Commission Votes $750 Appropriation For Summer Band Concerts

Now Here's the Proposition

MOTHER'S DAY

May 10, 1931

By Haws

"Hush, be still as any mouse—There's a baby in the house."
It was mother sang it so Many years and years ago Gay young mother looking down—Cheeks of rose and hair of brown.
Watching when the day was dead O'er a lovely trundle bed While the dark, raised shadowy bars
In the first watch of the stars.

Though that cradle song she sung Long ago when she was young
There are those who don't forget.
Hush, be still! I hear it yet Down the miles and through the years
Ere the shrouding darkness nears Still I lift dependant hands For a love that understands.
And I wait her voice until All my heart is hushed and still.

Spades are Trumps

These Days
Not least among the interesting social items is the fact that our genial Dan Robe was observed playing the spade in the garden back of his house last week. Mr.
Robe observed that if he hears any more remarks about the size of his spade, he would play the club next.

Reports from Returned Trout Fishermen

George Roe: "Yeah, our luck was better than most of them.
Brandywine Creek was lined so thick you could hardly cast a fly and most of them went home empty handed. We were luckier than that. How many did we get?
Well, more than most—most of them didn't get any."

A. G. Haslett: "We had pretty good luck, better than some—how many? Well, I didn't take in the river but one of the other fellows did but we dragged him out. How many, old? Well, why? It was about 200 miles the way we went." Marlin Kean: "How was the fishing? Say, if my alarm clock had gone off I would have showed these boys some real fish. That was the dirtiest trick I ever had played me. I don't see how I can ever have any confidence in alarm clocks again."

A. S. Webb: "How was the fishing? Good! How was my luck?
Fine! Fine! How many? Well, we ain't got many orders right now but I look for a right smart pickup next month."

Timely Moralizings
Most of us like to consider ourselves humane and decent.

Some of us call ourselves Christian. But when any hot scandal comes to light, which involves not only the River but the dead, how many of us regret it?

How many of us drink in every juicy bit with greedy ears and pass it on gleefully?

TEARING DOWN HISTORIC OLD CLEANER HALL

Was the Property of Three Churches and one Farm Organization.

The wrecking of the old Cleaner hall, situated 2 miles south of Ga-lien, on the Cleveland Avenue road, removes one of the Berrien county land marks. It was built about 40 years ago by the progressive members of the United Brethren church, who left the old order, owing to a ruling they had that no one belonging to any secret order, such as the Masons, Odd Fellows and Grand Army could become a member of the church, but later on the church rescinded the order and took the Progressives back.
The hall was then sold to the Gleaners, who owned it for about 25 years, selling it to the Penicostal members, who diverted it into a church for about one year, then sold it to the United Brethren church about three years ago.
Recently it was again sold, to Harry Anderson of Chicago, who has wrecked the building and is undecided, as yet, what he will do with it, perhaps make it into a business place or a summer home.

REHEARSALS TO COMMENCE NEXT WEDNESDAY NIGHT

20-Piece Band Will Begin a Series of 12 Concerts on June 3.

The Clark band will begin rehearsals for summer concerts next Wednesday evening under the direction of Arlie Meeker, as the result of final approval by the city commission of the regular appropriation of $750, at the May meeting Monday evening.

The appropriation provides for a series of twelve concerts by a band of not less than eighteen pieces, to begin on the evening of Wednesday, June 3, and to continue twelve weeks.

Harry Berry, manager of the band stated that the organization would in all probability be composed of 20 pieces and would be made up largely of players of last year, only a few new members being considered.

The action was taken by the commission after a delegation from the Civic Luncheon club petitioned for the appropriation. Harleigh W. Kline acted as the spokesman of the delegation, stating that the business men of the city believed that the concerts had built up a fund of good will toward the city over a long term of years, and that it would be unwise to sacrifice this, gain by relinquishing the concerts now on the score of temporary expediency.

Win Plane Model Contest

The above picture represents Roland Shreve and Harold Fuller, winners of first and second prizes in the solid model class at the plane model meet held at the high school Saturday afternoon, under the auspices of E. N. Schram.

PLANE MODEL MEET AT H. S. GYM SATURDAY

Dick Boone, Roland Shreve and Harold Fuller Win On Entries.

Airplane model contests as a contribution to the creation of "air-mindedness" among Buchanan youth were very successfully instituted Saturday afternoon in the high school gymnasium in the contest sponsored by E. N. Schram, with a total of eight boys entered on two classes.

Dick Boone entered the only fuselage model and was awarded first prize, consisting of a plane model kit. His model was a monoplane fuselage. Dick has been working at model building for two years and is a member of the American Air Cadets of South Bend.
Seven solid or scale models were entered, first prize going to Roland Shreve, 401 East Smith St., son of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Shreve. Young Shreve built his model without instruction from ideas gained from reading Popular Science Magazine. Second prize in this class was won by Harold Fuller.

Other entrants in the scale model class were Ben Harvel, Joseph Bachman, Ivan Price, Jack Marble and Ralph Gilbert.
Willis Kysor of the Niles Airport and Ray DePoy, president of the Niles Glider Club, officiated very satisfactorily as judges and complimented the entrants highly on the quality of their workmanship. An announcement was made by DePoy that the winners of the next plane model meet held here would be given free rides at the Niles Airport.

Princess Theatre

Co-operating with the Princess theater and the merchants of Buchanan this paper has been able to promote a Merchant's Guest Day at the Princess. Under the depression we have just passed through hundreds of people have felt that they were not able to afford a trip to the theatre. Accordingly many of the merchants have placed a coupon in their advertisements which when cut out and presented at the Princess theatre together with 10 cents will admit any adult or child to the show. The offer is only good for one day and that is Tuesday, May 12. A regular program is being presented that would normally cost 30 cents.

An enormous crowd is expected to avail itself of this opportunity to see a talking picture show for 10c and to take care of the people Mr. Morley is running a matinee continuous from 2 p. m.
All who are able should attend the matinee to assure themselves of a good seat.

Howard Skinner, six-year-old son of Ralph Skinner, is ill with pneumonia.

CHEVROLET TRUCK EXHIBIT WILL BE HERE ON MAY 13

Parade to Show 40 Models of Passenger Cars, Trucks, Buses, Hearses, etc.

Bringing to Buchanan one of the most interesting exhibits of its kind ever shown in this city, the "Chevrolet Truck Caravan," a patient showing the complete line of Chevrolet commercial cars and numerous special bodies, is due to arrive here May 13 at 11:45 a. m.

Under special police escort and accompanied by a brass band, the caravan, after parading the downtown streets, will halt at the Russell Chevrolet Sales Company, Main Street, where the various units of the parade will be open for inspection.
Fire engines, ambulances, buses, hearses, hydraulic hoists and many other interesting body mountings have been placed in the caravan through the cooperation of numerous special body manufacturers.
With a total of 40 units in the column, the first section of the parade will be made up of 16 six-cylinder trucks with Chevrolet-built bodies, immediately followed by the column of special body units. All of the Chevrolet-built bodies in the caravan are products of the new Chevrolet body plants at Indianapolis, a plant which was acquired from the Martin-Parry Body Corporation last October.

