W. E. Trimble, a Farmer Residing West of Buchanan, was Arrested Saturday by Deputy Sheriff Dunlap on charge of having altered a 1930 automobile license by dimming the last cipher and painting a "1" over it.

George Roe and Charles Peas left within a few minutes after the robbery for South Bend, where a checkup at police headquarters revealed that the car driven by the bandit had been rented from the U-Drive-A-Car Company, 233 West Washington Street, that morning.

He entered the cage behind Roe and drove him ahead of him, scooping up the bills on the fill with his left hand as he went.

"You touch a button and I'll kill you," he reiterated. At this point Miss Kathryn Allen entered, and was greeted by the bandit with a cordial, "Hello."

Not sensing anything amiss, Miss Allen backed to the door leading into the cashier's cage, where she was greeted by the bandit in a less courteous manner.

"This is a stick-up," he warned her, "You sit down on that chair and be quiet or I'll kill you!"

Alpha Mifflin of South Bend will drive one of the cars.

Lumber Dealers Launch Home Financing Concern

A new liberal mortgage plan designed to aid prospective home builders throughout the country has been developed by a group of lumber men and builders headed by A. J. Hager, Lansing, president of the National Retail Lumber Dealers' Association. Financial aid for the new nation-wide mortgage plan will be provided thru the new National Homes Finance Corporation recently formed in Chicago.

The plan is sponsored by the Associated Lumber and by Ames, Emerich and Company, Inc., international bankers. It is hoped that the new service can be afforded to home builders soon.

Organized, owned and operated by 200 leading retail lumbermen operating in 300 communities in 44 states, the corporation will extend its credit facilities through these dealers stockholders immediately; will add 500 more companies very soon; will ultimately serve several thousand American markets.

Proposes Park on Lake Mich. Shore Near Ludington

A proposed state park on the Lake Michigan shore in the vicinity of Ludington, sought for the past seven years, now seems near reality with the expenditure of $10,000 by the State Administrative Board for land acquisition.

The proposed park is at Grand Sable Point six miles from Ludington. To complete land purchases it will be necessary for people in Ludington and vicinity to raise another $10,000. When this is accomplished, a highway will be built from Ludington to Big Sable Point and the Parks Division of the Conservation Department will be ready to begin the building of improvements and to place the park under administration.

When all of the desired land is acquired the park will have about 2,800 acres. Recently the Mason County Board of Supervisors voted $4,000 for land purchases and promised $6,000 more.

When completed the state park at Big Sable will be one of the most beautiful and interesting in Michigan. It will have considerable frontage along Lake Michigan all of it having a fine beach. It will have frontage all along the west side of Hamlin Lake, a body of water including 3,800 acres and one of the finest fishing spots along the west side of the state.

It will have frontage along the Big Sable Point from lake to lake. In the area to be included in the park are some of the largest and most typical examples of Great Lakes sand dunes in the state.

A tract of virgin pine forest, about 250 acres in extent will be part of the park property. It is one of the few remaining virgin pine tracts in the southern peninsula.

Inauguration of a campaign to have this area converted into a state park was made in 1924 by several citizens of Ludington. Since that time P. J. Hoffmaster, superintendent of state parks; and C. E. Kistler, C. Lawrence Lind, H. T. Stolter, Bernard Ostendorf and others of Ludington, have been working continuously to bring the property within the ownership of the state.

Nearly all of the field officers of the Department of Conservation, including conservation officers, fire wardens, towermen, and game refuge keepers were today merged into the recently created Division of Field Operations. State Parks and State Forests are not as yet affected by the change.

The new organization changes radically the field force of the Conservation Department, with the expectation that operations may be carried on more efficiently and economically. The conservation commission, at its June meeting discontinued the divisions of law enforcement and of forest fire control and merged them together with the administration of game refuges into a division of field operations with Howard B. Sayre, former chief fire warden, in charge.

The reorganization is now in effect. Under the new system, the number of conservation districts in the state has been reduced to ten, eliminating much overhead administrative expense. Six of these districts are in the lower peninsula, and four in the upper peninsula.

Over each district, and responsible for practically all of the department's field activities in that area, is a district supervisor. Directly under him is an assistant supervisor and all conservation employees in the district except those on stations and forests.

