

COUNTY LODGES CONVENE HERE APR. 29

Class of '31 Bans Oratory From Commencement Exercises June 4

Now Here's the Proposition

PROOF READERS PLAINT BY HAYS

Oh Alice and Alyce and Alys Oh Maymie and Alayne and Mame And Kathryn, Katherine, Catherine Why can't you not spell things the same?

It really is none of my business But I'd just like to see if I maa That Gladys would certainly glad us If she'd spell her name only one waa.

But How Come the Flags are Out and the Banks Open?

The flags have been out this week in Buchanan and it hasn't been a week of holidays it ought to have been. The blue flags we mean—irs, if you are the kind that things must be explained to.

Spats Made of Fur

Smart male dressers in Berlin, Germany, are now wearing spats trimmed with fur. The popular colors are white and gray, and at night the gentlemen's feet have the appearance of twin kittens chasing each other playfully.

The Question is—

Who is going to manage the Buchanan Blues this year. It is understood that there is considerable competition this spring for the privilege, not to mention the honor, of shouldering the responsibility, financial and otherwise of putting over a winning team. What the Buchanan baseball fans want more than anything else is a winning baseball team. We are ready to support baseball one hundred percent while we have a nine that is knocking them off every Sunday. When they quit knocking them off, we quit and any slabsided, blockheaded baseball manager who thinks he can make us do otherwise is invited to step in and try it.

Now anybody who wants to work his hool head off and bust himself to build up a team that will cash our bets for us, taking full financial responsibility for all equipment and other bills, speak up, and please quit crowdin' and shovin'. A line to the right, gents and take your turn.

We'll back you up when you win and we'll say home when you lose when you lose. Don't tell us we ain't loyal.

CLIP THIS FOR REFERENCE.

Listen, all you members of the Ancient and Amalgamated and United Order of Downtrodden Husbands, here's a hot one for housecleaning time. Chief of Police Mitchell has ordered his entire force of high-powered super-detectives and plain and fancy clothes men to take the field sleuthing to find the guy who took a rug out of the Alfred Richards house and beat it.

And they were looking two weeks ago for two other fellows who tried to take a rug from the Habicht house and beat it. And so when she hands you a rug and tells you to beat it, you just say that they are putting men in jail for just that. You can't take a rug and beat it in Michigan. There's a law against it. There ought to be.

And We've Got More Tins Than Anything Else Anyway The City Dads took a whole hour away from us—shortened our lives as it were, at the meeting last week. But then an hour is nothing, considering the fact that they shorten our lives about six months every time they send us a tax notice. And anyway we understand that Harry is going to put that hour in the minutes of the meeting and keep it in the safe until next fall, when they will give it back to us.

At Midnight? Oh Yeah! And a Couple of Sex Yous!

So the city commission is going to have everybody sit up until midnight or stay up until midnight and turn the clocks an hour ahead Saturday. Officially that is. We are going to get up at midnight officially and turn the clock ahead but as a matter of fact we are going to do it at 10 p. m. the night before or when we get up at 10 a. m. the next day.

It will take more than the Mayor and the City Commish and the whole police force to get us up at midnight to turn a clock ahead. But of course, if the commission insists, we will set the clock out on the porch and Clint can send Ed over to turn it up for us.

52 SENIORS TO GET SHEEPSKINS HERE THIS YEAR

Local H. S. Will Graduate Largest Class In Its History.

Old fashioned oratory will go by the boards as an ingredient of the Buchanan high school commencements this year, and as a result no commencement speaker will be afforded a chance to hook one hand in his suspenders and point with pride to the stars with the other while urging the members of the 1931 class on to higher and nobler things.

Elimination of the professional platform artist as a feature of the last sad rites over the senior class has been finally and irrevocably decided by the seniors who state that they feel fully equal to the task of rolling their own commencement program. And as a consequence it is going to be a hard year for commencement speakers.

Instead of the former type of program, the seniors are planning a combination of tableaux, talks and music, staged entirely by members of the class.

The commencement will be held this year on June 4. Buchanan will graduate the largest class in the history of the school this year. There are fifty-two this year, against the forty-one last year.

Here is the prospective list for 1931:

Dorothy Anderson Wins Mich. Music Club Medal at Detroit.

D. C. Anderson, a former Buchanan resident and an employee of the Record five years ago, who now lives in Jackson, sends the following clipping from the "Citizen-Patriot" of that city:

Dorothy Corinne Anderson, the 11 year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. D. C. Anderson, is the proud possessor of a gold medal bestowed on her at the state convention of the Michigan Federation of Music Clubs which closed its session in Detroit Saturday.

She was one of 17 in this class of pupils ranging in age from 10 to 12. She played two numbers, "Prelude" by Bach, and "Bourne Antique" by Mrs. Crosley Adams.

It requires that any dog which has not been vaccinated against rabies in the past year by a certified veterinarian does not carry an identification tag to that effect must either be confined on its owners premises or must be securely muzzled, so that it cannot bite.

BUSINESS MEN ARE ENTERTAINED BY IND. & MICH.