Heralding the advancing column as it enters the city, a special truck, equipped with bombs and a microphone attachment, will precede the parade through the streets.

For the convenience of those interested in the features of Chevrolet truck construction, a staff of factory experts will accompany the caravan to answer technical questions concerning constructional detail and uses of the various body types.

The caravan is the first of its kind in the history of the Chevrolet Motor Company. It left Fort Wayne on May 4th, and will be on the road approximately one month by the time it completes the tour of approximately 100 cities and towns which lie within this zone.

H. A. Hattenbach Installs Cash and Carry Ice Station

H. A. Hattenbach has installed a cash and carry ice plant at his fuel and ice emporium on South Oak Street. Customers may now get ice at their own time and convenience, as is possible at city plants.

OWNER OFFERS TRACT WOODS AT NOMINAL PRICE

Wishes Scenic Woods to be Preserved as Park
For Public.

Acquisition by the city of the beautiful wooded tract known as the Chamberlain Hills appears to be within the bounds of possibility as the result of an offer by Miss Eva Chamberlain which was made known by Mayor F. C. Hathaway at the May council meeting Monday night.

Miss Chamberlain, now the sole surviving heir to the Chamberlain estate, has offered the tract of twenty acres of virgin timber which crown the hill south of the city, for the nominal sum of $2,500 on easy terms. This offer represents an attempt on the part of Miss Chamberlain to realize a long-standing dream that the Chamberlain woods become a public park, the property of the city and as such be preserved for coming generations. She stated that she had refused offers of more money in the past, on account of unwilling-ness to see the tract pass into private hands for commercial purposes.

The property includes twenty acres covered with large maple, elm and oak trees, the largest surviving tract of virgin timber in the immediate vicinity of Buchanan.

Ronald Bolster Weds Niles Girl

The marriage of Ronald Bolster of Buchanan and Kathryn Lockard of Niles occurred at 5 p. m.
Sunday in Kalamazoo, the ceremony being performed by Rev.
Herbert Ryan, a high school classmate of the groom.

Frederic Smith of Buchanan was best man for the occasion and Miss Wilma Winkquist of Niles was the bridesmaid. After the ceremony, the wedding party drove to the South Bend Inn for dinner.

Mr. Bolster is very well known here, having been graduated from the Buchanan high school with the class of 1928. He is now employed in the Clark offices. He is the son of Mrs. Anna Bolster, 401 S.
Portage, at which place they will make their home.

The bride is a stenographer in the employ of the State Bank of Niles. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lockard, the former being city treasurer of Niles.

est was the presentation of a petition for the return of the bible to the public schools. The petition was signed by the officers of the organization and sent to Congressman Ketchum. Reports from the county convention at Eau Claire were made by Miss Mae Mills.
Mrs. Melinda Mills and Mrs. Henry Blodgett. Mrs. Lucy Ottwell was in charge of the program, which was on "Prohibition."

FREE MOVIE SHOWS FORD AUTO PLANT

Sound Motion Picture Feature of Exhibit Arranged by Local Dealer.

A sound motion picture graphically portraying the story of the Ford Motor Company and its widespread activities will be exhibited free of charge in a special Ford exhibit to be held at the Montague Motor Co., Buchanan, Mich., beginning May 11, and continuing through May 12. The show will be open to the public from 9:00 a. m. to 10:30 p. m. sound motion pictures starting at 2:30 p. m. and 7:30 p. m. each day of the show.

The picture, entitled "A Tour Thru the Ford Factory," will show the gathering of raw materials, their arrival at the Rouge Plant in Dearborn, Mich., and the numerous interesting stages through which they pass in the process of making Ford cars and trucks. It is, in short, an education in the extent and meaning of modern volume production.

While an unseen voice explains each scene, the audience is taken on a tour of the plant, through the great blast furnace building where the steel ingots are made into bars; and into the rolling mill in which the long bars of white hot steel are reduced to definite sizes.
Forty kinds of steel, each of a composition to serve a definite purpose, are used in the Ford car and truck.

The picture shows also the manufacture of glass in an endless usage of the process developed by Ford engineers; the machine shops in which parts for the car are manufactured; the pressed steel building with its gigantic presses; and the coke ovens and other units in which by-products are recovered to the extent of millions of dollars annually.

Throughout the picture one sees literally miles and miles of conveyors which take much of the manual labor off the backs of men. There are conveyors carrying newly arrived materials into the plant, others taking parts from one building to another, and, of course, the final assembly line, that famous conveyor on which the parts are put together to form the completed car.

In addition to the picture, there will be a representative line of Ford cars and trucks and display boards containing car and truck parts.
The cars alone are well worth a visit to the show for they include body types to suit any taste and to meet any occasion. Particularly attractive are the deluxe cars in which upholstery appointments are of a kind and quality usually found only in more expensive automobiles.
All the body types are featured by the Ford's new beauty of line and color. The deep radiator, the wide, generous fenders, and the graceful sweeping lines of the bodies contribute to a pleasing whole. The cars may be obtained in a variety of color combinations.

M-60 BUILDERS INSTALL CEMENT PLANT THIS WEEK

Will Try Water Jetties to Wash Muck from Under Dayton Fill.

Grade construction from the Ira House farm to the Ballard hill on the new M-60 route is being completed this week and a concrete mixing plant installed at the siding on the Ira House place a mile and a half south of the Orchard Hills golf course, preliminary to laying pavement from the Niles end of the route.

As soon as the concrete mixing plant is built work will begin on the laying of the industrial railway to the eastern terminal of the construction.

Matters have been complicated at Dayton by the failure of the fills from which the muck was dynamited last year to properly settle. The dynamite blasts failed to blow all of the muck from under the fills and it is now proposed to use a water jetty method, sinking pipes to the level of the muck layer and then filling the muck with a water content so that it will ooze from under the fill.

Deb's Island Plowed Sunday By Man Power

Plowing operations by man power on Deb's Island created considerable interest Sunday, the said plowing being done by Messrs. Deb and Loren Voorhees and Marlin Kean by the use of a catspaw. Deb Voorhees is now making his home on the island and is plowing the ground and putting it under cultivation for the first time.

Since there is no means of transporting horses to the island other than by swimming, a catspaw was dug up and connected with a 12-inch plow by a long rope. Deb Voorhees held the plow handles and Messrs. Loren Voorhees and Kean operated the catspaw. While plowing progress was very slow, the operators managed to do a fine job of eight-inch plowing, more even than would have been possible with horses. Voorhees is also bringing an apple orchard into production.

chanan high school last year, was proficiency at the University of Michigan this year. Richard is a freshman in the College of Literature. He was recently made eligible for membership to the national fraternity of honor students in chemistry. He is specializing in mathematics and chemistry. He was valedictorian of the class of 1930 at the Buchanan high school.

MERCHANTS JOIN IN SPECTACULAR SELLING EFFORT

Record Will Carry Thrift Gospel to 20,000
This Week.

The columns of this issue of the Record carry the tidings of the greatest co-operative sale staged by the merchants of Buchanan in many years, to begin Monday, May 11, and last until Saturday, May 16, during which period prices c all commodities sold in local store will touch the lowest price poin known here since the days wa-back "befo' de wah."

