KELLEY'S BACK IN TOWN
BI Haws.
The land may doff its mantle cold,

Green buds may deck the beech, And snowy blossoms may unfold And show thoseons may through the concherry tree and peach;
The sycamore and dogwood, too,
May shed their mantles brown;
At last they have their proper cue For Kelley's back in town.

For Kelley's come to town again To polish up the floors. To clean the rugs and kill the bugs And take the chairs out doors. It's time for bud on elm and oak, For pussy willow fuzz For weather men may miss their dope But Kelley never does.

Ye. little birds all blithely sing Lift up your heads, ye grass! For Kelley is a sign of spring-He knows his sassafras. No more we'll warm an aching thumb

Or wear the fleecy-lined
All that is past—if Kelley comes
Can spring be far behind?

Can Ewe Imagine? Charles Lyddick has 30 lambs from his flock of 22 ewes at his Bend of the River farm.

THE SEASON'S FIRST

Front Street got a thrill Tuesday morning from the sight of a small boy rushing the season of summer dishabille by footing it gaily bare-foot on the side walk, with shoes and stockings under his arm. Those who got in on the sight report that he picked 'em and laid 'em down as nonchalently as though the con-crete had been warmed by a month of summer. For the brief time the staid business men sighed and meditated a la John Greenleaf, And then the vision disappeared and perhaps sat down on the curb two or three blocks from home and put 'em back on, in view of pos-sible parental eruptions.

BEST OFFENSIVE OF SEASON SHOWN BY LOCAL QUINTET

Schultz Twins Distinguish Themselves in Last High School Game.

After a season of ups and downs with emphasis on the downs, the Buchanan high school basketball team ended their present sched-ule by trimming the strong Ber-rien Springs five, 21 to 15. Ber-rien, who had trimmed the Bucks rien, who had trammed the Bucas by two points in their previous meeting, the first of the season, was totally unable to penetrate the tight Buchanan defense and in the meantime the Buck's eye for the basket was in the best condition it has been this year. From the free throw line, especially, the Buchananites were deadly, dropping in 7 out of 11 attempts, about fifty per cent better than any time this season.

Berrien scored first when Gif-ford sank a pot shot, but Ike Schultz made a close-in attempt and Mike scored on Graham's personal to give the Bucks the lead, which they never relinquished. Lauren Morse swished one from the corner and Mike Schultz dropped in another free throw to build Buchanan's total for the first quarter up to 6 but Wetzel's free throw and Dugan's shot from the side brought Berrien's total up to sate brought Bernel's total up to.

5. The Morse twins started the second period by working together for a pot shot. Louie Morse and Dugan both dropped in a free throw but Dugan tied the score at nine all by batting one in from under the bretter and serving again. under the basket and scoring again on Mike Schultz' personal. Ike Schultz put the Bucks back in the lead, however, by making both shots good from the foul line.

Buchanan's lead mounted in the second half when Ike Schultz of the fine teams they produced. scored two field goals, one from the side and another pretty hock shot from under-basket. Wetzel came back and scored two for Berrien in similar style as the quarter ended with Buchanan Ray Miller commonly known to ahead, 15-13. #### Why Raise Wheat

The farm board continues to urge American farmers to curtail their wheat acreage but on the whole with little result. The average cut at present in winter wheat may be 2 per cent and in spring wheat 4 or 5 per cent. Chairman Legge insists it should be several times that much.

A notable departure has been made in the great belt of Minnesota and the adjacent areas of northern Michigan, Montana and the Dakotas. According to the farm editor of the Minneapolis Tribune, organized effort there, wisely financed, is turning millions of acres from wheat to live stock. But this progress is offset by increased wheat acreages in southwestern states, especially Kansas and Oklahoma. It is hard to understand the situation, at a time when American wheat-growers are having so much trouble with their surplus crops and competition from Canada and Russia grows steadily stronger. Many a disinterested observer wonders why the average farmer still seems to think he must make wheat his main crop. The importance of wheat, economically, is curiously overestimated in the United States. As anyone can see from statistical reports, it is less important nationally than corn, live stock, hay, cotton and some other products.

Wages for Road Workers.

