CIRCUMSTANCES SAID TO REFUTE SUICIDE STORY

Had Started to Get Lunch; Window near Stove Had Not Been Closed.

The theory of suicide advanced in the death of James Kingery, 40, which occurred as the result of asphyxiation from gas in the kitchen of his home at 113 West Alexander Street has been repudiated by his family and near relatives, who state that the circumstances in which he was found and the events preceding his death tend to establish as a fact that his death was accidental.

Kingery had been employed on the construction crew of M-60 and had been laid off with other workers for the afternoon of Friday. Several of the workers went to the home of one of the group, and they "chipped in" for alcohol and spent the afternoon and evening there drinking.

Kingery had been employed on the construction crew of M-60 and had been laid off with other workers for the afternoon of Friday. Several of the workers went to the home of one of the group, and they "chipped in" for alcohol and spent the afternoon and evening there drinking.

When she came opposite the kitchen window, she saw him seated in a chair by the gas stove gasping for breath. She rushed in the kitchen, threw the door wide open and then ran back to the home of his nephew, where she met Jack Querio driving in. Querio rushed over and carried Kingery out on the lawn.

The theory that the tragedy was accidental is borne out by the fact that he had placed a platter of meat on the kitchen table and had placed a coffee pot over a burner, and that he had not closed the window about five feet from his chair, which was up from the bottom several inches.

His family state that Kingery was inclined to be rather talkative and argumentative when he was drinking but that he had never been violent and that there had been no quarrel preceding his death.

Mr. Kingery was the son of Elias B. and Caroline Kingery, and was born in Union County, Ia., March 11, 1891. The early part of his life was spent in Iowa and Missouri. He was married to Eva Taggart of Ft. Smith, Ark., in 1914 to which union was born one child, James Varmon, who makes his home with his grandparents in Oklahoma. The first wife died in 1922. Aug. 13, 1924 he was again married to Daisy Johnson, of Hennessey, Okla.

He had been a resident of Buchanan for the past six years, coming here from Hennessey, Okla.

Surviving are the wife, Mrs. Daisy Kingery of Buchanan, one son, James V. Kingery, McCloud, Okla.; his father, E. B. Kingery of Hennessey, Okla.; two sisters, Mrs. Sadie West of Salt Fork, Okla.; Mrs. Mary Miller of Afton, Ia.; three brothers, Fred Kingery of Creston, Ia., E. W. Kingery of Benton Harbor; Sam Kingery of Hennessey, Okla.

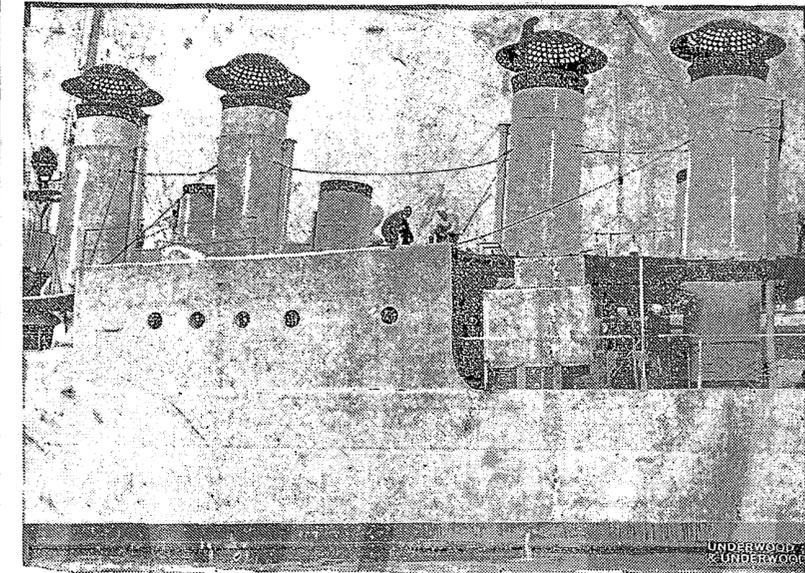

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock (fast time) in the Church of Christ, with Rev. J. J. Terry, retired pastor, officiating. Burial took place in Oak Ridge cemetery.

3 CARS STAGE RUNAWAY ON CLARK SWITCH

Coast Three Quarters of Mile; Crash Empties on McCoy Creek Fill.