Those who read the advertisements in this issue and verify them at the stores will realize that the full effect of price liquidation resulting from the depression of the past year and a half are illustrated in this sale, and that if price liquidation is any indication of the return of prosperity, the long-looked-for "corner" is in plain sight.

It is no exaggeration to state that many more merchants are cooperating in this offering than in any similar event in many years.
This is not any mere "dollar day" sale.

It is a real endeavor on the part of local business men to prove the advantages of trading in Buchanan by the only arguments that can go across in these days—the argument of better goods for less money.

The sales include every essential of living. If thrift means wise spending rather than unwise saving, then now is the time to spend.
The merchants of Buchanan are asking no favors of the buying public in this sale. They are not raising any plea of "loyalty to home institutions." They are merely asking the public to give them a fair trial on the basis of value for money paid.

A dollar will do more in Buchanan next week than it has done for a good many years. If you have been waiting for lower prices to let go of your money, look over the advertisements and then go to the stores and look over the goods and see if there is not sufficient reason for loosening up on the purse strings.

Clarence Dunbar Named Motor Cop For Seventh Year

Clarence Dunbar, deputy sheriff from the Buchanan district, will again serve as a county motorcycle officer this summer according to an announcement made last week by Sheriff Fred Cutler. He has been a regular motorcycle officer for the past seven years.
William Kalin of Benton Harbor was also named as motorcycle officer and a third is to be named soon.

Francis Hiller is Made Proctor Harvard Library

Francis Hiller has received an appointment to the post of proctor of the Harvard University library for next year, the position carrying a salary of $250. The position merely calls for attendance at the library at certain hours to see that the rules of study are enforced. Since Hiller will spend next year composing his thesis, the duties will not conflict with his work. He had already received one of the Thayer scholarships, carrying $550 in cash. He will spend part of the summer in Europe.

Orchard Hills Formally Opened in Bogie Tournay

The season was formally opened at the Orchard Hills Golf Course Sunday with a blind bogie tournament for the membership. First place was won by George Deming, Jr., and second place by Lester Lyon, both of Buchanan. Third and fourth places were won by E.
M. Bigelow and A. W. Hudson of Niles. The course was in excellent condition and was pronounced by those playing as much better than at any time last year.

Why not treat yourself and family to a change of scenery without taking a trip? We make a specialty of "changing the scenery" inside houses—of decorating walls artistically. Just select the tints you want, and the particular finish. Then leave the rest to us. Our paint is washable for we do our interior work with Carter white-lead and flaking oil.

Right now many home-owners show a preference for white-lead plastic paint—the kind that gives the fashionable low-relief effect. You want an estimate, don't you?

FORD BRAKES ARE UNUSUALLY EFFECTIVE

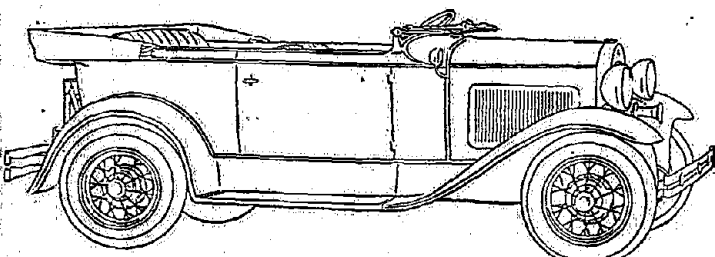

Reliability and safety due to simple design and careful construction

ONE OF the first things you will notice when you drive the Ford is the quick, effective action of its four-wheel brakes.

They are unusually safe and reliable because they are mechanical, internal expanding, with all braking surfaces fully enclosed. This prevents mud, water, sand, etc., from getting between the band and drum and interfering with brake action.

Other outstanding features of the Ford are the Triplex shatter-proof glass windshield, four Houdaille double-acting hydraulic shock absorbers, aluminum pistons, torque-tube drive, more than twenty ball and roller bearings, Rustless Steel, reliability, economy, and long life.

You save when you buy the Ford and you save every mile you drive.

Out a New Line
South of Galien

Patrons Should Aid
Rural Carriers by Fixing Mail Boxes

The Berrien County Record received a number of comments on the article which appeared on the front page of last week's issue regarding the mail service. We are sorry so many do not appreciate the mail service or realize what it means. Postmaster Dennison has been making trips on the rural routes the past week and finds many mail boxes in need of repair. Just a little oil on the hinges of some would help the carriers. If each one would inspect their box and do the necessary repairing, it would be much appreciated by the carriers and postmaster.

Acid Stomach Puts Many a Man Down

If excess acidity sours your food and causes suffering from indigestion, flatulency, coated-tongue, and bloating, you are bound to feel grouchy, run-down, nervous, and can't sleep well. I want you to quit suffering right now, so come in and get what I consider the greatest medicine I have ever found. It's only 60c and if it doesn't stop gas, pain, etc., in a few minutes and soon make your stomach feel like new, you get your money back. Just ask me for Dioxin. It's guaranteed.

ARE FAVORITES IN COUNTY MEET AT NILES MAY 11

James Eisenhart High Point Man for Locals; Morse Off Form.

Buchanan and Berrien Springs track teams, two of the leading contenders for the title in the county class C and D meet, engaged in a dual meet at Niles on Monday afternoon, with the result:

that the Bucks were awarded the role of the favorite to retain their county title. Berrien was defeated by a score of 64 1-2 to 48 1-2. Buchanan's team seemed better balanced, the Bucks taking a great number of second and third places even though losing out in firsts. Douglas, Graham and Wetzel did most of the work for Berrien, these three men gathering 41 of their team's 48 points. Buchanan's scoring was divided up but Eisenhart took a first and second, to place first in scoring with eight points. Louie Morse, usually the chief point-getter for the Bucks, was way off his form yesterday and failed even to place in the hundred yard dash. He came back, however, and scored an easy first in the low hurdles. Fred Dugan won both dashes by comfortable margins, besides staging a driving finish as anchor man of the relay team. The county meet will be held at Plym Park at Niles on Monday afternoon, May 11. Buchanan has won the event for the past three years, but will have stiff competition in getting the crown this year.

PROGRESS OF CLASS ROOMS DURING WEEK

Eva Haftenbach and Peggy Merrell, Winners in Music Contest.

The eighth grade had a spelling contest last Friday. The winners were Lillias Peacock and Junior Reinke.

The eighth grade English classes are studying simple, complex and compound sentences.

The eighth grade music memory contest came to a close Tuesday, April 28. Miss Eva Haftenbach, section two, and Miss Peggy Merrell, section one, were the winners of this contest. Misses Leona Kovich and Geneva Troutfetter, section one, tied for second place.

Miss Theo Olson has been taking the eighth grade music class periods for the purpose of lecturing on composers, motives for writing selections, and a short history or background of the pieces of music used.

The pupils have been working for the past two months on this material, endeavoring to learn the music selected, from any point. Victrola words of standard music were used. The pieces were memorized until the children could recognize them from any place they were played. It made no difference whether or not they were played from the start or the middle of the composition.

Tuesday was the final try and the boys and girls put forth their best efforts to obtain high marks. Three columns were ruled across their paper with the name of the piece, type, according to classical or popular, and composer. If the person making the record was of prominence he was also mentioned.