Members Civic Luncheon Club Enjoy Tour of Twin Branch Plant.

Water, steam and electricity in such immense quantities as to be almost beyond comprehension of the lay mind, furnished subject matter for a tour of the Indiana & Michigan Twin Branch power plant by a group of about twenty business and professional men of Buchanan Monday. Under the leadership of Harleigh Riley, local manager of the company, the men, members of the Civic Luncheon Club, journeyed to the Mishawaka plant, partook of an excellent menu of chicken and trimmings in the dining room of the plant, and were escorted on tours of inspection by officials of the company.

Acting as hosts to the Buchanan delegation were C. B. Calvert, assistant secretary and attorney of the I. & M., George W. Schmitt, superintendent of power and E. A. Thornton, personal director, each of whom briefly addressed the visitors at the close of the luncheon period. Mr. Riley also addressed the group in a brief summary of the activities and capacity of the company's plants. Herbert Roe, of the Buchanan State Bank, responded on behalf of the visiting brethren who endorsed his remarks with a rising vote of thanks to the hosts.

Following the luncheon those of the group who were still able to move about were divided into two parties and, under the direction of officers, were taken on an inspection tour which included every nook of the huge plant which might contain anything of interest. From the coal loading apparatus in the outer yards, the boiler room, the generator department, to the generator room and control machinery, the company of visitors were shown the "inside" workings of the factory which supplies for twenty-four hours a day the current used over a vast territory including northern Indiana, northern Ohio and southern Michigan.

In the figures Mr. Riley presented at the close of the luncheon the visitors were given some idea of the immensity of the plant they were visiting as well as the auxiliary plants. Altogether the company operates 2 steam and 4 water-power plants. The water-power units manufacture a total of 37,000 h. p., while the steam plants turn out 120,000 h. p. A combined output of 600,000 kw. is produced daily. This power is distributed to 65,000 customers by a force of 850 employes.

That it takes an immense quantity of fuel to produce motive energy for the machines which generate the electricity in the Twin Branch plant alone is obvious. One of the surprising features is the large quantity of water used. For cooling purposes alone, or for the condensation of steam in order that it may be returned to the boilers for re-heating, the plant uses 150,000 gallons per minute—a larger quantity than is used by the entire city of South Bend. Each boiler, of which there are four, constantly in operation with four in reserve, uses 150,000 kw. of water per hour or approximately 15,000 gallons. These boilers furnish 360,000 pounds of steam per hour for each of the two turbine-driven generators which run night and day delivering a continuous flow of electricity.

The luncheon club's visit to the Twin Branch plant stands as an event of unusual merit. It was the company's courtesy is appreciated by the local men goes without saying.

NEW ARTERIES QUICKLY BUILT IN HOLLYWOOD

Carefully Plan Street Widening and do Work in Span of Seven Months.

In Hollywood, a movie colony in California, one of the most satisfying contributions to motorists in recent years has been made. Hollywood, which is in reality a part of Los Angeles, was assisted by the city in the carrying out of the "Five Finger Plan," which quickly changed Hollywood's congested main thoroughfares into wide, free-flowing concrete boulevards.

If you haven't heard you should know that Los Angeles is the city where there is one automobile for every two and a half persons. The movie colony, with its startling incomes, contributes its share, and perhaps more, to the floods of motorists trafficking to and from the snowball and orange areas.

Early in the history of a part of entry to Los Angeles, and because of its location on Cahuenga Pass Road in the Santa Monica mountains the traffic burden at times looks like an attack of seven-year locusts.

The "Five Finger Plan," so called because of the arrangements of the streets to be improved, was adopted after considerable study of Hollywood's ailment. Hollywood's business district is the palm, the finger streets are Ivar, Cahuenga boulevard, Cole and Wilcox avenues, and the thumb, Yucca street. The principal streets of the plan have been widened to 74 feet between curbs with ten foot sidewalks.

The work was first carefully planned and then performed in a remarkably short time, seven months. The concrete was laid in ten-foot wide strips, a method which permitted of built-in traffic lane joints, and the continuance of travel throughout construction. On the heavier traveled streets, the concrete was so mixed and treated that it hardened sufficiently in 72 hours for travel. The work was speeded by the use of two mammoth paving mixers on most of the streets.

Motors come and go but street widths stay forever, unless stringent action is taken to widen them. Los Angeles and the Hollywood district spent nearly five million dollars on this plan, but four fifths of the money was paid to property owners for wider rights-of-way and property damages. Vision and a clear picture of the motoring problem is required to conceive and build the facilities required, in the name of economy, by the automobile.

University Gives Many Leaders To Detroit

Ann Arbor.—What sort of men does a large University contribute to city life? Principally professional men and business men, as well as many leaders in the official life of the city's courts, schools and public services. These are the findings of Dr. Frank E. Robins of the University of Michigan from a study of the alumni of the University of Detroit.

Mayor Frank Murphy of Detroit is a law graduate of 1914. There are 138 alumni who are presidents of commercial or industrial companies; 75 secretaries or treasurers; 89 vice presidents; 7 presidents or vice chairmen of banks; 9 high school principals; 10 grade school principals; 4 superintendents of schools; while others are chief engineers of automobile concerns, editors and city officials.