Buchanan escaped almost miraculously from possibilities of catastrophe Thursday afternoon when three runaway cars escaped brakers where they had been spotted since the preceding day at the sidetrack to the High Grade Oil Company tanks on South Forage and coasted three quarters of a mile through town until they collided with a string of twelve empties on the Clark Equipment sidetrack near the River Street plant.

The runaway cavalcade consisted of two oil cars, one full of oil, and a car loaded with four inch gas pipe, 43 feet in length, for the new installation by the Michigan Gas & Electric Company on the Niles-Buchanan road.

Christy Clark of the High Grade Oil Company had just completed pumping out one car of oil into the tank, when the cars gave a sudden lurch Clark stated that at first he thought a local had shunted the cars, but soon saw that he was riding a runaway, and escaped before much speed had been attained.

Deputy Sheriff Fred French was near the scene at the time and cleared the crossing on Portage Street for the flying cars. He then made a run for the Clark Equipment Company grounds, but the cars outstripped him. The crossings happened to be clear through the plant grounds and the string sped through and crashed into the empties on the fill over McCoy's creek.

The string of twelve empties most of them gondola cars from which stone had just been unloaded, were shoved 150 feet north up the switch track, the end car being derailed at one end, and two gondolas telescoped at the ends. A rail was broken at the point of collision and the end of the box car filled with gas pipe was stove in, and the ends of the pipe damaged so that many had to be sawed. Only the box car of the runaway string was derailed.

An engine and wrecking crew arrived within a half hour and by the aid of frogs the car of gas pipe was placed back on the rails again and hauled back to a point where the pipe could be unloaded.

4TH ST. HOUSE RUINED BY FIRE

Flames Sweep Empty Structure Two Hours After It is Vacated.

The five room frame building at 114 West Fourth Street, owned by D. D. Pangborn and lately occupied by Mrs. Philip Heeger, was partially destroyed by fire last night, the flames having secured such headway in the empty structure that the fire department was unable to salvage much value.

The department was called shortly after eight o'clock. The flames had started in the rear of the building and demolished that part, and the remainder was practically ruined by fire, smoke and the water necessary to extinguish it.

Mrs. Heeger had moved her furniture out and vacated the property late that afternoon.

IT APPEARS THAT BEST ROAD MIGHT NOT BE BEST ROAD

Furthermore None of New Highways are Done and Darned if they ever will be

After a long and prayerful consideration of the matter and after more or less explosive conferences with sundry alleged highway construction men, the Record has finally decided to adopt the policy of announcing that the various highways in course of construction in this vicinity are not done and probably never will be done. This policy might be considered by other papers of the district, some of which foretold the completion of M-60 from Niles to Galien by the first of August.

Last week we interviewed leading Berrien road men with the idea of getting some first hand dope. As a consequence we stated that the James Best road was completed except for the sink hole at the extreme west end and that the entire road was passable.

Directly we were called on by a representative of the contracting firm, who stated that the top layer of stone had not been installed and the sink hole was dangerous. He stated that the construction crew had been troubled by parties who were determined to travel the road, and who persisted in knocking down the barriers at the ends.

It appears from the above that the Best road is not done. In fact none of the new roads in this district are done. And most of the taxpayers are definitely undone.

TWO FAMOUS DRY SPEAKERS AN 1 PROGRAM

Speak at Methodist Church at 8 p. m. Friday, Aug. 28.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson, alias "the world's greatest salesman of the Prohibition idea," will speak in Buchanan in the First Methodist church auditorium on the evening of Friday, August 28, beginning at 8 p. m., his subject for the occasion being a recital of his experiences in his recently completed world trip, entitled "Babylon and Way Stations."

Johnson speaks under the auspices of the Anti-Saloon League of America but his speech is advertised as of an inspirational and educational nature rather than political.

Johnson was a nationally known figure in the dry movement long before the Volstead era. He attained fame as an undercover agent of the federal government in the Roosevelt regime, his methods of staking his men gaining him the sobriquet of "Pussyfoot" Johnson. He has lived a varied and exciting life, pushing the cause of prohibition all over the world. Some years ago he lost one eye, when a club thrown by a wet sympathizer struck him in the eye in the course of a meeting held in England under the auspices of the English Prohibition Society. Johnson afterwards received apologies from the British government.

