

LEONA BRIGHT CHOSEN MISS BUCHANAN

Juniors Present 3-Act Farce-Comedy at Auditorium Friday Mar. 27

SELECTED FROM
SEVEN BEAUTIES
TUESDAY NIGHT

Now Here's
the Proposition

AN ORDER OF THE SAME

See want ads for particulars
B(gunist) Raws
I would I had a beauty queen—
One I could call my very own—
A lovely dame with regal mien
Upon a private throne.

And I could use a homely one
Who might be every bit as sweet
To be on hand to serve me when I wished a bite to eat.

For dames who loaf around awhile
Within the high and royal court
Will oftentimes look on work as vile,
And view it with a snort.

Though she be homely till it hurts,
Yet if you're looking for a cook
You have to fall back on the skirts
Who can't fall back on looks.

A beautiful face, a lissom form
Are very pleasant things to me
I have a keen eye for a face,
Another for a knee.

But dames not quite so trim in joints
Or well endowed in calf and curve
Yet oftentimes may have their points
In readiness to serve.

The dames endowed with beauty
high
Are sometimes rather short of
soul,
And those most apt to roll the eye
Can also eye the roll.

But with a dame of homely face
Who dished up stuff to appease,
It might be nice to have a place
To go and rest your eyes.

Thus gifted with a beauty bright,
And with a lady who could cook,
I first would go and get a bite
Then go and take a look.

For though the notion may seem vile
And worthy only of a Turk,
A fellow needs one wife for style,
Another one for work.

And the Dayton Ladies
Must be Good Shots

An anonymous Dayton man, who pretends to be a friend of the paper, helps to the following interesting bit of information: "A count was taken recently by someone and it was reported that there is a total of eleven widows in the village, which doesn't look good for the burg." There must be some hot bridge players in that town.

At Least They Look Like
the Dickens Out of Them

As our good deed a week (this boy scout schedule is too heavy for us) we want to make the following helpful suggestion: There were seven candidates for blossom queen here and eight candidates for the city commission. Let's just switch tickets and run the girls for the town council and the men for blossom queen. It would sort of pep up the council meetings
and make it easier to keep awake.
And some of those commission candidates would look great in a skirt.

Still Some Optimists
Left in Town

There are still quite a few optimists in Buchanan as witness the hopeful gents who continue to stand on the bank corners at Main and Front Streets these windy March days.

Still, We Wish We Knew
Where It Was

As a walking encyclopedia of information, useful and otherwise,
we take a back seat for one week,
but when a crossword puzzle fan called up last week and wanted to know if we could tell her where Joan of Arc was burned, we had to admit that was a little beyond our depth. We draw the line on personalities.

Just Like a Man

"Your husband is always complaining that he leads a dog's life."
"Yes, he comes home with muddy feet, makes himself comfortable on the hearth rug, waits until he is fed and often growls."—Eustige Kolner Zeitung, Cologne.

A Sorry Lot

Judge: When you married him
you promised to share his lot, did you not?
Wife: Yes, but I didn't know
then it was just a lot of trouble.—
Fele Mele, Paris.

Until the time of Peter the Great, 1689-1725, Russia was almost entirely Asiatic in character.

CAST OF SEVEN
IN DRAMATIC
EVENT OF YEAR

Members of the Class Selling Tickets; Seats are Going Fast.

Miss Helen Hanlin, director of the play, stated last night that the reports that the house had been sold out are erroneous and that there are still a number of seats unsold.

The annual junior play will be given Friday evening, March 27, in the high school auditorium at eight o'clock. Tickets may be obtained from members of the junior class and at the doors at the prices of 35c and 25c. As there are only a limited number of tickets sold, it is advisable to buy early in order to be assured of a seat.

"Billy," the play selected for presentation this year, is a farce-comedy in three acts by George Cameron and is produced by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York.

The action of the play takes place on the S. S. "Florida" bound for Havana. The story has to do with the disappearance of a set of false teeth, which creates endless complications among the passengers and crew, and turns out two and a quarter hours of the heartiest laughter. "Billy" is one of the funniest comedies produced in the last dozen years on the American stage, in which the late Sidney Drew achieved a hit in New York and later toured the country several times.

The play is under the direction of Miss Helen Hanlin, English and journalism teacher of the local high school. The cast which has been chosen consists of:
Billy Hargrave, a football hero,
Philip Hanlin

Alice Hargrave, his sister, Pauline VanEvery
Mrs. Hargrave, his mother, Marie
Hess
John Hargrave, his father, Lloyd Kolhoff

Mrs. Sloane, Charlotte Arnold
Sam Eustace, John Strayer
Beatrice Sloane, Max-ract Koons
Captain James Eisenhart
Doctor Harry Dumbolton
Boatswain, Robert Montgomery
Sailor, Dwight Morris
Steward, Walter Babcock
Stewardess, Francis Sutphen

Miss Ruth Shriver, sponsor of the Junior class, has been working hard on the ticket sale and reports that they are going fast. No seats will be reserved for the evening. The high school orchestra will furnish music between acts.
Skits from the play will be given in general assembly Friday morning, March 27.

Farmers Tapping
Maple Trees for the First Harvests

Weather conditions have started Michigan's first harvest of the year unusually early and many farmers of the state are devoting their time to tapping maple trees and are displaying their skill in manufacturing syrup or sugar.
Michigan ranks fourth in the production of this crop and the quality of its product gave it second place. Most of the Michigan harvest is marketed in the form of syrup while some of the states sell this product in the form of sugar.