Give the Growing Chick the Right Feed Mixture

Properly fed chicks have vitality to resist disease and will be able to build bodies which will make them profitable egg producers next fall and winter, and these advantages can be obtained through the use of suitable feed mixtures, according to a statement by the poultry department at Michigan State college.

The starting mash is to be fed for the first six weeks. The figures given in the formula are pounds. The mixture is made up of yellow corn meal 54, flour middlings 20, ground oatmeal 10, dried milk 10, meat scrap 5, alfalfa leaf meal 5, steamed bone meal 4, salt 1, and cod liver 1.

A scratch feed made up of equal parts of cracked yellow corn and whole wheat should be given the chicks after they are six weeks old at the same time they are shifted from the starting mash to the growing mash which is fed until the pullets go into the laying house.

The growing mash is made up of cornmeal 20, flour middlings 15, bran 17, ground oatmeal 15, ground oats 10, meat scrap 5, dried milk 5, alfalfa meal 5, steamed bone meal 2 and salt 1. The chicks when fed this ration will be out of doors and will not need cod liver oil.

Oyster shell and grit should be provided for the chicks at all times. Skimmed milk or buttermilk should be provided as a drink for the chicks at least during the first 10 or 12 weeks.

Burning Marshes Destroys Young Rabbits, Quail

The Game Division of the Conservation Department is reminding land owners that the spring burning of marsh lands and meadows often destroys many young rabbits and the nests of quail, pheasants and prairie chickens.

The department points out that where it is advisable, or necessary to set fire to such areas in the spring, the burning should be done as early in the season as practicable and before the birds are nesting or the rabbits had had their young.

Grass and muck fires often get out of control and destroy the natural homesites as well as the lives of many valuable and interesting wild birds and mammals. Fires often cause a loss rather than a benefit to agriculture, for they destroy the muck and humus in the top soil which has been years in accumulating and which will be replaced very slowly if at all.

Since much of Michigan is very dry from the excessive drouth of last season, and with less than the usual amount of snowfall this winter, it is particularly urgent to be very cautious this spring in the use and control of fire.

EXCITEMENT RAN HIGH

on March 17... at the start of the elaborate lubrication study conducted by the Contest Board of the A.A.A. on the Indianapolis Speedway

Nothing approaching this lubrication study in size and scope had ever before been attempted. Months of preparation had worked up to this climax. Drivers waited at their wheels for the word to go. Excitement ran high.

The tests were conducted by the Contest Board of the American Automobile Association. The results when compiled will be certified by it.

Early in May, the test cars will start on long individual tours. They will visit auto dealers to deliver the certified results and to allow inspection. At the same time they will be gathering more lubrication data. Watch for these cars.

By such research methods this company is able to provide you with motor oil that meets exactly the lubricating requirements of your engine.

Duck Season to Open October 1 Instead of Sept. 16

The 1931 duck hunting season in Michigan will begin Oct. 1 instead of Sept. 16 unless the present session of the state legislature provides for a still later opening date.

Under an amendment signed by President Hoover March 17, the migratory bird regulations open the season for ducks, geese, brant, coot and jacksnipe in Michigan and 29 other northern states on Oct. 1, instead of Sept. 16, as formerly.

Another amendment makes it unlawful to shoot water-fowl earlier than 12 o'clock noon, on the opening day.

In the south, duck hunting will close Jan. 15, instead of Jan. 31, but in Michigan the season will end Dec. 31 as formerly, unless the state legislature decides to shorten the season still more.

The taking of all protected migratory birds is governed by the Migratory Bird Treaty Act and its regulations. Individual states are permitted to shorten, but not to lengthen the seasons as established by the federal authorities.

North Central Places B. H. S. on Accredited List

Mr. E. H. Ormiston, principal of the Buchanan high school, has just been notified that this school has been accredited by the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools for the period ending March 20, 1932. In explanation of the term of accrediting the local school authorities have been advised that it is the established policy of the Association to prepare each year a new list of approved secondary schools accorded this honor and that no school is accredited by the North Central Association for a period longer than one year.

Before any school can be considered for accrediting by the North Central Association it must be on the highest list of schools approved and accredited by the school authorities of this state. In addition it must meet the high standards which the Association maintains with respect to the school building and its equipment, the school library, laboratories and instructional equipment and apparatus, school records, the requirements for graduation, instruction and spirit, salaries of teachers, the training and preparation of teachers, the teaching load, pupil loads, and the school's program with reference to physical education and to its athletic relationship with other high schools as determined by the state athletic association.