He is accompanied by Lieut. Col. Ebbert of Los Angeles, Calif., who will also speak on "The Unfinished Battle." Ebbert is on one of the most eloquent advocates of prohibition now on the public platform. He is a brother-in-law of Bishop Edwin Hughes of the Chicago area of Methodist churches.

DROUTH AFFECTS LATE CROPS IN BUCHANAN DIST.

Yield of Pickles and Late Potatoes Out by Lack Rain.

After being royally treated by the weather man this year, from the crop point of view, the Buchanan district is now badly in need of rain to fill out late corn and bring on the late potatoes, which are nothing to speak of anyway. The corn crop to date, however, is one of the best ever raised here and much of it is sufficiently matured to be past need of rain.

The pickle crop is also suffering from rain and the local receiving station reports that the receipts have greatly dwindled in the past week on account of the drouth. The crop is being culled much closer this year and prices are lower from the reduced acreage.

The vicinity of Galien and Three Oaks was visited by a heavy rain yesterday afternoon which did not reach here.

ROUND ABOUT BUCHANAN

SAID THE BIG BLUE FLY

"This town is the place for livin' cheap," said the big blue fly on the garbage heap. "Oh, come with me, my love and go to a nice stale dump where the pigweeds grow. There is a heap of livin' that can be found by peelin' your eye and a lookin' round. There's plenty to eat for you and me and we might as well have a family. When you're always sure of a rotten fish, as dead and stale as your heart could wish 'mid the piles of junk if you only hunt around the alleys at Main and Front, and heaps of garbage and kitchen dregs and stale tomatoes and ripe old eggs, and you eat till you hold no more, my dear, then sneak in a window somewhere near and wallow round in the sugar bowl—why what is the use of birth control!"

WANT ADS AND RESULTS

Recently the Record received copy ready written for a classified advertisement by a person who wished to find work. Of late months such advertisements have not met with heavy response. The copy was taken and run as written. It happened that the wording was a bit indefinite permitting the interpretation that instead of wanting work the advertisers wanted some one to work for them. As a consequence they were flooded during the ensuing week with job hunters.

That illustrates a principle of advertising, that there must be a demand some where for the article or services offered, or the advertiser must create such demand, if there are to be any results.

Even in a small classified advertisement it is possible to include details that will create a demand, and increase the chances for results. Many who bring advertisements for the classified columns of the Record overlook bets of this kind.

"Just tell we have it for sale," they say, "if they are interested they will inquire."

The classified advertiser should, as far as practicable, tell the whole story of what he has to sell. He should enumerate its strong points. He should attempt to challenge the interest of the possible purchaser to the point where he will take the trouble to inquire. There is considerable inertia on the part of most people which must be overcome before they will act.

John Jones has pigs to sell. He doesn't tell how old they are, what weight they are, what breed, if any, nor what price he asks. I want a bunch of shoats, but what I want should not be listed as pigs. If he really wants to sell, why don't he give his price. Probably they are not what I want. Anyway I know where there is a bunch that is some where near what I want and I won't take the trouble to answer the advertisement. In other words its very indefiniteness warns me.

Then there are advertisers who want to remain anonymous. They insert a blind ad, directing that the answers be sent to the paper. They multiply the difficulties for the possible customer to find them. The direct method is always much the best. Unless the advertiser has some definite reason not to, he should state the price. He should make it as easy as possible for the purchaser to get in touch with him. And that hardly means using a blind ad.

PANEM ET CIRCENSES

Now that the circus season is practically over, we want to venture the unorthodox opinion that a circus is an educational opportunity equivalent to a week or two in any school any where, and that as such it becomes one of the sacred rights and prerogatives of youth to attend, and cannot be condemned under any circumstances. And when we say youth, we mean all those enthusiastic young souls between two and two hundred years of age.

The Caesars recognized that, in keeping their subjects satisfied, a main requirement was the provision of the two indispensables, bread and circuses—"panem et circenses." And a circus in the time of the Caesars was no such educational and inspiring feature as it is now. In fact it meant mainly feeding the Democrats or whoever happened to be the enemy of the administration, to the wild animals in the zoos.

There are many expenditures common to the majority which may be under suspicion as savoring of extravagance on the part of those whose finances are not solvent. But not circuses tickets.