The titles "fire warden," "towermen" and "refuge keeper" employees of the new division are now known as "conservation officers." Most of these officers have been assigned to special duties such as to game and fish law enforcement, fire detection work, fire control, game refuges and so forth.

An inspector will have general supervisory control in the upper peninsula and another inspector in the lower peninsula.

Although 1930 was a lean year economically, figures issued by the bureau of vital statistics of the State Health Department show that in the matter of lives saved from tuberculosis it was the best year Michigan has ever had.

A new all-time low level of 60.1 deaths per hundred thousand was reached, representing a decline of ten per cent from the 29 figure. 2,912 lives were taken by the disease in 1930, or approximately one hundred less than the average for the preceding five years.

While these figures are significantly encouraging in the proof they give of definite conquests in the war on tuberculosis, officials of the Michigan Tuberculosis Association warn against making them the basis for adopting, particularly at this time, a too complacent attitude toward the disease.

Many tuberculosis authorities fear loss of much of the ground gained in recent years when many people in each community are being put are fully felt," says the Association. "The optimists say that there may be only a slowing

100 Mile Auto Race at Kazoo Postponed a Week

The big auto race, 100 miles in distance scheduled for the mile track at Kalamazoo last Sunday will be held this coming Sunday, Aug. 2 and under conditions better than any race ever held here.

Twenty-four cars were on hand last Sunday when promoter Howell called off the race for the day believing that dust conditions would have resulted in many accidents with probable fatal results. The track surface for two inches had caked into a crust due to the heavy applications of water and the extremely hot sun and the racing cars in practice broke thru that crust and sent up clouds of dust. This was at noon and a large crowd was in prospect but all money was refunded and early this week 10 ton of calcium chloride was placed on the track surface to make it absolutely dustless.

Drivers say they have never been on a dynamite track such as Kalamazoo is at this time. True to advance notices six drivers who took part in or tried to qualify for the last Indianapolis race were on hand last Sunday. They'll all be back.

So, next Sunday, weather permitting, the big speedway battle will be held. Trials will start at 11 o'clock, the gates open at 3 in the morning and the race starts at 8 o'clock.

Seek Reopening of 44-Year-Old Monroe Oil Well

An interesting operation has been commenced in the petroleum bearing area of Monroe county, where a number of wells have been drilled for oil, some of them with good showings. In 1887 the owner of Senator Christiancy's old farm near Dundee, one Nygard, operated a stone quarry thereon, the limestone deposits being an outcrop of the Sibley quarry deposit which is worked by the Solvay Process company, at Trenton. This operation was coincident with the discovery of natural gas in Indiana, and Nygard conceived the idea that if he could get natural gas he could use it to burn his stone into commercial lime. So he put a hole down 2,100 feet, cased some of it with tubing and was rewarded with a good showing of petroleum, which overflows into his quarry basin. However, as this was before the days of gasoline demand and his petroleum was worth only 15 cents a barrel, Nygard registered his disappointment by plugging up his oil hole and letting the water in the quarry basin cover up its top.

Meantime the showing of the Nygard well led to other borings which have been made, where the usual vicissitudes of short money, losses of tools and the like have been experienced. Recently a group of explorers started to clean out the old Nygard well. To do so they must unwater the old stone quarry in which its plugged pipe is submerged, which will take a week or two. Then, if the old tubing is in condition they hope to reach Nygard's 44 years ago experience with petroleum.

Game Commission Amends Provisions For Open Seasons

The 1931 open prairie chicken hunting season will coincide with the Ruffed Grouse season. The Conservation Commission, acting on authority given it by the 1931 legislature has ordered an open season for prairie chicken to extend from October 15 to 26th, inclusive. These are the same dates set by the legislature for hunting Ruffed Grouse in the lower peninsula. During the coming fall prairie chicken hunting will be permitted only in the lower peninsula north of Wayne, Washtenaw, Jackson, and Van Buren Counties. The Commission ordered a closed season on Ruffed Grouse for the upper peninsula. The bag limits for partridge and prairie chicken remain the same for each species; five in one day, ten in possession at one time, and ten for the season. All of the seasonal dates and regulations for muskrats remain the same as last year, the commission deciding to retain the zone system. While the raccoon hunting and trapping regulations remain the same as in 1930, the season in which dogs may be trained on raccoon has been shortened, so that the training of dogs on raccoon is unlawful before October 2.