Advantages that high schools realize as a result of being accredited by the North Central Association can be summarized as follows:

- 1. The graduates of an accredited high school are privileged to enter institutions of higher education within the North Central states without entrance examinations, provided that they have studied in the high school subjects required by the college or university for admission. Since other accrediting agencies recognize schools accredited by the North Central Association, this privilege of entering institutions of higher education without examination is extended practically throughout the United States. 2. The graduates of accredited high schools have the assurance that their high school diplomas will be acceptable to state boards required to do with the granting of certificates for the various professions of medicine, dentistry, law, etc. In states requiring graduation from approved high school as prerequisite to the obtaining of a teaching certificate, the graduates of schools accredited by the North Central Association meet the requirements of such a law. 3. A high school approved by the North Central Association must maintain high standards and consequently the community is assured of a program of modern high school education. 4. The examination of the school at regular intervals by inspectors and supervisors serves to stimulate progress and to prevent the development of questionable practices and tendencies. 5. A high school accredited by the North Central Association enjoys a greater prestige in the surrounding country and therefore finds it easier to attract nonresident pupils. 6. The patrons have more confidence in, and are generally more willing to support, an accredited high school.

Michigan Auto Taxes Third Highest In United States

Michigan registered 1,161,050 motor cars, taxis, and buses in 1930, in addition to 197,158 motor trucks and tractors, a decrease of 66,893 units compared with 1929, according to the annual motor vehicle registration report of the Bureau of Public Roads of the Department of Agriculture.

The Michigan registration total represented a decrease of 4.3 per cent, as compared with a national average of .08 per cent. The state is sixth in the number of all vehicles registered, being exceeded only by New York, California, Illinois, Ohio and Pennsylvania. The state is second only to California, however, in the amount of decreased registration, these decreases reflecting both decline in sales of new cars, trucks, etc., and the scrapping of worn out motor vehicles.

Of the $355,704,860 collected by the states in registration fees, licenses and taxes, Michigan motorists contributed $22,482,412 and, in this respect, paid more for the privilege of using motor vehicles than any other states with the exception of New York and Pennsylvania, which states paid levies aggregating $40,857,715 and $22,112,371 respectively.

Alfred Reeves, general manager of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, said in his report to directors of the organization that figures show that last year 2,825,000 motor vehicles were junked as a result of the normal wearing out of cars and of the special junking plan of manufacturers with their dealers under which 350,000 additional vehicles of unsafe character have been eliminated from the highways.

The total vehicle registration at the end of 1930 was 26,523,779 cars and trucks, an increase of only 22,336 units over the previous year. Comparison of these registration figures with the estimated domestic consumption of 1930 motor vehicle output indicates an unprecedented junking activity for the year.

Removal of 350,000 antiquated automobiles from service is credited to the highway safety program recommended to individual motor manufacturers by directors of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce about a year ago. One company after another has joined in the movement until members

FORD RELIABILITY THE FORD TUDOR SEDAN Long, hard use shows the value of good materials and simplicity of design EVERYWHERE you go you hear reports of the good performance and reliability of the Ford. One owner writes—"The Ford Tudor Sedan I am driving has covered 59,300 miles through all kinds of weather. It is still giving perfect satisfaction." Another owner describes a trip of 3217 miles in 95 hours over bad roads and through heavy rain and sleet in the mountains. "Throughout the entire trip," he writes, "the Ford performed excellently and no mechanical trouble of any kind was experienced. The shatter-proof glass undoubtedly saved us from serious injury when a prairie chicken struck the windshield while we were traveling at 65 miles an hour." See the nearest dealer and have him give you a demonstration ride in the Ford. representing 87 per cent of the total production, are participating in the plan. Under the plan, as announced by Mr. Reeves, the manufacturers establish a reserve fund based generally on $5 to $10 for each new car which the dealer buys, and to the amount of that fund their dealers are permitted to scrap old cars. The amount allowed on such junked cars ranges from $25 to $35. The highway safety program resulted from a general recognition by the industry that the continued operation of antiquated vehicles constituted not only an unnecessary annoyance, but a serious menace to the safety of other highway users. It is anticipated that 1931 will witness an even greater number of vehicles removed from the highways as other companies join in the program.

Machine or Shovel?

A company that manufactures machines for road construction runs up against a new difficulty. Many people are insisting that it is wrong to use such machinery when there are so many persons out of work, that instead of digging ditches and grading roads mechanically, men should be hired as of old, to do the work with pick and shovel.

And this, as an economist remarks, shows again how muddled-headed much of our thinking becomes in these troublous times.

If the labor-saving machinery is shelved or scrapped, of course the work will cost a great deal more. The men immediately employed will benefit for the time being. But the expenses will be borne by the taxpayers, already overburdened, and then pretty soon there will be no more public work done, because taxpayers can't or won't pay for it.

It has to be repeated over and over again that progress, ease and comfort, in this age, depend on machinery, used increasingly; that a roadmaking machine or a locomotive helps society just as a shovel or a wheelbarrow helps an individual; that the fault isn't with the machinery, but with the stupid way we use it. It's all so new, we haven't got the hang of it yet.

Marketing Wheat.

The United States has its grain corporation, Canada, following suit, has its wheat pool. The latter is going ahead with plans for the orderly marketing of the wheat crop of western Canada.

That crop needs some kind of marketing. Farmers lately have not been able to get it, at home, 30 cents a bushel for it.