WE'RE FUNNY THAT WAY

The foregoing observations are not made in the spirit of propaganda or argument, but if any one is able to extract a moral, no charges will be made.

Some two years ago a local young man resigned a position and, so we are told, rejected several offers of other positions, to undertake a cherished ambition to pursue a career in the field of education. Shortly afterward a group of acquaintances were heard commenting on his decision.

"How foolish for a young man with prospects in business to enter an ill-requited field such as education," was the tenor of their remarks, in slightly more urban phrasing.

In a recent edition of a Berrien county paper, the editor stated that if the wages of all public employees could be cut in two it would be one way of relieving business in the support of the unemployed.

THIS OBSERVATION SHOULD HELP LOTS

Some time since a local citizen refused to subscribe to the best weekly in southwestern Michigan on the grounds that it "never said anything good of anybody."

Now we were sufficiently acute to draw the obvious deduction that we had never been sufficiently generous in lading out the complimentary notices to the party of the first part in question.

But just to show that we are capable of an occasional kind word, we want to say one for the disposition of the vacant lot belonging to Ross Batten, on the corner north of his residence on Days Avenue. The lot is sown to lawn grass and is surrounded on the two sides away from the street by a fine Amoor River Privet hedge. A croquet set has been installed on the lawn. Just what such improvement contributed to the value (or the taxes) we are not able to state. But we can say that a general profiting by the example of Mr. Batten would contribute immensely to the appearance of the city.

The winner of the 1931 Ohio poem contest is Mrs. Lida Keck-Wiggins of Springfield, whose poem was chosen out of 1,200 manuscripts submitted. Miss A. J. Cannon, astronomer, who has been connected with Harvard observatory for the last 30 years, has won world renown as one of the first women to achieve success in this field. Miss May Novak, who plays first base for the California Owls, is one of the few women professional baseball players in the country. Gloria F. Rouse of Raymore, Mo., at 9 years, has lost only one match with 53 men and is rated as a first class sharpshooter.

OLD-FASHIONED BARBECUE WAS EXCELLENT SPORT

National Live Stock Board Gives Directions on How to Barbecue Beef.

Barbecue in the old fashioned sense brings to mind the color and romance of the old southwest.
 Those who attend a barbecue for the first time experience the thrill of a life time. But the glamour of a real barbecue need not be limited territorially, any large group may enjoy this rare treat of good beef prepared in such a way that all the natural flavor is retained. Here are clear, simple directions for barbecuing beef for a large crowd.

Dig a trench about 40 inches deep and 3 feet wide; the length of the trench will depend entirely upon the quantity of beef to be barbecued. A trench 10 feet long will accommodate about 400 lbs. of beef and a trench 15 feet long will accommodate 600 pounds.
 Scatter the dirt back out of the trench far enough so there will be sufficient room to walk around the trench conveniently.

Start a fire on the bottom of the trench with kindling. Gradually add larger pieces of wood and keep the fire burning as rapidly as possible until a bed of live coals three to 15 inches has accumulated in the bottom of the pit. Hard, dry wood (oak or hickory preferred) should always be used for the fire.
 The pieces should not be too large.
 It is necessary to see that the chunks of wood are all thoroughly burned so that they will char. To accomplish this an iron rod with a hook on the end is very convenient. If the chunks are not sufficiently burned to break into coals they should be thrown out of the pit. Level the coals off as evenly as possible. About 8 hours is usually required to get a sufficient bed of coals.

A sufficient amount of sand should be available to cover the bed of coals about 1 1/2 inches thick. This should be clean, fairly coarse sand and must be dry.
 While the fire is burning, it is easy to dry out the sand and have it hot when the time comes to put it on the fire by using a piece of sheet iron over one end of the trench. It is important that the sand be put on the bed of coals just as quickly as possible after a sufficient amount of coals has been obtained.

The quantity of beef to be barbarbecued should be cut into chunks of as near 20 pounds each as possible. Wrap and tie each piece in two thicknesses of cheese cloth and one thickness of burlap. Old gunny sacks will answer this purpose if clean. Have the beef cut and wrapped and at the trench by the time the fire is ready. Spread the sand on the coals as quickly as possible and without any delay place the wrapped pieces of beef on the sand.

