GAS—the Dependable Fuel for Cooking

Do you know of any other service so dependable as gas? Turn on and light your gas burner. That's all there is to it. Gas never fails!

The character of gas service—and the construction of your gas range—are such that you can rely on them completely. There is not even a possibility of either the service or the appliance failing you at a critical moment—when guests, for example, are coming for dinner.

Waterless Cooking the New Way

Steam-cook your vegetables in the oven—a new idea, and far superior to boiling! Not more than an inch of water is required in the bottom of the pan (none whatever is needed with the more moist vegetables). A tight lid holding in the moisture produces waterless cooking. Only enough moisture remains to use in serving the vegetables—hence the natural flavor and food value are retained to the fullest.

INSULATED Oven for all oven cooking

Oven steaming is best accomplished with the insulated range. Insulation keeps heat in the gas range just as it keeps cold in the refrigerator. Keeps your kitchen cool and comfortable. Oven ventilation makes all foods more delicious, and keeps odors out of the kitchen.

PROGRESS OF CLASS ROOMS DURING WEEK

ORGANIZE HARMONICA CLUB! WORK ON ORATION CONTEST.

Miss Olson organized a harmonica club a week ago Wednesday. Thursday the members met and elected officers. Edward Hanover was elected president, George Spencer, secretary, Spencer Coleman treasurer. The fifteen members consist of seventh grade boys and they will meet every Thursday at 8:30 o'clock. Any seventh grade boy is eligible and the only requirement is a harmonica. The boys announce with great fervency that girls are not allowed.

English Notes
The freshmen are to begin work in their myth books soon. These books furnish a background for work in advanced literature when mythical allusions are given. In previous years these books have been used in the English department, and have been both educational and entertaining to the students.

Work will begin this week on orations for the final contest in April. At present there are five contestants left, but within the next few weeks the one representative will be chosen. Each school is allowed only one representative for orations, one for extemporaneous speeches, and one for declamations.

The junior play for this year is to be given March 20 under the direction of Miss Helen Hanlin. As yet, the play has not been chosen, but a selection will be made before next week. Tryouts for the cast will be held next week. There will be a committee consisting of Mrs. Dunbar, Mr. Knoblauch and Miss Shriver to assist Miss Hanlin in choosing the cast.

2 Fatalities in French
Junior French class suffered in an examination over seven irregular verbs. The test was given last Thursday and as a result two of the junior girls are going to be missing when the roll is called for girls basketball next week.

The French twelve class is making a detailed study of all the important French cities. The book "La France et Les Français," is their principal source of information, although many are using the library also.

Debate Unemployment Insurance
The English 10 class have been having quite spirited debates on the question: "Should unemployment insurance be enacted by the several states and should be backed by the state legislature." Those winning in the first division were: Alene Riley, Vivian Wissler, and Dee Weaver. Those of the second division: Helen Mogford, Josephine Dunlap, and Robert Gladwin. Those of the third division: Madeline Hamilton, Howard Currier, and Lee Donley.

The first and third divisions forfeited their debates, however, making the members of the second division the victors. Everything comes to him who holds out long enough.

Style Expert Tells What Swell Dressed Men are Sporting
Well! Well! The new high school award sweaters have arrived. Robert Montgomery, Paul Letcher and "Fete" Donley are the only ones who bought them this year, and does Monty look swell in his! It is one of these cute little turtle-neck styles and it certainly fits him well. In order to make the outfit complete he bought a new pair of black and brown corduroys.

Many of the students are now wearing sleeveless sweaters. These are popular and stylish in a wide variety of colors, while most of them are dark colors, there are a few light tans and greens and a few figured ones. Marion Dreitzler, one of the debonair juniors and the style connoisseur of his class, appeared in school the other day with a camel-hair sleeveless sweater. This was worn with one of the neatest monochromatic ensembles that we have seen for a long time. The sweater is a dark tan, the shirt a light tan with thin brown stripes, the trousers were a dark brown, while the shoes were the standard black oxfords. A brown tie with a small figure added much to the ensemble.

Now we will just glance over what some of the "big-shots" have worn in the past week. Eddie Rolan appeared one day last week with a brown suit. The suit had a stripe of dark in it and it certainly looked well on Eddie. Color was added to the costume by a dark red tie and pocket handkerchief. John Strayer also was around with a light brown ensemble. The trousers and sweater were a light brown, the shirt was white and a tan cravat was also worn.

Harold Bradford, known to many as "Curly," usually comes to school with sweater and trousers, but last week he came in with a blue suit. The suit was a three-button model of blue chevrot. The cravat worn with this suit was dark with colored stripe.