This country, owing governmentally more than 100,000,000 bushels of our own unmarketable wheat, bought high and stored in elevators at a cost of 1 1/2 cents a bushel per month, has shown the world one way to avoid disorderly marketing. That is, temporarily. How long our government, or any government, can endure the process is another question.

Maybe Canada has something new to show us about orderly production of wheat as well as orderly selling.

More Traveling.

The American Automobile association estimates that the civilized world's outlay for recreational travel was $7,500,000,000 of which two-thirds was spent by Americans at home and abroad and by visitors to this country. The association calls this "an outstanding item in the international trade balance during a year of retrenchment extending to all parts of the world."

One can only guess how much greater the outlay might have been in a normal business year or a boom period.

Vacations spent at home, lolling in a hammock and doing a few odd jobs around the house, have practically vanished. Almost everybody goes somewhere, whether it's only a motor trip into a neighboring state or a world cruise, or some change of scene between those two in extent, variety and expense.

Perhaps it is a bad thing in some ways to have the world becoming so restless, considering a vacation lost that isn't spent on the go. Yet there must be more advantages than disadvantages. Travel gives a new slant on life that is both stimulating and satisfying.

Only Four Years Ahead

The wealth of the United States, by the latest estimate, is $361,800,000,000. That is for 1929. It would be somewhat less now, but let the sum stand. It means $2,977 per capita.

Call it $3,000 apiece. That is how much we have got ahead in money, houses, personal effects, building lots, farms, live stock, motor cars, railroads and other public utilities, stores, hotels, factories, mines, public buildings and useful works of all kinds.

We are said to make this showing on an average income of $682 a year. That, too, is less now, but never mind. It suffices for the present purpose.

A simple bit of figuring shows that, after three centuries on this new continent with its vast resources and opportunities, and a century and a half of national life and concerted planning and enterprise, we stand about like this: If the average American quit working for a little more than four years, he would be worth nothing.

Our whole vast aggregation of national wealth, the hold-over of so much toil, struggle and thought, so far as we are concerned personally, would be exhausted in four years, if we all began "living on our fat" like hibernating bears.

And yet many of us think we should reduce our working time to five days a week and four or five hours a day, producing less and spending more.

Illinois convicts in the "model prison" rioted because they didn't approve of the parole board, and it hasn't occurred to any reformer to solve that little problem by letting a convict committee do the paroling.

Mr. Wickersham says if the wets were properly acquainted with his prohibition report, they would have liked it, and the wets reply that he didn't give them a proper introduction.

Substitute for War

Observers, posing as experts continue forecasting another war in Europe, to come perhaps in 10 or 12 years from now. Some regard it as inevitable. Everywhere is unrest, hardships, discontent. If it came it would probably be worse than the last war. And it would probably drag us in, as the last one did, for our international interests of all kinds are wider and closer than ever before.

How can such a catastrophe be avoided? Peace propaganda is good. Arms limitation is good. Peace treaties are good. The pacific activities of the league of nations are good. But there may be another preventive better than all of these. It is the employment everywhere of constructive activities and investment funds in self-development.

Building may take the place of war, by utilizing money, energy and intelligence constructively instead of destructively.

"But it would cost a lot of money!" Well, what does war cost? As M. E. Tracy, an American editorial writer points out, the last war cost $300,000,000,000. Instead of killing men at a cost of $30,000 apiece, we might use both the men and the $30,000 in useful construction work.

For less than that war cost the nations, we could bridge the Atlantic, as Tracy suggests. For what it cost us, we could build more canals, roads, bridges, and other public works than have ever been suggested. One battle would pay for the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence seaway or the Mississippi waterway. Nations, fighting nature instead of each other, would have something to show for their work and money. And people would probably be busy and contented in such activity that they wouldn't think of war.

Pin and Money.

The extent to which the ladies now run things in this once land of the free—and the extent to which advertisers direct their darts at the feminine portion of the population—may readily be discerned in reports of a recent experiment conducted at the National Broadcasting Company studio in New York.

As an experiment designed to demonstrate that the North American continent has been transformed into an auditorium by radio, the test seems not especially significant. An ordinary house pin was allowed to drop six inches onto a piece of tin held before the microphone and the sound, magnified many times, reverberated throughout the United States. A tap-dancer or a congressman could have reverberated just as well, to our way of thinking, and the experiment could have proved just as much. What was really significant, however, was the tools employed for the test. Fifteen or twenty years ago some humorously inclined radio boss probably would have conducted the test by dropping some leaden object which he declared was a biscuit freshly baked by some new bride onto a tin plate. And if the biscuit didn't make enough racket, he would have employed a bass drum expert to produce reverberations in a big way. Humor, along with the times; has changed, however.

The radio boys are cagy fellows and they realize that anything of the nature of the old "Bride's biscuits" joke put on the air nowadays would be a terrible blow to the tooth paste industry, which is their main source of revenue.

