the only one who received 100 in the spelling test. Good for Mildred! but not such a good report from the others. We are going to work harder and want you to watch for a better report next week.

We are learning Christmas songs and poems. For art we cut out and decorated Christmas trees and drew poinsettias.
Irene Bovee colored a very pretty December calendar.

Kindergarten News
This has been a real visitor's week. We have had a regular circus. One day a cat came to school and performed for us. The next day we had a turtle come to live with us. The day after that we had a puppy come. This is the story which the group composed about the puppy, "Trickie".

George Hoppel brought us a puppy one day. The puppy is brown and black. He is a rat ferrier. Lyman, Hubert and Johnnie are building a house for him. We are going to call him "Trickie". He has four brown legs. Trickie drinks milk. Milk will make him grow. We are going to teach him to do tricks.

Month December
Good Time to Check
Supply Wild Game

Sportsmen and others who are interested in game supply will find the month of December an excellent time to check up the local supply of ground game in their neighborhood.

During the pheasant season in late October, when the majority of hunters are in the field, there is rarely enough snow on the ground to furnish an accurate index as to the abundance or scarcity of game and erroneous conclusions are frequently made.

According to Dr. M. D. Pirnie, Conservation Department ornithologist, who is now making such checks, many areas that were heavily hunted show a satisfactory residue of game.

This is also the season when those interested in the perpetuation of Michigan game should be thinking about establishing feeding stations to tide over the pheasants and quail during the "pinch periods" when snow and sleet cover the majority of the source of food supply for these birds.

Beautiful Bermuda, Favorite Winter Holiday Retreat,
Soon to Be Nearer Than Ever Via S. S. Duchess of York

Less than 48 hours from New York are the Bermuda Islands, famous, the world over as a winter resort. The Bermudas lie in the path of the Gulf Stream, and their delightful, temperate climate make them a celebrated winter rendezvous for those desiring to play and rest amid quiet, beautiful surroundings. The azure blue of the water, the gleaming white of the coral-built houses, the beauty of the exotic sea-gardens which can be seen through glass-bottomed boats make Bermuda a favorite holiday spot for those who cannot afford the time or the money necessary for a longer voyage.

From January 31 until April 10, 1931, the steamship service to Bermuda will be augmented by the addition of a new ship—a vessel well known to transatlantic travelers—the 20,000-ton Grandeur Pacific liner Duchess of York. This fine steamer, equipped with all the latest marine devices for comfort and safety, will be the largest and fastest ship engaged in the regular service between New York and Bermuda. She will sail from New York every Saturday and arrive at Hamilton, Bermuda's chief port, the following Monday. North-bound, she leaves Bermuda on Tuesday morning, arriving in New York the following Thursday morning.

Bermuda's hotel facilities vary from the first-class modern fire-proof hostelry to the smaller boarding house and modest cottage. Tennis, swimming, cycling and other pastimes speed the golden hours, and it is usually with genuine regret that the visitor commences his stay in these wonderful coral isles. Motor cars are banned so the visitor fond of meandering along Bermuda's narrow, picturesque, winding roads need never fear being run down by a speeding machine.

The Duchess of York, which was launched by her royal namesake not long ago, is commanded by Capt. R. N. Stuart, V. C., D. S. O., U. S. N. C., R. N. Z., who won his coveted Victoria Cross when commander of the British "mystery ship" Pargust, which established a notable record during the World War.

"God, the Preserver of Man" was the subject of the lesson-sermon in all Christian Science churches Sunday, Dec. 14.

Among the citations which comprised the lesson-sermon was the following taken from the Bible: "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: Who redeemeth thy life from destruction; who crowneth thee with loving-kindness and tender mercies." (Ps. 103: 2, 3.)
The lesson-sermon also included the following passages from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "Constant toil, deprivations, exposures and all untoward conditions, if without sin, can be experienced without suffering. Whatever it is your duty to do, you can do without harm to yourself." p. 835.)

Fire Tags on Cars In Northern Woods To be Continued

The success of the "Fire Hazard" tags placed on all automobiles entering the upper peninsula by the Straits of Mackinac last summer and during the periods of intense forest fire danger, has assured continuance of this practice next year, according to the Forest Fire Division of the Conservation Department.
Last summer, as an experiment, the Forest Fire Division with the co-operation of the state highway department placed tags on automobiles entering the northern part of the state by way of the state ferries when weather conditions made fire hazards acute. The tags asked caution on the part of the motorist and his passengers and suggested many ways of preventing fires.
A noticeable increase in carefulness on the part of motorists resulted from the use of these tags, it was said. The tags were so designed as to serve as souvenirs.

Skeptical of Signs.
"Didn't you see that sign, 'Fresh Paint' by the door?" asked Grocer Jenkins when one of his customers got paint all over her hands.
"I saw the sign," she sputtered, "but I didn't think it meant any more than your 'Fresh Eggs' sign."

SANTY CLAUSE EDITORIAL PRINTED IN NEW YORK SUN HOLIDAY CLASSIC

Answer to Child's Query, "Is there a Santa Claus?" is cue for Composition of a famous editorial which has probably been reprinted oftener than any other Newspaper article ever written.

Below is reproduced a famous editorial written by Frances P. Church and printed in the New York Sun in 1897. This editorial has since been accorded the status of being a classic expression of Christmas sentiment and is printed yearly in hundreds of papers.