The forestry department at the Michigan State College says that maple syrup can be easily adulterated and they also say that there is a wide variation in the quality of syrups and, consequently, in the value of them.

It is probable that many Michigan farmers this year will tap their maples who usually do not bother with this crop. The forestry men recommend that the trees be tapped four feet from the ground and that the holes be bored with a slight angle upward to a depth not exceeding two inches. A one-half to three-eighths inch bit should be used. The holes can be slightly enlarged about the middle of the season to increase the amount of sap secured.

Strict cleanliness is essential in producing a high class syrup. Metal containers should be used and the sap should be strained when it is placed in the storage tank and again, when it is taken from the tank to the evaporator. Prolonging the season for collecting sap will result in the production of poor quality syrup.

ESTAL F. PRICE
EXPIRED MONDAY,
ILL THREE YEARS

Funeral Held on Wednesday
Under the Auspices of Dayton I. O. O. F.

The last rites were held from the Methodist church at 1:30 Wednesday for Estal F. Price, 40, who had passed away Monday at his home on M-60, five miles west of Buchanan after an illness of three years.

Mr. Price had brought his family to the farm where he died from Rensselaer, Ind., about 12 years ago, and had built up a fine farm there. Three years ago he held a sale with the intention of retiring from farm work, on account of ill-health and came to Buchanan,
where he purchased a filling station. He soon found, however, that he was unequal to the demands of that business and returned to the farm, where he remained until his death. He was bedfast about three weeks before the end.

He was born Feb. 20, 1891, near Rensselaer, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Price. He grew to manhood there and on May 8, 1912, married Miss Goldie Gunyon,
who survives him. One son, Ivan Estal Price, also survives. Other survivors are five sisters, Mrs.
Jim Longstreth, Mrs. L. L. Mc-Curtain and Mrs. William Platt, of Parr, Ind.; Mrs. W. L. Woods of Rensselaer, and Mrs. Otto Sherbert of Hobart, Ind.; two brothers, John Price of Audubon, Ind., and William Price of Buchanan, Ind., all the above were present at the funeral.

The funeral was held under the auspices of the Dayton I. O. O. F.
Lodge of which Mr. Price was a member. Interment was made in the Oak Ridge cemetery.

Myri Diment
Married Mar. 17th

The marriage of Miss Myri R.
Diment, daughter of Mr. and Mrs.
William Diment of Buchanan to Herman A. Koehn, son of Mrs.
Bertha Koehn of Morley, Mich.,
took place on March 17, 1931 at Howard City, Mich. Rev. C. M. L.
Ottman, performing the ceremony.

Punctuality among the grade pupils is on the wane. The honors this month in the central building were won by Miss Hopkins room with Miss Reams' room coming in second. In the Dewey Avenue building Mrs. Wilcox's room had the highest average with Mrs.
Fischner's a close second.

John Herman is Badly Hurt By Fall Saturday

John Herman was painfully hurt
at his home on the east side of the St. Joseph river, five miles north of Buchanan last Saturday, when he fell over a railing around a spring, striking on his face on a rough cement floor. He incurred a broken jaw and nose and severe cuts, which nearly severed part of the nose from the face. He was taken to the Tabor hospital at Benton Harbor.

held at Benton Harbor last week.
Mrs. French reported on the Child Welfare meeting held at South Bend, as a part of the nation-wide child welfare program now on.

Princess Theatre
Presents $75 to Miss Buchanan

Miss Leona Bright, Buchanan's
candidate for Blossom Queen, spent Wednesday in St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, in company with Miss Cecilia Eisenhart, making preparations for a costume for the contest to be held at St. Joseph next Wednesday evening. In the neighborhood was presented to Miss Bright by the management of the Princess theatre as her share of the proceeds of the Tuesday evening show.

ber street paving has shown a reduction of 40 per cent in the vibration of adjacent buildings.

AT THE REGULAR RATES ROE GOT
$106 WORTH FREE

Now Cal Knows Buchanan is Something Besides Democrat Ex-President.

George Roe is the proud possessor of a personal letter from Calvin Coolidge, written by the ex-president to thank Roe for the gift of a card of trout flies.

Mr. Roe is an admirer of Coolidge, and in addition is an expert maker of flies. Knowing of the predilection of the former chief executive of the nation for trout angling, Roe selected a number of his finest and mailed them to him.

In reply he received the following acknowledgment:
Northampton, Mass.,
March 20, 1931

Mr. George Roe,
Buchanan, Mich.

My Dear Mr. Roe:
Please accept my thanks for the card of handsome trout flies. Although they will probably distract my attention from necessary duties I appreciate deeply your thought in sending them.

With kindest regards, I am,
Very truly yours,
Calvin Coolidge.

F. Imhoff Builds
Fine Rock Garden
at Portage Home

Anyone who wants to get an idea of the scenic possibilities of a railway grade should visit the home of Frank Imhoff at 201 S.
Portage and see the rock garden
built there during the past winter by Mr. Imhoff and his son in the rear of his residence. While only a faint indication is afforded by the present appearance the place gives promise of being one of the sights of the city when brought to completion. Several tons of field stones have been used in landscaping the hillside which has been arranged in a series of paths, with a large pool as the central feature. A rustic stone bridge has been constructed and a number of stone flower pots and seats. A variety of evergreens have been planted in the background, and Mr. Imhoff will complete the landscaping with the planting of lawn, shrubbery
and flowers later in the season.