The Obsolescence of Motor Cars

The people who used to fear a saturation of the market for motor cars in the United States had their fears allayed from time to time by the promise that, in due course of time, the wear of the cars already in use would provide a large market for replacements. Few, however, conceived how great that market might become. Those who spoke of a million and a half car market from replacements were given the laugh for their optimism. That their theory was well grounded is shown by the authentic figures of experience for 1930 that have been given out by Alfred Reeves, of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce. It appears that 2,925,000 cars were actually junked in 1930. To this figure of created demand must be added the cars that are "near-junked" as well as those that have actually been put through that experience.

It is quite interesting to observe how much of this final destruction of old cars that are really a menace to traffic has been promoted by the manufacturers. The Ford company pays a knock-down price of $20 for each wreck turned over to it, of whomsoever's make. These cars are, of course, taken in in trade for new ones. The destruction of these cars, once arrived at the Ford works, has become the subject of much writing about their spectacular endings. There is salvage to some extent, and then a cyploean crushing and throwing them into furnaces to come out as new raw material. It now appears that other manufacturers have been equally as contributive as Ford to this process. The next step would seem to be some encouragement of humble junkmen to recover the steel from bodies which lie along all the roadsides of the country and on the dumps of cities and towns by the hundred thousand. There is enough good steel in them to furnish a profitable day's work for individual collectors even at present prices of junked steel and iron.

If you want to get away with radicalism, first get a reputation as a philosopher, like Prof. Einstein or Prof. Dewey.

The Old Timer's Corner

Old Timer Ducks Doctors And Does His Spring Work

Well, it is Spring again. I am coming over to Buchanan right soon and have a look. I had a letter from my sister telling me all the "Spring" things she could think of and so I have a desire to see them for myself.

I have been a little "under the weather" myself for the last two or three weeks, but I am better again, and able to navigate, I guess. They had me tucked away in bed for a while, but that don't click with me for I have always been up and at 'em for so many years that when the "medico" says "don't work and don't hurry, etc., it some way don't seem that he means me. But I guess I will have to follow his advice for a while, anyway, for I sure was "down and out" for once. Emul said, "I didn't have to have 'an operation' anyway. Ha Ha.

I have a little spring work to do here at home, myself, and now that things are coming along better I am going to get at it. I have cleaned up things generally, and am all ready to start planting things. The buds are coming out on the trees and shrubs and the tulips and things are starting to show what they are made for, but there are a lot of flowers and vegetables that I want to plant and trim the grape vines and the raspberries and blackberries etc. I suppose you don't think I have any such things on this little "farm" (26 ft by 126 ft) of mine. No? Well, I have and I take just as much pride in seeing them do their stuff as though I had an acre or more of each. I dug up all my strawberries last fall. I had some fine ones but one trip when I was over to Buchanan I dug up some wild strawberries and brought them over and set some of them in the "patch" where there was a vacancy and the fool things grew so well that they drove the real ones out of business and last year about all we had was the little round sweet wild ones, so I dug them all up and am going to start a new patch this year. No more wild ones for mine. Wild strawberries nor "wild women" either. Ha Ha.

I was very glad to get word from home that Martha Franklin (Mrs. Robert Franklin) is O. K. again after her siege with flu. It is just plain "hell" to be sick. I know a little about it, and hope she is feeling fine again. I had a letter from "home" saying she was "right again."

You know I was telling you folks that George Dressler was coming over to spend a few days or weeks with us, this winter. Well he kept putting it off until now he won't come at all I suppose. I am going to "rope" him some time and bring him back to Chicago with me. Guess I will have to go out and "run his farm" for him again this summer. Ha Ha.

You know, I think it is wonderful that some of your "birds of passage" have the good judgment to come back north (or east) when it comes summer time. They are like the robins and blue birds etc. they are afraid they will get frost bitten (in their old age) if they stay in good old Michigan, so they "turn tail" and "fly" or drive away at the approach of the first little cold spell, and they are wishing all the time they are gone that they were back home again. I wager. Well, it is good to see them back, same as we welcome the robins and blue birds, but for the love of Mike, why don't they stick it out with the rest of us and enjoy a little real winter weather for a change?

Holmes Tells of Old Time School Dads and Ma'ams

Cedar Rapids, Ia.

Editor Record,
 The account of the services of Harry Salisbury as teacher is good. I believe I remember that he had a brother, Fred Salisbury, who made something of a record, not far behind Harry in the teaching work. Also I remember that in the summer term in 1862 in District No. 20, fractional, Buchanan and Bertrand, I had for teacher the lady who later became his mother. She was then Derinda, oldest daughter of Nathaniel and Julia Burrus Hamilton. Later his sister, Martha Hamilton, taught that same school and again another sister served as typo in the Record, for Dan. Wagner, then Wagner & Kingery, Kingery & Marble, Kingery & Lindley, Kingery, Holmes and last for Holmes. That is, very slow. There was another sister, Emma Hamilton, and each of the four girls had a brother. Their father was about the only auctioneer to serve in that neighborhood for many years.

While I was formulating my last bit for the "Corner" this couplet came to my mind:

Where, oh where, is the other old timer?
 Where, oh where, is the other old timer?
 Where, oh where, is the other old timer?