Old Time Sheriffs Would Have Given Al the Gate, Says Holmes

Editor Record,

How long, oh, how long is this country, the "land of the brave" and the home of the free, going to continue to tolerate the diodes of such chaps as Al Capone and his ilk pulled off in Benton Harbor last week? They seem to think there it is a nice thing to have happen in a town. I have something of a recollection of there having been a sheriff in that county named Joe Weimers, who, if he had been there at this time, Capone's show would not have been pulled, without some one being in jail and it would not have been so.

In looking into one of my books today, I found a circular, which may be of interest. It reads: "Cold Cash" Prices

5 gallons best water-white oil, 30c; 5 gallons deodorized gasoline, 40c; picnic ham, per pound, 4 1/2c; 5c sack salt, 2c; 3 lbs starch, 10c; good raisins, 1b., 3c; 12 lbs. oat meal, 25c; 2 sticks candy, 5c; 9 bars soap, 25c; 1 lb. good baking powder, 8c; and as much more of the same sort.

Signed, D. L. Boardman. Imprint: Woodworth, Progressive Printer.

Glad to have Mrs. Winch's account of Bakertown, under the name "Enterprise," a name I had forgotten, if I ever knew. While Brock he swung Mr. Ox off the ground while Hiram nailed the eight shoes on. How many of less than forty years, can describe the shoe used on an ox?

Chautauqua

More than half a century ago Chautauqua entered the arena of unusual endeavor. It was unique, Methodist, alluring. It touched the electric current of "sympathy of forces" in the twilight dawn of new achievements. Relentless nature's stubborn energies were being simplified or overcome. The circuit riders twenty miles no longer existed, the villages were new churches, new doctrines and movements, debates of theologians, each one pointing heavenward on a different angle, formented dissention. Chautauqua was heralded and sponsored by Methodists. Its scope was universal, its outlook, a wide horizon. Being Methodist, the age-old terror of "getting out of their sphere", the sisters effaced. They simply enlarged "the sphere" and made up circles of readers. The readings were easy and of human interest. Their books, Methodist, only on the outside, where "laborers worthy of their hire, shared material interest with the Order. After reading these instructive, interesting, many kinds of books in a four year course, one was entitled to a diploma signed by Bishop Vincent, head of C. L. S. C.

There were no wearisome examinations, but one must read every one of the prescribed books in the course. How that opened the flat pocketbooks. That was method—Methodism. The educational hand and the material hand exchanged courtesies. Success followed. After the close of the Civil war land crusaders had carried American civilization into the wilderness and across the plains, scattered homes all along the way, like leaves in autumnal winds. Here was abundant intellect, but it was still in the "knock-down", it needed assembling, upholstering. Chautauqua was a builder of many series of plans and contacts. Its coming was the transcendent hour of simplifying, amplifying, general, intelligent knowledge of books. Its great effectiveness began as a majority. The builders knew missions and methods. They knew, too, the mass intelligence, aspirations and deprivations of the common people. They met them on the level, bringing great group pleasures to many in the outland places. C. L. S. C. circles grew, like the proverbial bean stalk. At the chautauqua center in New York in 1887, seven hundred people passed through the "golden gate" and received a diploma from the hand of Bishop Vincent. Seven thousand persons that year—1887—received diplomas after finishing a four year regular course of reading. (This is the only year I remember the numbers.)

I have no personal interest in chautauqua or the Methodist church. Pleasant, interesting and instructive, the centers were where noted men, governors, senators, ministers, congressmen, scouts, and occasionally a woman spoke from the platform. The sociability of an "assembly" was a veritable love feast—that too, had its inspiration. Chautauqua seems to have blazed many trails thru a wilderness where the darkest time was just before day.

Michigan Wholesale Trade for 1929 was $2,174,000,000

Michigan is a $2,174,000,000 wholesale market, according to the 1930 census of distribution for 1929 of the Bureau of Census. The bureau's summary for 1929 shows Michigan with 5,273 wholesale establishments, doing an annual business of $2,174,202,745. This is 3.12 per cent of the national total and represents a volume of wholesale trade per 1,000 of population of $449,030, as compared with the national volume of $507,122 per 1,000.