Hold Speech Day
The freshman English class finished studying "Julius Caesar" the last of last week.

Speech day was held on Friday and consisted of short talks discussing the various school activities, such as the student council, school clubs, etc. The speakers gave some very interesting talks.

In the English essentials tests, the freshman median for the final test was 86, an improvement of 25 points over the first test. This week the classes are studying the correct use of words.

Manual Arts Dept. Does Carpenter Work on Blossom Float

Members of the Buchanan high school manual arts department, under the general direction of Mr. Miller, are building the float to represent Buchanan in the blossom parade at St. Joseph and Benton Harbor, Saturday. The chair, in which the queen will ride, is in court style. There are steps leading from the chair down to the garden in which there is an arbor over a stone bench. The float during previous years, has been trimmed in Buchanan, but this year it will receive its trimming and finishing touches in Benton Harbor.

Grade News

3rd Grade, Miss Simmons
Our grade sold the most tickets for the operaette which entitles us to a prize. The prize is to be a book for our library. Miss Ekstrom's room and ours tied.

We are sorry to lose Maxine Fox, who moves to Hart, Mich. The children are making mats of burlap with colored borders woven in with yarn.

We are getting ready for the exhibition next week.

2nd Grade, Mrs. Heim
Our reading class is reading "The Story of the Tadpole." Oliver and Hosea Coultas brought us some frog eggs. We are watching their development with the greatest interest. A crippled frog was also found and brought in and we are trying to get it in condition to return to the creek. It seems to be improving with the care it receives.

Our drawing class is studying the wild flowers. We have had many lovely bouquets brought which have made our room very springlike.

NEW TROY SCHOOL NEWS

The Hon. Webster H. Pearce, superintendent of public instruction will be our commencement speaker this year. In order to obtain Mr. Pearce it was necessary to set our commencement date ahead to Wednesday evening, May 20th. Mr. Pearce is a very fine speaker and our school feels very fortunate to obtain his services. The annual rural school field meet sponsored by our high school athletic department will be held on Friday of this week. Fourteen rural schools in this and adjacent townships have been invited to participate in this event. At 8:30 p. m. on the day of the meet our eighth grade will meet the Riverside school for a baseball game. Our boys promise to give them a little more competition than they did last week.

Students Hear Historical Talk at Friday Assembly

"Footprints of the American Revolution," a talk sponsored by the United States history class, was the program given in the regular Friday morning assembly, May 1.

Your Mother goes or I go...this minute!

A husband's own true story of how his wife and his mother—living under a single roof—loving him with equal fierceness—succeeded only in dragging his soul through hell.

That day Ma broke a pitcher—trivial thing—a molehill that flared into a mountain. "Get out—out of my home, you worthless hag!" Flo screamed and swinging on me—"This roof's too small—she's got to go, Eddie—or out I go—this minute!"

"Stop," I roared. "You're cruel as a snake." Flo moved toward me—voluptuous arms circled my neck—"Me's sick," I struggled on, "No friends—no place to go—she'd die! Before you drive her out!" Flo's lips sought mine—"I'll see you—damn you—I'll see you—you..." Which woman did Eddie choose? His poor old widowed mother whom he loved, worshipped—or his beautiful wife whose embraces he craved like dope? You simply must read for yourself MY MOTHER AND MY WIFE—a helplessly husband's own true story of how his wife and mother—loving him with equal fierceness—dragged his soul through hell and how he finally solved this terrible domestic tangle, the like of which has wrecked a million homes. Read MY MOTHER AND MY WIFE and nearly a score of other astounding real-life stories—all in JUNE TRUE STORY MAGAZINE. Get your copy—read it today!

Lake Carriers Are Modernizing Freight Service

Although 1930 was the worst lake year in five, lake shipping continued to hold its position as one of the country's leading industries, with a record of 112,000,000 tons in bulk freight movement, according to the yearly report of the Lake Carriers' Association. It was the sixth successive year in which bulk freight passed 100,000,000 tons.

Coal cargoes proved the bright spot of the year on the lakes while the movement of iron ore and stone took the greatest drop. Shipments of coal by boat amounted to 38,000,000 tons, a drop of less than 4 per cent. On the other hand, ore totaled only 46,580,000 gross tons, a falling off of nearly 30 per cent from the preceding year.

The movement of stone, closely allied with ore, dropped proportionately. Grain cargoes provided, however, the most consistent two-year decline in the history of lake bulk freight.

The 1930 movement was 9,850,000 tons. Although this was only a drop of less than two per cent, it marked a slump of some 40 per cent from the peak movement of 1928. Due to the huge surpluses and low prices, the grain movement on the lakes in 1930 was the smallest in a decade.

The Great Lakes fleet of cargo carriers, consisting of bulk freight steamers, motorships, barges, oil tankers and package freighters at the beginning of 1931, numbered 332 vessels and, calculated on a basis of 19-foot draft for the upper lakes fleet and 14-foot draft for the old Welland Canal, they have aggregate capacity for moving 4,487,120 gross tons of cargo on a single trip. The upper lakes fleet engaged exclusively in the transportation of iron ore, coal and grain, consisted of 331 steamers and two motorships of United States registry and 48 steel steamers of Canadian registry. Combined they have capacity for moving 3,055,400 gross tons on a single trip.

It is interesting to note the very recent increase in the number of steel bulk freight barges on the Lakes. The Ford Motor company owns 11 such vessels, having converted shipping board steamers into barges. Ford has lengthened the majority of them 12 feet, making them each about 313 feet long with a capacity of 5,000 gross tons.

A Canadian operator built in 1930, the first unit of a fleet of grain barges for Lake Ontario. These would be capable of carrying 115,000 bushels of wheat on a draft of 14 feet.

Among the important additions to the lake bulk freight fleet last year was the 400-foot tanker, Eugene G. Seubert, operating on Lake Michigan for the Standard Oil Company of Indiana. This craft has a capacity of 2,100,000 gallons or 7,500 gross tons. Car ferries were built last year for the Wabash and the Canadian National Railways. The Windsor went in service at Detroit for the Wabash and a car ferry was placed in operation early this year on the Grand Trunk Canadian National route between Grand Haven and Milwaukee.

The two longest craft, both 600-footers, were launched last year by the Pittsburgh Steamship Company, placing the bulk freight fleet of this company at 15.

British ship yards delivered the two most modern freighters plying Great Lakes ports. One, the Thorold, carrying news print from Ontario to Chicago, is equipped with the most powerful Diesel engines ever installed in a vessel of Welland Canal size. It can carry 4,400 rolls of 3,000 tons of paper.

The other is the first self-unloading vessel of her type. The cargo of cement is delivered to the hold by pipes from shore.

The total number of seamen registered with the Lake Carriers' Association in 1930 was 25 per cent below 1929. The 1930 total was 19,415. The vessel membership of the Lake Carriers' Association at the beginning of 1931 consisted of 408 steel ships of 2,230,302 gross registered tons. The number of vessels is the smallest of any year since 1921, but, with the exception of 1927, the total registered tonnage is the largest in the history of the Association.