BASKETBALL BIOGRAPHIES

On the morning of May 9, 1912, H. D. Schultz received word that he had been doubly blessed by the stork and was now the proud father of twin boys. After much pondering it was decided that the boys should be named William and Milford, with the letter "M" standing for both mole and Milford as a large birth-mark had appeared on little Milford's neck.

From May 9, 1912, until this day the Schultz family has always lived in Buchanan. Besides William and Milford, however, there are two sisters and another brother, one sister having already graduated from B. H. S. and the twins due to graduate this year.

After a somewhat uneventful life in the grades, Mike and Mike, as they are known around school, started their high school career. Both boys reported for football in their freshman year and were placed on the reserve squad. Neither reported again until last season when Milford won his letter at end Both Ike and Mike turned out for basketball and have been on the squad since their sophomore year. Milford plays center and Milford at guard. The twins are both tall and are playing regularly now. Both boys were members of the track team last year, throwing the discus and Milford was elected captain of this year's track squad. Besides these sport activities, both boys are active members of the Buchanan Athletic Club, otherwise known as the Ag Club.

The individual tastes of the boys run quite a bit along the same line. Both are great gum chewers, like good jokes, and teasing sophomore boys. William leans a bit toward peach pie while Milford enjoys sport stories very much.

Neither one has had much to do with the weaker sex, but it is rumored that William was seen only recently with a blonde partner.

TEAM EXPECTED TO END SEASON IN GOOD STYLE

IMPROVEMENT POINTS TO PROSPECTS FOR TITLE IN DISTRICT MEET.

For the first time this season, Coach Curly Bradford's basketballers will go into a game with the odds in their favor. Friday evening the Bucks will play hosts to the Three Oaks five and, due to their previous victory in the little Oaker gym, are expected to roll up their fourth victory of the season.

Buchanan has been improving somewhat during the last month and displayed their best work of the year Tuesday night when the strong Stevensville five was forced to stage a dramatic rally in order to eke out a one-point win. If the Bucks can "take Three Oaks and then give the Berrien Springs boys a trimming, they will have an excellent chance of taking the Niles district tournament.

Local fans have been rather lax in their support of the local team, whether it is because they are poor sports and will not back a team that is not undefeated, or whether the old man depression is doing the dirty work, is a matter of conjecture. Nevertheless, the fact remains that fewer townspeople are turning out at the local games than ever before. Also the students' cheering is quite a bit of the "silent" type. The team deserves much more support than has been given them. There are but three more home games, Three Oaks, Dowagiac and Berrien Springs, and everyone should draw a good crowd. Let's show the team that we are behind them.

INQUIRING REPORTER

Should Tardiness be Tolerated?
I think that tardiness should not be tolerated, because there are no pupils who live so far from school that they can't get here if they want to. In most cases when a person is tardy it is on account of laziness. There is no use in a person being tardy two and three times a week. It shows a lack of interest in his school work.

Glenn Jesse.
Well, seeing that no one else is anxious to write on this, I will express my opinion. I suppose the reason they are afraid some of their friends who are tardy won't like it. Tardiness should not be tolerated. You can make a habit of getting at certain places at the right time. You will not hold a position very long if you keep coming two or three minutes late. If you don't like to be scolded at the beginning of every day, you'd better get here on time. Well, there is my opinion on the question. Take it or leave it. Marjorie Lamb.

Well, for first, second or even third offense I would not believe in punishing the person. But suppose he is late six or seven times, and that he lives within a couple blocks of the school. Of course, you have to take into consideration the danger he has in walking fast around corners, or slipping and injuring his spine. As you know, these things happen quite readily, but taking a look at each side of the case, just what would you do if placed in the teachers' position? Lazelle Weaver.

I think that tardiness should not be tolerated. In a way I hardly can be on time myself because different things turn up the night before and I've got to get my right amount of sleep. But I think Mr. Ormiston has a good idea in sending the students home to catch up on their sleep when they are late. Maurice Aronson.

Velmarian Invites Everyone to Come to Their Party

To give everyone a "swell" time will be the motive of the Velmarian Literary Society with this big party next Saturday night. The school has not as yet had a formal invitation but just as a small forerunner of the big occasion we will let you in on the secret. There is going to be dancing with music by "The Collegians," the well known orchestra about the school. They have several new numbers and as we all know in advance, can play them well.

Then, those who do not care for dancing will find card tables and games for other amusements best liked by themselves.

The orchestra will stop at 10:30 and everyone will do down to the domestic science room for refreshments which will consist of dainty sandwiches, cocoa and candy.

Everybody be sure and come.

6th Grade, Miss Reams
Tom Yurkovic and Mary Mae Dreitzler have received their Final in Palmer Method.