The 1930 census of distribution figures show that the annual volume of trade in the United States through all wholesale types of establishments amounts to $69,628,448,061. This figure almost equals the gross value of manufactured products, is about six times the gross income from farm production and exceeds the volume of retail business by nearly $20,000,000,000. The difference between the volume of wholesale trade and the volume of retail business is accounted for by the fact that the volume of wholesale business includes exports made by wholesale establishments, sales to industrial consumers, and involves duplication in handling at various stages of the movement of goods from producers to retailers and to industrial consumers. The retail business, on the other hand, includes sales made to ultimate consumers only. The census figures show, however, that more than 50 per cent of the wholesale total is accounted for by the sales of whole sale merchants of the usual type.

The census figures show that there are 169,888 wholesale establishments of all kinds in the forty-eight states and the District of Columbia.

Galien Named For French Term for the Cock Pheasant

After waiting for some one qualified to write in the corner to answer the query by Mrs. Winch as to the origin of the name of Galien, the Record undertakes to pass on a suggestion made by George Fox, former curator of the Three Oaks museum. According to Fox the most reasonable explanation of the name is the fact that a word corresponding in sound to the name "Galien" represents the French name for the cock pheasant. The Galien woods were thronged with pheasants in the prehistoric days, and were a favorite hunting ground for the early French trappers and explorers. It is believed that these Frenchmen named the woods and river flowing through them "Galien" after the bird which they hunted there.

Michigan Gas Industry Makes A Rapid Growth

The development of natural gas resources in the Mt. Pleasant district of central Michigan now little more than a year old, is making rapid strides, despite a general industrial depression. Three fields have been opened up and a $350,000 pipe line 43 miles long, is now being constructed. Figures given by the Geological Survey Division of the Department of Conservation show the three fields in the Isabella-Clare district with 16 completed gas wells having an aggregate daily production capacity of approximately 49,000,000 cubic feet.

HARROW KILLS WEEDS BEFORE CROPS START

The easiest way and the cheapest method to destroy weeds in potato fields, according to the farm crops department at Michigan State College is to use a spike tooth harrow before the potatoes are up and a weeder until the plants are six to eight inches tall.

More ground can be covered with the harrow in a day than can be tilled with a cultivator, and the weeds are small and easily killed at the proper time for harrowing. The use of the harrow and a cultivator, if needed, smooths down the ridges which the planter leaves in the field, and the surface tillage helps retain moisture in the soil. The spike tooth harrow should be used as soon as the potatoes are planted and the use should be repeated at intervals of seven days until the potatoes are up. A weeder can then be used until the plants are six or eight inches high. Success with both these tools depends upon their use while the weeds are small and can be easily pulled.

The first cultivation with a cultivator should be close to the plants and fairly deep. In later use of this implement, only the surface soil should be stirred and the gangs should not come close to the plants. When the vines are one foot tall, most of the feeding roots in the plant are in the top six inches of soil and deep cultivations cut off these roots.

Cultivation should stop when the plants blossom and the tubers begin to form. Level cultivation should be practiced except that some soil may be thrown around the plants at the last cultivation.

The spike tooth harrow should be used as soon as the potatoes completed wells and one more is being drilled. This field now has an approximate daily capacity of 13,000,000 cubic feet.

The third field, seven miles northwest of Clare has four completed wells with a capacity of about 6,000,000 cubic feet of gas a day. Practically all of the wells in those fields run from 1,300 to 1,400 feet in depth.

For some time natural gas has been used on a small scale in Michigan. Short pipe lines run into Muskegon, but the supply is becoming exhausted. Other small wells have been producing near St. Clair, Manistee, Ashley and in the southeastern part of the state. However, the Isabella-Clare fields are the first large producers in Central Michigan and the pipe line being run into Midland represents the first large utilization of Michigan produced natural gas from that area.

There is every indication, according to the Geological Survey office that the three fields in the Isabella and Clare districts represent but a portion of the natural gas capabilities of that region.

The natural gas now being produced is of a high quality, having approximately twice the heating capacity of artificial gas.

Association Urges Bank Policy Changes

Michigan bankers at their recent annual convention adopted 13 resolutions, several of which have an important bearing on banking matters. Members of the Michigan Bankers Association were asked to accept the newly enacted bank shares tax law where the deductions allowed under the law have been granted properly by the assessor.