It is also important that the trench be covered and sealed as quickly as possible after the beef is placed in the trench in order that there will not be any loss of heat. The most convenient covering is a piece of sheet iron, but, if this is not available, boards may be used. All cracks should be tightly sealed with either mud or sand, so that none of the steam will escape.

The beef should be placed on the fire about 10 hours before the time it is to be served. However, if placed on the fire earlier it will do no harm, for after 10 hours the heat from the bed of coals has died out and it will not hurt to leave the beef in the trench.
 It is not necessary to turn the beef while it is being cooked and the trench should not be opened until time to serve. Two good carvers can carve the beef as fast as it can be conveniently served.
 After carving it may be salted to suit the taste, but no sauce or other seasoning is necessary.

The amount of beef required depends largely upon the generosity of those serving but it is safe to figure that 100 pounds of beef will serve 300 people.

BURN CULL ONIONS TO CONTROL PESTS

Insect Enemy of Crop Lives Over Winter in the Refuse Piles.

Michigan onion growers can save trouble with their next year's crop if they destroy the culls from the present harvest and thus eliminate one of the principal hiding places of the pupae of the onion fly, according to the entomology department of Michigan State college.

Members of the department, through field observations made during the past three years, have found that the piles of cull onions left in the fields furnish an ideal home for this insect. When the new crop is planted the next year, adult flies emerge from the culls and lay eggs on the growing onions.

The culls should be destroyed immediately because some of the larvae of the onion maggot leave the culls and pupate in the ground beneath the piles. The next spring the adult flies emerge from the pupate cases in the soil.
 Burying deep in the soil or burning will destroy the onion maggots in the cull onions. The maggots are the larvae of a fly which is about the size of the ordinary house fly. Control of the insect after it becomes established in the growing crop is difficult and expensive.

Allegan county is credited with the greatest acreage of onions in Michigan but every county except Chippewa grows enough to get credited with commercial production in the state crop reports.

Michigan has Plentiful Supply of Element Needed For Alfalfa.

Michigan has many thousands of acres of soil which need lime before they will successfully grow alfalfa but the State also has an inexhaustible supply of marl which will correct the acidity of these soils, according to the agricultural engineering department of Michigan State College.

Some of the marl deposits are so shallow and so thickly covered with muck that it is impractical to remove the marl but many beds have been located where it is possible to remove the marl at a reasonable cost. Almost every county in the state has at least one marl bed which will supply this soil builder.

The question of using marl or other forms of lime is simply a question of cost. The form to use is the one which the farmer can obtain the cheapest. Sometimes agricultural limestone can be obtained in certain sections more cheaply than marl can be excavated and hauled to the farm.
 In some localities, the cost of digging and hauling marl is less than the expense of applying limestone.

A practical marl bucket which can be used with a team or a tractor for excavating the material has been perfected by the agricultural engineering department of the college. From 30 to 50 yards of marl can be dug in one day with this type of bucket which is relatively inexpensive.

 Deer Law Violators

Anyone who has violated a deer law within the past three years or who has wounded or killed another by shooting within the past five years cannot obtain a deer license from the Department of Conservation this year.

Affidavit forms to be filled out by all applicants for deer licenses have been prepared and will be distributed to all license agents with the deer licenses.

The 1931 legislature provided that no deer license should be issued to any person who has been convicted of violating the deer laws within the preceding three years, or who has during the preceeding five years "accidentally shot or otherwise wounded or killed by shooting any human be-

The applicant for a deer license this year must fill out an affidavit and have it sworn to before a Notary Public before the agent will be permitted to issue a license.

SPRAY WARNING FORWARDED TO APPLE PRODUCER

Time is Important in Control of Second Brood of Codling Moth.

Warnings to apple orchard owners to spray fall and winter apples for the second brood of the codling moth are being sent to many Michigan counties by the entomology department of Michigan State College.

The spray must be applied before a certain date, which is given in the warning, to be of any use in controlling the insect which must be poisoned before it gains entrance to the apple. The dates are determined by watching the emergence of moths in observing stations at 80 places in the state.

The spray can be used only on late fall and winter apples. One thorough drenching spray of two pounds of arsenate of lead in 100 gallons of water should be used on apples which will not be washed before they are used. Three pounds of arsenate of lead to 100 gallons of water may be used on apples which will go through a washer and the spray may be repeated at intervals of two weeks.
 Dilute lime sulphur may be added to either spray.