Edwin Ross, student in Babson Institute at Welleley, Mass., arrived home last week to spend the spring vacation at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. B.

POLLS WILL OPEN AT 7 A. M.
CLOSE AT 6 P. M.

Voters Have Wealth of Material for Council
Vacancies.

Saturday, March 28, will be the closing date for registration for the April election, according to City Clerk Harry Post, who is at the city hall daily from 8 a. m.
until 5 p. m. for the convenience of those not yet properly entered on the city poll books.

The polls will be opened at 7
a. m., Monday, April 6, at the regular places in the hose house and the commission chamber in the rear of the library, and will remain open until 6 p. m.

It is expected that considerable interest will attach to the coming election from the wealth of competition for the two commissioner-ships. The voters will have a good field for selection in the candidates offering their names. They are a group of eight men very presentative of the business and artisan constituencies of the city and will very satisfactorily plug the vacancies coming up.

The offices to be filled and the candidates filed are:
Commissioner, F. C. Hathaway,
A. E. Hiller, C. J. Wilson, C. J.
Bradley, Ed Schram, Charles
Babcock, Ed Hess, Roy Bulhand;
supervisor, Harry Boyce, precinct
1, William Fette and Edward Ash-brook, precinct 2; constable, Ed Mitchell, Fred French, and Charles Fuller.

Richard Montague
Sets a Refueling
Record for Cubs

Richard Montague, Jr., of Buchanan, has his big league records
yet to make but he has one title, or at least was in possession of it Sunday,—that of the largest gross consumption of edibles as measured in the size of the meal check of any member of the Cubs training camp at Los Angeles.

The establishment of the record
came as the result of the change
by the team management from an allowance of $4 daily for eats to an unlimited basis. The celebration by the players is described by Edward Burns of the Chicago Tribune staff as follows:

Guy Bush, long invincible as the heaviest eater on the Cubs, announced he was ready to defend his title. Rookie Dick Montague, whose favorite character in history while at the University of Michigan, was Epicurus, immediately challenged.

The rookie won by the scant margin of 80 cents, his bill being $8 while Bush had to sign off with a meager 7.20. Pheasant was barred in the contest, not because it is the most costly item on the bill, but because Hornsby never included pheasant in his base hit prescription.

Hack Wilson and Cliff Heathcote are eager to get the title back among the regulars and the tournament will be resumed when the Cubs return to Los Angeles.

Judge White Denies
Injunction Vs. City
In the Siefert Case

The case of the City of Buchanan vs. Edw. Siefert, charged with peddling bread in violation of the city ordinance, was postponed from the date set on March 20, on account of a petition by Atty. Stevart White, counsel for the defense,
for a temporary injunction restraining the city from interfering. The petition was heard by Judge Charles White Wednesday
and was denied.

Mrs. Nan G. Kent

the local Methodist church by the late Mrs. Nan G. Kent were made known recently. The money was

ing committee for expenditure:

Mrs. John Rydell, A. H. Hiller and
Rev. Thomas Rice.

EXPIRED SUNDAY,
WAS ILL ONE DAY

Clark Equipment Executive is Laid at Rest Here
Tuesday.

Edward A. Irvin, Sr., 47, assistant manager of the service department of the Clark Equipment company, died at 5:30 p. m. Sunday at Pawating hospital of an internal hemorrhage with which he was stricken at his home at 322
Cecil Avenue Saturday morning.

His death was a shock to his family and to his many friends here, as he had apparently been in his usual health until the last illness suddenly came on him.

He was born in Curvinsville, Penn., March 11, 1884, and came to Three Oaks twenty years ago.
Thirteen years ago he came to Buchanan and entered the employ of the Clark Equipment Company, soon attaining the post of assistant manager of the Service department on Days Avenue.

He was a leading member of the Clark Players, local dramatic troupe, and was starred in most of their productions in comic roles, in which he was an outstanding favorite with local people.

He is survived by his wife; by six children, Edward, Frances, John, Mary, Robert and Dorothy,
all at home; his mother, Helen D.
Irvin, Geneva, Ill.; a sister, Mrs.
Alice Stackhouse of Bismarck, N.
Dak.; by two brothers, John and Robert Irvin of Chicago.

was celebrated by Father Owens of Three Oaks, with Father Maher of Notre Dame as deacon, Father Durbin of Niles as subdeacon, and Father Reamers of Notre Dame as master of ceremonies. The high mass was beautifully sung by Mrs.
M. W. O'Toole of Niles with Miss Mabelle Shelton of Niles as organist. Father Reamers, who was an intimate friend of Mr. Irvin, to the life and character of his friend. The pall bearers were

Non-Compulsory Spinach.
 A lady doctor is out to free childhood from the tyranny of spinach. She holds that spinach is a wholesome vegetable, with as many good points as its ardent advocates claim for it, but she also holds that it need not be rammed down all the unwilling throats of America's children.

She presents a new theory of child diet. Instead of the routine and the compulsory spinach and carrots, she would set before the child a somewhat larger variety of foods, equally simple, wholesome and full of vitamins. Then she would let the child choose which viands it would eat. Apparently she feels that every child would choose to eat something and that even spinach would be chosen occasionally if the compulsion were removed.

Perhaps it is a system that will work. If so, millions of parents, driven quite wild with the effort to entice their offspring to drink the milk and eat the food they need, will rise and bless the doctor. But a few skeptics feel that their young hopefuls would see thru the ruse and go on a temporary hunger strike three times a day, unless a certain amount of nourishment had been coaxed, threatened and assisted into their mouths, just as under the present "correct" diet. It isn't a new type of diet parents long for, but some practical psychology that really works in the field of child-feeding.