Univ. of Michigan Plans 2nd Session Alumni University

A second session of the "Alumni University", successfully inaugurated at the University of Michigan last year, will enable graduates to return to the campus for a series of lecture courses in a variety of subjects during the week of June 23 to 27, Wilford E. Shaw, Director of Alumni Relations announces. Special lectures for medical alumni and engineers will be given.

"These courses have been arranged for alumni and their wives or husbands in the conviction that many graduates wish to renew their contacts with the educational life of the University," states Mr. Shaw. Although the practice of providing a lecture session for the graduates of colleges is a novelty as yet in the field of adult education, the first Michigan alumni university met with enthusiastic commendation from over 30 alumni who attended. "Once, at least in my life I planned a vacation over which I had no regrets, during or after," wrote one alumnus of 1903.

For five days the alumni school ars will re-live their experiences, paying their tuition fees to Treasurer Robert Campbell, and listening to words of wisdom from the old and new professors. But in some respects they will have the advantage over the contemporary student, since most of the classes have been arranged for the morning hours, the privileges of local golf courses and other recreational facilities will be extended them for the afternoons, and a series of evening programs are also being prepared for their benefit.

Ten courses of five lectures each, covering a variety of subjects, has been arranged. Prof. O. J. Campbell will lecture on "The Modern Stage", Prof. D. H. Parker on "Contemporary Currents in Philosophy," Assistant Prof. Martha G. Colby on "The Psychology of the Pre-School Child," Prof. Emil Lorch on "Modern Architecture," Prof. R. C. Angell on "Contemporary Social Evolution," Prof. W. H. Hobbs, "Geology in the Landscape," Prof. Earl V. Moore on "The Symphonic Poem, a Study of this Art Form," Prof. I. L. Shafer on "Public Control of Industry," Prof. A. F. Shull on "Evolution in its Latest Interpretations," and Prof. T. H. Reed will discuss "Problems of Local Government."

Lectures by leaders in the chemical industry will feature meetings of the Society for the Promotion of Engineering Education, to be held while the Alumni University is in session. On June 18 and 19 a series of lectures and clinics will be held by the Medical School. These will be on diseases of the heart, and will be open to all graduates.

Chevrolet

has struck a popular new note in motor-car styling

Chevrolet's front-end ensemble is a fine example of the latest trend in modern design dent in the enthusiastic public reception of the car than its smart new style.

Fisher Body craftsmen, with their background of fine-car designing, have made this new Chevrolet an exceptionally attractive automobile.

Study it from any angle and you find it extremely pleasing. Look at it from the front and you are impressed by the modish ensemble of deep radiator, large headlamps and arched the bar—all gleaming in rich chromium plate. Viewed from the side, the long hood, low-slung body lines, sweeping fenders and massive wire wheels strikingly suggest the car's fleetness and power. And the appeal of Chevrolet's beauty is made more pronounced by the fact that all models are available in a variety of colors.

Interiors, too, are unusual in every way. The upholstery is carefully tailored. Seats are roomy, deeply cushioned and invitingly soft. And the interiors are tastefully appointed.

In fact, the new Chevrolet Six is such a thoroughly fine-looking automobile that it has become a very popular choice with every type of buyer. You find it not only the smart family car, but the smart personal car as well—a worthy companion to the expensive automobiles of the two- and three-car household.

An important factor in Chevrolet's smart appearance is the de Luxe wire wheels with forty steel spokes and massive chrome-plated hub caps

PRAJADHIPOK

A young and promising railroad, aviation and road construction man is traveling in the United States en route to Baltimore, where he expects to have an operation on one of his eyes. With him on his journey are: Item, his young wife, unquestionably pretty, well dressed and decidedly up-to-date; item, valets and servants who doubtless will confound the Pullman porters; item, several fine cameras; item, a bag of golf clubs.

He is traveling incognito, keeping his eyes open, and doubtless seizing every opportunity to converse with Americans. They in turn are surprised if they discover that their courteous traveling companion is none other than Prajadhipok, one of the few really absolute monarchs remaining on earth, king of Siam, ruler of the only independent Buddhist nation in the world, head of the extremely modern Royal Siamese railroads, head of the first-class Siamese air force whose famous Bangkok terminal is known to all the world flyers including our own. He is royal head of the Siamese Boy Scouts, or Wild Tiger corps. He is an intense admirer of the United States, a fact at once visible to travelers in Siam who can find American influences everywhere.

It is probably idle to speculate upon the fate of kings if more of them had been of the type of this young Asiatic monarch, competent, progressive, modest, always willing to learn. A hundred years ago the United States concluded with Siam the first treaty it ever made with an Asiatic nation. It has found Bangkok governments and rulers steadily friendly throughout the intervening century, and usually trying to improve their country. As a result today Siam is something of a wonder among Asiatic nations, with modern railroads, many local airports, a foreign trade nearing $200,000,000 annually, and good postal, telegraphic and telephonic services.

Incidentally Siam by treaty is one Asiatic country which has rid itself of extraterritoriality, proving that foreigners can obtain justice in Siam's own courts. In all this progress Prajadhipok and his older brother, the late King Rama VI, have called upon Americans both as educational and financial advisers. The king himself is making his second visit to the United States. He is the sort of monarch we can welcome heartily, despite our democracy.

This Jazzy Age.

This is called the age of jazz. People are said to be looking for incessant excitement, so that they have no time for quiet rest and thought, for family life and simple diversions.

Ten noisy folks of course, make themselves more conspicuous than 100 quiet ones. Many millions of people are too tired at night for any jazz doings. But the jazz spirit reaches out to most places. Even in many country towns, there are constantly card parties, church suppers, society doings, etc., so that it is hard to find a free evening. And many people everywhere cherish the illusion that they can rest up from a hard day's work by constantly sitting up late at night.

Formerly in this nice spring weather, the people were out grubbing in the gardens in which colorful flowers and juicy vegetables would soon flourish. Now many of these same folks are joy-riding, while the garden has grown up into a weed nursery.

People used to sit out quietly on their porches on summer evenings, exchanging the news about Mr. Smith's housepainting job and Mrs. Jones' new automobile, or listening to the melodies of the songbirds. In many towns now, the houses are mostly built without porches, as people have no time for sitting around.

At least the jazz age keeps people awake. They no longer go to bed when it is dark under the table. It keeps them keenly alive to improve their own opportunities, and they are interested in home town progress.

But human nature needs much quiet rest. Every other evening at home would be a fine motto for many folks in Buchanan.

The simple diversions, gardening, home music, the nice new radio, repair the wastes of toil. Let us not push modern life so fast, that the doctor has to exceed the speed limit hurrying to relieve us from acute nervous prostration.

A Religious Tragedy

Halley's Bluffs, Missouri, couldn't trust itself to attend its little log church. It didn't know whether the cash to pay a fixed stipend to any preacher would be forthcoming. So it put up a good smart business proposition to Rev. J. A. Brown.