Conservation Dept.
 Bans Burning Over
 Blueberry Lands

The Department of Conservation has no legal right to permit forest fires to burn over certain places because the fires will assist in producing a better blueberry crop the following year.
 However, there are remedial measures, and if properly taken, the department will give all possible assistance.

Recently the department has been subjected to criticism because it extinguished fires that were burning over berry plains, the contention being that fires always result in more berries the following years.

The Division of Field Administration is charged with the responsibility of detecting and extinguishing forest fires regardless of where or how they occur, Director George R. Hogarth said.
 There can be no discrimination because one fire occurs in grass plain. All property owners have the right to equal fire protection.

"The department realizes that the blueberry crop has reached considerable magnitude and that every year it furnishes temporary employment for thousands of people. We also assume that an occasional burning over of green vegetation on these berry plains generally results in a bigger and better berry crop."

Many Associations Cluster About Trees of Buchanan

There are many associations and memories clustering about trees than in the case with any other form of natural life.

In the little yard of St. Stephens church in north Chicago, there is a collection of trees, shrubs and plants known as the Garden of Memory.

It is so named from the fact that each tree, plant, and shrub in it was dedicated by the planter to the memory of some person.

There is a tree in memory of Joyce Kilmer, the poet of trees, and others in memory of James Whitcomb Riley, Eugene Field, and other noted men. There are many others planted as memorials to private friendships.

But every cluster of trees around a home, is, in a much more intimate sense a garden of memory.
 There are scores of trees about Buchanan rich with human associations.

There are, perhaps, more trees in Buchanan than there are people. There are a few trees that were undoubtedly here a hundred years before there was any settlement. Among them are the great white and red oaks in the yard on the Carlisle home on North Main Street, the huge black oak on the curb in front of the C. F. Spaulding home on North Main Street, the black oak at Oak and Third Streets on what is known as the old Chamberlain property, and the great oak in the yard of Fred Andrews on Front Street.

Certainly among the two largest,
 if not the largest, trees in the city are the two oaks on the Andrews and Chamberlain properties. Both these trees measure 12 feet in girth above the flare at the roots.
 The Andrews oak measures 13 feet 8 inches in girth at the ground. It is a handsome tree, standing on a small green knoll on the lawn immediately in front of the Andrews house.

The beautiful oak in front of the C. F. Spaulding home at 404

North Main Street measures about 11 feet in girth three feet from the ground. When the sidewalk was built it was necessary to detour two feet to save the noble tree. A large oak immediately to the north in front of the Mary Perry property was damaged when two roots were cut and was repaired in the past week by expert tree surgeons. The "surgeons" working with the care of dentists, cleared the two cavities of all de-cayed matter, treated the cleaned surface with creosote, and then filled them with sections of cement between each section was a layer of building paper. This separation of the concrete work into sections provide for the slight weaving of the tree and prevented cracking. The two sides of the cavity were reinforced by long bolts to prevent spreading away from the cavities. The surgeons stated that they expected the bark to grow over the cement face and hide the cavities.

But while oaks are the largest trees, they are not the most numerous. In fact, there is not a single oak directly on Oak Street, although the large tree on the Chamberlain property is just off that street on Third.

The most numerous of the tree population of Buchanan are the maples. There are three varieties in the city, hard, soft, and Norway. Of these, by far the most numerous are the hard maples.

On one street we counted 95 maple trees, principally hard, nine box elders, four walnuts, three catalpas, one horse chestnut, two basswoods.

Among the trees of interest in the city is the immense wild cherry, measuring 10 feet 8 inches in girth, three feet above the ground, and of great height, which was planted in the garden south of the sixties. In spite of the rapid growth of this tree, the lumber was a favorite wood for furniture making.

The Prince of Wales, who is no great golfer, made his second hole-in-one of the season a few days ago. There are now 16,425 members of the International Hole-in-One club. Tom Washington of New Jersey has made 23; Bobby Jones only one in his life; Billy Burke, new open champion, none.

Someone with uncommon common sense induced office building operators in Charlotte, N. C., to place this sign in their elevators:
 "Men are asked to keep their hats on. Removing hats reduces elevator capacity and creates confusion.
 Thinking women will welcome this.
 It offers no disrespect and adds to their comfort."