The Malt Tax
 Few measures have so far been introduced into the legislature providing new sources of public revenue. One of that Senator Wood, provides for the re-enactment of a malt tax and the application of its proceeds to the cure and restriction of tuberculosis which is a good purpose that sooner or later will have to be served from general taxation, if it be not provided for out of the tax proposed by Senator Wood. The malt tax should be revived. It is a tax on the frivolities of the people and if beer drinking be a vice, on it as a vice. Nobody seriously questions that practically all the malt syrup produced and sold in Michigan does not go into home-brewed beer. Straight beer, in the ante-prohibition days, used to produce a lot of money, both for the federal government and the state. It is no more burdensome now than it was then. Senator Wood is on the right track.

Birthday Anniversary of Madison
 One of the significant dates in the month of March is the birthday of James Madison, the "Father of the Constitution." Madison was born on March 16, 1751 at Port Conway, Virginia, and the 180th anniversary of his birth is commemorated in a statement from the Division of Information and Publication of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission.

Unlike the military services of Washington and his army officers, Madison's contribution to the establishment of the United States was spectacular in no respect. He was essentially a statesman and in the field of government and politics he had few superiors. In this sphere his services have proved to be of everlasting benefit to this country.

At the University of New Jersey, now Princeton, Madison demonstrated a prodigious capacity for work and he was graduated at an early age. He was deeply interested in history and religion, and his studies along these lines formed a broad basis for the sound judgment which characterized his participation in public life.

Madison's first venture in politics came with his election to the legislature of his own state. Here he revealed the results of his previous study. He evinced a pronounced antagonism toward any kind of religious intolerance and advocated the absolute separation of church and state.

No one realized better than he the need of a strong central government. He recognized that the weakness of the Confederation lay in its inability to raise money, and he was among the first to urge the adoption of efficient revenue measures.

The Annapolis Convention, later the Constitutional Convention in 1787, was Madison's proposal. He made an exhaustive study of the history of confederacies and was ready with his own suggestion which was known as the Virginia Plan. This was adopted as the basis of the Federal government which was outlined in the Constitution.

When the Constitution was ready, Madison worked with Hamilton and Jay in the preparation of the series of pamphlets called "The Federalist," which were written to overcome the prejudice against the Constitution and to secure its adoption by the states. He was elected to the House where he offered twelve amendments to the Constitution embodying the salient points of a bill of rights. The first ten were adopted in 1791.

Madison retired from public life at the close of Washington's second administration. After serving with Jefferson in complete harmony, he was elected to the Presidency. Madison's career was one of illustrious service to his country, and Americans everywhere may well recall his contribution to the United States.

Visitors at the last fair at Leipzig, Germany, numbered 180,000, including 35,370 from more than 40 foreign countries.

Mistaken Prophets.

Forecasters seem to do better when they prophesy achievements such as aviation, radio and the automobile. They are less successful when, like Malthus, they start setting dates in the future for human population to become too great for the earth to support of other disastrous developments.

In 1901, it has recently been recalled, Sir William Crookes, an eminent British scientist, predicted the world would have a shortage of wheat by 1931, even if all the potentially available land were put to use. He failed to foresee the contributions of power machinery and science to production.

In the years since his prophecy the yield per acre has been greatly increased and the acreage has been augmented far more than he expected. World wheat production has increased 40 per cent while population has increased only 20 per cent. At the same time, per capita consumption of wheat has decreased in several important countries. Americans, for example, eat more fruits and vegetables and less bread.

The shortage the gentleman forecast was thought of as a calamity. The surplus that exists now seems to be a calamity. It isn't really a surplus over the amount the world could use if every hungry person had his share of it, but only a surplus over what our distributing system makes it possible for us to use. It might have been better for us if prophets had devoted more thought to possible distribution troubles.

The Cash Backlog

It is reassuring, on the whole, to read that savings deposits in the largest 100 banks in the United States now aggregate more than $22,000,000,000 and have increased more than $300,000,000 during the past year in spite of business depression.

This doesn't mean that our people are saving much now. The recent gain is considerably less than the average for the last few years. The masses have been drawing money out of the bank rather than putting it in. The gain represents mostly the capital of the well-to-do speculator which is now left in the bank accounts because its owners have lost faith in the stock market.

Nevertheless, the total deposits, which are $7,000,000,000 higher than they were six years ago, are impressive. They would be far more so if the hoards in smaller banks were added. Our national wealth, liquid as well as frozen, is vast. Collectively, if not individually, we are well off. That capital lies there as a great backlog of industrial prosperity, to serve its purpose when we get the business fires really going again.

Bringing Home the Gas.

The other day Clarence D. Chamberlain, New York's aeronautical consultant and once holder of the long-distance flight record, flew from Jersey City to Baltimore to buy some gas.

He has been using a certain blend of gasoline for a series of test flights. The blend is not available in or around New York, so Chamberlain flew to the place where he could get it. In Baltimore he had 250 gallons of the special fuel put into the wing tanks of his plane. The amount will last about a week, he said, adding, "It's simpler to fly down there and get it than to have it shipped up here, pumped into barrels and then pumped from them into the plane." The round-trip took just six minutes more than two hours of flying time.

This is hailed as a world's record or something for long-distance travel to a filling station. Like most world's records, it will probably be broken one of these days. It isn't any more difficult to go so far for gas in this aviation age than it was to go to town for groceries in pioneering days.