Another resolution adopted was that which read: "That the steady and continuing reduction of money rates and investment returns on capital require the banks of Michigan which have not already taken such action, to seriously and immediately consider the necessity for so reducing the interest rate upon time deposits that a maximum of 3 per cent be paid thereupon, and we commend the action of the state banking department and the comptroller of the currency for their efforts toward the accomplishment of this practice of sound banking. A third important resolution adopted was the following: "That the demand which is being made by state, county and municipal authorities for excessive interest for public funds deposited with banks is unreasonable, and the payment of same is not in accord with sound banking practices. We, therefore, urge our member bankers to resist these demands and agree to pay only such rates as are justified by the present money market which promises to prevail for some time to come, and we further direct that the secretary send a copy of this resolution to the governor of Michigan, the state administrative board, the state treasurer and the county authorities concerned. Other resolutions adopted related to the agitation for a diversion of the proceeds of the gas tax from the building and maintenance of roads to other purposes, which the association opposes and to the indiscriminate circulation of unfounded gossip concerning the conditions of banks in Michigan.

Contest Committee Choose Xmas Song For Farmers Day

The committee in charge of the choir singing contest which is to be held at Michigan State College, Farmers Day, July 31, apparently had faith in the power of suggestion, as the required number to be rendered by each choir is "A Joyous Christmas Song" by Geveart.

Whether the choice was made to suggest that better times are coming or that cooler breezes will sometime soothe fevered brows, the selection should prove popular with the audience which will hear the winning choir during the afternoon program. The choir will obtain cheer from the $100 check which will be given by the R. E. Olds Community Fund as first prize in the contest.

Any choir from a country church or from a village having a population of 2,000 or less is eligible to enter the contest. Two selections must be given by each choir. One of these is optional and the other must be the song by Geveart. Four prizes will be given. The leading choirs in last year's contest were Farmington, Walled Lake, Martin, Milford and Howard City. Representatives of the college music department will act as judges this year. Entries for the contest can be sent to the director of short courses at Michigan State college.

State Completes Erection of Big Trout Hatchery

The hatchery building at the new Wolf Lake Trout Station has been completed and the station will be ready to begin operations when trout eggs are received late next fall.

Contractors completed building during the first week of July. This included the hatchery building and the superintendent's residence. Men employed by the Fish Division of the Conservation Department installed the troughs and other hatchery equipment.

When the trout eggs are ready in the fall the Wolf Lake Station will be equipped with 240 troughs, 96 of them enclosed and 144 outside. These troughs will have a capacity of 10,000 trout each. It is expected that there will be space at the station for 238 additional troughs to be built sometime in the future when the demand and the finances permit.

The two-story frame hatchery building just completed at Wolf Lake is 86 by 96 feet. The 96 troughs are located on the first floor with storage and office space on the second floor.

Bass and bluegill rearing ponds at the site were first developed in 1928. Since that time the number of these ponds has been increasing. Last year the state purchased an additional 25 acres at the site protecting the water supply for the hatchery. When in full operation the Wolf Lake Station will be one of the largest and most modern and complete in the country.

With the opening of the Wolf Lake Hatchery next fall the temporary station at Hart will be abandoned by the Fish Division. The Hart Station, in Oceana county, was opened in 1927 to provide a temporary means for supplying brook trout for the feeding stations. In the future this work will be done at Wolf Lake.

15 Day Beaver Season in Eight Michigan Counties

Eight lower and eleven upper peninsula counties will be open to beaver trapping December 5, for a 15 day season.

Trappers will be limited to five beaver pelts or live animals. Beaver trapping will be lawful only through a special license to be sold by the Department of Conservation in counties open to trapping. Licenses will be issued only to residents of the state. The fee for a license will be $2 and a charge of $1.50 will be made for each beaver pelt taken when they are returned to the county seat for registration and sealing as required.

The beaver licenses to be issued this year will expire December 20, the last day of the season. On or before December 25, 1931, all beaver or beaver hides taking during the open season shall be presented to a conservation officer at the county seat where the license was issued. The officer will make a record of each animal and hide and will stamp the hide and mark every live beaver and will collect a fee of $1.50 for registering and stamping each hide and marking each beaver.

Under the license, live beaver may be taken during the season as well as pelts.

The Conservation Commission, in issuing an order opening a beaver season this fall, declared 19 counties open as follows:

Upper Peninsula: Chippewa, Mackinac, Luce, Schoolcraft, Alger, Delta, Menominee, Dickinson, Marquette, Iron and Gogebic.