WALLACE HEADS RAGWEED DRIVE AT MARQUETTE

Hay Fever Capital Moves to Exterminate Contributory Cause.

The Record is in receipt of the following notice from the Marquette Chamber of Commerce relative to the campaign against weeds contributory to hay fever.

Dr. Paul Wallace is at present a member of the hay fever colony at Marquette. The notice follows:

A determined drive to clean out the rapidly maturing ragweed and thus avoid the distribution of ragweed pollen, has been started by the Chamber of Commerce.

An appeal to owners of property where the weed was in evidence met with a co-operative response on the part of a few, but in most cases the owner ridiculed the weed extermination program and sarcastically admitted the Chamber officers into the ranks of the Nut Cracker family.

The Chamber decided to take the bull by the horns and make a cleanup without awaiting assistance from property owners as a result of scores of threats from desirable guests who declared their intention of going elsewhere unless the weed was removed.

The Chamber has employed several men and an auto truck and the battle is on. Dr. Paul E. Wallace of Buchanan, Michigan, an expert on the causes of hay fever and acquainted with the weeds that are responsible for the weed extermination group and much progress is being reported.

"The Chamber of Commerce is very fortunate in securing the services of Dr. Wallace whose ability to sight the ragweed is uncanny," said a Chamber official.

We have been gathering information as to where the weed is to be found and expect to make a thorough job of cleaning it out as it is possible. Our hay fever colony is greater by one hundred per cent this year than a year ago and if we expect to make Marquette the foremost hay fever relief community in the midwest, we must keep these weeds out."

Alfalfa Seed Crop is Handled With Great Care

That successful Michigan farmers handle their alfalfa seed crop with all the care and attention one would use in handling eggs, is shown by a survey recently completed by state college specialists.

"With high quality alfalfa seed worth from 30 to 45 cents a pound less from shattering at harvest time are costly indeed," says F. R. Miller of the M. S. C. Crops staff. "Care used in handling this crop right pays good dividends."

More than 100 of the state's leading growers were interviewed in an effort to determine the practices most commonly employed. Highlights of this survey follow:

Eighty per cent of the farmers questioned harvest when pods are from two thirds to three-fourths brown. Ninety per cent harvest seed from the first crop year in and year out. Fifty-eight per cent use mower with windrow or press attachment. Fifty per cent leave crop in bunches in field in curing. The majority use tight bottom racks, covered with canvas or building paper, to catch seed that shatters during hailing and hushing. Seventy per cent thresh from the field. Eighty per cent thresh with clover huller, large size preferred. Only ten per cent had ever re-threshed, the general opinion being that re-threshing is unnecessary if proper equipment is used.

WILL SHOW JOURNEY OF DAIRY PRODUCTS

Exhibit at Detroit Fair Will Explain Care Needed to Produce Good Milk.

Milk producers and milk consumers will have a chance to see just how much work is involved in the production of milk, its care in handling, and in its distribution when they visit the exhibit which is being prepared for the State Fair at Detroit by Michigan State college.

The exhibit will trace the journey made by this food product from the time it is drawn from the cow's udder until it is placed on the buyer's doorstep. A display of the operations which are needed to produce a wholesome product and to meet the requirements made by boards of health will explain to the consumers why good milk can not be cheap milk.

Visitors will be shown the feeds which must be supplied to maintain the production of milk, the kind of cows which must be kept to produce milk profitably, and the methods used to obtain clean milk. Another portion of the exhibit will show how the milk companies handle this food product after it reaches their plants from the farms.

The home economics department of the college will have a section of the exhibit to show the many ways in which milk and dairy products can be used on the family table. Ways to make milk products an attractive food for children will be a part of this exhibit.

Poultry Raisers Will Study New Methods at M. S. C.

Michigan poultry raisers will study the newest developments and improvements in their business during a special round-up to be held at M. S. C. on Sept. 17 and 18, according to announcement made this week by officials of the college agricultural division.

The meeting will take the form of a demonstration school or short course, with leading poultry authorities conducting the work. In addition to local representatives, several prominent men from other states and Canada are listed on the tentative program.