The Round Earth.

New visual evidence of the earth's curvature was shown at the American scientists' convention. It was an airplane photograph of the Argentine pampas, showing a level stretch of prairie for more than 300 miles. The flat surface showed a distinct downward curve on the horizon line.

Long-range pictures, however, are unnecessary for this purpose. There has always been available the simple evidence that made Columbus realize the earth's rotundity. The flattest thing in the world is water. Yet ordinary experience shows that flatness rounded. A vessel appearing over the horizon is seen first "hull down." Masts or smokestacks come into view, then the hull, and the opposite as the ship sails away.

Yet cumulative proofs don't convince everyone. An enthusiast who has written a book to prove the earth isn't a globe pleaded to present his case to that same convention. And Wilbur Glenn Voliva, the Zion City leader, has gone around the world twice to prove it flat.

The Higher Life.

One of the collegiate novelties in this country is a college which runs full blast day and night, has more than 7,000 students and instructs a cross-section of the community ranging from "truck drivers to social dowagers." The institution is only a few years old and still feeling its way.

The director expected that the big demand would be for practical bread-and-butter courses. To his surprise the courses that are proving most popular are the "cultural" ones.

People just naturally crave culture in this country—maybe because most of them had so little of it in the past. They take the bread-and-butter for granted, and when the opportunity offers, demand cake. They don't crave riches so much as a richer life.

WHAT IS A FRIEND?

I will try to tell you.
 It is a person with whom you dare be yourself.

Your very soul can go stark naked with him.
 He seems to ask you to put on nothing only to be what you really are.

He does not want you to be better or worse.

In his presence you feel like a prisoner who has been declared innocent.

You do not have to be on guard lest you offend; say what you think, so long as it is genuinely you.

He understands those contradictions in your nature that make others misjudge you. You can breathe freely.

You can remove your coat and collar.

You can avow your little vanities, envies, hates, vicious sparks, your meanness and absurdities along with your loves, devotions and respects.

In opening them up to him they are lost, dissolved in the great white ocean of loyalty.

He simply understands.

You do not have to be careful.

You can abuse him, neglect him, tolerate him, love him.

Best of all you can be silent with him. It makes no difference for he likes you and wouldn't have you changed.

He is like fire that purges all of you.

He is like water that cleanses all that you do and say.

He is like wine that warms you to the very bone. He understands.

You can weep with him, laugh with him, sin with him, pray with him.

Through and underneath all, he sees, knows, and loves you.

So as I said before: a friend is one with whom you can be yourself.

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

In regard to the Capital Punishment Bill to be voted upon at the coming election.

If this is just an ordinary bill, why all this trying to shirk the responsibility? As it stands our law makers are passing the buck on to the voters and if it carries, they will only pass it on the supreme court. It has been one of the out-grown laws and why now retrogress to it?

All are unanimous in the statement that it is the speed and sureness of punishment that has a bearing with the criminal. Would adding this amendment help in either issue?

It can not be shown that the states that have it have any less crime, or any more convictions. Arising from a purely logical standpoint it does not look well. If murder is wrong, can it be made right by repeating it? I say no! There is no record where two wrongs have made a right. The mandate is "Thou shalt not kill, and there are no deviations and neither has any one been delegated by God to do so without paying the penalty sooner or later."

Greatest Number of Deer Hunters in 1930 Season

The 1930 season saw the largest number of deer hunters in Michigan's history.

The Conservation Department reported that 74,653 resident, non-resident and camp deer hunting licenses were sold last fall. It has been estimated that about one out of every four hunters get his deer.

The number of deer hunting licenses issued last fall is an increase of approximately ten percent over the 1929 figure. In that year the department reported 68,011 licenses sold.

Deer hunters in Michigan have increased in number almost 300 per cent in the past ten years. In 1921 the department issued 28,102 licenses. Five years ago, in 1926, the department issued 48,102 resident and non-resident deer licenses.

Seniors Win Inter-Class Title Wednesday Night

GET PERMANENT POSSESSION OF CLASS TROPHY

Juniors Second in First Team and Sophomores in Second League.

Buchanan high school's Inter-Class Basketball League concluded its schedule series of games Wednesday night, the two senior teams each having won their eighth game to end the season undefeated, thereby assuring themselves the Inter-Class championship. The seniors will have their name engraved on the Inter-Class trophy with the year in which they won. Last year the trophy was also won by the seniors of 1930, who were the first team to go through the season undefeated, but this year the winners demonstrated their superiority by running up large scores on all of their opponents.

The juniors came through to take second place in the first league, winning five games and losing three, and being outscored by the seniors. The sophomores won three and lost five, and the freshmen lost five and won one.

In the second league, the seniors again came through undefeated and the sophomores took second place by winning five and losing three. The juniors high again came in third by breaking even, and the freshmen fourth, winning three and losing five. Due to lack of numbers, the junior second team forfeited all their games in the second team league, but these games were played as non-counters by the post-grads, who came through with a perfect record. These class games provide an outlet for the basketball enthusiasm pent up in the boys not on the varsity squad and also bring out some mature material. As much interest has been aroused by these games in the past few years, they will be continued next year.

Faculty and Pupils Plan Where to Spend Vacation

Whoopie!! Spring vacation begins Friday! The long drag between the holidays and summer will be broken by nine days' rest (count'em). Friday afternoon at 3:30 the whole student body will have a mighty sigh of relief as it passes out through the portals of learning for a brief respite. Everyone has plans as to what he or she will do. The majority will try and catch up on some much needed sleep. Then again a few will return as tired as they left.