Lower Peninsula: Alpena, Montmorency, Otsego, Antrim, Charlevoix, Cheboygan, Presque Isle and Emmet.

Within the counties to be open for beaver trapping, several areas will be considered as beaver refuge and signs will be posted forbidding beaver trapping. These areas are the state parks, game refuges, including the Cusino and Escanaba River tracts, and other areas closed to all trapping by Commission orders; all administered state forest lands known as the Superior, Mackinac, Alpena, Hardwood, Black Lake, Egeon river and Prosque Isle State Forests; and all National Forest Lands known as the Ottawa, Hiawatha, and Marquette National Forest. Rangers in the national forest included, probably will be given authority to enforce the beaver regulations in their particular areas.

The rules and regulations governing beaver trapping this year, as adopted by the Conservation Commission, are along the lines of the beaver bill passed by the legislature but vetoed by the governor.

At a recent auction sale in Berlin, letters written by Mary, the Queen of Scots, brought from $7 to $10 each.

Quick Change. A paper hanger had a telephone call recently at the noon hour. A feminine voice said: "Come over to my avenue as soon as you finish lunch. I would like to have you change the paper, as I'm having a bridge party at three o'clock. Bring some paper that will look well with my red hair."

Briefly Told. The work is never done while the power to work remains.

LOWELL, MICH., TO ENTERTAIN MANY GUESTS

Makes Plans for Thousands at 100th Anniversary on Aug. 6, 7, 8.

In 1831 a trader penetrated the tepee covered shores at the fork of the Grand and Flat rivers to establish a post. It was an ideal spot, affording river navigation to the then already settled communities. The settlement became a widely known trading post where the Indians bartered with the post and furs were the main objective. Then followed an influx of other settlers and in a short time a crude village of sod shanties and log cabins sprung up. Lowell was the name decided upon by the settlers for this spot, which, with the advent of the railway two score years later, waddled its way up from a well-known trading post to a hamlet where thrift and progress were the mottoes. With good transportation facilities on water and rail, good water power and determinate people the town became widely known for its progressive spirit. A hundred years have passed and on went that march of progress, first established by the pioneer.

Lowell has grown to an up-to-date community in that hundred years and this year will duly and elaborately celebrate this century of progress with pageantry, parades, carnivals, sports, barbecues, music and song, and cordially invites everyone to join in the merry-making, and an especial welcome awaits those who at one time or other called Lowell their home. Come to Lowell and celebrate on August 6, 7 and 8.

Fruit Enemies Live on Wild Pin Cherry

The common pin cherry which grows on Michigan out over lands is a natural host for the cherry fly whose depredations cost many thousands of dollars each year to the cherry growers of the state, and the entomology department of Michigan State College recommends that all pin cherries near orchards be destroyed.

The wild cherry is used by the fly as a place for egg laying and as the wild cherries are not harvested, the larvae of the fly have a chance to develop and grow to maturity. The host of insects which are produced on the wild cherries are then ready to move to orchards in the vicinity.

Michigan is the leading producer of sour cherries and the money from this crop is one of the principal sources of income in sections of the fruit belt. The cherry fly is one of the worst enemies of the crop and it must be controlled to secure marketable fruit. The fact that it can live and multiply on the pin cherry makes its control more difficult.

Warnings are sent out by the college entomology department of the proper time to spray tame cherries. These warnings are broadcast by every possible means because the time available for applying the spray is limited and it must be applied at the proper time to secure any benefit. The destruction of wild cherries and the application of sprays at the proper time will enable the cherry grower to produce first class fruit.

Most of the newspapers in the fruit belt print the warnings to spray cherries, the county agricultural agents know when the spray should be applied, and warnings are sent from the college radio station.

Nat. Convention Am. Legion Opens in Detroit Sept. 21

Registration of members of The American Legion who attend the National Convention in Detroit will be started some time before the convention opens Sept. 21, John C. Cowan, Wayne County auditor and chairman of the registration committee announces.

Mr. Cowan's registration committee has decided definitely to undertake a pre-convention registration, so that the Legionnaires who come to Detroit will have a chance to get the detail of registering over before they leave their home states.

Because of the large attendance expected at this year's convention, Mr. Cowan and his committee are planning to make it just as easy to register as possible. They are advising the visiting Legionnaires to register at their first opportunity. Information will be sent to the department adjutants in every state within the next few weeks giving details of the registration plan.