(New York Sun, Sept. 21, 1897.)
IS THERE A SANTA CLAUS?

We take pleasure in answering at once and thus prominently the communication below, expressing at the same time our great gratification that its faithful author is numbered among the friends of The Sun.

"Dear Editor—I am 8 years old. Some of my little friends say there is no Santa Claus."

"Please tell me the truth, is there a Santa Claus?"

"Virginia, O'Hanlon."

"115 W. Ninety-fifth St. Virginia, your little friends are wrong. They have been affected by the skepticism of a skeptical age. They do not believe except they see. They think that nothing can be which is not comprehensible by their little minds. All minds, Virginia, whether they be men's or children's, are little. In this great universe of ours man is a mere insect, an ant, in his intellect, as compared with the boundless world about him, as measured by the intelligence capable of grasping the whole truth and knowledge."

Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Claus. He exists as certainly as love and generosity and devotion exist, and you know that they abound and give to your life its highest beauty and joy. Alas! how dreary would be the world if there were no Santa Claus! It would be as dreary as if there were no Virginias. There would be no childlike faith then, no poetry, no romance to make tolerable this existence. We should have no enjoyment, except in sense and sight. The eternal light with which childhood fills the world would be extinguished.

Not believe in Santa Claus! You might as well not believe in fairies! You might get your papa to hire men to watch in all the chimneys on Christmas eve to catch Santa Claus, but even if they did not see Santa Claus coming down, what would that prove? Nobody sees Santa Claus, but that is no sign that there is no Santa Claus. The most real things in the world are those that neither children nor men can see. Did you ever see fairies dancing on the lawn? Of course not, but that's no proof that they are not there. Nobody can conceive or imagine all the wonders there are unseen and unseeable in the world.

You tear apart the baby's rattle and see what makes the noise, inside, but there is a veil covering the unseen world which not the strongest man, nor even the united strength of all the strongest men that ever lived, could tear apart. Only faith, fancy, poetry, love, romance, can push aside that curtain and view and picture the supernatural beauty and glory beyond. Is it all real? Ah, Virginia, in all this world there is nothing else real and abiding.

No Santa Claus! Thank God! he lives, and he lives forever. A thousand years from now, Virginia, may, ten times ten thousand years from now, he will continue to make glad the heart of childhood.

Oven Meal Boon to the Housewife

The oven cooked dinner is a real economy to the housewife's time and energy. The meal should be so planned that all the different dishes are such that they may be cooked at the same temperature. It helps, too, if the length of time required to cook different foods is about the same. Of course there is no valid reason why the article which requires the longer time cannot be put in ahead of the others.

Inez S. Wilson, home economist, picks the following meat recipe as a very good main dish for the oven-cooked meal.
Have a round steak cut thick. Sear until nicely browned in a heavy frying pan. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and put 3 tablespoons of butter on top of the steak, together with 3 tomatoes, peeled and sliced, 1 green pepper, chopped, 2 tablespoons tomato catsup, and 1 tablespoon chopped parsley. Put in a moderate oven and bake until tender, about one hour.

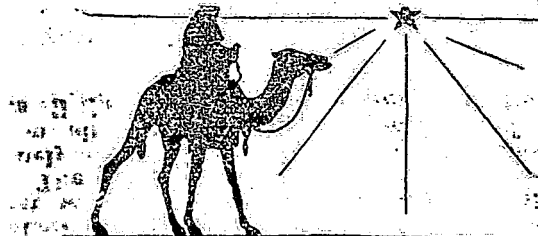

Franconia potatoes may be cooked in with the meat. Corn pudding for the vegetable, and baked apples for dessert complete a very satisfactory oven dinner.

BECK'S TIRE & RADIO SHOP

BUCHANAN

Dear Friends:

There are a lot of mistakes in this world, and most of them come wrapped up in holly paper. This is the time of year when someone gives the bald headed man a hair brush, the man with no teeth a bag of nuts, and a cat to the woman with a canary.

Well, my middle name is service, and so I have organized the Christmas Exchange. All electricians, oil men, jobbers and salesmen, either of the homegrown or wild variety, are eligible to membership.

There are no dues, grips, signs, passwords or special assessments. All you do is write me a letter and tell me your troubles. It may help me to forget mine. If you got a sofa pillow for Christmas, when what you really wanted was a bulldog, write me at once.

Then, if I get a letter from a fellow who got a bow-legged bulldog for Christmas, when what he really wanted was a sofa pillow, I will get you two fellows together. But, remember, send me the letter, not the sofa pillow or the bulldog. I will have trouble enough as it is.

If you have pants, but no coat, I will try to find the fellow who has a coat but no pants. I feel sure he will be glad to trade, with winter coming on. If you get a shirt that you wouldn't wear to a dog fight, I'll find some fellow who is going to one. It may be just the thing.

Or, if you get something for Christmas that you wouldn't have at any price, notify me, and I will try to exchange it for something that is equally worthless. Your wife may give you some thing that is a good deal worse, and probably will.

Understand, there is no charge for this special Christmas service. I am doing it out of goodness of my heart, without thought of reward. However, as an evidence of good faith, it might be a good idea to enclose in your letter an order for some Plumbing and Heating.

Wishing you a Merry Christmas, or what have you, I remain,

Very sincerely yours,

W. B. RYNEARSON