I wonder if he has gone to the promised land.

Then when next Record appeared there was the statement that at the time he was in bed doing his best to at least get a start.

Telepathic communication between kindred spirits? No one can prove it was not.

A short time ago I wrote advocating whipping for drunken drivers. Now the Iowa legislature has concluded the law for the punishment for that offense needed sharper teeth and has passed a law providing fine of $300 to $1,000 for first offense $500 to $1,000 and one year in jail for second and three years in jail for third offense and prohibited from driving a car within a year after getting out of jail. That may be some help but I still believe the whip more effective, more prompt, and less expensive. A rabid dog running at large would not be more of a menace than the drunk in a car and the dog would be shot.

STUDENT BODY WILL SELECT BEST CITIZEN

Held Primary May 12 and Election May 19 For State Bank Trophy

Clean politics are always used in the school elections. If only in all elections this would be true, what a great country this would be.

For the past four years the student body of the high school has selected an individual who has been classed as the best citizen. This takes into consideration everything: sports, studies, and activities in every form. Personality enters too.

The name of the one selected will be engraved on the Buchanan State Bank trophy. The persons that have been honored so far are: George Wynn, 1927. Alfred White, 1928. Harold Knight, 1929. Harold Pierce, 1930.

The election is carried on in every detail like the ones for any county, state, or national offices.

Petitions carrying names of likely candidates are to be filed on or before May 5. These must carry not less than twenty-two or more than twenty-seven names of students.

The primary is on May 12, and the regular election on May 19.

Snake Charmer Fails to Charm H. School Ma'am

Jo-Jo, the snake charmer, is at large! He strode into the library this fair morn with Daisy, his pet reptile, twined around his neck nearly sending Miss Hanlin into nervous prostrations. Jo-Jo, who is in real life, Joe Heim, having been duly subdued, was ordered to return Daisy back to the native pen in Mr. Knoblauch's "Ag." room. Since then Miss Hanlin has thoroughly convinced Joe that snake-charming isn't the coming thing, anyway.

Twenty members of the G. A. A. enjoyed a swim and weiner roast at Clear Lake, Thursday night after school.

The association has been working on plans for play day which will be held in Niles, May 16. Play day is being sponsored by the G. A. A. of both Niles and Buchanan.

Play Day for the 4th, 5th and 6th grades for Buchanan will be held May 1.

This will take the place of the county track meet which is held every year in Niles. The same schools participating last year will also participate in play day. This gives play for all instead of keen competition for a few girls. Several track events will be included besides the contests.

This is the first play day ever to be given in Berrien county, but both associations feel that the girls will have a much better time than at the track meet which has been given in previous years.

Since the girls are not having the track meet this year in Niles, they will hold their class track meet May 5.

Letters have been sent out to different schools so they may participate in play day, while the registration cards will be sent next week.

The schools entering the track meet last year included Niles, Buchanan, Dowagiac, New Troy, Berrien Springs, Bridgman, and Three Oaks. These same schools will be included and there will probably be more added to the list.

The baseball tournament began Monday night with the freshmen playing the sophomores and the juniors playing the seniors.

Ag Club Cleans Yard and Shines up Rock Garden

The Agriculture Club, composed of members in the four senior high grades, showed their talent by raking and cleaning the local school campus. The rock garden, built last year by the same club, underwent a thorough cleaning, and is now ready to be planted for added summer beauty.

The club is planning many projects to be carried out before the close of the school year.

First Social Hour Thursday

The first Social Hour of the season was held last Thursday. Many were those who were introduced into the mysteries of the light fantastic, thereby proclaiming the event as being wholly successful.

Johanna Burk is absent on account of illness.

Fourth Grade. Mrs. Lura French. We wrote a letter to the publishers of My Weekly Reader and sent a picture of our Egyptian sand table and the committee. We hope we will have it published.

Ruth Wales wrote the letter for us as hers was the best.

Violet Weaver received A in a written lesson in Geography.

Our records in Arithmetic were better last week—more accurate work and more work finished on time. On a test on Friday we had the longest and hardest problems in long division we have had, thus far, Mildred Ferris worked and checked five problems in 10 minutes. Vernon Walls finished his in the next shortest time.

Food to Exercise Teeth is Important

More and more importance is being placed upon food in oral therapeutics by the dental profession. Diet means so much to a strong, well formed teeth that it must be given consideration even before the birth of the infant.

Plenty of those foods which yield calcium—milk and the green leafy vegetables, in the diet of the mother, will mean that her child's first teeth, yes and its second teeth, will be sound and strong.

With the type of health education which is being disseminated so widely by many different agencies there is no reason why everyone should not have strong, healthy teeth all the days of his life. Cleanliness and proper food and exercise, yes, exercise, are the instructions every dental surgeon gives his patients.

"As our foods have become more refined, our teeth do not get so much exercise as they did when grains were coarse and had to be chewed. The act of eating has become too easy. The one who plans the meals should have the teeth in mind as well as digestion and nutrition, for grown teeth need proper food and care just as growing teeth do," says Inez S. Wilson, home economist.