Replying to the question as to what they intended doing, a large number of both students and instructors will remain in Buchanan. However, some of the leading students are planning a number of things. Here they are:

Elit Brodick is going to drive either, thither, and you enjoying the spring ozone.

"Jim" Postlewait expects to go to Chicago Heights. Hey! Hey!

Stub Foyce is going to rest. His cousin Harold states that Buchanan is altogether too attractive at this time of year and that interests in his own neighborhood prevent him from leaving the city.

Doris Campbell thinks she may go to Chicago, but is not enthusiastic about the prospect.

Mary Jane is going to South Bend. Roger is going to Flint.

Ruby Robe is going shopping in Niles and Galien.

Tommy Quick expects to do some heavy farming. "Vivian" Gouth he "only means work for me."

Lazelle is planning a trip to the Windy City and also to work (?) on his grandfather's farm near Berrien Springs.

Alene and "Viv" want something to do. Perhaps they will give Morrie Aronson a break and help him hunt his shoes.

Phil is going places including Gay.

Some of the faculty are leaving town and some wish they could. "Curly" says that two new tires and five dollars would get him to Grand Rapids very nicely. A collection from the friends of Mr. Bradford would be appreciated. Yes, team!

Miss Clayton needs a collection also and says that if the coach gets one she should too.

Mr. Ormiston will visit relatives in Flint and Albion.

Mrs. Whitman, Miss Skeels, and Mr. Knoblauch are among the ones remaining in town.

Lake Zurich, Ill., and Miss Harlin will spend a few days with her, then go to Chicago to see a few shows.

Mrs. Weaver will go to Berrien Springs, so maybe Lazelle will work after all.

The last but far from the least is "Eddie" Rolan. "Eddie" has given notice that he expects to practice on a boom for the next high school dance.

Agriculture Class Visits Kuntz Farm

The Kuntz farm, south of Buchanan was visited Monday by the junior and senior agriculture class. This farm is used every year for different phases of agricultural work. Wednesday, the Kuntz farm was also visited for this purpose.

In the freshman biology class, the different life zones are being studied.

PROGRESS OF CLASS ROOMS DURING WEEK

Builds Log Cabin

During the class period last Friday the senior English class finished analyzing magazines.

After finishing the study of "The Lady of the Lake," the freshman English classes gave three minute talks on it and made projects.

Among the best projects was one handed in by John Godfrey.

John cleverly constructed a cabin with delicate hardware emphasizing the minutest details of such a cabin.

The seventh grade students had a club meeting last Friday. They had the parliamentary rules. A chairman was also elected.

The eighth grade English students are working on their debates, which are to be held Friday, Mar. 27.

The seventh grade reading students studied King Arthur stories last week. They included, "How the Queen of Orkney Came to the Boat," and "How King Arthur Went to the Tournament."

Attend Music Meet

Miss Tito Olson and Ralph Robinson attended the meeting of county music supervisors held at St. Joseph last Monday.

The meeting was held at the high school for the purpose of electing officers for the coming year. A light luncheon was served.

Talk Avocation

On next Friday, the annual speech day in all of the English classes, each of the senior class students will give an essay on the avocation of his life. He will take into consideration his own personal fitness for the occupation, his preparation, his natural abilities, etc.

This will be oral and will be very unique because in the past the study along this line has always been written.

Study Bonaparte

The eighth grade history students have made no projects during the week, because of working on the play for the general assembly program last Friday.

The eighth grade history classes are studying the industrial development of the United States after the Civil War.

The general history students have been studying about Napoleon Bonaparte.

Seniors Nose Out Postgrads to Win Intramural Title

The mighty seniors and the equally powerful postgrads, both undefeated in the intramural football fight, met for the supremacy of the high school Monday night and the seniors finally won out in a hard but clean battle. The old-timers led until the closing minutes of the last quarter when the near grads spurred and finally won out.

With about a minute to play, L. Boyce dropped in a long shot, gave his team a one-point lead. Then Spot Dempsey, former football and basketball star on the varsity, got loose and put the game on ice, after Bob Ellis had dribbled the length of the floor to again give the P. G.'s the lead, by sinking another pot-shot and ending the undefeated graduates' spell.

Despite the closeness and determination in this game, it was very cleanly played, only three fouls being called on each team.

This ends the season for the post-grads but the seniors have one more game on their schedule, that against the all-school team, to be played in the next two weeks.

Cover Contest Will be Held for the April Cantata

A contest is to be held during the next few weeks in the various classes of the school. The purpose of this contest is to obtain a suitable cover for the grade operetta, "Rumpelstiltskin," to be given the latter part of April.

Each pupil is to design a cover giving his idea of "Rumpelstiltskin," and there will be judged according to balance, simplicity, matter of interest, neatness, transition, and subordination. The judges will be impartial, and have not yet been announced.

The best cover will be chosen and used as the cover for the program. This cover is to be submitted on the program as art work by the grades. There will also be five honorable mention covers chosen. These will be used as material to be used for advertising purposes.

The names of the pupils who draw the covers will not appear on the covers during the judging of them, but the name of the winner will appear on the front of the program.

Stark Plans to Refute Old Adage

Grade News

1st Grade, Miss Myers

The first graders are making a project of "Little Black Sambo" on their sand table.