If present plans are carried out, 1931 will be the banner road-construction year in the history of Illinois. The amount of funds available for road building has not yet been determined but it will be considerably in excess of any previous year. There will be an increase both in state license fees and gasoline tax over previous years and an emergency fund of $3,400,000 has recently been appropriated by the federal government. The first bids of the year for road work will be received at Springfield. This will enable contractors to begin work several weeks earlier than usual and thus aid largely in solving the unemployment problem before other cutdoor work is available.

If the law will permit, the minimum wages for road workers should be fixed in the contract. Probably most contractors will pay a fair wage, but some may not. No doubt some will take advantage of the desperate condition of workers and will make the hardest bargain possible. Locally, road contractors have agreed among themselves and with public officials that the minimum wages they will pay workers will be thirty-five cents an hour. State contractors should do

Why Pick on Bridge?

A columnist says he gets a big kick out of H. G. Wells' remark that "there are plenty of people who could be first-class bridge players, but they have something better to do." That makes the columnist feel very superior, until he happens to think of what he does with his saved time, and recalls that he recently learned 15 new games at solitaire in one week.

Life is full of useless activities, he admits. Why, then should anybody feel especially virtuous or snooty because he prefers one to another? Why, for instance, scorn bridge?

"I think," he concludes, "it is because so many bridge players, like so many chess players, do not treat the game as recreation and rest, but as a major activity; so that they talk and act as if it were important. That sort of nonsense gets my goat and arouses my antagonism.

There are others who, in the realm of outdoor sports, feel much the same about golf.

The Submarine Lung.

The navy has developed a device which enables men to live at a depth of 350 feet under the sea, which is 50 feet deeper than submarines are expected to descend. According to Rear Admiral Rock, this "lung" greatly decreases the dangers of submarine disasters. When all undersea boats are equip-ped with the device it will be possible for men to leave an injured submarine and make their way safely to the surface.

As long as there are submarines every effort should be made to increase the safe ty of the men who operate them and to prevent other dreadful disasters such as those our navy has suffered since the war. But the submarine as an instrument of war is itself a dreadful thing. Undersea craft and safety equipment for extending submarine scientific exploration would be more suited to a civilized age.

Children and warships.

President Hoover in a magazine article expresses his belief that the nation's worst ills would be remedied by one generation of properly born, trained and healthy child-Many Americans agree with him. Moreover, there are parents, educators, so-ing to cial workers, judges, doctors and public-rive spirited citizens in every community who are doing all they can to further this ideal.

Progress, however, is slow. Ignorance, indifference, poverty, crime and disease must be fought all along the way. "Mr. Hoover himself suggests the main difficulty in this rather wistful statement:

"Somehow it is hard to 'sell' an intangible Yet. thing like protection of children, yet we buy a $17,000,000 cruiser without raising an eyebrow."

Influenza.

The flu is loose in this country again along with most of the world. It is not so bad as the famous "Spanish influenza" of war days, but bad enough.

It comes on sneakingly, as if it were a common cold, but rapidly develops into something far more devastating. Anyone with troublesome sinus, throat, bronchial tubes or chest is pretty sure to have the ailment aggravated. Vocal infections become more virulent. Aches and pains convince the patient that something has happened to him. The painful and incapaciating phase of the disease may last a week or two, and the disease may last a week or two, and leave Monday for their farm near the after-effects a month or two, with one's Hartford. Mr. and Mrs. Clarence weakest part clearing up last.

Don't fool with this enemy.

Hold every sudden cold under suspicion. If in doubt, go to hed and call a doctor. In fact, it may be well to do that on general principles. This is the worst time of the year for such ailment to get hold of one's system, weakened as it is likely to be by winter confinement and Mr. and Mrs. George Deming, and leak of exercise and sunshine.

and lack of exercise and sunshine.

Finally, as the doctor will always warn you, go slow afterward.

Standards of Living.

"The American people must consent to low-er their standard of living," says one author-ity. "Never must that standard be lowerity. "Never must-ed," shouts another.

One might ask how high a bread-line South Bend spent the week end in the Russell McLaren of Elmer Smith was quite ill last week but is better at present standard of living is. The fact is that the standard of living has already been lowered, if by that phrase is meant the buying of new radios, clothes and automobiles.