Recent years have seen the adoption of an unusual number of new practices in the poultry industry, and these improvements will be discussed and explained to Michigan's growers. Problems of housing, feeding, brooding, and the like will all find a place on the two day schedule. The program will have special appeal for the average practical poultry man rather than for the large hatcherymen.

The round-up will be made an annual feature, if the plans of the college poultry department are followed.

GALIEN ROGERS TWIST TAILS OF DAYTON TIGERS

Make Bid for Diamond Honors of South Berrien County for 1931 Season.

Definite evidence as to who may be who in baseball circles in Southern Berrien was furnished by the Galien Rogers Sunday when they took into camp the fast Dayton Tigers by a score of 9-0. The margin of defeat is the more impressive when it is remembered that the Dayton Tigers have an excellent record and have battled on even or better terms with some of the best teams of this district.

The score sheet read:

Wherein Dayton Tigers Tell Galien Just What is What

With a cold chill running down their backs all last week which finally ended in "cold feet" the Galien Rogers base ball team decided their only salvation in defeating the Dayton Tigers Sunday afternoon was in the "loading up" process. Most of their regular players held down the benches in case of another expected emergency.

Baseball history of the past between the two towns will tell you that the Galien teams never did have anything to show the Dayton teams and the game last Sunday would have been no exception had Galien used their regular players. The Tigers admit that they did not play up to their usual ability but were somewhat surprised in having to play a make-up of several teams of different towns.

Next Sunday Dayton plays Berrien Springs at Leiter's diamond south of Dayton.

CONTRIBUTED

The setting hen will soon be a victim of the machine age if electrical incubators continue to gain in popularity in future as in the recent past. In New Jersey alone ten million baby chicks were hatched during the past season and raised to maturity without ever hearing an old Biddy's motherly cluck.

New York's Infancy

An article published in the Christian Advocate says: "At the beginning of the Nineteenth century the 'commercial metropolis of the United States' occupied only the lower end of Manhattan island, what is now 'up town' being still made up of spacious farms and country estates, including the little village of Harlem. The actual measurements of the city proper are given as three miles in length (from the Battery to Fourteenth street), one and a half miles in width and eight miles in circumference."

Facts About Republic Gold Seal Policies

"Republic" insurance protection gives you Sound Stock Company protection without jokers and at a guaranteed cost—not a questionable policy with the possibility of additional assessments.

"Republic" Emergency Road Service is super-emergency road service because it may be had from any garage in the United States or Canada—not from a few official garages which may be hard or impossible to locate.

The combination of broad Republic Service with sound Republic Automobile Insurance costs no more, and frequently less, than the uncertain or doubtful kind.

The cost of insurance in the Republic Automobile Insurance Company may be paid in small monthly payments without additional charge.

The Republic Automobile Insurance Company is the largest writer of automobile insurance among stock companies in Michigan with more than 65,000 policyholders.

The "Republic" assets exceed $1,000,000.00. Best's Insurance Reports for 1931 give the "Republic" as high a loss-paying reputation as is given any insurance company in America.

Hunter Watches A Timber Wolf Stalking Deer
To witness a timber wolf stalking a deer is an unusual sight for even a woodsman. Recently an entire party of tourists taking a boat trip down the Tahquamenon River to the famous Big Falls saw such an incident.
The wolf intent upon his prey, did not observe the nearby boat. He stalked the deer, jumped and ran after the animal through the woods. The play was staged in an open marsh and as the two animals raced away and disappeared into the woods the deer was still holding its own.
Arthur Macomber, state hunter, who reported the incident found the trail and set traps. Four days later he found the wolf, which had walked into the trap, carrying a fawn in her mouth. The wolf weighed approximately one hundred pounds.

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures," by Mary Baker Eddy: "The real man being linked by Science to his Maker, mortals need only turn from sin and lose sight of mortal selfhood to find Christ, the real man and his relation to God, and to recognize the divine sonship." Mint Price Low But It Still Beats Wheat, Say Farmers
The 1931 mint distilling season is drawing to an end in the Galien and Glendora peppermint district, with a better than average crop from a greatly reduced acreage. One still in the Galien district reported only one week's run this year as compared to a former average of from three to four weeks. The yield was reported as being from 30 to 40 pounds per acre. Buyers have been offering $1.45 and $1.50 per pound.
"It's not much, but it beats a wheat crop," stated a Galien farmer.