By Friday, Sept. 18, it is expected that the Legionnaires will be arriving here in large numbers. By that time registration booths will be in evidence in various places in Detroit, and Mr. Cowan expects to have enough of them so there will be no waiting lines at any time during the first days of the convention. It is expected that about 30,000 will take advantage of the opportunity to register before starting for Detroit which would relieve the work of the registration committee here. Cowan says he will have more registration booths in Detroit and in Michigan Cities through which the Legionnaires will pass enroute to Detroit than ever before have been available in a national convention city.

The first Legionnaire to register for the convention is Frank S. Mundy, of Fife Lake, Michigan. Mr. Mundy sent his registration in early in May and thus got No. 1 registration book.

Legal Limit is Removed on Size of Species of Fish

There is now no legal limit on the size of perch, calico bass, strawberry bass, rock bass and crappies that may be taken during the trout season which will remain open to include Labor Day, which this year comes on September 7.

Pike may not be speared during the next spring spearing season. These are among the important changes contained in the 1931-32 inland fishing law passed by the last session of the legislature. The law was given immediate effect and is now in force.

The former legal limit of seven inches perch has been removed so that now perch of any length may be caught and kept. One of the principal reasons for removing the size limit was that in many lakes, perch, because of food and other conditions, rarely had reached a legal size. This automatically prohibited perch fishing in those lakes.

The new law limits the number of perch that may be taken with hook and line in certain parts of LeCheneaux channels in northern Lake Huron, to 25 a day. Perch, pikeperch and pike taken with hook and line in these waters may not be sold.

The daily limit of perch was raised to 50 in the following waters: Black Lake, Ottawa County; Muskegon Lake and White Lake, Muskegon County; Pentwater Lake and Stoney Lake, Oceana County; Pere Marquette Lake, Mason County; Manistee Lake, Arcadia Lake and Portage Lake, Manistee County; and Lake, Charlevoix, Charlevoix County. In other inland waters of the state the creel limit is 25 in the aggregate of perch, bluegills, sunfish, calico bass, warmouth bass, rock bass, white bass and crappies, provided that any person may take or have in possession an unlimited number of

New State Law Requires Muffler On All Motor Boats

Under an act given immediate effect by the 1931 legislature, conservation officers and all other officers authorized to make arrests are given liberal powers in regulating motor boats.

The new law, which applies to motor boats operating on all inland waters and connecting waters of the Great Lakes and within a quarter mile of shore on the Great Lakes, makes reckless driving with a motor boat a misdemeanor, for which a severe penalty is attached.

The law provides that no motor boat shall be operated "in a reckless manner or at an excessive rate of speed so as to endanger the life or property of any person in or on said waters, having due regard to the presence of other boats, bathers and persons engaged in fishing, or objects in or on such waters and of any other conditions then existing, and no person shall operate such motor boat on said waters at a rate of speed greater than will permit him to bring it to a stop within the assured clear distance ahead."

All motor boats operated on these waters during the period from one hour after sunset to one hour before sunrise shall be equipped with a light on the bow which can be plainly distinguished at a distance of five hundred feet.

A satisfactory muffler or underwater exhaust must be part of the equipment of all motor boats and the muffler or underwater exhaust must remain closed and in proper working order at all times when the motor is operating. The only exception to this provision is when the boat is engaged in a supervised motor boat race, regatta or speed trial.

A fine of $10 or ten days in jail is provided for the first offence, a fine of $20 or 20 days in jail for the second offence; a fine not exceeding $100 and costs or 90 days in jail or both for the third offence.

The Conservation Department has asked the attorney general's opinion as to whether this motor boat law would restrict boating over fish spawning beds.

Beautiful European City. The great charm of Hungary lies in its happy blending of European culture and eastern romance. Budapest, its superb capital, glories in a tradition of more than 1,000 years, but is a modern, imposing gay and beautiful city with a population of more than 1,000,000. A few hours away picture book scenes of villages in traditional native costumes and relics of the Mohammedan invasion from the East, centuries ago, appear on every hand.

Ocean Barrier to Fish There is a marked difference noted between the aquatic life of the North and South Pacific oceans and recent scientific discoveries have revealed the reason. At a point 300 feet below the surface there is a long, wide and deep line of water that is devoid of oxygen, and as the marine life cannot exist without oxygen, the fish never get by this line.