The following first graders have not missed any words in spelling this year: Elwood Brown, Duane Chubb, Jean Dalrymple, Marion Blake, Norman Ferris, Jack Frank, Goldie Hamphill, Betty Hamphill, Tommy Huff, Lynnea Ingelright, Russell Leazanby, Evelyn J. Mangold, Alvin Morley, Bernice Phiscator, Rudy Reich, Shirley M. Roberts, Betty J. Rousselet, Buddy Rath and Robert Vanderslice.

1st Grade, Miss Vandenberg

Groups one and two have completed their primer material and have begun work in their first readers.

Chester Rupe is absent from our grade because of whooping cough.

4th Grade, Mrs. French

We are glad to report that our attendance record was perfect last week. We had only two cases of tardiness for March and those had very good reasons.

Violet Weaver made the drawing for the banking thermometer for the Dewey Avenue building. The fourth grade had the highest percentage last week.

Our schedule was slightly interrupted last week as we had mid-semester examinations along with our regular routine.

Lawrence Dellinger colored a March calendar for our room. This was an Indian calendar and as we had been reading Indian stories in our reading classes we like this calendar especially well. He made it very colorful and blended the colors well.

Seniors Win Inter-Class Title Wednesday Night

For Art, we drew Easter rabbits. We are learning to judge our own work so Alta Ferris and Mildred Ferris selected the best drawings and arranged them on our bulletin board. Their selection and arrangement were very good.

For English we wrote a dictated paragraph about an Egyptian sand table. Alice Leazanby wrote her paragraph without a mistake.

We made a microphone in our room and are going to play at broadcasting programs. Joseph Rosetto and Robert Ferris made the standard and Ann Mogford did the lettering for the radio station.

We have two little yellow chicks this week. We named them Henny Penny and Chicken Little.

Mrs. Harry Hollenbaugh visited us last Thursday.

The following people were neither absent nor tardy during the month of March: Tommy Haffner, Eleanor Ingelright, Doris Kohl, Glenn Sharp, Betty Jean Squier, and Nellie West.

In our health cupboard we have pictures of lettuce, apples, eggs, asparagus, carrots, celery, bread, and butter. We are learning health rhymes and songs this week too.

4th Grade, Miss Clayton

We are stressing banding particularly now so that we may keep the Marit Honor Room Banner.

In Geography class we are studying the Western Section.

The children are enjoying ten new story books brought to our room this week.

Those children who were graded A in citizenship this month are: Louella O'Connell, Ramona Dalenborg, Lewis Pascoe, Lynnea Rothfuchs, Bill Strayer and Karen Dunlap.

Consider Combine of Class Night and Commencement

At a meeting of the senior class Tuesday evening after school, the problem of graduation exercises was brought up. H. C. Stark suggested that the class combine class night and commencement, thus doing away with the expense of hiring a speaker. Such a program could be presented by the class as a whole, or by selected individuals from the group.

Roger Thompson, president of the class, appointed a committee to make a book about the various types of graduation exercises. The committee consisted of Harold Boyce, Richard Brodick, Cleo Cook and Caryl Currier. They will read the book and make a report to the class at a later date.

WE ARE NOT EDUCATING

E. L. Ingles

We are making pupils through the grades, the high schools and the colleges but we are not educating them.

The above is the substance of a statement made by W. N. Ferris at an educational meeting in Chicago, a short time before his death.

Now since education is such a vital element of our civilization demanding much of our money and immediate attention, it is really surprising to note that our own people have not taken into consideration this serious condition of our educational institution.

And it is still the more surprising to find that our country in general has taken so little interest in formulating drastic measures to correct this blighting condition which is so seriously hampering our efforts to truly educate the youth of our land.

By carefully observing our educating processes we can readily see that a large portion of our inefficiency to educate is due to the method of instruction, the way of learning and reading and in our own manner of checking results.

In most cases this is done by a form of instruction that might be called a block and cover method. By this method the instructor, generally, by lesson plans, blocks the text book off into as many lessons of equal number of pages to each lesson as there are class periods in which to complete the subject matter of the said text book. Then by requiring the preparation of a lesson for each class period the work is carried forward uniformly and complete according to the fixed plan and in due season as it was blocked off by the lesson plan.

By this plan each class period covers about the same number of pages of the text. Therefore, a third of the class periods will cover a third of the text and a half of the class periods will cover a half of the text and all of the class periods will be sufficient to cover the subject matter of the entire text book.

This method of instruction and learning looks very plain and simple and yet it fails far short of imparting to the pupil the quantity or the quality of knowledge that he should have received. Neither does he have it in the proper form ever in any way to beneficially increase his stock of knowledge nor to enlarge the powers of his mind.

Now the simple reason in most cases why he has not properly secured his just portion of knowledge nor increased the powers of his mind is that he used his time and energy in memorizing subject matter instead of devoting it to good sound thinking and reasoning processes of education.

But the one immediate object of his desire was reached: that is, he secured his credits and that is in many cases as much or more than he really expected so he feels that he is well paid for his time and efforts. Not only that, but in most cases he receives the approval of his parents and friends for neither parents or friends nor the pupil himself have discovered in any way the extent of his failure brought by the above block and cover method of instruction and learning.

Now many will ask why are we using, to such an extent, the above method of teaching and learning. A large number of the rank and file of those who are interested in the education of our youth are being taught by allowing themselves to think that the teachers and pupils have met the necessary requirements of educating the said pupil when they have gone over the lessons of the text book and the pupil has received his credits for his time and efforts that he may carry them home to delight his parents and friends with his good record of achievement.