It told him that he could have seventy-five per cent of the collection for as long as he stayed. That seemed fair enough. Keep the flock interested and raise your own pay. Let the flock drift and suffer for it out of your own pocket. A straight out scheme of pay-as-you-go, on a strict efficiency basis. But Rev. J. A. Brown was a man nearing seventy, raised in the old gospel. His methods, if sound, were anything but sensational. A Kansas City evangelist descended upon Halley's Bluffs one day and told the folks what they were missing—advocated an up-and-at-tem, go-getter church with an orchestra and a children's choir and the sort of revivalism that rounded up the back-sliders, made converts—and incidentally contributions. Rev. J. A. Brown couldn't see it that way, but the congregation could and did. He went out and the revivalist came in.

The upshot has been a quarrel, delirious jealousy on the part of the old minister, death of the smart modern evangelist by gun wounds. There is something very American about the tragedy, something entirely convincing in the regrets of the dying evangelist that so much had feeling remained in the community he had disrupted, something quite real in the tired exclamation of the old pastor that he wished he, too, were dead. Both were victims of a mistaken economic basis of Christianity. Religion still is sold, here and there, as a commodity.

Sometimes it isn't as simple and flagrant as in Halley's Bluffs. But whenever religion is put on a "business basis" and the sweetness and light of worship are sacrificed for blare and bustle and high-pressure salesmanship, as though God were to be promoted like a doubtful stock, the inquiry is natural as to what is the true motive and ambition behind all the activity. If the returns in the collection box are the real reason for increasing the attendance, it is hard to blame those who wonder whether religion has anything to do with such a church, after all. Certainly the right spirit did not result at Halley's Bluffs.

COPYRIGHT VS. RADIO

One of the most amusing lawsuits of the year is being argued before the United States supreme court on the amazing issue of whether a person using a radio in public entertainment of any sort must pay the person who copyrighted the music coming in over the radio.

In defense of a Kansas City hotel which placed receiving sets in its rooms, the argument is that it would be impossible for anybody to sit at a receiving set and turn it off whenever a copyrighted selection came in. Furthermore it would be impossible to know the terms of the copyright in advance on such music as was about to be broadcast. The music folk apparently are demanding, not only that they get their fee on sheet music purchased, on orchestra renditions, concerts, phonograph records and original broadcasts, but even on the receiving of a broadcast if it is turned to any public use.

It is a simple matter for the person who writes a book or has a scenario made from the book to obtain his royalty on practically every sale and commercial use. But even if the law undertook the ridiculously onerous job of forcing royalty payments on radio receiving, it could not possibly reach more than a negligible percentage of cases, and would be the highly unpopular sort of law which is necessarily enforced on only the few instead of being impartial.

Granting the rights of composers, the more important fact seems to be that they are engaged in an industry prevented by its very nature from collecting on its full use. Common sense would urge a restriction of the attempt to something less than the measures sought in court. If upheld, the only result would be to destroy public use of radio. No user could afford to make himself responsible for royalties he had no means of knowing in advance.

Slang.

It now appears that the younger generation and the movie magnates cannot be entirely blamed for American slang expressions and quaint phraseology. Writing in the Forum and Century, George F. Weilberk declares that some of the modern expressions first saw the light of day in Merrie England as long ago as four hundred years. Thus, when some young flapper cracks out with "burn my clothes, don't shoot her; be calm," the expression is not original with the younger generation, being something more than a hundred and eleven years old.

The word "racket," it appears, was used to describe types of fraud and robbery as early as 1753; "guy" is a word more than 400 years old; a "regular guy" was known as long ago as 1806, while the expression "mammy" was first released for public consumption, and discomfort, in 1560. "Beat it," predecessor to our exotic modern word, "scram" was recorded in 1691, being used in a sentence noting that "They all beat it on the hoof to London." Apparently poor grammar is nothing really modern, either.

Into the Flame.

Twenty-four thousand girls, says a news item, disappear in New York city each year. Large numbers drop out of sight in other great cities. Many of them leave no more trace behind than the stone you drop into the lake.

Many of these youngsters had some pleasing little gift as actresses, dancers, artists, or musicians. They dreamed the great city would open up chances for their talent. They find the public a capricious master, often a cruel one.

Many of them had quarreled with their parents. "I want to live my own life," they said. They went where they thought they could do it, confident of ability to earn a living. The moths always flutter around the flame. Many wings are singed.

The parents of America are not on their job when so many of their young, people break away from home ties without good reason. Or the community may be to blame, for failure to maintain social institutions that will keep young folks interested in their home town life.

Too many men in this world want to make hay in February and cut ice in August. Some of us seem to spend all our lives trying to fix the blame on the other fellow.

Study Thousand Stomachs to Learn Food of Wild Life

With the stomachs of hundreds of animals examined, the School of Forestry and Conservation of the University of Michigan is beginning to discover exactly what predators eat.

A report given to the Department of Conservation shows that the investigation so far has resulted in the examination of 27 weasel stomachs, 238 mink, 500 raccoon, 500 fox and 790 skunk, and while these figures are too small to reveal any conclusive evidence, some interesting facts have been learned.

The methods of obtaining information have consisted in collecting droppings of animals during spring, summer and early fall, and during the trapping season, and examining the stomach contents of animals killed by fur gatherers.

About half of the fox specimens examined contained berries. The skunk lived mostly on insects and the diet of the weasels consisted largely of mice.

Most of the weasels had fed on mice, a few had eaten shrews. A sixth had eaten rabbits and a tenth had eaten small birds.

Crayfish are a favorite food of mink. They made up most of the diet during July and August and were eaten more or less at all times of the year. A few mice were taken, and numerous muskrats were killed by mink in the winter. Other mammals, found less commonly in the mink's bill of fare, are red squirrels, rabbits, moles and shrews. Birds appear in considerable variety, although their total percentage is very small. Frogs and small fishes are taken throughout the year. Snakes and certain insects have appeared occasionally.

The summer food of raccoons consists mainly of crayfish, oaks, corn, cherries and other fruits. Other items on the raccoon's diet are rabbits, muskrats, mice, birds, birds' eggs, snails, frogs, turtles, insects, water snakes and clams.

The food items of the red fox, taken on Houghton and Higgins Lake State Forests, included 52 per cent berries, 38 per cent mammals, 6 per cent insects and 3 per cent birds.

Four-fifths of the skunk examinations showed insects. A half pint of grasshoppers were taken from one skunk killed in November. The next largest item to insects in the skunk's diet is fruit. Pheasant egg shells were found once in the 790 examinations.

It is hoped that this investigation of the diet of predators will be continued until the true economy of certain predatory animals in Michigan is revealed.

Experiments with Dry Food for Trout

Some dry food to replace for supplement fresh meat as food for the millions of fingerling trout annually raised by the state, and some effective method of artificial feeding for bass, are being sought by the Fish Division of the Department of Conservation at several of its hatcheries and rearing stations.

Refrigeration and transportation are big problems at some of the more isolated feeding stations and the use of a dry food, that would be suitable for trout would be desirable. Experiments are now being conducted with cat meal, clam meal, shrimp meal, fish meal, dried salmon eggs, dried meats such as horse flesh, horse livers and various other meat products. At least one season will be required to determine anything definite as to the effectiveness of these materials. However, early reports indicate that some progress is being made.

The usual food for trout in the past has been beef and sheep liver, beef hearts and other fresh meats. It costs between $25,000 and $30,000 a year to feed the present production of fingerlings before they are ready for planting in the lakes and streams. Most of this money has been spent for sheep liver, almost an exclusive food for fingerling trout while they are being reared in the feeding stations scattered about the state.