Meat is one of the very best, if not the very best of foods on which to exercise the teeth, for even the tenderest meat offers some resistance to mastication. Meat should be chewed thoroughly in order to exercise the teeth and to get all of its delicious flavor.

The digestive apparatus will do by chemical means what the teeth should do by physical means, but the one is likely to suffer from overwork and the other from underwork.

Children should be taught to use their teeth for the purpose and to the extent that nature intends. Authorities agree that meat may be given to the young child as soon as he is able to chew. Parents may find this food a valuable means of teaching the lesson of giving the teeth proper exercise and of children enjoy meat, if it is given only on the condition that it be masticated properly, they will soon learn the lesson and apply it to all of their foods.

"Detroit with 275 applications is also past the half way mark in filling its quota of 540," Mr. Newberry said in his statement.

"Eleven counties in the state have already passed their quotas," the statement continues. "These counties are Gogebic, Delta, Cheboygan, Grand Traverse, Kalkaska, Wexford, Missaukee, Osceola, St. Joseph, Branch and Monroe. A dozen other counties are almost up to their quotas."

"Never before has there been such a response to Citizens' Military Training Camps on the part of young men. This remarkable interest is due to the appeal that these camps have to the young men who attend them. These young men are not only applying early to be sure of being able to attend the camps this year, but many of them have friends whom they wish to have attend camp with them. The result is that enrollments are increasing tremendously in all localities from which young men have previously attended the Citizens' Military Training Camps."

Mr. Newberry issued a warning that those wishing to attend the camps this year should make their applications at once. "Counties are not held to their quotas and those that have exceeded their quotas may still send in applications until the state quota is filled," he said. "Usually this isn't complete until in June or July just before the camps are held. However, with more than half the state quota completed before the place of the 13 that it now enjoys, the industrial cities are bound to get more representation, which is a good thing in view of the dominance of Michigan in American industry and the importance of much of the legislation of the nation from an industrial standpoint. It has been a scandal in the past that Detroit has been represented by but two congressmen when its population was at least two more than Flint was only an incidental part of a district of enormous area and of excessive population for one representative; and that a great industrial city like Grand Rapids had to take into account other areas of diverse interests in choosing its congressman. The tendency of congressmen will be disturbed in their areas now existing is bound to throw the new additions to the industrial cities where they belong on the basis of population. That promises the possibility of getting a really experienced industrial representative into the Congress. That body certainly needs more of excessive population for one representative; and that a great

Railroads Bid for More Auto Freight Business

Railroads of the nation are making a last stand for automobile delivery business and the result promises lower prices to car buyers. Having stood by for ten years while highways and waterways took the cream of the motor car freight, the railroads this year have decided to put up a fight. At stake is a potential $56,000,000 in revenue from the automobile delivery trade which in the past has been lost to the railroads.

Early in April, wholesale reductions in rates on passenger cars and trucks will be placed in effect by railroads and the result promises lower prices to car buyers. Having stood by for ten years while highways and waterways took the cream of the motor car freight, the railroads this year have decided to put up a fight. At stake is a potential $56,000,000 in revenue from the automobile delivery trade which in the past has been lost to the railroads.

Whether the buyer will benefit from automobile freight reductions is difficult to determine now because all cars are shipped f. o. b. factory. J. S. Marvin, traffic expert for the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce, stated, in view of the fact that several companies now sell their cars by delivered price, it is probable, however, that they will take advantage of any drop in freight cost to cut down the delivered price in any community.

The extent of the reductions in the eastern territory cannot be determined because they are competitive, from point to point, and not fixed according to a scale.

From the standpoint of the manufacturer, the minimum carload weight change is highly important. In the eastern region, these minimum weights are 12,000 and 16,200 to 13,500 tons, for 52-foot cars and from 12,200 to 10,000 tons for 40-foot cars. The expense of loading and packing automobiles in railroad cars has been a big factor in the growth of the overland business and the reduction in minimum weight is designed to make railroad shipping more attractive to car builders.

It is estimated by N. A. C. C. officials that over 1,500,000 cars and trucks sold in 1929 and not shipped by rail represented a potential freight business of $56,000,000. At least 45 per cent of all cars sold in 1929 were moved either by contract carrier or driven away. In addition, lake boats delivered close to 200,000 more vehicles.

Probably the biggest competitor of the railroads now are the contract carriers. They use long trailers capable of hauling five vehicles on single-deck trucks and as high as eight on double-deck car-trucks. Within a distance of 500 miles, their rates are far below rail rates while delivery by truck is more flexible than by rail. One carrier makes new car deliveries as far as 1,025 miles from Detroit.

Race for Bowling League Honors Hot As End is Nearer

The gap between the Three Oaks and Dixie Oil quintets of the City Bowling League was narrowed slightly last week, with little prospect, however, of a displacement of the Acorn pinbusters from the titular position by the end of the season two weeks hence.

Several individual members of the competing teams "got hot" and rolled some commendable scores, without breaking any alley records. High scores were: Don Rouse, 247; Will Beardsley, 235; Eng Merson, 223.