But the thoughtful and considerate teacher knows from her keen observation and experience (and many people of every day life) that the pupil has learned no more by his educational efforts than the amount of wisdom that he carries in his head and is able to apply to problems that are similar to those that he had in his school work, working out said new problems and explaining them in a masterly way as a demonstration of his ability to use the knowledge that he has acquired.

From the above statements and explanations we can readily see that the most common method used in checking results is also very loosely applied.

NEW TROY SCHOOL NEWS

"The Man in the Green Shirt" is the title of the Senior Play this year and will be presented in the New Troy high school auditorium Friday evening, April 10. The title signifies that it should be a very entertaining production. According to the seniors who have been assigned parts, it will be the best ever produced on the local stage.

The horticulture class has worked the fertilizer in around the shrubbery which was set out last fall. This class will have charge of pruning and caring for the shrubs this spring.

Our high school tournament has created a lot of interest the past week. Thus far the Juniors defeated the 8th grade by a score of only 14 to 7. The freshmen defeated the Sophomores by a score of 4 to 2 and the Seniors defeated the Freshmen by a score of 9 to 5. The finals will be played off this week.

Sad how history repeats itself. Nero fiddled while Rome burned and then the same thing, according to popular legend, happens in Buchanan. Nero should have been on better terms with his press agent and maybe that ugly story never would have reached its present circulation.

We were informed some of the entries in the Blossom contest were missing because they did not choose to run in high heels.

Front Street, like Wall Street, has a river at one end and a graveyard at the other. But why be distressed? By traveling far enough one can reach these extremes on any street.

I wonder if it was the fashion in the steamboat days on the St. Joseph to take the night boat to South Bend.

Well, civilization in Buchanan must be beyond the pastoral stage at least. No woman has sued for divorce on the grounds that her husband has a "penchant for hunting and fishing" as did a wife in Reno. Page Will Durant.

The basic emotions of "East Lynne" are remembered long after the finery, flattery and fastidiousness are forgotten.

In a small town there seems to be a greater "green menace" than a "red menace" in politics. And there is no one strange enough to hire to throw irritating bouquets onto an opponents platform.

90 Pct. of People Are Not Affected By the Depression

Nine out of America's every ten are working away at the same old job in spite of hard times talk and the effect of the now waning depression, H. Morton Bodfish, Chicago, executive manager of the United States Building and Loan League, said recently. Speaking before the convention of the Michigan Sheet Metal and Roofing Contractors association, Mr. Bodfish pointed out that ninety per cent of the people in the country are still able to live normally as they used to, saving some and spending some of their money as each day goes by.

"What we need to realize," said Mr. Bodfish, "is that the man who is saving his money systematically or investing it in community projects with long term maturity is doing just as much to speed up business recovery as is the man who follows the 'buy now' slogan, and goes out to spend his last dollar on a new hat and a square meal. The community investor is assuring the return of prosperity steadily and influencing its stay for a long time when it does arrive.

"There is always a demand in any community for some types of investment. One of the most promising enterprises now is the modernization of homes. Reliable figures estimate that there are twelve million houses in the United States which need remodeling or repairing. Money invested in such propositions not only gives the great construction industry something to do, while it is waiting for the definite pick-up in business, but it also contributes to community improvement, increasing the value of property owned there.

"The United States government speaks of construction as the fifth wheel to the American economic system, and residences are the brightest spoke in that wheel in 1931. The slight pick-up in employment which we have already seen is easing the situation in vacancies. Where two or three families crowded into one living space a few months ago because of inability to pay for more than that, the separation into one family per dwelling is already beginning and we will see a decided change for the better in the vacancy situation in 1931. This will give the construction industry plenty to do in a year or so to build the homes for the people who today are wise enough to be saving up for them in building and loan associations, community institutions.

"Wherever there is a family there is an actual demand for a home. Talk about overproduction in the housing field should find little heed among thinking people as long as ninety per cent of the heads of families are still working at their old jobs or similar jobs, and can afford to start today or tomorrow building or buying the home they want.

"And that home will not be financed by Wall Street. It will in all probability be built by funds borrowed from a building and loan association. The home modernization projects will be financed either by the building and loan organization or by the local banks. In either case, it is well remembered that investment within the few thousand square miles called your community is an investment in the return of good times. If people's savings had gone into building and loan associations instead of into uncommon stocks at fantastic prices we would not today be trying to pick up the pieces of that colossal speculative boom which crashed on us a little over a year ago."

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following taken from the Bible: "And I heard as it were the voice of a great multitude, and as the voice of many waters, and as the voice of mighty thundering, saying, Alleluia: for the Lord God omnipotent reigneth." (Rev. 19:6).
The Lesson-Sermon also included the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "In proportion as the belief disappears that life and intelligence are in or of matter, the immortal facts of being are seen, and their only idea or intelligence is in God. Spirit is reached only through the understanding and demonstration of eternal life and truth and love." (p. 279.)

Princess Theatre

The merchants of Buchanan who co-operated with Mr. Morley by purchasing tickets and inviting out of town guests to attend a theatre party at the Princess may be interested to learn that Mr. Morley has, since that night, received numerous requests from South Bend and Niles people for programs of coming attractions.
In their letters they have only the highest praise for the sound and reproduction at the Princess. Many stated that it is the finest they have ever heard. That Buchanan should be able to boast of the finest talking picture theatre in this section of the country is indeed an honor and a tribute to the thoroughness of Mr. Morley in having the building acoustically treated and then installing the finest of equipment procurable.