As a rule the trout fry's first artificial food consists of very finely ground beef or sheep liver. Milk is added in raw or powdered form in some cases.

At the feeding stations, sheep liver forms the sole diet of the trout. The fish are fed regularly from three to six times a day. According to feeding station attendants, the trout become so accustomed to the feeding schedule that they school up around the feeding places at feeding time.

The rearing of black bass offers an entirely different problem than trout, so far as artificial food is concerned.

The usual procedure is to allow the rearing pond to produce sufficient organisms to provide food for the fish. The ponds are fertilized and carefully watched.

No more fish are placed in the ponds than the natural food produced in the ponds can support. Over crowding offers a grave danger since it is possible for the fish to deplete the food supply so much as to be forced to revert to cannibalism.

Recent experiments conducted at the Lyndell Hatchery indicate that there is a possibility of confining bass in small ponds and feeding them finely ground beef heart after they have been brought to a reasonable size by feeding small organisms, commonly called daphnia. The daphnia is raised in specially constructed ponds. These experiments have not progressed far enough to warrant any statement as to whether it will form an economical plan.

For many years it was considered impossible to put bass on an artificial diet because of the fishes natural preference for living organisms for food and their natural shyness. Constant feeding and much patience on the part of the attendant is essential to any degree of success in this work. Days are required to induce the fish to take artificial food.

The artificial feeding of bluegills offers a more simple problem. Like black bass, bluegills spend the first few weeks of their active feeding period, living upon organisms which the ponds produce. After reaching a more advanced size it is comparatively easy to induce them to eat finely ground dry clam meats which are obtained from clammers in connection with taking mussels for shells. These fish continue to take this food until late in the fall when they are transferred to the lakes. In some cases it has been found that finely ground raw meats may be fed to bluegills with success.

Spring Drouth Cause of Early Forest Flames

About four times as many forest fires have raged over northern Michigan so far this year, than had been reported up to May 1, 1930, and more than that proportion of acres have been burned over.

The Forest Fire Division of the Department of Conservation, is using comparative figures to show the seriousness of the present forest fire situation in the state, said that approximately 400 fires have been reported so far this season in the upper and lower peninsulas of Michigan. It was estimated that more than 10,000 acres have been burned over.

May 1, 1930, the Division had reported 117 fires for the season with 2,839 acres burned over.

The heaviest loss has occurred in Dickinson, Iron and Menominee counties. One fire in this section of the state burned over more than 2,000 acres before it could be placed under control.

With no prospects of any radical changes in fire hazard conditions, the continued increase in fire losses is all that may be expected according to the Forest Fire Division.

Hairs on Woman's Head

How many hairs are there on a woman's head? Age, color of hair, health and idiosyncrasy must be considered. A blond usually has from 140,000 to 150,000 hairs on her head, a brunette from 100,000 to 110,000, while a red-haired person's hairs usually number under 100,000. —Washington Star.

The Railroads and the Trucks

The propaganda of the railroad lines for restriction of the right of motor passenger carriers and freight trucks on the public highways has gotten down now to two principal claims. One of these is that the rails pay plenty of taxes on their railroad rights of way, which are of great value, and that the trucks and buses do not contribute to the construction of the paved roads which they occupy. It is rather too early for the railroads to be setting high cost value on their rights of way, because most of them were gifts from government or from private individuals, and were usually accompanied by land grants of value sufficient to have built the original roads. The other complaint is that the use of the highways by the trucks gives them inordinate wear. The obvious answer to this statement is that if the highways are not sound enough and strong enough to bear the burdens to which the public desires to submit them, they should be built so, as experiences with them develops that they should have added strength. The highway system cannot remain all useful.

Century Plans World's Largest Air Line Service

Airplane service linking Detroit, Toledo, Cleveland, Chicago, St. Louis and Springfield, Ill., was started March 23 by the Century Airlines, Inc. Manning, vice president and general manager, announced that hourly service between these cities will be established in June. The Detroit branch office of the line is at the Consolidated Air Travel Ticket Office, 139 Bagley Avenue, Detroit. Detroit Municipal Airport is being used.

The main offices of the company are at Chicago where a large hangar and terminal is to be erected at the Municipal Airport. When completed, it will not only house the general headquarters of the company but will provide complete ship service for this area.

This first unit of the company is intended to be the beginning of the largest air transportation system in the world, and when the program is completed a huge network of airlines will extend all over the Middle West and South.

Fares comparable with rail tariffs were announced by the Century Airlines for the first unit of its lines. The fares are: Chicago to Toledo, $6.15; Cleveland to Detroit, $8.95; Cleveland to Chicago, $15.95; Cleveland to Springfield, $25.90; Cleveland to St. Louis, $29.90; Detroit to Toledo, $4.50; Detroit to Chicago, $13.45; Detroit to Springfield, $23.40; Detroit to St. Louis, $27.40; Toledo to Chicago, $12.10; Toledo to Springfield, $22.05; Toledo to St. Louis, $26.05; Chicago to Springfield, $9.95; Chicago to St. Louis, $13.95, and Springfield to St. Louis, $5.35.

A 10 per cent reduction is given by the company on all round trip tickets and special communication fares are offered. Ten rides will be obtainable between Toledo and Detroit at $27.50. Twenty-five pounds of baggage is carried free on each ticket.

The planes used in the new transportation system are the latest type tri-motored Stinsons, manufactured at Wayne, Mich., similar to those used with pronounced success by the Luddington Lines between New York, Washington and Philadelphia, but additionally refined. They carry ten passengers and pilot, comfortably. They have a cruising speed of 120 miles an hour.

The planes have been acoustically shielded against outside noises, and passengers can converse while in flight in an ordinary tone. Individual reading lights, rugs on the floor, and the entire finish of the plane of the type found in the highest price motor cars, make them as rich in appointment as the finest motor car or Pullman train. The planes are completely equipped with the latest control devices, radio, and large especially comfortable chairs, leather upholstered are provided.

In order to accelerate time schedules between flying field and downtown districts, high speed bus service will be incorporated by the new line. Modern buses will collect the passengers from the metropolitan districts in each of the cities and deliver them to the airport. The planes landing at destinations will be met on arrival by similar buses.

Violators of Game Law Pay $2,000 in Month March

Fines and court costs amounting to $2,120.93 were paid by conservation law violators in Michigan during the month of March. The total number of convictions for the month, 125, represented one of the lowest monthly figures for the year. The number is 34 less than the figure for March, 1930, when 159 convictions were reported by the Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Conservation.

In addition to paying fines, violators served a total of 690 days in jail. One juvenile case was reported.

A wide variety of conservation laws were broken, according to the report, ranging from resisting arrest to killing deer out of season. The illegal use of nets, using gill nets in streams, using nets in closed areas and the illegal possession of certain fish nets, resulted in the convictions of 15 men during March.

Among the other conservation laws for which numerous arrests resulted were: spearing or trying to spear trout, 8 convictions; the illegal possession of venison and killing deer out of season, 8 convictions; carrying firearms in closed game areas without permits, 9 convictions; possession of muskrat pelts and trapping muskrats out of season, 6 convictions; attempting to trap, trapping and possession of beaver during the closed season, 7 convictions.

The most severe penalty inflicted on any of the conservation law violators were received by Michael and Robert Loshaw, Marquette County. These two men were sentenced to pay fines and costs amounting to $112.45 each and each was sentenced to serve 90 days in the Marquette county jail when they were convicted of possessing beaver hides during the closed season.

Another severe penalty was inflicted on Boyd Zelter, Hillsdale county, convicted of the illegal possession of a gill net. In addition to paying a fine with costs, amounting to $109.60, Zelter lost his net and a boat through confiscation.

Leonard Kratochvil, of Antrim county, was placed on probation for six months because he was found driving an automobile containing illegal fishing equipment. Clarence Earl, Livingston county, convicted of commercializing minnows without a license from the state, paid $17.50 in court.

Jail sentences of 30 days each were served by Clarence Fletcher and Caylor Boyers, Schoolcraft county, convicted of the illegal possession of beaver hides. Shooting a pheasant out of season cost Clarence Wilmore, Macomb County, a jail sentence of 60 days, and Herman Johnson, Iron county, was given a similar sentence when he was convicted of setting snares to catch deer out of season.

While one juvenile is listed for the month as having been arrested for a conservation law violation, the Law Enforcement Division said commenting on the report, it does not represent all of the juvenile cases that have come to the attention of the conservation officers.

Each month large numbers of juvenile cases are reported, but in practically all instances actual arrests are not made. Conservation officers attempt to convert such boys into conservationists. If these warnings again fail to have any effect, the last resort, the juvenile court, is appealed to. Such action is not generally necessary. Less than ten youths of the juvenile class were taken into court during the entire year 1930.

Mich. Game Fish Are Menaced by Misuse of Spears

The game fish population of Michigan's streams is being seriously menaced by persons permitted to use spears on certain streams of the state at this time of the year.

Unless more observance of the law is noticeable before the end of May when the spearing season ends, the effects of this year's plants of game fish will be considerably lessened because of the fish illegally taken by spears. The situation is all the more acute because game fish are being taken prior to their spawning period.

The Law Enforcement Division of the Department of Conservation, reporting the situation, said that its field force is experiencing difficulty in adequately enforcing the spearing law.

Because of the excessive violations, it has been necessary to place every available man along the streams to prevent violations, the Division reported. Several district officers have asked for more assistance, saying that trout, bass and bluegills and other game fish are being speared by the hundreds and every day finds these game fish floating down stream, killed by spears. One officer reported finding from three to nine speared rainbows floating down the AuSable River every morning.

The temptation to take trout and other game fish, as well as non-game fish by men permitted to use spears on non-trout streams has grown enormously since the last spearing season, it was said. There are many more men spearing fish this year than last. The water levels of most streams are so low that the fish are easily taken, aggravating the situation. Spearing has not been confined to non-trout streams during April and May as permitted under statute, but has been extended to trout streams and inland lakes, according to the divisional reports. Large numbers of black bass and bluegills have been taken.

Several arrests have been made for spearing in trout streams, closed to all fishing until May 1. While the average man arrested for spearing trout has but a few of these fish in his possession, a few cases have been uncovered in which large numbers of trout have been taken illegally.

Recently two Cadillac men were convicted of spearing rainbow trout. Three hundred pounds of trout were taken by them from the Little Manistee River near Peacock. Three men were convicted of taking 360 pounds of rainbow trout from the same river. The fish averaged nine to ten pounds each.

Several reports have been received by the Department from Detroit that rainbow trout, which had been brought down from the north, had been offered for sale there. The reports were received too late to apprehend the violators.

Spearing in non-trout rivers and streams, with or without the use of artificial light, is permitted by law until May 31, for the taking of non-game fish, including bullheads, carp, catfish, cisco, dogfish, gar, fish, mullet, pilotfish, redhorse, sheepshead, smelt, suckers and whitefish. During the month of May, more men with spears will line up along non-trout streams as Pike (great northern, grass or pickerel) may be taken then.

Michigan State Parks Will Open Officially May 15

Michigan's state parks will open officially May 15, two weeks earlier than in former years, it was announced by the Parks Division of the Conservation Department. Decision to open the parks earlier this season came as a result of the advanced spring and the large number of people who have already visited the parks.

It is possible that some of the parks will not be re-opened this year, but no definite decision has been made.

Dr. C. P. Hansen

Dentist

A visit to the dentist can be anything but pleasant but a visit to Dr. C. P. Hansen, who employs every method known to dental science, the horror of the dental chair is almost forgotten.

Dr. Hansen has practiced dentistry in Niles continuously for over 45 years and has experienced many changes and improvements in the dental art. The greatest discovery the doctor thinks is the "Condensite" artificial plate, known as "Heckolite," "Porcelite,"

For over 60 years the rubber plate was the only plate available. This pink transparent plate is so much superior to rubber that the doctor has equipped his laboratory especially for the manufacture of this plate. This saves time and expense of sending out of town and also saving about one-third the cost to the patient.

The doctor will discontinue the making of the old rubber plate after his stock of rubber plate material is gone and is making them at one half the usual price as long as they last.

Niles Upholstering Co.

Expert Repair Service

Located at 223 N. Second Street, is the Niles Upholstering Co. Too much cannot be said for this fine shop that is able to take care of any size job. There is no job too large nor is there a job too small to be brought to this shop.

Equipped in a most modern manner and offering everything new for spring, this fine shop makes a real bid for the business of this community.

Mr. Stong, the manager, has been in the upholstery business for many years and, like every man knows how to do a job in a masterly manner, Mr. Stong does. He will be glad to consult with you whenever there is the least doubt as to whether the piece can be done properly. Then too, as to color harmony and blending, Mr. Stong will be only too glad to offer his assistance.

With spring already here and the house recovering from winter's cold and rigors, we suggest that the old pieces that look so shabby be taken to the Niles Upholstering Co., and add that final touch of loveliness to your home. Nothing brightens the home like newly upholstered furniture done in spring colors—at prices that are astoundingly too low to embody such workmanship and such material.

Moskins' Liberal Credit Clothing Store

Their New York buyers bring the latest Parisian fashions to this store far in advance of the ordinary stocks. This service explains the fact that despite the general depression, their sales for the past month remain comparatively high.

McLellan Stores Co.

Quality and Economy

The McLellan Stores Co., conveniently located at 109 E. Main is an establishment that is popular for several reasons.

The McLellan Stores Co., provides high quality merchandise for this entire section at prices that are taken care of nicely with your small change.

Another factor in the steady growth of this store is found in its established reputation for courteous, efficient service and honest value in each article of stock. This age of specialization has in many ways improved merchandising conditions. In the days of the general store, the merchant's only course was to stock a little of everything, and for that reason he was forced to buy in small quantities and pay retail prices for his purchase. McLellan Stores Co., bears the appearance of having just about everything in stock, but you will find an economy that is startling and a quality that is evident in every item. The low prices are made possible by the process of concentrating the buying on articles of everyday usefulness.

This institution is rendering a worthwhile service to the community and we take pleasure in complimenting the manager upon his efficiency and public spirited policies.
